First Less Than 11 Miles From Cologne

Ninth Army Breaks Nazi Lines Six Miles From Ruhr Basin

PARIS Tuesday (AP)—The United States First army drove troops and tanks within 10 1/2 miles of the great Rhine city of Cologne last night and pounded it with heavy guns while the Ninth army on the north achieved gains which a field officer said appeared to be a breakthrough six miles from the vital Ruhr basin.

With four allied armies on the offensive on a 200-mile front, German Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt sought to rally his disorganized forces an order of the day calling for them to defend the Ruhr's approaches to the last man, saying that otherwise all was lost.

Second Breakthrough Front dispatches said the United States Third army appeared to have achieved a second breakthrough 60 miles south of the First army, where in a seven-mile surge tanks and troops broke across the Rhine and Nims river and were swiftly enveloping the enemy's Eifel mountain stronghold of Bitburg.

The Canadian First army resumed its offensive on the north flank and behind a mighty barrage fought three and a half miles southeastward within a dozen miles of the Ruhr and cracked into the bitterly-defended town of Calcar.

40-Mile Front

The front now was 40 miles wide behind the Roer and 38 or more German towns fell during the day. Tanks and troops, sweeping over trenches and fortifications, were three to four miles at four points from the Ert river, last-ditch enemy line before the Rhine.

Thus the allied offensive to wipe out the German army west of the Rhine developed into a four-army drive on a 200-mile front. The Germans had four days to stiffen resistance, but it remained shaky on the Cologne plain and was weakening on the north as well.

Pilots spotted heavy road and rail movement speeding westward beyond the Rhine toward Cologne, a ruined city of 768,000 population on the west bank which could be used for a stand like that at Stalingrad.

John L. Lewis Warns of Impending Strike by Miners

WASHINGTON (AP)—John L. Lewis opened his 1945 campaign for more pay for coal miners yesterday by serving formal notice that a strike of nearly 400,000 miners may be just around the corner.

Lewis acted under the Smith-Connally act, which requires 30 days' notice and a government poll of workers prior to a strike. The act, which Lewis denounced yesterday as "a grotesque slave statute," was passed over presidential veto in July, 1943, amid a wave of reaction to United Mine Workers strikes that year.

A national labor relations board spokesman said a poll on the question of striking probably would be held in 30 days. It would be the largest such poll the board has undertaken.

The UMW contract with the bituminous operators expires March 31, and negotiations between Lewis and the operators begin Thursday. A month later the anthracite contract will come up.

Foreign Policy Debate To Open in Commons

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill will open in commons today Britain's most important foreign policy debate of the war with the first public account by one of the big three on the Crimea conference.

He may incorporate one of his famous progress reports on the war's developments, and his statement is awaited with hopes he may shed new light on plans for establishing solid peace.

WRECKAGE OF AIRLINER CRACK-UP

TWO DAZED SURVIVORS (bottom) huddle beneath the wrecked tail of the American airlines plane that crashed into a mountainside near Cedar Springs, Va., killing 17 of the 22 persons aboard. Rescue workers brought the five survivors to a hospital at Marion, Va.

Senior Class Heads Name Committees

Organized to direct and guide the senior class in its activities, the Association of Senior Class Presidents met last night in the alumni office of Old Capitol at 7 p. m. This first meeting was called by Prof. Bruce Mahan, director of the extension division.

The senior representatives of all colleges and schools were present to elect officers and make plans prior to the April Conventions. Those selected as executives of the association are:

Airy, and Betty Subotnik, J. of Cedar Rapids.

Display of 1942 License Plates 'Definitely Illegal'

DES MOINES (AP)—The state public safety department said yesterday that display of a 1942 plate now is "definitely illegal," though a 1945 plate is on the rear of the automobile and a 1945 sticker on the windshield.

Iowa's basketball team is now assured of at least a share of the Big Ten court title. An announcement over station WSUI at 8:15 this morning will tell whether or not the victorious Hawks will arrive in Iowa City on the 9:15 a. m. Rocket from Des Moines. If they should miss connections from Minneapolis, they will arrive at 3:30 this afternoon.

286 Ballots Cast In Iowa City Primary

All Candidates Chosen by Caucus Confirmed by Voters

All the candidates for city offices who were selected by caucuses of the two parties were confirmed by the party voters in yesterday's city primary election. A total of 286 ballots were cast. The Democrats were out in greater number yesterday, casting 178 ballots to the Republicans' 108.

There were no significant writings of other candidates' names on the ballots of either party. Mayor Wilber J. Teeters, Republican, received 106 of the 108 Republican votes while Prof. Jacob Van der Zee, who will be his Democratic opponent in the city election of March 26, polled 151 of the 178 Democratic votes.

Largest Ward Vote The greatest number of ballots cast in a single ward was in the second ward, with 67 voters of both parties. The first ward had the second largest number of voters, 65. In the fourth ward, 58 voters appeared at the polls, in the third 50 and in the fifth 46.

All the party committeemen and committeewomen and delegates to the party city conventions who were selected by their respective caucuses were also confirmed by the party voters in the primary.

Party Strength No significant difference in party strength was noted except in the third ward, which is traditionally Democratic. The Democratic primary voters outnumbered the Republicans 42 to 8.

In the second precinct of the second ward, in which both candidates for mayor have their homes, the party vote was evenly divided, 18 Republican ballots to 18 Democratic. Mayor Teeters received all of the 18 Republican votes while Professor Van der Zee received 15 of the 18 Democratic votes.

City Assessor William J. White, Democrat, who has been city assessor for at least 20 years, received more votes than any other candidate, 173.

For city treasurer, Milo Novy, Democrat, received 156 votes to E. B. Raymond's, Republican, 103. Scott Swisher, Democrat, received 157 votes to John Knox's, Republican, 98 for the position of police judge. For park commissioner, James T. Aldous, Democrat, received 158 votes to 96 cast for Dr. William Rohrbacher, Republican.

Alderman-at-Large The Democrats divided their votes almost evenly between their candidates for the two alderman-at-large. William E. Grandrath received 142 votes and Ruth A. Gallaher 141. For the Republicans, M. Dean Jones received 102 votes and I. J. Barron 93.

In the first ward, James M. Callahan, Democrat, received 38 votes for councilman to 21 cast for J. S. McLaughlin, Republican. The Democrats in the second ward gave their candidate for councilman, John A. Stromsten, 34 votes while Vernon I. Capen, Republican, received 30.

Third Ward Councilman For councilman from the third ward Charles T. Smith, Democrat, polled 42 votes to Adolph Boeyer's, Republican, 8.

Mrs. Evans A. Worthley, Democratic candidate for councilman from the fourth ward, received 28 votes to 21 cast for Carl S. Kringsel, Republican. Republican voters of the fifth ward gave their candidate for councilman, Roy A. Ewers, 19 votes while Ambrose E. Cooper, Democrat, polled 16.

Yanks Initiate Iwo Airfield; Most of Second Occupied

Reds Resume Drive West

Nazis Admit Loss Of Stronghold Only 51 Miles From Berlin

LONDON (AP)—German broadcast said last night that heavy fighting had erupted on a 100-mile front facing Berlin and Dresden and declared that other Soviet forces in the north had driven within 23 miles of Stettin, Pomeranian capital and Baltic port at the mouth of the Oder river.

The German report, possibly foreshadowing the expected all-out Soviet offensive against Berlin and central Germany, was not confirmed by Moscow.

A brief Soviet communique, announcing capture of five localities in east Prussia during slow one-mile gains, and the seizure of 15 more blocks in besieged Breslau, did not mention any fighting on the main front inside Germany.

Nor was any mention made by Moscow of the 200-mile northern Soviet flank front stretching from the lower Oder to the Vistula river in Poland. At the eastern end of the line the Russians were reported only 30 miles south of Danzig.

The enemy said that Soviet bridgeheads on the west bank of the Neisse river in the Lausitz district of swamps and highlands northwest of Goerlitz had been wiped out, but said that Red army shock troops held the suburbs of Guben and Forst, Neisse river strongholds 51 and 57 miles southeast of Berlin.

The Niza high command officially confirmed Sunday's German reports that the lower Hron river bridgehead held by Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's Second Ukrainian army east of Komarom (Komarno) and northwest of fallen Budapest had been wiped out. It said the Russians lost more than 4,000 dead and 700 prisoners. Ninety tanks and 304 guns were destroyed or captured, the bulletin said.

Moscow has acknowledged withdrawals in this area but not specified their extent.

British Bridge Irrawaddy

KANDY, Ceylon (AP)—British and Indian troops, plunging into the heart of Burma's rich oil fields, have slashed across the Irrawaddy river 92 miles southwest of Mandalay and captured the ancient Burmese city of Pagan after a short but bitter fight, southeast Asia command headquarters announced last night.

A bridgehead four miles deep and two and a half miles long was established and troops of the 14th army were thrown across the river in strength for a two-pronged drive on the big oil field towns of Chauk and Yenangyaung. Fighting was in progress last night, a communique said.

Pagan, seized in the initial assault, is known throughout the world for its 5,000 glittering pagodas and is considered one of the wonders of the east.

The latest crossing gave the allies three strong bridgeheads across the Irrawaddy above and below Mandalay.

The Japanese continued their desperate efforts to wipe out the 20th Indian division's bridgehead across the Irrawaddy 35 miles southwest of Mandalay.

MORTAR BOARD NOMINATIONS

Twenty women are to be selected from the junior class for nomination to Mortar Board, senior women's honorary group, by all women in the class. A meeting Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol will give all junior women an opportunity to vote. A short program will be given at that time and voting will continue until 6 o'clock, according to Jean Stamy, A4 of Marion, president of Mortar Board.

Allied Offensive Gains Momentum—Nazi Hold West of Rhine Slipping

By Kirke L. Simpson Nazi Germany's hold on the last crescent of the Reich west of the Rhine was fast slipping as the climactic allied winter offensive accelerated its speed.

From the Trier anchorage in the Moselle valley to the Emmerich gateway on the Rhine itself to the Hanoverian plain there was little to indicate any determined Nazi stand against the steadily mounting power General Eisenhower is bringing into action. American, British and Canadian troops were too rapidly shredding the last segments of the Siegfried line defenses west of the river for doubt that the enemy is pulling back behind the Rhine itself as best he can to escape being trapped with the river at his back.

Relatively the resistance encountered by the American First and Ninth armies in the center of the American Third army on the right flank appears no more than rear guard action. Whole complicated networks of trenches and anti-tank ditches have been found unmanned.

The only potentially serious natural obstacle on the First army front guarding Cologne is the Ert river. The Ert forms an inner moat for Cologne itself, most of which also lies on the west bank of the Rhine.

The Ert line is distinctly vulnerable, however. A broad sweep of open plain lies north of its eastward bend dotted only by the Gladbach industrial community group of which Odenkirchen is the southern member. Ninth army advance forces were nearing Odenkirchen as this was written, apparently aiming at slicing in between Gladbach and Dusseldorf. A gap six miles wide exists there and an allied penetration at that point would outflank the Ert most even before First army troops reach in on their direct march on Cologne.

The speed with which the First and Ninth armies forced the Roer and stormed on beyond it verifies the reports of gravely thinned out Nazi troop concentrations in the west to meet the Russian advance in the east. The same thing appeared true to even a greater extent in the surprise lunge of Patton's Third army on the right to invest Bitburg and Trier and threaten an immediate breakthrough to the middle Rhine down the Moselle valley.

The Nazi commander is up against the problem of shuffling his meagre first line reserves from point to point along a front now more than 200 miles wide and all flaming with action. Nor is it probable that Eisenhower has yet thrown his full strength into the wide and deep drive.

Marines Gain 400 Yards

Take Hill Overlooking Remaining Jap Positions on Island

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Tuesday (AP)—Two Jima's captured southern airfield was put to American use for the first time Monday while doughty United States marines advancing up to 400 yards captured an important hill overlooking most of the remaining Japanese positions.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported today that two-seater observation planes were using Motoyama No. 1 while Third marine division elements won most of the second airfield, Motoyama No. 2, in the center of the bitterly-contested island.

Use of Motoyama airfield No. 1 indicated that fighters soon may be flying off that major airbase, 750 miles from Tokyo.

Third division marines under Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Cates captured Hill 382, east of the central airfield. Militarily, the hill is as great a prize as captured Mt. Suribachi. From its artillery observers will be able to direct murderous fire on Japanese positions.

Opposition to the accelerated American push increased throughout the day. The deeply entrenched enemy threw a heavy rain of artillery shells and rockets at the advancing Yanks in the eighth day of this fiercest fight of the Pacific war.

All but the northeast tip of Motoyama airfield No. 2, a two-strip fighter field, was in American hands.

Mopping up continued south of captured Mt. Suribachi on the southern end of Iwo.

By 6 p. m. yesterday 3,568 Japanese dead had been counted. Nine enemy prisoners were taken. This was the first mention of prisoners. Meanwhile marine observation planes landed on the southern Iwo airstrip, captured Tuesday.

Supplies and equipment continued to pour ashore on Iwo's littered beaches. Road conditions were improved.

Liberators bombed Chichi Jima in the Bonin islands, immediately to the north, hitting oil storage areas and shipping. The Palau, Yap and Pagan were other targets.

Freer Trade Policies Proposed for Latins By U. S. Officials

MEXICO CITY (AP)—United States officials expressed confidence yesterday that quick agreement can be reached by the Inter-American conference on the economic charter for the Americas proposed by their country.

The United States, in two economic resolutions, laid down a set of principles to encourage lifting of trade barriers, support private enterprise, encourage industrialization of the Americas and protect foreign investments.

Similar proposals have been put forward by Mexico, Brazil and other countries, but with provisions for continuing trade controls as a protection to Latin America's new industries.

The expectation of United States diplomats, however, is that Washington's willingness to throw its weight behind Latin American economic development will secure adoption of freer trade principles by the Latins.

It was also ascertained that the United States is prepared to support Latin American proposals for a guarantee of frontiers in this hemisphere.

Let's Cooperate, Dogs!

WASHINGTON (AP)—The postoffice department called yesterday for strict enforcement of its regulation barring mail deliveries to homes having vicious dogs.

A total of 1,259 mail carriers were bitten by dogs in 1944.

"We've lost about 50,000 employees to the armed forces," an official said, "and we simply can't afford to have carriers chewed up."

Civil Government Returned to Filipinos

Americans Invade Verde Island, 15th In Philippines

MANILA, Tuesday (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, standing on the steps of war scarred Malacañan palace, today turned the civil government for liberated areas of the Philippines over to their president, Sergio Osmena, in a ceremony before wildly cheering Filipinos.

Meanwhile, veteran 24th division troops, taking the Japanese completely by surprise, invaded small Verde island between Luzon and Mindoro Sunday to secure the western end of the vital shipping route through the Philippines from the United States to Manila.

The Eighth army Yanks "went ashore with practically no loss," Gen. Douglas MacArthur said in his communique today.

He termed Verde, which lies midway in the narrow Verde island passage, "the key to the control of the main navigational route through the central Philippines."

With the battle for Manila ended, MacArthur announced that 3,056 Japanese dead had been counted on Corregidor fortress, besides the sealed-off enemy troops who have been blowing themselves up by touching off underground ammunition stores.

Far-ranging American bombers hit Formosa and North Borneo in their relentless campaign against enemy airdromes and shipping.

Verde is the 15th island MacArthur has invaded in the Philippines.

THREE YEARS LATER—MACARTHUR BACK ON BATAAN

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR is shown above as he views bodies of dead Jap soldiers, killed several hours before his arrival at Orion, Bataan, by 38th division troops. This is the general's first visit to the famous peninsula since he was forced to leave in 1942 by the invading Sons of Heaven. This is an official United States army signal corps photograph.

Failure to Capture Roer Dams Caused Delay in West

NEW YORK (AP)—Overshadowed by the bloody Ardennes breakthrough, which incidentally, it might be prevented, one of the most crucial struggles in American military history was waged in unpublished fury on the western front last November and December.

It was the grim, unadmitted battle for the Roer river dams. Had the allies achieved their control or destruction they might have plunged deeper into Germany, keeping Von Rundstedt always on the defensive.

Control Floodwaters
When they failed—despite supreme efforts by foot soldiers and fliers—the German chieftain maintained literal fingertip control over floodwaters capable of inundating hundreds of square miles of western front.

Holding the allies at bay behind that potential watery wall, Von Rundstedt gained the time he needed to prepare and unleash his Belgian counteroffensive.

Far too much hinged on the outcome of the struggle for either side to admit its importance at the time. Later it became lost in the chaotic crisis of the actual breakthrough.

11 Dam Sites
But there remains no doubt that the cluster of 11 dam sites—two main ones and nine small ones—some nine miles northeast of Monschau dictated the immediate movements of at least five armies and eventually affected the lives of thousands of soldiers.

The allies reached the Roer last November. At the river's headwaters lay the cluster of dams dominated by the Urftalsperre and the Schwammenauel—with a combined drainage area of more than 800 square miles.

Although engineering data concerning the dams is transcended by their military importance, it will give you an idea to point out that Schwammenauel, the largest dam, was 1,060 feet long, 180 feet high, 985 feet wide at its base and 34 feet wide at the top.

They could control the Roer's water level from a trickle to a flood stage for more than 40 miles northward to Roermond.

River Between
Reading from the north to south, the Second British army and the Ninth and First American armies were poised on or near the western bank of the river. Across the comparatively narrow channel lay the German Sixth Panzer and Fifteenth armies.

Had the Ninth army, for instance, elected to try past history shows it probably could have established a bridgehead beyond the Roer—and gone from there. But by merely throwing a switch on Schwammenauel the Germans could have flooded the valley; washed out pontoon bridges, inundated river-side supply dumps and isolated the bridgehead.

Then they could have crushed it, closed the dam gates and waited for the next attempt.

Crossing Futile
Crossing under those conditions obviously was futile.

The dam sites lay in front of the First army. In November the doughboys slugged their way through bloody Huertgen forest and reached the town of Schmidt—not big but important because it was the anchor point for the Roer dam network.

The attack purposely was played down by First army chieftains. If the Germans didn't realize the importance of Schmidt, why tell them?

Germany Knew
Needless to add, the Germans did know. Immediately a terrific enemy counterattack drove the doughboys slowly back out of Schmidt. And the risk taught Von Rundstedt his lesson. He strengthened his defense of dam system keypoint and it was nearly three months before an American soldier again set foot on the streets of Schmidt.

The allied attempt to seize control of the Roer dam network by ground was lost, but still neither side gave the slightest official indication of the importance of the struggle for Schmidt. The allies had another card up their sleeve and the German's still didn't know whether coincidence or design lay behind the sudden stab at Schmidt.

Destroy Dams
Then the allies decided that, if they couldn't control the dams, the best thing to do was to destroy them, unless the flood and get it over with. Once the waters had subsided, they could have continued with crossing plans.

Early in December British Lancasters were sent over again and again to bomb Schwammenauel dam.

Day after day they tried and the dramatic tension increased. A code grapevine system was set up along the river so that if the bombers succeeded doughboys hugging the water's edge could pull back before the flood reached their foxholes.

Weather was bad and some days the Lancasters failed to find the target. When they did get through they missed.

Now both sides knew what was up, but each maintained a grim silence and later it was learned the Germans also set up their code "flood warning" system.

Lower Boom
Finally the bombers lowered the boom on the dam—and more than once—but the screaming explosives managed only to dig craters in the massive earthen work.

The day those bombers actually hit the dam and failed to crack it was perhaps the most tragic day in all the months of fighting since the allies had been unable to follow through their initial advantage after overrunning France.

For it was then that the front's initiative left allied hands and went over to the Germans. The next move was Von Rundstedt's.

We didn't know it at the time, however. On the night of December 16, some of us still were waiting up there in Germany along the Roer—expecting a message any hour that the dam had cracked and the flood was coming.

When the message came next morning, it was different. The flood wasn't coming, but the Germans were. They had broken through down in Belgium and were running wild.

The battle for the dams had to be postponed.

The Long Income Tax Form

WASHINGTON (AP)—You must use the long form 1040 as an income tax return if your income was $5,000 or more in 1944, or if you claim deductions amounting to more than 10 percent of your income.

If you do use the long form, be sure to gather all necessary information before starting to fill out the return. It will save you considerable trouble and perhaps some money.

Write this information on one or more work sheets in the following order:

1. Income in 1944—amount of wages and other income received.
2. Deductible expenses—expenses necessary to your work or business.
3. Deductions—certain kinds of taxes, interest, contributions, losses from fire, storm and theft and unusually large medical expenses.
4. Taxes already paid—amount withheld from wages and amount of estimated tax paid on 1944 income.

Read carefully the four-page pamphlet of instructions for form 1040. If you didn't receive these instructions and form 1040 in the mail, you can obtain both from a collector's office in your district, a postoffice, bank or possibly your employer.

When you start to fill out the return, have on hand your work sheets with the necessary figures on income, deductions and taxes paid on 1944 income. With these work sheets as guides, fill out your return one step at a time.

Follow the numbered directions on your return and don't worry about the next step until you get to it.

Syria Declares War

LONDON (AP)—Syria yesterday became the third middle east nation within four days to declare war on the Axis.

The Beyrouth radio announced the Syrian president in a 20-minute speech to the chamber of deputies had asserted that since the beginning of hostilities Syria had placed all resources at allied disposal and now wished to take an active part in the struggle.

Former Guest Editor of Mademoiselle Magazine— Writer, Cartoonist, Photographer--Frigol Ed

By JOHNNY JOHNSTON
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

The gal with the long blonde hair, the baby blue eyes and the angelic smile who is seen haunting East hall and the Frivol office is Phyllis Shambaugh, G of Clarinda.

Call her Phyl, call her Ruthie—may it Daisy or Bo—it makes no difference. The broad smile and slow drawl will respond. The country clerk wrote "Phyllis Ruth Shambaugh" on her birth certificate, but after yea these many years—22 to be exact—she is referred to most generally by the distinctive "Shambo."

Guest Editor

Talent emanates from Shambo as light does from the sun. The highlight of her career thus far was in the summer of 1943 when she was one of 14 college women from all over the country who were chosen to be guest editors for the college issue of Mademoiselle, fashion magazine. This meant a month in New York for "work."

As the Design-for-Living editor, she was responsible for redecorating two rooms at Sarah Lawrence college and for writing an explanatory article which accompanied the "before and after" pictures in the publication. The issue also contained pictures of Shambo modeling fall clothes and a page of Shambo cartoons, depicting the experiences of the guest editors in The Big City.

Shambo met and had a short interview with Milton Caniff, the artist who pens "Terry and the Piers." She has a cartoon which he drew for her at that time, and thinks Caniff is tops in his field. She also goes for James Thurber's cartoons.

On the Iowa campus the fair-haired Clarinda maid edits Frivol and takes graduate work in journalism. She was graduate from the University of Iowa last spring with a major in fine arts. Preceding this she attended Christian college for a year.

"Frivol is really groovy this year" comes the comment from undergraduates, who eat up the magazine from cover to cover each month. Under Phyl's guidance one magazine has really become a publication of the students.

Checkful of original and clever ideas herself, Phyl also has the knack of recognizing ideas of staff members as those that will pan out.

"Frivol, as a college magazine, should not be just a bunch of jokes, but should reflect the spirit and ideas of the campus and be an active force in campus activities," Phyl believes. In accordance with this, the magazine sponsored a cove date with Frankie Masters when his hand played here recently, and the money was distributed to the World Student

Phyllis Shambaugh

Service Fund.

Ideas which the editor has authored include the cover designs featuring a combination of photography and art work with unique color schemes and the plan dedicating each issue to a department, school or college of the university. Those who know Shambo recognize traces of her personality throughout Frivol's pages.

Adept at cartooning, Phyl can let her imagination run rampant in that field. She is also an old hand at caricatures drawing. One of her idiosyncrasies is that she does all of her drawing seated upon the floor. She also makes models out of clay and then paints them when they are dry.

Although majoring in art, Phyl took several journalism courses in her senior year—and liked 'em so well she decided to come back and get an M. A. degree in that department.

News photography especially took the blonde bomber's fancy and she now takes most of the "crazy shots" for Frivol. Not only does she enjoy shooting the film in the first place but likes to develop the film and print the result. Developing film in Shambo-

ese is "agitatin'."

"Wud be nice if they had sech things as dumbells and pulling machines in the dark room, so one could develop physically while waiting for other developments," is her sage philosophy on that phase of the field.

Iowa's "Blue Jean" girl lives in an apartment with three other happy-go-lucky gals, which adds up to hubbub. None of them knew a potato masher from an egg beater when they "set up housekeeping"—but now they are experienced cooks—or so they say.

Each day and two dish washers, their personnel shifting each day. This means that each of them cooks meals three times a week. Overcome with their ability to cook, the quartet even contemplated baking pies to sell at Christmas time.

With a marked dislike of convention, Shambo initiated the Iowa custom of girls wearing blue jeans to classes. These together with a plaid shirt and moccasins make up her favorite outfit. She is an outdoor girl, hates to be cooped up, loves to go for long walks and ride bicycles, anticipates spring so she can go roller-skating.

Phyl always wants to do gay, crazy things that she'll always remember—with a laugh. Like working up vaudeville acts and tap dancing in the corridors of East hall. Like the day when she and another gal each bought six Hershey candy bars, climbed on a bus and spent the afternoon riding the bus and eating the candy.

Modesty personified, Shambo is more proud of the fact that she can stand on her head for five minutes than she is of the honor in working for Mademoiselle for or of being an editor.

No account of Shambo would be fitting or proper without mention of her fiance, Pvt. Bob Watkins, who is fighting with the army on Saipan. Before Uncle Sam beckoned, Bob had come to Oklahoma to be an art student at the University of Iowa. They met in an art class and became friends during the rest periods when they would stand on their heads in front of the art building.

Probably one of the luckiest G. I.'s when it comes to mail call time, Bob not only gets letters with the Shambo spirit and humor, but letters all decked out with her cartoons on the envelopes.

Then on special occasions, which range all the way from the Fourth of July to "Because It's Thursday," the lad gets packages from her. Her boxes are not always beautiful, sometimes just significant. Like the time she sent along a dictionary as a subtle suggestion for his misspelled words.

Engaged

Until a little over a week ago, the two were "engaged to be engaged" but at that time a formal announcement was made and now she wears his diamond.

As a centerpiece for the party she made a clay figure of Bob complete with cowboy togs and lariat.

Wistfully, Shambo is waiting for Bob's return when they can again don blue jeans and go for hikes and chomp peanuts in movies.

She is co-writing a children's book with Fred Hedges, G of Cedar Rapids, to be entitled "Doodle, the Duck Who Didn't Know He Was a Duck!" The plot: duckling is born in house. Hence, thinks he is a human.

The blonde artist-journalist will try to finish her thesis by April. And then—summer in New York living in Greenwich Village.

Phyl is a Tri-Delt, socially, and a Theta Sig, professionally.

Eventually, the talented miss wants to write and do art work for some magazine in the East. So there you have Phyllis Ruth Shambaugh, definitely an Iowa personality, an individualistic individual with a mind of her own.

The University Chorus Concert

By PHILIP GREELEY CLAPP

Less than a fortnight ago, a large audience heard and enjoyed the Westminster Choir, one of the finest two or three school choirs in this country. Its principal rival, the St. Olaf choir, has been heard here within the memory of many Iowa City music lovers.

There may even be a few students who recall a visit in November, 1938, of the Dresden Boys' choir.

These and other famous choirs of young voices still under training produce at their best a quality of performance comparable artistically with that of the best professional choruses. The type of training may be described as either the choir-school plan or the professional school plan.

A European or English choir-school selects promising boy singers, and offers them successively a primary, secondary, and professional school education so long as they develop and improve.

In our own country such a school as the Westminster Choir school selects the best from among many young adult applicants, some of them already professional, and offers them intensive professional training at what we should call the graduate level. In either case the type of training is predominantly vocational, and most of the participants' time is spent in the study and practice of individual and ensemble singing. Most of the graduates become professional singers and choral directors.

But not all the fine singing in the world is done by professionals. The great English choral societies and nearer-home, such choral societies as the Handel and Haydn Society of Boston or the Mendelssohn Choir of Toronto are made up of members from every conceivable walk of life; the Bethlehem Choir (Pennsylvania) is made up chiefly of workers in the steel industry; and there are justly celebrated Doctors' Chorus in several American cities, which do beautiful work in spite of having to rehearse only during doctors' spare time! Before the war such an avocational choir as the Prague Teachers' chorus toured the world giving performances of the highest artistic standard.

Our own University chorus is, as its name implies, a chorus for the whole university, attracting members from practically every college and department. Less than half of its members are listed as "music majors," and many of these plan eventually to teach in the public schools rather than to become professional singers.

To become a member one must sing fairly well and be eager to learn and improve, but phenomenal voices or extensive previous experience neither can nor should be demanded. Rehearsals are not twice daily but twice weekly. No member devotes most or all of his time to singing; both music majors and non-majors follow a typical university curriculum in their respective colleges and departments. Their common bonds are a love of music and a love of singing; and these suffice to produce some beautiful performances.

The University chorus presents a program tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in Iowa Union. If you enjoy choral music, come and listen.

Opinions on and Off the Campus— What Do You Think of the Midnight Curfew?

Ronald Jensen, E2 of Moline, Ill.: "I think they are going a little far. When the government attempts to cut down on night life, people don't appreciate it and there will probably be a great deal of criticism."

Martha Long, A2 of Washington: "It doesn't bother me very much because I have to be in by 10:30 except on weekends anyway."

Jean Stamy, A4 of Marion: "I believe that it is a very good idea. It is a little thing we can do to help the war effort, and I really don't hurt anyone."

Jean Utter, A2 of Columbus Junction: "I think that it is a good way to save coal, because there isn't much to do after midnight anyway."

Waldo Geiger, rent control examiner of Iowa City: "I think that it is a good idea. There is no reason why these places need to be open later except possibly to accommodate swing shift workers. If night club owners are affected financially, they could go into war work."

Don Pierce, A4 of Iowa City: "I think that it is certainly a good idea. If people work all day they should get the extra sleep at night. If they don't work all day they shouldn't need to worry about late entertainment."

George Rebal, grocer: "I think it is justified as long as the government thinks we need to conserve fuel. It will undoubtedly be a great hardship on night life in cities, but I don't believe that the Midwest will be affected very much."

Joy Ann Bates, A2 of Grinnell: "I think it is a good idea because electricity and fuel will be conserved. With the midnight curfew people will have less time to spend money for entertainment and will have more available for the purchase of war bonds."

Jean Horak, A3 of Cedar Rapids: "I don't think it would have been done if not necessary, and anything that will aid or shorten the war should be accepted willingly by civilians."

Cosline Sandry, A2 of Clear Lake: "It is probably a good thing as far as the fuel shortage is concerned, but people will stay out later anyway and waste such valuable items as tires and gasoline."

Jane Endersbee, A3 of Wilmette, Ill.: "It doesn't make a great deal of difference here because the girls have early hours and the boys at the pre-flight school also have hours."

Marine Pfc. Al Dolezal of Iowa City: "I am not in favor of it because it doesn't give a serviceman much chance to have any fun. Not many of the other servicemen like it either."

New Mortar Board Project to Supply Hospital With Shows

Members to Arrange Variety Entertainments For Sick Patients

"Shows for Schick" . . . a new project for Mortar Board, senior women's honorary organization.

Mortar Board members, under the leadership of president Jean Stamy, A4 of Marion, have taken over the project of supplying entertainment for men at Schick hospital in Clinton every Saturday afternoon.

"The project came about in cooperation with Miss Hazel Swim, director of Currier hall," explained Marilyn Nesper, A4 of Toledo, Ohio, who is in charge of publicity for the Mortar Board shows. "We knew she was chairman of the Red Cross camp and hospital committee in Johnson county, so we contacted her about a project. She gave us information about the need for recreation at Schick hospital and helped us start the job," Miss Nesper continued.

According to Miss Swim, entertainment for the men at Schick hospital is planned from time to time by various groups in this part of the state. With an influx of patients, the army hospital lacked enough recreation for them and asked that some university group sponsor the project.

Members of the Art guild have made the trip to Clinton several Saturday afternoons to do portraits of the men in the hospital and to lead in craft recreation.

It was early this semester that Mortar Board members became interested in the hospital work and took over the entertainment project. Kathryn Katschkowsky, A4 of Elkhart, is general chairman of "Shows for Schick." Jean Hardie Willis, A4 of Freeport, Ill., is in charge of gathering talent for the Saturday afternoon programs and Ann Mercer, A4 of Iowa City, is responsible for transportation to Clinton.

The variety shows will include dancing, singing, skits, music, reading and even magic shows by university students, both men and women. Mortar Board members plan to arrange entertainment for each Saturday afternoon, when a group of students with a definite show programmed will repeat their performance in several wards of the hospital.

General student participation in the plan begins this week, when a survey will be made of talented people willing to contribute their time and talents to go to Clinton later in the semester. Every student will be contacted through housing units, either by a house activity chairman or a dormitory unit chairman, and asked to volunteer his services. A talent list will then be filed, from which varied programs will be worked out. Results of the survey in housing units must be turned in at Iowa Union information desk by Thursday.

Townpeople are being contacted to contribute means of transportation. Anyone willing to lend cars for this service will be given gas by the Red Cross, Miss Mercer promised. The recreation project will begin as soon as possible, although no definite starting date has yet been named. Letters are being sent to advise chairmen of dormitory units and house activity chairmen about the Mortar Board project, as the first step in organizing "Shows for Schick."

dances and serves on the Frivol staff. She is program chairman for the freshman "Y" group this year.

The shows will carry out one of the three aims of Mortar Board, which stresses scholarship, leadership and service. Members of the Iowa chapter of the national honorary organization are Miss Stamy; Miss Nesper; Miss Mercer; Kathleen O'Connor, A4 of Iowa City; Elizabeth Brinker, M1 of Keokuk; Margaret Rowland, A4 of Dayton, Ohio; Mary Ann Kurtz and Marion MacEwen, both of Iowa City, and Elaine Brody Silverman of Centerville, who were graduated at the December Convocation.

R. J. Laird Compares Veteran Affairs Of Two World Wars at Legion Meeting

"The World War II man had a poppa who went to bat for him and saw that he got what he was entitled to."

This is the difference between veteran affairs after World War I and those of the present war as pointed out by R. J. Laird, department adjutant of the American Legion, who was the guest speaker at the Iowa City post's show last night at the Community building. Laird, who is from Des Moines, stated, "In September, 1940, when the selective service act was passed, the American Legion felt it had a duty to its country and sons to see actively that they didn't face the problems World War I veterans faced."

The Legion fostered the soldiers and sailors relief act which specified that men could get back their old jobs if they applied 90 days after discharge or could obtain a job through the United States employment service if they wanted a new job.

"They don't want apple peddling jobs," the speaker commented. "The employment situation is not a problem now, but will be in the future. The USES will find jobs for veterans, but the citizen also comes into the picture. Industry will be asked to employ discharged men rather than those who were not in service."

The speaker advocated special training for disabled veterans such as the program the Ford Motor company has established.

Showing the great contrast between pensions of 25 years ago and today Laird explained that at the close of World War I a veteran who was permanently and totally disabled due to service received $30 a month compared with $115 a month at the present time.

University Chorus To Appear in Concert

110 Voices to Present 'Stabat Mater' Work In Union Wednesday

Outstanding on the concert program to be presented Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the main lounge of Iowa Union by the university chorus is "Stabat Mater" (Pergolesi). Herald Stark of the music department will direct the chorus.

Pergolesi lived to be only 26 years old. He was born in 1710 and died in 1736. This is one of two monumental works left by the young composer, the other being a comic opera. "Stabat Mater" is written for a two-part chorus, soprano and alto, with solo parts.

The soloists for Wednesday evening's performance are: Jean McFadden, A4 of Oskaloosa, Patricia Miller, A3 of Iowa City, soprano; Faye Vondraska, G of Oskaloosa, Mary Jane Neville, A4 of Emmetsburg, alto; Joyce Horton, A3 of Osceola, will be accompanist. The chorus will be made up of 110 voices.

The second half of the concert will be devoted to a variety of pieces: "Gentle Christ, My Lord Above" (Albert Kranz); "Ave Verum Corpus" (William Bruce); "Cherubim Song" (Glinka); "Ascendit Deus" (Jacobus Gallus); "A Virgin Unspotted", "Creation" and "Be Glad then America" (William Billings); "Two Roses" (Cui).

Eugene Bruce, G of Iowa City, will sing "Credo" (A. Gretchaninof). Don Ecroys, G of Arkansas City, Kan., will sing "Poor Wayfaring Stranger" (Siegmeyer). Both of these soloists will be accompanied by the chorus. The final number on the program is "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" (Louis Lambert).

Tickets for this concert are now available at the information desk at Iowa Union and may be obtained free of charge.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Iowa put on a second-half spurt to defeat Minnesota, 55-48, in a Big Ten basketball game here last night.

Hold Lead

The Gophers held the lead most of the first half, but were unable to stem the Hawkeye surge. Herb Wilkinson, with 16 points, paced Iowa to victory. Kleggie Hermesen led Minnesota with 14 points.

MINNEAPOLIS—Iowa's Hawkeyes started fast here last night, scoring on a basket by Clay Wilkinson, but soon faded out of the picture as the powerful Gopher attack, led by Clarence Hermesen and Chet Tomczyk started to click. The Minnesota quintet had pushed the score to 12 to 7 before the Hawks hit again on a field goal, and once again it was Murray Wier who ignited the Hawk scoring spark as he hit for nine points in the first half. With Wier, Dick Ives and Clay Wilkinson scoring regularly, the Hawks gradually erased their point deficit to squeeze out a 25 to 21 halftime margin.

With the Wilkinson brothers hitting from all angles, the Hawks moved to a 29 to 21 advantage just two minutes after the second half opened, but once again the giant Minnesota center, "Kleggie" Hermesen, hit twice to cut the lead. The Gophers kept within striking distance all the way.

With four minutes left, Clay Wilkinson left the game on fouls, and shortly after, little Murray Wier, his substitute, also collected his fifth miscue. Playing with a skeleton crew, the Hawks, nevertheless, continued to score and kept five or six points ahead of the desperate Gophers. As the clock played out the game, the Hawks started stalling, and the Gophers started fouling.

Murray Wier was, undoubtedly, the sparkplug once again, but the all-around ability of Herb Wilkinson cannot be slighted. The tall Utah guard collected 16 points on five goals and six free throws to lead the Hawks to their tenth conference victory.

Iowa Baseball Team Loses Catcher Rice

The Iowa baseball squad has lost another star catcher. With the departure of Jim Rice for the navy this week, the Iowa diamond now suffered its second backstop blow since Jim Hansen withdrew earlier this semester.

Rice returned to the university after taking his draft physical last week, expecting to be here until the end of the school term, but he received his orders later in the week.

"We felt pretty good when Jim returned to the team," Coach "Waddy" Davis said, "but now things don't look so rosy." Davis said he plans to train Jack Kelo, Jack Spencer, Al McLaughlin, Joe Zuller or Chuck Uknes for the catching post.

Blue Hawks—Face Tourney Test

The University high Blue Hawks will open their assault on the state high school basketball championship tonight at Kalona as they meet the Washington Demons at 8:30 in the sectional tournament.

U-high and Washington represent the opposite extremes in their leagues, as the Rivermen have won the championship of the Eastern Iowa conference with seven wins and no losses, while the Demons hold down last place in the very tough Little Six league.

Tougher Competition
The Demons, facing much tougher competition than the Blue Hawks, have met such teams as Ottumwa, Muscatine and Ft. Madison, and should put up a real battle, as they are known as a "tournament-tough" team.

University high has come through a successful season, since they won 11 contests while losing two in the regular schedule, both losses coming on foreign courts to larger schools.

Four Entered
Four teams are entered in the Class A division of the Kalona sectional, Kalona and Lone Tree being the other schools. The sectional finals will be held Saturday

Minors Demand Vote On Majors New Head

Committee to Revise Existing Major-Minor Agreement of Leagues

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—A 10-member minor league committee yesterday recommended that "for the best interest of baseball," the National association of Minor Leagues should play a part in the selection of a new commissioner to succeed the late K. M. Landis.

The committee which opened a three-day session to revise the existing major-minor league agreement also went on record as favoring "certain legislation for the protection of the minor leagues that would enable the National association to either reaffirm or cancel the agreement governing the relationship between the major and minor leagues."

No Public Hearing
Action of the committee was announced by Chairman Tom Richardson, president of the Eastern league, who earlier had declared there would be no public airing of the committee's recommendations. He did not amplify his statement referring to legislation aimed at "protecting" the minor leagues.

The resolution urging a minor league role in selection of Landis' successor also proposed that the National association should "pay a part of the expense of the commissioner's office."

The salary of the still unnamed commissioner was set at $50,000 annually by the major leagues recently. Richardson did not indicate the share the minors desire to contribute.

Protective Legislation
The suggestion that the minors resort to protective legislation was made, Richardson's statement asserted, because "it seems the successor of the late commissioner is to be selected by the major leagues without consulting the national association."

Hence the threat of canceling the minor-major league agreement obviously was intended to prod the majors into asking minor league cooperation in selection of a successor to Landis before the wheels of nomination are set in motion.

A four-member joint major committee had been scheduled to hold its first formal meeting to sift commissioner candidates in St. Louis today, but the parley was suddenly cancelled.

Committee Urged
The committee urged that its proposals be studied "by the entire body of the National association at the next regular meeting after the naming of the new commissioner," inferring that whether or not the minors help pick Landis' successor they still may kick the major league traces.

Led by Steve Nusser, stellar forward and Jim Williams, one of the finest all-around guards to come from U-high in recent years, the Blue Hawks are slight favorites to win tonight's game, but nothing can be counted as a sure thing in the state tournament series, as upsets are bound to occur at any time.

The Rivermen are expecting most of their trouble tonight from two men, Maxwell, high scoring forward, and Box, stellar guard. Coach Wedemeyer will probably start Red Morris and Steve Nusser at forwards, Ray McDonald at center, and Jim Williams and John Miller at guards. McDonald is the man who showed up so well in last Friday's victory over West Branch. He will be spelled at the center post by Leslie Meredith.

Coach Ross Wedemeyer's men went through a light workout yesterday in final preparation for the important game tonight.

Only Twice
The Trojans, champions of the Ke-Wash conference, have tasted defeat only twice this year and at the same time have chalked up 12 victories. The quietest, paced by DeLong, leading scorer in the Ke-Wash league, is expected to provide some tough competition for the mighty little Ramblers.

St. Mary's, the Davenport Diocesan champion, has a record of 16 won and 5 lost. Within the last two weeks, however, the Marians have dropped two contests—one to their city rivals, St. Patrick's, and the other to the highly-rated Immaculate Conception five of Cedar Rapids.

For Hawklets—Two More

Lineups Indefinite

Coach Francis Suplee of St. Mary's said yesterday his starting lineup is indefinite, but if the Ramblers show up as favorably as they did in the Diocesan tournament a month ago, it is likely that all 10 members of the squad will get a chance to see some action in the tilt tonight. Tom Stahl and John O'Brien, running neck and neck for scoring honors of the team, will undoubtedly provide the offensive power of the Iowa City entrants.

Easy Victory
The Red and White basketballers have won eight conference games and lost but two this season. Whether Friday night's game with Roosevelt will stand on the official conference records for the season is still not known but, now that the Little Hawks have clinched the title, it makes little difference.

Next Week
Iowa City will start play in the district tournament next week, while the sectional tournament for the smaller schools will take place this week with the winners advancing to the district tourney.

All persons holding season tickets to the Hawklet contests are urged to keep them, since these tickets will admit them to the Oskaloosa game Saturday afternoon. Those without season tickets will pay the regular price of admission.

Golden Gloves Commences
CHICAGO (AP)—The 18th annual Golden Gloves tournament, amateur boxing's biggest and most colorful competition, opened in the Chicago stadium last night with swingers from 28 cities in 23 states engaging in 77 stirring bouts in the 112, 118, 126 and 133-pound divisions.

220 Entrants
Boxers in the four heavier weight classes will go into action tonight. The original starting field of 220 will be reduced to 32 survivors Wednesday night for the championship finals to be decided March 9.

The crowd was impressed with William Stevenson, 6-year-old Negro of Cleveland, Ohio, who turned in two spectacular victories in the 126-pound class.

Stevenson Wins Two
Stevenson got off the floor to knock out Troy Luckett, Muncie, Ind., in one minute and 26 seconds of the first round, and came back to outpoint Wray Carter of Chicago. In three blistering rounds of his second bout of the night, Stevenson, a rangy southpaw, gave promise of carrying on to the finals.

Frank Lawrence, owner of the Portsmouth club in the Piedmont league, predicted the minors might match the majors in quality of play.

St. Mary's To Inaugurate Sectional Play

Ramblers Will Meet West Chester Tonight In First Class B Tilt

Inaugurating play in the state high school basketball tournament at Kalona tonight will be the St. Mary's Ramblers who are pitted against West Chester in the initial game of the sectionals, scheduled to get under way at 7 o'clock in the Kalona gym.

Both teams have impressive season's records, and it is very likely that the winner of this game will represent the upper bracket in the Class B finals Saturday night, although, Kimross might prove to be a dark horse in this bracket.

Maybe So

By BOB KRAUSE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

WELL, IT WAS ALL GRAVY last night, but not the kind that Mother used to make. Too many lumps in it—tough chunks of Gopher meat. And, because Minnesota was as stubborn as a jammed bureau drawer, the Hawkeyes deserve all the more credit.

The way we see it Kleggie Hermesen wasn't kidding last week when he said—we presume—gritted teeth that Iowa was the team the Gophers wanted to beat.

Slow Style
But Minnesota played the way the Hawks seem to like the game played. In the early stages their slow, deliberate style had Harrison's men more than somewhat upset. To us it seemed to be a repeat of the first Wisconsin game when the Badgers had Iowa well fooled by all the under-the-basket sleight of hand.

But you heard what happened. After a while Murray Wier and Herb Wilkinson and the rest of the gang decided that it was too cold up north and that they better end this thing right quick like. So they did.

Tough One
Obviously, it was one of the Hawkeyes' toughest games and they came through like the champions you hope, and we think, they should be some time next Saturday night.

Incidentally, although the contest with Illinois is of easy-to-see importance, it has taken on a slightly different aspect than it had a couple of weeks back.

Not Now
At that time the basketball public was under the impression that the Hawks and the Illini would be battling for the title. Not so now. And that is what will make things doubly tough, on Iowa.

Illinois can now come to Iowa City with nothing more at stake than whether they will have any fun out here after their long ride. But there will be a number of citizens at Columbus, Ohio, who are quite likely to have more than a passing interest in the affair. The pressure is all on the Hawks and the championship is at stake.

Speaking of the championship we are somewhat at loss for words. We haven't been out here as long as some but, we understand, if Iowa wins it will be their first clear first place since many years ago—more than 20, anyway. This would certainly seem to be quite an occasion and certainly cause for a display of enthusiasm Friday night. Can you hear us cheerleaders?

In addition, WSUI will announce at 8:15 this morning just what time the team will arrive in Iowa City. We have heard stories of how Iowa football teams used to be greeted by the assembled multitudes in days gone by. Isn't this the time for a repeat performance? Let's hope there'll be a goodly number of the faithful at the station.

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Golfer Bob Hamilton passed his pre-induction physical here yesterday at the induction center.

Induction service officials here said they would report to Hamilton's local board at Evansville, Ind., that he was acceptable for military service.

Purdue's 1945 all-opponent basketball team included Dick Ives of Iowa, Hank Majorki of Great Lakes, George Mikan of De Paul, Billy Hasset of Notre Dame, and Dick McGuire of Great Lakes.

U-High's Basket Star

By JERRY BLOOM
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

"The little man who gets way up there" is a good description of Charles "Red" Morris, five foot, nine inch University high forward.

Red is noted for his ability to grab rebounds from his taller opponents, especially off the offensive backboard. He has scored a lot of points during the past season on tip-in shots, a good many more than would have been expected of a man of his size against the height he has faced during the year.

Transfer Student
Along with Jack Kennedy, Red is a transfer at U-high, having moved with his parents to Iowa City, where his father is stationed as a lieutenant at the Pre-Flight school, from Abilene, Texas, in his junior year of high school.

Although he participated in no varsity sports in the large Abilene high school, Red has been a major feature of the University high football and basketball teams of the last two years.

University Ranks High in National Rifle Contest

A former winner in the annual national rifle contest for the William Randolph Hearst R. O. T. C. trophy, the University of Iowa again ranked near the top in the contest in which universities, colleges, prep and high schools from the nation were competitors. Louis Arp, A1 of Moline, Ill., a member of Team 1 from the university, ranked individual honors, ranking second highest in the national contest. Arp scored 181 out of a possible 200 points.

Two teams represented the University of Iowa in the competition. Team 1, which ended in 14th place, was made up of five members: William Chapman, A1 of Blencoe; Dan Dorn, A1 of Ft. Madison; R. Richard Nelson, A1 of Council Bluffs; Robert Reimer, A1 of Schleswig, and Arp.

Team 2 ranked in ninth place, with the following team members: William Burney and William Coder, both A1 of Iowa City; Robert Davidson, A1 of Mechanicsville; Charles Weeber, A1 of Albia and Duane Wilson, E1 of What Cheer.

Iowa State Ties Kansas Jayhawkers For Big Six Lead

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP)—Iowa State defeated Kansas State, 44-39, here last night and pulled up alongside the Kansas Jayhawkers at the top of the Big Six basketball conference.

Sets Stage
The Cyclones' triumph set the stage for their championship game with Kansas U. at Ames Friday night. Both Iowa State and the Jayhawkers have won seven and lost two games.

The Iowans, came from behind last night after an early rush of shots by Joe Ridgeway, Jay Payton and Dave Weatherby had given K-State a 20-10 lead in the initial 10 minutes of the game.

Find Range
Bill Block, Iowa State captain, and Orlyn Feuerbach, Cyclone forward, finally found the range and led the Iowans to a 29-25 advantage at the half.

Drake Closes Season By Trimming Central

PELLA (AP)—Drake's basketball team ended its season last night just where it started it on Nov. 30—with a victory over Central. This time, however, in contrast to their opening 72-39 romp—the Bulldogs had to fight from behind to win, 41 to 25.

The Dutchmen sailed into a five-point lead with five minutes to go in the first half and still were in front, 17-15, at half-time.

'Prayer' to Be Theme Of 'Little Chapel' Services Today

Rose Marie Essley, A3 of New Boston, Ill., will be in charge of the Y. W. C. A. "Little Chapel" service this afternoon from 12:50 to 1:05 o'clock in the Little Chapel of the Congregational church. Eileen Serschen, A1 of Cleveland, Ohio, will sing "The Lord's Prayer" for the musical part. These services are conducted by the Y. W. C. A. every Tuesday afternoon. Carol Raymond, A3 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, is the chairman.

Mary Ann Kurtz, Ray Louis Winders Wed Sunday in Candlelight Service in Chapel

In a candlelight ceremony, Mary Ann Kurtz, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Edwin B. Kurtz, 242 Person avenue, became the bride of Ray Louis Winders, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Winders of Marshalltown, Sunday at 3:30 p. m. in the Little Chapel of the Congregational church. The Rev. Iliot T. Jones officiated at the double ring service before an altar banked with white carnations.

Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Jacob Van der Zee presented nuptial organ selections including "Prayer" from Hansel and Gretel (Humperdinck); "Ave Maria" (Bach-Gounod); "Liebestraum" (Liszt); "I Love Thee" (Grieg); and the traditional wedding marches.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Frank Seydel Jr. of Iowa City. John Garland, student in the college of medicine at the university, served as best man, and Robert Van der Zee of Iowa City was usher.

Wears White Velvet
 The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white transparent velvet, which her sister had worn at her wedding. The torso-length bodice was fashioned with a square neckline, and full-length sleeves, and extended into a full gathered skirt. Her veil of illusion net fell from a white tiara and her only jewelry was a lavalier worn by her mother and sister at their wedding. She carried a white Rainbow Bible centered with a shower of American beauty roses, white sweetpeas and violets.

The matron of honor wore a floor-length gown of American beauty rose silk velveteen, which the bride had worn as maid of honor at the wedding of the matron of honor. The dress was designed similarly to the bride's with a square neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a Juliette cap and her only jewelry was a strand of pearls. Red roses and white sweetpeas formed her colonial bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kurtz selected a dress of gold colored gabardine with a shoulder corsage of violets. The bridegroom's mother chose a black and white ensemble, which was accented by a shoulder corsage of white sweetpeas.

Reception at Sorority
 Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the Delta Delta sorority house. Centering the serving table was a wedding cake in the shape of a maltese cross, surrounded with violets and sweetpeas. Bouquets of white flowers were also included in the floral decorations.

Hostesses were Lillian Castner, Winifred Johnson, Terry Noe, Kathryn Katschkowsky, Jean Stamy, Mrs. Helen Pollock Groom, Marianna Tuttle, Betty Winders and Marjorie Kurtz.

Presiding at the tea were Mrs. LeRoy Mercer, Mrs. L. A. Ware, Mrs. F. M. Dawson, Mrs. Ralph Freyder, Mrs. Clifford Palmer, Mrs. Kirk Porter, Mrs. Homer Dill, Mrs. George Glockler, Mrs. Frank Lorenz, Mrs. Fred Ambrose and Mrs. Milford Barnes.

Later the couple left on a wedding trip and for traveling the bride selected a navy blue dress complemented with navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

University Graduates
 The bride was graduated from University high school and the University of Iowa, where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta social sorority, Omicron Nu, home economics sorority, and Mortar

Seven Hostesses Honor Bride-Elect At Shower Sunday

In honor of Ellen Thompson, bride-elect, seven women entertained at a miscellaneous shower Sunday at 7:30 in the home of Mildred and Ruth Wislef, 511 E. Washington street. The hostesses included Ann Runyon, Dorothy Jane Becker, Virginia Anderson, Margaret Waggoner and Gertrude Grothaus. Guests who shared in the courtesy were Pat Grothaus, Mary Lamb, Jean Kuehl, Ceila Ekeley and Jane Boltz.

Miss Thompson, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Thompson of Clinton, formerly of Iowa City, will become the bride of Dean Moberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Moberg of Des Moines, March 2.

THESE JAP SHIPS HAVE LANDED FOR THE LAST TIME

BATTERED AND STRIPPED on the beach of Iwo Jima are four Japanese landing ships that have made their last run for the empire. Put out of action prior to the invasion by American troops, the vessels have been moved, since their beaching, by the shifting volcanic sands. An anti-tank ditch was dug by the Nips in the center of the bomb-pocked area, while at the bottom and the left of the picture, trenches and rifle pits appear as curly lines. This is a U. S. Navy photo. (International Soundphoto)

Families May Cable Liberated Prisoners

Present facilities for communication service to liberated prisoners of war and civilian internees in the Philippines are announced by the home service department of the Iowa City Red Cross chapter.

To date cables may be sent only to released prisoners of war after the next of kin has been officially notified that the prisoner of war has been released. Only one 25-word cable will be allowed per family, and that cable should be sent by the next of kin.

They should send the liberated prisoner's name and serial number, information regarding the relationship to the prisoner, and the message direct to—The Adjutant General, Attention: Casualty Branch, Room 3050, Munitions Building, Washington, D.C. There is no charge for this message. As yet no cable facilities are available for released civilian internees, but such service may be announced later.

After the next of kin receives official notification of the liberation of civilian internees, either United States, or allied mail to them should be addressed: c/o American Red Cross, Civilian War Relief Section, APO 442, c/o Postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

Official lists of the liberated civilians are slow in coming through, and if families or relatives are sure the civilian internee has not been moved from the Philippines, they should wait several days before attempting communication. If no notice is received in several days, the last known address should be used in sending mail to them.

Three Athletic Groups Develop Purpose Of Women's Recreational Association

The Women's Athletic Association of the University of Iowa was organized in 1911, when eight girls met and banded together with the intention of promoting the spirit of fair play and sportsmanship among girls.

In 1915 a point system was introduced and a seal was made the emblem of the organization. For the winning of 75 points, the seal was awarded. The seal corresponded to the "I" which was later adopted.

In 1934 the WAA was based on clubs and in 1941 a new constitution was drawn up which renamed the organization, the Women's Recreation Association.

The purpose of this organization is to stimulate an interest in and participation in worthwhile recreational activities, to promote the ideals of health, to create a spirit of good sportsmanship and fellowship and to develop democratic techniques leading to efficient self-government.

President of WRR is Lillian Castner, A4 of Des Moines, and faculty adviser is Prof. Margaret Mordy of the physical education department.

The WRA is divided into three groups, intramurals, clubs and recreation. It is sponsored by the physical education department and governed by a board made up of WRA club presidents and the executive officers, president, first and second vice-presidents, secretary, treasurer, publicity chairman, intramurals manager and assistant intramurals manager.

There are 10 clubs under WRA, five of which are honorary. Membership in these clubs is achieved by individual attainment and ability. Any university student can be a member of the remaining clubs and four of these are co-recreational.

Intramurals are sure the civilian internee has not been moved from the Philippines, they should wait several days before attempting communication. If no notice is received in several days, the last known address should be used in sending mail to them.

At the end of the season the points for intramurals activities of all the housing units will be added up and the winning team or unit will win the intramural championship.

The recreation phase of WRA is operated by the whole board. They sponsor social dance lessons, the Saturday night Open House head at the gymnasium and also the Saturday night skating held at the gymnasium.

Every one is invited to attend the open-houses held each week. A capacity crowd is always present to skate and once a month the Hick Hawks sponsor a square dance which is open to anyone who wishes to attend. These open-house features are WRA's part of the Double-V program.

Delinquent Grades For Liberal Arts Due By March 5

Liberal arts grades of "D" and "F" are to be turned in to the liberal arts advisory office by Monday, March 5. These grades will be sent out the following week to students, advisers and parents. They will also be available to housing units if they wish to call for them.

near future and next week a national telegraphic swimming meet will be held and sponsored by the Seals.

To become a probate member of the Seals club a girl must be able to swim 100 yards in less than two minutes, swim 20 yards in less than 17 seconds and pass satisfactorily four different strokes and two dives. Following the probate period another test is given which consists of swimming 440 yards, improvement on strokes and the addition of one more dive. If these tests are passed with the approval of the club the girls are then initiated into the club.

Progressive and elimination tournaments have been the highlights of the Tennis club. Membership in the club is honorary and based upon individual skill.

Due to the accelerated college program the past few years the club has only met in the fall. It is composed of 20 active members, Mable Davis, A3 of Cedar Rapids is president and Miss Frances Burns of the physical education department is faculty advisor.

Activities of the club consist of instruction in tennis technique and tennis movies were also shown. Personal proficiency is required for honorary membership in the Orchestra club. This club is made up of 15 active members, was organized in 1926, is taught and advised by Miss Janet Cumming of the physical education department and is preceded over by Carol Wellman, A2 of Moline, Ill.

The group meets weekly and studies technique and composition. A spring program of modern dancing is presented by the club each year in the Mirror room of the physical education building.

The Mand Crafts club is open to any student who wishes to join and meet to study crafts. This group is advised by Prof. Marian Taylor of the physical education department.

This club meets only the first semester of each school year. This year they worked with leather, metal and weaving.

The copper used by this group this year to make various articles was taken from the roof of Macbride hall.

The Hawkeye Hoofers is a club open to both men and women. During the year they have taken bicycle trips, and gone on camping trips and picnics. All activities of this group are out of doors.

The club took a bike trip to North Liberty and Lake Macbride, went swimming, cooked a picnic supper and cycled to the Alexander farm near the lake where they slept in the hay mow and rode back the following morning.

During the winter months the club loans skis to any one who wishes to borrow them. More bike trips are being planned for the spring, these consist of two lead-ups and a long over night trip.

The Hick Hawks club activities center around demonstrative square dancing. A team has been chosen and in full costume, with typical square dancing music demonstrate dance steps to various organizations and clubs.

Intramurals activities are governed by a board made up of representatives from all the housing units on campus. The head of the intramural board is appointed and serves on the WRA board.

This year 26 valley ball teams entered in the intramural tournaments and such enthusiasm was shown that a mixed volleyball tournament was held.

The largest participation in intramural basketball was shown this year when 19 teams from the various housing units entered.

Intramural bowling will begin this week. A swimming meet under the direction of the Seals club was held and also intramural table tennis tournaments were held.

At the end of the season the points for intramurals activities of all the housing units will be added up and the winning team or unit will win the intramural championship.

THIS IS THE MARINES' BEACHHEAD ON IWO JIMA

Roy, Ray Tompkins Spend 30-Day Leaves With Parents After 21 Months Overseas

After 21 months overseas, Seaman Second Class Roy and Ray Tompkins, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tompkins, 1220 Keokuk avenue, are making use of 30-day leaves by sleeping long, visiting friends and living without schedule—things they couldn't do on board ship, although they claimed living on ship was very much living in a city.

The brothers have been together since they entered the service in 1942. Roy, a ship fitter second class, told of the participation in the landings at New Georgia, Bougainville, Hollandia, Bika, Walde, and Mindoro, which were steps leading to the final recapture of the Philippines.

At one time, when their ship docked at Hawaii, the two had an opportunity to make a surprise visit to their brother, Corp. Richard Tompkins, who is stationed at Pearl Harbor. Corporal Tompkins has been stationed at Pearl Harbor since he entered the service in April, 1942.

Although all three have seen a great deal of action, none have been seriously injured.

The Purple Heart award was presented recently to Pfc. Albert Dolezal, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Dolezal, 428 Kimball road, who is in the United States naval hospital at Great Lakes, Ill., recovering from wounds received at Tinian island.

He entered the marine corps Nov. 20, 1943, and served in the central Pacific during his seven months overseas. He wears the Asiatic Pacific and Presidential Unit citation ribbons, and well as the Purple Heart.

Members whose terms do not expire are Mrs. Howard Beye, Mrs. Charles Mott, John P. Kelly and Earl Sangster.

Post-War Job Plan Approved By C of C

Board members of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce have approved a plan by the chamber's post-war planning committee to conduct a local employment survey.

Also approved by the board is its airport committee's request that a brief be compiled to show why Iowa City should be included as a stop on a north-south airline route.

R. E. Taylor, chairman of the committee, said that full cooperation of all Iowa City business would be needed to complete a survey which would show the number of persons local business would expect to employ after the war.

Wilbur D. Cannon, airport committee chairman, said that a number of airline companies are interested in Iowa City as a possible stop, and that the proposed brief would give reasons for including Iowa City as a stopping point.
