Soviets Take Rail Center Of Neustettin

3,000 of German Garrison Killed; 1,500 Reds Freed

LONDON, Thursday (AP)—Russians yesterday seized the five-way rail hub of Neustettin, Pomerania, killing 3,000 of its garrison, and gained five to six miles in their offensive aimed at isolating the Germans in the Baltic coastal area of Danzig, the Polish corridor and north-east Pomerania.

Besides the slain, 600 Germans were captured and 1,500 Russians were liberated from slave labor when Neustettin fell to a combined frontal assault and outflanking maneuver, a late Soviet war bulletin said today.

Reach Coastal Highway
Unofficial dispatches from Moscow said the northward-racing tank spearheads of the Second White Russian army had reached the coastal highway and railroad which are the last escape routes of the Germans, but the nightly Soviet communiqué disclosed officially no advances narrowing the 22-mile gap which remained after Tuesday's capture of Bublitz and Drawehn.

Instead, the communiqué announced capture of more than 50 towns in a general line-straightening and solidifying operation along the 40-mile-wide front of the advance, from Schwornitz, 11 miles north of Chojnice, westward to Bublitz.
Premier Stalin announced the capture of Neustettin, 88 miles northeast of Stettin, in an order of the day following a German broadcast that the outflanked stronghold had been evacuated. The Soviet communiqué added the capture of Streitzig, two and one-half miles west of Neustettin, putting the Russians out in the open past Neustettin's difficult position between the Vilm and Streitzig lakes.

East Prussian Front
The east-front spotlight continued to beat strongly on the Soviet offensive in Pomerania, the Moscow communiqué saying only that on other fronts the Russians had captured half a dozen villages in East Prussia and took another 10 blocks and the suburb of Kleinschank in surrounded Breslau, capital of lower Silesia.
The Germans also placed greatest stress on the Pomeranian struggle, broadcasting that the Soviet vanguards had reached Pollnow, 12 miles north of Bublitz and 16 miles from the Baltic coastal railway, and making no secret of the peril posed for the defense by Marshal K. K. Rokossovsky's rampage toward the sea.

Bailey Urges Genuine 'Work-or-Fight' Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Bailey (D., N. C.), in a sarcasm-laden speech, yesterday urged the senate to pass a genuine "work-or-fight" bill, not a "wait and see" substitute.

Bailey, co-author of the administration-backed manpower control measure which passed the house a month ago, attacked the substitute drawn by the senate military affairs committee as containing neither "work" nor "fight."
The May-Bailey bill, as approved by the house, would empower selective service boards to assign men between the ages of 18 and 45 to take vital jobs in war plants, or retain the jobs they now occupy. Disobedience would be punishable by five years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine.

The senate committee substitute, however, would rely to some extent on the cooperative labor placement system already in operation. The penalty would be a year in jail and $10,000 fine.

300 German Soldiers Killed in Copenhagen As Result of Mutiny

STOCKHOLM (AP)—At least 300 German soldiers, Gestapo agents and SS (elite guard) troops were killed in violent fighting which broke out in three Copenhagen barracks last week as a result of a mutiny of newly-arrived German troops en route from Norway to duty on the eastern front, the Swedish newspaper Sydsvenska Dagbladet reported last night.

The newspaper asserted that the aftermath of the mutiny was the execution of 200 of the mutineers.

NIP PRISONERS WORK IN MARIANAS

JAPANESE PRISONERS OF WAR held by the Americans in the Marianas islands are not looting behind barbed wire enclosures waiting for the war to come to an end. Instead they work under the watchful eye of U. S. soldiers. A group of them is shown above unloading sacks of cement at a construction site. It is probably possible at times for these Nips to look to the sky and see our giant Superfortresses winging their way toward their homeland.

End of Corregidor Campaign Announced

General MacArthur Says Yank Shipping Enters Manila Bay

MANILA, Thursday (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur today announced the entrance of American shipping into Manila bay and the end of the Corregidor campaign just 14 days after paratroopers and infantrymen landed on the fortress island to engage a well-armed enemy double the size of the Yank force.

The Americans took "the rock" at the entrance to Manila bay in just half the time the Japanese required to defeat the gallant defenders under Lieut. Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright in early 1942.

A force of 3,038 Americans, landing under fire Feb. 16, avenged that surrender by smashing approximately 6,000 Japanese. MacArthur termed Corregidor "a strongly-fortified island fortress defended to the point of annihilation by a well-equipped, fanatical enemy practically double the size of our force."

The Japanese on Corregidor, he said, were "reduced in a period of 12 days by a combination of surprise, strategy and fighting technique and skill, perfectly coordinated with supporting naval and air forces."

Miners' Wage Parley to Start

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bituminous coal operators last night urged John L. Lewis to lay aside the "usual differences and squabbles" on the eve of contract negotiations and write a new wage agreement without a strike.

Wage conferences, over which the hint of a strike already hovers, will begin today. The bituminous contract expires March 31.
The operators made their first concerted reply to Lewis' surprise move of Monday, in which he formally notified the government under terms of the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act that a "dispute" exists and a strike vote should be taken in 30 days.

Those representing 90 percent of the operators having contracts with the United Mine Workers joined in a statement saying Lewis appeared to doubt that the negotiations could produce a new wage agreement.

Nice Warm Day In Store for City

It will be a nice warm day today, maybe warmer than yesterday when the mercury hit 43 and the temperature forced the beautiful white snow, which fell early in the morning, to head in the general direction of the sewers. The low yesterday was 26.

This morning should be clear with the wind blowing from the southwest. Later in the day some clouds are expected to move in and maybe towards night some light rain or more snow will fall. So March is coming in like a lamb and as the old saying goes, should go out like a lion.

Compromise Drafted For Use of Armed Forces in America

MEXICO (AP)—The United States delegation has drafted a compromise pledge to Latin America that armed forces would be used to crush aggression in this hemisphere.

Whether this will be presented to the Inter-American conference depends upon consultation with Senator Tom Connally (D., Tex.) last night after his arrival, and probably with the White House.

It was learned on the highest authority that the United States delegation has a draft ready, modifying the text presented to the conference committee yesterday, which provided for automatic use of armed forces without reservation.

The changes made by the United States consists mainly into dividing operation of the commitment to put down aggression into two periods, because of United States constitutional limitations.

The declaration would take effect as soon as signed.

Byrnes Says Wartime Racing Ban Extends To County Fairs

WASHINGTON (AP)—This year's county fairs will have to bear down heavily on preserves and bedspreads.

For there can be none of those trotting and pacing races; they come under the wartime ban on horse racing.

Said War Mobilizer Byrnes yesterday in a letter to Representative Brown (R., Ohio):

"The government has taken no action to discontinue county fairs and I do not anticipate that such action will be necessary. However, the ban on racing does apply to any such activities conducted as part of county fairs."

The merry-go-round may continue.

Yank Offensive Less Than Seven Miles From Cologne

Most of Iwo Plateau Won

Marines Now Control All of Second Airfield, Reach Unfinished Base

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Thursday (AP)—A big marine push on little Iwo Wednesday won them most of the island's vital central plateau with gains that one general said went far toward deciding the 10-day-old campaign.

The hard-fighting devildogs won complete control of a second airfield. They rolled past the island's principal town of Motoyama. They reached a third incompleted airfield.

They gained more than 500 yards all along the line. They advanced up to 800 yards through the best developed set of fortifications encountered anywhere in the Pacific. They counted 4,784 enemy dead.

Half of Island
Well over half of the island, which Lieut. Gen. Holland M. Smith expects to fall shortly, is in marine hands.

Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine of the third division said the battle for the plateau is the decisive operation and once all of it is in marine hands the fight to Iwo's north end will be down hill.

Wednesday's impressive gains snapped the back of Japanese resistance which had compelled the marines to measure gains by feet and yards for five days.

Main Line of Resistance
The push in the center pierced the main enemy line of resistance. From this point on, the enemy strength and will to resist can be expected to grow weaker.

The death count for the enemy obviously is far from complete. Front line correspondents said the advancing Americans found large numbers of enemy dead in pillboxes, shell and bomb holes and in fortified gun emplacements. Many of these dead had been dragged into pillboxes and holes by the Japanese to conceal them.

Jet-Propelled Plane U. S. Produces New Secret Fighter

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is building in volume a jet-propelled fighter credited with flying faster than any other plane.

This was announced yesterday while from the British came a disclosure that they have a jet plane in action.

The new American plane is the Lockheed P-80 Shooting Star. It is a single-engine pursuit with a pressurized cockpit, extreme maneuverability, simple design and considerable range. The engine is built by General Electric.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, commanding general of the army air force, announced the new warplane. The pressurized cabin is the first on a production model fighter. The plane is able to carry "heavy loads of ammunition, photographic equipment, bombs and fuel," Arnold said in a statement.

The British air ministry announced that its new plane is the Gloster Meteor, a twin-engine pursuit which first saw action against Nazi robot bombs last Aug. 4.

U. S., France Sign Two Billion Dollar Lend-Lease Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and France signed yesterday a $2,575,000,000 agreement designed to strengthen French aid in the allied war effort and begin the economic reconstruction of the country.

The arrangement calls partly for direct lend-lease of civilian supplies to France which evidently means they will be given by the United States without financial charge, and partly for a system of lend-lease credits useful primarily in enabling the French to obtain heavy industrial and transportation equipment here.

Fighting on Cologne Plain—

Crisis in Battle Approaching

By Kirke L. Simpson
Associated Press War Analyst

The battle of the Cologne plain is fast approaching its crisis with every indication that within days allied forces will be massed along the left bank of the Rhine from Bonn to Arnhem preparing to storm the last major water hazard that guards the heart of Germany from invasion.

While field reports of a near German rout lack official confirmation, there seems no doubt that the northward sverve of the American Ninth army attack to bypass Munchen-Gladbach to the west is rapidly rolling up the last Siegfried line sector between Roermond and Boxmeer. A positional

FDR to Report Today On Yalta Conference

President Returns After Five-Week Trip; Talk to Be Broadcast

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, back from Yalta, will tell the nation today of his hopes for such a secure peace that the victory-bound allies can gradually cut down their armaments.

His hopes extend even to the day—50 or 60 years from now, he says—when a spirit of peace may embrace Germany and Japan, now reaping the wages of aggression.

The president at 11:30 a. m., central war time, will go before a joint session of congress to report on his victory-and-peace mission to the Crimea with Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin. He says it will be broadcast.

But Roosevelt's report will not tell all. Some understandings reached at the big three meetings in an old czarist resort on the Black sea are secret, he said. Whether they involve political or military, or both, is part of the secrecy.

Despite his five weeks of travel away from the White House the president has been supplied reports on the American scene. An indication of home front connection was the disclosure that while at sea, the president signed the George bill opening the way for Henry A. Wallace to become his secretary of commerce.

Italian Positions Bettered

ROME (AP)—Allied forces have improved their positions in the Mt. Castello area as Fifth army troops moved forward without strong German opposition and occupied the hamlet of Seneveglio, allied headquarters reported yesterday.

Otherwise there were no important changes along the northern Italian front headquarters said.

ROCKETS ADDED TO FIREPOWER YANKS USE ON IWO

news blackout imposed by allied censorship concealed the exact whereabouts of General Simpson's blitz columns striking across enemy communications 30 miles east of the Roermond corner.

It was obvious, nevertheless, that a Nazi flight to the Rhine was in progress and staff confusion and disintegration in German ranks setting in. American First army seizure intact of an Erft bridge to roll unchecked near Cologne proved the case.

The extent and effect of the triple allied breakthrough west of the Rhine was further emphasized by the fact that at no time since the First and Ninth armies stormed across the Roer has the foe mounted a counterattack of more than strictly limited and local consequence.

Whether that is due to a Nazi command decision to fight only a sacrificial delaying action west of the Rhine and rely upon the river itself to halt the allied drive remains to be seen.

As the pattern of the great drive is taking shape it seems keyed to exerting the maximum strain on enemy reserves to guard all potential Rhine crossings.

The diversion effect of that upon the battle of the Oder-Neisse line crossing for which huge Russian armies are getting set in the east is yet to be disclosed. The threat the Rhine is becoming so acute so fast, however, that word of a reversal of the flow of Nazi reserves withdrawn from the west to bolster Berlin and Dresden defenses is to be expected momentarily.

LONDON (AP)—Berlin was attacked last night for the ninth consecutive night by RAF Mosquito bombers which dropped two-ton blockbusters, the air ministry announced.

The attack on the Nazi capital brought to a close a full month of one of the greatest aerial offensives in history. Earlier yesterday, 2,000 allied warplanes made six roaring smashes on rail and oil targets in western Germany. The United States Eighth air force lost three bombers and four fighters in these attacks.

Spearheading the current attack on the bomb-battered Reich through the 16th straight day were 1,100 Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the United States Eighth air force, which smashed at least five congested railway centers behind the Rhine.

While the Eighth air force heavies were digging up railroad yards a strong force of RAF Lancasters, Spitfires and Mustangs battered the Nordstern Benzol plant near Gelsenkirchen.

Ohio River Flood Threat Diminishes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cessation of heavy rains last night minimized danger of floods in the Ohio river valley.

Elsewhere in the nation the Chicago weather bureau characterized conditions as generally good, except for two "minor disturbances" over Pennsylvania and Arizona. Both brought rain, and in the eastern storm snow and freezing rain made travel hazardous.

A pocket of cold air at Laramie, Wyo., took the mercury down to 15 below.

LONDON (AP)—The house of commons, in the first formal legislative action on the Crimean charter among the great powers, crushed a move to censure the big three's plan for post-war Poland last night and insured blanket approval of the Yalta decisions when a vote is taken today.

By a topheavy tally of 396 to 25, commons rejected a motion to include a protest against the Polish policy in the general endorsement of the big three decisions which has been demanded by Prime Minister Churchill as a vote of confidence.

With the Polish question almost the sole issue under challenge—and that only by an outnumbered group of conservatives—last night's action provided a solid guarantee that Churchill would win overwhelming support today at the conclusion of Britain's important foreign policy debate.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden carried the ball for the government in defending the Polish plan against bitter denunciations that it violated principles of the Atlantic Charter and betrayed the Polish allies at the expense of British honor.

War Damage Insurance
WASHINGTON (AP)—The war damage corporation announced yesterday that all war damage insurance in force Feb. 28, 1945, will be extended automatically for another year without payment of additional premiums.

The automatic extension does not apply to insurance written under "money and securities," "registered mail and express," "transit," or builders risk on hulls" policies, for which specific regulations will be issued.

France Accepts Offer To Attend Conference Of United Nations

PARIS (AP)—The provisional government announced last night that France had decided to accept the big three's invitation to participate in the United Nations conference at San Francisco April 25.

The announcement followed presentation to the cabinet of a report on conversations in London with Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden by Foreign Minister Georges Bidault.

The cabinet, it was learned, voted to accept both the big three invitation and its offer to make France a co-sponsor of the San Francisco meeting with Britain, the United States, China and Russia.

Bidault brought the government additional details of the Yalta conference decisions which, it was learned from reliable sources, were "highly pleasing" to the French government in regard to its role in the occupation of Germany and a place on the projected world security council.

Many of Them Collector's Items— SUI Student Has Over 2,000 Records

By JOHNNY JOHNSTON
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

Bob Bush, G. of Elkader, really holds the record. In fact, he has over 2,000 of them plus over 50 albums, which he has collected over a period of three years. Insured for $2,000, the records are probably worth twice that much, Bob believes, for many of them are collector's items. Individual retail prices ranged from 35 cents to a dollar when he bought them, but some of his older records could find a market at about $10 each.

Early Records
"Some of Duke Ellington's early records and those by Teddy Wilson with Billy Holliday vocalizing are valuable, as well as some I have by Beiderdeck, the cornet star. I also have a few by Louie Armstrong with the Hot Fives and the Hot Sevens, some of Earl Hines' early recordings and some by Red Nichols and His Five Pennies."

First Record
The first record Bob ever bought was "Trumpet Blues" by Harry James. At first he just picked up a few records here and there in a haphazard way. But then he heard Woody Herman play in Cedar Rapids, went out to buy a flock of Herman records and settled down to collecting in earnest.

Only half of his records are here and the other half were left behind at home. As it is, the shelves of his room are crowded with albums and his closet piled high with boxes of loose recordings.

Ellington 'Tops'
"Duke Ellington is tops in my estimation," Bob declared. "He has had the most consistently good band over a number of years. And his sax man, Johnny Hodges, is really fine."

He has 75 or 80 of the negro band's recordings. Benny Goodman, also a favorite, wins out in numbers, however, since Bob has 120 recorded by that band.

Likes 12-Inchers
"The trouble is that you hardly get started on a regular-sized record; I wish I had more 12-inchers by the Duke. I only have one, 'St. Louis Blues,' with Bing Crosby singing. It came out about nine years ago.

"My favorite all-time record is Ellington's 'Warm Valley,'" Bob says. "It's about four or five years old, but came out in an album last year and hit all of the juke boxes." His favorite album is one by Teddy Wilson with Billy Holliday taking the vocals. He likes jazz stars and anthologies of jazz records.

BOB BUSH

Likes Les Brown
Riding high on Bob's hit parade right now is a record by Les Brown, entitled "Sentimental Journey." Bob prophesies that if this record is given wide enough play, it will put Brown in a top-flight position. At one time Bob was partial to Glen Miller, and now believes that Charlie Spivak is taking over where Herman left off.

Bob cites Woody Herman as the leader with the best white band at the moment. He likes vocals taken by Herman himself. Name bands he has danced to are Ellington, Herman, Spivak, Count Basie and Les Brown.

No String Instruments
The record connoisseur is agin' string instruments taking part in dance bands. "They don't know how to use them," he contends.

"Dorsey and Krupa both use them, and I don't care for the effect. The Duke has one on a violin, but I don't even approve of him."

On wax himself in a verbal way, Bob has made records in German class, for debate, and one reading poetry. "I don't sound like I think should sound," he concludes.

As might be expected of such an ardent record-collector, he is a musician in his own right. "I had about a half year of piano lessons, then plodded along on my own. I had a few clarinet lessons and played clarinet and sax in a junior college dance band."

Smaller Labels
Continually adding to his astounding assemblage of records, Bob buys records whenever he can find his type. He doesn't go in for the "popular records" which push some big band or singer. Instead, he weeds them out for the "smaller labels," like Keynote and Savoy.

"Either the radio or the record-player is blaring away all of the time when I'm studying," he remarked. "I guess I have a conditional reflex by now; I started combining the two in high school, so it doesn't bother me a bit." He has a large cabinet radio with a phonograph attachment in his room at the Sigma Chi house.

Wants to Be Accountant
Bob plans to be an accountant when he leaves school, and that orderly accounting mind of his has seen to it that there is an accurate record of his records (which isn't as redundant as it sounds.) He has a notebook divided into companies, like Columbia, Bluebird, etc. Each page is neatly ruled off in columns, one for the matrix number, one for the band's name and one in which the two titles appear.

Record Notebook
In addition several pages are devoted to figures showing how many records he has purchased from each firm and how much was expended for each. Results show that he has records from 48 different companies, that Victor leads with 453 and that Decca comes in second with 383.

(Merely in the realm of fancy, we have figured that if he so desired, Bob could enjoy a gala jubilee of record-playing and play his records incessantly for 8.33 days without hearing the same one twice. Oh well, just thinking.)

SUI Graduate
Bob was graduated from the University of Iowa in December of 1942 with a B. S. C. degree and a major in accounting. His graduate work in commerce under Prof. W. L. Daykin in labor economics, "Negro Problems in Industry" is his thesis topic. He hopes to receive his M. A. degree sometime this semester.

He has been president of the graduate college and is a member of Beta Gamma Sigma, national commerce honorary, and Order of Artus, national economics honorary.

Just Records
Contrary to popular belief, all college students with Bob's hobby do not refer to their collections as "platters" or "disks." To Bob they are just "records"—and they make up an absorbing hobby. No doubt he will continue until, figuratively speaking, his own record is broken.

Members of Volkssturm Taken Prisoners—

WITH THE U.S. TIMBERWOLF DIVISION ATTACKING TOWARD THE RHINE (AP)—Members of the Volkssturm, Hitler's ragtag homefront army, have been taken prisoner in frontline areas of the battle for the Rhine as indications multiplied that the German high command was having great difficulty in manning its side of the battlefield.

The enemy high command has issued stern orders that every officer and enlisted man on this vital battlefield fight to defend the Reich with his "last drop of blood." This order is being consistently disobeyed by thousands of frontline Nazi units who have capitulated.

Maj. Gen. Terry Allen's 104th division timberwolves captured 20 Volkssturm troops at Gohelheim, northeast of Trier. They were civilian suits and the only thing to indicate they were serving in the army was a small red ribbon around the lower left sleeve identifying them as "Volkssturm."

Most regular German soldiers are showing increasing reluctance to die for their fuhrer in battle. Some are showing considerable reluctance even to engage in battle. Civilians in Buir, another Rhineland village, reported seeing a number of German troops wearing civilian clothing under their uniforms—or carrying it in suitcases, ready for a quick change.

The Volkssturm men were militarily of poor grade and were armed only with rifles, many old and outdated. They said they hadn't been used for "tactical purposes"—that is to hold regular battle positions—but had been assigned to police duties or set to building roads or serving as observers.

During the French campaign many German commanders refused to recognize similar "uniforms" worn by French maqui and FFI fighters and shot those they took prisoner on the grounds that they did not constitute a regular army.

What Are We Going to Do About 'Lack of Hope and Confusion' Asks Mallon

By PAUL MALLON
PALM BEACH, Fla.—A lawyer-business man who is a government official listened to a group of the learned and wise among his associates, discussing whether Stalin won the Livadia conference, whether Lefist totalitarianism (quasi Communism) will sweep Europe, what our own post-war future is, for more than an hour before he broke in to say:

forded them the best haven their people ever had in all the history of the world, better than any other nation affords them today or any nation will afford them in post-war.

Communism Ahead?
"I think Communism or some similar disintegration of our system is ahead of this country in the next 50 years. But I think it is coming, not because of Stalin, but because of our own foolishness. We have not met our problems wisely and soundly. We are not doing that today."

Here we are then—the youth, the servicemen and their families suffering confusion and lack of hope along with the doctor, nurse, Negro, the worker, the religious man, the business man, the banker.

No Well Ordered Nation
The problems must be attacked and solved. Confidence in our future must be restored.

What are we going to do about it? Sit around and await the fulfillment of this mass of discouragement?

He Did the Job
He thought he could do the job and he did enough of it to get the country out of the basement, and would have done more if he had not started playing around politically, packing the supreme court with incompetents and leading class warfare for political purposes.

He put the stock market in its properly regulated place for one thing.

But Behind Him There Must Be
Built up in this country a popular following for what everyone who can think realizes is simple common justice and soundness. Sounder leadership must rise to the top in all classes to promote the things we know to be good, to make class surliness, hatred and greed less popular, less condoned, to promote a national teamwork out of our foolish strifes.

New Leadership
A leadership inspiring confidence in post-war reconversion must be established in Washington. I understand ex-justice James Byrnes is now back in favor at the White House and is to become increasingly a greater power and influence. He may be able to do this job, especially if the top brains of the country are raked in as it was for the war production task.

Let Them Speak Up
There are men among the workers who are not of the Hillman stripe, among the clergy who do not want to compromise with Communism, among the Negroes who know what is wise and just, in business who know this foolishness cannot last, among bankers who know what sound values really are, doctors who will stand for fairness and justice. Let them speak up and assert themselves, and furnish leadership for good in this country.

Is Justification
If they do, you will soon see the loose running political shysters, hate mongers, greed gogetters—our whole gangster idealism with its hard materialism fade in popularity. There is justification for disillusionment, but this very condition should be an inspiration to fight.

Abused Classes
I found abused religious and race classes of our people desiring to tear down our civilization, thinking thereby their condition would be improved, not realizing that with all its defects it has af-

Opinion on and off the Campus— What Will Be the Score of the Illini Game?

Jerry Spector, A2 of Rock Island, Ill.: "It will be manslaughter. Iowa is out to win, and, although Illinois has a good team, the Hawkeyes are twice as good and will win by a big score. I believe that we will win by at least ten points."

Howard Cerny, sailor on leave from Princeton, N. J.: "They'll beat the Illini by eight points. I saw only the Notre Dame game, but from the reports I've read Iowa should be able to lick Illinois this time."

Bill Boswell, A1 of Marshalltown: "Contrary to public opinion, I believe that Iowa will win by a pretty large margin. It will depend a lot on our defense, but at any rate, it should be a very interesting game."

Marilyn Fountain, A3 of Des Moines: "I think Iowa will win by a very small margin because they've shown what they can do in a tough situation."

H. J. Kadera, cigar store proprietor: "If things run according to hoyle, the score should be about 52 to 39 in favor of Iowa. That's the way I would like to game to end."

Betty Munson, A4 of Boone: "Possibly there will be a tied score because the teams are so equally matched. I hope when they play it off we will win by one or two points."

Marcella Rychonovsky, A1 of Belle Plaine: "Iowa will win, but it will be a very close score. We'll probably win by about six points."

Dorothy Perkins, A4 of Keosauqua: "We will win by a small margin."

Den Hartog, A2 of Rock Valley: "The score of the Minnesota game was close, and I am afraid that this will be too."

Jean Hancock, A3 of Pearn, Ill.: "I think Iowa will win by a small margin, about 52-50. Both are high scoring outfits, but I think Iowa can turn the tide on its home court."

Bernadine Mackorovsky, A3 of Keosauqua, Ill.: "I'm hoping it will be by a large margin. I'm basing my prediction on the fact that Iowa has a darn good team."

Mrs. Harriet Harlow, house-mother, 114 E. Fairchild street: "I think Iowa has what it takes to win the Illinois game, so I think we will win it. The score will be close and probably high, but one point can win the game and that point should be ours."

Father J. Ryan Beiser, of the School of Religion: "It's obvious that Iowa should win, judging from their performance in past games, and even in their game at Illinois. However, basketball is the most unpredictable of all sports."

LI AUDREY may be funny on the comic sheet, but with the Japanese she provoked not even the faintest smile. Nazi Germany Enters Goetterdaemmerung

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
LONDON (AP)—Nazi Germany is rapidly entering that Goetterdaemmerung—twilight of the gods—which Hitler so loved to see depicted in Wagnerian opera.

Under the impact of the hardest blows yet administered, early doom of Hitler's false gods of race prejudice, belief in the Germanic superman and the outlawry of Christianity, is clearly discernible.

Informed sources say Field Marshal von Rundstedt has been warning Hitler for weeks of the impending offensive in the west. If it has caught the German army inadequately prepared it can mean but one thing—Germany has scraped the bottom of the barrel and cannot muster sufficient forces to contain this offensive and at the same time stave off the Russians.

The psychological factor of the inevitability of the Soviet advance constitutes an enormous advantage when dealing with the German people, who like to figure things out.

Common sense tells even the least intelligent German soldier that there is nothing discernible with which Hitler can stage a comeback.

The situation in the east has put Hitler's gaudierers on the spot for the first time. These officials have unlimited powers over the districts they administer. Now they find, to their dismay, that unlimited power also carries with it grave responsibility.

If they stick to their posts to the end, they know that the conquering allies have their names inscribed high up on the list of war criminals. Arthur Greiser, gauleiter for the Warthe district, reportedly remained in captured Poznan. If he hasn't committed suicide or been killed, he surely will be indicted and tried for war crimes.

On the other hand, if they desert their posts and flee into Germany, a new calamity faces them. So precarious is the situation within the Reich that Himmler, the real power in Germany, cannot afford to permit desertion in the highest places to go unpunished.

It appears, for instance, that the East Prussian gauleiter Erich Koch was arrested promptly by the Getsapo when fleeing from Koeningberg to Rostock.

The combined eastern-western squeeze seems likely soon to make the Germans experience what the Belgians did in May, 1940.

At that time, due to the concentric pressure of the German armies from three sides, the Belgian army, as well as non-combatant men, women and children, some 2,500,000 Belgians in all, were crowded into an area which in normal times was considered filled up with 800,000 inhabitants.

The crowding became so great that every shot fired by the Germans was likely to kill a woman or child instead of a soldier.

It was this hopeless overcrowding which in the last analysis determined King Leopold's capitulation.

Radio Luxembourg, which announced that refugees from eastern Germany were meeting those from the west, may have exaggerated, but there is at least a grain of truth in the assertion. The refugee problem is one of demoralization—it clutters up transportation, it causes worry for the fighting forces, and it constitutes a visual demonstration of the hopelessness of a nation's position.

CANDIDATES FOR ADVANCED DEGREES AT THE APRIL CONVOCATION
The requirements to be met are as follows: Check your record at the office of the registrar and in your major department to assure yourself that you can qualify at the April convocation.
2. Fill out a formal application for graduation at the office of the registrar.
3. Secure from the graduate office the instructions for typing a thesis.
4. If you are a candidate for the Ph. D. degree, deliver printer's copy for your examination program to the graduate office by March 20.
5. Submit your thesis to the graduate office for checking before April 5. If you are a candidate for the doctorate, also submit your approved abstract and pay the $25 publication deposit before that date.
6. Arrange with your department for the oral examinations: April 12-14 inclusive.
7. Leave the original and the first carbon copy of your thesis at the graduate office not later than noon April 21.

FIELD HOUSE
Students and faculty must arrange for lockers before 6 p. m. at the fieldhouse.
All university men may use the field house floors and facilities from 6:30 to 9 p. m. They must be dressed in regulation gym suit of black shorts, white shirt, and rubber-soled gym shoes.
E. G. SCHROEDER

WOMEN'S RECREATIONAL SWIMMING
4-5:30 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.
10 a. m.—12 M. Saturday
Recreational swimming periods are open to all women students, faculty, faculty wives, wives of graduate students and administrative staff members. Students should present their identification cards to the matron for admittance.
M. GLADYS SCOTT

MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY
In order to save coal and cooperate in the "brownout" the museum will be closed Sunday until 1 o'clock until further notice. It will be open from 1 o'clock until 5 o'clock and the custodian will be there to show visitors the exhibits.

All-YWCA Meeting Today to Feature Summer Job Discussion

Meeting Open To All Women

National Staff Member To Give Short Talk On 'Y' Conference

A meeting for all Y. W. C. A. members will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. Summer vocations will be the general theme of the meeting.

"What to Do With Your Summer," a skit written by Joan Holt, A2 of Highland Park, Ill., and Phyllis Hedges, A3 of Iowa City, will be presented. In the cast are Jeanne Bowlin, A3 of Des Moines; Janice Pedersen, A1 of Marshalltown; Francis Marshall, A1 of Cedar Rapids; Betty Lou Schmidt, A1 of Davenport, and Ruth Koch, A3 of Rock Island, Ill.

Miss Ruth Haines of the national Y. W. C. A. staff from New York will give a short talk on the Y. M. C. A.-Y. W. C. A. conference to be held at Lake Geneva, Wis., June 6-13.

Information will be offered in the skit about the students in industry project which is connected with the United States Employment service. Through this program, groups of students will be sent to five different centers to work during the summer. Today's meeting will feature Chicago and Minnesota, as the two closest centers.

Students will be given their choice of job and will all live together during the summer. Designed to provide education as well as work, the program includes lectures by well-known speakers, seminars, and field trips. They will discuss labor relations, employer-employee problems and similar topics.

All "Y" members may attend the meeting. It will be of particular concern to those interested in social work, personnel work or sociology.

Planning the meeting were presidents of the class groups—Nancy Dunlap of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, freshman; Jean Stany, A4 of Marion, freshman advisor; Joan Holt of Highland Park, Ill., sophomores; and Phyllis Hedges of Iowa City, junior-senior.

Members of the junior-senior social committee will usher. Posters publicizing the program were made by Nancy Schmidt, A3 of Davenport.

U-High Cast to Give 'Pride and Prejudice' In Theater April 20

A cast of 16 University high school students will play in "Pride and Prejudice," to be given April 20 at University theater.

Those in the cast are: Mr. Bennet, Stan Murray; Mrs. Bennet, Mary Sayre; Jane, Valerie Dierks; Elizabeth, Carolyn Ladd; Mary, Martha Thompson; Catherine, Helen Danner; Lydia, Betty Jansen.

Mr. Bingley, Red Morris; Miss Bingley, Barbara Baird; Mr. Darcy, Jim Morton; Lady Catherine de Bourgh, Virginia Thompson; Mr. Collins, John McCarty; Lady Lucas, Elizabeth Adams; Charlotte, Sally Clearman; Hill, Fritz Harshbarger. The part of Mr. Wickham has not yet been cast.

Directing the play is Helen Horton. Her assistant is Ann Ewers. Carol Shoquist is the bookholder. On the property crew for the production are James Berg, Virgil

Library Currently Displays—

Processes in Microprint, Microfilm

By GLORIA WAKEFIELD Daily Iowan Staff Writer

In your wallet, where it occupies less space than a driver's license, you can carry a two hundred page book, or on one 100 foot film, 825 newspaper pages can be photographed.

The current exhibit on display in the university general library on the subject of microprint and microfilm illustrates the process by which this is possible. In the display an interesting comparison of a bound newspaper and its counterpart in microfilm and two books with their corresponding microprint sheets are shown. Photographs, illustrations and literature have been put in many bureaus of the United States government, banks, insurance companies and libraries. Also the technique and equipment used in micro-filming books, maps, business records and sundry other materials is shown.

Press Does Multiple Work

As old as writing is the need for copying, but for centuries this remained the laborious work of the scribe. The printing press solved the problem of multiple copying for distribution, but not until the end of the last century did the typewriter appear to reduce the labor a cost of limited copying.

Photostat and similar photographic methods came next to reduce cost and insure accuracy. With the advent of Recordak has come microphotography, which completely alters the aspect of copying. The fastest typing requires about two minutes to copy a full letter page. During this time the Recordak can copy 120 such pages.

Twenty newspaper pages containing over 150,000 words can be photographed in one minute, a job the fastest typist would need several days to accomplish.

Ten complicated engineering drawings can be photographed in one minute, each one of which might take a skilled draftsman several weeks to copy.

Microphotography

Microphotography differs from earlier methods of photographic duplication in four important respects: (1) The rapidity with which copies can be made. (2) The reduction in the quantity of photographic material required. (3) Reduction in size brings about a compression of the matter photographed in such a way as to save 99 percent of the filling equipment and space required for the originals. (4) Microphotographs can again be duplicated either in micro form or original form at an extremely low relative cost.

It is natural that this new art should now be used extensively to simplify procedures, reduce costs and accomplish projects hitherto impractical. Thousands of banks and commercial houses are achieving greater completeness and protection in their records and at the same time lowering accounting costs. Engineering firms are protecting their files of drawings from destruction by fire or by use; making them more accessible and more easily duplicated while effecting savings in equipment and storage space.

V-mail letters are microfilmed

Hancher Jr., Dick Larew, Charles Lenthe, Bob Rasley, Jerry Squiers and Bill Teeters.

Ursula Dawson, Gretchen Fieseler, Louise Lindquist and Jackie Newburn will be in charge of costumes.

The lighting for "Pride and Prejudice" will be directed by Henry Louis.

to save mailing space. The government is protecting its archives and its records. The army and navy are effecting economies in their engineering. Libraries are protecting their treasures, acquiring new ones in film form, preserving their perishable newspaper files, saving filing equipment and space, and saving time and cost in the handling of bulky bound volumes. Newspapers are protecting their files against the inevitable dissolution of the wood pulp paper, against tearing and clipping, and are releasing valuable space for productive purposes.

Little Space Prevails

Many attempts have been made to put literatures "infinite riches in a little space." Greatly reduced photographs of book pages have been projected, like movie film, on screens, under the process of microfilm. But Albert Boni's process, microprint, is a revolutionary step forward because the minute facsimiles are for the first time actually printed on ordinary paper, and can be turned out in quantity at a ridiculously low price.

The readex machine, used with microprint, looks like a large typewriter case. Pull out a narrow drawer in the bottom, insert the small sheet of microprint and turn on a light inside the machine. Onto a transparent plastic screen there flashes a blurred rectangle of light. Turn a knob and there comes into sharp focus a page from the book in the drawer, magnified to the size of ordinary type.

A sheaf of leaflets no bulkier than the novel you slip into your pocket to read on the train will contain the equivalent of a trunkful of reading matter. Four thousand books, more than most book lovers can persuade their wives to house and dust, will take up less space than the famous "five-foot shelf." The contents of a good-sized public library will melt into an alcove bookcase.

Readex Machine

The readex machine is the most expensive item for the possessor of a microprint library. The price of the microprint books is astonishingly low, about one percent of the cost of the original normal size book. Readex owners should be able to assemble a library at the rate of five cents a volume. An encyclopedia such as the Britannica, with its two dozen volumes and 24,000 pages, if reduced to microprint, could be manufactured to sell for three dollars.

A readex machine is now available for student use in the university government document library and a microfilm projector is available in periodical department for use in newspaper work. There is also a microfilm projector in the medical library and one in the circulation department.

Luncheon Scheduled For Woman's Club

A cooperative luncheon will be held for members of the public welfare department of the Iowa City Woman's club tomorrow afternoon at 12:30 in the clubrooms of the Community building. All day sewing for the University hospital will begin at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The committee in charge of the luncheon includes Mrs. Verne Bales, Mrs. Bernard Meieran and Mrs. George Robeson.

The sewing committee includes Mrs. Dan A. Shaffer, chairman, Mrs. Hugh Carson and Mrs. P. E. Meacham.

MISS SNELL ENGAGED

DR. AND MRS. N. D. Snell of Donnellson announce the engagement of their daughter, Beverly Alice, to Ens. C. H. Williams, U. S. N. R. son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Williams of Des Moines. Miss Snell, a graduate of Donnellson high school, is a senior at the University of Iowa. Ensign Williams was graduated from Roosevelt high school in Des Moines and from the University of Iowa. He has been stationed at Norfolk, Va. He recently returned from overseas duty with the navy air corps, and is now awaiting re-assignment.

Two-Day Conference On Women's Careers To Begin Tomorrow

UWA to Sponsor Event; Students May Arrange Interviews

The "Keys to Careers" conference will open tomorrow afternoon from one to four in the house and senate chambers of Old Capitol building. Two lectures during each of the two separate hour periods will be conducted during the afternoon and each lecture will be followed by a discussion period. Opportunities will then be given for personal interviews with the speakers.

The "Keys to Careers" central committee will give a dinner Friday night at 6:30 in Iowa Union for the guest speakers. Also a coffee hour will be held Saturday morning from 9 to 10 in the home economics rooms for all those participating in the conference in any capacity.

Saturday's Interviews

The Saturday session will be conducted from 10 to 12 Saturday morning and interviews will be held that afternoon.

Sponsored by the University Women's association, the annual vocational conference has enlisted the aid of many students in carrying out the program. The central committee, headed by Eleanor Mitter, A4 of Cedar Rapids, is composed of Kay Katschkowsky, A4 of Elkader; Margaret Farmer, A2 of Paris, Ky.; Dorris Hayes, A3 of Vinton; Joan Overholser, A3 of Red Oak, and Lillian Castner, A4 of Des Moines.

Miss Focht, adviser

Helen Focht, assistant director of student affairs, is acting as adviser to the conference. Special committee chairmen include: Peggy Banks, A4 of New York, N. Y., publicity; Harriet Arnold, A2 of Valparaiso, Ind., interviews; Barbara Blake, A4, hospitality; Arlene Nelson, A2 of Sioux City, cover design of program and posters.

Edna Herbst, A3 of Newton, and Louise Hillman, A3 of Bettendorf, will conduct radio interviews in connection with the two-day meeting. Also helping with publicity are Ricki Manker, of East St. Louis, Ill.; Marion Mayes, A2 of Waterloo; Helen Kuenstler, A1 of Madison, Wis.; Phyllis Bentley, A1 of Newton.

Helping with the coffee hour Saturday morning are: Mary Ellen Crowl, A 4 of Ft. Dodge, chairman; Gloria Kelly, A3 of Burlington; Betty Bevan, A4 of Denver, Col.; Carolyn Porter, A2 of Iowa City; Ginny Donahoe, A4 of Sioux Falls, S. D.; Alinen Ziegler, A3 of Volga, S. D., and Eileen Culhane, A4 of Des Moines.

Poster Committee

On the poster committee are Winifred Johnson, A3 of Chicago; Flora Whiting, A3 of Mapleton, and Gerry Hoffman, A2 of St. Louis, Mo.

Ushers for the affair are: Beth McKensie, A3 of Monroe; Virginia Pierce, A3 of LaGrange, Ill.; Irene Romanow, A2 of Gary, Ind.; Dorothy Isebrands, A2 of Webster City; Charlotte Ferris, A3 of Syracuse, N. Y.; Rosemary Current, A1 of Peoria, Ill.; Shirley DeForest, A3 of Eagle Grove; Mary Belle Peck, A1 of Ottawa, Ill.; Dorothy Magill, A3 of Atlantic; Lois Cammack, A4 of Salem; Ann Phillips, A1; Joanne Brown, A1 of Centerville; Helen Kutler, A3 of Davenport; June Denio; Claire Ferguson, A1 of Des Moines; Gloria Barbee, A1 of Centerville; Marion Kelleher, A2 of Winterset; Dorothy Kray, A1 of Rocky River, Ohio; Shirley Isenberg, A1 of Davenport; and Helen Klahn, A3 of Marshalltown.

Lois Lynch, A2 of Des Moines; Patricia Kelley; Kathryn Abrams, A2 of LaGrange, Ill.; Jane Leeming, A1 of Elmhurst, Ill.; Betty Lou Schmidt, A1 of Davenport; Patty Miller, A3 of Rockville Centre, N. Y.; Carol Burtis, A1 of Elmhurst, Ill.; Mary Lou Schmidt; Marilyn Otto, A2 of Denison; Beverly Barrett, A2 of Ida Grove; Julianne Freund, A2 of Cedar Rapids.

Mary Lou Peterson Weds John Massman In Kansas Ceremony

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Mary Lou Peterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Jones of Chariton, to John Massman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Massman Sr., also of Chariton, Nov. 6, in Troy, Kan. Judge John Bell read the vows of the single ring ceremony.

The bride was attired in a one-piece tomato red wool dress fashioned with a high round neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Three silver buttons and a black silver-studded belt provided trim. She wore a black hat with silver fox fur trim and black accessories.

Mrs. Massman is a graduate of the Chariton high school and is now a freshman at the University of Iowa, where she is affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta social sorority.

Mr. Massman is a radar mechanic in the navy and has been assigned to active duty in the Pacific.

HERO'S WIDOW WEDS HIS BROTHER

LIEUT. COMDR. DONALD R. McLENNAN and his bride, the former Mrs. Margaretta Purves McLennan, are shown leaving in a car following a ceremony which united the two at Fifth Avenue Presbyterian chapel in New York. The bride's former husband, Lieut. George Noyes McLennan, killed on Guadalcanal in 1942, was a brother of her present husband. Mrs. McLennan is from Lawrence, L. I., N. Y. The bridegroom hails from Lake Forest, Ill.

Presbyterian Students May Obtain Lunches At Bible Study Hour

Students planning to attend the Bible study hour at the Presbyterian church from 12 to 1 Thursday noon are reminded that a hot drink will be furnished for all and sandwiches for those who do not find it convenient to bring their own.

Mrs. B. N. Covert will lead the Bible study period. The general theme for the present series is "Where to Look in the Bible," and the sixth chapter of Ephesians will be studied this week.

The church will be open to students after an informal social hour after the Illinois game Saturday night. Any student who is interested is invited to this period of recreation.

Keep a record of the lectures of the conference are: Marie Queensland, C4 of Jewell, Polly McDowell, C4 of Grinnell; Lorraine Lucas, C4 of Pocahontas; Doris Grau, C4 of Storm Lake; Irene Baldwin, C4 of Des Moines.

WRA Tea

A Women's Recreational association tea will be held in honor of Dorothy Enderis, a guest speaker at the conference, whose subject is "Recreational Leadership." In charge of tea are: Carol Wellman, M.; Freda Mikulasek, A3 of Newland Park, Ill.; and Ruth Giblin, A3 of Williamsburg, chairman; Barbara Timm, A1 of Muscatine; Beverly Barrett, A2 of Ida Grove; Julianne Freund, A2 of Cedar Rapids; Marilyn Otto, A2 of Denison; Lucille Thompson; Mary Van Metre, A2 of State Center; Jane Scheerer, A 3 of Ft. Fighting moisture and fungus—communication's jungle enemies

Ever-present dangers to military communications are the twin enemies of the jungle—moisture and fungus. By impairing the efficient working of telephones and radios, they can halt vital messages as effectively as cutting the wires.

The long experience of Bell Laboratories engineers in designing telephone equipment for use under all climatic conditions has helped the Signal Corps in counter-attacking these enemies of the jungle.

Lessons learned in this wartime emergency will aid in building better communications equipment for war and peace.

Travel Weary Hawkeyes Start Practice for Illinois

Iowa Already Shares Title

Three Cage Records Fall in Old Golders' Drive Toward Crown

Already assured of at least a share of the Big Ten title, the Iowa Hawkeyes swung into their final week of practice yesterday for the all-important Illinois game here Saturday, March 3, and their first clear cage championship in Hawkeye history.

The last time Iowa cagers even came close to an undisputed title was back in 1926, when the present coach, Pops Harrison, was a member of the team. That year they shared the title with Purdue, Indiana, and Michigan with a record of eight wins and four losses.

In 1923, the only other time the Hawks shared the title, they and Wisconsin won 11 and lost one each.

Records Fall
Three Iowa basketball records have already fallen by the roadside in this year's drive toward the championship.

The Hawks' 16 victories erase the old mark of 15 set in 1933; their percentage of .78 set in 1943-44; and their point total of 987 for 17 games, besting the old mark of 951 points in 18 games in 1943-44.

The Hawkeyes now have won six straight conference games since the upset by Illinois January 26 at Champaign, 43 to 42. Victims have been Michigan, Indiana, Purdue, Wisconsin twice, and Minnesota.

Injuries Cured
Illinois, already holding a 43 to 42 decision over the Hawks has faded fast in the past two weeks, losing two games to drop completely out of the title race, but injuries that hampered the Illini in recent games are cured and they appear to be in fine shape for the Iowa battle Saturday.

Coach Pops Harrison has just three workouts in which to prepare his Hawk cagers for the all-important game. It appears that defense for stopping Illinois' high scorers, Junior Kirk, Howie Judson, Walter Kersulis and Jack Burmaster will be the main issue of the practice sessions.

Harrison Pleased
Harrison was especially pleased with his Old Golders' ability on the free throw line over the weekend. In the Gopher contest, the Hawks hit for 13 consecutive charity tosses before one of Dick Ives' rolled off the rim.

The team sank 39 of 49 free throws in the two games; 20 of 27 for 74 percent against Wisconsin and 19 of 22 for 86 percent against Minnesota, the two best performances of any conference team this season.

The Iowa season's record for conference games now is 62 percent on 135 made and 81 missed.

Free Throws Win
Four times this season, free throws have won the games for the Hawks. Twice against Minnesota, and once against Purdue and Indiana the Hawkeyes' ability in this department pulled the contest out of the fire.

All four opponents either excelled or equalled Iowa's field goal total in the four contests.

Dick Ives continues to lead the Hawkeye scorers with 203 points to Clay Wilkinson's 200. Herb Wilkinson is in third place with 167, and Murray Wier has climbed to fourth with 131 points.

For conference games Clayton still clings to his lead with 127 to Ives' 114. Herb Wilkinson follows with 112 and Ned Postels with 69.

City Bowling Meet To Start Sunday

The first of two tournaments to be held on succeeding Sundays by the Iowa City Bowling association will be held this week at the Plamor Bowling alleys.

The event Sunday will be for teams of five men each, while next week's events will be for singles and doubles entries.

Entered in the March 4 meet are 30 teams representing the men's City, Strikers, Commercial, Major and Clean-up leagues which meet weekly in bowling competition at the Plamor alleys.

Bowling competition will start Sunday at 9 a. m. and will continue until approximately 11 p. m. The winners of the tournaments will be determined by high score basis, the five-man team which rolls the highest score, including handicaps, being declared the winner.

Hawks Forget--But Remember

By ROY LUCE
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

The crowd was on its feet, yelling lustily with three minutes of the battle remaining, and the Iowa Hawkeyes out on the court, sensed a new Gopher uprising in the making.

Leading by the slim margin of four points, 52 to 48, the Hawks were in no position to call it a day and relax.

With the Minnesota surge becoming more and more powerful, the Hawks took time out and talked it over, and as Co-captain Jack Spencer later said, "That time-out period was overjoyed."

The Hawkeyes started stalling, and it was one of the most magnificent pieces of stalling ever witnessed on the Gopher court.

Five times the over-anxious Gophers fouled in their frantic attempts to seize the ball, and four times the Hawks refused the charity toss, electing to take the ball out of bounds.

Defense Fell Apart
With less than a minute remaining in the game, the Gopher defense suddenly fell apart as Herb Wilkinson drove in from the side for a lay-up shot and was fouled in his attempt, even though he did make the basket.

Then Jack Spencer found a hole in the same spot and broke in for a layup shot and was hit so hard that he almost rolled out of the court.

Spencer elected to take the ball out of bounds and a minute later the gun ended the game, 55 to 48.

The Hawkeyes started walking off the floor, then suddenly remembered that they had just won their first conference crown since way back in the twenties. (At present Iowa is assured of a share of the Big Ten title but, if they beat Illinois Saturday, they will win their first undisputed championship in the history of the school.)

Shouts of joy were heard throughout the Gopher fieldhouse as the Iowa cagers crowded around their slightly bald coach, Pops Harrison, and pounded each other on the back.

The celebrating continued in the Iowa dressing room as overjoyed Hawk fans poured in to congratulate their team on the victory. Right in the middle of the merry-making, somebody remembered that the Hawks had to catch a 10:35 train out of Minneapolis.

The game ended at 9:55, so the Iowans had about 40 minutes to shower, dress and drive about two miles to the railroad station. The hustle and bustle of the dressing room disappeared as the Old Golders settled down to getting packed and putting the right foot into the right shoe.

Victory Welcome
Meanwhile, back in Iowa City, plans were under way for a victory welcome for the champion Hawkeyes.

Things went slightly astray, however, as some members of the team caught the 9:55 Rocket back to Iowa City, while others waited for the 3:30 train.

Some 350 students gathered at the station, similar to the days of 1939, when huge throngs used to gather to welcome Nile Kinnick and his Ironmen mates back from the victorious grid wars.

Blushing, red-headed Murray Wier, received a kiss smack on his lips, as his already red complexion turned several shades darker.

There's no doubt that little Murray of the fiery head and the expert flip shots, deserved it. He was the spark that set off the high-flying Hawkeye scoring attack.

Forward Bill Soden of the Gophers typified the feelings of the entire Gopher five when he shouted in the midst of Wier's rallying efforts: "Here comes that Redhead again."

Gopher Remarks
All through the contest, the Gophers tried to upset the Hawkeyes' morale by casting remarks that were calculated to get them riled up and cause them to lose their poise.

Walt Rucke, Minnesota guard, continually was trying to heckle Dick Ives by saying, "I've got their All-American hot-shot." Most of their attempts fell upon deaf ears, however, as the Iowans continued to harass the Gopher baskets with shots throughout the contest.

Even though the Hawks were far below their par of Saturday night, when they rolled over the Badgers by some 30 points, they displayed the qualities of champions in holding down several Minnesota uprisings, and by scoring themselves against one of the tightest defenses they have faced all season.

The sports editor of the Minneapolis Star Journal typified the feelings of many Minnesota inhabitants in his column the following day when he said, "We salute the Hawkeyes, the champions of champions."

St. Mary's—Sectional Tourney

Successfully passing their first obstacle in the state high school basketball sectionals at Kalona, the St. Mary's Ramblers will meet Tiffin n, their second foe, tonight at 7:30 in the first of the two Class B games scheduled for this evening.

Kinross and Oxford will be featured in the second tilt beginning at 8:45.

The Marians, led by O'Brien, Stahl and Hetrick, won a smashing 56-33 victory over their first round opponents, West Chester, in Tuesday night's contest.

Displaying plenty of power, the Iowa City quintet had little difficulty in subduing the Trojans, and advancing to the second round.

Led by Ranshaw, the Tiffin Yellowjackets have broken even in their schedule this year, winning nine and losing nine. Their recent victory over Solon, Johnson county champions, however, labels them as a team to watch.

With the exception of Bart Toohy, guard, who is suffering a bad ankle, the Ramblers are all in good condition.

Irish Win First Round

St. Pat's Overwhelms Riverside, 66 to 20, in Sectional Meet

Proving that the power displayed in their late season games was not merely a "flash of form", St. Patrick's Shamrocks rolled over Riverside, 66-20, at Kalona last night, to blast the lid off their tournament title conquest.

With the three senior members of the Irish quintet, Gene Herdlika, Red Gatens and Doc Connell, setting the record-breaking pace, Coach Cliff Kritt's charges had little trouble in subduing their first opponent in this year's state basketball tournament.

Herdlika set an individual scoring record in the contest when he pushed 26 points through the hoops to lead all scorers. His two senior teammates, Gatens and Connell, were not far behind him in the point-producing department, contributing 15 and 10 respectively.

Starting fast, the Shamrocks jumped to an 18-2 lead in the initial quarter, holding their opponents without a field goal in the first eight minutes.

Basketball in Iowa—King Of Kings

DES MOINES (AP)—If you hear any unusual noises Friday or Saturday night from the direction of Iowa, they probably will be the result of record breaking crowds totaling near 18,000 trying to squeeze their way in to see Iowa's two top basketball teams in their respective conference championship games.

Never before has Iowa State college played for an undisputed Big Six title on one night and University of Iowa contested for sole possession of the Big Ten laurels the next night, as will happen this week.

All Seats Sold
A record-tying crowd of 14,000 will cheer the state university Hawkeyes against Illinois, the only team to defeat Iowa in 17 games this season, at Iowa City Saturday night. All seats had been sold about 10 days in advance of the contest, and those in charge said they could easily have sold another 6,000.

A victory for the Hawkeyes would mean an undisputed championship; a defeat would result in a tie for the title between Iowa and Ohio State. The Hawks never have won sole right to a Big Ten championship, but tied with Wisconsin for the honors in 1923 and shared them with three other teams in 1926.

Ames Expects 3,500
A crowd of at least 3,500 is expected at Ames Friday night to see Iowa State battle Kansas university for the Big Six championship. College officials estimate they could sell 8,000 tickets if there were room. By packing 'em in, the Ames crowd might run above 3,500.

An Iowa State victory would make the Cyclones conference champions. Iowa State won the title in 1935, tied for it with Kansas in 1941 and shared it with Oklahoma a year ago.

SAE'S Whip DU'S
Bill Anderson led the Sigma Alpha Epsilon cagers to a 29-26 victory over Delta Upsilon last night, in a holly contested overtime game.

With the score knotted at 26 all in the final minutes of play, Anderson dropped in a charity toss and a goal to clinch the game for SAE. He was high scorer with 15 points. George Knack played an outstanding game for the losers.

Maybe So

By BOB KRAUSE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

WHISPERING BREEZES of late have brought to you the rumblings of dissatisfied basketball coaches. Both high school and college mentors are telling their wives they don't like the supper and why does Junior have to make so much noise?

The complaints have been gathering no moss since the very start of the current hoop campaign and they are clearly audible at this moment. Our own Pops Harrison has voiced one of the loudest and most logical rharburbs:

Five Fouls
Pops wants to do away with the ruling allowing a man to have five fouls. A good many coaches seem to agree on that point. Those who are basketball fans will, we think, testify to the fact that this year has seen a so-called non-contact sport approach closer to mass murder than at any time before.

A lot of the boys have been acting like trigger men in political machines. They know they can slug as often as they like because they are protected from the law by the boss. The law in this case is the five-foul ruling. We think the statute should be changed because every eager beaver who likes to make with the dirty work is given an extra pair of brass knucks.

More Logical
The other fault was made much more logical to us when we heard of an incident at a recent St. Mary's game. The height of something or other was reached by the other coach when, within a period of some 10 minutes, he substituted two men alternately over 20 times.

After a while it began to look like a relay race without the baton.

Obviously the fault here is in the unlimited substitution ruling which, as we understand it, was installed to aid those schools which had a hard time getting together enough men to have a two-way conversation. But the bigger schools have made a fiasco out of it for purposes of disconcerting the opposition, stalling, and saving rubber soles.

The crowd wants the game always faster, faster. We suppose they should have it that way since they pay the freight. But unless these two rules are changed things will continue to remain at times like a 100-yard dash between a couple of Civil war veterans.

Hoosiers Upset Illinois, 65-55

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Indiana's cellar-dwelling Hoosiers upset third-place Illinois in a Western conference basketball game last night, 65 to 55.

Indiana overcame an early Illinois lead and never was headed after the first few minutes, although Illinois hung on in a threatening position. The Hoosiers led at the half, 33 to 28.

Indiana won on free-throw accuracy, both teams scoring the same number of field goals. The Hoosiers connected from the foul line 15 times in 25 tries, and the Illini counted five times in 23 attempts.

The victory gave Indiana a final conference standing of three won and nine lost. For Illinois it was the fourth defeat in 11 conference games.

Notre Dame to Select New Football Coach

SOUTH BEND, (AP)—The University of Notre Dame's athletic board met yesterday to discuss selecting a head football coach but deferred definite action.

Ed Mc Keever resigned Tuesday to accept a like position at Cornell University.

The Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, C. S. C., university vice president and head of the athletic board, said no statement would be made until the Rev. J. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the university, returned late this week from a business trip. He indicated further discussions would be necessary.

Hawk Trackmen Drill for Saturday's Triangular Meet

Coach George Bresnahan's Iowa trackmen have been working hard this week in practice sessions for the triangular meet against Minnesota and Chicago at Chicago scheduled for Saturday night.

The Hawkeyes, who won their first meet of the season two weeks ago, placed third last Saturday in a quadrangular contest with Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota, coming in only a few points behind the Gophers, who will provide their main competition this week.

The Hawkeye coach has stated himself as well pleased with the work of Keith Gotthardt, shot putter who garnered the best record in the conference in winning his event at both meets, and George Moore, high jumper who has cleared six feet in two competitions to earn ties for first place.

Other outstanding point-makers this year have been Ike Johnson, sprinter and hurdler, and Capt. Al Slater, two-miler, who won his first meet this year and placed second last week.

City High Quintet To Meet Roosevelt In Final League Game

City high's championship Little Hawk cagers will journey to Cedar Rapids tomorrow to meet the last place Roosevelt Roughriders in the final conference game of the season for the Hawklets.

Saturday afternoon at the City high gym the Red and White will come to grips with the Oskaloosa quintet, as a pre-tournament warm-up and test.

Over-Optimism
Chief worry in the Roosevelt contest tomorrow night will be fear of over-optimism on the part of the Little Hawks cagers who swept into the Mississippi Valley conference title last week as a result of their 50-16 victory over Wilson.

Coach Walley Schwank, who in his first year as basketball mentor at City high successfully guided the team to the championship, will probably start the same lineup that overpowered the hopelessly outplayed Wilson quintet last week.

"RED" GATENS—IRISH ACE

St. Patrick's—All Around Player

By BETTYE NEAR
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Out at St. Patrick's high, the name of Don Gatens has gone down as one of the "greats" in the school's basketball history.

When he finished his last home game Friday night, the versatile senior Shamrock co-captain wrote a brilliant finish to three spectacular years of hardcourt competition, during which time he received honors that come only to really good ball players.

Fire and Fury
Known as "Red" to his friends and Iowa City basketball fans, the broad-shouldered, six foot, one inch Irish guard is quiet, modest and unassuming in class, but in court circles around the state he has earned a reputation for fire and fury during the 32-minute battles. Whoever it was that coined the phrase, "The fighting Irish" must have been referring to Red's play as sparkplug of the team, for without doubt the Shamrocks' success hinges largely on his top-quality performances.

Four-Year Veteran
Earning his third letter this year, Red is a veteran of four seasons with the Shamrocks. He started his basketball career as a freshman in 1941, and the next year earned a regular guard berth.

Last year, as a junior, he was named all-city guard, sharing recognition at that time with Bob Connell, this season's other captain, who won the all-city center honor. Working together in the backcourt for most of this season, these two rangy players have undoubtedly been the big cogs in giving the Irish their 10 victories.

When the Shamrocks, playing their most successful season since 1936, advanced to the semi-finals in the Burlington diocesan tournament last year, Red was chosen all-diocesan guard. He racked up 166 points from that position, and this season his scoring has been even better. With the Mt. Vernon game, his record shows 194 points, for an average of 11 in each of 18 games.

Top Point-Maker
Red is the Shamrocks' top point maker, being credited in many games this year with between 10 and 17, and he can always be counted on to come through with the important tallies at crucial moments.

He is a consistent threat to would-be victorious opponents, and has thus earned the respect and wariness of enemy coaches and teams. During his three years of action, he has done outstanding offensive and defensive work, and his rebound-taking ability, which is nothing short of superb, has often meant the difference between a win and a loss.

Another factor in Red's makeup is the high degree of coordination and timing which he possesses, seldom found in high school cagers of his height. His coach, Cliff Kritt, says of the Irish sparkplug, "Red is a fine competitor, a good trainer and outstanding in every respect. He is genuinely interested in living the game."

Responsibilities
Not only has he won basketball laurels, but his school activities have also brought responsibilities to him. Last spring the American Legion of Iowa City selected him as one of the representative boys to attend Boys' State. Then, during the summer, he was a delegate to the Catholic Boys' convention in Chicago.

Red is not the first of the Gatens family to figure importantly in athletics at St. Patrick's. His two brothers, now in the navy, were outstanding in sports at school, and one of his two sisters, Irene, is a green-and-white clad cheerleader who rallies school spirit behind the team.

Excellent Student
Red is one of the more popular seniors, and an excellent student. His favorite pastime is riding horseback. The son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Gatens, 401 S. Dodge street, he is just 17 and plans to attend Notre Dame next year, where he may study engineering.

"I'd like to play a little basketball," he admits, but his future in the sports looks much brighter than that, as borne out in the words of his coach: "I agree with others who have watched Red play that he is potential 'big time caliber.'"

Whatever Red does with his talent, it is sure to have the same profound effect that it has had for the past three years at St. Patrick's high.

Hawklets Face Roughriders

City High Quintet To Meet Roosevelt In Final League Game

City high's championship Little Hawk cagers will journey to Cedar Rapids tomorrow to meet the last place Roosevelt Roughriders in the final conference game of the season for the Hawklets.

Saturday afternoon at the City high gym the Red and White will come to grips with the Oskaloosa quintet, as a pre-tournament warm-up and test.

Over-Optimism
Chief worry in the Roosevelt contest tomorrow night will be fear of over-optimism on the part of the Little Hawks cagers who swept into the Mississippi Valley conference title last week as a result of their 50-16 victory over Wilson.

Coach Walley Schwank, who in his first year as basketball mentor at City high successfully guided the team to the championship, will probably start the same lineup that overpowered the hopelessly outplayed Wilson quintet last week.

Bob Freeman, who now leads the entire conference as high scoring man, will start at forward while Jimmy Van Deusen, the other Hawklet hot shot, will team with him.

Sehr At Center
Big pivot man, Don Sehr, who played the best game of his career against Wilson will get the starting assignment at center, while the able guard combination, Dick Kallous and Russ Lackender, will take over the back court positions.

Iowa City's game with Roosevelt will count towards the conference standings, it was learned recently, and although the game is not a vital one now, the Little Hawks can end their season with a record of nine wins and two losses if they cop the Roosevelt contest.

Bad Season
Roosevelt's Roughriders have had a bad season, ranking at the bottom of the conference ladder with only one triumph against nine defeats.

In a game played two weeks ago between Roosevelt and City high, the Hawklets handed the Cedar Rapids quintet a sound 56-32 drubbing.

Hanley Signs Football Pact With Chicago

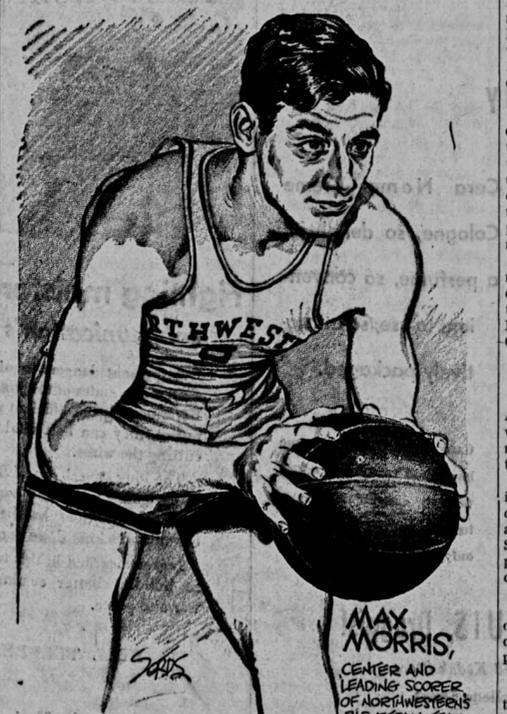

CHICAGO (AP)—Lt. Col. Richard E. Hanley of the Marine aviation corps, one-time head football coach at Northwestern university, yesterday signed a three-year, postwar contract as head coach and general manager of the Chicago club in the proposed All-American football conference.

John L. Keeshin, Chicago trucking magnate who holds the league, did not disclose terms of the contract which was drawn in Los Angeles, Calif.

Cpl. Hanley, who soon will leave for his second overseas duty tour as combat conditioning officer in the marines, said his annual salary will substantially exceed his pay as Northwestern coach from 1927 through 1934.

It is estimated that one out of every 200 people has some form of epilepsy.

Under the direction of Prof. William J. Petersen, the Red Cross War Fund drive for 1945 will get underway today with more than 250 volunteer workers helping to raise a $42,700 quota.

Headquarters for the campaign have been opened in the city hall. Local soliciting is directed by Mrs. C. W. Keyser.

Hoping to raise the increased quota during the early part of the month, the campaign has for its slogan, "A Short, efficient and economical campaign."

In 1944 the quota was $36,500. The increase for this year was necessary because of the increased demands upon the national Red Cross organization due to the greater number of casualties expected during the current year and to the increased local demands from the larger training program located in this area.

Quotas for individual groups are as follows:

Residential	$ 7,500
Business	6,500
Professional	1,000
Men's Organization	1,250
Women's Organizations	750
Public School Teachers	350
Special Gifts	1,200
Total	$18,550

Beaux Arts Murals Sell at All Prices

Aqua sea horses, chartruese water nymphs, and other less distinguishable objects de art, were sold for prices ranging from one cent to a dollar and one cent, as section after section of the Beaux Art murals was auctioned off yesterday afternoon in the main gallery of the art building.

The auctioneer was determined. Nothing must go unsold, even if the price was cut to a give-away. "This 14-foot mural. Who'll buy this mural. Just the thing for your home," she cried enthusiastically. "Do I hear 50 cents?" And with three beats of her auctioneer's gavel it was gone.

These murals which were painted for the Beaux Art ball, were done by members of the faculty and by student groups, under a student chairman.

Land May Be Rented From City for Gardens

Council Receives Petition From Police For Salary Increase

Victory garden plots rented by the city last year will again be available to Iowan Citizens during 1945, according to a resolution passed by the city council which met at the City hall last night.

The city will have the plots plowed and rent individual lots to gardeners at $2.25 each. George Dohrer, city clerk, said that half of the 40 lots in the large field near the armory had already been spoken for.

Other business of last night's session included canvassing the returns of the city primary election held Monday, receiving and placing on file a petition from the city policemen asking for a 10 percent increase in pay and receiving reports from the various departments.

In petitioning for a 10 percent salary increase, the city policemen stated that because of increased withholding taxes, a January 1 pay increase amounted to less than one dollar to some of the men.

They also say that the salaries of Iowa City policemen are below the average paid in other cities.

Their petition was placed on file. H. S. Ivie, chairman of the council's finance committee, expressed the opinion that any change in policemen's pay should be postponed until Chief Ollie White returns from Washington, D. C., where he is attending the National Police academy.

The city firemen also presented a petition. Their request to be permitted to hold a Firemen's ball on April 3 and to sell tickets for the ball was granted.

An ordinance raising the salary of the city clerk to $2,304 was given its first reading.

The annual report of the Iowa Water Service company showed that its present property valuation is over $1,000,000.

Beginning Saturday morning, free tickets will be available at the information desk in Iowa Union or in room 110, Music building.

Audience Enjoys —

Lenten Music

By GLORIA WEISER
Daily Iowan Campus Editor

A large audience seated informally in Iowa Union last night listened to a varied program of choral music and liked it.

The "100 men and a girl" procedure was reversed when the concert opened with 100 girls and a man. The man—Prof. Herald Stark, directed the chorus in the appropriate and inspiring composition "Stabat Mater" for soprano and alto solo and chorus (Pergeles). Latin students could follow the music with ease but the English translation on the program aided the layman to appreciate the proximity of Easter Sunday.

Solos by Jean McFadden and Patricia Miller, sopranos, and Faye Von Draska and Mary Jane Neville deserve acclaim. The voices of Miss Von Draska and Miss McFadden were well blended in a duet describing the distress of Mary during Christ's crucifixion. Miss Miller's rendition tended toward an operatic interpretation with a bit too much coloratura for this type of music in our opinion.

Three numbers by Billings, an English composer of the 18th century who had "Yankee inventiveness," tended to provoke some thought about the Lenten season also. The solo by Karl Schmidt in the latter of this group, "Be Glad Then America" was well sung.

Bow ties and baritones appeared in the second half of the concert and the pleasing male voices were mingled with the women's chorus. Stirring the audience to an enthusiastic ovation, the climax was reached last night when Eugene Bruce, bass, accompanied by the chorus sang the ever-beautiful "Credo," Nicene creed, by Gretchaninoff, a contemporary Russian composer.

Another enjoyable feature of the program was the interpretation given a white spiritual number, "Poor Wayfaring Stranger," written by Cui and arranged by Siegmaster.

A real exuberance was exhibited by the mixed chorus when it was encored to repeat the favorite martial tune, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home" (Lambert-Wilhouisky). The rousing melody provided a mood adopted by audience and chorus alike as they anticipated the day the song suggests.

223 Returned World War II Veterans Study In Eight University Colleges Under GI Bill

Information released this week by Dr. William D. Coder, director of Veterans Service on the campus, revealed that 223 World War II veterans as of Jan. 15 are enrolled at the university, taking studies in eight of the nine colleges. The college of liberal arts has the largest number of returned veterans, followed closely by the college of dentistry.

The large number of veterans in the college of dentistry has resulted directly from the A.S.T.P. unit which trained here, according to Dr. Coder, and to the fact that a large number of trainees in this unit took advantage of a "convenience of government" discharge in September, 1944, to continue their studies here. Many of the present juniors and seniors in dentistry have continued their unbroken educational pattern here at the university, first, as civilians; next, as A.S.T.P. trainees, and finally, as veterans.

'Not Approved' Veterans
At the present time 73 are enrolled in the college of dentistry. Fifty of these, however, are listed as NOT APPROVED veterans, which includes those who, although discharged from the armed forces, are generally not eligible for benefits under the readjustment acts passed by congress.

Those who are not eligible generally fall into two classifications: those who have served less than 90 days, and those who were assigned to A.S.T.P. or V-12 programs and in addition served less than 90 days exclusive of these programs. Also, this group includes some men who, although they may be eligible for benefits, have not as yet applied for these benefits.

The average age of the veterans taking courses is 25.3. The average age of those enrolled in the college of liberal arts is 22.4 and those in dentistry 23.4. Averages for the other colleges are: 27.2 for the college of law; 25.1 for the college of engineering; 25.4 in the college of pharmacy. The average age of veterans enrolled in the college of commerce is 22.3, and in the college of medicine, 22.1.

26 Percent Married
Further statistics showed 26 percent of the veterans to be married.

"Of the men who have returned thus far," Dr. Coder said, 85 come from the army. In addition, 27 have returned from the army air force; 16 were former navy men; seven from the marine corps and one from the coast guard.

Four women veterans, enrolled at the University of Iowa for the first time this semester under the GI bill of rights, are all from the WAVES.

In releasing the statistics gathered from the number of veterans who have made use of the servicemen's readjustment act Dr. Coder warned that he did not consider these figures significant in themselves or that conclusions should be drawn from the small group which have returned to date. "But," he said, "I believe that as we continue to gather these statistics from semester to semester, we may eventually be able to forecast some trends."
