French Army Enters Battle For Alsace

Germans Effect Five-Mile Penetration Of Seventh Army Lines

PARIS (AP)—The French First army struck a powerful blow or Alsace's liberation yesterday with a new offensive on a 25-mile front that rolled up three-mile gains 70 miles south of where American comrades-in-arms battled to save the imperiled capital of Strasbourg.

The French jumped into the mounting battle, with the fate of Alsace and Strasbourg in the balance, after tank-led German troops drove United States Seventh army lines back five miles and threatened to undermine American positions in the north-east corner of France.

Surprise Assault

The assault, rolling out under the cover of a blinding snowstorm from the Vosges eastward to the Rhine in the Mulhouse area, achieved complete surprise and still was pressing forward last night against that tough German core known as the Colmar pocket from which the enemy was menacing Strasbourg from the south.

Associated Press Correspondent Robert C. Wilson said the French were attacking all the way from St. Amarin, 16 miles northwest of Mulhouse, east to the Rhine where the French already hold an eight-mile strip of the west bank above the Swiss frontier.

The Germans were pouring more and more troops and tanks across the Rhine north of Strasbourg to exploit the five-mile penetration of American positions.

German Penetrations

Tank-led attacks broke out Friday, raged through the night and on to yesterday. Hurdling the Zorn canal, the Germans fought into the edge of Weyersheim, six miles west of the Rhine and nine miles north of the Alsation capital in the deepest penetration from their bridgehead.

It is here, apparently, that Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt has decided to make one more supreme effort to upset allied plans on the western front after his costly Ardennes failure.

Again the weather played the German tune as in December. Mists shielded the pontoon bridges from allied air power, and enemy tanks were rumbling across them in considerable numbers.

Gov. Robert D. Blue To Make 21 Major Appointments

DES MOINES (AP)—Political strategy is being worked overtime during the early weeks of the Iowa legislature as lawmakers and other party leaders try to maneuver themselves or their friends into line for the 21 major appointments Gov. Robert D. Blue must make during the session.

Four out of every five jobs the governor must fill now are held by Republicans. Blue has given no indication of his intentions, but most political observers believe that in most cases the incumbents will be reappointed.

Blue is in a comfortable position in regard to making appointments. Two of his closest friends, Ward Barnes, Eagle Grove publisher who directed the governor's campaign, and L. E. Wilson, Eagle Grove business man, are not interested and reportedly would not take any if offered.

One of the major appointments for an appointive position reportedly centers around that now held by A. A. Hurst, Maquoketa Democrat, whose $4,000 a year job as a member of the state highway commission expires July 1.

Destroyer Casualties

WASHINGTON (AP)—Casualties on the destroyer Reid, lost off Leyte in the Philippines Dec. 11 were "high." Comdr. Samuel A. McCormick of Iron River, Mich., skipper reported yesterday.

A total of 150 survived, 28 of them injured, McCormick said in a report released by the navy department.

YANK 'SEWS UP' NAZI DEFEAT

THIS STITCH MAY BE JUST in time to save the life of an American rifleman as he seeks out German positions on the western front, for Staff Sgt. Bertram T. Beagle, of Missoula, Mont., is stitching snow camouflage on a captured German sewing machine in the Hurtgen forest, Germany. Beagle is believed to be the oldest combat infantryman in service. He is a veteran of the Mexican border campaign in 1916 and of World War I.

Yanks Throw Back Landings on Peleliu

Surround Small Enemy Force Attacking U. S. Bomber Base

UNITED STATES PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor (AP)—A desperate abortive attack by the Japanese on the Peleliu island American heavy bomber base was upset by Yank troops, Armistead Chester W. Nimitz reported in a communique yesterday.

The admiral said two barges carrying about 62 Japanese soldiers landed on the island Wednesday from neighboring Niipon bases in the Palaus. The Yanks killed 49 of the attackers and captured two. The others are surrounded.

The communique said, "At last reports no damage had been caused to our installations."
American forces invaded Peleliu Jan. 20, 1944, and since last October the heavy bombers have been making regular raids from that base on the Philippines.

The Japanese landing was made at night during a rainstorm.
The communique said army Liberators of the strategic airforce Monday night blasted airstrips on the Marcus island, about 750 miles northwest of American-held Saipan. The flyers encountered only moderate ack-ack fire.

Marine fighter planes bombed Japanese installation on Urukthapel in the Palaus Wednesday and struck at buildings and small craft on Merr and Sonsorol islands, southwest of the Palaus.

Steel Industry Asks Lewis to Present New Wage Demands

WASHINGTON (AP)—The steel industry, expressing concern over declining coal supplies, last night invited John L. Lewis to present any new wage demands he may be planning before the present minor's contract expires.

At the same time the steel industry endorsed "work-or-jail" legislation.

Industry leaders, speaking through the war production board's industry advisory committee, declared: "The coal supply of leading steel producers is down to a point tolerably threaten steel mill operations."

Jap Admiral Resigns 'At Own Request'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Admiral Shigetaro Shimada, Japanese navy minister at the time of the Pearl Harbor attack, has retired "at his own request," a Domei agency broadcast said yesterday.

As recorded by the federal communications commission, the dispatch said the 61-year-old admiral had been placed on the reserve list. Shimada was a member of the Japanese supreme war council.

MacArthur Repels Nips On Left Flank

Troops Resume Drive to Manila, Take Unused Airfield

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Sunday (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has started his columns rolling toward Manila again after securing his left flank and his Yanks have overrun two airfields.

His communique today, reporting the heaviest series of staggering blows against the Japanese since the Lingayen gulf landing 12 days ago, included capture of an unused enemy airfield at Carmen.

Another Airfield Occupied

A field dispatch from Fred Hampson, Associated Press war correspondent, reported occupation of another airfield at Rasales, near Carmen. Carmen is 34 road miles southeast of Lingayen and Rosales is just east of Carmen.

A swiftly-expanded airfield seized the first day of the invasion at Lingayen already is providing air cover for the Manila-bound Yanks.

The general overall picture of the military situation, as gleaned from the official communique and field dispatches was (1) solidification of the left flank and (2) consequent resumption of the drive south toward Manila, approximately 70 miles beyond columns approaching Tarlac.

37 Miles of Highway

Thirty-seven miles of the principle north and south highway have been secured between Sison, on the left flank of the campaign down the central Luzon plain, and Panique to the south, the communique said.

MacArthur said enemy resistance was crumbling and breaking into disorganized groups on the left flank, where the Japanese have shown their only strong resistance to date.

Sixth army troops also captured high ground northeast of Rosario Friday.

Canadian Troops, Readied for Overseas, Go AWOL

OTTAWA (AP)—A new crisis in Canada over conscription for overseas service arose yesterday with official disclosure that half of a group of home defense troops—7,800 out of 15,600—had gone absent without leave as they were about to be sent abroad.

Defense Minister A. G. L. McNaughton announced that although 1,500 men had since returned voluntarily or been apprehended, 6,300 were still AWOL. They will be classified as deserters if they do not return within 21 days, he said.

More than 8,300 of the drafted home army have arrived in Britain recently under the government's new conscription policy, McNaughton announced, plus the "normal quota of reinforcements," presumably men from the regular home training stream.

The conscription crisis revolves once more around a group of 60,000 men—out of nearly 1,000,000 taken into Canada's armed services—who have declined to serve overseas and now are liable to be sent abroad under the government's new policy.

McNaughton indicated that some of the men who are AWOL might already have been classed as deserters, saying that a "majority" of them had not yet been so classified.

South Pacific Forces Soon to Get Plenty Of Perishable Foods

WASHINGTON (AP)—Soldiers in the sweltering southwest Pacific soon may get plenty of ice cream, crisp fresh vegetables and plenty of other perishables fresh from the ice box.

The war department disclosed yesterday the construction of new type, large refrigerator barges equipped with machinery capable of turning out 10 gallons of ice cream every seven minutes and producing five tons of ice a day.

Roosevelt's Fourth Term—Dedicated to Victory, Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a ceremony of solemn simplicity Franklin Delano Roosevelt embarked yesterday on his fourth term as president of a United States dedicated to victory and lasting world peace.

Standing on the south portico of the White House, he repeated the 37-word oath of the president for the fourth time, and set the theme of his new administration in these words:

"In the days and years that are to come we shall work for a just and durable peace as today we work and fight for total victory in war."

Crowd of 7,806

A select crowd of 7,806 by the official count at the gates stood in the snow of the White House lawn to witness the inaugural ceremony—stripped of its usual glitter and pomp by the grimness of war.

The whole thing was over in 15 minutes, climaxed by Roosevelt's 551-word fourth inaugural address.

Chinese Retake Burma Road Town

Remove Last Obstacle to Opening Overland Supply Route

CHUNKING, Sunday (AP)—The Chinese central news agency reported today that Chinese troops Saturday recaptured the Burma road town of Wanting, last major obstacle to reopening of an overland supply route to China.

The Chinese had captured the town on the Burma border Jan. 3, but lost it again the next day. At that time it was not the last major barrier to the India-China route, but since then Chinese and allied gains in Burma had enhanced Wanting's significance.

The recapture came after two weeks of bitter, bloody fighting, the Chinese agency said.

The Japanese thrown out of Wanting retreated in the direction of Lashio, the southern terminus of the Burma road, with the Chinese in hot pursuit.

The news agency also reported that a supply short cut through Myitkyina and Tengchung was opened to traffic Jan. 17. The agency said that a large convoy of trucks arrived at Tengchung from Myitkyina Jan. 18 and that it was expected to reach Paoshan on the Burma road east of the Salween river shortly.

'Russia Holds Key'

NEW YORK (AP)—Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker said yesterday Russia "holds the key to the duration of the conflict in Europe" and "if she has the power to follow through in this push, it will help shorten the war in Europe by months."

The World War I ace said that it would be "insane" to ask Russia at this point to join in the war against Japan.

A few minutes before the president repeated the oath after Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone, bespectacled Harry S. Truman of Missouri was sworn in as the third Roosevelt vice-president. He took the oath from the man he succeeded, Henry A. Wallace.

Takes Oath

Clad in a dark blue suit and blue-gray tie, the president stood with one hand upraised and the other on an ancient Roosevelt family Bible to take the oath in what he called "a period of supreme test."

"We have learned that we cannot live alone, at peace, he said, "that our own well being is dependent on the well being of other nations, far away. We have learned that we must live as men, not as ostriches, nor as dogs in the manger."

As he has for each inaugural, the president moved up to the inaugural stand on the arm of his oldest son, James, a tall, thin marine colonel and the only one of the Roosevelt boys who could be here for the occasion.

"We Americans of today, together with our allies, are passing through a period of supreme test," he said. "It is a test of our courage, of our resolve—of our wisdom, of our essential decency."
"If we meet that test—successfully and honorably—we shall perform a service of historic importance which men and women and children will honor throughout all times."

"As I stand here today, having taken the solemn oath of office in the presence of my fellow countrymen—in the presence of our God—I know that it is America's purpose that we shall not fail."

Total Victory

In slow, deliberate chosen words, the president said we can and will achieve total victory and a durable world peace.

Aside from war and peace, the chief executive—approaching his 63rd birthday—has marked for himself a domestic course a little left of center for his fourth term.

Allies Sign Armistice With Hungary

Pact Strips Nazis Of Major Ally; Text Not Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—The allies signed an armistice with Hungary yesterday, narrowing Hitler's list of European cohorts.

Announcement of the pact came first from Moscow where the document was signed by Marshal Klementi Voroshilov for the United States, Britain and Russia.

Although the armistice strips the Nazis of a major ally, the Germans still are sponsoring a Hungarian government under Count Szalasi, and there remain German satellites in Slovakia, the Bohemian-Moravian protectorate and in northern Italy to bolster the German cause.

The text of the armistice between the allies and Hungary will be made public at 11 a. m. today (central war time).

American officials showed considerable pleasure with the terms, which, it is believed, come more closely to this country's ideas than the armistices with Bulgaria or Romania.

The two main points on which the United States government was primarily interested were reparations and the allied control commission.

It is understood that the reparations figure has been reduced considerably below the $400,000,000 in four years which Russia demanded at first.

Best Dressed Women

NEW YORK (AP)—The Duchess of Windsor made the list of the 10 best dressed women in the world "by the skin of her teeth" this time, ranking tenth in the lineup," the New York Dress Institute announced yesterday.

Cloudy, No Change In Temperature Today

The same old thing: cloudy, temperature about 30 and wet underfoot. That's what it was like in Iowa City yesterday and that's the way it will probably be today. The mercury was a little lazy yesterday and temperatures varied only four degrees all day. The low came at 7:30 a. m. with 28 and the high at 2:30 p. m. with 32. At 9 last night it was 29.

Although light snow was falling north and east of us last night and conditions are bad toward the west, it doesn't look as if we'll get any snow just yet.

WAIST GUNNER DANGLES FROM B-29 OVER TOKYO

THIS REMARKABLE PHOTO, taken on a B-29 strike over Tokyo, shows Sgt. J. R. Krantz, Hickory Point, Tenn., a waist gunner on a Superfortress, dangling from his plane five miles up in the air over the Jap capital. Blown from his blister when it was destroyed by Jap interceptor fire, Sergeant Krantz hung for nearly 15 minutes by one leg fastened in a safety strap before the crewmen managed to pull him back into the plane. Regaining consciousness on the way back to the Salpan base, Krantz told his crewmates he had, while dangling, confirmed one enemy fighter shot down by his ship. He is now in a rear base hospital being treated for frost bite.

Cross Warta River; Fight In Silesia

East Prussian Stronghold of Tilsit Captured

LONDON, Sunday (AP)—The Red army, killing or capturing 94,000 Germans in a week of its lightning offensive across Poland, yesterday forced the Warta river 210 miles east of Berlin, and the German radio said early today that other Soviet spearheads to the southwest had crossed the embattled Silesian frontier only 200 miles from the Reich capital.

Another Soviet army toppled the big German stronghold of Tilsit in northern East Prussia, penetrating 46 miles inside that crumbling Junkers province with a 17-mile advance, while the Germans announced that other Soviet forces had smashed into southern East Prussia on a 37-mile front.

Warta Crossing

Premier Stalin announced that Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's crack First White Russian army had made the crossing of the Warta 100 miles west of Warsaw, capturing the strategic road hub of Kolo, 210 miles due east of Berlin.

Striking along the Warsaw-Berlin trunk motor road and railway these units were only 73 miles from Poznan, last big western Polish fortress city barring the way to the heart of Germany.

Other units of Zhukov's army captured Wloclawek, 85 miles northwest of Warsaw, and only 30 miles southeast of Torun, road center controlling communications into the Polish corridor, Brzesko-Kujawski, seven miles southwest of Wloclawek, also was overrun, putting this Soviet spearhead within 223 miles of Berlin.

Silesia Fighting

A late German high command report indicated that spearheads of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukraine army already had slashed six miles inside industrial Silesia after sweeping up to the border in western Poland on a wide front.

It said that one Russian group had "driven into the Namslau-Keppno area." Namslau is six miles inside Silesia, 27 miles east of Breslau, and 200 miles southeast of Berlin. Keppno on the Polish side of the frontier, is 17 miles to the northeast.

Thus there appeared to be elements of three Russian armies now fighting on German soil.

Premier Stalin in an order of the day announced the fall of Tilsit, the biggest prize yet taken by Marshal Ivan Cherniakhovsky's Third White Russian army.

Nips Open Attacks To Close Rail Line

CHUNGKING (AP)—Japanese forces in Hunan and Kwangtung provinces have launched simultaneous and converging attacks designed to close the Chinese-held gap in the Canton-Hankow railway, the Chinese high command disclosed last night.

Fighting also has erupted in different localities within the angle formed by the Canton-Hankow and Hunan-Kwangsi railroads, the command said.

The Chinese announcement also indicated that the Japanese had extended the protective area which they are forming around Hongkong as a safeguard against any American landing on the Chinese coast.

Opening the assault Jan. 15, the Japanese took the Tung river port of Waiyeung, about 16 miles north of Hongkong, the night of Jan. 16, and then pushed to points about seven miles eastward, where fighting continued.

Japanese Attack British Bridgehead

CALCUTTA (AP)—The Japanese have turned in their retreat from north Burma and attacked without success a British bridgehead on the Irrawaddy north of Mandalay which threatens their line of retreat to Thailand, it was announced yesterday.

Punjabis and Gurkhas met the fierce enemy assault near Singu, 46 miles north of Mandalay, and held firmly to their positions.

Dr. Bose Discusses Dumbarton Plan—

"Armed to the teeth, the proposed Dumbarton Security league plans to preserve the peace of the world forever." But will it? Dr. Sudhindra Bose, university lecturer on world politics, shook his head and emphatically replied, "The Dumbarton plan mainly provided a camouflaged triple alliance. It is a great military alignment which is presented in terms of international cooperation and its armed forces on land, sea, and in the air are defined as an international police court."

Expected to End War In the opinion of Dr. Bose, it is this Dumbarton plan which is expected to end war, prevent revolutions and depressions, and quell dissensions within and without. It seems to be concerned more with the security of the big powers; the maintenance of the boundaries, of protection of the spheres of influence, and the safeguarding of imperial interests.

Peace by police at any price seems to be the slogan of this powerful political coalition," Dr. Bose remarked, his dark eyes serious. "The proposed league is a screen behind which the powerful will police the weak. Virtually the whole emphasis is on force, more force, and still more force, without at any time coming to grips with the basic causes of war."

Colonial Subjects But what about the colonial subjects? What plans does the proposal have for them? "The Dumbarton program gives no promise whatever of freedom for the conquered and enslaved peoples," stated Indian-born Dr. Bose. "On the contrary, it guarantees in perpetuity the indefinite maintenance of the Dutch, French, Portuguese, and British empires, none of which can save itself. Dumbarton stands committed to suppress attempts at extension of freedom and to crush rebellion of colonial subjects," concluded the lecturer on imperialism.

Speaks With Pride There was an undertone of pride in Dr. Bose's voice when he said, as an American proud of United States international philanthropy, "America is the greatest nation under the sun! All over the earth men and women are looking to the freedom-minded Americans as trustees of human liberty. We are in a position to build a true internationalism. The United States never owned any territory on the continent of Asia, even though it had ample opportunity to do so. Furthermore," continued the lecturer, "America has given up control of Cuba and followed a friendly co-operatives policy toward Latin America. Above all, it has pledged independence to the Philippines immediately after the war. With such a magnificent record, America has the moral right to lead the world to peace and freedom!"

What Is United States Role? What should be the American role in world affairs? In the opinion of Dr. Bose, it should not be one of acquiescence in imperialistic and power politics designs of our allies. The American role should be one of leading the way to a great democratic advance on the moral principles of the Atlantic charter and the four freedoms. "I hope, and sincerely believe, that under the democratic leadership of America, the United Nations will refrain from seeking peace through the security of special privileges," concluded Dr. Bose. "Instead, they should endeavor to establish peace through justice and good will, which will lead to international cooperation."

Physical Education at SU—

A LABORATORY FOR LIVING

Teaching skills for daily living to every university woman; training leaders for physical education, recreation and physical therapy and providing part of the all-campus recreational program—these are the main objects of the women's physical education plan at the University of Iowa.

"Skills for daily living" lay particular stress upon the practical aspects of body training. Here the department makes possible many phases of health-building activities, especially in the field of body mechanics—teaching improvement in posture, walking, running, standing, sitting, going up and down stairs, stooping and lifting. When the everyday movements are learned efficiently, much energy is conserved and easier, more graceful actions are achieved.

Orthopedic Examination When a student enters women's physical education at Iowa, she is given an orthopedic examination, cover posture and structure of the back and feet. In the courses of body mechanics, her own faults are discussed individually and with the help of the instructor each girl selects special exercises to correct her own particular faults. This is her own "daily dozen," which may be used every day for improvement in posture, weight reducing or simply as a general health "build-up" program.

Included in the other tests given women in physical education are the motor ability tests, which give the student information concerning the skills she needs to practice to become successful in sports. If she is low in this test, she is advised to enter the sports skills class to provide basic knowledge of the most popular sports.

No Paddling The department lays great stress on swimming, not the "padding around" variety, but swimming advanced enough to be able to save one's own life in case of accident. Seventy-five percent of freshmen women are not able to swim well enough to meet emergencies when they enter college, but they are given instruction and must pass the university swimming test before their credit in physical education is complete.

Folk Dancing The American rhythms course offered helps a girl to understand a part of the cultural development of this country, and teaches the old-time folk dances, pioneer and country dances. Much research has gone into the study of foreign folk dancing, the result of which is a number of interesting dances which represent a variety of folk cultures.

Practical Canoeing In the canoeing course, which may not be entered until the university swimming test is passed, a student learns by actually paddling her own canoe on the Iowa river. She starts as part of a crew and finishes able to manage the canoe by herself. She learns the theory of open water canoeing allowing for wind, current and rough water. She develops skill in different steering strokes, and learns to get in and out of a canoe and to care for it.

Spends With Pride There was an undertone of pride in Dr. Bose's voice when he said, as an American proud of United States international philanthropy, "America is the greatest nation under the sun! REPRESENTING THREE of the major sports skills taught at the university women's physical education department, these young women typify the girl of today and of the future—healthy, sports-loving and able to make full use of her sports knowledge.

physical education program is devoted to rhythm developments and the teaching of American and foreign folk dancing. These courses not only contribute to the individual's understanding of music, and dancing through the years, but they also provide the ability to express feeling through dancing.

branches of medical science stress the necessity of first aid training to lower the accident rate in this country. The need is shown clearly by the fact that more than four times as many persons were killed by accident in the United States in 1940 as were killed in England that same year at the height of the air blitz.

Phys Ed Majors A major department in physical education has existed on this campus since 1921. It has been revised and enlarged since that time. There is a great demand at the present time for physical education teachers, recreation leaders or physical therapists. A student majoring in physical education may prepare for any of these three fields.

Recreation for everyone is the purpose of the Women's Recreational association, campus-wide student organization. Cooperating with the department, the board plans activities for a variety of tastes: intramural sports including basketball for women's teams, volleyball for mixed teams, coeducational roller skating, winter sports and a crafts club which is especially popular with girls going into camp work or occupational therapy.

The early history of physical education at Iowa reveals a great contrast to the advanced program of today. The first physical education courses started in 1863, with classes held in churches, the university boiler house and a rented hall. The first teachers were students and received no pay, but after a time were given $40 per month salary. The first woman who taught physical education was called "assistant instructor of physical culture," with a salary of $265 per year. One of the most popular courses offered then was Indian club drill.

Present physical education facilities were built during World War I. When the building was completed in 1915, the total women's enrollment was 800. Six years later it was necessary to build the little shed adjoining the women's gym called the "annex," which has been "temporary" housing to the growing program ever since. With 2,400 girls now on the campus, the women's gymnasium is so crowded that post-war building is essential.

Opinion On and Off the Campus— Should We Go Back to Old School Term? Don Trumpp, A1 of Iowa City: "I think it would be better to go back to the old term. This system we have now keeps us rushing around too much. We are always crowded for time."

Dorothy Gildea, A4 of Davenport: "I'm all for summer school myself. If I rest I forget everything. I've never gone to school under anything but the speeded up program."

Bill Girsch, A3 of Waterloo: "Personally, I am not in favor of changing to the old term. I want to finish school as soon as possible and I can do this better under the present trimester system."

Mildred Ceras, G of Perth Anboy, N. J.: I prefer the present system. From a financial standpoint it will be better to finish school sooner and start working."

Sally Birdsall, A3 of Waterloo: "I like the accelerated program which we have now. Students can go through school faster if they want to. Under this plan we have no final exams."

Joy Hedum, A1 of Whiting: "I won't like going back to two-hour exams. Otherwise I like the two semester year."

Betty Bachman, former student of Cedar Rapids: "I think it's a good idea to go back to the old system. In the present schedule too much is crammed into too short a time, and a student can't really get the full benefit from his education."

Jean Hancock, A3 of Peoria, Ill.: "I think we should stay on the same program, because it enables those students who needed to do so to get through in a hurry. Under the present system many fellows who are 17 or 18 are able to get in quite a bit of college before they go into the service."

Les Asarch, A1 of Des Moines: "I'm going to be for it because the curriculum is too rushed now. They are trying to crowd too much into too short a time."

American Pilots Ferry Chinese To New Fronts CHUNGKING, Sunday (AP)—Thousands of Chinese troops were flown down from the north by American pilots in the greatest mass movement by air ever made in China when the Japanese drive began to threaten Chungking several weeks ago, it was disclosed today.

Seasoned pilots of the air transport command, who ferried troops and their equipment to Yunnan province, declared the job they successfully tackled was tougher than flying the hump from India. Announcement of the movement was made by headquarters of Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, chief of staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and American commander in China, which said the transfer would have taken weeks ago even if trucks had been available for a tortuous trip through the mountains.

War Emphasizes Functional Education, Dean Newburn Says

"One good thing that came out of the war is the challenge it presented the liberal education programs," Dean Harry K. Newburn told members of the American Association of University Women yesterday at their monthly luncheon in the University club rooms in a discussion of the new liberal arts program.

"Since the outbreak of the war there has been a tremendous upsurge in the desire of educators to analyze the liberal arts college in an effort to work out better methods of achieving its goals," Dean Newburn said.

Educators realized that war tends to put emphasis on training rather than education and the liberal arts college might find itself in a bad way if it didn't study its purposes and try to achieve its goal, he explained.

Definite Goals
"The trouble has been that liberal education really didn't have a very good idea of what its function was. Over a period of 300 years, the liberal arts college had grown and done good work, without a clear idea of what it was all about," he said.

"We must first know what are our goals, what is the function of a liberal arts college and then determine how this function can be achieved," Dean Newburn declared. "This college means to give education which will have some real meaning in life today. The fundamental goal is the well-rounded individual — intellectual, spiritual, physical, emotional, and aesthetic."

Goals Stated
"This function could best be achieved through assisting the individual in continued acquisition of certain abilities such as, (a) the ability to speak, write, and read; (b) the ability to solve problems involving counting and calculating; (c) the ability to secure and maintain physical fitness," the speaker stated.

"The college is concerned with general growth and development of the individual and therefore the tests of its effectiveness must be stated in terms of changes in individual behavior rather than in terms of courses completed. The question is now how many semester hours of French Jim Jones has on his record, but rather, how well he can speak or read French that determines whether or not he will register for a foreign language."

"Since it is believed that every graduate should be able to read, write and speak effectively, each student is required to demonstrate to the satisfaction of the staff that he is sufficiently competent in these areas."

"Freshmen who are not competent in these skills are made to register in 'communication skills' and stay in the course until they have achieved an adequate level of competency," he explained.
Similar Program
Dean Newburn discussed a similar program which he hopes will be installed in the physical education department, whereby entering students who aren't physically fit when they enter will register for a basic physical education course and stay in it until they reach a degree which is adequate in that area.

Bernadene Raftis Reigns as Queen Over Newman Club Winter Formal

Radar Expert To Give Talk

Capt. William Eddy To Discuss Post-War Television Wednesday

Capt. William C. Eddy, commanding officer of the navy's radar training center, Radio Chicago, will speak on "Television in Postwar Industry" in Macbride auditorium Wednesday evening at 7:30. An expert on electronics, television and radar, Captain Eddy will illustrate his lecture with slides. The free program is open to all townspeople, university men and women and high school students.

Commands Submarine

After graduation from the United States Naval Academy in 1926, Captain Eddy saw service aboard the cruiser Cincinnati in the Nicaraguan campaign and in China waters. Later he transferred to submarine service and became one of the youngest officers qualified to command a submarine without attending the Navy's school for this service at New London, Conn.

Captain Eddy invented the Eddy amplifier, a device used aboard submarines for sound receiving. The principle involved transforming sound into a meter reading. The navy man helped to develop the periscope antennae which enables a submarine to broadcast without surfacing.

Submarine Aujia Board

Among his other discoveries are a method of determining a ship's speed by recording the frequency of propeller beats and a "submarine ouija board" for use in determining the zigzag course of a surface ship attempting to escape attack.

When he was eligible for promotion in the navy, retirement was recommended because of the captain's impaired hearing. At this time he went to work for Philco Farnsworth, television pioneer, and then from 1937 to 1940, was chief of video effects for NBC's television outlet in New York. A lover of gadgetry, Eddy had a great opportunity to create a number of strange effects for television broadcast. Among them were: a frog that would talk, sleep, wink and catch flies; a handkerchief that would speak and show pain; a tulip which opened and revealed a baby.

Discovers Television Tools

Many of the important tools used in television today were developed and discovered by Eddy. To him is credited the process of reproducing the familiar facing out of television pictures as is done in the production of movies. He is responsible for the kaleidoscope projector from which kaleidoscope images could be thrown on a screen and easily televised.

For some time Eddy worked with Paramount pictures, building a television studio and broadcasting station in Chicago's loop. After the Pearl Harbor attack he volunteered his services and offered the use of his television station and its staff. The navy granted him permission to convert his television apparatus and manpower to work in its behalf. Conversion was fast and the television staff acted as instructors to teach radio and electronic theory to navy men. Today men are being trained on an accurate production basis to become the tenders of radar.

Another of his contributions is the Eddy test, a comprehensive examination that determines a candidate's ability to absorb the highly specialized school of a radio technician training program.

Overseas Work Red Cross Personnel Needs Increase

"The army and navy have found Red Cross services overseas so valuable that increased demands for Red Cross personnel in the expanding theaters of war must be met immediately." The local chapter of the American Red Cross has announced a need for more than 3,000 men and women for immediate Red Cross service.

Club workers to operate American Red Cross overseas service clubs, hospital workers to give comfort and aid to hospitalized servicemen, field directors and assistants to accompany troops into battle zones and help them with personal problems, clubmobile girls to operate mobile units serving isolated troops are among the personnel needed.

Because of the importance of individual personality and capability in these positions, persons of the highest qualifications are needed.

Most Red Cross overseas positions are open only to men between the ages of 30 and 50 and to women between the ages of 25 and 45. Rigid physical examinations are given as overseas conditions require stamina and health.

"The Johnson county Red Cross chapter has been advised by national headquarters that educational and professional background is not so important as individual ability and interest," Mrs. Lorna Mathes, executive secretary asserted. "Civil and recreational leadership, therefore, are valuable assets for persons desiring to enter Red Cross overseas service."

The local chapter, 15 1/2 S. Dubuque, has information regarding the positions open and job requirements of each. Application can be made locally to be forwarded to the Red Cross midwestern area headquarters for further consideration.

Hawkeyes Meet Unpredictable Indiana Here Tomorrow Night

Iowa to Try For 10th Win

High-Scoring Five Will Test Hawks' Strong Defense

By ROY LUCE
Daily Iowan Sports Writer
Probable starting lineup

Iowa	Pos.	Indiana
Ives	F.	Faris
Postels	F.	Copeland
C. Wilkinson	C.	Kralovansky
Spencer	G.	Mercer
H. Wilkinson	G.	Brandenburg

Indiana's rangy Hoosiers storm into Iowa City today for overnight encampment before meeting the still undefeated Iowa Hawkeyes in the Iowa fieldhouse tomorrow evening.

The Hawks, still shaking over their narrow squeak at Ann Arbor, where they won in the last minute on a basket by the red-hot Murray Wier and a charity toss by Jack Spencer, will be trying to amend their scoring lapse and get back onto the torrid road they were following at the beginning of the season.

Last Lap
Indiana is on the last lap of a journey which carried into the land of the Golden Gophers last night.

The Hoosiers defeated Minnesota by the close score of 48 to 46 with Ray Brandenburg, one of their scoring stars, sinking the winning tally in the last six seconds of play. It was their second Big Ten victory against one defeat. Brandenburg, always dangerous, was a continual threat.

Score Well
Like other Hoosier quintets, the 1945 outfit can score well, with an average of some 50 points per game in winning 9 out of 12 games played. Once again the Hawks will hold a height advantage of about two inches per man, but that apparently doesn't mean a thing, as was proven very definitely by Michigan Friday evening.

The Wolverines, although considerably shorter than the lanky Hawkeyes, grabbed most of the rebounds off both backboards. That is, they did, until Wier, the five foot, eight inch Iowa substitute forward came into the fray. Immediately, the Hawk caused tuck a change for the better. Wier, short as he is, started grabbing the rebounds away from the Wolverines, something his giant brothers hadn't been able to do all evening.

Same Lines?
Just what this means is something that nobody seems to know. Coach Pops Harrison should have an answer for it. Let's hope he does, for if Iowa continues along the same lines of Friday night, a lot of Hawkeye fans may be disappointed when the Big Ten season reaches its climax.

Indiana will present a balanced scoring machine which features a trio of performers in Gene Faris, Jim Copeland, and Al Kralovansky, as well as Brandenburg. All are dangerous shooters from anywhere on the court as evidenced by their record against Purdue when they scored 19 of the Hoosiers' 24 field goals—the same total in goals that Iowa was able to collect against the Boilermakers.

Cadet Matmen Tie
MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Minnesota grapplers staged a mild upset yesterday when they held the favored Iowa Pre-Flight school wrestling team to a 14-all tie. The Seahawks had won three previous collegiate events.

Roddy Lister, Minnesota's heavy-weight, hung up his third individual victory yesterday afternoon, deciding Kapter of the Seahawks.

Purdue Halts Northwestern In Overtime

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's Boilermakers handed Coach Ward (Peggy) Lambert a pleasant surprise in his 500th contest as head basketball mentor last night as they upset Northwestern, 52 to 48, in an overtime tilt.

The Boilermakers, losers of their last three Western conference starts after upsetting Ohio State in their opener, tied the score at 46-all in the last second of regulation playing time and then romped off with the game in the extra session. Purdue led only once, at 11-10 midway in the first half, before the last two minutes of the game.

Then the Boilermakers went ahead, 45 to 48, with two minutes to go on field goal by Charlie Haag, but Max Morris hit on a field goal try and a free toss to send the Wildcats ahead, 46 to 45, Red Anderson's free toss in the last second on Wright's foul tied it at 46-all, however, and Purdue wasted no time in salting it away in the overtime.

Billy Gosewehr hit one and Paul Hoffman connected twice from the field in the first three minutes of the overtime and Purdue played "keep-away" from that point. Red Clawson scored Northwestern's only overtime points on a long shot from the side as time expired.

Morris, the conference's leading point-getter, was the high man of the evening with eight field goals and four free throws for 20 points. He got six field goals in the first half. Gosewehr, freshman forward, paced Purdue with 15.

Ohio State Overpowers Wolverines

Loss of Don Lund Hurts Michigan Bid In 61-47 Buck Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State never was behind last night as it chalked up its third basketball victory in four Western conference starts at the expense of Michigan's Wolverines, 61 to 47.

The only time the Wolverines were on even terms with Ohio State was in the opening minutes when the count was deadlocked at two-all. The Wolves stayed close, however, until Jack Dugger poured in two quick one-handers to make the count 14-7.

From there the Buck lead varied between five and ten points until halftime, when the Ohio Staters were on the long end of a 31-22 score.

The Bucks were leading, 36 to 25, when Michigan lost its bravest center, Don Lund, early in the second half, and that was a death blow to Michigan's hopes.

From that point, Ohio State romped into a 45-30 lead before Walt Kell, Bruce Hilkene and Bob Geahan connected for three rapid-fire field goals to cut the margin to nine points. With six and a half minutes to go, Ohio State had only a 47-40 advantage but, at that point, Don Grate, Rod Caudill and Jimmy Sims hit the target and Coach Harold Olsen sent in reserves to finish the contest.

The victory was Ohio State's second over Michigan this season. The first was an overtime affair at Ann Arbor.

Indiana Stops Minnesota By 48 to 46

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A basket by Ray Brandenburg in the closing six seconds of play gave Indiana a 48 to 46 victory over Minnesota's basketball team here last night. It was Minnesota's third defeat in four Big Ten starts and Indiana's second win in three games.

With the Gophers leading, 46 to 45, with six minutes of play remaining, Brandenburg sank a free throw to knot the count at 46-all.

In the waning seconds Brandenburg again came through, this time with a field goal, to tuck the game safely away.

Kleggie Hermesen, Minnesota's elongated center, was the main cog in the Gopher scoring machine and dropped in seven baskets and six free throws to rack up a total of 20 to lead both teams in the counting. Gene Faris and Jim Copeland paced Indiana, the former with 13 points and the latter with 12.

Hermesen staged a one-man rally with the Gophers trailing by 41 to 33, scoring 12 points single-handed while Indiana was connecting for only four. It was Hermesen's great stand that put the Gophers into the game with a one-point advantage over the visitors, 46 to 45.

Maybe So

About Our Hawkeyes

An Unhappy Note

By BOB KRAUSE

THE CHANCES are that we don't know much more than you do about that horrific Iowa-Michigan battle of Friday night. The thing is fortunately out of the way and probably best forgotten—except that it is to be hoped that the Hawks will remember the mistakes.

The opinion of one of the team members is that the Wolverines were the worst but, at the same time, the roughest team which Iowa has played all year. If you should see Herb Wilkinson limping around you'll be able to believe that.

Long Trip
We are led to suspect that the long trip didn't exactly have a vitamin B effect on the Hawkeyes. When they finally did get to Ann Arbor they didn't have the energy left for much exercise of a violent nature.

But, as you may remember, the last few moments forced Pops Harrison's men out of their lethargy. As we heard it, a certain redhead caught fire and burned the tail of the Wolverine.

Typical Reaction
As we have said on a previous occasion the Hawks' reaction to Michigan was typical of the Iowa team in action. Iowa looks like the fourth grade against punk competition. But, when the opposition is worthy of the name, the Old Gold is solid all the way through. This, comrades, is the mark of quality.

WE ARE very glad to see that friend Whitney Martin agrees with us on May, the boulder. Boulder may be substituted for any other term you, or we, happen to choose. But all that doesn't brighten the news which came out of Washington yesterday. This was to the effect that, from here on, all professional athletes will have their cases reviewed by the war department if they are rejected by the army for physical disability.

Not Examined
This means that if the guy who pulls the curtain at a burlesque show is rejected for a physical disability his case will not be examined by the war department. Aren't burlesque shows, like baseball, for the entertainment of the public? Oh, but we're not sure about that. Maybe you can straighten us out on it.

Also, the way we hear it, the GI's overseas are more likely to ask how the Dodgers made out today than to wonder if Margie Hart is playing at the Bijou.

Well, we don't know, but if it would seem that the government had booted one. Why pick on sports? We need them and they're dying, professionally.

Shamrocks Outplayed Against Ft. Madison
With their scoring ace, Gene Herdiska, held to only six free tosses, the Shamrocks of St. Patrick's high bowed to a smoother Catholic Central team of Ft. Madison Friday night, 35-28.

Completely outplayed during the whole contest, the Irish just couldn't hit the mark, and at the half they were on the bad end of a 20-12 count. Rallying in the third stanza, they dumped in nine points and held the enemy to three baskets and a free toss, for a 27-21 margin.

Doe Connell, the Shamrocks' regular guard, fouled out in the middle of the fourth frame, and from there on the Ft. Madison men took over, increasing their lead by pouring in four baskets to clinch the victory. It was St. Patrick's fifth loss this season.

Red Gatens was the only Shamrock who could find the range. He came through to be top scorer in the contest, keeping his team in the running with eight goals and two free tosses, for 18 points. Hoye and Connell connected with only one basket apiece.

Freeseimer was the outstanding player for the home team, with 15 points to his credit, and he was followed closely by Denning, substitute center, who marked up four goals and three free tosses.

Martin Complains—

Why Choose Sports?

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—Well, maybe sports aren't important. Maybe they should be ruled out as Congressman Andrew J. May suggests. Maybe they should rule out everything that's not important. Let's see, where would that leave us?

We'd have to quit making beer, and hard liquor, and even soft drinks. They aren't essential to health, and if it's wrong for one citizen to sit in a shady grandstand and get his enjoyment from watching a fellow trying to steal home, it must be wrong for another citizen to get his pleasure swigging beer or sipping bourbon at a bar.

Quit Movies
We'd have to quit making movies, as they can't be considered important to the war effort. George Washington's men did all right without movies to take their minds off the fighting.

We'd have to disband all the bands, as people can get along without music and whistle their own tunes if they want to dance.

We'd have to close all the stage shows, as they're not important to the war effort, and some pleasure might be derived from them.

We'd have to stop publishing fiction magazines, and eliminate comics and airy features. People could get along without them. It would be hard, of course, particularly with the comics that have the hero in some precarious predicament at the end of each day's strip, but it could be done.

Why Choose Sports?
In fact, coming right down to it practically everything we recognize as recreation is unimportant, so why pick on sports?

WALLACE ON THE MOVE, BUT WHERE?

VICE PRESIDENT HENRY A. WALLACE packs up his personal belongings in his office in the Senate office building, and there is much speculation as to his new address. When Sen. Harry Truman of Missouri takes over the vice presidential chair in the Senate, some Washington observers believe Wallace may be found behind the desk of the secretary of commerce. Close associates of the retiring Senate head let it be known that the commerce post is the only one in the cabinet to which he aspires. (International)

Changing Moods—

Double Duty Jumpers

—Welcome Spring

JUMPERS IN the spotlight again—left, in red gabardine or the square-cut-shoulder type which brings the buckle belt back to popularity. Right, small black and white checks with the sleeve effect in black wool jersey.

A wardrobe item which is becoming increasingly popular with university women is the double-duty jumper. Changing its mood with its blouse, the smartly chosen jumper will be useful straight through spring.

Stepping off to classes in a lovely rose-colored gabardine jumper is Corals Kemmish, A3 of Persia. The back is plain and full and extends into a V-opening from the shoulders to the waistline in front. A straight waistband, providing a smooth fit, buttons in front, and a row of pert rose-colored buttons hidden by a full pleat, fasten down the front of the skirt from waistline to hemline. Two rows of white stitching adorn the waist band and the two huge side pockets. For contrast, Corals adds a black silk jersey blouse designed with three-quarter sleeves length, a round neckline with ties at the throat and small black and silver buttons down the front.

Smart wherever it goes, and it goes everywhere, is the gold Botany wool flannel jumper belonging to Betty Lou Schmidt, A1 of Davenport. Fashioned with round cap sleeves and a round neckline with one gold button at the throat, the blouse part is slit to the waistline. The belt, of the same gold wool material, fastens with three gold buttons in front. The front of the skirt falls softly from a gathered waistline while the back, with the exception of one kick pleat, is very plain. For added beauty, the belt, cap sleeves and the edges of the slit are saddle-stitched in black. A button-down-the-back black wool jersey blouse with three-quarter length sleeves and a round neckline completes the ensemble.

Lois Jeanne Long, A2 of Cedar Rapids, is the proud owner of a grey and yellow plaid lightweight wool jumper. The blouse is tailored with a plain back extending into wide shoulders and a V-opening to the waistline, in front edged with a one-inch bias-piece of the same material. A full gored skirt completes the design. According to her mood, Lois wears either a long-sleeved yellow sweater or a long-sleeved white shirtwaist blouse with it.

Assuring herself of smartness is Marion Pantel, A2 of Muscatine, when she dons her navy blue gabardine jumper which is distinguished by its new V-neckline cut three-quarters of the way down the front. Fashioned without sleeves, the jumper has a full skirt which falls gracefully from a gathered waistline. Two huge square pockets on the skirt are an added feature. With her jumper, Marion wears a light blue chiffon blouse, styled with long full sleeves and a gathered high round neckline accented by a bow.

A jumper that's equally desirable worn alone or atop a long-sleeved blouse is the purple Botany wool creation belonging to Carol Wellman, A2 of Moline, Ill. Featuring a low-cut round neckline, this straight jumper buttons down to the hipline in back and extends into one kick pleat. The front of the skirt has one pleat starting several inches above the waistline and extending down to the hem. Both pleat and hem are saddle-stitched. For very informal wear, Carol adds a white rayon blouse with long sleeves and Peter Pan neckline that buttons down the back. When she wears it as a dress, she adds bracelets for accent.

Finely tailored in an all wool flannel is the grey jumper of Phyllis Sharer, A2 of Montezuma. The broad shoulders that end in square-cut cap sleeves make for slim lines and accent the tapered skirt. The waist of the jumper is very plain with a slit down the front to the waistline. Tiny gathers on each side of the slit and in the back give fullness. A plain band inset at the waistline buttons in front and the front of the skirt has a concealed button placket to the hemline. Two slanting welt pockets set off the skirt. With this, Phyllis adds a rich purple rayon blouse designed with long sleeves, a round gathered neckline with a bow and a button fastening down the front.

The slim British green jumper of Mary Kirby, A3 of Sioux Falls, S. D., owes part of its smartness to its color-opposite underblouse of yellow. This wool ensemble has a very plain top with a full back and is slit to the waistline in front. The skirt is distinguished by four pleats in front and a straight back. Her yellow shirtwaist blouse is of cotton rayon.

An accent on corduroy is featured in the kelly green dirndl type jumper owned by Neva Smith, A1 of Ft. Madison. The tight basque has a square scalloped neckline and is plain across the shoulders. The full skirt falls from a straight waistband and a button side placket makes it easy to don. Two large patch pockets adorn the skirt. Neva combines it with a white long-sleeved shirtwaist style blouse of Miami cloth.

Looking her collegiate best in a light green gabardine jumper is Ardel James, A1 of Walcott. Cut along tailored lines, the wide shoulders extend into square-cut cap sleeves and the front has a V-opening to the waistline. A separate belt of the same material furnishes slimmest at the waist. The skirt, which is gored in back and has one kick pleat in front, features two deep patch pockets. A white round-necked blouse with a pleated front and short sleeves adds the final touch.

These double-duty jumpers, which can be changed with a mere exchange of blouses, are fast becoming a "must" in college wardrobes.

Firemen Drive Out Gas Escaping At Sorority House

Two Iowa City firemen had cookies and milk with several sorority women in the kitchen of the Kappa Kappa Gamma house about 2 o'clock Friday morning. Although the firemen were invited, it was not a social call.

At 1:50 one of the girls at the house, 728 E. Washington, smelled gas. Going downstairs to the kitchen, she found the door locked and called the fire department.

The two firemen entered through a kitchen window and discovered that the large oven burner of the gas stove was opened wide. They could hear the gas escaping. The lower hall and basement were heavy with the smell of gas, firemen said.

After the gas was driven out, the women invited the firemen to stay for an after-midnight snack.

What to Pick Up

CAMP BLANDING, Fla., (AP)—A batch of newly-arrived trainees here, at work on that commonplace army task of "policing the area," were told by their sergeant to "pick up everything you find that isn't growing."

Just then a pretty civilian employe of the post ambled by on her way to work. Eager beams brightened the faces of the rookies.

"Never mind about that," belowered the sergeant. "It's still growing."
