

Cavite Base, Nichols Field Falls to Yanks

MacArthur Reports Jap Losses of 68,000 in Luzon Campaign

MANILA, Wednesday (AP)—Capture of the Cavite naval base and Nichols airfield were announced today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur...

MacArthur reported enemy casualties of more than 68,000 for the five weeks of the Luzon campaign as compared with American casualties of 9,683, including 2,102 killed.

Capture of the Cavite naval base put the Yanks on the shores of Manila bay for the first time. The 11th airborne division in taking Cavite seized ten enemy seaplanes and a battery of three-inch guns intact.

Reach Manila Bay

First cavalry division units also reached Manila bay just below the embattled downtown sector as they speared through the Pasay district from the direction of captured Nielson airfield.

MacArthur said the 37th infantry division was "closing in" on the Japanese holed up in the thick-walled intramuros district, near the bay just south of the Pasig river mouth, and "the end of the enemy's trapped garrison is in sight."

Seize Abandoned Airfield

Meanwhile, north of Manila, troops of the Sixth division secured an abandoned airfield at Baler, on the east coast of Luzon. Extensive mopping up of enemy pockets in the central Luzon plain was reported, and a counterattack south of Baguio was turned back.

Corregidor fortress was kept under American bombardment. Another 150 tons of explosives fell on the island bastion in a quick follow-up to the more than 200 tons dropped the previous 48 hours in company with 700 tons on Bataan.

Bataan, Corregidor Hit

Hits were scored on four heavy gun batteries on Corregidor. Attack bombers raked southern Bataan and sank six fuel and ammunition barges.

Off Bataan peninsula, fighter planes sank six enemy barges laden with fuel and ammunition and on the peninsula poured strafing bullets into Japanese concentrations.

In air operations in the southern Philippines, Mitchell bombers destroyed or damaged four small Japanese vessels at the water-front of Zamboanga on Mindanao island and blew up a fuel tank. The Padoa airbase near Davao on the same island was cratered.

Iowa Senate Passes First School Code Revision Measure

DES MOINES (AP)—The first school code revision bill to be considered in the Iowa legislature easily cleared the senate today, although the upper chamber spent four hours disposing of amendments and debating the measure, which would set up a seven-member department of public instruction with mandatory power to appoint a superintendent.

The bill now goes to the house. The only concentrated attempt to kill the bill was made by Senator C. H. Henningsen (R., Clinton) a few minutes before the senate passed it by a vote of 44 to 4. Voting no with Henningsen were Harlan C. Foster of Mt. Pleasant, J. R. Barkley of Moulton and Fred J. Ritchie of Marcus, all Republicans. Senators Alden L. Doud of Douds and Carl C. S. Julin of Hamburg, both Republicans, did not vote.

The bill as passed provides for election of a superintendent and a deputy superintendent by the board to serve at its pleasure at annual salaries of $6,000 and $4,000 respectively.

Students Ask Debate On Flat Hat Question

Request for Meeting Follows Suspension Of Publication

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—An invitation to the board of visitors of the College of William and Mary to discuss at an open forum the question of continued publication of the Flat Hat, college weekly newspaper, without faculty supervision has been extended by the student body.

The request for the meeting followed action of the board Sunday in directing the faculty investigate circumstances regarding the publication of an editorial in the Flat Hat on race relations in the future, written by its 22-year-old undergraduate editor, Marilyn Kaemmerle, in which she suggested that Negroes be admitted to the college, "join the same clubs, pin the same classmates and marry among us."

The faculty was ordered by the board of visitors to "take such corrective and disciplinary action as may be necessary." A meeting of the college officials was held yesterday afternoon to consider the question of editorial supervision of the college publication, which has been temporarily suspended on order of Dr. John E. Pomfret, president, and also a protest against censorship lodged by the students following a mass meeting Monday.

No announcement was made early last night of what decisions the faculty had reached.

Six Husbands Oregon Woman Denies FBI Charges

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—Auburn-haired Vilma Suberly denied yesterday marrying six service men—plus a few civilians—to collect some $4,600 in service allotment checks.

Sitting in a jail cell here, the 26-year-old woman described as "all lies" FBI charges that she married—without benefit of divorce—six servicemen and two or three civilians. "I've only been married to two men," she said. "One was the man in the navy and the other was a civilian I married after the sailor and I had a fight. I got pretty drunk, I guess, and married this other man. Then we sobered up and I gave it to him straight. He finally suffocated to death in his room one night and I paid for his funeral."

St. Louis WFA Petitions to Reduce Set-Aside Orders

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Spurred by a meat shortage so acute most retail butchers had nothing to offer to the public, the St. Louis war food administration advisory committee Tuesday voted unanimously to petition the WFA for a temporary reduction of government set-aside orders.

These orders now require federally-inspected packing plants to set aside for government use from 50 to 70 per cent of all beef and pork processed.

U. S. 92nd Division Suffers Heavy Loss On Italian Front

ROME (AP)—The United States 92nd infantry division and its supporting armor suffered "relatively high" casualties and tank losses when its weekend attack in the Ligurian coastal sector of the Italian front was repulsed, 15th army group headquarters disclosed yesterday.

Official dispatches earlier had tended to discount as minor this attack of the Negro division, which was launched last Thursday. It was the 92nd's first full attack as a division.

A special report from Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark's headquarters said "No net gains in terrain were made," and the division was compelled to relinquish the hold it had secured north of the Cinquale canal and at Strettoia and fall back virtually to its original positions.

The Negro doughboys had penetrated as much as a mile on a five-mile front to within two and a half miles of Massa before the Germans recovered from surprise and drove the Americans back in four days of fighting.

British Capture Singu, Sulegon in Mandalay

KANDY, Ceylon (AP)—British 14th army troops, consolidating a bridgehead on the east bank of the Irrawaddy river 40 miles above Mandalay, have captured Singu but are meeting some opposition in the southern outskirts of that Burmese town, allied headquarters announced yesterday.

West of Mandalay in the peninsula formed by the confluence of the Irrawaddy and the Chindwin other 14th army units seized the village of Sulegon after a seven-hour battle.

Third Army Drives Hole in Siegfried Line South of Pruem

PARIS (AP)—Widening their breach in the Siegfried line between the Maas (Meuse) river and the Rhine, British and Canadian troops yesterday drove beyond Kieve, emerged from the eastern edge of the reichswald and, south of the forest, established a bridgehead over the Niers river.

Approximately 1,000 British planes slashed at Nazi forces confronting Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's troops on this northern sector of the western front.

South of Pruem More than 100 miles to the south, the United States Third army sent elements of three divisions pouring through a new break in Hitler's westwall south of Pruem, while other doughboys drove the last Germans from the soil of Luxembourg.

Canadian "water rats" in the northern sector, entered Greithausen, less than a mile from the Rhine and 300 airline miles from Berlin, in what was described as the heaviest fighting of the six-day-old British-Canadian offensive against enemy forces now swelled to seven divisions at the expense of other western front sectors.

Heaviest Fighting The day's heaviest fighting took place in the muddy terrain east of Kieve, where the Nazis battled fiercely to keep the British from pushing beyond the Siegfried line's second belt of fortifications.

South of Kieve British troops won a bridgehead over the Niers river some 2,000 yards east of the captured stronghold of Geneppe and were reported steadily enlarging it last night. An armored patrol fought into Hommersum, three miles southeast of Geneppe.

For almost the first time since Marshal Montgomery opened his powerful offensive last week, allied tactical planes were able to give the attacking troops extensive support.

41 Killed In Tornado

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS War-crowded Montgomery, Ala., with its two army air bases, wrestled last night with the problem of housing hundreds of persons made homeless by tornadic winds which whipped through two southern states and left a trail of 41 dead and approximately 200 injured.

Alabama's historic capital, with 26 fatalities, bore the brunt of the storm which struck with such force that it ripped railroad cars from their undercarriages and dumped them in a crazy pattern along the roadbeds.

Livingston, Ala., near the Mississippi border, reported seven persons killed and two missing when the tornado hit there; Meridian, Miss., counted five fatalities; York, Ala., had two and Stanton, Ala., one. Twenty-four of the dead were Negroes.

The Red Cross, center of disaster relief activity, worked into the second night of feeding and sheltering storm survivors and undertaking the difficult job of compiling casualty lists. Many of the victims, most of them Negroes, remained unidentified.

Navy Announces Loss Of Two Warships In Philippine Area

WASHINGTON (AP)—Loss of the Ommaney Bay, an escort carrier, and the Hood, a mine sweeper, by enemy action in the Philippines was announced last night by the navy.

The number of casualties was not disclosed but commanders of both ships were saved. The Ommaney Bay was the 10th United States aircraft carrier and the fifth of the "Baby Flattop" class sunk in this war. The two losses brought the total of warships sunk to 209.

Byrnes States U. S. Aim— To Prevent Russo-British Rivalry

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a dramatic first-hand account of the Crimean conference, James F. Byrnes declared last night that American participation in the affairs of Europe is designed to prevent Russian-British rivalry for spheres of influence.

Byrnes, just back from the Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin conference, gave the account to newsmen as the White House announced a bipartisan slate of American delegates chosen to attend the united nations parley at San Francisco April 25 to draft a plan for enforcing world peace.

Byrnes, war mobilization director, said another aim of American participation in world affairs, is to deter outbreaks of violence in liberated countries.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt yesterday named eight American delegates, including two Republican legislators, Cordell Hull and a woman educator, to the united nations conference on world security at San Francisco, April 25.

The delegation will be headed by Secretary of State Edward Stettinius.

Hull, former secretary of state, also will serve as senior adviser to the Americans as they sit down with representatives of other nations to draft formally the plan for a peace-enforcing agency.

A White House announcement said that besides Hull, the following have been asked to serve on the delegation:

Senator Connally (D., Tex.), chairman of the senate foreign relations committee; Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), representative of Bloom (D., N. Y.), chairman of the house foreign affairs committee; Representative Eaton (R., N. J.); navy Comdr. Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1948; and Dean Virginia Gildersleeve of Barnard college in New York.

Defense of Hungarian Capital Costs Nazis 49,000 Men Killed

LONDON (AP)—The shattered remains of Budapest fell to the Red army yesterday after 49 days of street fighting that cost the enemy 49,000 men killed and 110,000 captured in the greatest individual disaster since Stalingrad, while some 300 miles to the northwest the Russians slashed 10 miles farther westward through German Silesia toward Dresden.

Premier Stalin announced the Budapest victory in an order of the day. The regular nightly communique, reiterating the announcement, added that the First Ukrainian army of Marshal Ivan S. Konev had taken another 150 towns in Silesia, reached the Queis river at several points and driven within 70 miles of Dresden, capital of Saxony.

East of Berlin The communique was silent concerning operations on the front directly east of imperilled Berlin, where the Germans said the Russians had made gains of a mile and a quarter, but it announced five and six-mile advances in the continued cleanup of the Polish corridor some 40 miles northwest of Bydgoszcz.

Budapest's fall, with its staggering loss in manpower to the Germans and a list of captured equipment that included such items as 269 tanks, 1,257 cannon and 46 stores of food and ammunition, was credited by Premier Stalin to Marshals Rodion Y. Malinovsky and Feodor Tolbukhin of the Second and Third Ukraine armies.

The order described Budapest as "a strategically-important German defense center on the road to Vienna." It was the 17th European capital lost by the Germans to the allies.

Byrnes Support Of May Bill Remains Firm

WASHINGTON (AP)—War Mobilization Director Byrnes yesterday reiterated support of the work-or-fail manpower bill, asserting "More men will be in combat in March than ever before."

Just back from the Crimea big three conference, Byrnes told a news conference he knew "nothing that has occurred to cause me to change my view in support of the May bill."

"On the contrary more men will be in combat in March than ever before. They ought to have and use their ammunition on supplies without fear of the men behind the lines."

It reiterated its claim as the "sole legal and generally recognized government of Poland" and said it was ready to cooperate in creation of a government of Poland truly representative of the will of the Polish people."

London Polish Group Denounces Big Three Announces Intention To Ignore Decisions Of Crimea Conference

LONDON (AP)—The Polish government in London, bitterly denouncing the big three, announced last night that it was refusing to accept the decisions regarding Poland made at the Crimea conference and accused President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin of violating the Atlantic charter.

A 500-word statement from Premier Tomaz Z. Arciszewski of the London government, issued exactly 24 hours after the British foreign office had released the text of the big three Polish agreement, said the big powers' intention to create a provisional government of national unity for Poland "can only legalize Soviet interference in Polish internal affairs."

"As long as the territory of Poland will remain under the sole occupation of Soviet troops, a government of that kind will not safeguard the Polish nation, even in the presence of British and American diplomats, the unfettered right of free expression," the statement declared.

It reiterated its claim as the "sole legal and generally recognized government of Poland" and said it was ready to cooperate in creation of a government of Poland truly representative of the will of the Polish people."

Life at Santo Tomas—

By Bessie Hackett
Editors Note: The following story was written for the Associated Press by Bessie Hackett, society editor of the Manila Daily Bulletin and a graduate of Louisiana State University. Miss Hackett, who was interned for more than three years with her mother, three sisters and two brothers in the now liberated Santo Tomas camp, writes of the hundreds of American and other women who were interned.

SANTO TOMAS, Manila, Feb. 10—(Delayed)—(AP)—If you want to visualize what life has been like in the Santo Tomas camp for some 1,400 women, do these things:

Throw out all modern household conveniences, such as washing machines, refrigerators, shiny pots and pans and mechanical gadgets. Empty pantry shelves of all food.

Strip bedrooms of all soft beds and closets and all beauty aids. In other words, remove virtually everything from the home until it is nothing but a shell.

The women of Santo Tomas were allowed a space the length of their beds and about 40 inches wide in which to store all personal belongings in addition to a cot or bed. So precious was this space that many personal squabbles resulted over territorial rights.

During the early days of internment a woman was given a bar of soap, three inches by five inches in size, once a month for all laundry and toilet purposes. More recently we each received three ounces of soap every few months.

The laundry was done by all women at three long troughs—in cold water, of course. There were community clothes lines but for personal safety it was best to find one's own rope or string for a personal line.

Beauty care was constantly a problem. At first the women tried to lay in small supplies of cold cream but food and medicines soon became much more important. Some women found a fair substitute for cold cream in a concoction of vegetable lard, lime juice and a few drops of perfume. This was in 1942. Two years later was the calling for tank support, and his men went into action again, killing eight more Germans before the rest fled.

So one day, Maj. Gen. Alexander Bolling, division commander, probably will be pinning Silver Stars on Tech. Sgt. Paul B. Rupp, Bernville, Pa.; Pfc. Roger M. Lopez, route 5, San Antonio, Tex.; Sgt. Hugh J. Lester, route 2, Sallina, Okla.; Sgt. Okey E. Cross, route 2, Tippecanoe, Ohio; Pfc. Joseph E. Boyak, Toledo, Ohio; Pfc. Stanley N. Brown, route 2, Englishtown, N. J., and T/5 Marjona Acxuilera, San Bernardino, Calif.

What would you do if the Germans were counterattacking and your machinegun jammed? This is what Pfc. Laren E. Smith of Aradeptha, Pa., did:

Smith ducked down, took his machinegun apart, made a few adjustments, changed from ball to tracer ammunition, then calmly took aim and squeezed the triggers. His gun started spitting red tracers into the attacking Germans.

The next morning Smith's buddies counted 80 enemy dead in front of Smith's foxhole.

His company command post was a little Belgian town, so naturally Sgt. James J. Catena, Martins Ferry, Ohio, was a little surprised when he found a German soldier splitting blocks at a woodpile in the back yard.

The startled Catena halted in his tracks, but the German put down the axe and came forward with his hands on his head. Catena turned his prisoner over to military police, but he still scratches his head whenever anyone asks: "Why do you suppose that Kraut was working on the woodpile?"

Undaunted, the infantrymen slogged on through Trinal, fighting house by house, until they broke through on the other side of town with 120 prisoners, and a number of enemy dead behind them.

They had intended to stop for rest, but a terrific barrage changed that, and with support from another platoon, they moved on to Beffe.

On the way Darrigo and his men ran into a full section of four German mortars. Assigning six men to nullify the position, the rest hopped up and waited. The patrol worked its way to only a few feet from the mortars, then jumped up and opened fire. Taken by surprise, the whole German battery surrendered. The next job was to overrun a German 75-millimeter gun and crew, which Darrigo did with nine men.

Next morning they moved into Beffe and the exhausted men had just set up headquarters when someone shouted "Krauts!"

Lieutenant Darrigo rushed out the door with a broom in his hand,

Lois Grissel, G of Cedar Rapids—

SUI Student a Prospective Archaeologist

By JOHNNY JOHNSTON
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

No beard, no horn-rimmed glasses, no furrowed brow—yet a prospective archaeologist all the same. Lois Grissel, G of Cedar Rapids, defies the conventional conception of one in that field. Tall, dark and attractive would be a better description of the 22-year-old student who is working in archaeology for her master's degree at the university. Since Iowa has no department of archaeology, she has been "adopted" by the history department.

Lois spends three days a week at Cornell college in Mount Vernon working as a research assistant to Dr. Charles R. Keyes, state archaeologist and a visiting professor on the University of Iowa faculty. Because Dr. Keyes has this association with the university, Lois will receive credit for the work on her master's degree, which she expects to receive in July.

"Ever since junior high days I have been interested in anthropology as a general field and archaeology more specifically. I have been particularly fascinated by American anthropology, by American Indians, living or dead. When I was a child, I had a small collection of arrowheads which I picked up when my father took me along on picnics. He would tell me many a story about the early days when Indians lived where Cedar Rapids now stands—stories he had heard from old settlers. I read a great many books along this line. My imagination and curiosity were stirred and I decided to be an archaeologist—in the childish way that little girls want to be nurses or school teachers," she recalls.

Nobody took her seriously at this point on "what I want to be when I grow up," for women archaeologists are indeed a rarity. At the onset of her college career, Lois was a music major specializing in piano. In her sophomore year she studied physical anthropology under Prof. Helen L. Dawson of the college of medicine. The next summer she attended summer school at the University of New Mexico where she had two courses in ethnology, the origin, distribution, relation and peculiarities of races. After that summer she decided to study something more akin to archaeology than music. She took 12 hours of geology and made romance languages her major.

"The connection between archaeology and languages is a little foggy to most people, but a great deal of archaeological writing is in French and Spanish," she explained, "Not only that, but I probably harbored dreams of going to Central America or some other foreign country to make excavations."

Cataloging, classifying and analyzing some 125,000 specimens of prehistoric Indian relics from the state of Iowa is the task Lois is assisting Dr. Keyes with now. These relics form a collection belonging to the state and in charge of Dr. Keyes. Included are stone axes, flint projectile points, celts (unground hatchets) and pottery, the latter of which is especially emphasized because of its diagnostic qualities. Dr. Keyes is conducting the work preparatory to the preparation of manuscripts on prehistoric Indian cultures in the state.

For her thesis project, Lois is excavating on an Indian village site near Cedar Rapids. Her paper will be an analysis of the materials she finds in relation to the rest of the Woodland culture in Iowa. Woodland, she elaborated, is one of the prehistoric Indian culture patterns in Iowa. This summer, Dr. Keyes and Lois are hoping to get a group together to excavate at Palisades State Park, and this material may be included in her thesis.

"Part of the week I spend here at the university," Lois asserted. "I am taking four hours of special work in geology under Prof. Arthur Trowbridge, head of the department. I'm learning the principal rock strata in the state and where large flint deposits are in order to trace the places prehistoric Indians went for their materials. I'm also studying the identification of different types of rocks used for axes and other types of Indian artifacts."

The ultimate goal in Lois' mind is to teach anthropology in some college.

"People usually think of archaeology as pertaining to the pyramids of Egypt or the glories of ancient Greece and Rome. If they think of American archaeology at all, they think of the Aztec civilization, or digging for gold in the country of the Incas. This digging for buried treasure idea is a most common fallacy. That's not it at all," she protested. "Archaeology is digging to find out what the pattern of life was in a past age."

"And people generally think of archaeological remains being in far-off countries," she continued, "when in reality you cannot draw a 50-mile circle on a map of the United States without covering ground which contains such remains."

She went on to say, "Another mistake people tend to make is speaking of the Indians as the vanishing Redmen. This is a myth. Indians are not dying out; they are multiplying."

Despite her unique choice of field, Lois definitely does not "live in the past." To the fellows she's a smooth number, to the girls a good egg and to professors an outstanding student. Add to this, a mean boogie-woogie artist and you have an all-around girl.

Why the Heart on Valentine's Day?

By LYNN JOHNSON
Daily Iowan Feature Editor

It's red . . . it's three-cornered . . . it's lovely . . . and it needs no cold cream to convince the guys and gals at SUI. In case your imagination is latent, it refers to the heart, which is a broadminded synonym for Valentine's day, which, in turn, is quite regularly celebrated on Feb. 14.

"That three-cornered exponent of all our hopes and fears has been the object of much conjecture. Why did someone choose the heart? Couldn't it just as easily have been the hungry stomach, the musing brain, or the wandering eye? But then again, it's hard to visualize a college bean brummel whispering to the sweet coed, "Darling . . . my liver is yours . . . do with it what you will!"

In Chaucer's and Shakespeare's time, Valentine's day was the day birds first chose their mates. Ascending the vertebrate ladder in a chronological manner, we arrive at today's connotation: A 24-hour period essentially set aside for lovers.

It must be love; some stores are selling valentines for $5.00. The verses run something like this: For you I keep a special place Deep down within my heart. Of you, my dearest one, I dream Whenever we're apart. With you, my life is richer far Than any words can say. To you, I send this valentine With all my love today!

When Santa Claus patted on the vanishing cream, Dan Cupid took over in the store windows. Class number one, and by far the most popular: Red hearts, frothy, white lace, silver arrows, pink roses, satin ribbons, blue love birds, sentimental verses . . . and tomorrow's lunch money exchanged for the esthetic.

Class number two is easily termed "family," which includes a folded paper, the front of which depicts either a necktie, a pipe, or a cocker spaniel with drooping ears. This is for dad, of course, with plenty of room beneath the title verse . . .

To the sweetest valentine . . . my dad . . . Same old heart . . . Same old line . . . You're still my favorite valentine! for you to affix: "Lots of love, Ginny. Valentines certainly are expensive this year!"

Mother too receives a daintily colored paper, telling her in a whimsical way, complete with dressed-up kittens or flowery phrases, that she's been dear to you for years, and you're finally beginning to appreciate her goodness.

Brother, grandfather, uncles, aunts . . . each has his bit of paper, paint, and clever comment, all chosen with much pondering and slight trepidity.

We have finally worked our way down to the caustic verbiage known as the comic valentine, a far cry from lovers' knots and perfumed posies. Ask any mother-in-law, or read the pamphlet cir-

Opinion on and off the Campus—

How Many Post-War Dreams Will Come True?

J. A. Parden, real estate broker of Iowa City: "I am very optimistic about the future. The dream that will soon become a reality here in Iowa City will be building. There will probably be many opportunities in the field of selling, because there will be practically unlimited quantities of items to be sold."

Norma Jean Johnson, A1 of Anamosa: "I think that an improved automobile will be most likely to become a post-war reality."

Joyce Kearsing, A2 of Spring Valley, N. Y.: "One post-war dream that I am afraid will come true is another war. We should worry about finishing this war before we do much dreaming about post-war."

William L. Johnston, L3 of Iowa City: "There will probably be improvements in housing and architecture. Prefabricated houses will probably become popular. Even with prefabricated houses, it will take years to provide all the needed houses."

H. E. Moore, restaurant operator: "I think that television will be realized, maybe not immediately, but within five years. I don't expect vast changes in automobiles."

Lloyd Rogler, high school senior: "I think that transportation will be very much improved. We will probably have more popular air travel, although most people are expecting it too soon."

Walter Hart, A3 of Iowa City: "One thing that I hope will come true is that Germany will be dealt with so that she will never again be able to mass such strength as she did for this year."

Doris Jackson, A2 of Cedar Rapids: "I don't see how many could come true. We're all moving under a nervous strain and after the war, when things are seen in a different light, our values will be changed."

Fran Allen, A2 of Cedar Rapids: "I think eventually the more important and essential plans will materialize. It will be a long, drawn-out process."

Mary Beatty, A4 of Atkins: "The dream of extensive air travel is sure to come true after the war. Transcontinental air travel will be made available to more and more people, but I don't think it will be fully developed until quite a few years after the war. I think very modern ways of railway travel will be put into use before post-war housing plans get a sure start."

Barbara Wright, A4 of West Union: "I feel that many of our post-war dreams will come true. We Americans are constantly thinking and planning for further development of our resources and abilities. Many wonderful dreams are being visualized for improving our material comforts as well as satisfying our ever increasing demands for new luxuries. Some of these are already taking shape, and when we again have access to our supplies, and America is on the road to future development, our dreams will see reality."

Dorothy Metzger, 722 Kirkwood avenue: "After the war one of the first dreams to be realized will be a supply of streamlined cars. There will be a great demand for them, because people have waited for so long and the second-hand cars won't be in good condition."

Joyce Kehn, A1 of Maquoketa: "The only post-war dreams that can possibly come true are those for which people are willing to give something as well as take; to sacrifice, cooperate, and to contribute. When people are willing to do this, we will be able to attain higher goals than any reached before."

Bob Bartlett, A1 of Moline, Ill.: "The things that will come to us after the war are the ones that people really work for, not just dream about."

Shirley Trowbridge, A1 of Cedar Rapids: "I believe there will be more extensive air travel among the American people as well as among foreign nations after the war. Distances will be lessened and speed will become essential. Perhaps post-war homes will actually be as marvelous as they're predicted to be."

Victorious Hawks Return Home After Successful Road Games

Ives Back In Form

Iowa Ace Counts 26 in Two Contests; Harrison Looks Ahead

The victorious Iowa Hawkeyes came back to their home grounds last night after a very successful road trip on which they knocked off Indiana Saturday night, 45 to 40 and Purdue, Monday night, 48 to 43.

And this afternoon, the Hawks will get back into the swing of things with a long practice session scheduled to prepare them for the Wisconsin series of next week. The Badgers come to Iowa City, Monday, Feb. 19, and the Hawkeyes return the compliment the following Saturday, Feb. 24.

The Old Golders, now in a first place tie for the conference lead with Ohio State, hold a record of seven wins and one loss for league games played. And this weekend, the Buckeyes meet the Illini in what will, without a doubt, give many ideas on the outcome of the conference race. If Illinois can knock off Ohio State, the Hawks stand a good chance of moving into undisputed first place.

Accurate free-throwing paid big profits in the Indiana and Purdue games. Against the Hoosiers, Iowa was tied in field goals but hit for 13 out of 19 free throws, while Purdue scored 19 to Iowa's 18 for the field but the Hawkeyes dropped in 12 of 18 free throws. Rallies within the last seven minutes won the games in both cases.

Harrison Pleased

Coach Pops Harrison was especially pleased with the return to form of Dick Ives, the 1944 conference scoring champion. He hit for 26 points and his total boosted him back into first place among Iowans for the season by a margin of three points over Clayton Wilkinson. Ives has 166 and Clay 163, while Herb Wilkinson is in third place with 130 and Ned Postels is fourth with 96. For conference games only, Clay leads with 90 for sixth in the league. Ives has 77 for 13th and Herbert 75 for 15th.

Plenty of Stamina

The Hawks showed their stamina in beating Purdue and Indiana by playing the Boiler-maker game without one substitute seeing action. This fact is all the more remarkable since the game was the second of a hard road schedule.

The Purdue victory was the first defeat that the Boiler-makers have suffered on their home floor all season and gave them a season's record of six won and five lost. They have one game left with Wisconsin this Saturday night to complete their conference schedule.

The Badgers, the Boiler-makers' opponent Saturday and the Hawks' Monday, have won three while losing five. Coach Harrison is taking no chances on an upset and plans a stiff defense for the Wisconsin series. Even though the Hawkeyes' offensive power has taken on a more balanced medium, Harrison indicated that the Iowans would spend considerable time during the week in an effort to speed it up.

Maintain Scoring Pace

If Ives can maintain his scoring pace, and the rest of the quintet can keep adding that extra punch, the Hawkeyes will spell plenty of trouble for the Badgers next Monday night.

Iowa Track Team to Play—

Host in Triangular Meet Saturday

By JERRY BLOOM Daily Iowan Sports Writer

The Iowa Hawkeye track team will play host to Northwestern and Chicago at a triangular meet in the Iowa fieldhouse Saturday night at 8 o'clock. A total of 45 athletes have been entered by the three schools for the 11-event program.

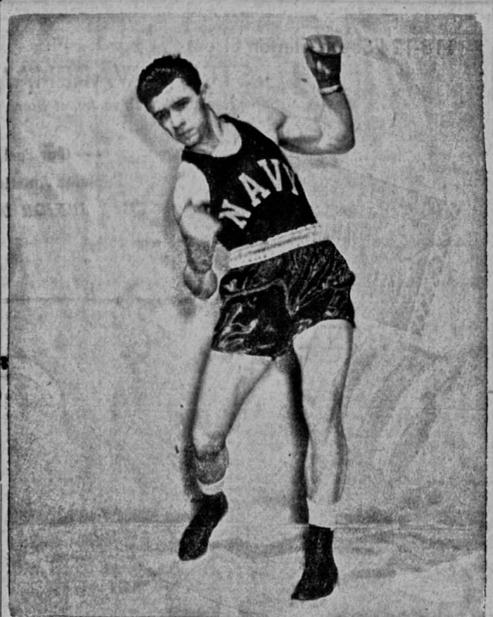

First Home Event

The competition Saturday will be the first home event for the Iowa track team since 1943 and the opening of the 1945 indoor track season. However, both Northwestern and Chicago have had previous meets this winter, the Wildcats having participated in a triangular and quadrangular contest, while the Maroons have met Wayne university in a dual meet in their intercollegiate competition after a one year lapse.

Slater Leads Field

The Iowa track and field team will be led by Captain Al Slater, junior from Ft. Madison, who specializes in the mile and two-mile runs. Another returning veteran is John Hunter, quarter-miler of the 1944 Hawkeyes.

Although the Iowans have had no intercollegiate competition this year, several of the newcomers have shown a good deal of promise. Ike Johnson, high school broad

Cadets Meet Bunker Hill—

Boxing Season Opens

The Seahawk boxers enter the ring for the first time Friday night to meet the ringmen from the Bunker Hill NAS. The match will be at Iowa fieldhouse at 7:30.

Six matches have been scheduled for the season but Lieut. Dominick Napolitano is trying to add two more engagements to fill out an eight-meet card.

Schedule

The schedule as it stands now is: Feb. 16, Bunker Hill; Feb. 23, Seahawks at Wisconsin; March 2, Seahawks at Bunker Hill; March 9, Minneapolis NAS at Seahawks; March 16, Wisconsin at Seahawks; March 20, Seahawks at Minneapolis NAS.

The matches start at the 127-pound division because of cadet regulations and go on up through the heavyweight. Lightest competitor for the navy team Friday will be Wayne Gillette. The 127-pound fighter was formerly a student at Southwest Texas Teachers college and hails from San Marcos, Tex.

Hawklets Slay In League Race

Clinton's River Kings continued to cling to sole possession of the top spot in the Mississippi Valley conference standings this week, as a result of their slim 28-27 victory over the Dubuque Rams Friday night.

The loss by Dubuque, and Iowa City's victory over Franklin gave the Little Hawks undisputed hold on the second place position, while the Rams dropped to a third place tie with Davenport in the standings.

Both City high and Clinton meet teams ranking at the bottom of the conference this weekend. Clinton will meet last place Franklin, which the Hawklets barely nosed out last week 34-29.

Iowa City will clash with Roosevelt, a Cedar Rapids quintet ranking one place above Franklin in seventh spot.

Team W L Pct. Clinton 7 2 .777 Iowa City 6 2 .750 Dubuque 5 3 .625 Davenport 5 3 .625 Wilson 4 3 .571 McKinley 4 5 .444 Roosevelt 1 7 .125 Franklin 1 8 .111

Third behind Geahan with 101 points in 11 games is Purdue's Myrwin Anderson, another Boiler-maker, center Paul Hoffman, and Al Kralovansky, Indiana center, are tied for fourth at 93. Another deadlock exists for sixth spot between Clarence Hermens of Minnesota and Clay Wilkinson of Iowa at 90. Rounding out the top 10 point-makers are Des Smith of Wisconsin with 85 and Jim Copeland of Indiana with 85.

Illinois—Top Offensive Team Illinois' scoring burst against Indiana enabled the Illini to displace the Hoosiers as the top offensive team with a 52.5 average. Defensively, Ohio State moved into a first-place tie with Iowa. The conference pace-setters each have yielded 308 points for a 38.5 average.

Race Ends Although Purdue leads in total points with 515 and has two players among the first ten, the Boiler-makers have played 11 games and wind-up their conference schedule at Wisconsin Saturday night. Michigan also closes this weekend, playing its 12th game against Northwestern, which presages a sharp drop for second-place Geahan in the individual standings by the time all precincts are reported. The race proper ends March 3.

Ohio State's 1945 wrestling team boasts a heavyweight named George (Dreadnaught) Bollas. He weighs 345 pounds. Opposite extreme is Dick Payne, who at 106, competes in the 121-pound class.

Iowa's Hawkeyes have a record of 40 victories and 11 defeats in basketball at the fieldhouse since the 1940-41 season.

Other outstanding Wildcats are Bill Madden, second in the National Collegiate 100-yard dash and fourth in the 220-yard dash, and John Kroeger, fourth in the Big Ten indoor shotput event last season.

Chicago university's leading trackmen are expected to be Al Friedman, two-miler; John Bokman, half-miler; Wallace Tourtellotte, sprinter and broad jumper, and Paul Russell, hurdler and high jumper.

The eleven events to be included in Saturday's program are the 60-yard dash, 70-yard high and low hurdles, quarter-mile, half-mile, mile and two-mile runs, high jump, broad jump, pole vault and shot put.

Experienced Runners The Hawkeyes will be up against several experienced runners from both schools. Among the North-

Hawklets Clash With Roosevelt Friday Evening

Now ranking in second place in the Mississippi Valley conference behind the league leading Clinton River Kings, City high's Little Hawks will attempt to score their second straight victory over a Cedar Rapids team Friday night when they clash with Roosevelt on the local court.

In the freshman-sophomore tilt preceding the varsity game, the City highers will meet Tiffin's varsity team.

Sehr Returns

Reporting back to practice this week, the Hawklet's valuable pivot man, Don Sehr, has been working out every night with the squad but will not be at full strength for the Roosevelt contest.

Coach Wally Schwank said it was very unlikely that Sehr would start, but he is pretty sure to break in for a short time at least.

High Scorers

High scoring Bob Freeman and Jimmy Van Deussen of the Little Hawks now rank second and fourth respectively in the Mississippi Valley individual scoring race. Freeman has paced the Red and White attack all season, while Van Deussen has started clicking very effectively since the second half of play began.

Ranking sixth among the individual scorers is Roosevelt's hot spot, a center by the name of Petzelka, who has led the Roosevelt basketekers in the games this season. Another man to watch on the Roosevelt squad will be Martin, star of the football team, who now plays guard for the Cedar Rapids quintet.

Could it be that Slip was just playing cagey by denying the story? Did someone get hold of it at the wrong time and spring it before it was ripe, so to speak? Don't worry we aren't trying to say that Slip will be coaching Detroit next fall. Very possibly he won't. And yet, those who make a business of signing football coaches always try to pick just the opportune moment to announce the new choice. We're merely wondering. No offense meant.

The fact that Madigan has apparently been approached by the pro owners satisfies our own ego on one point. Last fall we heard some disparaging remarks as to his ability as a coach. We always said that it wasn't Slip's coaching that caused Iowa's poor records in the past two years.

This All-America group is going in for things in a big way and they are certainly not going after second class coaches. In the past years there have been other times when new leagues tried to buck up against the supremacy of the National circuit. These attempts have died quick and financially horrible deaths.

These efforts were largely squashed because the customers stayed home by the thousands—or else just went to National league games. Evidently the All-America bunch is going to be made of sterner stuff. They have plenty of that green stuff behind them and they are out after the top notch material.

Well, it will be interesting to see if Slip does enter the pro ranks. Until then, to quote somebody, Madigan, Madigan, wherefore art thou Madigan?

With the Big Ten wrestling tournament coming up this Saturday, Coach Mike Howard's four entries are working out with increased vigor in a finale effort to make the weights and eliminate offensive and defensive flaws.

The men selected by Howard to make the trip to Evanston are: Rometo Macias, Davenport; Virgil Counsell, Osage; Gene Jeys, Ft. Dodge; and Jim Woltz, Burt.

Macias has been entered in the 128 and 136-pound classes, but Howard plans for him to compete at 128. Although he wrestled in the 136-pound bracket in the Wisconsin meet earlier this season, Macias won the championship at 128 in last year's Big Ten meet and seems likely to successfully defend his crown this year.

The other men are all freshmeats in the two dual meets on the Hawkeye schedule, and Jeys won one match and lost another very close one.

Howard regarded the rest of the squad as too inexperienced to compete against the veterans who will be present at the conference meeting. With the skeleton squad he is taking to Evanston, he hopes to take a third or fourth place for Iowa.

Maybe So

By BOB KRAUSE Daily Iowan Sports Editor

IN ANOTHER ONE of those Chicago stories Slip Madigan is in the news again. It has to do with this new professional league—the All-America conference—which is being organized for anybody's pleasure on post-war Sunday afternoons. It seems that the dough boys have been dangling the rich bait in front of Slip and other big name coaches. These owners want "names" to tutor their "alma mater" teams.

You probably know that Paul Brown has forsaken character-building for lucre by going from Ohio State to the Cleveland entry of the new league. In addition to Brown Buck Shaw, formerly of Santa Clara, and the Seahawks' own Jack Meagher have signed contracts. Meagher will be affiliated with Miami club of the All-America loop.

It is becoming rather obvious that the new league, which is typified by such backers as "Bell" Ameche, is entering into serious competition with the already well-established National league for the buck-twenty of the post-war fan.

In addition to Madigan the magnates have been passing mash notes to such notables as Cecil Isbell, Bernie Bierman, Lou Little, Bo McMillin, Frank Leahy and Fritz Crisler.

The mystery surrounding the future gridiron plans of Madigan is intriguing, to say the least. Slip was first linked to a position at the University of Detroit. He denied any knowledge of it. Now Detroit has returned to the ranks with five contests already arranged for next fall after being inactive for a time.

Coach Davis Predicts— Good Diamond Nine

By BETTYE NEAL Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Prospects for a successful 1945 Hawkeye baseball season are very encouraging, according to Coach "Waddy" Davis, who said last week that, of the 35 men who have reported for practice, there are better players, and more of them, than in last year's squad.

"Although none of them have had much college experience, they are a fine bunch, and the outlook is anything but discouraging," he said.

"Of course, we can't tell yet how the team is going to look until we get outside to practice, and because of the uncertainty of the military status of some of the men," he added, "but quality counts more than quantity, and we certainly have the quality."

Freshmen in this year's squad will play an important part in the team's success, for most of them who are out for their first year in college baseball show an unusual amount of ability. Among the new men the most promising, Davis said, are Robert Schultz, Davenport; Paul Fagerlind, Waterloo; Gene Hoffmann, LaMotte; Jack Wisniewski, Van Meter; James Rice, Cedar Rapids; William Ochs, Garwin; Jerry Walsler, Cedar Rapids; Henry Quinn, Davenport; Leo Cabelka, Cedar Rapids; Paul Greive, Tacoma, Wash., and George Knack, Ft. Dodge.

Five veteran pitchers have returned to the Hawkeye squad, and nine other men are slated for practice on the mound. Max Smith, Rake, is a veteran of the 1943 team, and should be one of the ace hurlers. Returning from last season's pitching staff are Wilmer Hokanson, Des Moines; Jack Spencer, Davenport; Dick Ives, Davenport, and Allen McCord, Davenport.

New pitchers for the Hawkeye nine are Don Calvert, Muscatine; Tom Doran, Beaver; Rus McLaughlin, Audubon; Carl Messner, Middle Amana; Don Trump, Iowa City; Gene Hoffman, George Knack, Paul Fagerlind and Jack Wisniewski.

Although the pitching post is well staffed with experienced players, the eight other positions have been hit hard by wartime needs. Only two veterans have returned, Bill Anderson, West Branch, and Jim Dunfrund, Strawberry Point, last season's first and third basemen, respectively.

Reviewing last year's record of three wins against four losses in conference games, Davis injected another bright note into the baseball picture.

"Surprisingly, there were more good teams last year than for some time," he said, "but we expect competition to level off more, because of the fact that the older and more experienced athletes should have finished their specialized training by now."

The Hawkeye nine will meet four opponents this spring, playing eight conference games. The schedule is as follows:

April 6-7, Wisconsin here
April 13-14, Illinois there
April 20-21, Northwestern here
April 27-28, Minnesota there

Seahawks Seek Eighth Straight Victory In Irish Game

Probable Starting Lineups

Seahawks Pos. Notre Dame
Baggott F Dee
Weaver F Ratterman
Holland C Boryla
Pugsley G Gilhooly
Klein G Hassett

Facing their stiffest test of the season the Iowa Seahawks will oppose Notre Dame, one of the top teams in the nation, at South Bend this evening. Keyed to their highest pitch of the season the navy team left Iowa City yesterday spoiling for a victory over the Irish who defeated them in a thrilling game here earlier in the season. The cadets will be seeking their eighth straight victory and their 16th win in 19 games.

Although defeated by De Paul, 56-52, Notre Dame has improved steadily until now the Irish are considered one of the top fives in the country. Since their first meeting with the pre-flighters, Notre Dame has gone on to whip Marquette, Great Lakes, Kentucky, Northwestern, and New York university to bring their record to 12 triumphs against four losses.

Vince Boryla, and Billy Hassett have been the spark plugs of the Irish five all season. Hassett, the Georgetown ace, with his brilliant floor play and defensive play, and Boryla with his rebound grabbing and point making, have spurred the Irish on to many a victory this year.

However, with Joe Holland, leading scorer with 208 points; Charles Pugsley, the cadet ace guard, and Wayne Weaver, who hit his stride against Missouri Saturday, all departing on leave after this game, the Seahawks will be "up" for this contest.

There is still some question about the condition of Weaver's ankle, and it is not known whether he will be able to see service against the Irish. Weaver sprained his ankle against the Tigers Saturday night when he scored 12 points. The ankle was unable to be wrapped because his skin is allergic to tape, so the cadet five may be handicapped by the loss of the star forward for this important encounter.

With T. S. Ary already graduated to primary training, the Seahawks will present a revised attack over that which yielded to the Irish in the first meeting. The present five revolves around Holland on the post, which probably will produce a scoring dual between the cadet center and Vince Boryla, Notre Dame's big point maker.

It was Boryla, whose 10 baskets and five free won the first dual with the navy five. To date he has scored 244 points and rapidly is approaching the all-time Notre Dame individual scoring record of 293 points compiled by Leo Klier.

Alumni Association Lists Candidates

Walter L. Stewart of Des Moines, the present incumbent, and Dr. John K. von Lackum of Cedar Rapids, yesterday announced as candidates for the 1945-46 presidency of the University of Iowa alumni association.

They head a slate of 30 candidates for 15 offices, with election by mail ballot scheduled for March and April. Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, executive secretary of the association, said.

President Stewart, one of Iowa's nine-letter athletes and member of the Hawkeye board in control of athletics, received his degrees at the university in 1910 and 1912. Dr. von Lackum, was awarded degrees in 1918 and 1920.

The four candidates for the vice-presidential posts are Dr. Sumner B. Chase, Ft. Dodge; Lawrence L. Brierly, Newton; Edward P. Douhoue, New Hampton and Walker D. Hanna, Burlington.

Candidates for regional directorships, three to be elected are: H. Claude Horack, Durham, N. C.; Karl D. Loos, Washington, D. C.; Jay H. Evans, Omaha, Neb.; Robert W. Hayes, Minneapolis, Minn.; Herman J. Garretson, Los Angeles and Harry H. Schulte, Pasadena.

Four Iowa district directors will be picked from Martin M. Cooney, West Union; V. Craven Shuttleworth, Cedar Rapids; Ruth F. Hollingshead, Albia; Edward L. Simmons, Centerville; Harlan W. Barnes, Eagle Grove; J. Franklin Jaqua, Humboldt; Donald J. Mullan, Odebolt and Byron L. Sifford, Sioux City.

Victory Garden Projects Will Be Operated This Year

Victory garden projects under the office of civilian defense will be continued in Iowa City this summer, it was announced yesterday. Prof. C. E. Cousins of the romance languages department will be in charge of the projects for the third consecutive year.

The three garden projects will be operated as neighborhood projects with one of the successful gardeners who has had a lot in the project before in charge. Professor Cousins stated that projects would be continued this year and in subsequent years only if there is sufficient neighborhood interest.

The present report on the three divisions is as follows:
Project one: E. Washington street—R. Nelson Miller, 14 S. Lucas street, will be in charge of this project of 20 lots which contain approximately 2,500 square feet. The cost per lot is $3.25, all of which are rented, disked and plowed. In this project there is a large section between two rows of trees which can be rented for the cost of plowing if the produce is shared with the owner.

Project two: Riverside drive—This project contains 37 lots, 60 by 75 feet minimum size. The rent is $2.25 disked. Plowing is not necessary on this land, and because of the possibility of floods crops should not be planted before June 1. The ground, which is especially suitable for carrots and other crops, is worked easiest after a rain. Twenty of these lots are already rented. Professor Cousins, Prof. Edward Chittenden of the mathematics department, Prof. John Eldridge of the physics department and the Rev. Evans Worthley are members of the supervision committee for this project.

Project three: Ferson avenue—Five of the nine lots have been rented for $7, plowed and disked. Prof. John Briggs of the political science department will direct this project if all lots are rented.

To insure promptness in plowing and staking, payments for all lots must be made to the neighborhood director by Feb. 22.

Bulletins of interest to gardeners will be distributed to those who send their name and address to Professor Cousins, 1030 E. College street, or who telephone 6154.

The spraying program will be discontinued this year. A west-side committee may be established for west-side residents who are interested in having the tree spraying continued. If residents of other parts of the city are interested in setting up such a committee, they should have a committee meet with Professor Cousins.

Lieut. Henry Pelzer Killed in Action Feb. 4 in Belgium

Lieut. Henry L. Pelzer, 22, son of Prof. and Mrs. Louis Pelzer, 127 Ferson avenue, was killed in action Jan. 4 in Belgium, according to a telegram received by his parents yesterday. He was reported missing in action Jan. 5.

Lieutenant Pelzer was serving in an armored division with General Patton's army and was slightly wounded once.

He was born Nov. 11, 1922, and was graduated from University high school and the University of Iowa, where he received his B. A. degree in absentia in December, 1943. While at the university he was a member of Delta Upsilon, social fraternity, a member of Pershing Rifles, the Cadet Officer's club and the university orchestra.

Lieutenant Pelzer entered the service in 1943 and received his commission at Ft. Knox, Ky., in December of that year.

His brother, Lieut. (j. g.) Parker Pelzer, was lost on a plane flight while ferrying a bomber from the naval ferry command in northern California. The plane which he flew has never been found.

RETURNING VETERANS Enroll in University

Four men, two from Iowa, were the first to enroll in the new veterans' special instruction school at the University of Iowa Wednesday. Under the program a veteran may enroll at any time during the semester and have planned for him a special study program until he is able to enter small regular classes. The program involves small classes made up entirely of veterans, with special tutoring for individual cases.

The veterans who have enrolled under the new instruction school are Lauren J. Beckford of Clinton; Charles F. Ruff of Sewickley, Pa.; Frank Klinefelter of Iowa City, and Arthur T. Slater-Hammel of Auburn, N. Y. The four men have enrolled in the colleges of liberal arts and engineering and the graduate colleges.

Red Cross Chapter Gives New Address For War Prisoners

The Iowa City Red Cross office yesterday pointed out that mail now can be sent to United States prisoners of war in Germany regardless of whether the permanent camp address is known or not.

Such mail must be addressed as follows:
Name and rank
United States Prisoner of War in Germany
c/o International Red Cross Directory Service
Geneva, Switzerland

This address is to be used only when a family has been officially notified that the serviceman was a prisoner of war in Germany.

Mrs. Lorna L. Mathes, executive secretary of the local chapter, states that communications have reached the Red Cross office which indicate that letters are being written to the directory service when a man is listed as "missing in action."

This definitely imperils the lives of American soldiers so listed.

According to the national Red Cross headquarters, the only function of the directory service is to forward mail to personnel who have been reported as prisoners of war, but whose prisoner of war mail addresses are not known.

Westminster Choir to Sing Tonight in Iowa Union

Concert Group Will Present Varied Music

Dr. J. F. Williamson To Conduct Program Of Bach, Folk Songs

The Westminster choir will sing in Iowa Union tonight at 8 o'clock under the direction of Dr. John Finley Williamson, conductor and founder of the choir. This concert group is brought to Iowa City as a part of the University Concert course series.

The Westminster choir began touring in 1921 and since then has given concerts from coast to coast in the United States and in many of the cities of Europe. In the season, 1941-42, the choir had 15 appearances with four different orchestras and five different conductors.

Among the famous conductors that this group has sung with are Toscanini, Barbirolli, Stokowski, Walter, Rodzinski, Ormandy, Iturbi, Wallenstein, Kindler and Rachmaninoff. The orchestras have been the New York Philharmonic, the NBC symphony, the WOR symphony, the Philadelphia orchestra, the Rochester Philharmonic, the Baltimore symphony and the National symphony.

Tonight the choir will sing: "Sing Ye to the Lord" (Bach); "Crucifixus" (Lotti); "Come Blesses Rest" (Bach); "Motet, Opus 29, No. 2" (Brahms); "Ballad for Americans" (Robinson). Following intermission they will present: "Ezekiel Saw de Wheel" (Dawson); "Water Boy" (Avery Robinson); "Set Down Servant" (Robert Shaw); "O! Man River" (Jerome Kern-O'Hara); "The Shower" (W. Angeli); "Whoop-ee, Ti Yi Yo" (Geoffrey O'Hara); "Old Black Joe" (Stephen Foster-D. H. Jones); "Navajo War Dance" (Arthur Farwell).

Tickets for the concert are now available in Iowa Union lobby. Students may secure tickets by presenting their identification cards. A limited number of tickets are available for sale to non-students.

Deselected Cadets Return to Pre-Flight In 'Gob' Uniforms

The "gob" uniforms seen around the Iowa Navy Pre-Flight base this past week belong to the new battalion of deselected cadets, the first to return to the pre-flight program after being detached from the training because of quota restrictions.

Approximately one-third of the returned trainees were formerly stationed here; the others had been in training at the other three pre-flight bases.

The training of the returned cadets will be graduated on a scale designated by the amount of training they had completed before being deselected during the period between June 13, 1944, and Jan. 1, 1945. Those who had completed their pre-flight training satisfactorily will take a four weeks' refresher course here; those who withdrew at any time during their first to 12th week here will take an 11-week refresher.

Approximately half of the returned trainees will be enrolled in the four weeks' course, the other half taking the 11 weeks' refresher.

The men have their choice of returning as cadets or retaining their enlisted status.

Of the 50 percent of those deselected who have been contacted in regard to re-entering the program, 91 percent have signified their desire to return to flight training.

The former cadets now enrolled in V-7 midshipman's school will be permitted to complete their course and receive their commissions before returning to a primary station as officer trainees.

Only those who elected to be discharged from the service will not be allowed to return to flight training under the present plan.

This program of resumed training for the deselected cadets fulfills the statement placed in the service record of each deselectee that he was in good standing and would be reinstated in flight training whenever the quota restrictions would allow an increase in personnel.

Books in Wartime— Ideas As Weapons

By MARY OSBORNE Daily Iowan Staff Writer

Ninety million complete and unabridged overseas editions of 534 American books are to be printed this year for servicemen and women, according to Arthur Wang, chairman of the Council on Books in Wartime. "Books are weapons in the war of ideas," he explained to a group gathered in Iowa Union library for a "library hour." That motto expresses the idea behind the book council.

Speaking on "Books as Weapons," Wang credited Armed Services Editions, Inc., as originating the small size books in September, 1943, fulfilling the suggestion that men in the armed services should have good G. I. books, free. Chosen by a board of experts, the overseas editions include authors like John Steinbeck, Willa Cather, Mark Twain, Charles Dickens and many other past and contemporary writers.

"Pleasures of Publishing" "Some months ago, I lectured on 'The Pleasures and Perils of Publishing,'" Wang remarked. "I gave the talk a few times until it seemed almost out of place to talk about the pleasures of publishing, after reading a book written by a man who died on Corregidor at the age of 28. That wonderful book by an immature genius came close to being a very distinguished American novel—a half million words making you see and understand people."

Wang contrasted the idea of Alexander Hamilton that "the people are not to be trusted" with the advice of Abraham Lincoln, "Keep close to the people, for they are always right and will mislead no one." He mentioned the manner in which Poland, China and other countries look to America, with her "great reservoir of good will," then turned to a discussion of "A History of Bigotry in the United States," by Gustavus Meyers.

"Discrimination by Americans" The book, according to Wang, is an account of discrimination practiced by Americans—bias-

City Council Plans For Primary Election

Specifies Rent Rates For Meeting Rooms In Community Center

In a short 45-minute session last night the city council appointed 45 persons to act as election officials in the city primary election Feb. 2, approved the paying of bills amounting to $36,339.60 and transacted other business.

Ten boy scouts were disappointed because of last night's meeting. They were the city officials elected by the Scouts to serve during Citizen's day Saturday. Last night they planned to sit in on the council meeting but by 7:30 only two of the regular councilmen had appeared.

When enough councilmen had arrived to complete a quorum, the council proceeded with the evening's business.

Instead of appointing special police officers for each voting place as is done for a general election, they decided that the regular city police should handle the situation.

Three election judges and two clerks were appointed for each of the nine precincts in the city. All of these officials have served in former elections.

Authorization was given by the council for the purchase of a frequency meter to test the radio equipment of the police and fire departments. The purchase of the testing equipment, which will cost about $200, was recommended by John Ebert, city radio maintenance man and chief operator and technical supervisor of WSUI, and Fire Chief J. J. Clark.

Use of the ballroom for one afternoon or evening, a rent of $30 will be charged. This includes police protection and the use of checkroom. Meetings in the ballroom may be held if a rental of $5 for an afternoon or $10 for an evening is paid.

The women's club rooms rent for $50 a year or $2.50 for a single meeting.

Expand Airport An agreement has been reached with Mrs. Katherine M. Ruppert for the purchase of four and a half acres of land adjoining the mun-phemy laws and prohibitive regulations aimed against Jews, Catholics, Negroes and other minority groups.

Discussing the "position of dangerous bigotry" which Americans have at times adopted, Wang dealt with activities of the "Know Nothing" party designed to "resist the insidious policy of the church of Rome," the Grand Council of the Supreme Star Spangled Banner, organized for an equally discriminatory purpose, and the Ku Klux Klan.

Attitude Toward Foreigners A public opinion poll on "What Our People Think" listed American attitudes toward foreign peoples, showing an "area of ignorance" in the antagonisms, Wang said. Taking up fascism, he quoted a longshoreman who admitted, "I don't know what a fascist is and I wouldn't know a fascist if I saw one."

Cecil Brown has given a good definition of a fascist as one who insists on privileges for himself and denies to others the rights of a human being. The idea of fascism is created and built on bigotry, hatred and inequality.

Beginning of Fight "When we reach the end of the war, we have only begun to fight, for we shall then have to fight hatred," the speaker pointed out. "Fascism has no philosophy. It builds and breeds hate." In a book entitled "Der Fuhrer" the statement is made that fascism in Germany is built on the unemployed soldier, nationalism and inflation and that everything is built on bigotry and hatred.

Quoting from a script by John Hersey, author of "A Bell for Adano," Wang read, "... fighting for the things that people want—for food, for health, for laughter... people who forget maps and think with a sense of humanity of more than food and shelter... people who can see that Adano's people need a bell."

Manpower Director Lists Local Industries As Essential Work

Two local industries have recently been designated as "locally needed essential," according to E. E. Kline, area manpower director. They are the Merchants' United delivery and the wholesale and retail distribution of dairy products.

The firms affected by the latter are Swaneson farms dairy, Rose dairy, Barnes dairy and Ipsen dairy.

The retail distribution covers motor delivery routes but does not include retail store outlets.

The council approved this agreement which is a step in the program for expanding the airport.

Class B beer permits were issued to H. L. Beals, 114 Wright street; John J. Stika, 206 N. Linn street, and Mrs. George H. Bouck, 1100 N. Dodge street.

The council set Feb. 28 as the date of their next regular meeting. At that time they will also canvass the returns of the city primary election.

DEAN C. WOODY THOMPSON, director of the office of student affairs, has been appointed a member of the Educational Advisory Council of the National Interfraternity conference. His appointment to the office, which consists of purely advisory duties, was made by Verling C. Enteman, president of the National Interfraternity conference. Other members of the Educational Advisory Council are: Dean Bruce Bigelow of Brown university, Providence, R. I.; Dean E. L. Cloud of North Carolina State college, Raleigh, N. C.; Dean Donald M. Fire Destroys City Park Building

The maintenance building and office at the city park was destroyed by fire yesterday morning. Equipment used by the park maintenance crew, including three power lawnmowers was also destroyed. Only the brick chimney and part of a brick veneer wall remain standing.

Damage to the property owned by the city was estimated at $4,000 by George Kanak, chairman of the park commission. Kanak said that the property was partly covered by insurance.

The maintenance crew built a wood fire in the furnace and left with a truck, which is usually kept in the building, to cut timber on the hill, out of sight of the building. A taxi driver saw the fire from Park road and called the fire department at 10:15.

Fire Chief J. J. Clark said that the blaze probably was started by the furnace. Two cans of gasoline containing about seven or eight gallons, caught fire and spread the blaze.

The building was about 24 by 40 feet with an office at one end. It was of frame construction with a brick veneer on one wall.

Estimating the damage, Kanak said that it might be possible for the city to get a priority to buy new power mowers.

George Turecek, foreman of the custodial crew, has another explanation for the cause of the blaze. He said that it was caused by defective wiring because, according to him, the fire started in the east part of the building near the office while the furnace is in the west end.

Women employed in the office said that the fire started above the office, probably from defective wires.

Economics Expert Will Speak Tomorrow At Information First

Charles R. White, regional manager of the committee for economic development in the seventh federal reserve district, will discuss "Our Stake in the Future," for Information First tomorrow. He will deal with the prospects for college students of today in the world of the future.

The world of tomorrow belongs primarily to the men and women of college age today. They will become the leaders and governing citizens in the post-war period, the future in which they will establish their homes and raise their families. White's talk will concern the prospect for this future world and what the college student of today may expect in the years to come.

White, who has been a leading executive with several nationally known firms, is now devoting his full time for the duration of the war to his work with the committee for economic development. As regional manager in the seventh federal reserve district his headquarters is in Chicago.

The work of this committee concerns prospects for the future. Our government has long recognized the need for intelligent thinking and planning for post-war days, and this is one of the most important organizations established with regard to such considerations.

Women May Register For Orientation Interviews Today

University women may register and assistants for next fall. Appointments must be made this week for interviews with members of the freshman and transfer orientation councils to take place next week.

Appointment sheets for interviews have been placed on the desk at the foot of the stairs in the basement of Old Capitol. There are separate sheets for freshman and orientation councils so women may designate the group with which they wish work.

Council members will talk to each woman who registers, asking criticism and comments on this year's program as well as suggestions for the orientation program next fall. Appointments will be announced later by the two councils.

Sergt. Charles Wilson On Leave From Italy

Returning on furlough to his home after three years overseas, Sergt. Charles M. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, 323 E. College street, told of a makeshift home in which he lived for almost two months. The dwelling place was a dugout eight feet long and four feet wide and deep. Sergeant Wilson, who was with a medical battalion in Italy, dug the makeshift residence with a friend during the battle at Anzio Beach, Italy.

On top of the dugout the men placed iron fence rails, which they covered with two layers of sand bags. Over the sandbags were three feet of soil. There the two set up housekeeping from March 23 to May 1, 1944.

Wearer of the Bronze star and Purple Heart, Sergeant Wilson fought in Africa and participated in invasion of Italy. He was with the first troops to enter Rome. He entered service in February, 1941, and went to Camp Claiborne, La., with the 136th medical regiment. After further training he was sent to Ireland with the 109th medical battalion. He was with the battalion when it was sent to Africa
