First Army Opens Assault Across Moselle

Siegfried Line Fortress of Goch Cleared by Canadians

PARIS (AP)—The American Third army, slashing into or beyond the Siegfried line on a 50-mile front, surged forward 2 1/2 miles in rain and mud yesterday and captured ten towns and entered five others in a surprise new attack across the Moselle river.

Scottish forces of Gen. H. D. Crerar's Canadian First army cleared all of the Siegfried stronghold of Goch except a few isolated pockets, but this offensive at the northern end of the western front appeared generally stymied in its 13th day by vicious enemy resistance.

Canadian troops fell back slightly in the flaming arc before Goch, as the Germans hurried in one counterattack after another to dent allied lines for the first time since the drive down the Maas-Rhin corridor began.

As resistance on the 25-mile northern front mounted in intensity, with the Germans reinforced to the strength of at least nine divisions, Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's doughboys stepped up the pressure along the major portion of the Third army front, where four divisions ran their three-day bag of prisoners to 4,800.

The Americans registered their best gains in the triangle formed by the Moselle and Saar rivers, smashing within four miles of Saarburg from two directions.

The 94th division captured Weiten and pushed into Orscholz and Frenenburg to get within four miles of Saarburg on the south. This division had taken 210 prisoners by 4:30 p. m. yesterday to bring its two-day total to 1,036.

The armored units that crossed the Moselle early in the day deepened their bridgehead to nearly three miles, capturing Palzen and pushing within four miles of Saarburg in the vicinity of Rommelfangen. The town of Kirr, on high ground four miles southwest of Saarburg, also was captured.

Stassen Calls Choice As Delegate to Parley 'Political Liability'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Comdr. Harold E. Stassen said yesterday he is putting world peace ahead of his political future to serve as a delegate to the united nations conference.

His selection by President Roosevelt is a "political liability," the former Minnesota Republican governor told a news conference. But, he added, it is his patriotic duty to help work for a strong post-war league of peace-loving nations.

Stassen, flag officer with Admiral William F. Halsey, is here with his chief for strategy talks with Admiral of the Fleet Ernest J. King.

He said he would doff his uniform temporarily for the world conference so that, in civilian status, he can "speak, act and think" as he pleases.

President Roosevelt included Stassen and two Republican legislators in the seven-man delegation which will represent the United States at San Francisco starting April 25.

Stettinius Expects Inter-American Meet To Equal Big Three

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Secretary of State Stettinius brought a whirlwind of optimism yesterday to the inter-American conference which he said he confidently expects to equal the success of the big three Crimean meeting.

The American secretary of state issued a brief statement, in which he promised full United States support in the conference, opening Thursday, for moves toward strengthening inter-American relations.

New Promise From England—Assistance in Jap War

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, during a dramatic near-east odyssey, has obtained from Prime Minister Churchill a new promise to "throw everything" at the Japanese after Germany's defeat. He also got a snub from Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

The story of the president's meetings with premiers, kings and princes after the Crimea conference came out in part yesterday. The fresh British pledge for fullest participation against Japan was given to the president by the prime minister at Alexandria. The White House narration said that "new and important" discussions of the Pacific situation were conducted there, topics that had to be passed over at the big three meeting because of Russia's non-aggression pact with Japan.

The account told of an invitation to General Charles De Gaulle to meet with the president at Algiers. Roosevelt wanted to discuss questions of "mutual interest and importance" to France and the United States. The French leader, supposedly miffed at being barred from the big three conferences, declined and the president said he was "most disappointed."

Roosevelt did not go to Rome and Paris, as had been indicated in some foreign quarters. Instead, he went by motor to Sevastopol, bombed out Crimean port across the tip of the Crimean peninsula from Yalta; flew to Egypt for conferences aboard a warship in the Suez canal with King Farouk of Egypt, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, and King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia and then started home via Algiers, his last stopping place.

Yanks Compress Japs In South Manila

MANILA, Wednesday (AP)—Japanese casualties of more than 95,000 in the six weeks of the Luzon campaign were reported today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who said the compressed enemy garrison in south Manila was treating non-combatants "with the greatest savagery."

MacArthur listed American casualties for the six weeks as 12,829—2,676 killed, 245 missing and 10,008 wounded. These figures underscored the severity of the Manila fighting, which MacArthur said was still bitter. They showed an increase of 24,000 Japanese casualties and 3,246 American casualties in the last week alone.

Japanese cornered in the intramuros (walled city), which American howitzers are pounding from close range, and its environs are being compressed into an area measuring 1,200 yards by 800.

The Japanese commander in the intramuros has not replied to an American offer to liberate the estimated 7,000 civilians inside in exchange for an honorable surrender.

Gripsholm to Reach Pier About Noon

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (AP)—The Gripsholm neared the end of its sixth exchange voyage last night, bringing home 1,206 repatriates, including 463 ill or wounded American soldiers who were prisoners of war in Germany.

The ship radioed she would reach Ambrose light in the lower channel today about 11 a. m. (EWT), which would bring her to her pier between 12 and 1 p. m.

DRAGON'S HEAD VOLCANO LANDMARKS IWO JIMA

A TRAILING CLOUD of smoke, result of United States air assault, hangs over Mt. Suribachi, extinct volcano and landmark on Iwo Jima, where marines are fighting a bloody battle for the strategic island less than 800 miles from Japan.

Soviets Report Brandenburg Advances

Germans Put Up Strong Opposition In Capital Province

LONDON, Wednesday (AP)—Russian First Ukraine army forces drove some 10 miles northwest and west in Germany's Brandenburg province yesterday, capturing more than 80 communities in the face of persistent counterattacks by which the Nazis strove to hold the vital southeastern approaches to Berlin, 57 miles away.

Moscow's nightly communique, announcing these gains, said about 1,000 Germans were captured in that sector northeast and east of Guben, while some 100 miles to the southeast fighting continued for the annihilation of the German garrison in the besieged Silesian capital of Breslau.

German radio accounts, agreeing essentially with the Russian announcements on the conflict in Brandenburg east of Guben, said also that the Soviets had broken into Breslau and Glogau but had been thrown out and that the Breslau garrison has spurned a surrender ultimatum.

On the northern front Moscow announced gains up to 13 miles and capture of 50 Polish corridor towns by the Second White Russian army. Advancing northward on a 20-mile-wide front, these forces were within 33 miles south of Danzig, once-free Baltic port.

Czechoslovakian Front On the southern end of the long eastern front the Russians announced capture of 60-odd Czechoslovakian towns in a drive that carried northwestward within 13 miles of Banska Bystricia, and told of repelling determined German counterattacks in Hungary on the north bank of the Danube east of Komarom.

The Germans claimed to have eliminated part of the Russian Hron river bridgehead east of Komarom.

Spring-Like Weather Returns to Iowa City

Nearly all of the snow that fell Monday night disappeared yesterday as warmer temperatures proved that the short cold wave was over. The high temperature yesterday was 39, the low 23. At 11:30 last night the mercury was down to 30 with indications that it would go a little lower before morning.

This morning low clouds are expected to move in and possibly a light freezing drizzle will fall. It will be generally cloudy today with little change in temperature.

Dutch Agent to Lecture Van Berkel to Speak At Information First

Work of Underground To Be Subject of Last Talk of Series

Speaking for Information First this afternoon at 4 o'clock, Jacob Van Berkel will tell of his experiences as an agent for the Netherlands underground during the past four years. The lecture will be the last of the 1944-45 Information First series in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

The title of Van Berkel's talk is to be "Underground Agent." He will describe his activities for the underground in Holland, Germany, Poland, Austria, Czechoslovakia and other parts of Europe occupied by Germany. For a long time he lived in Berlin and was present during approximately 50 allied air attacks over the German capital.

Van Berkel was in Holland when it was invaded by the Nazis in 1940. He was studying at the University of Rotterdam then. Soon after they went into Holland, the Germans put into effect a forced labor law. Thousands of Dutch civilians were taken by force when they did not enroll as workers for Nazi Germany. The Dutch needed agents in Germany to create an organization to supply men shipped there with false passports and visas so they could escape their captors and cross the border to Holland.

Volunteering as a foreign worker, Van Berkel was sent to Berlin and was soon working in a German factory. Arrested once, he was taken to a Gestapo prison, where he remained for a week. Sixty persons were held there in a cell 8 feet by 10 feet, where they had to stand up all the time.

A young man of 26, Van Berkel has just arrived in the United States with a dramatic story of Netherlands underground work. The student leader who will introduce Van Berkel today is Jean Stamy, A4 of Marion. The speaker will be interviewed at 3:15 this afternoon over WSUI by Edna Herbst, A3 of Newton.

Jesse L. Richardson Dies in Hospital

Jesse L. Richardson, who slashed his wrists in the county jail while awaiting trial on a charge of sodomy, died in University hospital at 5:30 yesterday afternoon, according to Dr. Frank L. Love, county coroner.

He was found unconscious in his cell early Monday morning and rushed to the hospital. Several blood transfusions were given him but he revived only temporarily. Dr. Love said that he died from loss of blood without regaining consciousness.

Sheriff Preston Koser said last night that he did not know what Richardson used to slash his wrists.

Arrested Feb. 3 by Iowa City police, the state adjutant of the D. A. V. pleaded not guilty when arraigned before the grand jury last week. A true bill charging him with sodomy was returned.

Mr. Richardson was born May 28, 1894, at Ainsworth. He was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1923.

He served in the army ordnance department during World War I. After he was graduated from the university he taught in the Erwin high school and at schools in Eau Claire, Wis., and Rock Island, Ill.

He is survived by his wife, to whom he was married April 10, 1938; one sister, Mrs. Velma Ryer-son, San Diego, Calif.; two brothers, Capt. Homer Richardson, stationed at Long Beach, Calif., and Harlow Richardson of Chicago; one niece and one nephew.

The body is at Oathout funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Greek Minister Resigns ATHENS (AP)—Premier Gen. Nicholas Plastiras accepted the resignation yesterday of Interior Minister Pericles Rallis in a Greek cabinet squabble which began when Rallis protested that removal of police control from his department violated an agreement with the EAM-ELAS.

Senate Group Shelves Manpower Measure

Ignores Endorsement By FDR; Starts Work On Substitute Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate military committee shelved the work-or-jail bill yesterday despite a new endorsement by President Roosevelt and began perfecting a much milder substitute.

The 12 to 6 vote to lay aside the house-approved measure in favor of the substitute which would strengthen the war manpower commission's present job placement program was taken shortly after the committee was handed a memorandum from the president.

Dated Feb. 11 and presented to the committee by Majority Leader Barkley, it read:

"I hope that legislation embracing the principle of the May bill can be speedily enacted."

The house passed the May bill several weeks ago shortly after its enactment was urged by Roosevelt.

Senator Chandler (D., Ky.), who joined Senators O'Mahoney (D., Wyo.), Kilgore (D., W. Va.), Wagner (D., N. Y.), Ferguson (R., Mich.) and Ball (R., Minn.) as a co-author of the substitute, declared the committee's action means the work-jail bill is "as dead as Lazarus." O'Mahoney agreed.

The committee hopes to agree on final terms of substitute today.

Taking Over He Claims He Owns Streetcar

OMAHA (AP)—A 22-year-old Oakland, Neb., farmer who apparently thought those street car tokens you put in the fare box apply on the purchase of a street car was disenchanted in municipal court yesterday.

Mary Ann Lesley, 19, told the court that Derral Backus jumped on the car she was operating, told her "You're fired—I own this street car company and I'm taking over."

"He said he had been putting money in that box every day and he figured he just about owned the street car. I was operating," Miss Lesley testified.

The girl said that when Backus finally shoved her from the operator's seat she set the controls, jumped off the car and summoned help.

Police intercepted the car, subdued the impulsive transit tycoon after he hit one officer in the nose and brought him to jail. He was given a 25-day jail sentence and fined $35 and costs on charges of assault and battery, resisting arrest, disturbing the peace and drunkenness.

German Rail Junction Hit By U. S. Forts

Bulletin

LONDON, Wednesday (AP)—British heavy bombers struck a heavy blow last night at Dortmund, important western front traffic center while RAF Mosquitos made two sharp attacks on Berlin, the air ministry announced today.

The big American armada, which included an escort of 700 fighters, encountered no enemy aerial opposition but ran into intense anti-aircraft fire. Sixteen bombers and 23 fighters were missing last night.

This vital junction of main east-west and north-south rail lines in south-central Germany lies 100 miles north of Munich, about 150 miles behind the western front and 225 miles from the eastern front German ministries are reported to have moved there under the Red army's threat to Berlin.

Striking Nuernberg after extraordinary heavy traffic was discovered piling up there, the Eighth airforce heavies unloaded 11,000 high explosive bombs and 300,000 incendiaries, about 700 Mustangs and Thunderbolts escorted the bombers.

Significance of the traffic congestion was not determined.

Heavy bombers of the 15th airforce operating from Italy returned to the Vienna area yesterday.

House Committee Recommends Local Option Measure

DES MOINES (AP)—A much discussed measure which has received little action—a bill to provide local option elections on state liquor stores—was finally reported out of the house liquor control committee Monday with a recommendation for passage.

Also reported out, but without recommendation, was a proposal to ban billboard advertising of beer, but the committee amended it to set the ban only against sign-board beer advertisements.

However, members of the wet bloc in the committee were confident the bills never would reach debate in the house. Each measure had been voted on in committee before and each time the committee refused to report the bills out.

Marine Forces Take Suribachi Bomber Field

South Third of Island Sealed Off; Resistance Stiffest of Pacific War

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Wednesday (AP)—The three-day-old invasion of Iwo is ahead of schedule despite the unprecedented ferocity of Japanese resistance, it was learned today.

The United States Fifth marine corps achieved one of the invasion's main objectives by noon Tuesday, a little over 24 hours since the marines landed on the southeast coast, when they captured the three-runway Motoyama bomber field No. 1, within fighter plane range of Tokyo, 750 miles to the north.

Al Dopking, Associated Press war correspondent, confirmed that the invasion plan called for seizure of the airfield, also known as Suribachi, by tonight.

Third of Island Isolated Today the marines, still backed by one of the most concentrated ship bombardments in history which in six days has pitched more than 8,000 tons of steel at the Nipponese, tore into enemy hill positions on the flanks after sealing off the south third of the island's eight square miles.

There is a terrific fight ahead against Japanese on the north end of the island, on a plateau overlooking the beachhead. The bulk of the Nipponese garrison is there.

Stiffest Opposition As the marines consolidated their flanks yesterday, Dopking said they encountered "probably the stiffest enemy fire yet faced in the Pacific war."

Front line reports said the gains north of the airfield ranged from 100 to 200 yards.

At the end of the second day, the hard-fighting devildogs had cut a curving line across the south end of the island, giving them control of one third of Iwo's eight square miles.

Wedge Extended On the southeast coast, this wedge is more than two miles wide along the coast. A late report stated it has been extended for 2,000 yards along the southwest coast.

Perhaps hinting that more satisfactory progress could be expected, Nimitz said:

"A large portion of our artillery now is ashore and in position to support both flanks of the beachhead."

Nurse Draft Okayed By House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Unmarried women nurses between the ages of 20 and 44 inclusive, would be liable to draft for military service under legislation approved yesterday by the house military committee.

But committee members, concluding three weeks of consideration of the measure requested by President Roosevelt Jan. 6 to provide 20,000 nurses for the army and the navy, said privately they did not expect the legislation, if enacted, to be enforced, except possibly among cadet nurses.

Even should the existing volunteer system, which the legislation continues, fail to produce the necessary number of nurses, the impact of the bill would fall heaviest on the 27,000 women trained under the cadet nurse corps program.

The bill requires local draft boards to take cadet graduates first and prohibits the induction of non-cadets so long as the board has cadets available.

David Lloyd George Reported Critically Ill

CRICCIETH, Carnarvon, Wales (AP)—David Lloyd George, one of Britain's elder statesmen and spark plug of the empire's fight in the last war, was reported critically ill last night at his home near here.

A bulletin from his physicians said the white-haired, 82-year-old Liberal was suffering from "increasing physical weakness."

Number of Veterans at SUI Steadily Increases

By PAT MOORHEAD
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

From the army, navy, and marines, from battlefields and training camps, discharged veterans have been returning to school this year in steadily increasing numbers. They come under the extensive educational programs of the United States government, the GI bill of rights and the vocational rehabilitation act.

In order to facilitate the readjustment of these men to civilian life and to aid them in acquiring the most complete and practical education possible, 10 or more universities in the country have organized associations of veterans of World War II who are enrolled in their colleges.

One of First Schools
The University of Iowa was one of the first schools to develop an efficient, working veterans association.

Any veteran of World War II enrolled in the University of Iowa, regardless of creed, color, sex or nationality, may become a member of the University Veterans association, which operates under a legal constitution adopted unanimously by the charter members of the association. Meetings are held twice monthly, parties, smokers and dances are held periodically, standing committees function to serve the organization, and they even have their own radio program. The admission fee to the association is $1, and annual dues $2.

Originated in Fall
The University Veterans association originated last September, when the Association of Disabled American Veterans invited all veterans of World War II enrolled at the university to join their organization. At that time a committee of returned veterans, headed by Carl Kugel, LI of Sioux City, met and voted to organize their own association, to be composed solely of World War II veterans on the Iowa campus.

Organization Committee
There were about 35 veterans at that time actively interested in promoting the organization, and they elected a committee on organization, composed of five men, to draw up the constitutional by-laws for the group. On this committee were George Phetteplace, LI of Des Moines; Richard Nazette, LI of Eldora; Earl Jorgenson, A2 of Iowa City; Gordon Christensen, A3 of Iowa City, and Carl Kugel.

The constitution, which provided for a permanent organization of World War II veterans at the University of Iowa, was presented by the committee and adopted unanimously Oct. 9 at the first regular business meeting of the association. It was modeled after the New York state bar association constitution, having the same system of officials, methods of procedure, and general rules and by-laws.

Important Feature
One of the most important features of the constitution is that it is especially designed so that membership in the University Veterans association will not effect any member's standing with any other veterans organization, such as the Veterans of Foreign Wars or the American Legion.

Two faculty advisers, Prof. William E. Coder, director of the veterans service, and Prof. Wendell Smith of the college of commerce, act as directors for the association. The real authority of the organization, however, is vested in the executive committee, a group of five elected at large from the association, and working in cooperation with the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer in managing the affairs of the association and handling all appropriations.

Present Officers
The present officers are Richard Nazette, president; Fred Davies, vice-president; George Phetteplace, secretary; and Eugene Jesse, treasurer. The executive committee members are Carl Kugel, Torger Torgerson, EI of Dakota City, Eugene Coltrane, LI of St. Charles, Gordon Christensen, and Kenneth Carter, A1 of Colesburg.

Besides meeting with the officers and helping in the governing of the association, the executive committee functions to assist veterans as they come to the university, meeting them as they enroll, showing them around the campus, helping straighten out their schedule and housing problems, and introducing them to other veterans on the campus.

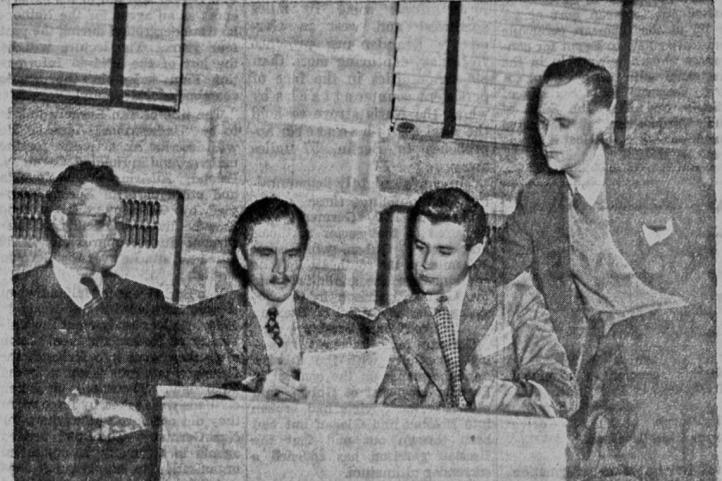

Standing Committees
Five standing committees, social, radio, education, publicity and athletics, have been set up by the association to perform its various functions.

The social committee, under the direction of Ernie Hector, A4, has charge of one of the two monthly meetings of the association, and plans all the social events of the group. They sponsored the first of a series of annual Christmas dances this year, among other social affairs. Future plans include dances, picnics, smokers and parties of various types.

Radio Program
The radio committee, headed by Don Pierce, A4 of Iowa City, plans the association's radio program, "The Veteran Speaks," presented

TALKING THINGS OVER with Prof. William E. Coder, director of the veterans service, are the officers of the University Veterans Association. They are, left to right: Fred Davies, graduate student, vice-president; George Phetteplace, LI of Des Moines, secretary; Richard Nazette, LZ of Eldora, president. Treasurer Eugene Jesse, EI of Davenport, was unable to be present when the picture was taken.

INFORMATION FIRST SPEAKERS Fred Davies, Bob Gilliam, unclassified of Dubuque, Bill Boswell, A1 of Marshalltown, and Gordon Christensen, A3 of Iowa City, discuss their speeches for the Information First meeting at which they were featured last November. Speaking to a capacity crowd in the senate chamber of Old Capital, they stressed the importance of self-adjustment for the serviceman returning to civilian life, and expressed appreciation for the fact that SUI students have treated veterans as normal human beings. Bob Gilliam is not enrolled in the University of Iowa this semester.

every other Friday at 12:45 over radio station WSUI. This program developed as a result of the interest exhibited by out-of-town groups when several University of Iowa veterans made a speaking tour of the state last November, speaking in Davenport and in various other Iowa towns. It attempts to give listeners an idea of what happens when the veteran returns to school, what he wants to get out of the university, what the university has to offer him, and what his special problems are.

Education Committee
One of the most important committees in the association is the education committee, under the leadership of Harold Severson, P3 of Iowa City. This committee seeks to aid any member of the organization who has been having trouble in any field of study by referring them to one of the members of the association who has had special experience, training and background in the field. The membership includes specialists in mathematics, chemistry, physics, and several other fields.

Athletics Committee
The athletics committee, headed by John Hook, G of Spokane, Wash., sponsored a basketball team in the recent intramural basketball tournament, and plans veterans teams to engage in numerous intramural contests this spring.

Meeting regularly twice monthly, the veterans often have speakers at their meetings to discuss subjects of special interest to them. Speakers thus far have been Prof. Walter Daykin of the college of commerce, and Dean of Liberal Arts Harry K. Newburn.

Women Veterans
Four women veterans, enrolled at the University of Iowa for the first time this semester under the GI bill of rights, are now members of the University Veterans association. Three of them former WAVES and one a former WASP, they are: Mrs. Howard Brammer, A1 of Iowa City; Alice Hallcroft, A1 of Iowa City; Bobbie Merrick, A1 of Des Moines, and Jean Livingston, LI of Iowa City.

Most of the veterans live in town in private rooming houses; however, some of them are staying in fraternity houses, and a number have joined social fraternities.

Receive Tuition
Enrolled at the University of Iowa under either the GI bill of rights or the vocational rehabilitation act, the veterans receive their tuition, equipment, books and supplies from the government, as well as a small monthly allotment.

Under the GI bill, any discharged veteran who served in the army, navy or marines for not less than 90 days is entitled to at least a year's college education at government expense, with the amount of education he receives dependent upon the length of his time in the service. It provides for the education of veterans under 25 even though they were not in college before they enlisted, and for veterans over 25 if they can prove that their education was interrupted by military service.

Rehabilitation Act
The vocational rehabilitation act proposes to train for a new occupation any serviceman hurt in service or having a disability aggravated by army training. To be accepted under this program, the veteran must have a definite vocational objective, approved by the government, which can be accomplished in four years' schooling, the maximum allowed under this plan. This is in contrast to the GI bill, which places no requirements or limitation on the amount of schooling which the veteran can receive under the program, other than his length of service.

Special Instruction
A special instruction program for veterans was inaugurated by the University of Iowa Nov. 18 to facilitate their returning to college. Under this plan qualified veterans will be admitted to the colleges of commerce and liberal arts at the beginning of any calendar month. Instruction is organized on an individual basis, with the student progressing at his own speed with a relatively small amount of conference with his instructor.

Plans are now being discussed for a national association of university veterans of World War II by the 10 leading universities which have separate organizations of the veterans on their own campuses, but as yet nothing definite in the way of organization has been achieved.

As the United States progresses through its fourth year of war, more and more discharged veterans are returning to campuses all over the country, bringing with them innumerable problems and difficulties of adjustment and rehabilitation.

Plan for Future
This is the situation which the University Veterans association is planning for, in attempting to educate the college campus on how the veteran feels, what he wants and what part the student can play in effecting his easy return to normal, civilian life.

If the Veterans association succeeds in its purpose, the returning veteran will find American colleges understanding his problems, and prepared to meet them.

Kirke Simpson Interprets the War News—

Savage as is Japanese resistance on doomed Iwo Jima, the dominant factor is that a huge armada of American warships, transports and supply craft is riding it out around the tiny islet 700 miles or less off Japan's home coast unchallenged by sea and virtually immune even from air attack.

More than 48 hours after the first echelons of veteran marines poured ashore, no effective help had come to the besieged enemy garrison.
Eyewitness accounts told of American naval planes by the hundred swarming the skies. There was only passing and uncertain mention of any land-based enemy planes putting in appearance. Tokyo broadcasts intimated that heavily-escorted United States plane carriers were moving in even closer, hardly 600 miles off the enemy's home coast, to renew the smothering air attack that cleared the air and kept it clear of Japanese fighters and interceptors while the first Iwo Jima beachheads were established and extended. The Japanese press and radio renewed warnings that even an American invasion attack on the home islands might be expected at any moment.

Had other evidence of absolute American control of the sea established beyond the Pacific in the naval battles in Philippine waters been lacking, the bold move to seize Iwo Jima would have proved it. It pointedly confirms the terse declaration of highest ranking American naval authorities in Washington and in the Pacific theater that the world's widest ocean has been completely bridged; that the way is open now for landings in China or in Japan itself at any time the men and equipment are available or at any point American judgment may select.

In point of fact, however, seizure of Iwo Jima is but another of many probable moves to consolidate effectively the naval victories already won that have reduced Japanese sea power even in Japanese waters to little more than potential nuisance values. If it comes out at all, it can come out only to certain complete destruction.

It is still in the European theater that the observer must look for some answer as to when the final step in the long leap across the Pacific can be taken. That was again emphasized in Washington's disclosure that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill after their historic meeting with Premier Stalin in the Crimea had met again off Russian soil to discuss anew British-American full cooperation against Japan.
Renewed assurances were given at that meeting by Churchill that the whole weight of British sea, air and ground power would be in time thrown against Japan.

Even in the official Washington version of the latest Roosevelt-Churchill Pacific strategy talks, however, it was emphasized that not until the war in Europe has been virtually ended can Britain turn fully to that task. Not until then, also, can the American forces adequate for the job be available.

Your Tax May Be Paid, A Return Still Due—

(This is the first of a series of daily articles, explaining both the generalities and the details of the income tax.)
By Alexander R. George
WASHINGTON (AP) — Although many wage-earners paid up their income tax in full last year, they still have to make a return on 1944 income.
Every person whose income in 1944 was $500 or more must file a return by midnight March 15. This includes minors, for example, a 17-year old boy or girl living with parents and getting $500 or more from wages or other sources.
Men and women in the armed forces ordinarily need not file a return unless their pay was $2,000 or more. That's because of the exemption of $500 for every person and the special exemption of $1,500 military service pay from taxation. Service people overseas may postpone the filing of a return.

If your income was less than $500 but taxes were taken out of your wages, you should file a return to get a refund. A refund is due in such cases because every person has a $500 exemption from tax.
Most persons paid all or a large part of their income tax in 1944. The tax was taken from wages or paid in quarterly installments as estimated tax. Or it was collected in both ways. Most payments, however, didn't exactly equal the tax owed.
How come?
One big reason was that in order to simplify wage-withholding, the government provided employers with tax-withholding tables which had "wide" wage brackets. For example, the same amount was taken from a $30 weekly wage as from a $39.99 wage, and so on.
This resulted in over-withholding of taxes at the bottom of wage brackets and under-withholding of taxes at the top of brackets. Likewise, there were under-estimates and over-estimates of taxes by taxpayers who made declarations.

In order to correct these, each taxpayer has to file a return by March 15 showing the actual tax owed. Any additional tax due will be collected and any overpayment of tax will be refunded. In other words, it's a settling-up process.

Caesar's Caves Now Yank Warehouse—

By Robert Enison
WITH THE U. S. NINTH ARMY (AP)—Caves that Caesar's army used to cache supplies near Valkenburg, Holland, have been taken over for the same purpose by the 102nd division.
The rear echelon of the 102nd, the Ozark division, has set up barracks and storehouses in the limestone caverns which the Germans had equipped as a rocket-bomb factory and in which Roman garrisons were stationed from about 50 B. C. to 400 A. D.
I drove in a jeep into this 67-mile-long series of tunnels as the guest of Lieut. Louis F. Danforth of (320 Park Ave.), New York, who said the place was big enough to house supplies for 15 divisions. Danforth and Lieut. John P. Brown of (943 Nolan st.), Independence, Mo., are in charge of all the personal effects and government equipment which the 102nd's doughboys could not take with them to the front in Germany.
Dr. Carl Diepen, secretary of the Dutch association which owns the caves, said they had been refuges for fugitives for centuries and had been enlarged steadily by the quarrying of building stone.
Speaking through an interpreter, Pvt. Harry Schwartz of (118 West 89th st.), New York, Diepen said the Germans had improved and remodeled the caves with slave labor.

University Band to Present First Public Concert Tonight at 8

Prof. Righter To Direct

'Water Music' Excerpt By Handel to Open Program in Union

Tonight the University concert band under the direction of Prof. C. B. Righter will present its first public concert in Iowa Union at 8 o'clock.

"The band members have given freely of their time in support of every kind of university activity from induction day Sept. 1 to last Monday night's basketball game. The band has made 19 public appearances to date during this school year.

"Tonight's concert is the band's own show and one that has called for several weeks of intensive preparation. You can show your appreciation of the band's other services by giving the organization a hearing. Tickets are free and may be obtained at Iowa Union desk or at Whetstone's."

C. B. Righter, director

The program for the evening begins with Allegro Maestoso, from the "Water Music" (Handel). This composition is a series of 25 short pieces written in 1715. It was used in connection with an aquatic fête for the newly crowned English king, George I, with whom Handel was in disfavor. The suite was played by an orchestra aboard a barge and the king was so pleased he awarded Handel 200 pounds and their feud was ended.

"Slavonic Rhapsody, No. 1" (Friedemann) will be played by the band followed by "Berceuse and Finale," from "The Firebird" (Stravinsky). The vigor and daring of Russian composition is exemplified in "Marche Scherzo" from "The Love of the Three Oranges" (Prokofiev). The Overture to "Rienzi" (Wagner) will be played just before intermission. This is Wagner's first full-length operatic work. It exhibits the tendencies of Wagner's temperament and contains a hint of his mature style.

Other selections in tonight's program are: "Seventeen Come Sunday," a march by Vaughan Williams; "An Original Suite," march, intermezzo and finale (Gordon Jacob); "Red Cavalry March" and "Pavanne" (Morton Gould) and "El Relicario" (Jose Padilla).

Iowa Hawks Start Drills For Return Badger Go

Iowa Faces Stiff Test

Harrison Displeased With Poor Showing Against Badgers

The Iowa Hawkeyes went through a grim practice session yesterday. Grim in the fact that the players, realizing that victory had almost been snatched from their grasp by an aggressive Wisconsin five the night before, settled down to real concentration on the Badger game this Saturday at Madison.

Serious Proportions
The two-game road trip scheduled for this weekend has suddenly assumed serious proportions and the Hawks aren't taking anything for granted from here on in. Wisconsin, beaten 54 to 53 here Monday, is the Saturday foe at Madison and Minnesota will be met at Minneapolis Monday.

The Hawkeyes, still at the top of the heap in the conference with eight wins and one loss, head into the stretch drive with all of their opponents aching to upset the high-flying Iowans. Even though the Badgers and the Gophers are going nowhere in the conference race, they are both pointing for a win over the Hawks, and they might very well do it, if the Hawkeyes continue to play lax and careless ball as they did against the Badgers Monday night.

Harrison Puzzled
Coach Harrison was unable to explain the Hawkeyes' sudden loss of poise and control of the game Monday, but he warned the Iowa cagers that any more of that brand of ball, and they would end up in second place in the league, instead of the coveted top berth that the Hawkeyes want so badly.

"Wisconsin was tough enough at Iowa City Monday and they usually play much better on their home court where they have won three of five conference games. And the history of our series shows that Iowa always has difficulty at Madison. However, this is the first of my teams to play there, so as far as I am concerned we are starting with a clean slate," Harrison said.

Clean Slate?
What the Badgers did to the Hawks Monday, however, wouldn't exactly give the Iowa cagers a clean slate. For the first time in many moons, Co-captain Jack Spencer was ruffled and excited and when Spencer gets that way you can be sure that something is very much amiss. Iowa must pull itself up for these two games.

Travel by Car
For the first time in many years the Hawkeyes will travel by car to their weekend cage wars. The Hawks leave Iowa City Friday noon for Madison, and Sunday morning, the players will be driven back to Dubuque, where they will board a train for Minneapolis, site of Monday's Minnesota game.

Percentage Figures
The Hawks hit for 31 percent of the shots in Monday night's contest, connecting for 22 out of 70. Dick Ives, and Clay Wilkinson lead the percentage figures with six made out of 14 attempts. Murray Wier hit for 5 out of 19. The Badgers were credited with 23 percent of their attempts, 21 out of 76.

Last Iowa team to play at Madison was in 1942, Rollie Williams' final year as Iowa coach before entering the service. The Hawkeyes and Badgers were not scheduled in 1943 and 1944, when Coach Harrison was in charge.

Dick Ives clung to his scoring lead for the Iowa team by one point as he headed his teammate, Clay Wilkinson, 178 to 177. Herb Wilkinson is third with 141 and Murray Wier has moved up to fourth with 104.

For conference games, only Clay has 114, Ives 89, and Herb 86. Iowa's all-game average is 54.2 to opponents' 38.8; for Big Ten it is 47.3 on offense and 40.2 on defense.

Steve Nusser—

Rivermen's All-Around Man

By JERRY BLOOM
Daily Iowan Sports Writer
Steve Nusser, stellar Blue Hawk forward, expects to win nine letters in sports at University high school before he graduates. At present he has five, with this year's track season and all next year to go.

Sophomore Year
A junior now, Steve has been at U-high since his fourth year of school. In his sophomore year he first won a letter in football, and then followed with basketball and track. This year he took up where he left off and has earned two more awards already.

All-Eastern Iowa
As a football fullback last year, he was selected as all-Eastern Iowa conference material. In basketball, the Blue Hawk athlete was one of the high scorers of last year's team, and this year he has been equally effective, although he has been closely watched by opponents. Last week he turned in one of his best performances, dropping in 13 points to lead the Rivermen to a 38 to 35 victory over Mt. Vernon.

Steve also is active in track, running on the Blue Hawk mile relay team, and entering the 440-yard dash and the football throw.

Still Growing
Five feet, seven inches tall and weighing in at 159 pounds, Nusser is still growing, and with another year of competition awaiting him, should prove a still better player next season.

His coach, Ross Wedemeyer, states "Steve is a good competitor, both in football and basketball—he's always in there trying. Then, too, he is also a very consistent ball player and saves me a lot of worry."

Greatest Thrill
"My greatest thrill in sports came last fall in the Monticello football game, when we were behind 7-6 at the half. I caught the second half kickoff, and ran 85 yards for a touchdown to give us the lead. Then we went on to win, 33 to 7," Steve said.

Steve is another member of the Doughboys club, which includes a large group of University high boys who enjoy outdoor life, especially cooking.

Just 17 years old now, the Blue Hawk forward plans to join the army air corps reserves when it is open to enlistment again. His older brother, Bill, is now taking navigator training on B-17's for the army and Steven hopes to join him.

Undecided
If the war ends, he wants to enter the University of Iowa to take either aeronautical engineering or physical education. As yet, he said, he hasn't decided whether he wants to become an engineer or a coach.

Steve lives on the west side of the river with his father, William L. Nusser, assistant city engineer, and his mother.

ever, the Irish capitalized on their mistakes in the rough quarter, though they trailed 16-14.
During the third frame, the lead changed hands rapidly, with Gatens matching Rozek on spectacular long shots. Herdliska led off, and then brought the Irish to a 23-23 tie at the end, after the Shamrocks, time after time, broke up the fast breaks and passes of the visitors.

Toe to Toe
Battling toe to toe in the fourth quarter, the teams matched point for point, as first Herdliska and then Rozek hit the basket. Connell missed two free tosses, and Rozek made good use of possession, sinking two shots in rapid succession to bring the Greyhounds ahead 34-29. With two minutes remaining, Connell dumped in a basket, and Herdliska followed with two, knotting the count once again. It was then that the speedy Cedar Rapids five took over to cinch the game.

Pitted against a supposedly superior foe, the Shamrocks showed much greater accuracy at the basket, and generally matched the Dubuque diocesan champions in floor play. Not a man on the Irish squad failed to come through on offensive and defensive strength.

Clean Game
The Shamrocks, cashing in on charity tosses, racked up 10, while the visitors claimed only four. They also played an exceptionally clean game, with only seven fouls against Cedar Rapids' 13.
In a preliminary game between the reserves, the sophomores overwhelmed the freshmen, 24-7.
The Shamrocks play their last game of the season Friday, meeting Mt. Vernon here. They will try for their 10th win, with the record standing at nine victories and eight losses to date.

Maybe So

Public Menace Panther With Teeth

By BOB KRAUSE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
WE UNDERSTAND, through word of a friend that, following the game last Monday night, an Iowa basketball player was winged by what we presume to have been a coke bottle tossed out of the stands by some mad man.

Obviously, whatever demented soul heaved the bottle didn't do so intentionally, but the act resulted in a cut which required a couple of stitches.

Not the First
It's no secret that this wasn't the first incident of this kind. It's getting to be rather common, following a game, to hear glass being smashed on the cement bleachers and closed stands. But this happens to be the first case of an injury which has come to our attention.

There doesn't seem to be any use in pleading to the public in matters of this kind. Always, in a crowd, there are a number of exhibitionists who, in order to overcome the pressure of daily living, have to blow off steam by throwing things. Probably they beat their wives as another form of relaxation.

Do Something
We implore the police and the fieldhouse officials to do something about this menace. We were glad to see that those in charge at Iowa games had done away with one evil as of last Monday. They succeeded in keeping the aisles and runways clear of people—for a while at least.

Well, just to repeat, we ask again that those in charge curb the glass-pitching pastime. Sooner or later somebody may really get conked—or have you heard that before in other safety lectures?

OUR ATTENTION was called to a piece in the paper to the effect that the University of Pittsburgh is to have a new chancellor—an athletically-minded cancellor. The story brought to mind the "good old days" of Pitt football, the days of Marshall Goldberg, Dick Cassiano, Tony Matisi. The days when the Panthers and Fordham used to be the football powers of the east.

The two giants would play each year—one in Pittsburgh and the next in New York. Invariably these bloody struggles would end in scoreless ties. They were perfect examples of the old irresistible force—immovable object argument. We followed the contests spellbound by radio and paper.

On a Par
Then Dr. John Bowman became chancellor of the school—a term also held by a well-known paper hanger. Immediately Pitt sports became deemphasized to the point where they only played teams on a part with the University of Chicago. Their big game of the year was with Smoky City Junior High—well, not quite. Student protests were to no avail.

Well, the dawn seems to be at hand. Dr. Rufus Fitzgerald is to replace Bowman, who was president of the University of Iowa from 1911 to 1914 and an instructor of English here from 1902 to 1904.

Even More
But Dr. Fitzgerald appears to have had even more of a past with this university. He was general secretary of the YMCA here from 1919 to 1923. From 1923 to 1938 he was director of Iowa Memorial Union.

Before all this distinguished background comes what seems to be the key to Dr. Fitzgerald as a sports fan. From 1917 to 1919 he was a coach and director of athletics at the University of Tennessee.

Likes Winners
Fitzgerald admits that he likes to see the teams of the school he is connected with on the athletic field. It is to be hoped that he will attend to this matter so that the Pitt Panther will snarl again instead of purring—or whatever the animal is doing now.

Could it be that Chicago university will come back into the fold soon—or does President Hutchens still feel "that way?"

Samuel Leads Cadet Attack

Breaks Holland's Scoring Record By Hitting For 24 Points

By BOB KRAUSE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
Paced by Don Samuel, one of their football stars of last fall who scored 24 points, the Iowa Seahawks splattered their way to their 16th basketball victory of the season last night at the fieldhouse at the expense of the University of Nebraska, 55 to 41.

The chunky grid star, only returned from leave yesterday morning, had himself quite a night as he poured 11 field goals and two foul shots through the hoop. Samuel thereby cracked the individual Seahawk scoring mark formerly held by Joe Holland. Holland gathered 23 points when the Cadets routed Missouri at Columbia, 74 to 38.

Although the navy only led the Cornhuskers 25 to 21 at halftime they turned the game into a runaway in the second period. Playing with three of the regulars on leave the Seahawks were far below their recent smooth game, and the Huskers followed suit with an equally sloppy exhibition. Bob Koenig, forward, was high man for them with 11 markers.

Samuel, who scored most of his points by devious sliding and squirming underneath the basket, received considerable aid from two Bob's—Ritcheske and Baggott, who garnered 9 and 10 points respectively.

The opening half was even with the victors possessing the largest advantage when they were ahead by 21 to 13. Buzz Hollins and Art Peterson instigated the Nebraska attack with heavy work under the baskets and off the boards.

In the second stanza the Cadets took off from a 38 to 27 advantage half way through and turned the contest into a rout.

Hawket Sophomores Whip Cosgrove Five In Thriller, 37 to 26

While their "big brothers" were resting for their all-important contest with Wilson of Cedar Rapids Friday night, the junior high team from Iowa City netted a neat 26-15 victory over Cosgrove junior high, and the local freshman-sophomore quintet edged out a closer 37-36 win over Cosgrove's varsity last night on the City high floor.

In the first game, Roc Shain led the winners with 10 points, Cosgrove never offering any potential threat throughout the contest.

The second game offered more than considerable interest for the crowd, as the lead saw-sawed back and forth right up to the closing minutes, but the deciding points for victory were given to the local lads, when Bill Reichardt sank two charity tosses, one to tie up the game, and the other to win it.

In between the free throws, Cosgrove missed one of the same and lost a chance to win the hard-fought contest.

Both teams played hard in the first half, the scoreboard reading 23-21 at halftime in favor of City high.

Coming back fast after their rest, City high jumped to a 32-25 margin at the end of the third quarter, behind the scoring of Kirk Carson, who contributed 10 points during the game.

Cosgrove was undaunted, however, sending their revamped attack against the local cagers at the start of the last period, tying the score, 35-35, with but three minutes left. It was at this time that Reichardt sank the tying and winning free throws.

Widdoes Appointed Head Football Coach At Ohio State
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State university yesterday erased the word "acting" from the lead coaching title of Carrol C. Widdoes, who hit the jackpot the first time he ever tried his hand as boss man of a college football team.
It took the university's athletic board only a few minutes to approve a recommendation by Athletic Director L. W. St. John that Widdoes be appointed head coach of the Bucks for the 1945 season.
As head coach he succeeds Lieut. (j.g.) Paul E. Brown who resigned recently after signing a contract to coach Cleveland's team in the proposed post-war All-America professional football league.
Brown entered the navy early last year and Widdoes, taking over as acting head coach, directed Ohio State's all-civilian grid team to nine straight victories last fall and the Western conference championship.
For 12 years before that Widdoes had served as Brown's assistant—nine years at Massillon (Ohio) high school and three years at Ohio State.

SUI Trackmen Drill for Meet

Well satisfied with his track team's victory in last Saturday's triangular meet with Northwestern and Chicago, Coach George Bresnahan of the Iowa trackmen sent his men through a limbering-up workout Monday and yesterday settled down to work for this week's contest.

Saturday the Iowans will go to Minneapolis, where they will compete in a quadrangular meet with Minnesota, Illinois, and Wisconsin.

Hall Leaves for Service
Coach Bresnahan will be without the services of Marvin Hall, Negro sprinter, hurdler and jumper from Omaha, Neb., who won the 70-yard high hurdles in the triangular meet Saturday. Hall will leave this week for military service and will not be available for any more competition this year.

Improved
"The men have all improved during recent weeks, and last Saturday most of them turned in good times," said the track mentor, whose men presented him with a victory to open his 25th season as Iowa coach.

Most of the men on the squad came through last week's meet in good condition, and workouts this week will be pointed toward the clash at Minneapolis, which should be one of the toughest of the year for the Iowa tracklads.

At Cincinnati, Ohio: University of Cincinnati 57, Wayne university (Detroit) 40.

Morris Still Leads Scoring
CHICAGO (AP)—Rugged Max Morris of Northwestern university, with only one game left to play, continues to hold a wide lead in the Big Ten basketball scoring race with an 11-game total of 169 points.
The hustling center of the eighth-place Wildcats enters his conference finale against Illinois here Saturday night with a 43-point margin over second-place Clarence Hermsen of Minnesota, who has compiled 126 markers in 10 games.

Ramblers Face Loras Academy Here Tonight

Determined to get back on the victory trail after being waylaid by the Shamrocks of St. Patrick's last Friday, the St. Mary's Ramblers will take on their toughest opponent of the year when they meet Loras academy of Dubuque tonight at 8:15 in the Junior high gymnasium for their final home appearance. A preliminary game between the grade schools is scheduled for 7:15.

Clean Home Record
The Ramblers will go into the game with a clean home record, having been undefeated on their own floor this season. Only the Loras quintet stands between them and a perfect home slate since this is the last scheduled home contest for the Supleppmen.

In the first tilt between the two teams earlier this season, the Dubuque squad had little trouble downing the Ramblers, 45-33. Dubuque has a very good season's record. They have a well-balanced five with every man in the starting lineup being able to hit. Forward Termes and Tierney are their two standout players.

Stiff Workout
The Ramblers were put through a stiff workout Monday night, but eased off a bit in last night's practice session. Coach Francis Suplepp said yesterday his starting lineup was indefinite but there was a possibility that Don Seydel, reserve forward, would be moved into a starting forward berth with Bart Toohy, regular guard, taking over the center spot, and Bill Suplepp, moving over to one of the guard positions. However, Tom Stahl and John O'Brien, forwards, Bill Hettrick, center and Jack Shrader, guard will undoubtedly see some action before the contest is over.

for each, Haegg in the mile and three-mile and Lidman in the hurdles.
The Swedish legation in London said yesterday that there was no reason for anxiety. The diplomats pointed out that they represented a neutral nation and weren't provided with any specific information on allied shipping.

Greyhounds Take — St. Pat's Cagers

By BETTY NEAL
Daily Iowan Sports Writer
A shot by MacAreavy in the last 30 seconds told the tale for the St. Patrick Shamrocks last night, as they went down to defeat, 36-34, at the hands of the Immaculate Conception Greyhounds, in one of the closest and most hotly contested battles on the local court this season.

Bucket After Bucket
For four rough quarters the evenly matched teams fought back and forth, with the score changing hands as rapidly as shots, and neither leading by more than two points. Bucket after bucket was poured in, knotting the score until the final two minutes when the Greyhounds pulled ahead, 34-31. Then Herdliska, playing a brilliant game at forward, tied the count at 34 all on a one handed push shot. The Cedar Rapids forward, MacAreavy, took over from there on a rebound, turning to shoot as the seconds ran out.

It was the same old story for the Shamrocks on strategy, for they used the same tactics with which they wrested their victory from St. Mary's. Herdliska, at forward, regained his shooting eye to net 15 points, while Belger, at guard, played a fast and accurate floor game. Connell and Gatens, however, were undoubtedly the outstanding players for the Irish, sparking the team with consistent rebound getting and floor play.

Rozek Hits for 21 Points
For the Cedar Rapids five, Dick Rozek, center, starred with 21 tallies. Finding his stride in the second half, he poured in seven baskets, and did much in setting up plays from which the Greyhounds marked up their last quarter rally.

It was all Shamrock for the first quarter, for they began to show their newly found talent in the opening minutes, overwhelming the Greyhounds with speed against height. Though they missed important shots, they held the visitors to just four baskets, and led 10-8, as Connell sank a shot before the whistle.

Backboard Play
Early in the second stanza the Greyhounds broke loose, racking up eight points on a fast break and deliver backboard play. How-

Dale Welt Awarded Distinguished Service Key

Dwight Edwards Makes Presentation

80 Couples Attend Jaycee Dinner Dance At Mayflower Inn

Dale Welt, manager of the Welt agency, was awarded the distinguished service gold key last night at the Junior Chamber of Commerce dinner dance attended by 80 couples at the Mayflower inn. The presentation was made by Dwight Edwards, president of the Senior Chamber of Commerce.

The award gives recognition to the young Iowa City man who has performed the most outstanding service to the community during the past year.

Welt was co-chairman with I. J. Barron of the Johnson County War Fund and Community Chest and served as co-chairman of the Johnson county scrap metal salvage committee with Jack White.

In 1938 he was president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is now a member of that group and the senior chamber.

Welt, 34, lives at 1610 E. College street with his family. The Welts have three children—Deborah, 8; Phoebe, 4, and Tony, 18 months.

Receiving a B.S. degree from the University of Iowa in 1931, Welt has lived in Iowa City since that time except for 18 months spent in DeKalb, Ill. While at the university he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta, social fraternity.

Elks, Moose Clubs Donate $600 To Red Cross Fund

Among the first contributors to the Johnson county Red Cross drive for 1945 are the Elks and Moose clubs which have donated $600. These and other contributions were announced last night at a meeting of the Johnson county chapter held in the Women's club rooms in the Community building. Presiding over the January report meeting was Dr. Andrew H. Woods.

Rural contributions also have started because of anticipated March road conditions. With a quota increased 15 times since 1940, rural contributors are realizing this is a war fund drive and not a membership drive. A Linn county farmer gave his $41 cream check and added nine dollars to make an even $50.

In the reports given by members, Mrs. C. W. Keyser's nurses aide committee chairman, said there is now a class of 38 trainees in theory. The classes are divided between an afternoon and evening class and include cific workers, housewives and university students.

There are more than 400 Cadet nurses training in Iowa City hospitals at the present time according to Lois Corder, director of the school of nursing.

The camp and hospital committee reported 10 record albums and 58 records of the latest recordings have been sent to Schick hospital at Clinton.

Feb. 28 was announced as "War Fund Kick-Off day." All networks will cut commercials for the day and use Red Cross spot announcements. WSUI will carry an evening program to start the March campaign, according to Mrs. Jack Hinman Jr., publicity chairman of this year's War Fund drive.

Court Grants Divorce To Lucille Driscoll

A divorce has been granted to Lucille Driscoll in district court and Marguerite Eakes has filed a petition for divorce in the county clerk's office.

Mrs. Driscoll was awarded the custody of their two children, Diana Jo and Lawrence, in the decree of divorce from her husband, Joseph Driscoll, charged with cruel and inhuman treatment.

Platter Fanatics— Make Musical Madhouse

—Out of Record Shop

By GEORGE CAVALIER Daily Iowan Feature Writer

Are you in the know about the "jive", on to the latest platters? If so, skin, Jackson, skin! Or is your perception within the category of Brahms, Beethoven and Bach, the perennial B's?

The habitat of these "characters" is an Iowa City record shop where they can be found shuffling through the black discs which hold the various sharps and flats of their favorite composers. On crossing the portals of this musical sanctuary, one is greeted with the weird strains of Stravinsky's "Rite of Spring" from one of the victrola booths, the "clang, clang, clang went the trolley" of the "Trolley Song" or from the third booth, the voice of Lily Pons as she sings "Ave Maria." The mixture of all three resembles very closely that of the concert orchestra "warming up" for a Sunday concert in the hometown park.

Slim Record Supply Guardian angle for Iowa City record enthusiasts is Mrs. Marion Shank. Although Mrs. Shank was told at the time she began work that her job was mainly to sell records, she has learned since that "selling records" involves many other abilities. Of the average thousand people entering the store during a week, Mrs. Shank's worry is being unable to supply them with the records they want.

Music Mediators Music mediators are divided into five distinct classes. First, the type that calls for a classical album, takes it into one of the booths and plays it so loud that the other patrons come running out of their little rooms to complain of the noise. Second, the couple that comes in, asks for about six Harry James and T. Dorsey records and then retire to a booth to break into a dance of such contortions that Mrs. Shank must rush in and stop them before they break the windows. This is known as the cheap date.

Third is the kind that saunters in, drapes himself lazily over the counter and asks for numerous selections which must be hauled down from the shelves. After thirty minutes of this, he glances at the clock, makes some excuse about having to rush off to class and leaves the counter stacked high with records and albums.

Eccentric Collector The fourth music lover bounces into the shop and asks for a definite record. A few minutes later passing his booth, you may find him tied in little green knots with an expression of physical torture. Mrs. Shank explains that this fellow is really enjoying his music. Finally, the fellow that comes in, gives the name of his record, buys it and departs. This type is almost a misfit.

Even though the record shortage has decreased the quantity, many requests are made for repressings of popular songs of 1926 and 1928. These appeal more to the younger set than they do to those who were in their teens at the time of the record's popularity. The repressing of these old standbys has caused a new growth in record collecting for many college students.

Shellac Shortage The actual shortage of popular records has been due to the shortage of shellac which contributes largely to poor quality of records found now and then. Another factor in the shortage was the conversion of many of the record factories over to wartime functions.

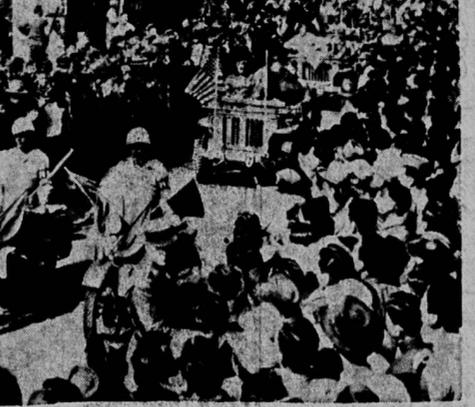

The problems daily facing Mrs. Shank are those facing music store proprietors all over the country. Still, as long as there's music, there'll be music fanatics and bedlam in every music store.

Why to Moscow?

THERE'S widespread speculation in Washington about the visit of Edward J. Flynn, former Democratic national committee chairman, to Moscow, and whether it has any connection with the reported Russian request for 10 billion dollars post-war rehabilitation loan from the U. S. Flynn accompanied FDR to Yalta, Russia, for the "Big Three" meet "as an old friend," explained the White House. Flynn went on to Moscow with U. S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and his party. Full House of First Nighters

'Lady Precious Stream' Charms Audience

By Jan Allen

For several years, the university drama department has contemplated production of H. I. Hsiung's "Lady Precious Stream." Last night marked an end of planning and the beginning of action.

And very delightful action it was, at that. Playing to a full house of first nighters, a brilliantly-costumed cast of 37 students tripped their way through this Chinese play — "somewhat in the traditional manner."

Neatly Plotted The neatly-plotted story, sprinkled with conventions of the Chinese theater, is designed to prove the old adage that woman is the real power behind the throne, and that a headstrong daughter may, after all, know what she is doing when she defies family ruling.

The play itself is an arrangement of an ancient vehicle of the Yuan period adapted to modern drama. Many of the authentic conventions of the Chinese traditional theater were used in the university production.

Depends on Imagination Chinese drama depends much on the use of imagination and seldom resorts to realism. It would have been well-nigh impossible to present this play in truly traditional style, involving an excess of noise and symbolic gestures and positions.

The two black-clad property men are in keeping with tradition, as are such other conventions as scattering white paper to indicate snow, carrying a whip to indicate riding horseback, and stepping over mythical doorsills.

Other Conventions We might mention a few other such conventions as the lack of an actual curtain, the Honorable Reader (who usually hides his face from the audience in the Chinese theater), and circling the stage to indicate a journey.

In the Chinese tradition, there are two doors to the set, at the center of the back wall. These are the right entrance, or Tiger gate, and the left exit, or Dragon gate.

Lives Up to Promise We were glad to see that Willis Otto, the young actor who turned in such a strong performance in "The Corn Is Green," lived up to his promise by giving us last night a convincing characterization of Hsieh Ping-Kuei, the gardener, later the King of the Western Regions.

Consistently Charming Margaret Rowland, or Precious Stream, third daughter of His Excellency Wang Yun, highlighted her acting with effective eye and hand movements and was consistently charming, as was Elsie Turner, wife of Wang Yun.

Conrad Pos as His Excellency made full use of his lines, although he has several opportunities to highlight his action. His characterization had a static quality at times, but now and again he let go and punched his part.

February Palimpsest Ready for Distribution

Prof. John A. Briggs, editor of Palimpsest, has announced that the February issue of the magazine is now ready for distribution to members of the State Historical Society of Iowa.

Two feature articles are included in this issue. "Sleighting Time" by William J. Petersen, research associate of the State Historical Society, is a story of how the pioneers enjoyed sleighing in both town and country in the years 1840 to 1890. All types of sleighs are described including the farmers' bobsled which was used for both pleasure and utility. Data for this article was gathered from Iowa newspaper files of that era.

"Iowa Corn for Russians" dates back to 1892 when Iowa corn was first sent to Russia. This article is written by B. F. Tillinghast, who was then secretary of the Iowa Russian Famine Relief commission, and is reprinted from an article appearing in The Midland Monthly.

Accurate Costuming Berneice Frisk, costumer for "Lady Precious Stream," deserves every congratulation for the elaborate and accurate costuming of the characters. We have seldom seen such brilliantly colorful trappings on stage. And the makeup crew added to the effect convincingly.

"Please do not stand on ceremony" is a key line in the play, and evidently was taken to heart by the university theater. For last night was the first time in many a play when a curtain-call was allowed. Granted it was not a conventional curtain-call since there was no curtain, but for once the audience got its chance to applaud the performers all on stage.

In all, with a few more nights of polishing and stepping up action, "Lady Precious Stream" may be added to the university's already-impressive list of laudable productions.

Trust your American soldier to know his way around. In Puerto Rico, as in Punksutawney or Pasadena, Coca-Cola is a friend-maker he can count on.
