New Draft Order IssuedAffects Men Deferred For Essential Work*Boards to Draft Men Who Shift Jobs Without Okay

WASHINGTON (AP)—National selective service last night ordered the induction of occupationally deferred men, including those below general army physical standards who quit their essential jobs without draft board approval.

Designed to halt "job-skipping" once a deferment has been obtained, the order makes five million men aged 18 through 37 subject to military duty under what selective service calls "drastically lower" physical standards.

Special Draft Quotas

The army will fix special draft quotas for this group, and such inductees will be assigned to other than regular army duties. The army did not divulge the lower standards nor the proposed size of the special draft calls.

The new tightening of the government's grip on manpower covers all men deferred for occupational reasons except those in agriculture, whose deferment is protected by the Tyding amendment.

Men who left the jobs for which they were deferred and took less essential work were ordered reclassified recently, but the new action plugs a loophole by covering those registrants whose physical impairment gave the government no hold over them.

Thus the new regulation covers men classified as 2-AL and 2-BL, who would be eligible for limited service if not deferred, and 2-AF and 2-BF, who would be classed 4-F if not deferred, in addition to those listed as 2-A and 2-B. (Engaged in essential work or direct war production).

"Local boards of the selective service system have been instructed," the headquarters announcement said, "promptly to reclassify men who change jobs without satisfying their local boards that the change will result in a greater contribution to the war effort."

Lower Physical Standards

"The boards were informed that army physical standards to be applied to these men will be drastically lower than those under which men are inducted for general military service."

Local boards will be directed henceforth to call up for induction not only specified numbers of registrants for general service but at the same time "specified numbers of men who do not meet the physical standards for general service but who are acceptable for military service under the lower standards because they left the jobs for which they were deferred without local board permission," it was stated.

Local boards were instructed to classify as 1-A, 1-A-O, or 4-E any class 2 registrant who voluntarily leaves the employment for which he was deferred, unless it has been determined in advance that the change is in the best interest of the war effort or that there are adequate personal or family reasons justifying the transfer.

The provisions were not made binding upon veterans honorably discharged from the army or navy.

Canadian Forces In Italy Split Nazi Lines Near East Coast

ROME (AP)—Canadian tanks and infantry have split German forces by a surprise blow near Italy's east coast and are chasing the enemy along the southern shores of a huge inland lagoon 31 miles south of the Po river, the allied command announced yesterday.

Ten miles southwest of Alfonso troops, who overrun Sant' Alberto in a thrust eight miles north of Ravenna, was secured by a victory of British and Canadian forces over powerful German armor east of Alfonso. Alfonso is six miles southwest of Sant' Alberto.

In flaming Budapest itself, the communiqué reported capture by the Russians of another 173 blocks Saturday and said prisoners taken Friday numbered 1,630, Moscow said.

Indicating some dwindling in the scope of German air support of the counteroffensive, Moscow said only 17 German planes were shot down on all fronts Friday. The total destroyed northwest of Budapest since Tuesday had been put at 87.

The enemy meanwhile claimed that the counterattacks northwest of Budapest were gaining ground.

Electoral Count Makes It Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt yesterday was finally elected president, officially that is, for a fourth term.

It was 1:30 p. m. when, at a joint session of congress, the electoral vote was counted and President Roosevelt and his running mate, Senator Harry S. Truman of Missouri, were formally declared winners over Thomas E. Dewey and John W. Bricker. The score: 432 to 99.

Soviet Magazine DiscussesFreedom of Press

MOSCOW (AP)—The magazine War and the Working Class said yesterday that ideas presented by Kent Cooper for worldwide freedom of the press deserve wide support, but at the same time asserted Cooper was misinformed about press freedom in Soviet Russia.

The Soviet publication in a 6,000-word article referred to an address made by Cooper, executive director of the Associated Press, in furthering his campaign to break down barriers against free interchange of news among nations.

"The Soviet people will never consent to replace its freedom of the press for the American one," the article said.

It stated its support of Cooper's advocacy of freedom of the press, adding that "Mr. Cooper was correct to look first of all after the guarantees of freedom of the press as would an American."

in the aggressor countries where it has not existed.

"But suddenly Cooper confused this actually important issue by declaring that after the present war nine-tenths of the countries of the world, excepting the Soviet Union and China, would uphold the principles of freedom of the press."

"However, concerning the Soviet Union, Mr. Cooper should not worry—our country will firmly support the widest freedom of the press."

In New York Cooper said in part:

"Mr. Baltiskiy has made a welcome contribution to the international discussion on the proposal of freedom of information by making clear the Soviet conception of freedom of the press which, as I have always said, and repeated in the address referred to, differs from the American conception of power authorizing the president to seize a company such as Ward's."

The company has contended that the seizure of its properties Dec. 28, at the order of President Roosevelt, was "unlawful" and that there was no constitutional power authorizing the president to seize a company such as Ward's.

Navy Discloses ShellingsAmerican Troops Land on Fais Island in Western Carolines

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor (AP)—A two-day bag of 331 Japanese planes and 3 ships in carrier plane assault on Formosa and Okinawa, three naval bombardments extending to within 615 miles of Tokyo and a new island invasion in the Western Carolines were reported yesterday by the navy.

The warships shelled Iwo Jima in the Volcano group, Chichi and Haha in the Bonins.

The carrier planes, in addition to air and shipping damage, spread havoc among railway shipping stock, fuel, ammunition and communications on Formosa.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz issued two communiqués yesterday, an unusual procedure at his headquarters, emphasizing the accelerated Pacific action.

The second communiqué disclosed the bombardment of Iwo Jima and the latest in a series of invasion in Western Carolines which have bypassed Japan's once formidable fortress of Truk.

Jan. 2, United States date, army, infantry units occupied Fais island east of Ulithi in the Western Carolines against slight resistance.

The communiqué followed another yesterday which reported warship shellings of Haha and Chichi in the Bonin Islands.

These fast-breaking developments, which the enemy radio repeatedly is protecting mammoth invasion convoys of Gen. Douglas MacArthur moving on Luzon island in the Philippines, were spread over four days beginning with carrier plane assaults Tuesday against Formosa and Okinawa.

Session Leaders For Assembly Picked

DES MOINES (AP)—Final preparations for the opening of Iowa's 51st general assembly Monday were virtually completed last night following selection of session leaders by Republican members in senate and house caucuses.

The selections still must be voted upon following opening of the legislature, but caucus choice is tantamount to election because of the predominately Republican majority.

Representative Harold Feitton, was chosen speaker of the house, as expected, on the first ballot, but the senate, in an hour and a half closed session, moved contrary to expectations by naming Senator B. C. Whitehill, Marshalltown, president pro tempore, on the third ballot.

The Germans began hauling out both east and west.

The victories along the Senio came after two days of bitter fighting which cost the enemy at least 500 prisoners and hundreds more killed and wounded.

In an unusual procedure, the senate caucus accepted no nominations from the floor, making them by ballot.

Byrnes Claims Ward's Conduct Will Interfere With War Effort

CHICAGO (AP) — James F. Byrnes, war mobilization director, declared in an affidavit yesterday that Montgomery Ward and company's conduct "if allowed to continue, will seriously interfere with the successful prosecution of the war."

Byrnes' affidavit, made in Washington, D. C., Thursday was filed in federal court yesterday as attorneys made final preparations to go into court Monday for a determination of the government's right to seize and operate 16 of the mail order firm's properties in seven cities.

Yank Heroes—

'Old' Men

WASHINGTON (AP)—They call this a kid's war . . . but "old men" are winning most of the congressional medals of honor.

That is, if a warrior is an old man at 32.

There are many teen-age heroes among those awarded the Summa Cum Laude of all American decorations for gallantry in action. However, the average age is 32 among the first 120 medalists from Sergt. John Charles Squires, 18, of Louisville, Ky., boy killed in action on the Anzio beachhead, to Gen. Douglas MacArthur, 63.

If you limit the list to enlisted men . . . the average age is 28.

That too, is "old" in the experience of thousands of men turned down by their draft boards because they were "too old."

Youngsters are bearing the slogging, slugging brunt of battle on all fronts because there are so many more of them and because they have the daylong, dogged determination and supple vigor to carry on.

Rely on Youth

Line officers rely on the almost instant reaction of their young minds and muscles . . . yet, the average age of airmen who place a premium on youth, is 30-31 on the congressional medal roster.

Members of the decorations board here, final authority on all military honors, say it is impossible to push all the congressional medalists together and pull out a complete list.

They are extreme individualists. They perform differently under similar circumstances. There is no set pattern.

One may act on what seems to be nervous tension. Another on rash impulse. Another on calm reasoning, competence and training. Few recall what touched them off at the instant of action. No two of them give the same reason for their audacity. It's just something that happened.

Medal Winners

Nine admirals and generals have won the medal in this war. So have many other general officers and junior officers . . . So did these youngsters:

1-Lieut. Alexander R. Nininger Jr., Fort Lauderdale, Fla., just out of West Point, first American soldier killed in action in this war and first to receive the congressional medal. He died on Bataan, thrice wounded, after repeatedly making way for his comrades with bayonet and hand grenades alone and surrounded by Japanese.

2-Private Joe P. Martinez, 23, Ault, Colo., killed on Attu after climbing mountain heights alone and far ahead of his outfit to wipe out trench upon trench of Japanese machine gun, rifle and mortar fire.

3-Eric Gunnar Gibson, 24, Chicago, Swedish immigrant. He was an army cook, but he wanted to fight. He died on the Anzio beachhead, where he grabbed every weapon in sight and knocked out four German automatic rifle positions which had stopped the advance of just senior girls.

Marion MacEwen, A4 of Iowa City: "There is very little difference between a first year graduate and a senior. Other universities have found it successful, why not Iowa?"

Betty Hamann, A2 of Luana

"I think any girl who is a senior in college should be able to judge for herself the hours that she should keep. . . . When she has reached that age level, if she isn't able to conduct herself to her own best interests and to the best interests of the school, hours would not help anyway."

Barbara Larmer, A4 of Muscatine

"I think it's wonderful only think they should start it this year so I would still be here to enjoy it."

Marjorie Schmidt, A1 of Muscatine

"The hours prove a good excuse to have to come home. This plan would transfer the responsibility from the school to the individuals."

Profiles of Education—

NEW YORK—War has turned America's educational system topsy-turvy. It's taken junior law students and made them into personnel experts; it's transformed language specialists into aeronautical engineers.

When the veterans put down their bayonets and take up their books again, some tall sorting will be needed to straighten things out.

How, for example, is that former law student to decide whether he should go back to studying law, or continue with personnel work? How is his college going to measure the returning veteran's scholastic status, and figure out what class he belongs to?

The Carnegie Foundation for the advancement of teaching has tackled this problem, and come up with the graduate record examination, a series of comprehensive tests which more than 60 educational institutions either are requiring or recommending for entering students.

When the veteran finishes this six-hour exam, he has a graph "profile" of his general educational development in eight basic fields — mathematics, physics, chemistry, biology, social studies, literature, fine arts and the verbal factor. In addition, he takes an advanced examination in his major field. His graph score is then superimposed on a chart showing the normal performance of other students in his age and educational group. The result is neither an I.Q. nor an aptitude rating, but a description of the amount and quality of his available knowledge and understanding in specific fields, compared with an established norm.

This profile score not only tells the student where he stands in relation to others, but also may be taken into account by his college for academic credit. The veteran, therefore, need not necessarily sit through his senior college year just accumulating credits, if he proves that his educational status is sufficient for graduate work. And his status may very well have

Paul Mallon Discusses Belgian Bulge—

WASHINGTON — The Germans may have one more good punch left in their Belgian bulge. They have been trying to organize a counter-attack.

Heaviest concentrations of their troops the past few days have been observed on the northern side of the salient. They had two full armies in their spearhead and a third on the two shoulders at the entrance to it. Not even they know yet how much power is left.

If they cannot muster strength to try another breakthrough, they probably will retire into Germany, announcing they upset our offensive plans and have thus won a victory. At only one point have they indicated any intention so far of trying permanently to hold the ground they gained.

South of Bastogne they started digging trenches. On the quiet Dutch front far to the north they have exploded a few violent local attacks, which hint they may try the Russian trick of starting something new on a different front to cover their defeat on this one.

Future operations on their side and ours, however, will depend on what the terrific losses of this great struggle will permit. Both sides put just about everything they had from every other section of the line.

The situation demands a counter-attack by us, say on the Aachen front, to move on to Berlin, but we may not have the power left there.

Our game certainly will be to destroy every possible German and every possible weapon in that salient now, and the size of our victory will be measured by the extent of damage we do from now on. In fact, the duration of the war depends on this factor.

So far it has been one of the most heroic stands of all American arms in history. The tide turned on Christmas day. Then the Germans reached the farthest point of advance, to Celles, within four miles of the Meuse in the north and St.

Hubert on their less advanced way to Sedan.

Then their tanks started running short of gas and their air coverage had diminished. Two days earlier the covering rain had cleared and our great air armadas of 2,500 and 3,000 planes got in great work of destruction. Indeed, five of the eight days thereafter were clear.

What greatly helped (or caused) this shortage of German gas was the valiant stand of our 101st airborne division at Bastogne, a point covering six highways and a railway. The division was not paraded in, but was marched to the breach and fought as infantry.

Peter Tomich, 50-year-old navy water tender, stood by at Pearl Harbor until his engine room crew escaped. He died of burns. This goes on and on in the 30's, 40's, and 50's.

Of the 120 medalists only 10 were under 24. Only five were too young to vote. More than half of them were "too old to fight" by standard of the 30's, 40's, and 50's.

The names of these divisions will live forever. Their stand was vital because they hindered the advancing of gasoline to the German tanks at the westward moving past.

The Germans no doubt intended to strike at Liege, which is the focal point of our supplies behind the Aachen front. They may have told their soldiers they were going to Paris, but their primary objective was to cause our withdrawal from the Aachen front by capturing its supply line.

"It," he said, "was just a matter of moving up on the enemy and clearing him out."

There, says the army, is probably your composite hero.

HOPE TOPS RADIO POPULARITY POLL

In Washington—

Looking Ahead

WASHINGTON (AP)—A general tightening up of the Democratic organization in the house undoubtedly will result from the setback the leadership received on the opening day of the new congress.

The roll call vote that upset plans to abolish the un-American activities (Dies) committee keeps demonstrating anew the need for Democrats to get their votes on the floor. They have a healthy majority of seats, not always occurred.

The vote on the Dies committee renewal was 207 to 186, or an edge of 21 votes. That's exactly how many Democrats were absent when the vote was taken.

Throughout the 78th congress, Democrats suffered in the house because of inability to keep their members on hand for important roll calls.

"It doesn't mean a thing to have a paper majority if you can't get the boys here to vote when you need them," one Democratic leader commented. "We are going to have to tighten up our organization and persuade the Democrats to stick around the capitol."

Red Front—don't look for the opening of the grand Russian winter offensive until some time after the conquest of Budapest.

Some of the bloodiest fighting of the war has occurred in the campaign to reduce German forces in the Hungarian capital. Both Russian and German concentrations of force on the city have given it greater strategic importance than many observers in Washington first thought it would have.

So intense has the fighting become that Budapest may be considered the key to a sort of third front serving the Soviet purpose of relieving the enemy's terrific defensive pressure around the Warsaw front.

The full effect of this diversionary effort can not be felt until Nazi divisions lined on Budapest have been either defeated or forced to withdraw toward Germany. At that point it now seems entirely possible the Soviet command will at last make its long-awaited main offensive toward Berlin through Poland.

OIL—Watch for the state department to withdraw the proposed Anglo-American oil agreement. The pact, submitted to the senate for ratification as a treaty last Aug. 24, maulders in the foreign relations committee.

United States oil interests are afraid that some of its terms might give an international petroleum commission some authority to limit American production. Chairman Connally (D., Tex.) of the senate committee sat on it heavily recently.

Upshot may be a new conference where an attempt will be made to reach a more limited agreement with the British.

Work Preview To Be Given

Students to Indicate Activity Interests For Second Semester

Newly appointed members of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet will be announced tomorrow at the general "Y" meeting in the River room of Iowa Union at 4 o'clock, initiating the organization's program for the second semester.

Jean Stamy, A4 of Marion, chairman of the "tip-off" meeting, will introduce all members of the Cabinet to the audience before giving a preview of "Y" activities for which university women may register.

Plans for activity group meetings will be explained in a skit by Anne Rinck, A3 of La Grange, Ill.; June Muhl, A1 of Oskaloosa, and Jacqueline Rankin, A2 of Ottumwa. Phyllis Kadel, A1 of Tipton, will sing and Mildred Hotchkiss, A1 of Greeley, Colo., will give a reading. "Y" members may sign up for different activities for the second semester or participate in activity groups which first semester schedule conflicts prevented them from entering. The registration blank signed tomorrow will indicate interest in various activities, although it is not an actual membership card.

"Major in Marriages," a course in marriage problems, from courtship to homemaking, is one of the discussion groups in the "Y" program. Others are "The U. S. and You," and the "Worship Workshop."

Under the service phase of the Y. W. C. A. activity schedule, university women may work at the Children's hospital and the Convalescent home, entertaining and teaching the young patients. Many "Y" members have "adopted" children, going to the hospital at least once a week to entertain them. Others teach Sunday school, direct craft work, entertain groups of children on Wednesday evenings or plan special holiday parties each month.

A calendar of events for the first meetings of all "Y" groups will be distributed at tomorrow's meeting. Helen Klahn, A3 of Marshalltown, is in charge of publicity for the "tip-off," with "Live-Y-ers" announcing plans for the event in their own housing units.

Joan Hawkinson, A1 of Des Moines, contact chairman for the general meeting, has a contact chairman of "Y" class groups, Mary Elizabeth Bell, A3 of Colfax, and Shirley Harper, A2 of Iowa City, as her committee.

BLACK WIDOW'S "STING" REVEALED

GUARDED SECRETS about the powerful gunfire system on the Black Widow P-61 fighter plane, including the fact that four .50 caliber machine guns on a revolving turret can be aimed and fired by gunners located in comparative safety many feet away, have been revealed by General Electric, builders of the important equipment. This is the first official photo of the Black Widow, top above, showing the plane's top turret, that houses machine guns, lower photo, which are controlled by a gunner either in the rear or front compartment, with the gun control interchangeable. A highly sensitive system of electrical and mechanical parts enables either gunner to instantly and accurately align the guns in response to quick sighting changes, with automatic interrupters to prevent their firing when aimed in a direction to endanger any part of the ship. —International

Hawkeyes Halt Minnesota in Conference Opener

Iowa Wins Rough Battle

Clay Wilkinson Collects 13 Points In 41 to 34 Victory

By BOB KRAUSE

In one of the less subtle basketball games in the history of the sport Iowa's Hawkeyes and Minnesota's Gophers met last night in the Iowa fieldhouse. After some 40 minutes of stumbling and bumbling on the part of both quintets the Hawks managed to come out on top by a final tally of 41 to 34.

The members of both teams threw finesse out the window and went at the business at hand with hammer and tongs. In fact, if it had not been for the 24 fouls which were called on Minnesota the final result might well have leaned the other way. As it was the ayes had it, and Coach Pops Harrison's men punched through 17 points from the foul line to put the affair on ice.

Probably the work of one man can be chosen as being superior in this, the Hawkeyes first victory and opening contest of the Big Ten campaign. Long, lean center Clay Wilkinson poured in 16 points to be high man for the evening, and establish himself as above the average run in the melee. In addition Clay did a masterful job of guarding the Gopher's massive pivot, "Klegie" Herm森, who was limited to but three points and who was generally somewhat impotent.

Sophomore Dick Ives experienced what was, for him, an off night as he garnered "only" eleven markers. The famous Spencer-to-Ives fast break was almost nonexistent as the opposition continually gummed up long passes or sustained attacks. For that matter both teams were more than a bit sloppy on the offense and no set plays were in evidence.

For Minnesota forward Chet Tomczyk paced the attack with nine points, but it was a diminutive guard, "No Name" Rucke, who was more spectacular. He was so named due to the fact that he was not listed in the program, and all attempts to learn his true calling failed. At all events Rucke bagged seven points, mainly on sensational long shots.

The contest started at a slow pace which kept up throughout the evening. At one time, early in the opening period, the Gophers had a slight lead but fine marksmanship by Postels, Ives and Clay and Herb Wilkinson gave the Hawks a 21 to 12 edge at half time.

As the second stanza commenced Iowa began to lengthen the lead and, when the advantage seemed sufficient, Jack Spencer began some effective stalling tactics. At this point, however, the Gophers started to click and with much help from smooth Arnold Lehrman, they drew up to 39 to 34 disadvantage with about five minutes left. Ives closed the scoring with a pretty one-hander.

The story of the battle was one of wild and seemingly aimless rushing up and down the floor. The margin of victory was supplied by individual Iowa shooting, as neither team seemed capable of producing any kind of systematic attack. Play was hindered by the many fouls and the officials had their hands full trying to keep the duel on a sane level.

Boilermakers Overcome Ohio State

Spring Upset After Trailing; Haag Paces Defense

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's underdog Boilermakers overcame an early 10 to 3 deficit to edge out Ohio State in their Western conference basketball opener last night, 37 to 36.

The Boilermakers treated nearly 7,000 fans to a brilliant defensive display as they handed the defending champions their first conference setback in two games this season. Unable to match the tremendous height of the visitors, Purdue played a cautious possession game throughout, holding the ball six minutes without a shot just before the half ended.

Main Cog

Guard Charlie Haag was the main cog in the stout Purdue defense. Haag concentrated on Don Grate, the Buckeye key man, and held him pointless. Only Arnold (Stilts) Risen and Paul Huston were able to count more than a dozen points for Ohio State.

Huston led the early rush for the Buckeyes, hitting four consecutive field goals. Red Anderson and Paul Hoffman, who went all the way at forward and center, respectively, for Purdue, got the Boilermakers back into the game, and both, and Billy Goswehr, Anderson's running mate, finally tied it up at 14-all.

Regain Lead

A field goal by Haag gave Purdue its first lead at 18 to 16, and Coach Ward Lambert's charges stalled out the remainder of the first period, which ended Purdue 22, Ohio State 19.

Ohio State regained the lead in the early stages of the second half, 23 to 22, on Risen's rebound getting and eventually enjoyed a 27-23 margin. Purdue forged back in front at 29 to 27, however, and withheld the Buckeyes' closing punch.

With two minutes remaining Jack Dugger gave Ohio State a 35-33 lead on a free throw, but Anderson connected from the field and Purdue held out to the end.

Anderson and Risen tied for scoring honors with 14 points apiece.

Great Lakes Whips Irish

GREAT LAKES, ILL. (AP)—Two long baskets by Mickey McGuire in the last three minutes gave the Great Lakes Bluejackets a 59-58 victory over Notre Dame's basketball team here Saturday night.

McGuire's two counters came after Johnny Dee, who tallied 25 points for the Irish, had put Great Lakes behind, 57-55. Then the former St. John's of Brooklyn star tossed in the two goals while Dee added a free throw for Notre Dame.

The Bluejackets, who took a 10-4 lead early in the game, were ahead most of the way, and held a 30-27 margin at the half.

College athletics, supported in the main by pre-draft age athletes and naval trainees would be affected to some degree by the loss of 4-F's or the universal service act, as asked by the president.

Hockey probably will lose little, since most of its players are Canadians under strict supervision of the Dominion government.

Root Signed

COLUMBUS, OHIO (AP)—A. L. Banister, president of the American association, announced yesterday the signing of Charlie Root, former Chicago Cub pitcher, to manage the Redbirds during the 1945 season.

Root succeeds Nick Culop, who resigned recently to become manager of the Milwaukee Brewers.

Banister said Root signed a player-manager contract and expected to do considerable relief pitching.

Army Faces Navy In Lily Bowl

HAMILTON, BERMUDA (AP)—Some 8,000 fans are expected to watch the Army All-Stars meet the Navy All-Stars for the football championship of Bermuda this afternoon at the third annual Lily Bowl game. West Point and Annapolis have provided uniforms and equipment.

Although neither team has played any official games, observers have installed the navy as slight favorites. The Bluejackets romped away with an easy 19-0 victory last year and army won the 1943 contest by a one-point margin, 19-18.

Harness Horse Racing—

Sport to Continue

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—If it were purely a question of manpower, harness horse racing is probably the only spectacle sport in the country that could carry on should the government require all 4-F's to leave the sports picture.

The reason is that a goodly number of the men connected with that clannish activity were practically over age during the Spanish-American war. There is no other strenuous sport that has so many wrinkled, wiry old codgers holding every job from stable hand to driver.

Gaffers

In fact, the tense, goggled gents curled up in the sulky and clucking softly to their trotters and pacers seldom hit their peak until they pass the 40-year mark, and most of the top men either are hugging 50 or well beyond that milestone.

Henry Thomas, who drove Yankee Maid to victory in the Hambletonian, is about that age. Ben White, who has three Hambletonians to his credit, is in his 70's. One of the top men up around Saratoga raceway is little Billy Berry, who is 67. And if you go into the barns and check the stable hands you'll find them 60 or better.

The lead changed hands eight times and the score was tied on five occasions in the first half which ended with the Wildcats leading 17-16. The Northwestern guards, Frank Wright and Benny Schadler, started a scoring drive that ran the visitors' lead to 33-19 with 10 minutes remaining. Richard L. Wilson, Washington Correspondent, to Head Event

News Analysis To Head Event

War Discussion Project Directed By Student Committee

Richard L. Wilson, Washington correspondent for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, will open the Information First series for the second semester in the Senate chamber of Old Capitol Thursday at 4 p.m. Recognized as one of the leading correspondents in Washington today, Wilson will present an interpretation and analysis of current news as he sees it, a straight-from-Washington report to university students. His appearance is sponsored by the school of journalism and Information First.

Another speaker scheduled for the Thursday afternoon lecture series is Dr. George Gallup, founder and director of the American Institute of Public Opinion. Dr. Gallup, who took his undergraduate work at the University of Iowa, has gained an international reputation for his polling of public opinion.

Graham Hutton, Chicago director of the British Information Service, and Dr. Colman R. Griffith, a leading administrator at the University of Illinois, will also come to the campus for Information First lectures during the second semester. Dr. Griffith is an authority on the psychological adjustments of returned servicemen and their families.

Large Attendance

Student interest in the Information First series is evident from attendance at the lectures and participation in the question and answer period following each topic. More than 200 students were turned away from the Senate chamber of Old Capitol Sept. 28 when Gordon Gammack, opening speaker of the 1944-45 program, told a university audience what he had seen in France with our armed forces. Gammack, a foreign correspondent for the Des Moines Register and Tribune, had just returned from the fighting front and was reported to be one of the first Americans to enter liberated Paris.

Earl Hall Acclaimed

Following Gammack's report "From the Battlefield" the lectures continued through Nov. 30 with well informed speakers like W. Earl Hall, managing editor of the Mason City Globe-Gazette, who had returned from Europe just 21 days before his visit to Iowa City. This year, making his second appearance as an Information First speaker, the Mason City editor gave his frontpage audience first hand view of the warfronts.

Also returning for a second lecture was Lieut. Col. Andrew J. Boe, head chaplain at Schick general hospital in Clinton. In discussing the "Psychological Kickback," Col. Boe told of the problems he has dealt with in working with returned servicemen at Schick.

One of the Information First programs of highest campus interest was presented by four veterans of World War II who are now enrolled in the university—Gordon Christensen, Bob Gillian, Bill Boswell and Fred Davies, who told of the problems of rehabilitation facing student veterans.

Radio Featured

Dorothy Lewis, co-ordinator of listener activity for the National Association of Broadcasters, and Frances Farmer Wilder, program consultant for the Columbia broadcasting system, represented the women in the Information First series with a joint program concerning radio. They discussed the vital role radio has played in this war and the role it will play in peacetime living.

Knit and Chat

In 1941, a group called "Knit and Chat" was organized, presenting various campus leaders who talked with university women as they knitted for the Red Cross. The following year this group was reorganized into a war discussion group, participated in and led by students.

Neither of these groups completely fulfilled the need for which both had been organized, and it was then that planning was begun which culminated in the present Information First series.

Inaugurating the series Oct. 7, 1943, was Gardner Cowles, Jr., who had shortly before that time accompanied Wendell Willkie in his trip around the world, the trip on which Willkie based his well known book, "One World."

W. W. Waymack, editor of the Des Moines Register and Tribune, was a guest on Information First soon after he returned from an inspection tour in Britain, giving his audience a wartime conception of "Our British Ally."

Jack Shelley, heads news editor of WHO, was also a guest speaker during the first semester's series of programs. Now doing his broadcasts directly from the battlefield, Shelley is expected home soon and plans are being made to have him appear in the 1944-45 lecture series.

Nationally Known Speakers

During the second semester series, from Jan. 13 through March 30, 1944, several nationally known speakers came to the campus: Dr. Margaret Mead, famous sociologist and anthropologist; William Henry Chamberlain, eminent authority of Russia, who spoke on "Russia, Today and Tomorrow," and Mrs. Rose Hildebrand, assistant to the British consul, whose topic was "United Women Face the Future."

In addition to the weekly lectures in the senate chamber, each Information First speaker is interviewed over WSUI at 3:15 p.m. the day of the program. Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock is recognized by campus organizations as the hour for Information First and the calendars of these groups are left open so everyone may attend.

Five Topics

The entire program is divided into five phases of topics to be developed: an evaluation, interpretation and analysis of current news; social problems of wartime; the psychological aspects of the war and the peace; the historical, geographic, political and economic phases of both war and peace, and some considerations of postwar living.

Outlined and developed with reference to an adequate presentation of each of these topics, the program brings speakers who are considered the best available in each field. Although the organization provides funds only for travel and entertainment for guests few speakers have declined invitations to come to the campus.

Student Project

Presented under the direction of a central committee composed entirely of students, the lecture series is a student project. From the time the speaker is contacted until he reaches Iowa City, is presented to the campus audience and leaves the city, this central committee directs all contacts of the speaker with the campus.

Information First is one of the activities for which university women will register Tuesday in the Double-V second semester re-registration for war activities sponsored by the University Women's association and the Young Women's Christian association. Re-registration will take place in the lounge adjoining the Y. W. C. A. rooms in Iowa Union from 1:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesdays.

Working with Edna Herbst, A3 of Newton, general chairman of Information First, members of the central committee who include: Louise Hilfman, A3 of Bettendorf, publicity chairman; Joan Holt, A2 of Highland Park, Ill., program chairman; Helen Kuttler, A3 of Davenport, hostess chairman; Ann Shaw, A3 of Des Moines, personal contact chairman; Anne Waterman, A4 of Iowa City, poster chairman, and Eleanor Pownall, A2 of Iowa City, student leader chairman. Miss Pownall was recently appointed to the committee to succeed Jean Ferguson of Cedar Falls, who was graduated at the December convocation.

Publicity Committee

Other members of the publicity committee are Miriam Levitt, A3 of Des Moines, housing unit publicity; Jean Krabbenhoef, A3 of Davenport, speaker information releases; Carol Raymond, A3 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, blackboards; Peggy Banks, A4 of New York City, and Lois Schoenwaert, A3 of Ottumwa, newspaper publicity.

Nancy Gilson, A2 of Kirkwood, Mo., and Phyllis Sharer, A2 of Montezuma, are permanent members of Miss Kuttler's hostess committee. Other hostesses are chosen each month.

Under the direction of Miss Shaw, personal contact is in charge of Harriett Baker and Doris Timm, both A2 of Highland Park, Ill.; Aleese Gardner, A3 of Newton, Eugenia Mannon, A3 of Alton, Ill., and Anne Rinck, A3 of La Grange, Ill.

Miss Waterman's poster committee includes Nancy Schmidt, A3 of Davenport; Carol Snyder, A4 of Burlington; Barbara Ellison, A1 of Webster Groves, Mo.; Betty Hill, A2 of Clarion; Geraldine Hoffman, A2 of St. Louis, Mo., and Donee Waterman, A1 of Chicago.

Members of the student leader committee working with Miss Pownall for the second semester are Corena Synhorst, A3 of Pella, and Virginia Anderson, A1 of Harcourt.

A petition for a divorce was filed in district court Friday by Mrs. Iona Duros, charging her husband, Nicholas Duros, with cruel and inhuman treatment.

The couple was married in Iowa City, June 9, 1940, and separated Sept. 15, 1944.

Attorneys for the plaintiff are Swisher and Swisher.

Dress Designs—

'Winter Wonderland'

—Inspires Glamor

A HAREM-DRAPE skirt is the unusual feature of this sophisticated dress in fuchsia wool crepe. The smooth fitting bodice with a high heart-shaped neckline is a perfect setting for costume jewelry and the Iowa coed will be chic and charming if she goes dancing at the "Winter Wonderland" in a winter-time date dress such as this.

With the first all-university party of the New Year, "Winter Wonderland," just a week away, university women have returned to school prepared to step out in new date dresses designed for sophistication and glamor. Soft pastel shades and black are the overwhelming factors for that oh-so-important date into Wonderland.

An enchanting crepe dress of chartreuse and black was the new wardrobe addition received by Joanne Clingen, A1 of Ames. The three-quarter length sleeves, gathered at the elbow, and the soft waist front, designed with a sweet-heart neckline and a double row of gathers across the yoke-line, are chartreuse, while the waist back and skirt are black. Three square button fasten down the blouse front. The plain skirt has a draped front with the reversed side in chartreuse and the right side in black. A small black belt completes the ensemble.

Joan Lyon, A1 of Des Moines, conquers that post-vacation let-down with a powder blue wool date dress sprinkled with black sequin bows. Contrasting with the sophistication of the sequins is a simple sweetheart neckline. Graceful lines in the skirt are gained by a softly gathered waistline, topped by a belt which ties in front. A touch of spring fashion trend is shown by the V-shaped slit in each sleeve.

Stepping gracefully into "Winter Wonderland" Saturday night in a light blue wool dress will be Delores Lahr, A1 of Omaha, Neb.

Chic is the word which describes the charming black wool two-piece jersey dress of Shirley Gordon, A2 of Lowell, Mass. The three-quarter length sleeves of the jacket are set off by melon-colored cuffs as is the front of the panel of melon-wool jersey trimmed with black sequins. It is designed with a V-neckline, a square yoke in the back and black buttons down the front. Shirley's skirt is of straight suspenders.

Starting the New Year right in a softly draped dress is Julia Hauth, A2 of Hawkeye. Made of arctic black silk-crepe, it is styled with short sleeves and a square neckline, trimmed with black sequins. The waist is tight fitting and has two slit pockets which are also trimmed with sequins. Julia's full skirt hangs gracefully from a gathered waistline.

In these exciting dateline dresses, one can see Iowa coeds will be creating a wonderland of their own as they dance at "Winter Wonderland" Saturday night.

Extension Agronomist From Ames to Speak At Soil Conference

H. B. Cheney, acting extension agronomist of Iowa State college, will discuss soil management at a soil conference in Iowa City Wednesday. Using slide pictures to illustrate his points he will discuss legumes in rotation, organic matter maintenance, quality limestone and the use of fertilizers.

Woodman Hall will be the conference meeting place from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Professor Johnson editorial board will consist of the members of the editorial staff of the "Journal of Speech Disorders," of which he is editor, and of other correctionists whom he will appoint. Each section of the books will be written by an outstanding specialist. The books will carry the official approval of the American Speech Correction Association.

Clerk Issues Licenses

Glenn C. Dotson, 23, of Atalissa, and Viola E. Buckman, 24, of West Liberty, and Ray Stewart and Helen Schweigart, both of Des Moines, were issued marriage licenses by the clerk of district court Friday.

Red Cross Sets Goal

Chapter War Fund For Johnson County To Total $39,200

A goal of $39,200 has been set for the Johnson county Red Cross chapter's 1945 war fund, according to Dr. William J. Petersen, chairman of the war fund drive. This goal includes the Johnson county chapter's share of the national organization's budget as well as funds for conducting the local Red Cross program.

The national goal in the 1945 war fund drive is $180,000,000. This money is needed to finance Red Cross work in the 52 nations and islands where American troops now are stationed and also work in all the communities of the nation.

"This quota figure of $39,200 represents the minimum goal of our chapter in the 1945 war fund campaign which will be held in March," Dr. Petersen stated. "Because it is the very smallest amount on which Red Cross work can be continued at its present extent, it is essential that every person in Johnson county resolve now to contribute his share toward raising the necessary money."

The following persons have been appointed by Dr. Petersen to assist in the war fund campaign:

War fund headquarters: Mrs. C. W. Keyser, 128 E. Fairchild street, chairman; Mrs. Dora Chapman, 723 Oakland avenue, cashier; Prof. Walter L. Daykin, 714 N. Van Buren street, speakers' bureau; Mrs. Jack J. Hinman Jr., 121 Melrose avenue, publicity; Mrs. J. P. Cady, 319 S. Capitol street, junior Red Cross activity.

Iowa City, residential: Mrs. M. Willard Lampe, 8 Bella Vista, east side north of Iowa avenue; Mrs. E. Y. Sangster, 1106 E. College street, east side south of Iowa avenue; Mrs. Homer Cherrington, 237 Ferson street, Coralville heights; Mrs. H. S. Ivie, 127 Melrose avenue, Melrose and University heights.

Howard L. Young, 25 Olive court, business; Miss Regina Schneider, 1 Schneider building, professional; Dr. Andrew H. Woods, 1100 N. Dubuque street, special gifts; Prof. Joseph W. Howe, 205 Highland drive, men's organizations; Mrs. William J. Petersen, 7 W. Davenport street, women's organizations.

University: Dr. Donald Mallett, 1135 E. College, faculty; Virgil Copeland, North Liberty, business office; Ray Phillips, 1117 E. Court street, buildings and grounds; Miss Helen Foch, 19 Woolf avenue, university students; Dr. E. D. Plass, 407 Melrose avenue, hospital; Mrs. S. Sumit, 127 Melrose avenue, Melrose and University heights.

Johnson county: J. W. Holland, 330 S. Capitol street and Mrs. M. E. Taylor, 1855 Muscatine street, rural; George L. Ludwig, Tiffin, small towns.

Members of the civil air patrol will meet Monday night at 7:30 in studio D of the engineering building.

Navy Ace Missing

LT ALEXANDER VRACIU, 24, one of the Navy's top air heroes who is credited with destroying 37 Japanese planes, 19 in the air and 18 on the ground, is missing in action in the South Pacific, according to the Navy Department. The Navy ace's home is in East Chicago, Ind., where his wife, now a junior at Indiana University, stated that she "has all the confidence in the world" that she will hear from him.

Pre-Nuptial Parties Honor Eloise Lapp, January Bride-Elect

A number of pre-nuptial parties are being given in honor of Eloise Lapp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude J. Lapp, 426 Bayard street. Miss Lapp will become the bride of Pvt. Philip L. Ruby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard E. Ruby of Jackson, Mich., Saturday.

Emmett C. Gardner, county extension director, estimated yesterday that about 40 farmers a day have come into his office since the first of the year for advice in making their declarations.

Gardner explained that farmers may make a final declaration of their 1944 income and then pay their income tax in quarterly installments. If they do not file such a declaration by January 15 they must pay their 1944 tax in full by March 15.

All persons who do not file a revised estimate of their 1944 income must make a final return by March 15, according to internal revenue officials. That office also has been swamped with taxpayers since the first of the year.

Internal revenue men are so busy that they do the routine of hours.

The revised income tax program set up by congress last year makes it easier for salaried persons to make tax returns. Before Jan. 31

Mrs. E. P. T. Tyndall honored Miss Lapp at a shower and tea Friday at 3 o'clock. Twenty associates of the university physics department shared the courtesy.

A tea and miscellaneous shower feted the bride-elect Thursday at the home of Mrs. Edwin Kurtz and daughters, Mary Ann Kurtz and Mrs. Frank Seydel, 242 Ferison avenue. Sixteen school friends of the bride-elect were present.

Eagles Show Movies

Movies will be shown tonight at 8 o'clock at the Eagle club rooms for members and their families.

"OH, GIVE ME A HOME--"

GLEN H. TAYLOR, newly-elected Democratic senator from Idaho, with his wife and Arvid, 9, and Paul Jon, 3, are shown on the steps of the capitol, as the incumbent played his banjo while the family group sang "Home on the Range," substituting "near the capitol dome" for the "buffalo" locale. The new senator, unable to find quarters in overcrowded Washington, suggests that barracks be constructed to accommodate the congressional families. (International)
