Churchill Says 'Big Three' Should Meet

Expresses Pleasure Over U. S. Election; Urges Victory Effort

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said yesterday "It is high time" that he, President Roosevelt and Premier Stalin had another conference. He declared that "The prospects of such a meeting have been vastly improved by the results of presidential election in the United States, for which we waited so breathlessly on Tuesday last."

A new tri-power conference "might easily bridge the sufferings of mankind and stop the fearful process of destruction which is now ravaging the earth," he said.

The prime minister spoke at the annual luncheon for the lord mayor of London, this time for Sir Frank L. Alexander. It was an historic occasion, glittering with the pomp and pageantry of this old scarred city's past, bright with the scarlet and ermine robes of its officials beneath the high-domed ceiling of the mansion house.

The prime minister held out no hope of swift victory. He said instead that "No one can be blamed, provided he does not slacken his efforts for a moment, for hoping that victory may come to the allies and peace may come to Europe in 1945."

Urging upon Britain's men and women a new surge of strength, he said flatly "I cannot offer you an easy future on the continent of Europe. It is always in the last lap of the race that great efforts must be forthcoming. It is no moment now to slacken."

Churchill said that a pause in the allied advance was "inevitable." He pointed out that in the last few months the supreme command had concentrated upon bringing up supplies and reinforcements and improving harbors, in addition to directing the fighting in Holland and Italy.

In discussing the American election, he paid tribute "to both the great parties for the manner in which the interests of the allies and the prosecution of the war have been held high above the dust of partisanship" and to Dewey for his "sportsmanlike manner" in defeat.

British Drive in Italy Passes Forli Airfield

ROME (AP)—British Eighth army troops, overcoming bitter German resistance, fought across a wide canal forming the eastern boundary of Forli airfield and advanced to within 500 yards of the village of Bussecchio, a mile southeast of Forli, it was announced yesterday.

(A German news broadcast declared two British divisions attacked on a narrow front east and southeast of Forli after a heavy artillery barrage, but said there has been no breakthrough.)

Heavy fighting was reported in progress for the extreme northern end of the airfield. One enemy strongpoint nearly a mile southwest of the field was overrun. While the attack around the airfield gained momentum, other allied troops advanced up a secondary road leading into Forli from the south. San Martino was captured and allied infantry pushed on within two miles of Forli's southern outskirts.

Polish troops, driving in on Forli from the north, captured Dovodola after stiff street fighting and tonight were moving into hills northwest of the town against heavy opposition.

Chicago Women Beat Cigarette Shortage With Small Pipes

CHICAGO (AP)—The cigarette shortage has caused hundreds of Chicago women smokers to switch (presumably in private so far) to pipes.

This was disclosed yesterday in a survey of loop cigar stores which showed that small bowl pipes—weighing about a half ounce—have been selling like hot cakes since the shortage became acute two weeks ago.

Several women, one cigar store manager said, have suggested that pipes be turned out in assorted colors for women.

"One of these days," he mused, "they'll be asking for a good five cent cigar."

Quisling Out?

RESIGNATION of Maj. Vidkun Quisling, hated Nazi puppet premier of Norway, is reported by the French press.

Red Army Smashes Nazi Tisza River Line

Takes 50 Towns In Drive Toward Hungarian Capital

LONDON (AP)—Russian troops, in a new threat to besieged Budapest from the northeast, broke the Germans' middle Tisza river line on a 40-mile front yesterday and advanced 17 miles beyond it to within a mile of the vital Budapest-East Slovakian railway, Moscow announced last night.

Cut Railway
 Berlin implied that the Russians already had cut the railway, a development which might force the Germans to begin a slow withdrawal into central Czechoslovakia and hasten the expected fall of Budapest.

In a wide encircling move on Budapest, other Soviet troops were reported by Berlin to have crossed the Danube river at Dunafoldvar, 43 miles south of the bomb-battered capital.

French radio reports said Russian units attacking in Budapest's outskirts had crossed the Danube and penetrated into the Buda district, but neither Moscow nor Berlin told of any Soviet entry into the prize city.

Second Move
 In Yugoslavia another Red army once more was on the move. Berlin's communique said, without Soviet confirmation, that units of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukraine army had crossed over the Danube at Apatin, 15 miles south of the Hungarian frontier and gained a foothold on the west bank only 15 miles northeast of the big communications center of Osijek.

The entire German front in northeastern Hungary was nearing a collapse with the new Soviet strike across the Tisza. The Russians captured 50 localities in that area and east and southeast of Budapest, the communique said.

At the top of a front moving westward between Polgar and Abadzakol the Russians took Irgazi, eight miles beyond the Tisza and 15 miles southeast of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth city.

Japs Rush More Troops To Leyte

MacArthur Smashes 'Extensive Gains' In Carigara Bay Area

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Friday (AP)—Weatherbeaten doughboys drove over rain-lashed ridges for extensive gains south of Carigara bay today as the Japanese poured reinforcements into Leyte island to replace an estimated 35,000 men lost in the campaign which Gen. Douglas MacArthur termed the key to the Philippines.

Grim veterans of the 24th division broke the stalemate to make "extensive gains on a wide front" along the typhoon-swept road leading to Ormoc, Japan's last stronghold on the island.

Smash 16th Division
 Japan's 16th division—conquerors and torturers of Bataan—has been smashed as a fighting unit, MacArthur reported, and an estimated 35,000 reinforcements have been landed to rebuild the original force.

The 35th Imperial army has been sent to Leyte, the general said. The fresh troops are pouring into Ormoc, on Leyte's western coast, from Cebu, Mindanao and other adjacent Philippine islands.

Most of these troops are massed in the narrow, ridge-bordered valley north of Ormoc, down which the Yanks are driving. The Americans hold better than a two to one numerical superiority.

Under constant shelling and bombing, Ormoc's "usefulness to the enemy as a supply base has been greatly reduced," the communique said.

Hit Ridge
 The veterans of the 24th smashed through Japanese ridge positions south and east of Limon, four miles from Carigara bay, near where the Americans had been stalled for nearly four days by cyclonic weather and desperate Japanese delaying tactics.

The Yanks seized commanding terrain on a key hill, identified as No. 1525, and near the mountain village of Minor, about six miles east of south of Limon.

The Japanese are reinforcing Leyte on a scale unprecedented in the Pacific campaign, underlining MacArthur's analysis of the island's importance. The reinforcements have built up the Japanese force to the 35,000 men who were in the original garrison.

Iran's Premier Resigns

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Premier Mohamed Saed, whose Iranian government has been under attack from Russia for refusing to grant oil concessions to the Soviet Union, resigned yesterday, the Turkish home radio reported.

The radio, quoting a broadcast from Tehran, said the resignation was accepted by Monamned Reza Pahlavi, 25-year-old ruler of Iran.

This report came after an Associated Press dispatch from Moscow said a new strain had been placed on Soviet-Iranian relations because police at Tehran broke up a planned celebration of the 27th anniversary of the Russian revolution.

FDR Faces Big Issues

'Vote of Confidence' From Nation Prelude To Huge New Tasks

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt returns triumphantly to Washington today, to a tremendous reception and to tremendous tasks.

Waiting for him at the end of a parade from Union station to the White House is a heavy array of problems that will cram his schedule from now until his fourth term starts.

They centered around:
 Another Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference on war and world security, vacancies in the administration, possible cabinet changes, demands for remodeling the little steel wage formula, whipping together annual and budget messages for congress.

Just for the record, still incomplete tallies showed Roosevelt and Truman topping challengers Thomas E. Dewey and John W. Bricker by:
 36 states to 12.
 432 electoral votes to 99.
 Their margin in popular ballots was the narrowest since 1916. The electoral lead jumped when tabulation of some of the final Michigan precincts in the Detroit industrial area swung the state into the Democratic column.

Michigan was one of the 10 states that went Republican in 1940. All the other nine were Republican again this year.

Along with the Democratic win at the top of the ticket went retention of the party's comfortable majority in the senate, a firm grasp on a house majority, and an edge over the GOP in governorships with 25 Democratic state heads.

Washington harvested the usual crop of post-election rumors about cabinet shakeups, including the perennial that Secretary of Labor Perkins was quitting. Whether well founded or not, there also has been talk that 73-year-old Secretary of State might resign because of his health.

Secretary of Interior Ickes handed in his resignation, as he does every four years, just in case Roosevelt might want to make a change.

MP's in Italy Capture Two 'Gangs' Of AWOL Doughboys

Yanks, Canadians Face Court Martial For Armed Banditry

ROME (AP)—Two gangs, composed in part of deserters from the American and Canadian armies and the French foreign legion, have been rounded up by military police after terrorizing Rome and Naples for several weeks, it was announced yesterday.

Allied headquarters said in an official announcement that the gangs were charged with kidnapping military policemen, stealing their motorcycles and committing "many other hold-ups and robberies."

One of the gangs, led by a 23-year-old American soldier from Pennsylvania, was made up entirely of soldiers—six Americans and two Canadians—all AWOL.

The second, led by a Yugoslav and a Corsican, both deserters from the French foreign legion, included five other deserters from the legion, one American deserter and five Italian and Spanish civilians.

The American and Canadian soldiers face court martial. The break-up of the all-soldier gang came after a jeep was wrecked in Rome and one of the Canadian members was injured. Military police charged that he carried a revolver taken from an American MP on the Rome-Naples road.

A guard was placed on the jeep and that night another Canadian, dressed as a United States officer, and an American dressed as a staff sergeant came to get it. Arrested, the prisoners were found to be ill and they were confined in a Rome hospital.

Then fellow gangsters appeared at the hospital attired as military policemen in an effort to "spring" the prisoners, but police scared them off.

From the three men in custody the police learned about the haunts of the gang and captured four more of the deserters at a Rome cafe.

Gives Away Winnings

ATLANTA (AP)—A graying, well-dressed man of about 50, the Atlanta Journal said, handed out several thousand dollars yesterday in bills of $10, $20, $50 and $100 denominations to amazed travelers at the Terminal railway station.

"I went to bed early last night," the Journal story quoted the man, "and when I woke up, Roosevelt had won the election and I'd won a $10,000 bet on it."

Onlookers estimated he gave away between $3,000 and $4,000.

STALIN INDICTS JAPAN AND GERMANY

MARSHAL JOSEF STALIN has issued a special order of the day in which he asserts that Soviet territory has been cleared of the enemy. "The war has now been transplanted to the territory of Fascist Germany." How Russia has pushed the Germans back off Soviet soil is shown on the map above. The Nazis have been routed along the whole 1,600 air miles from the Barents sea in the north to the Black sea in the south. At the moment, one of the fiercest battles of the war is raging about Budapest, Hungarian capital.

Uruguay Objects To Allied Peace Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—The first official criticism of the Dumbarton Oaks world security plan by a small nation came yesterday from Uruguay, which proposed instead that the league of nations be revitalized.

The first small nation to make an official answer to American-British-Russian-Chinese proposal for a peacetime united nations, Uruguay asserted it would be advantageous to conserve the old league with reforms to strengthen its military, political and judicial power. If that is impossible, Uruguay said, then guarantees for small nations should be incorporated in any new organization to preserve the world's peace.

Cross Moselle To Encircle Enemy Post

St. Lo Veterans Enter Fighting At Delme, Viviers

LONDON (AP)—The United States Third army threw a crack armored division and three more infantry divisions yesterday into an offensive along a 55-mile front, breaking across the Moselle river at two points north of Metz and threatening to outflank the Germans short of the Rhine.

For the first time the fourth armored division—veteran of the St. Lo breakthrough that won the battle of France—stormed into the fighting, driving north more than four miles to near Delme and Viviers, 18 miles southeast of Metz.

A front dispatch said nine more towns fell as the drive on Viviers cut across the main highway from Metz to Chateau Salins, 25 miles to the southeast.

More than 1,300 United States heavy bombers ripped up enemy positions in the first close-supported operation on such a big scale since St. Lo.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton Jr. thus had committed seven divisions, at the most 105,000 men, to the attacks which are shaping up an assault arc some 35 miles from Saarbrücken—heart of the Saar basin with its coal fields, iron works and war plants.

Berlin propagandists called the attacks the opening phase of an allied winter offensive, and said it was designed to outflank Metz and to crush the big Saar industrial basin.

One of the divisions, the veteran 90th infantry under Brig. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, planted two bridgeheads on the east bank of the formidable barrier of the Moselle against an astonishing lack of resistance.

A second unidentified division pushed across a tributary of the stream north of fort-ringed Metz.

Another division, the fifth infantry under Maj. Gen. LeRoy Irvin, plunged across the Seille river and occupied the town of Cheminot, 10 miles south of Metz.

English Believe Nazis Launch Robot Bombs From Holland Bases

LONDON (AP)—A sharp flurry of robot bombs, which kept southern England anti-aircraft and fighter defenses busy during the night and killed at least five persons, stirred speculation yesterday that the Nazis have established new launching sites in northern Holland.

The German radio again declared that the "flying telegraph pole" long range rocket V-2, was being used against England.

The robot bombs came over the channel from the northeast. Anti-aircraft guns destroyed some in the air, fighter planes chased others, and at least one bomb fell into the sea.

The spectacular action was watched by many persons, but others hurried for shelters. Blast damage to houses was heavy over a wide area. Rescue work continued all night.

SUI to Be Host to College Conference on War, Peace Nov. 13, 14

Plans are under way for the "Intercollegiate Conference on Problems of War and Peace" to be held Tuesday and Wednesday in Old Capitol. Seventeen colleges and universities are scheduled to participate in the conference, which will include debate, discussion, victory speaking, extempore speaking and after-dinner speaking.

The purpose of this conference, according to Prof. A. Craig Baird of the speech department, is "to provide and exchange information, leadership and training service for college students who are engaged in 'Speaking for Victory' programs, and to provide a sounding board for the exchange and evaluation of information pertaining to 'winning the peace' at home and abroad.

Bob Ray, G of Davenport, will act as manager of the conference; Don Ecroyd, G of Arkansas City, Kan., is in charge of the discussion units. Designed to provide training and competitive experience for college students interested in the war and the peace, this conference is similar to the intercollegiate meeting held on the University of Iowa campus in November, 1943. Awards will be given to the winners in discussions, debates and other events.

Five Rounds
 Five rounds of group discussion will center the attention of those participating on this proposition: "How can the tentative proposals for a world security organization resolved at Dumbarton Oaks, Aug. 21—Oct. 7, 1944, be implemented to provide permanent peace and security?" About eight persons will participate in each group in each round of discussion.

Every group will remain the same for the progression which will follow this general pattern: Round one (10:00 a. m. Tuesday); "The Problem" (goals, definitions, and the general need for a world security organization); Round two (1:15 p. m. Tuesday); "Membership" (the general assembly and the security council); Round three (2:30 p. m. Tuesday); "The World Court, World Police Force and Social and Economic Arrangements as Announced in the Dumbarton Oaks Agreement."

In the fourth round of discussion, each participant will present a brief speech on his solution of the problem. The group will then synthesize the thinking of the participants and draw up a resolution or report to be submitted to the entire group of participants meeting as a committee of the whole in the last or fifth round.

Will Hear Resolutions
 At this time, the group will hear the resolutions of the individual panels and debate from the floor the merits of the proposals. This activity will culminate in a resolution passed by the entire group in which the means of implementing the "Big Four" agreement for permanent peace will be outlined.

One of the groups participating in the first round will be heard over WSUI at 10 a. m. on Tuesday, from Studio E.

Thirty debate teams representing fourteen of the entering schools will debate the following proposition: "Resolved, That the Federal Government Should Enact Legislation Requiring Compulsory Arbitration of Labor Disputes." The first round of debates at 4 p. m. Tuesday, will be broadcast over WSUI, from Studio E in the engineering building.

Five-Minute Talks
 One representative from each of the schools entering after-dinner speaking will discuss in a five minute speech presented at the forenoon luncheon, the following topic: "What Shall We Expect From the Next Federal Administration?" Virginia Jackson, A4 of Marion, is in charge of the luncheon, which will be held at Hotel Jefferson Wednesday noon. The victory speaking contest will be broadcast by WSUI, Wednesday, at 10:30 a. m. from Studio E in the engineering building. These speakers will present six to seven minute speeches on six topics pertinent to the war other than post-war world organization for peace.

The extempore speakers will draw topics based on problems arising from the war at 1:45 and will speak on them at 4:30 p. m. Wednesday in studio E. However, this will not be broadcast.

Schools Entering
 The following schools will enter the various activities of the conference: Wheaton college, Iowa State Teachers college, University of Missouri, Illinois State Normal university, Coe college, Carleton college, Iowa State college, University of Nebraska, Augustana college, Indiana State Teachers college, Indiana university, Northwestern university, Knox college, St. Olaf college, Parsons college, the University of Iowa.

Entrants in the discussion program from the University of Iowa include: Peggy Banks, A4 of Newton; York, N. ## The Daily Iowan Salutes—

The four World War II veterans who spoke yesterday as guests of the Information First lecture series. The veterans, speaking from experience on problems of readjustment and rehabilitation, presented a fair and logical picture of problems facing the veteran returning to a normal college life. Fred Davies, Bob Gilliam, Bill Boswell and Gordon Christensen, all student veterans, explained personal rehabilitation from the time they received a discharge to the present time. An obvious necessity for understanding veterans' problems exists for students in colleges where former servicemen are returning for schooling. Students need to know how to understand and help the veteran.

With the AEF—Combat Fatigue—

WITH THE AEF IN FRANCE, NOV. 1—(DELAYED)—(AP)—After working with "exhaustion" or "combat fatigue" cases for more than two years, army psychoneurotic specialists have been able to set up varied systems of treatment which at least temporarily cure the majority of these cases. When they turn their efforts toward prevention, they find that a formula lies mostly out of their hands. The battle-born malady is simply a condition wherein the human body and mind no longer are able to shake off normal reactions and fears which stem from literal physical exhaustion and constant repetition of combat. Most physical causes of the condition seem irremediable. For instance, the number of exhaustion cases in any given campaign usually runs in direct proportion to weather conditions. The total goes up when the weather is bad; down when the weather improves. The cases also seem to run in direct relation to the number of casualties in each battle, again something beyond prediction. Likewise, it is hardly probable that military chiefs would discontinue all lengthy attacks, even if told that the longer any given attack lasts the greater becomes the number of exhaustion cases it will breed. Similarly, they assumed it is unnecessary to point out that warmly clothed, well fed, fully rested soldiers seldom become exhaustion cases. These points all involve wars' inevitable miserable physical conditions which the army presumably is doing all it can to alleviate. It can also be assumed that the army already is doing its best to advance good training. A poorly trained soldier or one too briefly instructed on how to take care of himself in combat is twice as likely to become an exhaustion case as one who is fully and efficiently prepared. But neuropsychiatrists do stress three main points which they believe are important preventatives for the condition which accompanies exhaustion: Spirit de corps. Good leadership. Reasons for fighting. They say records prove that a strong sense of esprit de corps founded on deep-seated traditions or pride in any given outfit helps to immunize a fighting man against exhaustion. He becomes strengthened by a conviction that he must not let down his outfit or his comrades. Also, it convinced that he is a member of a crack crew he has great confidence in his ability. This pride carries a soldier far beyond the point where he normally would collapse. Psychiatrists say that the exhaustion rate of new combat troops also can be cut drastically if they are given comparatively easy missions at first, thus gaining self-confidence. Ramping military leaders are inclined to agree on both points. Records also show that both spectacularly high and low exhaustion rates of some outfits are traceable directly to leadership. Lack of faith in his superiors undermines the physical and mental stamina of any soldier. In several instances doctors' reports of those cases have led eventually to the removal of officers after investigation indicated they were unfit. Finally, specialists find that a high percentage of exhaustion cases are soldiers who are unconvinced that they have any particular reason to be fighting. Despite this, they do fight—and often with outstanding courage—until they reach the physical and mental breaking point. Then old doubts rear up and they begin to wonder if it is worth it all. They say soldiers with strong personal reasons for fighting rarely become exhaustion cases. This also applies to those who are fully informed of the events leading up to the war. Such men are less likely to succumb. Thus these physicians recommend more thorough educational programs during basic training as perhaps the most effective preventative of all.

Back Tracks

Abundant Iowa City trees are largely the result of a city ordinance of 1858. At that time, the city council offered a tax rebate of 25c for each tree planted in a healthy condition and eight feet high. The saxophone... to the world the keynote of jazz... invaded the Chicago civic opera orchestra in "A Light From St. Agnes". Thirty-six fraternity presidents at Ames went on record as saying that no liquor may be found in any fraternity house at Iowa State college at any time. Pigs may be pigs, but in the opinion of Rex, the Iowa mascot, they belong "down on the farm" and not on the Iowa football field. Rex routed the Minnesota porker between halves yesterday. A thirty-five year old Mexican widow, mother of five, inherited a fifteen-gallon still and the knowledge of how to run it. Government officials are inducing her to change her vocation. Clad in pajamas, Quadrangles paraded Iowa City streets to the station to tell the Iowa team just what they thought about Michigan. Iowa's governor will drive... personally... one Iowa piggie to St. Paul, Minn., to present to that governor as a result of yesterday's game. Remarkably the Iowa governor, "I'll herd it into his office... and I hope the carpet wears well!" J. Ramsey MacDonald, who rose through labor's ranks to become three Prime Minister of Great Britain, died suddenly tonight aboard a cruiser bound for South America. Seven women judges will choose the longest beard, the thickest beard, and the softest assortment of fuzz and award prizes to their university cultivators tonight.

Opinion On and Off the Campus—

Can the Hawkeyes Win Their Next Three Games?

Bob Brown, A1 of Keota: "The Seahawk game is the big question. I think we have a 50-50 chance of beating Minnesota and Wisconsin. Potentially we have a chance against the Seahawks, but we lack experience." Jack Spencer, A2 of Davenport: "I think we have a good chance against every team except the Seahawks. Jug Jirard will be out of the game Saturday so I think we have a very good chance against Wisconsin." Eugene Schurrer, A1 of Lorenz: "Iowa has a good chance of winning the next two games because neither Minnesota nor Wisconsin has a very impressive set-up. Iowa has the taste of victory, but they won't be able to cope with the Seahawk's power." Pat Shope, A3 of Iowa City: "We've got some good lads. The last two games have been fine, and I'm hopeful about these next three." Charles Hennessy, A2 of Council Bluffs: "If they play like they did last week they have some chance, because they were playing better ball than was expected. They probably have the best chance of beating Wisconsin." Arnold M. Bremer, clothing merchant: "I think they have a good chance, because they played so well the last game. Smith in the backfield will help them." Richard Park, C4 of Victor: "I think Iowa has a good chance of winning the Wisconsin and Minnesota games, but the present strength of the Seahawks makes the Hawkeyes' chance of winning this one pretty small." Joe Gamble, A1 of Des Moines: "I think the Hawkeyes have a chance to beat Wisconsin and Minnesota, but they certainly won't defeat the Seahawks!" H. P. Batterson, custodian, 216 E. Fairchild street: "Iowa might beat Wisconsin, but I don't know about the other two. The team is better than it was, though." W. F. Schukar, custodian, 2003 E. Court street: "I think they have a 50-50 chance with the Seahawks, but no chance to win over the other two. There are too many young players on the Iowa team." Ruth Rodabush, A1 of Brooklyn, Iowa: "Iowa's Hawkeyes, composed mostly of freshmen having little previous experience, can hardly be expected to defeat Minnesota or the Seahawks. However, I think they have practically an even chance of defeating Wisconsin." Marion Schneider, A1 of Stanwood: "I think Iowa will put up a fight against Wisconsin and they have a good chance of winning. However, I doubt if they can defeat Minnesota or the Seahawks. They have a better chance of beating Minnesota than the Seahawks, who is rated as one of the top teams of the country."

Russia, France and Britain Wanted FDR

NEW YORK—Stalin came through with his first strong endorsement of a new League of Nations method of keeping the post-war peace in his speech the day before election. A day earlier, the DeGaulle government of France publicly invited Mr. Roosevelt to Paris. Shortly before that, Mr. Churchill no doubt thought he was aiding the Roosevelt cause by expecting a much longer war—eight more months maybe to defeat the Nazis, two years for Japan. There is no question but what Russia and Britain wanted Roosevelt and did what they could to aid his reelection at the last moment. Most interesting was Stalin's speech. For the first time he talked as a world statesman, with the assumed frankness of the westerner and clearly without the defensive, injured tone of the isolated or suspicious nation. Primarily he told what the world does not yet realize—the great growth of Russia as a nation during this war, how her industries had been built up, her varying intellectuals and substrata classes and nations moulded into a patriotic whole for the first time in history. Indeed she is the only nation which has grown in the war, while Europe has been completely demoralized and even the capitalistic United States and Britain have saddled their economy with fabulous debt (Russia having no debt except the hundreds of millions or so she carries lightly in some totalitarian book-keeping arrangement.) How different, clear and simply factual his words are in comparison with the utterances dinned into our ears by those in this country who lead the minds of our people back into the past and make us believe Russia is a sensitive sort of backwoods nation which needs help, and must not be offended by anything we say or do in our own interests. Our second front pinned down 70 Nazi divisions, but his front pinned down at the same time 200, he factually says. We helped materially this last year, but for three years the Reds fought alone and thus saved Europe from Fascism, he correctly says (remember the domestic campaign speeches you have heard.) His suggestions for the peace show equal realism and similar contrast to those of our own people who have been telling us all we need is their formula for the new league, without reservations, and peace will follow automatically forever. Stalin puts them to the shame of their shallow idealism. Differences (reservations)? He says, of course we shall have them. We already have the ones he has made—Dumbarton Oaks, Bretton Woods, Chicago aviation. He promises only that they shall be reasonably resolved eventually. His wants for the peace, or those he mentioned, are belligerent exclusive. He wants permanent disarmament of Germany (does not mention Japan except quite indirectly in this respect) or a wholly new league with "the right and means" and "everything at its disposal" to act swiftly to stop aggression. Perhaps he wants both, he says there are several ways to stop future aggression and mentions these two. Anything within that formula would presumably please him. The thoughts I reach from the speech are these: Russia under Stalin fully realizes her great new power, is preparing to exercise it realistically in the new world. Her interest in the international organizations is as great or greater than ours because the new setup will defend her newly acquired great power, and perpetuate the status quo of this war as the old league sought to perpetuate the wholly different status quo of the last one (Anglo-French world power then.) For that reason she is evolving from her old isolationism. Stalin is apparently no longer afraid of capitalism, else he would not go that far. He offers no important compromises with it or with western culture, except friendliness, (there is no mention of God in his summation of the victory which he attributes to Soviet energy.) The feeling I have, however, is that he is prepared to make strong reservations to protect himself, and in the end, I cannot help but suspect that any details which gives capitalism the upper hand over his interests would be unsatisfactory to him, and of course any peace which gives him the upper hand cannot long be satisfactory to us. Peace therefore can only be enduring if non-competitive, politically and economically. But the most important conclusion to us is that our discussion of the whole subject is not on the admirable realistic plane which Russia presents. Where reasonableness and unity among us might be achieved, our debate is still steeped in obsolete bitter history of an old league political fight which has no accurate bearing on the present or future world conditions except as it has deceived our people as to the realistic truth of existing circumstances.

Smokeless Gunpowder Made Under Water—

NEW YORK (AP)—A batch of raw cotton recently was taken into a smokeless powder mill in East Alton, Ill., at 9 a. m. and was fired in cartridges at 3 p. m., a world's speed record. When the war started, this process from cotton to smokeless powder would have required about two-and-a-half days instead of six hours. The speed-up is due to a new method of making smokeless powder developed by the Western Cartridge company, in the laboratory of Dr. Fred Olsen, research director. A year ago, when this speed up was announced, the production rate was five times faster than the old methods. Today, it is 10 times faster. The new process makes powder under water. From the moment when cotton linters or wood cellulose fibers are treated with sulphuric and nitric acids they are immersed in water. The remain under water until the final step of adding nitroglycerine is finished and the explosive complete, except for drying. The old methods form smokeless powder dry, by extruding it from machines, in forms which resemble macaroni. One of the delays in this process is the long boiling required to free the cellulose fibers of all trace of the sulphuric and nitric acids, which cause deterioration. A chemical bath added to the water does this cleansing job quickly in the water process. The under water product is known as ball powder because it emerges in the form of minute pellets. These pellets are formed in an unusual manner. At one stage the smokeless powder rises to the surface of the water like a lacquer. Paddles break this lacquer, and in so doing produce perfectly round little balls. After drying, the ball powder grains are coated with graphite to eliminate static electricity and to cause the powder to flow readily in ammunition loading. The British government was the first to use ball powder in military ammunition. Western Cartridge built a ball powder plant at East Alton for England after Dunkerque. Ball powder ammunition was sent also to the Chinese.

G. I. Has Election Worries Despite Barrage of Shells

By KENNETH L. DIXON WITH THE 35TH DIVISION AT JALLAUCOURT (AP)—It was between 5 and 6 a. m. the morning after election when Tech. Sgt. William E. Hannan, of Chicago, battalion sergeant major, answered the field telephone. An attack was at its climax along this sector and shells were flying both ways. "It was about the worst barrage I've seen yet," Hannan said. "So I was not thinking about much except the next one over when I asked the guy what he wanted. It was a rifle company command post calling. They wanted to know who was winning. "Winning what?" I asked. "Why, winning the election, of course" this guy says—right in the middle of the worst barrage we've had." That interest seems to be the exception among Third army troops. Busy opening the attack along this front they had other things on their mind. Some of them had voted previously during a lull in the action. Others had not, either because they were unable to get ballots or because of lack of interest.

U. S. Casualties Pass Half Million Mark

WASHINGTON (AP)—Almost three years of war have cost more than a half million American battle casualties—dead, wounded, missing or prisoners. The army said yesterday its casualties, from Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, through last Oct. 28 totaled 437,356. The latest report for navy, marine and coast guard personnel accounted for 71,839. The army total represents an increase of 20,235 since the report a week ago which covered the period through Oct. 21. Secretary of War Stimson said part of this increase was due to a revision now being made in the casualty information system so as to bring the figures up-to-date. It was explained later that about 25 percent of the increase resulted from the bookkeeping change over. This would mean that new casualties occurring in the period of about one week and ending around mid-October totaled approximately 15,000. (The reporting of casualty figures to the war department usually is about two weeks after the casualties occur.) Heavy fighting was taking place in the Aachen sector in Germany.

The 'Phantom' Voice

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actor-Crooner Bing Crosby, returning yesterday after a European camp tour, said ruefully that the French populace didn't seem to know who he was. But he brightened up when he added: "I asked some teen-age Paris girls if they knew Frank Sinatra and they said they'd never heard of him."

Four Nobel Prize Winners Announced

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Four Nobel prizes each worth approximately $29,000 were awarded yesterday, two of them in physics going to scientists now in the United States, one in chemistry to a Hungarian now in Stockholm and one in literature to a 71-year-old Danish novelist and poet. The prizes and winners were: 1944 literature—Joannes V. Jensen of Copenhagen. 1944 physics—Isidor Isaac Rabi of Columbia university, New York. 1943 physics—Otto Stern of Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh. 1943 chemistry—Georg Hevesy of Stockholm. The committee reserved the 1944 prize in chemistry for possible award next year. The peace prize, which has not been awarded since 1938, previously had been abandoned for this year. Jensen, first of yesterday's winners to be announced, is the author of more than 60 volumes of poetry, plays, short stories and novels. Rabi, a native of Austria who was taken to the United States in infancy and in recent years has made his home at Cambridge, Mass., received the 1944 physics award for his research in the resonance method of registering the magnetic quality of atoms. Stern, who was born in Germany and went to the United States in 1933, was given the 1943 prize, reserved last year, for his contribution in the development of the molecular ray method of detecting the magnetic momentum of neutrons. The 1943 chemistry award, which also had been reserved a year ago, went to Hevesy for his work in the use of isotopes as indicators in studying chemical processes.

Four SUI Veterans Discuss Readjustment

Describe Vocational Rehabilitation, GI Bill of Rights

Four student veterans — Fred Davies, Bob Gilliam, Gordon Christensen and Bill Boswell—speaking at Information First yesterday afternoon stressed the importance of self-adjustment for the servicemen returning to civilian life and expressed appreciation for the fact that SUI students have treated veterans as normal human beings.

GI Bill of Rights
Davies discussed specifically the GI Bill of Rights and Christensen explained the vocational rehabilitation program, while the other speakers dealt mainly with the problem of self-adjustment. Both Gilliam and Boswell explained the fear they had immediately after returning to civilian life that people were staring at them, until they felt they were being treated normally.

An ex-coast guardman, Davies compared the way veterans were treated after the last war with the treatment they are receiving today. Describing first the red tape, examinations and interviews a serviceman must go through when he is discharged from the armed forces, Davies took up the educational program under the GI bill. The speaker explained the age specifications listed under the bill, which provides for the education of veterans under 25 even though they were not in college before they enlisted and for veterans over 25 if they can prove that their education was interrupted by military service. Davies also discussed other aspects of the bill in connection with payments, time limit and reasons for loss of compensation.

Self Adjustment Vital
Gilliam, a former infantryman with more than three and a half years in the army, told the audience that servicemen must accomplish a certain amount of adjustment for themselves, besides all that others can do for them. More disabled than other veterans on the campus, Gilliam described his first reaction of bitterness after losing a leg in action and traced his reaction to normal treatment.

Gaining self-confidence as he felt himself accepted back into society, Gilliam now feels he is "a better man than I was before I lost my leg." He related his experiences from the time he filled in form 1,900 for vocational rehabilitation to the present time, setting radio announcing as his goal. The purpose of vocational rehabilitation, as Christensen explained, is to train for a new occupation any serviceman hurt in service or having a disability aggravated by army training. In his own case, following the usual procedure of an army discharge, Christensen was interviewed by a veterans' administrator with the result that he decided on a law course here.

Boswell Discusses Experiences
Boswell, an ex-marine, described the problems he encountered in personal adjustment, not being able to settle down to a job. Not interested in a college education until he received a government folder about opportunities, Boswell was not sure he could qualify, without a high school diploma. Arrangements were made for him to come to Iowa under the vocational rehabilitation measures for veterans.

Prof. E. E. Harper To Leave Saturday For 3-Week Trip

Prof. E. E. Harper, director of Iowa Union will leave tomorrow for a trip east where for the next three weeks he will attend to business for the school of fine arts in Philadelphia, New York, Boston and Cleveland, accompanied by Mrs. Harper.

During his stay in New York, Professor Harper will attend the meeting of the Hymn Society of America. For the past 18 months a special committee headed by Professor Harper has been conducting a quest for new hymns on Christian patriotism. He has received many hymns during this time, and selected the best 30 which he has submitted to the general committee for consideration at the New York meeting, Nov. 20. From those submitted, 10 will be chosen for publication in a special booklet and a world wide contest will then be conducted for new tunes for the poems.

Hymns by poets and hymn writers for churches have been submitted and among them is the hymn for patriotism written by Prof. M. Willard Lampe of the school of religion. This is one of the 30 submitted for final selection. Members of the committee are Dean Howard C. Robins, former dean of St. Johns cathedral; T. Tertius Nobel, best known pipe organist in the United States; Reginald L. McAll, Mrs. Eliza P. Cobb; Dr. Henry Wilder Food and Wm. W. Reid, president of the hymn society.

In New York Professor Harper will also visit art studios handling painting of contemporary artists. Through his negotiations some of the paintings may be used in the Fine Arts festival to be held next summer.

During the trip Professor and Mrs. Harper will visit Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cobb. Mr. Cobb was formerly the university business manager.

Dr. Thompson Stone, conductor of the Handel and Hyden Oratorio society in Boston, who visits and conducts the University choruses each summer will meet Professor Harper in Boston. He will also see James R. Houghton, head of choral music at Harvard.

While in Vermont the couple will see their son Hugh Harper who is now working on station WCAX, state university station, in Burlington, Vt.

Iowa City Woman to Publish Biography Of Conductor, Choir at St. Olaf College

By MARILEE BORN Daily Iowan Staff Writer

F. Melius Christiansen and the famous St. Olaf choir soon will be brought to the reading nation as they have so often been brought to the listening nation. "Music Master of the Middle West," by Leola Nelson Bergmann of Iowa City, is the biography of F. Melius Christiansen, Norwegian-American composer and professor of music at St. Olaf college, Northfield, Minn., as well as the story of the unusual a cappella choir which he formed and still leads.

Mrs. Bergmann is at present living at 503 Clark street in Iowa City with her husband, Gustav Bergmann, lecturer in philosophy and psychology, and daughter, Hanna. The author formerly lived in Northfield where she became familiar with the history of Northfield and with that of St. Olaf college. As a student and choir member at St. Olaf, Mrs. Bergmann grew to know Professor Christiansen well. A journal which the author kept in her college days includes notes about the St. Olaf choir, trips taken with the choir, comments Professor Christiansen has made, and bits of day-by-day information which made possible the authentic and intimate biography.

After taking her B.A. in English at St. Olaf college, Mrs. Bergmann came to the University of Iowa for an M.A. in English and a Ph.D. in American civilization. Thinking at one time of writing several articles about Professor Christiansen, Mrs. Bergmann instead turned the material into a thesis for her doctorate. The book resulting from the author's days at St. Olaf, her friendship with Professor Christiansen, and her research concerning both choir and choirmaster will be published Nov. 15 by the University of Minnesota press.

In addition to the work spent in obtaining three academic degrees, Mrs. Bergmann has also taught English at William Woods college in Fulton, Mo., served as an editorial assistant in the publications division of the University of Iowa's child welfare research station, and is at present working on the staff of the Mississippi Valley Historical Review, whose headquarters are here in Iowa City.

A girl-bid dance, the "Cinderella Ball," will be the next in the series of all-university parties. It will be held Nov. 18 from 8 until 11 p. m. in the main lounge of Iowa Union. Ray Herbeck and his "Music With Romance" orchestra will play.

Herbeck began his musical career on a college campus in much the same manner as other top-flight orchestra leaders. He was a dental student at the University of Southern California in Berkeley and organized his first band as a means of supporting himself while in school. An excellent saxophonist, Herbeck surrounded himself with musically inclined classmates and before long became the official campus dance band.

When it came to a decision between school and a career in the entertainment world, the boys chose the latter, and have since won national popularity with their numerous coast-to-coast broadcasts from famed hotels and night clubs throughout the country and extended theater tours.

Margaret Browning, A3 of Iowa City, is chairman of the party committee. Other members include Winifred Johnson, A3 of Chicago; Catherine Harmeler, G of Iowa City; Irving Wansik, E4 of Hartford, Conn., and Marilyn Nesper, A4 of Toledo, Ohio.

Tickets for the party will go on sale Monday, Nov. 13, at the main desk of Iowa Union.

Hansen Hurt In Practice

Suffers Recurrence Of Old Knee Injury From High School

As Iowa's Hawkeyes hurried through their last fast and spirited drill before leaving today for Madison and the Wisconsin game they received a shock which will have an important bearing on the outcome of the contest. Big Jim Hansen, dependable fullback, suffered a recurrence of an old high school knee injury as the first team was running through its plays last night. Bill Dallas moved into his spot for the remainder of the practice.

Old Injury

Hansen hurt himself while playing ball in Omaha and the accident has left him with a calcium deposit in the knee. The chances are that the big blond will see action, but there exists a very reasonable doubt. "We hope he'll play," hoped Coach Madigan.

It was a weird scene as Iowa held its final workout. The flood lights produced outlandish patterns as Madigan broke precedence and sent the men through a contact scrimmage. The fact that a freezing wind was whipping across the field may have had something to do with the warming display of spirit shown by the team. Nevertheless, there was plenty of ginger in the icy air.

Every Man

"We'll need every man," opined Madigan in the warm locker room after the session. "Despite the apparent loss of Girard Wisconsin is a veteran team with plenty of good backs and enough V-12 men."

The first part of the afternoon was occupied with a careful review of defensive assignments in a dummy scrimmage. Particular attention was paid to individual work.

Scrimmage

Then, later on, a combined second and third team donned the heavy pads to let the varsity run plays at them. The starters completed with much gusto as they went through last minute work on improving their timing and "crisping" the blocking. Madigan made repeated changes in both line and backfield so as to give every man an opportunity to get his assignments down pat.

As of last night Al McCord appeared to be the Hawkeye starter at quarterback, but Herb Byers was still in the running. Nelson Smith, the new apple green in the Old Gold, was at left halfback as Bill Kersten moved over to right to replace Dick Woodard, whose leg still is in poor shape. Dallas saw a good deal of action at fullback after Hansen's departure. Johnny Stewart, regular quarterback, will not make the trip with the squad.

Line Uncertain

In the line the playing conditions of Don Winslow and Bill Bennett are still doubtful, and Forrest Masterson and Ralph Katz might easily start at the tackles. Bob Miller and Paul Fagerlin will be the guards, but it is assumed that Stan Mohrbacher

ARMY POWERHOUSE

By Jack Sords

FELIX IS ONE OF THE MAJOR REASONS FOR ARMY'S SUCCESS THIS YEAR AND IS ALREADY BEING MENTIONED AS AN ALL-AMERICAN POSSIBILITY

THE CHOPPING BLOCK

By the Sports Staff

(Editor's Note. This becomes tomorrow they should be able to take the Wildcats at least a touchdown. Purdue over Northwestern.)

Iowa State - Nebraska. Those who saw Nebraska perform last week at Iowa City can draw their own conclusions. For those who didn't the score which Iowa piled up is enough of an indication. The Cyclones have a slick outfit this year and bouncing high from the Oklahoma defeat. Iowa State over Nebraska.

THE SERVICE

As in weeks gone by, the Iowa Seahawks will offer one of the best games of the week when they meet the undefeated Bunker Hill navy air station at Iowa City. Bainbridge Navy-Cherry Point Marines. Due to Bainbridge's undefeated record and the Marines just so-so record, it would be safe to presume that the navy boys will definitely sink the Marines—and by a fairly large score. Bainbridge's rather decisive victory over the pre-flighters from Chapel Hill last week, has enhanced their reputation as a power to be feared. Bainbridge Navy over Cherry Point Marines.

Athens Navy-Chapel Hill Navy. The prognosticators are out on a limb in picking this battle, as no definite clues can be used in picking the winner. Even though Chapel Hill won the first encounter 3 to 0, their margin of victory did not indicate they were superior. With caution—Chapel Hill over Athens Navy.

Great Lakes-Lincoln AAF. The sailor boys are on the band wagon and mean to stay there. It will take more than the Lincoln AAF to pull them off their winning ways. Great Lakes over Lincoln AAF.

Seahawks - Bunker Hill Navy. The cadets are far superior to the Blockbusters, even though they have gone undefeated. Bunker Hill has played no important teams, while the Seahawks have been taking on the best teams in the country. In the final analysis, then, it would be safe to presume that the Seahawks should win by three touchdowns. Iowa Seahawks over Bunker Hill Navy.

Colorado Springs AAF-Ft. Warren. By a quick glance at the scores of the last two Superbomber games in which they rolled up 89 and 68 points, it would be a rather safe guess to favor them over the Broncos. The Superbombers have been playing a much tougher schedule than Ft. Warren, a fact which must be considered in the final analysis. By four or five touchdowns — Colorado Springs AAF over Ft. Warren.

THE MIDWEST

Football reaches a new high in the midwest this weekend, with half of the Big Ten out to annihilate the other half and Ohio State, still battling 1,000, off to Pittsburgh for a breather. Those who take time out from the Iowa-Wisconsin broadcast will find most diverting the Illinois-Michigan clash between two once-beaten teams.

Ohio State-Pittsburgh. Even last year Clark Shaughnessy's boys might have put up a fight, but this year the game is just a prelude for the Bucks before they plunge into the finale against Illinois and Michigan and tackle their chances for the Big Ten title. Pitt has faced such contenders as Illinois, Army and Notre Dame and been found definitely wanting. Ohio State over Pitt.

Indiana-Minnesota. Here it is again. Hoernschemeyer and Co. They go into combat against the slipping Gophers Saturday afternoon and will come out on the long end of the score—even if Minnesota did manage to tie Northwestern last week—or perhaps because of it—the Gophers are slated to lose. Indiana over Minnesota.

Northwestern - Purdue. Purdue is the unpredictable in the Big Ten this year. One week they squash Illinois under their collective big thumbs and a couple of weeks later they are peering out from under the Wolverine heel. But whether they are up or down

All eastern eyes plus a good many other optics will be turned this week to a baseball park in New York City called Yankee stadium. For, this Saturday, the yearly "game of the age" will be played in that enclosure. Obviously, reference is made to the titanic clash between Army and Notre Dame which has everybody and his pocketbook in a dither.

THE EAST

Navy-Cornell. Led by Bob Jenkins, a super star, this battle will serve to keep the Middies at some semblance of a pitch for Purdue and Army. The Big Red, however, are certainly out of their class even though Dekdebrun and Paul Robeson Jr. will shine. With little difficulty, Navy over Cornell.

Yale-Brown. The Bear merely gurgled in its throat last week in losing to Coast Guard, and its mark on the tree has been lower each Saturday. George Loh should lead a proud Eli to victory. Yale over Brown.

Coast Guard Academy-Dartmouth. The Cadets regained much lost prestige by dumping Brown last week and seem to be back at their rightful and satisfying position. The Big Green made it very close against Yale and it has uncovered a scintillating newcomer in Darrell Brantz, a veteran of Guadalcanal. Nevertheless, they are a new outfit which is still some what disjointed. With some hesitation, Coast Guard Academy over Dartmouth.

Holy Cross-Colgate. Look out and handle with care! This one could easily go either way, although the Crusaders have developed much scoring power and are rugged. But the Red Raiders are the riddle of eastern ball—up again, down again. They don't appear to have any standouts or consistency, however. Ah—Holy Cross over Colgate.

Maine-New Hampshire. No joke, just a little use of the personal touch. The old alma mater has warmed the heart this year by winning two of three in an abbreviated schedule, while the Wildcats are pitiful, having already lost to the Bear. Well, for the sake of the past and the last game, Maine over New Hampshire.

Army-Notre Dame. Here it is, and not too easy. The Irish have been under pressure for the last two weeks having faced Navy and Illinois, but they have the experience. The Cadets are unquestionably powerful with many all-American possibilities, but their competition has been none too strong. West Point faces the problem of having to equal Navy's score at least, which presents a nervous strain. But, on the strength of attack on the ground, as opposed to South Bend air might, Army over Notre Dame.

Washington-March Field. These two teams have outstanding players and have both made good records on scoring which means that it may turn out very close on Saturday. Since March Field seems to have a stronger machine the choice goes their way. March Field over Washington.

California-U. C. L. A. Both teams have played to ties with the Southern California eleven but the Golden Bears showed surprising strength in winning from Alameda Coast Guard 26-13 two weeks ago. Therefore this return match comes out—U. C. L. A. over California.

Colorado College-Utah. Colorado college has a good record this season in comparison with that of Utah and judging from the strength of the two teams Colorado will win. Colorado College over Utah.

Denver-New Mexico. Last year New Mexico beat Denver by a score of 33-13, but this year it will be different. Although the score may be close Denver has the best chance of taking the honored spot on the scoreboard. Denver over New Mexico.

Alameda Coast Guard-St. Mary's Navy. Two service teams who have made fine showings and who tied last year 13-13. This year they play again under more important conditions since both their records are very good for the season. Again the outcome will be very close but it's—Alameda Coast Guard over St. Mary's Navy.

Arkansas-Rice. The Razorbacks have made a decided comeback within the last two weeks while the Owls haven't been able to see in the sun the last two Saturdays. Very close, but Arkansas over Rice.

Texas-Oklahoma A. and M. This one is an easy pick because the Aggies are one of the few top southwestern outfits which possesses touchdown producing ability. The Longhorns are short this year. Oklahoma A. and M. over Texas.

Alabama-Mississippi. Despite the upset by Georgia last week, the Crimson Tide has at least created a minor wave in the south. Ole Miss has merely managed to kill a Florida Alligator this year, nothing more potent. Easily, Alabama over Mississippi.

Georgia Tech - Tulane. Never mind the Duke deal of last week, Wallace Wade still has one of the nation's strongest combines. The Green Wave will, as always, make a good showing, but not good enough. Georgia Tech over Tulane.

Hawkeye Harriers Leave for Meets

Following workouts yesterday Coach George Bresnahan announced that Burke, Burney, Slater, Murray, Zaruba and Morphey will comprise the Hawkeye squad which will compete in the conference championship meets.

They will journey by car and train today to Chicago where they will meet at the Washington park course in the afternoon for a light workout before the meets on Saturday.

Indiana and Ohio still rate tops for the honors, but the Hawkeye harriers will undoubtedly show the opposing runners plenty of competition and as the old saying goes "give them a run for their money."

Two Badger Linemen Injured in Scrimmage; Jug Girard Still Out

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Two Wisconsin first string linemen were injured in yesterday's scrimmage, Martin Meyer, tackle, and Hank Pricke, guard, adding to Coach Harry Stuhldreher's worries on the eve of the Iowa game here tomorrow.

Stuhldreher also announced that Nick Holmes, reserve quarterback, had suffered an appendicitis attack and may be on the shelf. Earl (Jug) Girard, freshman left halfback, remained in the hospital with an injured knee.

will get the chance to do his bit. The Hawkeyes will leave for Wisconsin very early this afternoon by automobile. They will stop for the night before arriving at Madison, and then complete the trip to the stadium on Saturday morning.

Navy Coaches Review Backs

Iowa Pre-Flight's coaching staff, headed by Lieut. Comdr. Jack Meagher, served as a review stand yesterday as the reserve backs of the Seahawk squad ran through their plays while the coaches looked for material with which to fill their necessary replacement schedule.

Playing their final service contest of the year here Saturday against the unbeaten Bunker Hill Naval Air station, the Seahawks divided their time yesterday between offensive and defensive drills.

Two hitherto unknown fullbacks stood out in practice yesterday and earned the praise of Meagher, who has a habit of finding hidden wealth nearly every week in his practice sessions.

Bjorn Ingebrigtsen of Chicago Lane high, and Charles Caraway of Baton Rouge, La., were the two fullbacks who were especially noticed by Meagher and his staff, while Bob Dionne, halfback from Lawrence college and Marquette, also was outstanding with his running and passing.

Continuing their bid for regular jobs after advancing from the unknowns only a few weeks ago, Lloyd Barron and Louis King were also given considerable attention.

Both of these players have continued to move up in the past weeks with the result that Barron's punting is now conceded to be at least on a par with that of Bob Smith, who has been regarded all season as the Seahawks' No. 1 punter.

King's passing and piloting of the team has made him a threat to Dell Taylor for the starting quarterback assignment, once again proving that none of the Seahawks can let up on their job.

Irish Coming In On Punt and Prayer

South Benders Seem Resigned to Defeat At Hands of Army

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—In tip-top shape, but with little hope of upsetting mighty Army, Notre Dame's 35-member football squad yesterday began a two-day exodus to New York for Saturday's battle with the Cadets at Yankee stadium.

Genial Ed McKeever, who left this afternoon with 24 youthful civilian players, appeared resigned to an Irish trimming by Army for the first time in 13 seasons.

"We," he asserted grimly, "are going to New York with a punt, a pass and a prayer—and the only thing we're really sure of is the prayer."

The main Irish contingent which will spend today at Bear Mountain, a resort near West Point, will be followed today by 11 navy trainees who must travel under a 48-hour restriction.

McKeever said his charges emerged from the week's practice in good shape. "About the only thing that hurt this week was our feelings after Navy got through beating us," he said wryly.

Lineup Switches

The Irish coach made several last minute lineup switches that indicated he would bank heavily on the pitching of quarterbacks Frank Danciewicz and Joe Gasparella. Husky George Sullivan was returned to left tackle from his experimental sojourn at end and 6-foot, 4-inch Bill O'Connor of Ft. Montgomery, N. Y., moved back to the left flank ostensibly to spear passes.

Still a source of worry to McKeever is the left half spot vacated when Achilles (Chick) Maggioni was transferred to a marine base. Any running mate he digs up for stellar Bob Kelly will be small and inexperienced.

Chandler to Start

Bill Chandler, 175-pound freshman who stands 5 feet, 9 1/2 inches, is the likely starter at left half with relief coming from 155-pound Jim Brennan of 160-pound Nunzio Marino. The post was further weakened by the loss of George Tenler after the Navy game.

Fast-stepping Kelly, who has scored 72 points on 11 touchdowns and six conversions, recently received an Annapolis appointment and will east an "anti-Cadet" vote along with the 11 navy trainees. Among these are starters Sullivan, O'Connor and Chandler.

After consolidating forces at Bear Mountain, the Irish will move into New York City tomorrow morning a few hours before the kickoff.

Gunder Haegg Drafted

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—Gunder Haegg, Swedish miler, said yesterday he had been ordered to report for military service Dec. 20.
