St. Vith Falls To First Army

Airmen Support Drive To Four Miles From German Border

PARIS (AP)—The American First and Third armies and the Ninth airforce delivered a knockout blow to the last German defenders of the Ardennes yesterday when the doughboys closed to within four miles of the Reich frontier with gains up to five miles on a 30-mile front and the airmen destroyed or damaged nearly 2,000 fleeing enemy vehicles.

St. Vith, eastern Belgian highway center and last major bastion in the once-dangerous bulge, fell to units of the First army at 5:45 p. m. after an all-day fight, according to a front-line dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Edward D. Ball.

Aerial Support

As the two American armies swept in behind the retreating Germans, thrusting to within an average of five miles of the border all along the line, Ninth airforce fighter-bombers carried their annihilation of the enemy through a second day and were joined by invader and havoc bombers which were used in this theater for the first time as deck-level strafing planes.

The recapture of St. Vith came one month and two days after the Germans were pushed out by the Germans' December counter-offensive.

New French Assault

At the southern end of the western front the French First army, after being held to limited gains since opening an attack Saturday, launched what was described as a "new and powerful" offensive on the Alsace plain. The assault, mounted against the northern side of the Colmar pocket, was said to have achieved "total surprise."

At the northern end of the front the British Second army gained two miles on a six-mile arc to points more than seven miles inside the German frontier. Southward the American Third army made gains up to two miles along a 20-mile front against stiffening resistance in the lower portion of the Belgian bulge.

German opposition the Third army at the lower end of the disappearing Ardennes bulge offered the first substantial resistance in days from the hills along the Clerf river.

Near the center of the front the Sixth cavalry group cut two miles east to Wilwerwiltz and then wheeled five miles north to Eselborn.

Yank, English Dancer Sentenced to Hang For London Murder

LONDON (AP)—Pvt. Karl Gustav Hulten, 22-year-old American parachute trooper, and a British striptease dancer were sentenced yesterday to be hanged for the robbery murder of a London taxi driver.

Their conviction ended a six-day trial unprecedented in London's old Bailey court.

The Cambridge, Mass., soldier took his sentence almost stolidly. But Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, 18, the co-defendant, was led away weeping.

The three women and nine men on the jury used a single word, "guilty," in Hulten's case. But they recommended mercy for Mrs. Jones.

A death sentence on the English girl was mandatory under British law, but Justice Sir Ernest Bruce Charles announced that the mercy recommendation would be forwarded to the British home secretary, who could intervene in her behalf.

Ruhr Railhub Bombed

LONDON (AP)—The Ruhr railhub of Beuss was littered with the twisted wreckage of more than 1,000 freight cars last night after 200 Flying Fortresses and 100 escorting Mustangs bombed the mass of vital German rolling stock with 600 tons of high explosives and incendiaries.

U. S. Superforts Hit Nagoya Factories

Marianas-Based Planes Raid Jap City In Two Waves

21ST BOMBER COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Guam (AP)—American Superfortresses flying in tight formations for protection against fierce Japanese air resistance bombed factories at Nagoya, Japan, yesterday. One B-29 was lost.

A sizeable force of the Marianas-based bombers (Tokyo radio said there were "some 70") hit the industrial city, on Honshu island, in two waves of two formations each. They struck at a lower altitude than any of the recent blows given Nagoya.

The first wave flew over at 3:35 p. m., bombing visually but with unobserved results. The second wave, hitting an hour later, bombed by instrument through an overcast.

(The Japanese communique, broadcast from Tokyo, said "damage on the ground was slight.")

Swarms of enemy fighter planes met the raiders over the Honshu coast and stayed with them through the bombing runs, breaking off action only when the B-29's were 50 to 100 miles at sea on the return trip.

Raiding crewmen reported a large number of the interceptors was shot down.

Allied Patrols Probe Nazi Italian Positions

ROME (AP)—Allied Fifth and Eighth army patrols, operating yesterday along the entire Italian front, probed the position of Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's reinforced German army, reported now to total 28 divisions, its greatest strength since last spring.

(This dispatch, passed through censorship, did not bring out where Kesselring had obtained additional men for the front, but it is possible they were transferred from garrison duty in northern Italy. Prime Minister Churchill said last Thursday that the Germans had 27 divisions on the Italian front.)

Seeking to keep rail routes into northern Italy out of service, allied bombers cut rail lines in the Po valley in 59 places and destroyed or damaged many railroad bridges.

Still More Warm Weather Expected

The mercury is at it again. It was supposed to go down, so it went up. At 6:30 last night it was 30 and at 9:30 it had bounced up to 33, only three degrees below the day's high of 36, which prevailed from 2:30 to 4:30. The low yesterday morning was 11.

Indications are that today will be a continuation of the Indian spring weather of the past two weeks. The forecast is for clear with no change in temperature. With the snow and ice rapidly disappearing, there is no more snow in sight.

Yanks Near Last Barrier To Clark Field

Japanese Expected To Make First Stand On Luzon at Bamban

GENERAL MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, Wednesday (AP)—Field dispatches disclosed today that spearheads of the 14th army corps are approaching bomb-blasted Bamban, last town barring the way to big Clark field and its airstrips, although today's communique located the main body as about 10 miles north of the big military prize.

Bamban is six miles from Clark field. Just beyond the town, reported by Spencer Davis, Associated Press war correspondent, to be smoking from American artillery and air attacks, lies the Bamban river where the Japanese likely will make their first real stand of the Luzon campaign.

Southward Drive Slowed Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold's 14th slowed its southward drive toward the field Tuesday to straighten out its lines around Capas while Maj. Gen. Innis P. Swift's first corps extended the left flank eastward, seizing a huge store of enemy supplies.

While planes ripped into Japanese positions at Bataan, of grim memory to all Americans, Griswold's corps swung nine miles west of captured Capas to overrun Camp O'Donnell where American and Filipino prisoners were separated during the death march from Bataan.

Five-Mile Advance On the left flank, First corps units staked due east to Binamon, where the Japanese last week attempted to ambush with tanks, and reached the outskirts of San Manuel, a five-mile advance.

The rampant airforce not only ripped enemy communications and roads of retreat on the island but also ranged to Formosa and the Ryukyu islands—targets which until recently have been the exclusive assignments of carrier-based planes and long range Superfortresses.

Units moving east from captured La Paz, to the north of Tarlac, were in Zaragoza, moving toward Santa Rosa where the east-west highway joins a main road to Manila skirting the foothills along the eastern edge of the central Luzon plain.

On MacArthur's hard-pressed left flank the Americans were continuing to neutralize enemy defenses in the vicinity of Rosario, south of the summer capital of the Philippines at Baguio.

Subasic Defies King Peter

LONDON (AP)—Defying King Peter and refusing to resign, Premier Ivan Subasic and his "dismissed" cabinet ministers prepared last night to take "protective steps" within the next 48 hours to establish with Marshal Tito a federal democratic government in Yugoslavia.

An authoritative source said Subasic, with British approval, had decided to ignore King Peter's request that he resign and would proceed to put into effect the agreement he signed with Tito.

At the same time all Yugoslav associations in London unanimously demanded that the Subasic government continue in office and return to Belgrade to put into effect the agreement with Tito.

The associations called on the Subasic government to "refuse any collaboration with any Fascist government which the king may try to form."

Meanwhile the youthful monarch was battling virtually alone to save his crown. He gave the task of forming a new government to Milan Grol, a former foreign minister and known opponent of Tito.

Japs Extend Holdings In Southeast China

CHUNGKING (AP)—Extension of Japanese holdings in Chekiang province, obviously intended to counter any American landing on the east coast of China south of Shanghai, was reported last night by the Chinese high command.

A Chinese communique said Japanese troops based at Wenchow, Chekiang port 225 miles south of Shanghai, had driven southward and Jan. 21 seaborne Japanese landed on the coast southeast of Juian, 15 miles south of Wenchow.

The war bulletin said Japanese troops, stabbing northward from Kwantung, had reached a point 28 miles northwest of Tsingyun, 40 miles north of Canton, and that "severe fighting was raging" in the area.

Navy Ordnance Test Station Established In Mojave Desert

INYO KERN, Calif. (AP)—Here on a 56,000-acre tract of government land in the Mojave desert's lava mountains, the navy has established a $35,000,000 ordnance test station for new and terrible weapons of war, among them rockets which may be used against Japan.

It will be 18 months before the station is completed, but it is to be a permanent navy shore establishment, with some of the nation's best brains engaged in ferreting out chemical and mechanical secrets for modern warfare.

Soviet Thrust Reaches Oder River Defenses

Government's Clothing Plans—Higher Production, Lower Cost

WASHINGTON (AP)—Moving to plug "the most serious breach in price control," the government yesterday laid down a broad program to slash essential clothing costs about seven percent while boosting production.

The program imposes drastic restrictions on the garment industry from mill to retailer, setting up controls to force a "high proportion" of all fabric production into low and medium-priced clothing. "Frills and ruffles" will be sharply reduced, officials said.

Essential Needs J. A. Krug, war production chairman, and Price Administrator Chester Bowles, at joint news conference, disclosed that about 75 percent of total civilian cloth will be earmarked for essential needs.

The plan, to be put into effect shortly, covers cotton, rayon and woolen goods, and garments made from them. The result, the agency chiefs predicted, will be a greater supply of inexpensive garments on store shelves by late spring.

Improved Quality The step also means, they said, a "reduction of currently inflated clothing prices by about six or seven percent." In addition, "every effort will be made to improve quality of clothing for the price."

The program is aimed to close the most serious breach in price control," Bowles said, adding that during the last 18 months retail clothing prices have risen 11 percent, while overall living costs have climbed only one percent. The key provision requires textile mills and converters to reserve a substantial proportion of their civilian fabric production for inexpensive clothing, such as children's wear, men's shirts and shorts, and women's and girls' dresses.

Less for Civilians There will be 25 to 30 percent less woven textiles for civilians this year than in 1939, due mostly to military requirements, Bowles said.

Bowles acknowledged that the new controls are going to be "tough" on the industry, but he asserted that manufacturers and dealers' profits would remain above pre-war earnings.

Senate Sidetracks Wallace's Nomination

Critics Seek to Strip Lending Agencies From Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—Henry A. Wallace's nomination to be secretary of commerce was shoved on to a senate sidetrack yesterday, while his critics sought to hack away the job's vast financial responsibilities.

The commerce committee voted 10 to 2 to defer consideration of the nomination and take up first the proposal by Senator George (D., Ga.) to strip the government's big lending agencies from the commerce department. Hearings on the George bill were called for 1:30 p. m. (CWT) today, George and Wallace were invited to testify as was Jesse Jones, the banker President Roosevelt removed as commerce secretary to make room in the cabinet for the former vice-president.

Chairman Bailey (D., N. C.) said the commerce committee had no intention of delaying action on the nomination. Senators who have been outspoken in opposition to putting the government's lending powers into the hands of Wallace, whose economic ideas they regard as radical, made it no secret, however, that they hoped the nomination would stay in the committee pigeon-hole until a decision is reached on the George bill.

British land forces rolled up major advances yesterday over all Burma, making new gains on the Myittha, Chindwin, Irrawaddy and coastal fronts.

British troops pressing south along the Myittha river below Gangaw reached within 1,500 yards of Tilin, encountering smaller Japanese opposition than expected.

Swiss Report Transfer Of Jap-Held Prisoners

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A Bern, Switzerland, radio broadcast last night, recorded by the FCC, said several thousand American prisoners of war had been transferred from the Philippines to Japan. The report was based on information received by the central agency for prisoners of war in Geneva.

Travel Priorities Committee Launches Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate military committee yesterday assigned a top priority to "Blaze," Col. Elliott Roosevelt's high-riding mastiff, in launching an inquiry into the whole system of travel priorities.

Senator Stewart (D., Tenn.), who took over direction of the inquiry, told a reporter it would be "comprehensive" and include "both dogs and men."

In setting up Stewart's subcommittee to check on the priority practices, the committee acted at the request of Senator Bridges (R., N. H.).

Named to serve on the subcommittee with Stewart and Senator Maybank (D., S. C.), Bridges said he would seek to find out how the Roosevelt dog got top "A" travel priority.

West Front Troops To Get One-Week Furloughs in Britain

PARIS (AP)—American troops battling on the western front will be given one-week furloughs in Britain beginning in March, perhaps sooner, European theater headquarters announced yesterday.

The week's leave will be exclusive of travel time. The maximum number that would be away from the continent at one time will approximate 5,000, according to the announcement. Group quotas have not been determined, but the soldiers will be selected for leave by local commanders.

Carrier Planes Blast Okinawa Island

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor (AP)—Admiral William F. Halsey's Third fleet carrier force, prowling in Japanese territory all of this month, sent planes to blast Okinawa island in the Ryukyus Sunday, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported yesterday.

Nimitz said details were yet to come concerning this fourth strike thus far in January against Okinawa, only 350 miles south of the Japanese mainland.

Tokyo radio, in a report of naval plane raiders hitting Okinawa Sunday, said 550 carrier aircraft attacked harbors and airfields on the island for nine hours. The enemy claimed 40 of the raiders were shot down and 34 damaged.

The Third fleet has been operating in the Okinawa-Formosa area and southward in the China sea as far as Indo-China, since early in January, in support of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's invasion of Luzon, Philippines.

American army airmen operating from newly won fields in Luzon are lending a hand in the blows at Formosa.

Reduced Meat Production

CHICAGO (AP)—A 10 percent reduction in meat production in federally inspected plants was reported yesterday by the war meat board for the week ended Jan. 20. The board's estimate totaled 340 million pounds, compared with 379 million pounds produced in the preceding week and a 445 million pound output in the corresponding week a year ago.

Iowa House in Full Session Considers Installment Loan Bill

DES MOINES (AP)—Two bills which have commanded widespread interest, but which failed to pass in previous Iowa legislatures, were among the first measures reported out of house committees after a full afternoon of group meetings yesterday.

Heading the list were a proposal to permit banks to make installment loans up to $2,500 and a measure to provide for local option on beer sales. Among other bills reported out was one which would divorce beer and dancing. All were recommended for passage by the committees which handled them.

The installment loan proposal was approved by the house in the last two assemblies, but each time it died in the senate sifting committee.

A senate judiciary committee reported out a measure which was a combination of five separate divorce bills. The measure provides that divorce decrees cannot become final until six months after they are signed, incorporates separate maintenance actions in the divorce laws, provides that final hearing of a divorce case cannot be held until 30 days after the filing date, that courts may appoint trustees to handle alimony and child support receipts, and that divorce case transcripts may be sealed.

Navy Plane Crashes

OTTUMWA (AP)—A navy flight instructor was killed and a student officer seriously injured yesterday when their training plane on a routine flight from the Ottumwa naval air station crashed two miles south of Martinsburg, the station public relations office reported last night.

REPORTED ENGAGED TO DONALD NELSON

MARGUERITE S. COULBOURNE, 1939 campus queen of George Washington university, is reported in Washington circles to be engaged to Donald Nelson, former WPB chairman and now adviser to President Roosevelt. Nelson, divorced in Chicago last week, is 57, and Miss Coulbourne 26.

Reds Close In On Poznan

Within 22 Miles Of Trapping Nazis In East Prussia

LONDON (AP)—The Red army crashed through German Silesia to the Oder river defense line on a 37-mile front in the Breslau area yesterday and came within 22 miles of trapping the Nazi defenders of East Prussia.

In Poland, Soviet forces were reported closing in on Poznan, 137 miles east of Berlin, the German high command telling of fighting in the region east of the city.

Premier Stalin issued four orders of the day, bringing the total of his announcements to 26 in a week of phenomenal Red army advances. Two orders dealt with the East Prussian victories, one with the continuing advance in northwest Poland, and the fourth announced that Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian army had reached the Oder near Breslau, capital of lower Silesia.

Oder River Defenses The Oder long has been advertised as the Germans' best natural defense line on the east.

Stalin did not give exact locations where the river was reached, but the Germans themselves broadcast a news account of a tank battle only two and one-half miles east of Breslau.

Stalin announced the capture of Saalfeld, 22 miles from the Baltic port of Elbing, by Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's troops thrusting northward on the southwest side of East Prussia.

Heavier Resistance Zhukov's men also took more than 600 other places in Poland in their thrust westward, but apparently were meeting heavier resistance than formerly, for the gains in miles were less spectacular than before.

The communique still placed Zhukov no closer than 165 miles from Berlin, as he had been the day before, but German accounts told of fighting just east of Poznan, while unconfirmed Swedish and French broadcasts said there already was fighting inside the city. It lies only 137 miles east of Berlin.

Army Revolutionizes Teaching Method—

The United States army, today the largest educational institution in the world, has brought about a revolution in teaching methods that will exert a growing influence upon civilian schools and colleges.

Prof. William S. Lynch, head of the department of humanities in the Cooper Union School of Engineering, says in a study of "What is Education Doing?"

"There is almost unanimous agreement that the army and the navy have done an excellent job in training for their definite purposes," according to Professor Lynch. "They have had to do their work in a very brief period and they have been obliged to teach everything from spelling to Japanese decoding.

"In their teaching they have relied upon two main props—standardization and visualization. Paraphrasing, we should observe that for much of the work conducted to the colleges, a great deal of freedom has been allowed. Even here, however, there have been definite syllabi drawn up, it should be noted, by combined military and civilian experts.

"Standardization has made it possible to economize in teacher training and has assured the authorities that individual courses will cover exactly what they are meant to. Visualization has meant that content material has been presented with dispatch and clarity.

"We are going to be gadget-minded enough after this war. Education in its eagerness for visual materials is only reflecting the ideals of the society to which it belongs. But gadgets by themselves are of little avail. Without a warm human being to control them and keep them in their place, they become just so much junk.

"The result will be unquestionably a great reliance on films, records, exploded drawings, slides and all the other visual and auditory impediments which a technological and ingenious people will be able to devise. In this connection it undoubtedly will take time before a balanced attitude toward these tools is realized. A safe

"Besides the current excitement about visual aids, there are a number of other quickenings of interest that are largely the result of the military's way of doing things. One of the most interesting of these has to do with the teaching of languages. Thousands of men and women have been taught to speak an amazing array of languages in a period of time astonishingly brief by the standards of conventional high-school and college teaching. It is not surprising therefore to see high schools and colleges revamping their linguistic methods."

Withdrawal From St. Vith Avenged—

By Tom Yarbrough

OVERLOOKING ST. VITH, Belgium, (AP)—Watching through binoculars from a shell-plattered ridge outside St. Vith, we saw American tanks and white-clad infantry work their way into the ruins of St. Vith today.

The assault today St. Vith was scheduled to be taken by another command, but the plan was switched and Clarke was given the job. Clarke was up at the front today taking obvious pleasure in seeing the table turned.

The Germans fired continuously at vehicles moving along the road into the town, sending over their deadly screaming meemies and shells from big guns which had pulled into the woods south of the shattered community.

The assault was made from the north by three task forces converging from the left, center and right. Our P-38 Lightnings had been working on St. Vith all morning, ignoring anti-aircraft fire. For 20 minutes before the assault our artillery pounded away under clouds of smoke.

But the attack went well and we saw the doughboys working through enemy small arms fire inside the town, cautiously progressing from ruin to ruin.

That conclusion seems well justified. Certainly with Russian spearheads less than 150 miles from Berlin at two or more points and still rolling, the mass of German strategic reserves must be moving eastward.

Opinion On and Off the Campus—

Should Wallace Replace Jones?

John C. Gerber, assistant professor in the English department: "Yes. I think that Wallace is far more realistic than most people realize. His actions will be in accord with his principles which seem to be not only realistic, but humanitarian."

Kathryn Bailey, C2 of Anamosa: "Both Wallace and Jones are men who have the qualifications for many different government positions. I think it is the surprise of the change that is causing the fuss. It is difficult to tell what is behind it all, but it is certain that Wallace must be all right for the job, or it wouldn't have been given him."

Prof. Baldwin Maxwell, head of the English department: "I think that Wallace is a fine man, but I think there are other places where he could be used to a better advantage."

Charles Moerke, A2 of Burlington: "It doesn't make much difference to me. As far as I am concerned it would be going from bad to worse, since they are both Democrats."

Wayne Linderman, C4 of Greenfield: "No. In his own life as a businessman he was quite a failure. This is out of his line. The only reason I can see for his appointment is politics in government. Wallace is full of too many theories and is not too practical. He likes to experiment. The commerce field of our country is too delicate a thing with which to experiment."

Phil York, A2 of Swanscott, Mass: "I don't really know which is the best man, but I believe Wallace is favored in the east."

Herman H. Trachsel of the political science department: "Yes, because he is more liberal, more democratic, more interested in little business, and more interested in jobs for the masses."

Barbara Hallman, A3 of Aurora, Ill.: "No, I think Jesse Jones is better qualified to handle the job than Wallace. Jones has more experience in monetary matters, so that the finance committee within the department could function better under him. Wallace's ability could best be used in another field."

Patricia Monahan, A3 of Council Bluffs: "Wallace is an agriculturalist, not a commerce expert, and his promotion is far too obvious."

Mary Belle Peck, A1 of Ottawa, Ill.: "No, because I don't think Wallace has the proper qualifications for the job. He had a chance to prove himself as vice-president, but since he didn't seem to be particularly efficient in that job, there is no reason for him to have the secretary of commerce position."

LuVella Steuck, A2 of Primm: "Wallace has not been educated for commerce, but rather agricultural interests. He has been valuable in promoting Pan-American relationship, but his commerce experience is nil."

J. E. Briggs of the political science department: "I think Wallace should have the most important job the president can find. If Wallace thinks the department of commerce provides the kind of an opportunity for leadership that he wants, he should have it."

Phyllis Shambaugh, G of Clarinda: "Wallace should have some kind of a job, but I'm not sure that this is the one. I believe he's finally come to his senses. He expressed himself so honestly and well at the Democratic convention last year."

Twyla Gettert, A3 of Davenport: "I think Wallace should have the position. Wallace isn't a party man so it is obvious that he won't get this job through pull."

La Vonne Gordon, A1 of Barnum: "On the surface it seems that Jones, after having had the position all these years, is better acquainted with its problems, but President Roosevelt must have

Kirke Simpson Interprets the War News

In comparison to German broadcasts claiming a new breakthrough against the American Seventh Army in the west to capture Haguenau; communications hub of the Rhine-Lauter salient above Strasbourg, allied supreme headquarters gave small evidence of grave concern.

attack of anything like the hitting power displayed in the Belgian breakthrough. There is far more reason to expect early allied resumption of major offensive operations than to view enemy operations on the Seventh Army front in the Karlsruhe corner as more than diversionary and strictly limited in scope.

General Eisenhower's spokesmen seemed wholly confident that the battle of the now substantially liquidated Belgian bulge and the Russian sweep across Poland put an end to Nazi offensive possibilities in west of any major scope for the winter at least, if not forever.

That is true for several reasons. For one thing, there is no strategic objective at which the Nazis could be aiming in the Karlsruhe corner sector such as warranted the attempt in Belgium which came presently close to disrupting the whole allied west front deployment. The vital hinge in allied rear communications once lay just beyond the German bulge front. There is no comparable situation in the Karlsruhe corner, important as the Haguenau road and rail hub is locally to the American front there.

That conclusion seems well justified. Certainly with Russian spearheads less than 150 miles from Berlin at two or more points and still rolling, the mass of German strategic reserves must be moving eastward.

Another factor the Nazi commander in the west must weigh is that General Eisenhower has available massed forces in the center to throw either north or south now that the Belgian bulge is all but flattened.

With the AEF on the Belgian Front

By KENNETH L. DIXON

ON THE BELGIAN FRONT, Jan. 20—(Delayed)—(AP)—During the early stages of the German counteroffensive a battalion commander found his outfit nearly surrounded and heavily outnumbered. The position could not be held and it became necessary to withdraw before the final lone corridor of escape was cut off.

They fought for water from a mountain stream. The number of wounded in foxholes increased alarmingly. Medicine ran low. To conserve their dwindling ammunition supply, the men were ordered to fire only when they could actually see their targets.

But even that corridor was chopped and slashed by shellfire. Mortars burst regularly all along it and small arms fire indicated how difficult it was going to be just getting out afoot. He realized it would be impossible to take 18 wounded men out with the rest of the battalion—regardless of his wishes—and told them so in terse sentences.

Paul Mallon Discusses—

'Work or Fight'

WASHINGTON—The whole administration program for legislation tightening up home manpower—the "work or fight" national industrial draft, even the drafting of 4-F's and nurses—ran fast down into a conflict of sentiment and confusion in the house military affairs committee.

On the surface this seems somewhat surprising because of the championship of the administration proposals by Mr. Roosevelt and assistant President Byrnes, and the display campaign they put on regarding the real need of men in some industries. Since the hour and a half conference Mr. R. held with labor leaders, it has been aired around that he is impatient, but labor is still opposed.

Very few authorities in congress like the methods proposed. When War Secretary Stimson and chief of staff Marshall turned their backs, somewhat quietly (refusing to appear) on work or fight, they definitely killed any chance for the pending proposal to put men who will not work in the army labor battalions.

When General Knudsen was asked about this he told the committee: "Aha, that employer pays bonuses."

But the employer did not mention this in his letter, and it could be an important factor only if the employer started paying the bonuses after the free-quitting notice was posted. His point, therefore, does not seem to have been soundly made.

Furthermore, two senators have come back from a Norfolk naval plants inspection to report more workers than needed there, and more than essential wage rolls have been observed in some other factories. This development no doubt will result in congress authorizing the placing of wage ceilings in plants.

But what else will come out of this conflict and confusion over methods—with labor opposing practically all compulsion and business (NAM best) resisting similarly—the only of congressional authorities will not yet predict. There will probably be a bill of some kind.

It may be some very limited form of "work or fight" to include at least the 4-F's, and the nurses draft, possibly not even that much. Perhaps the current publicity may have helped solve much of the problem before congress gets to the end of this matter.

A great many congressmen are impressed with the seriousness of manpower needs in certain spots, but a great many more believe a well coordinated manpower administration could solve most of the problems, without additional legislation, and the idea of trying democratic methods harder has at least gained a firmer foothold.

These fellowships are awarded annually to persons of the Caucasian race, of either sex, born in the state of Iowa, who have been graduated from a college or university located in Iowa, and selected because of their scholarship, seriousness of purpose, moral character and need of financial assistance. Incumbents are eligible for reappointment. No Roberts fellows may pursue, as majors, the studies of law, medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine or theology. Each fellowship provides an annual stipend of $1,100. In accepting the ward, the holder must state his purpose to return to the state of Iowa for a period of at least two years following the completion of his studies at Columbia university.

18 Iowans in 24th Division Survive 'Epic of Grim Courage, Determination'

WITH THE 24TH DIVISION IN THE PHILIPPINES (AP)—The 2nd battalion of this division's civil war-famed 19th regiment carved a historic niche for the annals of Leyte's reconquest with an epic of grim courage and determination against overwhelming odds at the critical peak of fighting for the Ormoc corridor.

Capt. William Eddy Speaks Tonight on Electronics

Commandant of Navy Radar Center Devises Television Processes

Volunteers Staff, Services During War To Train Navy Men

Tonight at 7:30 in MacBride auditorium Capt. William C. Eddy, commanding officer of the navy's radar training center, Radio Chicago, will deliver an address on "Television in Post-War Industry."

He will illustrate his lecture by means of slides. The public is invited to attend free of charge.

Captain Eddy has made numerous improvements in the television field: the process for reproducing the familiar facing out of television pictures as is done in the production of movies, the kaleidoscope projector from which kaleidoscopic images could be thrown on a screen and easily televised and a new lighting device.

Develops Device

Later he built up a television studio and broadcasting station in Chicago and then developed an improved focusing device for the television camera, an automatic method of setting a needle on a spinning record to produce a sound effect at precisely the right moment and collapsible lighting rig for use in the field.

At the outbreak of war in December, 1941, Eddy volunteered his services to the country and also offered the services of the television station and its staff. Now his television staff act as instructors to teach radio and electronics and radar theory to navy men.

Carl A. Menzer, director of radio station WSUI and professor of the electrical engineering department, stated, "Captain Eddy is an outstanding authority in the field of television, radar and electronics. He has had a great deal of experience and is considered one of the top men in the industry."

Engineers Elect Officers

Richard S. Padgham, E4 of Iowa City, was elected president of the senior class in the college of engineering Monday afternoon.

Other newly elected officers are: Robert N. Sulentic, E4 of Waterloo, vice-president; J. L. Trocino, E4 of Olweh, secretary; and Charles A. Lamb, E4 of Tama, treasurer.

Lieut. Col. Jens Norgaard Describes Allied Air Power on D-Day at Kiwanis Luncheon

"These people are certainly going to be late for D-Day because that's all the ships there are in the world."

That was Lieut. Col. Jens Norgaard's observation as he led the first formation of planes across the English channel June 6, 1944. "But when we got to the French coast we saw twice as many ships as there should be in the world," he quipped.

Colonel Norgaard, who is spending a 30-day leave with his wife and seven-month-old son, Anders, 918 N. Dodge street, spoke to Kiwanis club yesterday noon at Hotel Jefferson.

"Most of us had an idea that D-Day was pretty near in the offing," the officer said. "About three days before D-Day, my bombardier began to study our particular target."

"D-Day morning we were not sure about the weather at the target and it was raining as we took off. We flew to a beacon where other ships joined the formation. Our altitude was as low as 800 feet going across the channel, and we saw all kinds of convoys."

"We had good results on the beaches," Colonel Norgaard explained modestly. "Heading for home across the Cherbourg peninsula there was some icy weather, but it was a perfect day when we arrived in England," he said.

Describing an island in the channel where the air was full of P-45's, P-51's and Spitfires Colonel Norgaard commented:

5,300 County Pupils Give to Red Cross

More than 5,300 Johnson county pupils in 130 schools have contributed more than $410 to the Junior Red Cross. They have produced more than 3,100 items for use by servicemen and women and for use in government hospitals.

A letter received by Mrs. J. P. Cady, director of the junior group, illustrates what an individual school under the leadership of a teacher sponsor can do to further America's war effort.

We have an active Junior American citizen's club recently organized under the Daughters of the American Revolution sponsorship. The name of our club is "Stars and Stripes J. A. C." We meet every two weeks on Friday in the afternoon. We have 18 members, Helen Meka is our president. Our program chairman always has a program or games planned for us so we have profitable and enjoyable meetings.

This is a list of our activities: We sent a box of 100 items to Schick hospital at Clinton. Then, too, we have made five scrap books for the Children's hospital at Iowa City. Our eighth grade girls made six utility bags for the Red Cross. We have sent letters and gifts to Mary Ann Goff, age eight, at the Orphan's Home in Davenport. Her parents were lost in the war. A box of clothing valued at more than $40 was sent to Tama's Indian children.

We collected 40 pounds of clothing to be sent to the Russian people during their recent drive.

East Lucas, No. 4 enrolled 100 percent in the Junior Red Cross membership drive and we have invested $23.25 in war stamps.

Episcopals to Observe Communion Thursday

In memory of the Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul, Holy Communion will be celebrated Thursday in the Trinity Episcopal Parish house chapel at 7 and 10 o'clock.

"Even the birds were walking." Explaining a crew's briefing, the speaker emphasized that the main purpose is to relieve the strain of the personnel. The mission leader tells all the combat crew members what difficulties are ahead so they won't worry while going over.

"Everything hinges on the weather," according to Colonel Norgaard. "If it's good we can do a little pin-point bombing." Weather is determined for the base, the territory to be covered, the target and the return trip home.

Colonel Norgaard was graduated from the college of engineering at the University of Iowa where he was one of Iowa's Iron Men during 1938-39.

Guests at the meeting were Lieut. David Dobson, W. F. Ellsworth, the Rev. Donovan G. Hart, Lieut. Comdr. Larry Mullins, A. L. Elder, Prof. W. G. Eversole, Prof. G. H. Coleman of the chemistry department, Prof. A. C. Trowbridge of the geology department, H. O. Croft, H. S. Ivie and Donald Mallett.

Mrs. O. N. Riggs Honors Bride-Elect

A personal shower for Ruth Lillick, bride-elect, was held Sunday afternoon from three to five o'clock in the home of Mrs. O. N. Riggs, 111 Governor street. Thirty relatives and friends were included in the courtesy.

Miss Lillick returned Saturday from Ft. Warren, Wyo., where she has been serving as a Red Cross recreational worker.

She will become the bride of Capt. James H. Blackmore of Camp Crowder, Mo., Jan. 26 in the First English Lutheran church.

Doctors Say Nubbins 'Spry as Squirrel'

DENVER (AP)—Forest (Nubbins) Hoffman, 3, of Cheyenne, Wyo., who celebrated Christmas in November because his parents believed he wouldn't live until Dec. 25, came back to Denver's Mercy hospital yesterday for a checkup on an operation performed there to remove a bladder obstruction which had threatened his life.

Hospital attendants reported: "Ten pounds heavier and spry as a squirrel."

Double Ring Service Unites Leota Morgan, LeRoy von Lackum Dec. 24 at Stanley

Before an altar decorated with evergreen, candles and baskets of white pompons, Leota Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morgan of Stanley, became the bride of LeRoy F. von Lackum, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. von Lackum of Waterloo, Dec. 24 at 3:30 p. m. in the Union church at Stanley. The Rev. Calvin Willemssen officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Wayne Naley and Mrs. E. D. Halstead, both of Stanley, provided nuptial music.

Helen Finch of Olin, cousin of the bridegroom, served the bride as maid of honor and Clyde Morgan, brother of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Kyle Gerstenberger of Aurora and Robert Miller of Waterloo.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin fashioned with a valentine neckline and bridal point sleeves. Her finger-tip length veil was held in place by a halo of orange blossoms. She carried a bridal bouquet of pink roses.

The maid of honor selected a floor-length gown of green taffeta styled with a V-neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a green shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet of yellow and white pompons.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Morgan chose a blue crepe dress. Her accessories were black. Mrs. von Lackum wore a black sheer dress, with black accessories. Both wore corsages of pink roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors. A three-tiered wedding cake, candles and bouquets of yellow and white pompons served as table decorations.

For traveling the bride selected a brown check suit and topcoat and brown accessories.

The bride, a graduate of Stanley high school, attended Upper Iowa University at Fayette. For the past year, she has served as office secretary for the Y.W.C.A. in Waterloo.

Mr. von Lackum was graduated from West Waterloo high school and attended Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls. He is now a senior in the college of medicine at the University of Iowa, where he is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity, and Phi Beta Pi, medical fraternity.

The couple is residing at 1125 E. Burlington street.

Britisher to Discuss England's Post-War Plans Thursday at 4

Graham Hutton Information First Lecturer

Information First this week will present Graham Hutton, director of the British Information service in Chicago, with an Englishman's views regarding Britain's position and policy in the post-war world. His topic will be "Britain Looks at Tomorrow."

Hutton was called into service of the British Foreign office immediately on the outbreak of war, serving in England until June 30, 1941, when he was sent to Chicago as director of the new British Press Service office there. Mr. and Mrs. Hutton left England in mid-July, 1941, and came across the Atlantic in convoy to open the Chicago office on Michigan avenue early in September of the same year.

Born in England in April, 1904, Hutton is of Scotch and English parentage. Following his grammar school and public school education, he was graduated from the London School of Economics and took advanced work in French and German universities. The young Britisher spent five years in his father's business, East India Merchants, then served two years as secretary of the studies department at the Royal Institute of International Affairs in London.

On the faculty of the London School of Economics for a year, Hutton joined the staff of the Economist at the beginning of 1933 as assistant editor to Sir Walter Layton. He was managing editor of the publication from Sept., 1933, until Aug., 1938.

As managing editor of the Economist, Hutton traveled extensively throughout Europe, the United States, Canada and Mexico, serving at the same time as foreign editor of the British journal. During this time he wrote books on international, economic and political subjects, including "Is It Peace?" in 1936 and "Survey After Munich," which appeared three years later.

Hutton is no stranger to the United States, especially to the middle west, where he has spent

3-Day Pass
 BY FRANK FOWLER, YOUR DIESELINER REPORTER

I talked with nine service men on a crowded Burlington Trailways Dieseliner last week. One G. I. said "... "Sure boosts our morale to get a three-day pass to go home."

Another lad going home from the hospital... "This Burlington Trailways bus will land me only two blocks from my house. Sure is great to get a bus seat."

A man and his wife would have stayed at home this week-end if they had known how many service men on three-day passes couldn't travel any other time. The next trip they make will be mid-week.

A WAC had a three-day pass... "I'm going to see my flier husband who is just back from overseas." These comments prompt me to ask the friends of Burlington Trailways to travel mid-week if possible.

Undeclared Hawks Start Drills For Third-Place 'Whiz Kids'

Illini Offense Worries Iowa

Harrison Stresses Defense in Two Drills Before Crucial Test

By ROY LUCE
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Notre Dame, Purdue, Michigan and Indiana have all passed into history. History as far as the Iowa Hawkeyes are concerned. History lessons in which Coach Pop Harrison is stressing in the two short drills he and his Old Golders have to prepare for the future—Illinois.

Harrison hopes that his Hawks have studied their lessons well and will be able to meet the situation that will confront them next Friday at Champaign where they tackle the "tough-tough" Illini in what should give some indication of the outcome of Iowa's 1944-45 basketball season.

Very Tough

Laconic words of Harrison, spoken with a worried wrinkle on his forehead, "They are very tough—especially at Champaign," sum up the situation as the Hawkeyes, winners of ten straight, prepare to defend their first place spot in the Big Ten conference with third place Illinois.

"Illinois players are tall—averaging six foot, two and one-fifth inches—and they handle the ball smartly and hit well from all angles. All of the players except guard Jack Burmaster have had at least one year of play and we are especially concerned with Walton Kirk, who has averaged 14 points per game, and Howard Judson, average of 12," Coach Harrison said.

Defense Slipped

Harrison is especially worried over the Iowa defense which slipped up and allowed Indiana to score too many easy baskets. The team was noticeably slow in getting down the floor against the Hoosiers. All indications are that this costly mistake will be corrected before the Hawks take the floor against the "Whiz Kids."

Leadership in Iowa scoring has been taken over by Clay Wilkinson, with 133 points for a 13.3 average. He displaced Dick Ives, who now has 128 points, with Herb Wilkinson in third place with 86, followed by Murray Wier, 76, and Jack Spencer, 71. For the conference games, Clay leads with 60, for current third place in the league. Ives has 39 and Herb Wilkinson 31.

High Scoring

The Hawks have a per game average of 62.5 to opponents' 36.7, scoring 256 field goals and 113 free throws to foes' 144 baskets and 79 free throws.

The Iowa squad of 12 players will leave Thursday afternoon and spend the night in Chicago, arriving in Champaign Friday noon.

Dick Yoakam, WSUI newscaster, will again be on hand at the Illinois fieldhouse to bring Iowa fans a play by play description of the battle. The broadcast starts at 7:25 p. m.

Frick Silent On Meeting With Hershey

CHICAGO (AP)—Leslie M. O'Connor, chairman of the major league advisory committee, the three-man ruling board of baseball, last night said he had received no report from Ford Frick, president of the National League, regarding a meeting Monday with Lewis B. Hershey, selective service director.

Recent Ruling

Frick, also a member of the advisory committee, and Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators of the American league met with Hershey to discuss a recent ruling by the army that draft cases of professional athletes must be reviewed before they can be rejected for physical disability.

No Information

"So far as I know, Mr. Frick did not act in any official capacity on behalf of baseball," O'Connor said. "He and Mr. Griffith apparently were seeking information. I have not heard from Mr. Frick regarding the meeting with Mr. Hershey."

Will Harridge, president of the American league, said he knew nothing about the conference, adding that Griffith did not act in an official capacity, and that, of course, Frick did not act for the American league. Harridge is the third member of the advisory council which took over the office of the late baseball commissioner, Kenesaw Mountain Landis.

A Good Match—Nelson vs. Snead in New York

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—That's a fine match Freddy Corcoran has arranged, that challenge affair between Byron Nelson and Sam Snead to be played on some New York links next spring, although we're a little hazy as to who is challenging whom.

Knowing Corcoran's promotional ability we have the idea he just got the two golf aces together and said: "Let's you and him fight," or words to that effect. Anyway, the fact that the match has been arranged for a worthy cause is the main thing, and how it was brought about is unimportant.

A Puzzle

One other thing puzzles us. That is the announcement that half of the 72-hole match will be medal play and half match play, as the scoring will be rather tricky and we might read that Nelson defeated Snead, or vice versa, 2 up and 136 to 138. Or if one man wins the match play part of it and the other the medal, who is the over-all winner?

That's a minor detail, however, and the match-medal combination will intrigue the fans in that it might give them a chance to argue which of the two is the better at one or the other style of play, unless one of the players wins both ends of the match.

Two Champions

Such matches usually bring together two champions, although neither Snead nor Nelson holds a major title right now. Craig Wood is the duration National Open champion and Bob Hamilton is the current P.G.A. champion, but there is no doubt that Nelson and Snead are the hottest golfers of the moment and a match between them would arouse more interest than one between Wood and Hamilton.

Wood has taken part in a couple of challenge matches since winning the National Open in 1941. Later that year he won the unofficial world title by defeating Vic Ghezzi, P.G.A. champion, 5 and 4 in a 72-hole match. In 1943 he was just among those present as Nelson defeated him by the whopping margin of 15 up.

The Ultimate

That score would seem to be the ultimate in something or other until the score of the 36-hole match goes to the 72-hole match.

Walter Hagen-Archie Compton challenge match in England in 1928 is considered. Compton won, 18 and 17, leaving the impression it was a handicap match, with Hagen playing blindfolded. We aren't familiar with the details, but knowing Hagen's ability feel there must have been extenuating circumstances.

Before the war challenge matches were beer and skittles for the outstanding pros, as the participants always had a nice purse to shoot for and often made fat side bets. Hagen even got 500 pounds, or close to $2,500 at that time, for that 36-hole what-was-it-with Compton, and he got $6,000, still the record, for a match against Bob Jones in 1926. Incidentally, the Haig won that one, 11 and 10.

Snead and Nelson will be playing gratis, with all proceeds of the match going to the P.G.A. rehabilitation program.

It's a good match and a good cause, although we're still wondering about that scoring, and who will be the winner if Snead defeats Nelson in the 36-hole match play and Nelson defeats Snead in the 36-hole medal play.

Having successfully booted the Clinton eagles out of their two-way tie with Davenport for first place, the Iowa City Little Hawks, who scalped the River Kings, 34-24, last Friday, have now swept into a first-place tie with Davenport for the top spot in the Mississippi Valley conference.

As a result of the defeat suffered at the hands of the Hawks, the Clinton team has now fallen back to second place, followed by Dubuque, whom the Little Hawks humbled the previous week.

This week's contests will definitely decide who will reign as head of the conference, since the Little Hawks will face Davenport on the local court to determine who shall lead the race.

Standings:

St. Mary's Set for Irish In 47th Tilt

By DOROTHY SNOOK
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Heading this week's list of high school basketball games in Iowa City is the first of two annual clashes between St. Mary's Ramblers and the Shamrocks of St. Patrick's which is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock tonight on the Junior high floor.

This will be the 47th meeting of the two teams since their rivalry started back in 1917. However, the Irish, due to their two decisive victories last year now hold a slight edge in the series with 24 contests won against 22 for the Ramblers.

Dominant Series

Up until last year's meetings, St. Mary's had dominated the series with a string of 14 straight victories over their south side rivals which started during the 1925-36 campaign. The Irish took things in their own hands at that point and put a definite stop to the string, but the Ramblers are rarin' to begin a new one as of his evening.

The Ramblers will go into the game with a slightly better season's record than that of their intra-city rivals having rung up 10 decisions against 3 losses, but in games played this year with common rivals, the two appear more evenly matched than they have for sometime.

Little Difficulty

Against Cosgrove, St. Mary's had little difficulty in winning 37-22 while St. Patrick's took the same team 45-34. St. Joseph's of Rock Island handed the Ramblers a 43-42 overtime defeat in their first encounter, but the North Siders came back to take the second meeting, 42-32. The Irish did not experience too much trouble in downing the same team, 36-27.

Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids was the only other common foe of the two Iowa City fives, and while the Ramblers were coming out on the long end of a 42-34 score, St. Patrick's was way-laid, 44-43.

Although the old rivalry between the two schools is usually very spirited, the games in the past have been exceptionally clean and well-fought, and, regardless of who the "underdog" may be, it's a battle to the finish.

Floor Plays

The Ramblers have been concentrating on floor plays this week in preparation for the all-important tilt tonight.

Coach Francis Suplee of St. Mary's said yesterday that for the first time since Christmas, his team, with the possible exception of John O'Brien, regular forward, who will be handicapped by a bad knee, will be in good physical shape for the game. Suplee will probably start Tom Stahle and O'Brien at the forward positions, Bill Hettrick at center, and Bill Suplee and Bart Toohy in the guard spots.

Comforting Factor

One very comforting factor to the Ramblers which may prove to be a big headache to Coach Kritt's Shamrocks is the ready supply of reserves on the Marian's bench. Such boys as Jack Shnyder and Jim Diehl, guards, and Andy Chukal, Eddie Colbert and Don Seydel, forwards, have proven themselves almost as capable as the starting five and will be ready to take over should their services be needed.

The Ramblers will rely mainly upon the ability of their two starting forwards, Stahle and O'Brien, for their main scoring punch. Stahle, leading scorer in the city last year, has been keeping the hoops hot again this season while O'Brien, who has shown decided improvement in the last few games, has brought his scoring average up to a close second behind that of his running mate.

St. Pat's Camp—All Ready

By BETTYE NEAL
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Basketball fans may see the scales of victory tipped by the strength of an "irresistible force" tonight when the fighting Shamrocks of St. Patrick's release their pent-up fury and begin to charge against a not-immovable St. Mary's quintet in the opener of rivalry between the two camps is at a knife-edge sharpness as the hour of the starting whistle approaches. The rangy Irish have a purposeful gleam in their eyes which bodes no good for their opponents, and they want to take this one just as they won both of last year's contests, and if determination has anything to do with final scores, the South Side team has a good chance of chalking up a third victory.

"The Fighting"

"We're gunning for the Ramblers, and we're really going after them," forecasts Coach Cliff Kritt. "My boys will go in fighting, and they'll come out the winners."

Man for man, the teams appear to be pretty evenly matched, but the Shamrocks have an over-all height advantage which may be an important factor in starting the Irish force on its irresistible march. Averaging five feet, eleven inches per player, they have three men who hit the six-foot mark. They are: Don "Red" Gatens, six foot, three inch guard; Bob "Doc" Connell, six foot, one inch, at the other guard; and Gene Herdliska, six foot pivot man, against whom the Ramblers will pit their only six-footer, center Bill Hettrick.

Important Duel

Important will be the duel between the Shamrocks' guards and the Ramblers' high-scoring forwards, Tom Stahle and John O'Brien.

Fans will be counting on two questions being answered:

1. How good is Stahle against Connell?
2. How good is O'Brien against Connell?

Gatens, all-city and all-district guard last season, is the team's high-scorer with 127 points, an average of almost 12 points for each of his 11 games. A speedy dribbler with exceptional rebound-taking ability, Red is the team's sparkplug and may again prove to be just too hot a fire to quench.

Shift to Guard

Connell, all-city center last season who was shifted to the guard position this winter to add scoring power to the Irish machine, may become the Marian's biggest headache tonight. A good driver with a deceptive change of pace and sure control of the ball, he is the starting five and will be ready to take over should their services be needed.

The Shamblers will rely mainly upon the ability of their two starting forwards, Stahle and O'Brien, for their main scoring punch. Stahle, leading scorer in the city last year, has been keeping the hoops hot again this season while O'Brien, who has shown decided improvement in the last few games, has brought his scoring average up to a close second behind that of his running mate.

On the eve before the battle, Kritt reported, "The team is in excellent physical condition," as he sent the Shamrocks through their final drill. The Irish have been improving steadily all season, and Kritt appeared very pleased with their record so far.

"We're ready to go in every respect," he said, "and we won't take a lower seat to anybody."

Kritt plans to start his regular forwards, Merle Hoyer and Charlie Belger, pivot man Herdliska and guards Connell and Gatens. Another potential headache for the Marian's tonight will be Pat Moore, 182-pound guard, who became eligible this semester and who may see action during the contest.

The Irish Battle

Baseball Takes a Breath

By BOB KRAUSE

SAY, ARE YOU a basketball fan? We mean the rabid kind who loves to watch a couple of good teams go after each other tooth and nail with nothing more at stake than the honor of their respective schools.

If you are then a tasty dish will be served up for your sports appetite tonight when St. Mary's and St. Patrick's go at one another in what, for both teams, amounts to the battle of the century. And that is as it should be.

Most Pleasant

If you have never watched two parochial school basketball clubs play then you have missed yourself a most pleasant experience. The players go about the business at hand with a spirit which seems to be lacking in other contests. For fire and excitement there is little to match these games in the whole field of high school sports.

We understand that both the Irish and the Ramblers are well coached and smooth-working outfits, and that they will be at top form for tonight's clash.

Thrills, Chills

All of that isn't hard to believe. We have yet to see a parochial team which didn't produce good basketball. And, as for thrills and fever pitch stuff, all will be in evidence tonight.

Sorry if all this sounds like a publicity release. But, if you happen to be the excitable type, best you stay away from the proceedings on the Ramblers' floor. Personally, we're going anyway—even if we do jump at the pop of your bubble gum.

WELL, BASEBALL GOT a life last Saturday when it was announced that major league clubs could sign American Legion talent "in view of existing conditions."

It was estimated that there are between 300,000 and 500,000 boys listed on the American Legion rosters. The story, however, hastened to add that "the vast majority" couldn't even carry a big leaguer's bat in normal times.

Personally, we give up a prayer of thanks that somebody is trying to keep the national game running. We don't care if they have to keep things going with 10-year-olds and Civil War veterans. For us it will be baseball, brother, and that's what counts.

Seahawk Wrestlers Defeat Ottumwa

By MERLE FLEMING
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

The Seahawk wrestling team won seven of 10 matches in an exhibition meet with the Ottumwa NAS last night at the Iowa fieldhouse.

Walter Coupe, 128-pound wrestler for the Seahawks, was decided by Heideman of Ottumwa in his first defeat of the season. It was the last Pre-Flight match for Coupe as he goes to Ottumwa today for primary training.

Close Competition

The most interesting bout as far as close competition is concerned was between Thurman, ex-Iowa cadet, and Lieske, newcomer to the Pre-Flight lineup. Thurman obtained a fall in 5:38. Lieske is one of the sailors in the recently inaugurated Student Aviation program here. Before entering the navy he was a grappler for Indiana.

Vidmore, who was twice regimental champion here this summer, won the third Ottumwa victory by a decision. He defeated Ireland, another new man in the cadet lineup.

Lusk Wins

Van Meter, wrestling in the 128-pound class, threw Simms in the first match. Lusk, Pre-Flight veteran, pinned Whisman in the second match. The next three contests were the ones in which the Pre-Flight competitors were defeated.

Of the last five matches, the Seahawks won three by falls and two by decision. Beyer, of the 175-pound class, had an injured eye, but he won by a point.

Van Meter (S) won by a fall from Simms, 3:46.
Lusk (S) won by a fall from Whisman, 3:20.
Heideman (O) won by decision from Coupe.

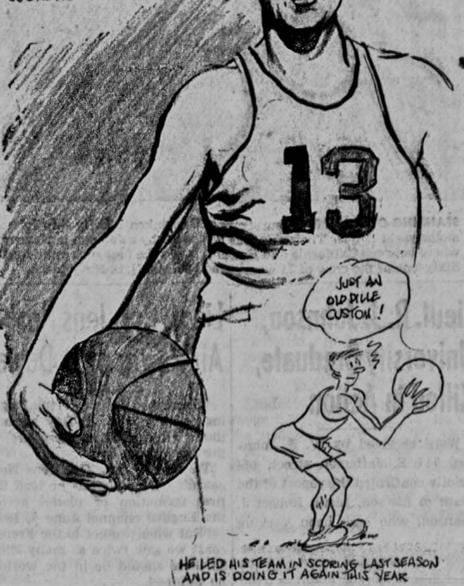

Thurman (O) won by decision from Lieske, 5:38.
Vidmore (O) won by decision from Ireland.
Petty (S) won by a fall from Whittemore, 5:51.
Holcombe (S) won by a fall from De Foliat, 4:04.
Holdener (S) won by decision from Fike.
Beyer (S) won by decision from Rice.
Kapter (S) won by a fall from Hagen, 5:00.

Clayton Wilkinson Grabs Third Place In Conference Scoring

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—The individual scoring column hardly offers any hint which way the team title wind will blow in the torrid Big Ten basketball race with Max Morris of sixth-place Northwestern far in front with 92 points.

In fact, six of the league's top 10 scorers are members of lower bracket contenders, including Michigan's Bob Geahan, who is second with 82 points.

Morris, who has bagged 35 field goals and 22 free throws, acquired his 30-point bulge over Geahan in five games, one less than the Wolverine star has played, for an 18.4 average.

Clayton Wilkinson Ranks Third

Statistics including Monday night's games show center Clayton Wilkinson as the best point-maker for undefeated Iowa with 60 points in four games, good for third place. The former University of Utah luminary fattened his total considerably with a 20-point performance against Indiana Monday.

Fourth with 59 points is Frisky Gene Paris of Indiana's Hoosiers who have broken even in four loop starts. Arnold Riesen of one-beaten Ohio State and Myrwin Anderson of Purdue's fading Builders (2-4) are tied for fifth at 57.

Don Lund of the eighth place Wolverines slipped from third to seventh place with 53, followed by Bill Gosewehr of Purdue, 51, Paul Huston of Ohio State, 44, and Junior Kirk of Illinois, 43, rounding out the top 10.

Best Defensive Average

Although Purdue is tops in team scoring with 252 points for six games, Indiana has the best average, almost 51 points in a four-game total of 203. The pace-setting Hawkeyes, however, still boast the best defensive average, yielding only 36.5 points in four games.

The Hawks may have plenty of trouble trying to keep their record unblemished. They still have to tackle Indiana on its own court which will be a tough assignment in view of Iowa's slim 56-51 win over the Hoosiers at last.

Friday night, the Hawkeyes must take on Illinois (2-1) which has a 48-point average in three games. It will be the first meeting of the two teams this season.

University High Continues Practices For West Liberty

The University high cagers yesterday began serious preparation for their clash with the West Liberty Comets Friday night on the local floor.

Coach Ross Wedemeyer stated that past games are to be forgotten, and so the Rivermen will attempt to forget their loss to Anamosa last week and will concentrate on the game with the Comets.

Defensive Practice

The Blue Hawk mentor stated that most of this week's drills will be devoted to defensive practice, and yesterday's drill was spent mostly on this phase of the game. It is expected that the Rivermen will spend some of their time, at least, on improving their zone defense. Although this method of keeping the opponents from the locals' goal has found little use this year, Coach Wedemeyer stated has been useful at times.

Then, too, the Rivermen will spend some time in perfecting offensive plays to be used against the Comets, whom they defeated Jan. 5 at the West Liberty court, 35 to 21.

Fine Shape

Co-captain Jim Williams, who had missed Monday's practice because of a bad cold, was back at practice yesterday, although he still showed evidences of his illness. It is believed, however, that he will be in fine shape to play again Friday.

On the whole, the Blue Hawks' spirit in drills this week has been commendable, as the locals seem to have learned their lessons from their defeat last week and will be prepared to go all out to cop their second victory from the Comets.

Hawk Grapplers Start Preparations For Gopher Meet

Although no definite date has been set for their meeting with Minnesota as yet, the Hawkeye wrestlers, nothing daunted by a close defeat at the hands of the Badger grapplers, are working with renewed vigor, Coach "Mike" Howard reported yesterday.

"That's all water over the dam," Howard stated regarding the Wisconsin meet. "We're working for the next meet now."

A problem has risen, however, concerning the date for the match with the Gophers. Formerly set for Feb. 3, the meet cannot take place in the afternoon or evening because of the basketball game with Michigan and the swimming meet.

If the match is held in the morning, Minnesota will be at a distinct disadvantage because they will have no time in which to work out after the long train ride.

"It's up to Minnesota," commented Howard. If the match is not held Feb. 3, it will be either Friday, Feb. 2, or Saturday, the 10th.

Yale's Alan Ford Sets New Marks

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Alan Ford, captain of the Yale swimming team, set new American records at 40 and 60 yards in a 20-yard pool yesterday, and established a 50-yard mark in a time trial sanctioned by the Connecticut A. A. U. at the Payne Whitney gym.

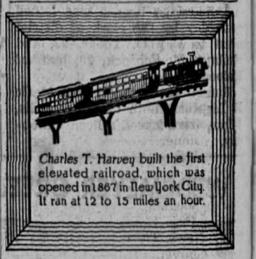

Ford, who is the world's record holder at 100 yards, as well as national and intercollegiate titlist, clipped two-tenths seconds off the 40-yard 17.6 record set by John McKelvey of Stanford in 1932 with a 17.4 performance. At 60 yards he lowered the mark of 28.4 seconds set by Peter Fick Feb. 18, 1930, to 27.5 seconds.

Van der Zee Candidate For Mayor

Professor, Editor To Run in Primaries On Democratic Ticket

Prof. Jacob Van der Zee of the political science department is the Democratic candidate for mayor of Iowa City, according to an announcement made yesterday by James H. Meade, city Democratic central committee chairman.

Professor Van der Zee's name heads a full ticket of 10 men and two women who will run in the city primary Feb. 26 and election March 26.

The candidates for aldermen-at-large are Ruth A. Gallaher, associate editor of the State Historical society, and William H. Grandrath, who is employed by Means Brothers grocery.

The Democratic candidates for councilmen from the separate wards are James M. Callahan, first ward; John A. Stromsten, second ward; Charles T. Smith, third ward, and Ambrose E. Cooper, fifth ward.

Last night it was announced that Amy Dickinson Worthley, wife of the Rev. Mr. Evans A. Worthley, pastor of the First Unitarian church, would be the party's candidate for alderman from the fourth ward.

The Democratic choice for police judge is Scott Swisher of the Swisher and Swisher law firm. Milo Novy, teller at the Iowa State Bank and Trust company, will be a candidate for city treasurer.

William J. White, who has been city assessor for 20 years, was the first candidate of either party to file his intention to run with City Clerk George Dohrer.

James T. Aldous, proprietor of the Aldous Flower shop, is the candidate for park commissioner.

All candidates who wish to run in the primary Feb. 26 must file their intentions to be candidates by Jan. 26. All candidates on the Republican ticket have filed their intentions. Meade, Democratic chairman, said that his party's candidates would file within a few days.

The candidates who win a plurality of their party's vote in the primary will have their names on the ballots for the election March 26. No contests are expected in the primary.

Jacob Van der Zee, candidate for mayor, came to Iowa City as a freshman at the university in 1901 and has lived here since then with the exception of five years in Europe and at Harvard university.

He received his B. A. degree from the university in 1905. After graduation he went to Oxford university as a Rhodes scholar and earned a B. A. degree from Merton college in 1908 and a M. A. degree in 1913. He has received the degrees of bachelor of laws and doctor of jurisprudence from the University of Iowa law school.

He has been teaching in the political science department since 1915 and has been a professor since 1929.

Professor Van der Zee served on the city council for three terms, elected for one term on a non-partisan ticket and twice as a Republican.

Ruth A. Gallaher, candidate for alderman-at-large, was elected to the city council in 1925. Also a graduate of the university, she has written books and articles on Iowa, including several on municipal government and finance. She lives at 730 N. Van Buren street.

William H. Grandrath, 520 Grant street, candidate for alderman-at-large, graduated from Iowa City high school in 1926 and attended the university. He now is vice president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

James M. Callahan, candidate for alderman from the first ward, is head of the painters' department at the university hospitals. He lives at 303 E. Benton street and is active in the university hospitals employees' union, the Eagles lodge and Company C of the state guard.

John A. Stromsten, 31, candidate for alderman from the second ward, is the youngest man on the Democratic ticket. The proprietor of Stromsten's studio, he graduated from city high school and the university in 1935.

Charles T. Smith, candidate for alderman from the third ward, is a senior laboratory assistant in the state bacteriological laboratory. He lives at 906 E. Davenport street.

Ambrose E. Cooper, candidate for alderman from the fifth ward, is employed by the Iowa Geological survey. He attended the school of engineering at the university and worked for the United States Engineering district office in Omaha, Neb., doing research work on the Missouri river flood control project before coming here.

Scott Swisher, candidate for police judge, graduated from the college of law at the university and has practiced law here since his graduation.

Milo Novy, candidate for city treasurer, entered the banking business in 1919 and is now a teller at the Iowa State Bank and Trust company. He also serves as

MAN HAD BRICK IN HIS STOMACH FOR 10 YEARS

One man recently stated that for 10 years he felt like he had a brick in his stomach. This feeling was due to the lump of undigested food he always had inside of him. He was weak, worn out, headachy, swollen with gas and terribly constipated. Recently he started taking SYS-TONE and says the feeling like a brick in his stomach disappeared the second day. Bowels are regular now, gas and headaches are gone and he feels like a new man.

SYS-TONE contains 12 Great Herbs; they cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering Get SYS-TONE. Sold by all Drug Stores here in Iowa City.

Scott Swisher, candidate for police judge, graduated from the college of law at the university and has practiced law here since his graduation.

Junior Chamber of Commerce Becomes Of Age in 1933, Year After Founding

Completed because of metal shortages. That Christmas the chamber sponsored package wrapping at the post office. At a bond drive Jan. 16, 1941, approximately $90,000 worth of bonds and stamps were purchased.

Scrap drives were inaugurated in 1942 under the presidency of Howard Jacobs, Ivan Bane reported.

"We were working in the midst of a depression," he said. "The job you have now in the war effort is similar to those depression years."

Summarizing the activities of the Junior Chamber of Commerce since 1932 when the Iowa City chamber was founded, a group of past officers spoke at the Founders' day banquet last night in the Spanish room of the D and L grill.

Present president Dean Jones won the community service key award in 1943, and was chairman of the scrap drive which netted 500,000 tons of metal scrap.

In 1944 Joe Schaaf served as chairman of the Russian clothing relief drive which the junior chamber was invited to sponsor. Fifteen tons of garments and shoes were collected and baled.

Collect Paper Salvage During the summer months when the Boy Scouts were having vacation the members collected 78 tons of salvaged paper, Dor Hudson reported. As soon as the frost goes out of the ground four safety signs will be erected where highways No. 218 and No. 6 enter Iowa City.

To Award Key The community service key award will be presented at a dinner meeting at the Mayflower Inn Feb. 7, President Dean Jones announced.

Reservations for a Feb. 20 dinner dance at the Mayflower must be in by Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Eagles to Entertain At Victory Dance Saturday Night Eagles will entertain their guests at a Victory dance beginning at 9 o'clock Saturday night.

A war bond will be awarded a door prize and special entertainment will be given during the evening. The Rhythm Aces of Cedar Rapids will play.

In charge of the entertainment are Harold Donham, Edward Gruwell, Harold Woody and Cleo Fliss.

Of the 55 highest peaks in the United States, 42 are in Colorado.

Forty-three new members were added to the chamber's roll call at the conclusion of a membership drive headed by Dean Jones.

Olin Hauth, who was president in 1941, recalled that the local group helped to charter the Tipton chamber in January. In the fall a project to install school stop signs was started, but was not completed because of metal shortages.

Peterson Proposes Expanded ROTC Program in Address to Unitarian Men

"Were half the power that fills the world with terror, Were half the wealth bestowed on camps and courts Given to redeem the human mind from error, There were no need for arsenals or forts."

With this quotation from Longfellow, Prof. E. T. Peterson, acting dean of the college of education, summed up a discussion of universal military training at a dinner of the men's club of the First Unitarian church last night.

Professor Peterson believes the proposal now before congress to draft 18-year-olds for a year of military training would not adequately provide us with a well-trained specialized reserve of manpower.

The techniques and equipment of modern warfare change so rapidly that what little specialized training might be given these boys would soon be obsolete.

On the other hand, the effects on our youth of living under army discipline in peacetime would be harmful to them. Too many of the changes in attitude forced upon them by army discipline would carry over into civilian life.

"I do not think that it is possible to maintain a wholesome environment in an army camp under peacetime conditions," he declared. Any nation which forces its youth into such a situation during peacetime is doing something to the character of its youth which it will regret.

Instead of compulsory training in army camps he suggested that the R. O. T. C. program which developed after the last war be expanded in our colleges and high schools. Under such a system, the boys would acquire the benefits of military training without being separated from their homes.

With military training in the public schools, the system would be under civilian control but directed in its specialized phases by military officers. The system would be a community matter and not centralized under the federal government.

In 1939 there were more than 150,000 young men in the R. O. T. C. in 115 colleges and 82 large high schools scattered over the country. About half of this number were in high schools. In addition, 30,000 young men attended civilian military training camps in the summer.

In Iowa, Davenport and Council Bluffs had junior R. O. T. C. units in their high schools. The people of Council Bluffs almost unanimously supported their military training program. They found that it developed poise, good posture, courtesy, directness in meeting people and a sense of responsibility in their boys and that these benefits of military training carried over into their civilian life, Professor Peterson declared.

Army training under the plan now before congress would soon become in practice only generalizing military training with the emphasis on physical training. Military training in the schools could do this much better at lower cost and with none of the bad effects of living in army camps,

Red Cross Conference Meets Here

Johnson Chapter Host To 13 Iowa Counties For Special Clinics

The Johnson county Red Cross chapter was host to 205 registered guests representing 13 Iowa counties and five chapters yesterday in Iowa Union.

Registration began at 9:30 a. m. in the women's lounge of Iowa Union. Heading the four different clinics that the conference featured were eight national representatives.

The program was as follows: Dr. Andrew H. Woods, chairman of Johnson county, addressed the group and opened the program at 9:45 a. m. with a general meeting in the River room. Dr. W. J. Peterson, head of the 1945 war fund campaign drive for Johnson county, spoke to the clinics and then the groups divided into four clinic divisions.

Myles J. McNally, regional director for Iowa and Minnesota discussed "War Fund and Public Information." Other leaders heading this clinic were Robert Colton, assistant regional director, and Georgia Bowman, radio section chief. Norman Gibson, assistant national director of home service, led the home service group in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Volunteer special services were lead in discussion by Mildred M. Keys, assistant to the administrator representing volunteer services. The production group met with Mrs. Louisa Adams, assistant director of war relief production, directing this clinic. The morning session was closed and luncheon was served to the Johnson county guests in the Union.

The afternoon session was resumed at 1:30 p. m. and the four clinics met in their respective rooms for further discussion of the morning topics, war fund and public information, home service, production and volunteer special services.

Other Red Cross officers who attended were Dorothy Anderson, general field representative for eastern Iowa and Irene Bonham, administrative assistant representing chapter service.

Chairmen for the conference were Mrs. L. C. Jones, registration; Mrs. Earl Smith, war fund; Mrs. W. J. Petersen, luncheon; Mrs. J. J. Hinman Jr., public information; Mrs. C. P. Jeans, home service; Mrs. A. D. Hensleigh, volunteer services and Mrs. H. D. O. Price, program.
