Yank Forces Near Manila; Reds Close In on Frankfurt

Kustrin Also Threatened

Interpreting the War News

Berlin Reports Soviets Already Attacking From Four Directions

LONDON, Sunday, (AP)—The Red army, closing swiftly on Frankfurt and Kustrin, last Oder river strongholds 38 and 40 miles from bomb-shattered Berlin, yesterday reached the marshes bordering that last natural barrier to the axis capital, and killed or captured 17,450 trapped Germans, Moscow announced last night.

Advancing up to eight miles against fierce resistance by hurred into the flaming struggle, Soviet tanks pushed through Sonnenburg, six miles southeast of Kustrin, and also seized Reppen, 10 miles east of Frankfurt's east bank suburb of Damm.

Kustrin Attacked

Captured Sonnenburg is 47 miles east of Berlin, the closest the Russians officially have placed their troops, but the Germans said that Kustrin, 40 miles northeast of Berlin, was the scene of furious combat, with the Russians attacking the garrison from four directions and trying an effective forcing of the Oder near that town.

Soviet shock troops made one crossing of the Oder near Kustrin, but were wiped out, Berlin said. Nazi reports said the Russians were attacking Kustrin from the northwest, northeast, east and south. One new Soviet attack in the southern suburbs, presumably made by the units that took Sonnenburg, was beaten off during the day, Berlin said.

Reds Seize Vietz

North of the Warthe river the Russians seized Vietz, 11 miles northeast of Kustrin, in an eight-mile two-day advance down the highway and railway from Landsberg.

Moscow did not announce any further progress by Russian units fighting their way toward Stettin, Baltic port 70 miles northeast of Berlin. The Russians Friday were reported within 36 miles of Stettin, and a Russian German-language broadcast yesterday had placed them only 11 miles from their goal.

British Push Japs From 30-Mile Stretch Along Irrawaddy

CALCUTTA (AP)—British forces were steadily driving the Japanese yesterday from a 30-mile stretch of the Irrawaddy's north bank due west of Mandalay in preparation for a final push against Burma's historic former capital.

The last nest of resistance was cleared from Ywathitgyi, 17 miles west of the city, forward elements were nearing the outskirts of Sagaing, just across the river from Mandalay, and other forces were pushing west from Myinmu, 25 miles farther west.

Near Myinmu, where the Irrawaddy turns south, a knot of Japanese was wiped out in a bloody struggle after air raids left 150 enemy dead on the battlefield.

The battle of the Singu bridgehead 40 miles north of Mandalay raged with unabated fury. Indian troops steadily expanded their positions on the east bank, either for a slashing drive across retreat lines or an outflanking move on Mandalay itself.

Poles in Nazi Lines Desert to Americans On Italian Front

ROME (AP)—A number of impressed Polish troops from Silesia have deserted to the American lines. They learned for the first time yesterday that the Germans were being rapidly driven from the homeland by the Red army offensive.

The Poles—some of their countrymen are fighting with the British Eighth army on the Adriatic front—said they were subjected to contemptuous abuse by German non-coms and had been told only of "local attacks" on the eastern front.

Events in Europe and Asia were rushing toward a crisis this February weekend for both ends of the crumbling Nazi-Nipponese axis fellowship at a pace that utterly defied any accurate forecast of the duration of the war in either theater.

In Germany Russian columns lunging to or beyond the Oder river inner lifeline of the tottering Reich had brought Berlin virtually under siege, while across the Pacific on pivotal Luzon American troops had all but retrieved Manila and Manila bay from the weakened grip of Japanese invaders.

That these two developments, beyond the wildest flight of optimistic fancy only three weeks ago, had lopped months off the probable duration of either war could not be doubted. They formed the background for rumors from London and many other European centers that the big three of the united nations fellowship—Churchill, Roosevelt and Stalin—were again in session somewhere or converging for their victory conference.

Washington met the rumor flood with bleak official silence.

A casual glance at the battle maps left no reasonable doubt, however, that urgent as the need seemed for such another meeting only weeks or even days ago, that urgency has doubled and redoubled now. Final American, British and Russian commitments, military and political, for handling the situation in Europe that would result from a sudden Nazi complete collapse must be soon signed and sealed by highest authority if chaos is not to result.

With the American advance against Japan months ahead of schedule on Luzon, too, the question of Russia's role in that theater is ripe for big three consideration.

However, it is the Nazi crisis in Germany itself that must dominate the war news.

Whatever the scheduled agenda of the next big three meeting, it seems obvious that the actual military situation in Germany and ways and means of bringing maximum Russian and allied pressure to bear before spring thaws must take precedence.

Far Outrace Official Report

37th Division Hits Light Resistance; First Cavalry Unopposed

GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Central Luzon, Sunday (AP)—Yank columns are fast approaching Manila, far outdistancing the official reports today which put them less than 15 miles away on the north at 6 p. m. Friday.

"American big guns are close enough this (Friday) evening for Manila residents to hear them," reported Associated Press correspondent Russell Brines with the 37th division which is in a neck and neck drive with the motorized first cavalry division for the honor of being the first to enter the city.

Reach 'Outskirts' (Broadcast reports from Luzon today referred to patrols reaching the "outskirts" without specifying places.)

Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler's 37th was running into just enough harassing resistance along highway three skirting Manila bay to permit the first cavalry of Maj. Gen. Vern Mudge, driving on the east down highway five, to pull abreast.

The first virtually was unopposed in a truck, jeep and tank march.

Air observers reported no sign of enemy defenses at Manila itself but Maj. Gen. Oscar W. Griswold, commanding the 14th army corps, emphasized he would not risk sending the 37th and first cavalry into a trap but would pace their advance with that of supporting heavy guns.

Filipinos Report (However, Filipinos drifting out of Manila all told of Japanese—sailors, marines and soldiers—remaining in the city.)

De an Schedler, Associated Press war correspondent with the first cavalry spearheads, said "this flying squadron has done virtually no fighting, leaving bypassed Japanese pockets to the main columns following."

Gen. Douglas MacArthur moved his headquarters into central Luzon to be closer to the climax pined at the city where he had his headquarters when the war broke Dec. 8, 1941 (Dec. 7 United States date).

Chinese Acknowledge Loss of Suichwan

CHUNGKING (AP)—The Chinese high command acknowledged last night that the Japanese driving against air bases east of their corridor across China had reached and taken their first objective, Suichwan, half way between Hongkong and Hangkow.

The Chinese said fighting continued south of Suichwan, where bases of the United States 14th air force were destroyed and abandoned Jan. 24.

The enemy drive in that area is designed to protect Japanese rail communications from Hongkong to Manchuria and Korea. Having taken Kukong, provincial capital of Kwantung province 125 miles north of Canton, the Japanese swung eastward and stormed Chiling Jan. 30, the Chinese reported.

The Japanese drive east of their corridor threatens the southern Kiangsi town of Kansien, seat of the district administered by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's elder son, Chiang Ching-Kuo.

Nonessential Use Of Lead Curtailed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Further sales after Feb. 28 by manufacturers and distributors of costume jewelry and other non-essentials containing lead were prohibited yesterday by the war production board.

The ban, not applicable to retailers, reinforces recent WPB's checks upon the manufacture of such articles as a mean of conserving lead.

Belgium Freed of Nazis

Yank Three Miles Deeper in Germany

Alsace Salient Forced Back Five Miles By French Army

PARIS (AP)—American troops thrust three miles deeper into Germany yesterday to within a mile of a break through the permanent fortifications of the Siegfried line and pushed the last Germans off Belgian soil.

United States First army spearheads were 11 miles inside the western border of the Reich and 31 miles from the Rhine, while the French First army and its American reinforcements in Alsace liberated the city of Colmar and carved a five-mile slice off the German salient in that province.

Total penetration of the west wall's double belt of defenses would not open the way completely for the continuing First army advance, as the Germans feverishly have been throwing up temporary fortifications farther back.

During the day, however, more than 1,000 United States heavy bombers reached the heart of Germany, spreading flaming ruin on refugee-packed Berlin only 40 miles or so from the Russian forces hammering at the embattled Nazis' last eastern lines of defenses.

First army doughboys liberated Krewinkel, last German-held town in the eastern tip of Belgium, a late front dispatch reported. In clearing the Germans from the three-mile by three mile area held by the Germans east and northeast of St. Vith, the Americans seized three other towns earlier in the day.

Ohio Governor Calls For Five Day Week During Coal Shortage

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche prescribed yesterday a five-day week to rescue Ohio from its greatest fuel famine and he found cooperation across the state.

The governor suggested, in a proclamation issued from a state capitol which had heat in one office only—his own—that Monday would be the better day to close and Ohio retail merchants went along with that day generally. Some chose Wednesday and a few wondered why they should close at all because they had coal.

The holiday—affecting all normal activities except war industries and essential public institutions and facilities—will continue until April 1 unless, the governor smiled wanly, divine providence should step in with warm weather and do away with the best laid plans.

Red Cross Month' President Roosevelt yesterday designated March as "Red Cross Month" in a proclamation calling for contributions to the organization's 1945 appeal for a minimum war fund of $200,000,000.

Senator Claims Work-or-Jail Bill Sabotaged

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Johnson (D., Cal.) charged yesterday that "the war department has sabotaged the work-or-jail bill" by secretly changing its position on who should administer it.

After the senate military affairs committee voted Friday to report the bill with overall control vested in James F. Byrnes' office of war mobilization and reconversion, Johnson told reporters, representatives of the war department reversed their position and sent word they wanted to give the power to selective service, as provided in the bill which passed the house Thursday.

"The war department has sabotaged the work-or-jail bill.

"Officially and on the record they advocate that the powers under the bill be delegated to Mr. Justice Byrnes (director of war mobilization and reconversion).

"In private contacts with senators on the military affairs committee they urge that these powers be placed under selective service."

Weatherman Calls For Freezing Drizzle

Isn't that just like a man-- to be specific, the weatherman?

For two days he has predicted a freezing drizzle. His forecast folded. But he was right about expected rising temperatures. The high yesterday was 28 at 3:30 p.m., and it had dropped only one notch by 9:30. The low was 18 at 2:30 a.m.

The forecast said Sunday would be warmer. And freezing drizzle (the one that never showed up) is still in sight.

Antwerp Saved From Destruction—

Belgian Secret Army

BRUSSELS (AP)—Now it can be told that Belgium's secret army kept the Germans from destroying the all-important port of Antwerp—a military mystery hitherto unexplained to the public.

It was the secret army's 500 sabotage teams disguised as innocent bicyclists who blew up bridges, pumping stations and junctions and carpeted highways with nails and felled a mass German retreat from Belgium before the allied onslaught last summer. The man who organized the 500 teams and brought this misery on the one-time conquerors told yesterday how he did it under the nose of the Gestapo.

Here, told by "Le Pelerin," is the story of how Antwerp was saved so that it could become the great supply base for the allied offensive from the west:

Leaders to Consider Conciliation Council

Organization Believed Part of Discussions Planned by Big Three

LONDON (AP)—The victory and peace deliberations of the allied "big three" are believed here to include creation of a grand conciliation council to settle political and economic problems and prevent disagreement among the allies on European policy.

The urgency for such organization has been underlined by admitted policy disagreements between Britain and the United States on Greece and Italy and the separate views of the Soviet Union and the British and Americans on the Polish question.

Whether this organization will be called the "grand conciliation council" or by another name was not known, but its creation was considered certain in informed London quarters.

In this connection, the "big three" also are reported considering a proposal for a quarterly meeting of their foreign ministers to effect closer liaison.

The grand council would be a step toward solution of one of the major problems before the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference, the implementing of the future world security league with powers to make its mandates stick.

The meeting place of the "big three" still was one of the most guarded secrets of the war.

Iowa's War Dead

DES MOINES (AP)—At least 1,000 more Iowans have died while serving in the armed forces of this war than died in all of World War I.

The state historical war records department reported yesterday that deaths so far total approximately 4,600, compared with the final World War I figure of 3,578.

Members of ELAS Sentenced to Death For Treason, Murder

ATHENS (AP)—Three members of the ELAS, all charged with high treason and murder, were sentenced to death yesterday by a military court.

The defendants admitted membership in the OPLA, an organization within the ELAS. Defense counsel pleaded that the men merely were tools by higher-ups in the ELAS.

Thus far, out of six ELAS members tried, five have been condemned to death and one, 18, was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment.

Collegians Back—'Separate' Combinations

—For Individualism

MIX 'EM, MATCH 'EM is a bright motto for spring. A plain beige jacket like the one shown above will look smart with a dark skirt or a plaid skirt, with slacks and sportswear.

A coed becomes an individualist when she starts making her own combinations of suit jackets, skirts, slacks and blouses. Mixing and matching has again come into its own and has the loyal backing of every collegian as she dons light with dark and bright with muted.

Margot Proehl, C4 of Iowa City, finds that her smart ensemble of plain blue and red plaid is a worktime as well as a classmate favorite. The smooth collarless jacket is fitted and has two patch pockets and one small slit pocket at the left shoulder for convenience and decoration.

A crisply tailored jacket, smartly cut in men's wear herringbone tweed, is the mix 'em, match 'em selection of Marilyn Hade, J3 of Ft. Madison. Of single-breasted style, this light green jacket is designed with wide shoulders and is loosely fitted.

Basic quality stands out in the plain red wool tweed jacket belonging to Lois Price, A1 of Jefferson. Long and loose-fitting, Lois' choice is fashioned with two patch pockets. Three white buttons down the front set off the brilliant red. Sometimes worn with a matching red skirt and

University to Purchase—Painting By Ganso

From a collection of paintings by Emil Ganso, to be exhibited in Iowa Union beginning tomorrow, the university will purchase one picture, according to Prof. E. E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts. The public will be permitted to indicate a picture preference.

Ganso, whose painting "Winter Morning" has been exhibited all over the United States, was a member of the faculty of the art department here at the time of his death in the spring of 1941. Of French, German and Spanish descent, Emil Ganso arrived in New York, a penniless immigrant.

A hard worker, Ganso devoted every moment of his spare time to acquiring a technical knowledge, first of drawing, then painting and finally of etchings, woodcuts and lithographs. His interest and enthusiasm never wavered and it was largely through perseverance and determination that Ganso came to be known as a master technician among American artists.

In 1924 the young baker took a day off from the bakeshop to go to the galleries of Erhard Weyhe, a New York art dealer. Weyhe was so impressed with his unusual feeling for line, form and design that he bought several paintings.

The art dealer saw such possibilities in Ganso that he told him to quit his job, get a studio and do nothing but paint. He offered the young artist an allowance so he would have no financial worries and put him under contract, promising to take all his future paintings to sell at the gallery.

Ganso's rise to fame was rapid from that time on. There followed one-man shows, enthusiastic comwith one kick pleat in front and one in back. A white shirtwaist blouse adds the final touch.

Fashion points to the wide shoulders that taper down to a slender hipline in the suit coat of Marjorie McCann, A1 of Des Moines. White and tan one-inch stripes are woven into a large plaid against a soft sky blue background. Of extra long length, the wool jacket is designed with three patch pockets, each edged in two rows of stitching, and has two small tan buttons adorning each sleeve.

It's an intelligent coed who takes advantage of the many different ensembles which may be created when she combines that plaid jacket with a plaid skirt or a contrasting skirt with a suit coat.

Softly casual is the bright red wool flannel suit coat of Ruth Schultz, A2 of Waterloo. Ideal for classes and informal wear, this long and loose matching favorite is designed with two patch pockets which are set off by stitching around the edge and one small slit pocket. Ruth's combination choices are a blue wool skirt of pleated all-around style or a beige wool designed ments by famous art critics, a Guggenheim fellowship for travel and study abroad, first prize in important exhibitions throughout the country, an invitation to be Carnegie artist-in-residence at Lawrence college in Wisconsin and a professorship at the University of Iowa. Still a young man with further fame ahead of him, Ganso died suddenly at the age of 42.

In the last ten years of his life, Ganso made more than 50 woodcuts, 100 etchings and aquatints and 100 lithographs, in addition to a large number of paintings, water colors and innumerable drawings. He did all of his own printing in every medium in which he worked. In lithography alone this is quite an achievement since such printing, including wash and color work, is in itself a highly complicated art.

Ganso, in the face of every conceivable obstacle, worked in many mediums, turning his mind and creative energy to a wealth of subjects, always experimenting. His compositions in general consisted in still life, landscape and nudes. Perhaps his best work has been done in aquatint and lithography.

Summing up Ganso's work, Carl Zigrosser, long-time friend of the artist, said: "Emil Ganso, after untold hardship and sacrifice, had achieved his artist's desire; he had become an artist. Fundamentally he was a stylist, more concerned with how he said a thing than with what he said. There was nothing dry of academic about his work; it was always gay, sensuous and of great variety."

"He lived only for his work, not so much escape as absorbing passion. He cared little for social prestige, fame as such, political and social questions. He wanted above all to make pictures, to render concrete this ideal world in terms of ink and pigment. In this idea world beauty dwelt."

"Winter Morning," selected from the New York's world fair's exhibition for a weekly broadcast for the art appreciation series, is one of the Ganso paintings to be exhibited at Iowa Union. Two other canvases sent from the Weyhe gallery have been shown at leading exhibitions.

Dark Room Moose Claim Superior Workshop

By DALE BELLINGER Daily Iowan Staff Writer The best equipped photography workshop of any Moose order in America is the pride of local lodge No. 1096 and its photographer, Russ Putnam.

Started in 1940 by V. E. Putnam, younger brother of Russ and former instructor in the university department of visual education, the photography staff first took pictures only for the local Moose News, a monthly publication.

The younger brother is now a captain in the army, and Putnam has done the work alone for the last three years.

Putnam now serves the photography needs of the entire Moose region. States in this region in addition to Iowa are Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, and South Dakota, all under the jurisdiction of regional director, Otto Meyers of Mooseheart.

Putnam and Frank Tallman, editor of the Moose News, have just completed a special 52 page magazine showing pictures of the Mooseheart, Ill. children's home.

The picture on the cover of the February issue of the national Moose magazine was taken by Putnam at Mooseheart.

Morgue Has 700 Cuts A large filing cabinet contains approximately 700 cuts. Putnam has pictures for every state in this region. Whenever a picture is needed by any of the regional chapters, he merely looks up the cut in the "morgue."

Asked how he keeps track of so many cuts, he replied that the morgue is divided into three main parts, one containing Iowa City cuts, another for Mooseheart cuts, and the last for the cuts of the states in this region. From there the cuts are subdivided into chapters, and then to individuals within the chapters.

Putnam develops his pictures in a dark room next to his office. Equipment in the dark room includes one print tank, one developing tank, one washing tank, and two enlargers.

Has Six Cameras He has six cameras including two speedgraphics, two 35 mm. cameras, an 8 inch by 10 inch

Putnam said that he has not had trouble getting flash bulbs as yet. This is fortunate because on some jobs he uses as many as 110 of them. His volume of business is growing constantly and Putnam hopes after the war he may have larger working quarters.

The Iowa Hawkeyes rolled to their fifth conference triumph last night, 50 to 37, as they completely outplayed and outgassed a bewildered Michigan quintet before an overflow crowd of 13,000 wild-eyed fans in the Iowa fieldhouse.

The Hawkeyes, playing as they never have before this season, put on an exhibition of basketball at its best, as Ives and Co. continually stole the ball away from the confused Wolverines, faked them out of position and scored at will.

Different Team

It was evident from the start that the Hawkeyes were an entirely different team from the one that barely eked out a 29 to 27 victory over the same Michigan quintet at Ann Arbor, Jan. 19.

Ives, although he only scored seven points, put on a show of ball-handing and faking that had the fans on their feet constantly. With the time running out in the last half and Iowa leading 40 to 30, the Hawks started toying with the Wolverines. Ives and Spencer held the ball in the center of the floor for a minute as the Michigan forwards grew desperate in their attempts to snatch it away from them.

Reserves In

Then, with the Hawkeyes out in front, 48 to 33, Coach Pops Harrison sent in the reserves. The Wolverines, by this time, a badly beaten and dismayed crew, could do nothing with the aggressive Iowa shock troops. They did manage to score two baskets, but the reserves, not to be outdone, came through with one of their own when Dick Culberson tapped it in from under the basket to make the final score read, 50 to 37.

Postels started things rolling for the Hawks shortly after the opening whistle with a free throw, and Herb Wilkinson soon followed with one of his seven field goals for the evening.

Terrific Clip

With Postels and Herb Wilkinson hitting at a terrific clip, the Hawkeyes gradually piled up a big lead as the half ran out. Little Murray Wier, entering the game with just a few minutes left in the first half, put on a show of dribbling and faking that had the Wolverines completely baffled.

Wier led a last minute scoring rush by the Hawks with two quick scores, dribbling the length of the floor for one. Iowa led at the intermission period, 25 to 16.

As the second period opened, Spencer and Herb Wilkinson broke through for five quick points as the score climbed to 31 to 17. Three minutes had passed before the Wolverine forward, Bob Geahan, hit on two free throws. And then, the scoring purple broken, the Michigan five started hitting at a rapid clip, but the Hawks matched them shot for shot as the tempo of the game increased.

Stalling Game

At this point the Hawks went into their stalling game. The rest was comedy, as the Wolverines grew wild and desperate in their attempts to break up the Iowa stalemate.

Herb Wilkinson led the Hawkeye scoring attack with 16 counters, while Ives, Clay Wilkinson and Postels each hit for 7. John Mullaney led the Wolverine offensive with 13 points.

NED POSTELS, pictured above, led first half scoring drive of Iowa Hawkeyes against Michigan last night in the Iowa fieldhouse. The Mankato, Minn., junior opened the scoring for Iowa with a free throw shortly after the opening whistle and added two more baskets before the half ended. He acquired five fouls, however and left the game shortly after the second period got under way. Postels hit for seven points.

DICK IVES, shown above, paced the Iowa Hawkeyes to a 50 to 37 victory over the Michigan Wolverines last night in the Iowa fieldhouse. Ives, although he scored only seven points for the evening, was instrumental in all of the Hawks' scoring drives. His floor play was outstanding as he completely baffled the Wolverines with his dribbling and one handed passing. Ives had the crowd on its feet in the last half with his stalling antics.

Ohio State Overcomes Badgers 40-36

Des Smith Scores Winning Basket; Grate Gets 14 Points

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State university overcame a possession type of basketball and whipped the University of Wisconsin, 40 to 36, to retain its place at the top of the Western conference race.

The Badgers came down with the firm intention of keeping the ball away from the Bucks and they almost did a perfect job of it. The game was more than 10 minutes old before Ohio State got its first field goal. That bucket by Arnold Rise shot the Bucks into a 6-5 lead, however, as Wisconsin hadn't been doing any shooting either.

Nurse Lead

Ohio State nursed a lead of from one to four points throughout the remainder of the half and had a 19-17 margin at the intermission.

In the first four minutes of the ball game, only five shots were taken and only one of those was by Ohio State.

The last half was virtually a reverse of the first period, as Wisconsin went ten minutes before it finally got a field goal. That score by Des Smith made it 28 to 23 Ohio State, but the Bucks drew away to a 37-26 lead before Vince Goering rapped in three quick field goals. The last one came with two and a half minutes to go and cut Ohio State's lead to 37-33.

Trade Fouls

Eugene Matthews and Warren Ambling traded free throws and then Smith broke under the basket for a field goal to make it 38-36 with only seconds remaining.

In that time, however, Paul Huston whipped in a one-hander to clinch Ohio State's victory.

A capacity crowd of more than 3,000 watched the game although the temperature in the gymnasium was sharply reduced because of the Ohio fuel shortage.

Gophers Halt Indiana

Achieve 56-48 Upset As Hermesen, Tomczyk Lead

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Minnesota's Gophers avenged an earlier two-point loss to Indiana last night as they rapped the Hoosier basketballers, 56 to 48.

The Gophers were in front all but a few seconds of the contest. They jumped ahead by five points at the outset, allowed Indiana to lead briefly at 6 to 5 and 9 to 6, and then raced off with the decision in a manner belying their last-place standing in the Western conference.

Gophers Lead

Minnesota was ahead, 24 to 15, at the intermission, due to the shooting of Curt McCamy and Walt Rucke and the loss by Indiana of center Al Kralovansky. Kralovansky left the contest with three fouls against him 10 minutes before the end of the half, and Minnesota lost no time in romping away to a commanding lead. Indiana scored only three points in the first half after Kralovansky left the game.

Chet Tomczyk and Clarence Hermesen took over the brunt of the Gopher offensive in the second half and kept Indiana well at bay despite the efforts of Charlie Radcliffe. Radcliffe, a student at the Indiana Medical Center at Indianapolis, made another of his periodical appearances in the Hoosier lineup in the second half and scored 10 points.

High Scorer

Hermesen, lanky Gopher center, was the high scorer of the evening with eight field goals and five free tosses for a total of 21. Jim Copeland led Indiana with 12.

The victory was Minnesota's second of the conference season. It moved the Gophers into a tie with Northwestern for eighth position.

Iowa Wins

By BILL SHACKELFORD
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Led by Captain Bernie Walters with three firsts, the Iowa swimming team won its first conference meet and its second dual match of the season yesterday, defeating the Wisconsin mermen, 45-39.

Walters, in an unusual feat, took his first in three different types of events, winning the 60-yard free style, the low board fancy diving, and the 200-yard breast stroke.

The Badger squad, paced by Captain Bill Middlemas who also won three events, finished first in five out of nine races, but lacked the secondary power to win the meet.

It was just a repeat performance for Middlemas, for the Wisconsin captain placed first in the same events he won in last year's meeting with the Hawkeyes, the 100-yard free style, the 220-yard free style and the 440-yard free style.

The Badgers got off to a flying start, winning the 300-yard medley relay, but, although they also won the next event, the 220-yard free style, the Iowans narrowed the gap by taking a second and third.

Taking the lead on a first by Walters and a second by Sadewater in the 60-yard free style, the Hawkeyes increased their margin by another first for Walters in the diving.

Middlemas of Wisconsin finished first in the 100-yard free style, but Boswell countered for the Hawks with a victory in the 150-yard

Maybe So

A Few Ramblings

By BOB KRAUSE

SOME THOUGHTS on a basketball game: Iowa did a beautiful job last night of bottling up Bob Geahan, Michigan forward, and second highest scorer in the Big Ten. . . For that matter the defensive game played by the Hawks was a thing of wonder to behold. . . The Wolverine seemed to be banging his head on a hard wall. . . The famous fast break of last year seem to have been retired for a time. . . Ives and Spencer don't seem to be able to make it click. . . Quite a sight to watch little Murray Wier fake Johnny Mullaney right off his feet as the Michigan forward rolled on his tummy in confusion. . . We last year seem to have been redoubtable ball-handling exhibition, the affair had its very dull moments. . . Too much fouling. . . As usual, the multitudes screamed bloody murder—without knowing the extent or nature of the crime. . . The officials, what a beating they take, for no reason. . . Hope they don't take it out on their wives and families. . . Benny Oosterban, Michigan coach, was as cool a character as we've seen in a long time. . . Pops Harrison won, shall we say, somewhat the opposite. . . Yeah, but you won, didn't you, Pops. . . As we looked at him, fascinated, we could only think of one name. . . "Spider" Spencer is the handle. . . And he spun a neat little web last night. . . If the Wolverine had been a fly. . . Well, it's too horrible to contemplate. . .

Dick Ives can definitely take his place along side the great ballhandlers of the last ten years. . . Ives is a very different player from last year. . . It's a wonder-ful full change. . . He was the key as Iowa actually stalled for three minutes at one time. . . Well, the Hawks demonstrated how a home floor and fans will help. . . And the ink runs out right here. . .

back stroke and from there on in it was Iowa's meet.

Iowa took a first and second in the 200-yard breast stroke and a second and third in the 440-yard free style, and, although the Badgers won the last event, the 400-yard free style relay, Iowa had a large enough lead to clinch the victory.

CHINA SEA VICTORY STIRS JAPS

ALTHOUGH THEIR PLANS for action on the east and southeast coasts of China have been interrupted and upset by the great Third Fleet victories in the China sea, the Japs have again begun hacking at the Chinese-held gap (1) in the Hengyang-Canton railroad. Admiral Halsey's raids are known to have greatly disrupted communications and smashed land supplies, but the Japs are now reported again battling to expand their China coast belt. Final results of the Halsey campaign to isolate Luzon are shown here.

Club's Name—'Needle' Reversed

To go back 13 years is no easy jump and as a consequence, the organization date of the Eldean club could be forgotten, but it was in 1932 that 12 Iowa City women met in the home of Mrs. Dorothy Rankin, who then resided at 714 E. Market street, and organized a needlework and social club. The selection of a name for the new group presented no serious difficulty; they simply reversed the word "needle."

Of the 12 charter members, six still live in Iowa City and are active in the group. These include Mrs. Rankin, Mrs. W. J. Burney, Mrs. Charles Tragsel, Mrs. Frank Meacham, Mrs. C. E. Shannon and Mrs. Orpha Ohl. Since nearly all the original members had small children, the meetings necessarily included this youthful counterpart.

In the pre-war days the Eldean club members entertained their husbands several times a year at dinner parties, but these affairs have given way to annual picnics, held in the late spring. Although Eldean club membership has always been limited, there are now 16 members who meet regularly the second and fourth Thursdays of the month. Present officers are Mrs. P. W. Herrick, president, and Mrs. R. A. Fenton, secretary-treasurer.

Sergt. Donald Anciaux Expected to Recover Soon From Yellow Jaundice in Italian Hospital

Sergt. Donald J. Anciaux, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Anciaux, route No. 2, has been hospitalized in Italy since the first of December with yellow jaundice. In a recent letter to his mother he wrote that he would be released from the hospital in about two weeks. A graduate of University high school, Sergeant Anciaux has been in Italy over a year.

Iowa alumnus Capt. Clem H. Block has been awarded the Bronze Star medal for meritorious service in connection with military operations with the 5th infantry division in France. He took part in the 5th division's lightning thrust across France with Lieutenant Patton's Third army. The division advanced 700 miles in August, and shared in the capture of Metz and Verdun.

Captain Block entered the service with an R. O. T. C. commission of first lieutenant in April, 1941. He was graduated from the college of law at the University of Iowa in 1938, and practiced in Grand Rapids, Mich., before entering the army. He has been overseas for 35 months, being stationed in Iceland, Ireland and England before landing on the Normandy beach July 8, 1944.

He was cited for serving as assistant staff judge advocate and trial judge advocate of general courts martial in many important cases. "His work in either capacity has been of a high order," stated the citation, "and has been characterized by fairness, impartiality and a genuine desire to see justice done. During periods of combat he possessed a rare ability in the estimate of situations and in making intelligent reports of them."

The commanding general and the various officers of the division staff came to rely upon his insight, penetration and judgment." His wife, Mrs. Katherine L. Block and their two children live in Grand Rapids. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claus Block, live in Newark.

Maj. Joe C. Early, a former student at the University of Iowa and the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Early of Fairfield, is squadron commander of a P-47 Thunderbolt squadron based in Belgium.

On a bombing mission one day they heard a call for help from their base, engaged with "50 plus" Messerschmitt 109's. Ordering his men to drop their bombs and lose altitude slowly to gain speed, Major Early led his men into the fight and the squadron accounted for eight of the German planes with two other planes probably downed.

Major Early attended the University of Iowa until he entered the army in January, 1941. His wife lives in Coffeyville, Kan.

Participating in aerial resupply flights with troop carrier aircraft, Sergt. Sidney J. Hoganson, a graduate of the University of Iowa, dropped ammunition and other vitally needed supplies by parachute to isolated American units near Bastogne, Belgium.

As a result, the advantage the Germans had won in that section was nullified and the Americans were able to fight their way to contact with other units, thus stemming the German advance in that sector. For this mission and others of similar nature Sergeant Hoganson was recently awarded the Air medal. He has been in the European theater of operations for over 14 months.

Before his induction, Sergeant Hoganson was an advertising executive at Elgin, Ill. He graduated from the University of Iowa in 1939 and was a member of the Delta Chi fraternity. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Hoganson, live at Livermore.
