

Three Nazi Armies Flee Across Rhine

Yanks Capture Ticao, Burias In Philippines

Open Campaign For Legaspi, Major Luzon Port

MANILA, Sunday (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur made his opening bid Saturday for the major port of Legaspi and air bases on southeastern Luzon by sending troops ashore at dawn on two nearby islands—the 19th and 20th invasions of the Philippines campaign.

Protected by warships and planes, yanks of the veteran American division seized Ticao and Burias in the Sibuyan sea in a move to force the Japanese either to quit Luzon's Bicol peninsula or face destruction there.

Forty-five-mile long Burias and 25-mile long Ticao, both narrow in width, also further dominate the short shipping route through San Bernardino strait and Verde passage to Manila from the United States. They are on the west side of Bicol peninsula. Legaspi, with its fine port, is on the east side.

MacArthur, announcing the new moves in today's communique, said Bicol peninsula constituted the eastern anchor of the Japanese hold on south Luzon and the two invasions threatened it with envelopment.

Burias is 175 miles southeast of Manila, Ticao 250 miles. The new landings were made by elements of the Americal division, veterans of the Solomon campaign, from Lieut. Gen. Robert Eichelberger's Eighth army.

Today's communique reported captured one of the biggest airfields on Luzon island, at Iba along the west coast midway between the western arm of Lingayen gulf and the tip of Bataan peninsula. The former American airbase, which is on Zamboales province, and the town of Iba were seized by troops of the United States 38th division. Eighteen damaged Japanese planes were captured.

The rarely mentioned Japanese airforce sent four bombers against Lingayen, scene of the Luzon landings last Jan. 9. The communique said the raiders caused "some damage and casualties" and that anti-aircraft gunners bagged one bomber.

Nazis Send V-Bombs Against Britain In Daylight Raid

LONDON (AP)—German flying bombs were directed against Britain in daylight yesterday for the first time since last fall, and Spitfire planes immediately attacked launching sites in the Netherlands.

The RAF reported direct bomb hits on V-bomb launching plants, portions of which were still blazing from a previous raid, and said transport in the zone was strafed. The daylight flight of the bombs, reported by watchers on the east coast of England, followed the first night assault in many weeks, which was announced by the air ministry yesterday.

Although the ministry regularly reports "enemy air activity" over southern England (presumably referring to rocket bomb, or V-2 attacks), it has been some time since the V-1 flying bomb has been noted.

A communique said flying bombs were shot down into the sea off the east coast of England during the night. This recalled that Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels, four days ago said that the V-bomb attacks would be intensified.

RAF Follows Yanks In Attack on Berlin

LONDON (AP)—RAF Mosquitoes smashed Berlin last night in the 12th successive night attack on the battered Nazi capital. This raid followed up massive day attacks on Germany in which United States Eighth airforce heavy bombers in a 200-mile column struck at scattered oil refineries and bombed industrial and rail targets.

Joining the Eighth's heavies in the assault yesterday were hundreds of the United States Ninth airforce's swift fighters and medium bombers which raked Nazis along the Rhine.

Impending Spring Weather Might Delay Final Nazi Collapse

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press War Analyst

Impending spring weather in western Europe might delay a final German military collapse. It is hardly more than days before spring thaws must be reckoned with by both the Russians and the allies. Marvels of sustained communication service have been wrought behind both armies despite winter handicaps to achieve the positions on both fronts for the final effort to stab through to the heart of Germany.

Spring thaws at the end of an unusually hard winter will trouble General Eisenhower's supply forces but not to the same extent as it will the Russians. Allied communication lines whether leading back to Cherbourg and Normandy beachheads or to Antwerp feed to Russian drive on Berlin at the Oder-Neisse line has been due in part to bringing up supplies and equipment across Poland on a scale to meet that spring danger. There has been practically no change noted on the Oder front faced by White Russian armies for a month or more. Other military considerations no doubt led to that pause; but the question of massing stores, equipment and reserves well forward while the roads in Poland were still frost hardened sufficiently to bear the traffic was of first importance.

the front line dumps over hard surfaced French, Belgian, Dutch and German highways. The deeper into Germany the troops get the better the road systems.

In addition to bringing up additional forces and massing supplies near the front of the final drive on Berlin and Dresden or both, however, the Russians have very obviously withheld that attack on the Oder to accomplish other essential purposes. That was to widen the Warthe corridor to the Oder, and to secure its flanks against any possibility of a Nazi counterattack of major scope.

Conference Delegates Agree on Peace Pact

Act of Chapultepec Provides for Lasting Inter-American Treaty

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Twenty American republics agreed yesterday to form a historic alliance to keep the peace of this continent.

Unanimous passage of the act of Chapultepec, which guarantees frontiers and independence during the war and provides for a lasting treaty afterwards, climaxed the efforts of the Inter-American conference, now heading towards a close.

The firm unity established by the republics in their mutual pledge paved the way for a statement on Argentina, which may come Monday.

Indications are that it will be made without any heated debate. The statement is expected to look towards return of Argentina to the strong American system now perfected, but leave action in that direction to Buenos Aires.

Senator Tom Connally (D, Texas), chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, described the act as "one of the greatest state papers in the world." Connally said that the act of Chapultepec is a new "Montros doctrine" backed by all the Americas instead of just the United States.

It was a pretty decent day yesterday, wasn't it? It didn't rain, it didn't snow, it didn't drizzle. In fact, it wasn't even cloudy. Nor especially cold: high of 38, low 29.

Today should be pretty much like it was yesterday, clear and maybe a little warmer. This good weather may not last so long for some bad weather is moving in from the northwest, it is now in Montana and the Dakotas. Just when it will arrive in Iowa City would be hard to say. Maybe it will go in some other direction.

Two Pomeranian Cities Fall to Reds

Nazis Report Soviets Break Through To Baltic Sea

LONDON (AP)—Red army forces smashed through the Pomeranian strongholds of Pollnow and Rummelsburg yesterday and by German account broke through to the Baltic sea near Koeshin, chopping the province in two and tightening a trap on thousands of enemy troops in the Stolp-Gdynia-Danzig areas to the northeast.

Simultaneously, Berlin said, four other Soviet armies opened a full-scale offensive toward the Pomeranian capital of Stettin in the west, driving out spearhead within 22 miles of Berlin's main port city and outflanking that bastion by cutting the Danzig trunk railway at a new point, near Labes, 45 miles northeast of Stettin and 42 miles southwest of Koeshin.

Moscow officially clamped a security blackout on the Pomeranian front, announcing only the capture of Pollnow and Rummelsburg and 80 other localities, most of them unidentified. One of those named was Dargen, 14 miles southeast of Koeshin, which Moscow dispatches said was being bombed.

German communications apparently were so confused that the Soviet high command was taking no chances of disclosing information valuable to the enemy.

Marines Drive To Cut Jap Iwo Garrison

Gain 200-400 Yards In Northwest Section of Island

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Sunday (AP)—Although slowed by a desperate enemy, the marines drove to within 300 yards of the cliff's edge on northeastern Iwo Saturday in a move to cut the tightly compressed Japanese garrison in two.

This gain was scored by Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine's Third division in the center which halved in the day's hard fighting the distance between them and the point where the cliffs drop down toward the sea.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' communique today, reporting leathernecks gains of 200 to 400 yards, also reported advances on the west side but marines on the east still were stymied by an enemy pocket at Minami, southeast of captured Motosyama town.

The Japanese are compressed into a gourd-shaped area around Iwo's northeastern and northern rim. The area is 1,500 yards wide at the widest point on the east and 1,400 yards at the widest point on the north.

From the northwest coast, the line runs almost straight across from a point 1,400 yards south of Kitano point, the island's northern tip, until it reaches within 300 yards of the cliff's edge on the northeast. At that point, the line is 700 yards from the broad northeastern beach below the cliffs.

The line then runs almost straight north and south for 3,000 yards to the bottom of the bulge of Iwo's east coast.

Supply ships, which first unloaded on the eastern beaches, where the original invasion took place Feb. 19, are using both the eastern and western beaches to speed up the operation.

The communique said all divisions met heavy fire from mortars and small arms.

Maj. Gen. Clifton B. Cates' Fourth has been held to a virtual stalemate on the right flank for six days but the progress of Erskine's Third threatens to deal off the hard-fighting enemy group before the Fourth.

Ohio Tops Flood Stages

CINCINNATI (AP)—The rain-swollen Ohio river rolled toward crests 10 to 12 feet above flood stages last night, bringing a sudden valley its highest water since the record flood of 1937.

Hundreds of families were homeless and relief agencies were hard-pressed by manpower shortage.

The crest forecast for the Cincinnati district was 63 to 64.5 feet. Only twice since the 1937 catastrophe — when the stream soared to 79.99 feet — has it touched 60 feet: in 1940 and in January, 1943. Cincinnati's flood stage is 52 feet.

Everywhere along the river it was the same story: more towns isolated, war industries halted, increased relief loads for the Red Cross and similar agencies, but only moderate damage.

Warships Bombard Island of Okino Daito; Planes Hit Ryukyu

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Guam (AP)—Guns of American warships thundered their closest challenge yet to Japan's homeland Thursday night after carrier planes again raided Ryukyu islands.

The all-night bombardment battered little Okino Daito, an island only 350 miles south of the Nippon mainland.

Carrier planes hit the Ryukyu (Nansei Shoto) chain by daylight preceding the bombardment and Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz' communique said they destroyed or damaged 55 enemy ships and 91 aircraft.

Kino Daito lies some 210 miles east of the Ryukyus and about 700 miles west of Iwo Jima, which United States marines are slowly taking over in bloody fighting.

Allies Claim Destruction Of Two Units

Enemy Blows Up All Except Mined Escape Bridges

PARIS, Sunday (AP)—The broken remnants of three German armies were fleeing across the Rhine last night strongly pursued by the newly-linked American Ninth and Canadian First armies.

It was announced at allied headquarters that the enemy First parachute army and 15th army had been destroyed as organized fighting forces.

Chaos was declared to exist along the approaches to the Wesel bridges where the battered survivors of these once-powerful armies were converging on the river and dragging with them the still-more bedraggled odds and ends of the wrecked Fifth panzer army.

The Germans were blowing up all except their mined escape bridges and were yielding nearly all territory west of the great river barrier.

Race for Bridges For the allies it was a dramatic race to try to seize intact at least one of the five remaining bridges — three at Duisburg and two at Wesel.

The enemy, penned in a 23-mile stretch along the left bank, was believed ready to blow these bridges as quickly as he dared in an effort to gain time to reorganize his shattered defenses on the other side.

Simultaneously, two armored task forces broke from the United States First army's 20-mile wide Ertz river bridgehead in a six-mile surge on the north that swept within four miles of Germany's fourth greatest city of Cologne, where the enemy was dug in for a last-ditch stand.

12 Miles From Bonn To the south, two First army columns fought to within less than 12 miles of the Rhine's road and railway city of Bonn, 13 miles southeast of Cologne, bent on cutting off all retreat.

General Eisenhower's spokesman warned the German people by radio that "there is no security east of the Rhine," where the next phase in the final struggle to crush Germany will be fought.

With the Ninth army in control of 13 miles of the Rhine's west bank northwestward from Dueseldorf, American shells were ripping into the factories of the Ruhr on the east bank and the question was whether the great offensive had enough momentum to cross the river.

Superforts Bomb Tokyo

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 150 Superfortresses struck Tokyo yesterday for the 11th time.

The huge force struck in daylight against targets described as strategic in the urban areas of the Japanese capital, an announcement of 20th airforce headquarters here said.

The group flew up from the Marianas island bases of the 21st bomber command of Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay.

The announcement did not indicate the exact size of the attacking group which it described as very large.

Operational reports were awaited before release of additional information.

Finland Declares War on Germany

HELSINKI (AP)—The Finnish government declared formally last night that a state of war exists between Finland and Germany.

The announcement said that March 1 the government had unilaterally adopted a statement proposed by Premier Juho Paasikivi, reviewing the struggle between the Finns and Germans since the Nazi government was advised last Sept. 2 that its troops must leave the country by Sept. 15 under terms of Finland's armistice with Russia.

Hawkeyes Win Clear Big Ten Title

Record Crowd Sees 43 to 37 Victory

Fighting Iowa Five Show Spectators One Of Tensest Games

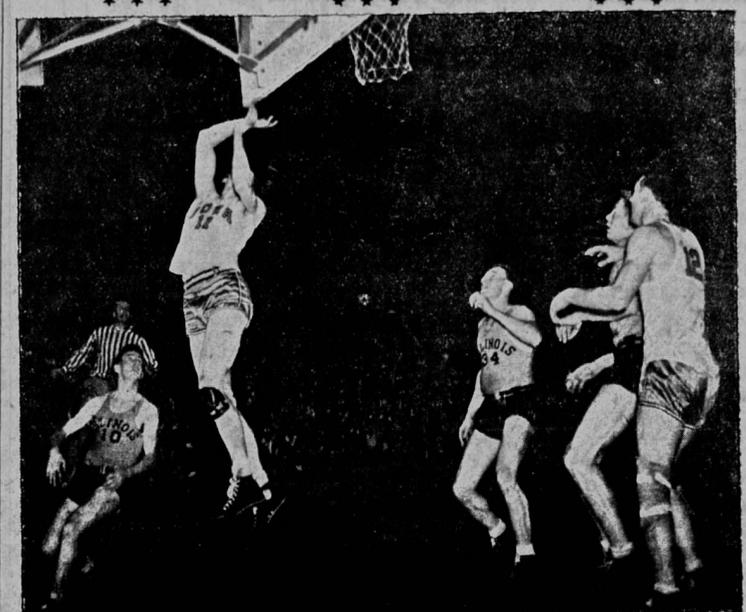

BY BOB KRAUSE Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Hail to the champions! Last night at the Iowa fieldhouse a fighting bunch of Hawkeyes won the first undisputed Big Ten title in the history of basketball at the University of Iowa by a score of 43 to 37 over Illinois.

The game, bitterly contested throughout, was one of the tightest and most tense battles this observer has ever witnessed. Some 14,000 other screaming spectators doubtless felt the same about it.

From the opening whistle until the last gun, when little electric Murray Wier sank a foul for the final point, the crowd was in a continual uproar and the pressure on both clubs could almost be seen in the air.

Two Titles Shared Since Western conference court play began in 1900, Iowa has only managed to grab a share of first place glory on two occasions. Both times the honor had to be shared. Last night's smashing victory gave the Haykeys clear possession of the coveted spot, however, as they finished the year with a mark of 11 victories and 1 setback. Ohio State's Buckeyes closed their campaign in second place with a mark of 10 wins and 2 losses.

In winning Pops Harrison's men broke four Iowa records and tied one. They scored 1,030 points and broke the 951 compiled last year; they made 408 field goals compared to 392 of last season; they sank 214 free throws as they played it last night will endure them in the memory of Old Gold fans for a long time.

Ives scored 14 points to lead Iowa in that department, although suffering a head cut on the first play of the fray. Spencer was superb at the business of directing the attack and in calming the team at crucial moments—of which there were many. Clay, who injured a weak ankle about halfway through the last half, was forced to leave the contest at that time.

Before that, although taking a beating under both baskets, his work on rebounds was superb.

Herb Wilkinson did his usually effective job of guarding high scoring opponents as the Illini's sharpshooting forward line of Judson and Orr got only eight points between them. Ned Postels and Murray Wier were vitals on the attack.

The battle was very rough and often shoddy as hard-working officials called a total of 41 fouls. Illinois was very evidently out to repeat their early season victory over the Hawks with a vengeance and they used their height and weight to good advantage.

Halftime Lead The victors held a halftime edge of 26 to 14 possibly by virtue of the fact that Coach Harrison crossed up the enemy and the experts by starting Herb Wilkinson at forward and moving Postels to guard. Iowa opened the scoring as Ives dropped one of his famous jump shots from the foul line. The Illini seemed helpless before a shifting zone defense which baffled them throughout most of the opening period. Their height, however enabled them to control many of the rebounds. As always Jack Spencer steadied the team at moments when the action was hottest.

At the end of three and a half minutes Iowa lead, 7 to 1. At 10 minutes the Hawks were in front by 12-7. The scoring on both sides was evenly divided, always the sign of a good game. The action was rough and speedy and the nervous strain on both clubs was very evident.

Fast Breaking Illini The Orange and Blue utilized a fast break with Howie Judson, Johnny Orr and Jim Seyler bringing the ball down and whipping it into Junior Kirk at the foul circle. Seyler led Illinois with 11 points and played excellent ball through the evening.

Ives was hurt after 14 minutes of the first half but remained in the game.

The winners might have had a bigger advantage had they not missed 14 foul shots. Ives failed on six, as did the Illini's Kirk.

Wier entered the battle at the height of the Illinois rush and immediately the change could be sensed. An attack which appeared to be moving aimlessly took on form and rhythm. The onlookers began to sense that it was not in the cards for the Hawks to lose this one. They didn't.

Looking Ahead in Washington—

WASHINGTON (AP)—If John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers decide to strike next month, they may find themselves confronted with a new law to induct them into the armed forces.
Representative Robertson (D., Va.) has drafted a proposal to give miners the same draft deferment status farmers now have. But Robertson's plan would go a step further by requiring deferred miners to remain on the job under penalty of loss of deferment status.
The Virginian sought to write the proposal into legislation approved recently by the house, but it was ruled out of order. Separate legislation covering the subject would be assigned to the military committee. Chairman May (D., Ky.) says the plan would get committee consideration.

Leaner year: Agriculture department economists predict food production this year will fall eight to 10 percent below last year's record output. Biggest prospective reductions: meat, poultry, vegetable oil crops and sugar.
The expected drop is predicated on such known factors as a smaller number of livestock; a slightly smaller, less efficient farm force; shortages of farm machinery.
If weather is below average, the drop would be even larger.

Hold that shovel: Look for new consumer coal regulations for the 1945-1946 heating season within a few days. What with big bituminous and anthracite deficiencies and an uncertain labor situation, the rules will be plenty tough.
They'll outline: how much coal you can buy on the basis of previous usage, how much you can buy up to certain dates.

Used jalopies: While ODT officials say the number of automobiles in the hands of essential drivers is getting "dangerously low," they're non-committal on whether rationing of used cars will be necessary. They admit they're keeping a close watch on the situation—and that the situation is not bright.

America's aging jalopies are leaving the highways at the rate of 1,500,000 a year. As of Jan. 1, only 23,750,000 passenger cars were in operation—just 3,750,000 more than ODT says is the minimum required to keep civilian economy operating efficiently.

Ordinarily such a margin would be sufficient, but not so when cars of essential drivers are breaking down faster, because of greater usage, than those of A card motorists. This, the ODT says, is gradually concentrating good cars in the hands of non-essential drivers.

You and a few others: The nation's population has just passed the 139,000,000 mark—will probably reach 140,000,000 about a year from now.

Heap big strategy: The red men have been whooping it up against confirmation of white man William A. Brophy of Albuquerque as commissioner of Indian affairs. They ask appointment of an Indian to the place—but some braves say this is only a strategic move.
A governor of one of the large tribes says he has little hope that congress will tomahawk the Brophy nomination.

But he says the foundation is being laid for a later request to congress for legislation specifically requiring that any future commissioner be of Indian blood.
Among avowed Indian candidates for the job is Robert Yellowtail, a Crow Indian.

Check him next January: Seldom will you find anyone in Washington who'll make longer than a month's forecast on anything. But the Smithsonian institution's Dr. Charles G. Abbot has lined up all the dates until year's end on which Washington residents will "likely" see more than average rain or snowfall. Examples: Easter Sunday, Memorial day, Labor day— but July 4th and Christmas day are likely to be fair.

Don't scoff at Abbot. He predicted rain for the presidential inaugural day months ahead of time, and hit it right on the south portico.

Rockets on the Rhine?: A good guess is that plenty of rockets will be used by our fighting men when we start crossing the Rhine. One of the best indicated uses for these whizzers is as a "barrage" weapon, designed to drive a close-packed defending enemy from shore-lines. We used plenty in the Normandy invasion, and rockets have been hot stuff in Pacific landings.

Incidentally, rocketeers in Washington are puzzling over brief mentions in Pacific dispatches of rockets used by the Japs at Iwo. Whether the Japs have some new ones of their own, or just carbon copies of ours or the Germans', remains to be seen when reports become more detailed.

Sand in the wheels: Some people are putting sand in the income tax wheels.
Those who made under $5,000 in 1944 and whose tax was taken out of wages can make their return on W-2 the withholding receipt. But from some people too much was withheld, from some not enough.

W-2 users must answer a few simple questions printed on the form, so the tax can be figured. Collectors of internal revenue report that many people are just turning them in without answering the questions and, in some cases, without even signing their names.

Betty Co-Aide Rolls Up Sweater Sleeves To Assume New Role in University Life

By MARY OSBORNE
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

It's Betty Co-aid no longer at the University of Iowa, but Betty Co-aid who's taking her part in campus life as a "special duty" nurse at university hospital. Under the Double-V program of war activities, university women volunteer to work two hours a week in the wards, doing odd jobs so that busy nurses may devote their time to more serious needs.

Let's follow Betty Co-aid through a typical Co-aid day at the hospital. Arriving promptly at 3:30 in the afternoon in the office of the school of nursing, Betty is checked in by a group chairman and assigned by a nurse in charge to a specific ward. Finding a white hospital smock to cover her sweater and skirt, she goes to the kitchen of that ward, to give it a quick once-over cleaning.

Earns Smiles
Betty fills the water pitchers on patients' trays in the rooms and wards, earning a smile and a thank you for her work. Going to the nurse in charge, she is assigned other duties. Perhaps Betty helps give a patient a bath, or reads to another. She arranges flowers and talks to the patients, young and old. Her two-hour shift passes quickly and 5:30 means time for her to check out with her group chairman and leave the hospital—another week, another shift and new duties, but always a job well done.

Mary Jane Zech, A2 of Omaha, is chairman of the co-aides program, begun as a University Women's association project in the summer of 1943. A shortage of nurses then led to the idea of recruiting university women to take over less skilled tasks. They carry trays, feed patients, read to them, do office work, roll bandages, write letters or even prepare bath trays. They are assigned to work in specific wards by nurses in the office of the school of nursing, of which Lois Corder is director.

Working Hours
Groups of co-aides work in the hospital wards from 3:30 to 5:30 every afternoon during the class week and in three sections on Saturday—from 9:30 to 11:30, from 1:30 to 3:30 and from 3:30 to 5:30. The project was established under the chairmanship of Mary Ann Kurtzweil of Iowa City, and has been continued along the same plan.

Each group has a chairman with the same ward duties as members of her group. She also keeps records, checking co-aides in as they report for work at the hospital and checking them off on the file cards when they leave. She must see that every worker has a card in the hospital file, recording the number of hours she has worked and whether she has a typhoid certificate. Co-aides who miss three shifts in a semester are dropped from hospital group lists.

Chosen according to their previous co-aid record, the seven group chairmen are Mary Gregg, A2 of Sioux Falls, S. D.; Marie McCalley, A3 of Waterloo; Virginia Moran, A3 of Freeport, Ill.; Dorothy Gildea, A4 of Davenport; Ellen Harris, A2 of Keokuk; Gloria Barbee, A1 of Centerville, and Barbara Lehne, A1 of Davenport.

When she checks co-aid work under the U.W.A. projects on Double-V registration day at the beginning of the semester, each woman designates the two hours a week she wants to work. Supervisors spend the same amount of time at the hospital. Some co-aides sign up for extra work, especially women who expect to enter nursing and those who have had nurse's aid courses.

Every woman who registers for work in the wards must have three typhoid inoculations before she can take over her duties. The inoculations are given by Student Health service. University physical examinations at Student Health service assure that the co-aid is immune to diphtheria and smallpox.
So Betty Co-aid, with her white hospital smock and her cheery smile, contributes her part to the war effort, too, giving two hours of her time each week to make hospital life easier for patients and nurses alike.

French Villagers Watch for Storks

DOSENHEIM, FRANCE (AP)—American soldiers are helping the residents of this Alsatian village in scanning the sky and worrying about storks.

For as long as anyone can remember, the stork always has returned to Dossenheim in February to tidy up the summer place and then gone back to bring mama up from their winter home somewhere in Africa.

But no stork has come this year to claim the ancestral nest atop the steep church roof and the villagers, from moppets to graybeards, are fearful that their traditional good luck bird has become a war casualty.

"We smiled about this superstitious legend when we first heard it," said Warrant Officer James C. Bradford, New Castle, Pa., "but these people are so in earnest and so concerned about it that now we are pulling as hard as anyone for the stork to come back."

Half jokingly, half seriously, plump, gray-haired, bright-eyed Mademoiselle Louise Gindele, who has taught school for 35 years, told of the stork crisis this way:

"February 14—your valentine day—is the traditional day for the male stork to return and surprisingly enough it is often on that exact date. When the time nears everyone watches closely to see on which house he alights first because legend says that his choice means someone in that house is sure to have a baby within a year.

"As soon as he returns, all Dossenheim has a holiday and children freed from school, dance along the streets hand in hand, singing little songs to the stork and calling on him to bring good luck.

"We weren't much worried when he didn't return right on Feb. 14 but now that February has gone we are afraid he may have been killed—perhaps by someone too hungry to respect the stork."

She seemed cheerful when Pfc. Jerry Turk of (1112 East 74th street) Cleveland and former reporter for the Cleveland News, told her he'd been doing some investigating and it appeared that the storks hadn't returned to any of the neighboring villages, where they are just as important folks as they are in Dossenheim.

"Then perhaps they've just been delayed and yet will return," she said. "Our stork family used to live in a nest on the chimney of a family which has eight children and it became a great village joke when the father suggested he'd like to have a new site chosen for the nest—explaining that the nest fell into the chimney and prevented it from drawing.

THE VOLCANO ISLANDS

Opinion on and off the Campus— Why Are You Contributing to the Red Cross?

Carol Vane, A1 of Princeton, Ill.: "My brother has been overseas a year serving on Leyte and now on the Dutch Guineas. He was ill and the Red Cross took care of him, so I hope by giving to the Red Cross I am indirectly giving to George and supplying needs he may have."

Mildred Grossman, A1 of Marshalltown: "Both my brother and boyfriend are overseas and by contributing to the Red Cross I contribute to a war fund drive that will benefit them."

Ruth Quinlan, A2 of LaGrange, Ill.: "I'd like to think the money I shall contribute to the war fund drive will serve to help five cousins and fellows and girls that I went to school with who are now in the service."

Helen Kuenstler, A1 of Madison, Ill.: "The contribution I make will go for comforts and necessities for our boys overseas who are in prisoner of war camps and for those who are fighting."

Ruth Borochoff, A1 of Tulsa, Okla.: "I hope my money goes to two important functions of the Red Cross, recreational facilities and blood plasma for troops overseas."

Marilyn Knipe, C3 of Armstrong, Ind.: "My brother, Capt. Jim Knipe, an SUI graduate of the class of '42 in medicine, is serving on Leyte. Recently, he was administering blood plasma in the field so close to enemy lines that a bullet passed through the can of plasma; however, they had a supply of the plasma. I hope my contributions will help maintain the supply of plasma wherever doctors need it."

Marcia Matson, A1 of Gary, Ind.: "As we are told, we are not giving to the Red Cross, but through the Red Cross to our boys overseas. I'm thinking of my brother in particular when I donate this money. He has been a prisoner of war for two years in Stalag-luft III, a German air corps camp for American officers. In every letter he mentions the weekly package he receives thanks to the Red Cross and the life saver it is. In our first letter after he had been captured after the crash in southern Germany, Ken mentioned the wonderful work of the Red Cross for the American prisoners of war. The daily fare given them by the Germans, potatoes and black bread, would have been a starvation diet if the Red Cross weekly food parcels hadn't come through regularly."

Shirley Olson, A3 of Des Moines: "My brother is a marine captain helping to liberate American prisoners in the Philippine area. When we look at pictures of these boys undernourished by Jap diet we realize how much worse their physical condition would be had not their meager diet been supplemented by Red Cross food parcels."

'Ike' Was Ready

By Louis P. Lochner
LONDON (AP)—Now that the allied western offensive is on full blast I can disclose what for security reasons could not be told at the time of my visits to the three armies at the end of January and early in February.

The vastness of our preparations, the precision planning of every unit's objective, the disposition of men as well as materials, the enormous quantities of our supplies—all of this left an indelible impression.
Hitler's absence from the 25th anniversary celebration of the Nazi party's founding shows the seriousness of the German situation. But more significant even is the inane-ness of what was read as a product of the fuhrer's super mind. There was nothing constructive or hopeful about it—just a rehash of the platitudes uttered for a quarter of a century.

This doesn't mean that victory is just around the corner. A long bloody struggle lies ahead, and nothing would be more wrong than to assume Germany is ready to throw in the sponge.

COLOGNE AND DUESSELDORF, both the pride of Hitler's Germany, are now within range of Allied guns and doomed to capture by U. S. armies. At the left above is Rhineland capital—Cologne—that is already being pounded by artillery fire from

Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges' First Army with troops just five miles away. A great industrial center, the city will be a prize for the Allies, but no less in valuation is the great industrial metropolis of Duesseldorf, right above, that is being shelled by Lt. Gen.

William H. Simpson's Ninth Army. Known as the "Pittsburgh" of Germany, Duesseldorf lies in the heart of the Ruhr region nine miles from the biggest German rail hub west of the Rhine, Muenchen-Gladbach, which has been by-passed. (International)

Student Committee Formed to Aid in Liberal Arts Registration

To Organize Advisory Aides

Department Heads To Select Student Assistants for Fall

Dean Harry K. Newburn of the college of liberal arts announces the formation of a new student committee on registration for the college of liberal arts.

The members appointed to the committee are Louise Smith, A3 of Elkader, chairman; Fed Hedges, A3 of Cedar Rapids; Abbie Morrison, A3 of Onawa; Chuck Mosey, J3 of Reinbeck; Anabel Murchison, A2 of Sidney, and Joan Overholzer, A3 of Red Oak. Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger in his position as executive secretary of the liberal arts advisory office will serve as its adviser.

Committee Functions

In announcing the functions of the new committee, Dean Newburn stated, "In general, the committee will serve to organize the group of student assistants which aids the advisory office in connection with liberal arts registration. This is an important activity and one which has been of considerable service in the past few years."

Student Assistants

The selection of student assistants to help in registering all new students next fall will be made by heads of the various departments in the college of liberal arts within the next month. The committee on registration will be a recognized activity on campus. Mary Jane Neville, A4 of Emmetsburg, was in charge of the registration last year.

Miss Smith is a member of the student committee on student affairs, the central judiciary board, union board sub-committee, and Currier council. She was an orientation leader and has participated in several weekly WSUI shows and intercollegiate debates.

L. Louise Smith

Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger

Hedges is promotion manager of "Frivol."

Miss Morrison has served as a member of the freshman party committee, a member of U. W. A. council, chairman of the U. S. O. Sunday afternoons, chairman of the Kappa Kappa Gamma homecoming badge sales. She was a co-chairman for freshman orientation last summer, and is now a member of the central party committee.

Mosey is sports editor of Hawk-eye, a staff member of "Frivol", a victory speaker, assistant orientation leader, and secretary of Sigma Alpha Epsilon. He is a student speaker for the Red Cross drive.

Miss Murchison is a member of Currier council and judiciary committee. She served on the publicity committee on women's elections and the World Student Service Fund committee. She was an assistant orientation leader.

Miss Overholzer is assistant campus editor of the Daily Iowan and secretary of Theta Sigma Phi, national women's honorary journalism fraternity. She served on the central vocational conference committee and is one of three editing a university handbook. She is editor of the local Pi Beta Phi paper.

SUI Women Defeat Cornell In Swim Meet

In the women's national telegraphic swimming meet yesterday at the women's gymnasium, results show that in each event Iowa won over Cornell.

Barbara McCain, A3 of Webster Groves, Miss., and Martha Noland, A3 of Des Moines broke the last record set in 1941-42 in the 40-yard breast stroke with 33.2 and 33.7 seconds as compared to the 36.5 former record. In the 80-yard free style relay, Marilyn Otto, A2 of Dennison; Joan Wheeler, A2 of Lake Wood, Ohio; Martha Noland and Jean Bronson, C4 of Washington, D. C., topped the 1941-42 record of 51.4 seconds with 46.8 seconds.

Scores of the various events were: 60-yard medley relay, Iowa, Beverly Barrett, A2 of Ida Grove; Barbara McCain and Bettie Lew Schmidt, A3 of Freeport, Ill., 40.3; Cornell, Eunice Rump, Day Marshall and Jane Nelson, 44.4. Forty yard back crawl, Iowa, Virginia Gray, A2 of Des Moines, 30.3; Beverly Barrett 34.3 and Lois Condon of Cornell, 37.1.

Forty-yard breast stroke, Iowa, Barbara McCain, 33.2; Martha Noland, 33.7 and Kay Marshall of Cornell, 42.4. Forty-yard free style, Iowa, Marilyn Otto, 27.7; Barbara Browning of Cornell, 27.9 and Muriel Hibbard of Cornell, 28.5. 100-yard back crawl, Iowa, Jean Brunson, 1:28 and Eunice Rump of Cornell 1:46.6.

In the diving event Virginia Gray made 36.27 and Shannon Cuthbert, A1 of Storm Lake, 33.97. Sixty-yard individual medley, Barbara McCain, 52.1 and Jean Brunson, 52.63. 100-yard free style, Iowa, Bettie Lew Schmidt, 1:23.8 and Jane Nelson of Cornell, 1:24.6.

Chinese Engineers To Arrive Monday

Visitors, on Tour Of U. S., to Take Part In Five-Day Meeting

Tomorrow morning eight eminent Chinese engineers will arrive in Iowa City to take part in a five-day engineering conference. The Chinese visitors, all of whom hold high engineering positions in China, are on a tour of the United States, Europe and India visiting points of interest to hydraulic engineers under the auspices of the UNRRA. "China faces a tremendous problem in controlling her powerful rivers to prevent devastating floods and to develop their great potentiality of hydroelectric power," Prof. E. W. Lane, associate director of the Iowa institute of hydraulic research and chairman of the conference arrangements committee, said yesterday.

"They have to contend with all the problems we do in this country and many more," he continued. "China is looking forward to doing much in the fields of hydraulic engineering and hydroelectric power in the post-war period. One of the many proposed projects is a huge control project on the Yangtze river which would produce 10,000,000 kilowatts of electrical power."

Such an installation would be much bigger than anything in this country and the biggest of its kind in the world. During the five-day conference at the university the Chinese engineers will hear lectures and see demonstrations given by university experts in hydraulic, hydroelectric and other fields of engineering. The conference will also be attended by 12 other high-ranking Chinese engineers who are already in this country. These men are representatives of the National Resources board of China, managers of important engineering projects and members of the committee on wartime planning for Chinese students in the United States.

Recognition Day Honors Women

Ceremonies to Be Wednesday at 4 P. M.

'Tapping,' Scholastic Awards, New Officers To Be Featured

For the third consecutive year University of Iowa women will participate in a Women's Recognition Day honoring outstanding women leaders on the campus. This year's ceremonies will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4 p. m. in Macbride auditorium.

New Mortar Board members will be "tapped" at that time by present members of the organization. Mortar Board is a national honorary for women who rank high in scholastics, leadership, service and character. Each year Iowa's group selects from five to 12 new members. Their names will be kept secret until the tapping service.

Recognition will be made of women who last semester received a grade point average of three or above with special mention of the four-pointers. Four U. W. A. scholarships, each of a $25 war bond, will be presented to the woman in each class who has earned the highest grade point for the past semester. An award for scholarship in home economics will also be made.

most to the war effort will be recognized for their work.

Retiring officers of the University Christian association and Women's Christian association and Home Economics club will receive recognition, and new officers of these organizations will be announced. The Y. W. C. A. cabinet member will also be named. U. W. A. project chairmen and Double-V program chairmen will be recognized at this time. The retiring Information First chairman and committee will be given recognition, and the new chairman will be announced.

New sorority presidents and retiring dormitory presidents will be honored.

Acknowledgement will be made of new Orientation chairmen and councils, and Orientation leaders and assistants for 1945-46 will be announced.

Announcement of the W. R. A. intramural champions for the year will be made.

Peggy Banks, A4 of New York City, will serve as mistress of ceremonies. The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Kathleen O'Connor, A4 of Iowa City, chairman; Jean Collier, A2 of Freeport, Ill.; Nancy Schmidt, A3 of Davenport; Peggy Banks, and Louise Johnston, A3 of Marshalltown.

All University of Iowa women may attend the Recognition Day service. The purpose of having such a program is to coordinate the recognition of all women's activities.

Kappa Phi to Meet Tomorrow at 8 P. M.

"Education Must Reach Every Corner of Our World" will be the topic of the Kappa Phi meeting to be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Methodist church. Helen Ladwig, N1 of Milwaukee, Wis., Verna May Benson, N1 of Keams Canyon, Ariz., and Esther McGahey, N3 of Victor, will have charge of the program.

Players Mobbed As Hawkeyes Win Big Ten Title

Milling Through Besieges Team

Harrison Uncertain About Garden Trip For Hawk Cagers

By BILL SHACKELFORD Daily Iowan Sports Writer

A jubilant crowd swarmed across the floor as the gun went off—the gun which meant the Big Ten championship for the University of Iowa basketball team. Coach and players were almost snowed under by a host of photographers, well-wishers and auto-graph hunters.

Down in the locker room, the autograph hunters had a field day as they besieged their favorites. The crowd around Clayton Wilkinson was so thick that the lanky Hawk center was unable to undress. Dick Ives lay on the rubbing-table, receiving treatment for a severe cut on his head.

Coach Pops Harrison was all smiles and sunshine as he received congratulations, but refused to discuss the possibility of Iowa's going to Madison Square Garden. "That's putting the cart before the horse," commented the fiery little mentor. "We haven't received a bid yet."

Speculation High

But elsewhere, speculation ran high. Groups of fans discussed the possible reaction of the athletic board to such an offer. Whether or not the Wilkinson boys and Ned Postels would be allowed to make the trip and if Pops would take the rest of the team in the event that they could not go. The only official comment, however, was that "we would like to go."

An overflowing crowd of 14,400 began to move into the fieldhouse at 2:15 yesterday afternoon. Ticket takers made the rounds a few minutes later and collected the prized decals from these early customers. When the gates opened at 3:30, there were already more than 200 people inside.

At 6:15—almost two hours before game time—the majority of the spectators were already in the fieldhouse and the good seats had long been taken. A milling mob filled the lobby with laughter and shouting, tobacco smoke, and about 50 percent of those paper programs the Boy Scouts were doing such a fine job of handing out.

Bottle Menace

The floor of the fieldhouse was carpeted with programs and empty pop bottles. One slightly pickled soul had some difficulty in maintaining his footing among the debris. A treacherous bottle betrayed him and he hit the dirt under the south bleachers, but picked himself up unhurt and was soon lost in the crowd.

The sunset shining through the west windows gave a splendid glow effect to the City high-Oskaloosa tilt, but the Gold was soon lost in a Red Wave consisting mainly of Bob Freeman and Jimmy Van Deusen who put on an exhibition of shooting which left very little to be desired.

Up in the press row, Eric Wilson was doing a very good job of handling the mob of sports writers who came for the championship game. And in other parts of the fieldhouse, the crowd was being taken care of very efficiently, leaving aisle space enough for latecomers to find their way to the vacant seats.

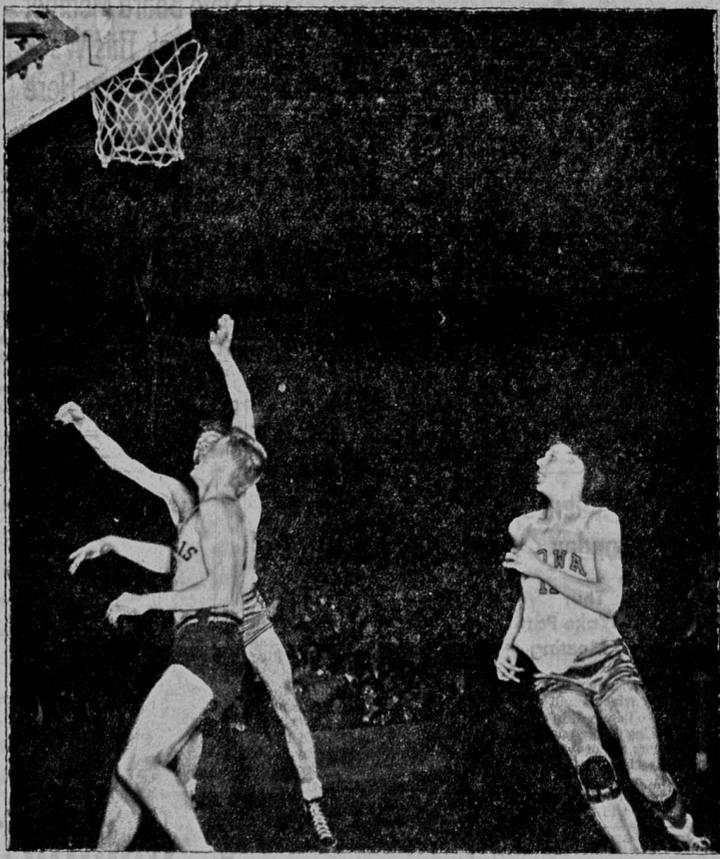

Prices High

Despite the repeated warnings via press and radio that all tickets had been sold, a goodly number of hopefuls arrived ticketless in Iowa City, counting not in vain on the ever present scalpers. We heard rumors of $35 being offered for a reserved seat, while a quantity of general admission ducats were offered for sale at five dollars each.

Between the halves, the varsity tumbling team of the navy Pre-Flight school displayed their talents to the audience. A slightly shaky stack of three cadets, each standing on the shoulders of the man below him climaxed the show. And the 1945 Big Ten championship is safely in the hands of the University of Iowa.

Hawks Win First Place In Track Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Ike Johnson's quarter-inch victory in the closing broad jump event enabled Iowa to shade Minnesota in a Big Ten triangular track meet at the University of Chicago fieldhouse yesterday. Chicago's weak team finished third.

The Hawkeyes, copping six of the 11 events, finished with 45 points, two ahead of the Gophers. The Maroons, aided by an agreement to award only one place to each school in each event, scored 11 thirds for 22 points.

With the mile relay dropped from the program, Minnesota and Iowa were tied until the broad jump was completed. Johnson leaped 21 feet, 9 inches, edging Minnesota's Ray Thorpe, who was second with 21 feet, 8 1/2 inches.

Martin Bauman, Minnesota's Big Ten high jump champion, won his specialty with a leap of 6 feet, 2 inches. Thorpe, who won the 70-yard high hurdles, was ahead in the 70-yard high hurdles until he tripped on the last barrier.

Summaries: Mile run—won by Shaver, Iowa; second, Wilder, Minnesota; third, Schultz, Chicago. Time—4:34.6. 60-yard dash—won by Brownstein, Minnesota; second, Johnson, Iowa; third, Dinkelcker, Chicago. Time—1:06.4.

440-yard dash—won by Thompson, Minnesota; second, Hunter, Iowa; Rust, Chicago. Time—51.8. 70-yard high hurdles—won by Cranston, Minnesota; second, Kelso, Iowa; third, Russell, Chicago. Time—1:08.9.

Two-mile run—won by Slater, Iowa; second, Wilder, Minnesota; third, Friedlandt, Chicago. Time—10:27.2. High jump—won by Bauman, Minnesota; second, Moore, Iowa; third, Bohman, Chicago. Height—6 feet, 2 inches.

Shot-put—won by Gotthardt, Iowa; second, Gaarder, Minnesota; third, Glotz, Chicago. Distance—44 feet, 6 1/2 inches. 70-yard low hurdles—won by Thorpe, Minnesota; second, Johnson, Iowa; third, Russell, Chicago. Time—1:08.5.

Broad jump—won by Johnson, Iowa; second, Thorpe, Minnesota; third, Tourtelotte, Chicago. Distance—21 feet, 9 inches.

Leaf Ahead

TORONTO (AP)—With veteran Lorne Carr leading the way with two goals, the Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Montreal Canadiens 3-2 last night and quenched the hopes of the National Hockey league leaders of setting a new unbeaten record in league play.

City High — Tramples Indians

The Iowa City High Little Hawks gained an easy victory over Oskaloosa, 64-37, in a preliminary to the Iowa-Illinois game last night.

Bob Freeman and Jimmy Van Deusen led the Hawkeye attack with 20 and 21 points respectively. The Mississippi Valley champions showed very little nervousness, despite the size of the crowd on hand as they hit from all angles.

Leading by a score of 17-7 at the end of the first quarter, the Little Hawks increased their margin steadily to stay ahead, 32-18, at the half and 47-27 at the end of the third period. The Indians found several holes in the Iowa City defense and took advantage of them to score on lay-up shots, but they were unable to keep pace with the potent Hawkeye offense.

Gophers Slap Wisconsin By 54 to 50

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota wound up its Big Ten basketball season last night by defeating Wisconsin 54 to 50. It was the Gophers fourth conference triumph against eight losses. Wisconsin finished with four wins and eight defeats.

Both teams showed brilliant scoring form throughout and the margin was always so small that the lead changed hands almost with each successful shot. In the first half there were a dozen changes in leadership with Wisconsin holding a 10-6 advantage at one point for the safest lead of the half.

Minnesota went ahead, 24 to 23, early in the final quarter after trailing at the intermission, 23 to 22, and held the upper hand except for one time when the visitors paced the scoring, 33 to 32. The Gophers, late in the period, stepped up to 54 to 43 for what appeared to be a commanding advantage but the visitors rallied in the closing minutes and cut the margin to four points.

Kleggie Hermesen, Gopher center, ran his season's scoring total to 162 points. He had bettered the all-time Minnesota individual scoring mark in the Big Ten in his previous game. The active list includes 16 major and 153 minor leaguers who have honorable discharges from the armed forces.

St. Mary's Wins Tourney Crown, 33-25

Ramblers Come From Behind to Eliminate Shamrocks In Finals

The rampaging Ramblers of St. Mary's proved themselves of championship calibre last night when they came from behind in the final half to snatch the Class B sectional tourney crown from their city rivals, St. Patrick's, by a 33-25 score, and by so doing added another trophy to the cherished Diocesan prize already in their possession.

The Shamrocks, led by all-around guard, Red Gatens, who connected for 11 points, smashed their way to an early lead, but the steady, confident play of the Marions slowly cut away the advantage until the victors took over a narrow 23-22 lead midway in the third period.

At this point, however, the hopes of the loyal Rambler backers took a nose-dive as their ace scorer and team captain, Tom Stahl, committed his fifth personal of the evening and retired to the sidelines. Even without the last quarter and a half to his credit, Stahl donated the scoring for the squad as he poured in seven field goals and four free tosses for 18 points.

Andy Chukalas, reserve forward, made his entrance into the ball game at this point and ended the contest with a whale of a performance to his credit.

For the second time this week it was red-headed and fiery little Jim Diehl who sparked the North Siders to victory. Entering the tilt in the second quarter with the scoreboard reading 16-7 for the Irish, Diehl provided the needed incentive for the quintet, and from then on the margin began to decrease.

Big Bill Hettrick, Marian center, contributed his share to the taking of the tourney crown by controlling the majority of rebounds under both baskets while Jack Shrader, guard, put on a spectacular passing exhibition which was paying dividends in essential points.

It was not only these men, but John O'Brien, Bart Toohy, Eddie Colbert, Don Seydel and Bill Stueppel all were instrumental and essential parts of the triumph.

For the Shamrocks, it was Gatens and Doc Connell who were the mainstays of a great Irish team that fought desperately to the end. The two ended their high school competition last night by leading their teammates to a first half advantage over their rivals only to see it fade from them in the final period. Both turned in excellent floor games.

4,000 Players In Service

CHICAGO (AP)—The first detailed study of professional baseball's manpower contribution to the war yesterday revealed that more than 4,000 players now are in the armed forces, or more than twice as many as still are on the major-minor playing list.

The survey, made by General-Manager James T. Gallagher of the Chicago Cubs, showed baseball's reserve list at the end of 1944 included only 1,753 players, compared with 5,298 in December, 1941.

The major leagues, hopefully priming for their fourth wartime season, entered 1945 with an active list of 665 players and 509 in the armed services. The minors, with their great nucleus of young performers, have contributed 3,576 players and closed down all except a dozen of their 44 leagues. The December list of active minor league players was 1,188.

The survey, criticizing "the atrociously inefficient" manner baseball has kept account of its contributions to the army and navy, estimated that 54 percent or 328 of the 607 major league players active in 1941 now are in the armed forces, ten of the 607 were released outright and have played no baseball since 1941.

The active list includes 16 major and 153 minor leaguers who have honorable discharges from the armed forces.

Gophers Final Seahawk foe

Pre-Flighters Seek Repeat Victory Over Minnesota For No. 17

Probable Starting Lineups
Seahawks Pos. Minnesota
Weaver L.B. McCamy
Baggott R. Tomczyk
Holland C. Hermesen
Pugsley L.G. Lehman
Klein RG. Rucke

Officials: Bill Ferrell (Minnesota) and Fred Winter (Grinnell). Winding up their second basketball season the Iowa Seahawks will face the Golden Gophers from Minnesota in a return engagement in the Iowa fieldhouse Monday night at 7:30.

The Pre-Flighters will be seeking to gain their 17th cage victory of the season against four defeats, but the Seahawk five will be hampered somewhat by the fact that Weaver, Baggott, Holland, and Pugsley returned from leave Friday and have not had much time to get into shape for the Gopher tilt.

However, the starting cadet five will be a hit and miss proposition as the Seahawk mentors have not seen their regulars since the Notre Dame game three weeks ago. Jim Klein was the only regular to see service against Nebraska.

Providing all return in shape the regular cadet lineup will be Weaver and Baggott at the forwards, Holland at center, and Pugsley and Klein at the guards. One new member of the squad Don Samuel, the hard running football player, is certain to see plenty of action in this contest.

Jim Klein, who was hampered by an ankle injury in the Notre Dame and Nebraska games is now back in good shape and ready for action against the northmen. The Seahawks will be after win No. 2 over the Gophers as they took a decision at Minneapolis earlier in the season. Since then, however, Minnesota's personnel has changed. In addition to many newcomers in the starting lineup the Gophers have also changed head coaches.

With Kleggie Hermesen, the tall center, leading the attack the Gophers will be out to avenge their early season loss

WSUI To Broadcast Pre-Flight Game—

A play-by-play description of the basketball game between the Seahawks of the Iowa Navy Pre-flight school and the University of Minnesota will be broadcast over WSUI Monday night beginning at 7:25. The game will be brought to WSUI listeners direct from the Iowa fieldhouse by Bob Brooks and Verne Harvey.

School Listening
"The Ruhr Territory" will be the topic for discussion Monday afternoon on the WSUI program for school listening, "Geography in the News." Taking part in the discussion will be Prof. H. H. McCarth and Prof. Kurt Schaeffer, both of the college of commerce.

Red Cross Director Harold N. Read To Speak Tuesday

Harold N. Read, director of American Red Cross personnel in the Mediterranean theater, who has recently returned to this country on leave after 18 months overseas will speak at a joint meeting of the Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and Masons Tuesday noon under the auspices of the Red Cross chapter. Read wears the Bronze Star decoration, awarded him for the rescue of two wounded men under heavy artillery fire on the Cassino front, and the Purple Heart. During the action at Cassino front, Read was serving as a Red Cross field director with the corps artillery. He went overseas with this unit in August, 1943.

He was later appointed assistant field supervisor with the Seventh army and served in that capacity during the invasion of southern France. Read believes that clubmobile workers have the toughest Red Cross assignment on the front, be-

University Students To Present Musical Recitals Tomorrow

Two recitals will be presented tomorrow in the North music hall by students in the music department. The 22nd in the student series will be given at 4:10 and the 23rd at 7:30 p. m.

Those appearing in the afternoon recital are: Margaret Waggoner, A2 of Centerville, bassoon; Helen Toedt, A1 of Newton, soprano; Constance Richter, A1 of Iowa City, cello; Joan Mumma, A1 of Zeeland, Mich., French horn; Mary Eleanor Pinnell, A4 of Ottumwa, violin; Helen Skogsmark, G of Decorah, piano; Rosalie Smith, A1 of Macedonia, piano; cause they have to maintain constant cheerfulness without becoming mechanical.

Before joining the Red Cross national staff for overseas service, Read was principal of the high school at Holdrege, Neb., for nine years. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Nebraska Wesleyan university and his M. A. degree from the University of Nebraska.

A veteran of World War I, he served in a motor transport division. He is a member of the Presbyterian church and of Rotary club.

Audio-Visual Teaching To Be Demonstrated

A series of four audio-visual teaching conferences with a staff of seven experts has been scheduled by the bureau of visual instruction of the University of Iowa's extension division.

They will be given between March 19 and 22 in Ottumwa, Creston, Council Bluffs and Des Moines with the cooperation of most high schools, Professor Bruce Mahan of the extension division said Friday.

"The purpose of the meetings is to provide school administrators, elementary and high school teachers, and parents with a practical demonstration of the value of 16 mm. educational films and other visual aids for classroom use and to stress the importance of radio and recordings as teaching aids," Professor Mahan declared.

Members of the group include personnel from Films, Inc., from Chicago and New York. From the university.

JAPS REPORT PALAWAN INVASION

AMERICAN AMPHIBIOUS forces invaded Palawan island in the Philippines, according to an enemy report which, if substantiated, would place Yank assault troops on a key isle on the routes to both Borneo and French Indo-China. Extending some 330 miles between Mindoro and northern Borneo, the strategic island is a stepping-stone to Borneo's rich oil fields and just 600 miles from French Indo-China. Though the enemy assertion that the Yanks stormed ashore on Palawan went entirely unconfirmed in Allied official circles, Gen. Douglas MacArthur said reveal in a communique that U. S. attack bombers in "strong" formations and with fighter escorts, "effectively" battered enemy installations at Puerto Princesa, which is situated on the east coast of Palawan south of the Taytay bay area, one of the best deep-water anchorages in the world. Girl Scouts To Celebrate 33rd Anniversary In City-Wide Organization Rally March 15

Realizing its goal of "A million or more in '44," the Girl Scout organization in the United States now numbers over 1,500,000. Iowa City Girl Scouts will celebrate the 33rd anniversary of a city-wide rally March 15 at 7:30 p. m. in City high school auditorium.

The growth of the Girl Scout organization from 5,000 members in 1912 to the present million mark is credited almost entirely to the work of the founder of scouting in the United States, Mrs. Juliette Low. Although handicapped by deafness, she devoted all her energies to furthering Girl Scout work. In fact she put her deafness to an advantage, by simply "not hearing" people who claimed they had no time to enter scouting activities.

A frequent visitor in England, in 1911, Mrs. Low met Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the Boy Scout movement. When she noticed the presence of several uninvited girls at a Boy Scout rally in London, she surmised that girls, too, would be interested in camping, hiking and other scouting activities, and she invited a group of Scottish girls to form a troop of Girl Guides.

Within a year, Girl Guide troops were flourishing in all corners of the British Isles. Mrs. Low became determined to carry the scouting movement to the United States. March 12, 1912, she entertained 20 girls in her home in Savannah, Ga., and showed them pictures of the Girl Guides in Scotland. That day the first Girl Scout troop in the United States was organized.

The first American Girl Scouts wore uniforms of dark blue duck and blue sateen ties. When the clay soil of Georgia made navy blue impractical, the official uniform was changed to khaki. In 1927 the organization adopted the present uniform of green.

Mrs. Low travelled throughout the United States encouraging the founding of new troops, and by 1918 the membership had increased to 24,000. Her scouting enthusiasm extended to accompanying girls on camping trips, where she was the center of interest as the chief palm-reader.

Iowa City Girl Scouts will emphasize an international friendship theme in their rally, as Girl Scout troops are to be found all over the world. Although differing in language and customs, all nationalities wear similar scout pins and uniforms. Even the Chinese combine national and Girl Scout traditions by fashioning their uniforms in a high-neck style with a side opening and wearing the scout insignia on the left shoulder.

Campus War Fund Drive to Open

SUI to Aid Red Cross

Student Speakers To Tell Housing Units Of Increased Demand

Participating in the Johnson county 1945 war fund drive, University students will begin the campus drive tomorrow morning under the student direction of Margaret Shuttleworth, A3, of New York City.

"Speakers for Victory," will call on housing units Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Their job is to stress the increased demands on the national Red Cross because of the larger training program in this area.

The speakers will be under the chairmanship of Don Ecroyd, G of Kansas City.

Others on the committee are: Bob Ray, G of Davenport; Velma Martin, A4 of Laurens; Marvin Nesper, A4 of Toledo, Ohio; Edna Herst, A3 of Newton; Mary Kirby, A3 of Sioux Falls, S. D.; Mary Forslund, A2 of Sioux Falls, S. D.; Marian Crews, A2 of Ft. Dodge; Mary Jane Neville, A4 of Emmetsburg; Gordon Christensen; L1 of Iowa City.

Mary Louise Miller, A1 of Iowa City; Peggy Banks, A4 of New York City; Lois Schoenfeld, A3 of Nashua; Bernice Peiffer, A1 of Pekskill, N. Y.; Jean Collier, A2 of Freeport, Ill.; Virginia Jackson, A4 of Marion; Tom Wuriu, A4 of Iowa City; Sally Birdsall, A3 of Waterloo; Jean Gittins, A2 of Sioux City; Dorothy Kottemann, A2 of Burlington and Charles Mosey, A2 of Reinbeck.

Sorority Representatives

Sorority representatives are: Chairman Freda Mikulasek, A3 of Newton; Rosemary Current, A1 of Peoria, Ill.; Mary Ann Hobbs, A1 of Gary, Ind.; Eve Shewry, A1 of Davenport; Rose-Marie Doty, A1 of Cedar Rapids; Sally Zurchen, A1 of Cedar Rapids; Sally Ummandt, A1 of Muscatine; Dorothea Davidson, A1 of Kirkwood, Mo.; Marilyn Wilson, A1 of Rock Island, Ill.; Janet Livingstone, A1; Louise Slotsky, A1 of Sioux City, and Janice Keel, A1 of Villa Park, Ill.

The student committee for the drive includes: Margaret Shuttleworth, A3 of New York City, chairman; Frances V. Marshall, A1 of Cedar Rapids, secretary; Barbara Ellison, A1 of Webster Grove, Mo., posters; Doris Haverkamp, A1 of Muscatine; Bette Jo Phelan, A2 of Mason City, Currier hall, contact chairman; Harold Burkhalter, P3 of Galesburg, Ill., townmen representative; T. M. Torgerson, E1 of Dakota City, veteran contact representative.

Freda Mikulasek, A3 of Newton, sorority contact chairman; Louise Milstein, A1 of Rochester, New York, campus chairman; Tom Wuriu, A4 of Iowa City, professional and social fraternities.

The slogan for the campaign is "A short, efficient and economical campaign." In the five day drive students are expected to top their goal of $1,000, according to Prof. William J. Petersen, director of the drive.

Tag Day

"Tag day" is scheduled for the last two days of the drive for the purpose of contacting town students. Three booths will be set up at the Iowa Union, Schaeffer hall and University hall. Students who have not had the opportunity to contribute through a housing unit may purchase their 1945 Red Cross membership at that time.

Block representatives for the drive will be Mary Lee Bower; Betty Lidholm, A4 of Des Moines; Kathryn Abrams, A2 of LaGrange, Ill.; Lois Fahrner, A2 of Davenport; Janice Worthington, A3 of Waterloo; Bette Lu Jacobson, A1 of Geneseo, Ill.; Gwendolyn Gardner, A3 of Lorain, Ohio; Mari Lu McGinnis; Virginia Sherman; Imogene Borsheim, A2 of Davenport; Lillian Billings, A4 of St. Louis, Mo., and Polly Norment, A3 of Glen Ellyn, Ill.

City High Juniors To Sponsor Card Party, Style Show

A City high school show and card party Monday, at 7:30 p. m., will be sponsored by the junior class to raise funds for the annual junior-senior party.

The style show will feature junior class girls and their mothers modeling clothes in the auditorium.

PTA Council Plans Parent Education Lectures for March

A four week parent-education project on the theme "Guiding the Citizen of Tomorrow" has been announced by the Iowa City Parent-Teacher association council. The meetings will take place each Friday at 2 p. m. in the assembly rooms of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company.

Opening the series March 9 will be Prof. R. H. Ojemann of the university child welfare department, who will speak on "Counseling With Our Children." The lecture will be based on an article published in the February issue of the national Parent-Teacher magazine.

Afton Smith, also of the university child welfare department, will head the program for March 16. She will talk on "Making the Most of Success and Failure," a discussion based on an article in the March issue of Parent-Teacher magazine which explains how parents can help a child gain from his experiences and how successes and failures may be helpful or harmful to a child.

Iver A. Opstad, superintendent of the Iowa City public schools, will lecture March 23 on "Trends in Post-War Education."

"Post-War Compulsory Military Training for All Young Men" will be the topic of Prof. E. T. Peterson, acting dean of the college of education, who will speak March 30.

Discussion periods will follow each of the lectures.

Gambling Devices Found in Taverns Raided Friday Night

The Light House Inn and Mrs. Shannon's tavern, both in North Liberty, were raided by state agents of the bureau of investigation at 8 o'clock Friday night.

Three slotmachines were found in Mrs. Shannon's tavern and one slot machine, two barrels of numbers, one dice cup, five dice, two whisky cups and one glass, and two bottles with Illinois stamps containing about 12 oz. of whisky apiece were found in the Light House Inn.

100 Women To Bowl

Over 100 women are entered in the intramural bowling tournament this year which more than doubles the number entered last year.

Throughout the tournament the following rules will be observed:

1. Two lines must be bowled each week on Tuesday or Thursday from 3 to 5:30 p. m.
2. The tournament will last four weeks and participants must bowl three of these four.
3. Participants will be assigned to leagues according to ability.
4. Scores will be computed at the end of four weeks on the basis of average score per game. The three top ranking bowlers in each league will compete in the finals.
5. Foul line will be observed throughout the tournament.

The highest lines bowled in the preliminary try-outs were turned in by Paula Raff, A3 of Highland Park, Ill., 187 and Elizabeth Rior-dan, A1 of Miami Beach, Fla., 185.

During the first round of the tournament last week the highest line was a score of 189 turned in by Barbara Rosenthal, A1 of Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo.

The second week of the tournament begins Tuesday and it will be necessary for those who did not bowl the first week to bowl the following three consecutive weeks to qualify.
