Looking Ahead in Washington—

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia has played host to the big three at Yalta. We're scheduled to have the world security conference at San Francisco. A good guess would be that the final peace conference will be in London.

Another question: When the United Nations organization finally is formed, where will its main central headquarters? Discussion is largely divided between the Geneva and non-Geneva schools of thought.

Looks Doubtful: Postwar universal military training legislation might get through the house but would run into definite hostility from key senate military committeemen.

Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) a strong opponent, feels the best way to prepare is to wipe out the illiteracy and health defects which cause millions of military rejections.

A "Wet" Congress? Senator Capper (R-Kans.) has introduced a bill to prohibit interstate movement of advertisements for alcoholic beverages—which would mean knocking them out of most periodicals, chasing bear adds off the radio. Best guess of informed senators: The bill will wither away.

No Transcontinental Grapefruit? Watch for a program to limit domestic movement of such commodities as fruits and juices, beer and wines, to regions which produce them. That is, no Florida citrus to be sent to the west coast.

The move is one contemplated to combat a possible "worse yet" transportation situation. The railroads expect to lose 50,000 workers to the draft soon, and WPB has cut by 30 percent ODT's "Rock-bottom" rail equipment replacement schedules.

King Cotton: Europe soon should be making substantial quantities of cotton textiles to supply her own needs.

Belgians now are in the market for American cotton to use in their own mills, 90 percent intact. Belgium used to consume about 350,000 bales annually.

French mills, with about 1,250,000 bales capacity, are in relatively good condition but hampered by fuel and transportation shortages.

Plucky Forrestal: Navy Secretary Forrestal is modest about going ashore at Iwo Jima. Forrestal said the beach was as safe as a drawing room, but a naval captain says 26 men were killed there shortly before the chief waded in.

Man With the Hoe: Folks taking their first whack at victory gardening this year will find adequate supplies of rakes, hoes, spades.

Seed and mixed fertilizers are abundant, but insecticide prospects are gloomy.
The government expects record-breaking home gardening, now that ration controls on canned goods are tighter.

Puerto Rican Stalemate: The bill for Puerto Rican independence may pass the senate at this session of congress, but probably won't make much house progress.
Senator Tydings (D-Md) has been actively sponsoring Puerto Rican independence. In the house Rep. Vito Marcantonio (AL-NY) has been backing it. Many southern members bitterly dislike Marcantonio.

New Slant: Incidentally, for the first time in the history of the Puerto Rican legislature, a majority of solons has come out in favor of independence. Up to now statehood or dominion status.

Sugar Blues: Federal attorneys are attempting to determine whether the president has authority to interfere in the four-week-old strike which has stopped all sugar production in Puerto Rico.

Scopped: Some of army ordnance boys were caught with their tank tracks down when assistant war secretary Patterson scopped them on an announcement of America's new tank.

Now that Patterson has lifted the lid a bit, look for further details.

Lickety-split Dept.: "You'll be hearing some almost unbelievable airplane speed records once security restrictions are lifted. To give you an idea. A big ship recently hopped from midwest U. S. to India in 33 hours.

Also from the airways: Commercial airline officials don't expect to get any four-engine, long-range equipment before 1946.

Realism: If crewmen of our Superforts ever have to ditch their planes (knock on wood!) they'll know how. The airforces are running a school in a Florida lake. An actual fuselage is partially submerged. Crewmen have just so much time to get out. If they're slow, they get a dunking, because the craft is mounted on a hoist.

Good Waiters: House debate on a proposal to give its members a voice in treaties probably will be scheduled after the Easter recess. The representatives, who have waited more than 150 years, seem to feel a few weeks more or less won't be too burdensome—whereas a delayed vacation might.

American Army Divisions Identified

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seventy-six or more American army divisions have been identified as in combat against the Germans and the Japanese.

Forty-nine of these are deployed on the western front, 20 in the Pacific and seven in the Mediterranean theater. Obviously, more divisions are in all those areas, but have not been named. The Germans, for instance, have said that the famous 42nd Rainbow division is in action but there has been no allied confirmation.

Landing in Japan
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
An American landing in the Japanese homeland "in the near future" was predicted Saturday by leaders of Nippon less than a day after a record mission of some 200 Yank Superfortresses left the heart of Tokyo in flames.
An imperial communique reported that the B-29's started fires in the emperor's palace.

WATCH ON THE RHINE

With the AEF—Black Markets Out

By A. I. Goldberg
MARSEILLE (AP)—The iron hand of the military, applied swiftly, has shut off any chance to black market U. S. goods in this big French port through which flows tremendous supplies, both army and civilian.
There has been not the faintest similarity in this area to the Paris black market scandal even though Marseille for decades was organized for such operations, which flourished during the German occupation.
Big Gen. John P. Ratay, commanding general of the Delta base section, called upon experience gained when he was commander in Corsica and covered up all loopholes.
"No American supplies are being sold on the open market here," he said. "And further, anyone wishing to send a money order home from here has to get approval of his company commander or a merchant seaman from the shipping board."
"In cases we've had of soldiers black marketing, we've handed out sentences from 10 to 30 years and sent the men back to the United States penitentiaries. I don't con-

The Sunday—Book Review

Except for perhaps the writings of Lin Yutang, Chinese literature as a whole has made little impression in the Western world. Translated and edited by Chi-Chen Wang, "Contemporary Chinese Stories" constitutes an introduction to twelve of China's best known authors.
One is impressed, in reading them, by the harsh realism which characterizes most of these stories. Most of the injustices and inexcusable weaknesses of present-day Chinese life are presented without compromise. Herein are tales of virtually slave marriages, patriarchal domination, torture, murder and theft from the poor by the more powerful. No element in Chinese society is spared the scathing words of these young writers. Yet the total effect is not one of destruction. The stories are presented in the hope that eventual reform will result from turning the searchlight of truth upon the dark practices described and condemned in the tales.

Opinion on and off the Campus—

What Is the First Thing You Plan to Do When Spring Weather Returns?

Marybelle Miles, A1 of Des Moines: "I think that I'll go on a nice picnic."
Mrs. Clifford Christensen of West Liberty: "I live in the country, so I'll probably rake my yard, start my garden, and get ready for some little chicks."
Don Pierce, A4 of Iowa City: "The first thing I'll probably do is get that lazy spring fever feeling. It feels as if someone had cut a hole in the bottom of your foot and drained out all of the blood."
Lieut. R. J. Parden of Iowa City: "My biggest desire is to go to Washington and take some Kodachromes."
Barbara Leckberg, A3 of Indianola: "I am an art major, so I think that I'll probably do some outdoor sketching."
Barbara Miller, A1 of Sloux City: "I think that I'll go up to the park for a picnic."
Ed Bollhoefer, G of Iowa City: "As far as I know, I'll still be teaching. When nice weather comes, I think that I will play a little golf and some tennis."
Veryl Byers, A2 of Charles City: "Nice long walks, especially by the river."
Eunice Larsen, A1 of Klemme: "A picnic out in city park!!!"
Leal Hoffman, farmer of Iowa City: "When good weather returns, I'll probably get out in my garden."
Barbara Hallman, A3 of Aurora, Ill: "I'd like to go horseback riding as soon as the weather gets nice, if I can find a place to rent horses in Iowa City."
Ardell James, A1 of Walcott: "I'd like to take a whole afternoon off and spend it taking a sunbath down by the river."
Betty Lou Towne, A4 of Algona: "When the weather gets warm, I'd like to take a long walk up along the Iowa river."
Betty Burnette, clerk, 821 E. Church street: "By the time spring is really here I want to leave Iowa City for California. Right now I plan to go to Richmond first."
Dorothy Irvin, clerk, 14 W. Burlington street: "I hope I'll be in Washington, D. C., by that time. I'm going to take a civil service job, but first I want to do a lot of sight-seeing."
Doris Gettler, N3 of Davenport: "As soon as it warms up I want to go on a picnic or wiener roast. It'll be good just to be out in the fresh air again."

Hawkeye Beauty Queen—

Marmee Miller Reigns at Coronation Ball

By Jeane Gaskins
Daily Iowan Society Editor

With the words "Presenting the Hawkeye Beauty Queen for 1945," followed by a fanfare from the band, Bob Ray, G of Davenport, summoned Marmee Miller, A4 of Gary, Ind., Pi Beta Phi, to the stage at the coronation ball last night in Iowa Union. Don Strickland, bandleader, then placed the jeweled gold crown on her head and presented her with an armful of American beauty roses.

The queen was attired in a pale pink taffeta formal designed with a dotted net-over-taffeta skirt and a fitted bodice with wide shoulder straps. A rhinestone clip accented the sweetheart neckline, and she wore white formal gloves. Miss Miller, a transfer from Lawrence college in Appleton, Wis., is affiliated with Pi Beta Phi social sorority and Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary fraternity for women in journalism.

After the presentation of Miss Miller, her attendants were introduced and each was presented with a shower bouquet of spring flowers.

Dorothy Johansen, A2 of Burlington, Kappa Alpha Theta's representative to the Hawkeye Beauty court, was attired in a white jersey formal with a coral bodice and coral trim. She wore formal gloves accented with a rhinestone bracelet.

Joyce Boehmter, A1 of Hampton, Currier representative, selected a black and white formal for her presentation as Hawkeye Beauty attendant. The bodice was of black lace and the full skirt of white ice chiffon. Her accessories included a white fur evening jacket, black sandals and a black beaded evening purse.

Gamma Phi Beta's Hawkeye Beauty attendant, Sally Umlandt, A1 of Muscatine, chose for the occasion a yellow formal, the fitted bodice of which was fashioned with a round neckline and cap sleeves, and extended into a full net skirt.

A pale blue taffeta and net gown was chosen by Ann Lenzen, A4 of Cedar Rapids, Delta Gamma, for her presentation as Hawkeye Beauty attendant. The basque waist was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves, and she wore silver accessories and a full-length white evening wrap, princess style.

Geri Hoffmann, A2 of St. Louis, Kappa Kappa Gamma, appeared as Hawkeye Beauty attendant in a white satin formal with a high-waisted bodice sprinkled with rhinestones and designed with narrow shoulder straps and a scalloped sweetheart neckline.

Before the introduction of the queen and her attendants, Bob Ray spoke briefly about Paul Lenwood Gittings, Houston, Texas, photographer and nationally recognized judge of beauty contests, who selected the 1945 Hawkeye beauty court. Del Donahoe, A3 of Moravia, broadcast the event over WSUL.

Decorations for the all-university party included a gold crown and scepter featured on a backdrop of royal wine. Programs in white and royal wine were issued at the door by Marion Ferguson, A2 of Davenport, and Barbara Hallman, A2 of Aurora, Ill., dressed in white formals and wearing gold crowns.

Iowa Ranks Second In Debate Conference

At the Western debate and discussion conference held at Northwestern university, the University of Wisconsin won first place over seven other debate teams. The University of Iowa tied Purdue for second and Northwestern ranked fourth.

The following four persons were rated superior in the discussion of what to do with Germany: William Arnold, A4 of Marion, Ind.; the University of Iowa; J. F. Friedlander of the University of Chicago; W. B. Rodiger of Wisconsin, and John Dunning of Northwestern.

Velma Martin, A4 of Laurens, of the University of Iowa, received an excellent rating and was chosen to represent her group in the framing of the final resolutions of the conference.

Tom Wuriu, A4 of Iowa City, was chosen as clerk of the final combined conference for voting on the resolutions. On the second day of the conference a resolution was framed: "Resolved, That the united nations must apply economic controls to Germany for at least 25 years."

Catherine Harmeier Marries Ensign In Double Ring Service at St. Mary's

Before an altar lighted with white tapers, Catherine Josephine Harmeier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Harmeier, 121 E. Fairchild street, became the bride of Ensign Tom Kay Boylen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom A. Boylen of Portland, Ore., yesterday afternoon at 12:30 in St. Mary's church. The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Carl Meinberg read the double ring service.

Preceding the ceremony, Jean McFadden, university senior from Oskaloosa, sorority sister of the bride, sang "Pans Angelicus" (Frnk) and "Slave Regina" (Eays). The traditional wedding marches were played by Zita Fuhrmann of Iowa City, organist.

Rose Mary Harmeier, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Dennis Shay, sophomore in the college of dentistry from Maloy, served as best man. Ushers were Lewis B. Carter, junior in the college of dentistry from Riceville, and Gerry Ivancie, sophomore in the college of dentistry, from Marble, Minn.

White Satin Gown

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length gown of white satin. The long torso bodice was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and fitted in scallops over the full skirt, which extended into a junior train. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a seed pearl Juliet cap and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls which her mother wore as a bride. She carried a sheaf of calla lilies.

The maid of honor selected a two-piece gown of madonna blue crepe fashioned with a long torso and cap sleeves, with which she wore matching gloves. Her head-dress was a royal blue velvet calot with a short veil of lighter blue, and she carried a blue velvet muff on which were pinned yellow jonquils.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Harmeier chose a black dress styled with a blue yoke. She wore black accessories and her corsage was of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a two-piece dress with a violet crepe skirt and a wool bodice of shocking pink. Her accessories were brown and she wore a corsage of gardenias.

Mrs. Ella Hungerford of Portland, Ore., maternal grandmother of the bridegroom, wore a blue crepe dress trimmed with sequins and a corsage of pink roses.

"Tug" Wilson Appointed Big Ten Athletic Head

Pay Increase Expected

Conference Directors Propose $5,000 Yearly Salary Hike

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—The Western conference yesterday appointed Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, athletic director at Northwestern university, as Athletic Commissioner to succeed the late Maj. John L. Griffith, but forestalled efforts to hand the new Big Ten chief broadened authority.

Pay Hike
The 48-year-old Wilson, who competed in the 1920 Olympic games as a javelin thrower, presumably will receive $15,000 annually, $5,000 more than Griffith was paid, but salary terms were not disclosed by the faculty group, whose action capped a three-month search for a successor to the first and only previous conference commissioner.

The Big Ten athletic directors, who Friday recommended Wilson as commissioner in their fourth candidate-hunting session, had proposed the $5,000 yearly salary hike in which the faculty committee must concur.

No Dictatorship

Although the appointment was announced by F. E. Richard of the University of Illinois, faculty committee secretary, Wilson released a statement in which he declared that his office was in no sense that of a "czar or dictator," and that he had no intention of making it that.

Wilson, whose appointment was for six years from May 1, asserted that salary arrangements were "satisfactory."

Wilson's statement explained that recent recommendations by the athletic directors that additional authority be given the commissioner's office will "go over to main meetings of the conference." At that time, the statement declared, "It is likely that the revised definition of the commissioner's power and duties will be ready for adoption."

Clearing House

The athletic directors had sought at a previous meeting to give the commissioner authority to act in eligibility and legislative matters. Under Griffith, the office was merely a clearing house for all Big Ten athletic problems which had to be referred to the member faculties for final decisions.

Wilson's selection ended speculation ever since Griffith died suddenly Dec. 7 that H. O. (Pritz) Crisler, University of Michigan athletic director, would be awarded the post. Crisler, it was learned, turned down the offer and backed Wilson for the job.

Ruddy-cheeked Wilson had been athletic director at Northwestern for 20 years. He came there from Drake university at Des Moines, Iowa, in 1925 after priming the Drake relays into one of the nation's outstanding track events during his three years as athletic director at that school.

Olympic Record

Wilson graduated from the University of Illinois in 1920, the same year he competed in the javelin for the United States in the Olympic games at Antwerp. He still holds the British kingdom javelin record which he set during a tour in 1920.

Choosing between farming—he now owns a 217-acre plot near Lexington, Ill.—and athletics, Wilson accepted a post as assistant athletic director at Illinois late in 1920. Two years later he went to Drake as athletic director.

Although no successor to Wilson has been chosen at Northwestern, it is believed football Coach Lynn Waldorf has the inside track.

Michigan Wins Big Ten Track Championship

Hume Twins Shave Mile Title; Iowa's Gotthardt Places

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP)—With the famed Hume twins, Ross and Bob, sharing their second straight championship, Michigan's defending championship squad established conference history last night by winning the mile run in the 35th annual Big Ten indoor track and field meet last night.

Dead Heat
The "dead-heat" Hume brothers swept across the finish line, hand-in-hand, in 4 minutes, 25 seconds, a fraction slower than their joint 4:24.5 last season. Three other Michigan runners, Dick Barnard, Archie Parsons and Bob Thomas, finished in a dead heat for third, giving the Wolverines all of the possible 15 points in the event. It was the first time any Big Ten school had swept a championship race.

Tom White of Ohio State set a blistering early pace, but faded and quit on the final lap after the Humes, with Ross in the lead, moved into the lead on the next to last lap.

Illinois scored its initial first as expected in the 60-yard dash as Bill Buster edged Julian Witherpoon of Michigan by six inches in the comparatively slow time of :06.4. Mark Brownstein of Minnesota, Boris Dimancheff, Purdue's grid star, and Ben Harvey placed in that order in the close finish.

Much Slower
Bob Kelley of Illinois won the 440 by six inches from Dick Forrester of Michigan as the two swept past the fading pace-setter, Wallace Besterhaft of Purdue, in the stretch. Kelley was clocked in 50.6 seconds, much slower than the 49.3 that won last year for Bob Ufer of Michigan.

Cal Martin of Indiana was third in the 440, while fourth and fifth went to Joe Johnson and Mare Gonzalez of Illinois.

Illinois picked up nine more points in the 70 high hurdles as freshman George Walker and Dave Nichols finished one-two, with Walker's winning time :08.9. Bill Siebert of Ohio State was third, followed by Bob Cranston of Minnesota and Wilmer Jackson of Ohio State.

Dethroned
Bob Hume was dethroned as two-mile champion, but the title remained in the family when brother Ross loped across in 9:45.4, edging another team-mate, Chuck Birdsall, by inches. Bob started the race but developed a stitch in his side and was lapped by Ross.

In the half-mile, Kelley scored his second victory with a blazing finish that headed off Chuck Barnard, after the Michigan runner had led all the way. Kelley, timed in 1:56.4, finished 10 yards in front of Barnard, who led three other Wolverines across.

Walker won the high hurdles in :08, outlasting two Minnesota timber-toppers, Ray Tharpe and Bob Cranston, who placed second and third respectively. The shotput went to Ohio State's husky John Thomas with a toss of 47 feet, 1/2 inch.

Mile run—Dead heat for first place, Ross Hume and Bob Hume, Michigan; dead heat for third, Barnard, Parsons and Thomas, Michigan. Time 4:25.

60-yard dash—won by Buster, Illinois; second, Witherspoon, Michigan; third, Brownstein, Minnesota; fourth, Dimancheff, Purdue; fifth, Harvey, Purdue. Time 06.4 seconds.

440 yard dash—won by Kelley, Illinois; second, Forrester, Michigan; third, Martin, Indiana; fourth, Johnson, Illinois; fifth, Gonzales, Illinois. Time 50.6.

70-yard high hurdles—won by Walker, Illinois; second, Nichols,

Maybe So

By BOB KRAUSE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

BEING A GLUTTON we weren't satisfied with the fact that Iowa won the Big Ten title clearly for the first time. We had to look ahead to next year about three seconds after we could breathe again following the Illinois game.

Obviously, we wondered if 1946 would see a repeat performance of this season's fun. The first thought which came to mind was to wonder if we would be blessed by the presence of the same young men who lurched off with the bunting this year.

Chicago News
Well, as of a story which came out of Chicago yesterday, we would have you know that the championship is safe for the Hawkeyes for two more years. Don't tell Pops Harrison we said so, though. We are inclined to believe that he might not be quite so optimistic.

At any rate this Chicago news is to the effect that the Big Ten will henceforth return to pre-war eligibility rules, and that students who are professionals in any sport will not be allowed to compete in intercollegiate athletics. Only four years of competition will be allowed.

Inside Dope
Of course, we don't know whether or not Big Ten officials have inside information that both Hitler and the Japs will quit tomorrow, but just wonder if perhaps they aren't pushing things a trifle. They seem terribly anxious to get back to normal—whatever that was—at the earliest possible tick of the clock.

On the credit side of the declaration is the fact that 29-year-old steel mill workers who transfer, say, to Chicago after eight years of varsity play at Sweetbriar Sub-normal won't be allowed to walk on the faces of any more 17-year-old beauties. (Sudden thought: Maybe Chicago wouldn't accept a student who had had eight mediocre years at Sweetbriar.)

More Serious
In a more serious vein it might be remembered that Don Greenwood, a superior quarterback for Illinois during the last grid season, went through his sixth year of varsity play at that time. In the big boys when a large number of last year's "stars" were still being given aid in blowing their noses.

But possibly we have drifted from the original topic. The new ruling says that four years of competition will be allowed. This means that Dick Ives and Jack Spencer, sophomores, have two years left. The Wilkinson brothers are both in dentistry study and having each played a year at Utah before coming here, will have two seasons left.

New Man
Ned Postels is a junior now, but his alternate, Murray Wier, is but a freshman. If Wier is drafted we are led to hope that Coach Harrison's coaching ability will enable him to find a replacement.

Well, we hope that clears up the future for you. All you have to worry about now is March 15 and how to face the dawn that day. But let us leave you with one other thought. It is no reflection on Herb Wilkinson but we just happened to wonder how it would be possible to keep him away from the NCAA tourney in Madison Square because of his studies and yet permit him to enter the Big Ten championship track meet at Chicago. No offense, just a thought.

Illinois; third, Bill Siebert, Ohio State; fourth, Cranston, Minnesota; fifth, Jackson, Ohio State. Time 8.9 seconds.

Two-mile run—won by Ross Hume, Michigan; second, Birdsall, Michigan; third, Willard, Michigan; fourth, White, Ohio State; fifth, Hamer, Illinois. Time 9:45.4.

Michigan Wins Big Ten Tank Championship

Western Conference Group Clamps Down on Eligibility

CHICAGO (AP)—The Western conference yesterday clamped down on its wide-open eligibility rules in effect since shortly after Pearl Harbor, banning civilians from more than four years competition and ostracizing professional athletes.

Rapid Return
The conference faculty committee which had waived most of its eligibility sanctions to capitalize on all available manpower during the war declared there was need to return "as rapidly as possible towards normal rules and regulations."

Obviously striking at age and experience disparity among conference athletes resulting from restricted play by 4-F's, the committee limited play by civilians, as such, to four seasons. It also specified that athletes at the West Point military and Annapolis Naval Academies would be considered as civilians.

Not Affected
F. E. Richard of Illinois, committee secretary, explained that civilians who became military trainees would not be affected once they entered the service, even if they continued college competition.

Any civilian student who is a professional in any sport will not be eligible for conference varsity competition under the revised rules.

The committee also required that civilian students who transfer to the Western conference must be banned from intercollegiate competition for one year, if they are ineligible at their former schools at the time of transfer.

Re-Affirmed Statement
The faculty group re-affirmed a December reinstatement of a rule banning competition in all-star contests by undergraduates.

The committee okayed a continuation of summer football practice to within one week of the regular pre-season drills and extended to summer-school enrollees permission for prospective students to join athletic squads before school terms actually begin.

Iowa Seahawks Tie For Second Place With Notre Dame

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Drake university dethroned Notre Dame's Central Collegiate conference indoor track champions here last night, winning the 18th annual meet with a score of 35 points.

Cadets Tie
Iowa Pre-Flight, co-favored along with Notre Dame's defending champs, finished in a tie with Marquette for second with 32 points and Notre Dame was fourth with 25.3-5.

Double Winner
Fred Feiler, Drake's National Collegiate cross country champion, scored one of the meet's two "doubles," winning the mile in 4:27.4 and the two-mile in 9:45.8. Harold Fisher, blond hurdler from Miami (Ohio) university, copped both stick events.

Marquette's Ken Wiesner, co-holder of the National A.A.U. high jump crown, won his specialty with a leap of 6 feet, 5 1/2 inches. Miami finished fifth in team standings with 14 points. Michigan State scored 123-5, Western Michigan 71-5, Wheaton (Ill.) college 33-5 and Wayne university 3.

Byrd, Shute Upset Snead, Hamilton In Four Ball Tourney

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Sammy Byrd riddled home an eight foot putt for a birdie three on the second extra hole Saturday to knock Sam Snead and Bob Hamilton out of the running in the only big upset of the $7,500 International Four Ball golf tournament.

Byrd and his partner, the veteran Denny Shute, went into the finals against Byron Nelson and Harold McSpaden, who sank five chip shots in downing Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, 3 and 2.

They will meet Sunday in a 36-hole match over the Miami Springs municipal course where the leading professionals have staged an amazing exhibition of sub-par golf.

Uphill Battle
The fourth-seeded team, Byrd and Shute had to wage an uphill battle to whip Snead and Hamilton whose putter failed them.

Shute squared the count on the 33rd hole by getting down a 20-footer for a birdie two.

A break saved the winners in the first extra hole. Hamilton's eight-foot putt for a birdie hung on the lip.

Snead, Hamilton and Byrd all hit the 38th green with their second shots, while Shute missed. Snead failed with an eight-footer for a half, and Hamilton couldn't drop a five-footer to keep the match alive.

Hottest Golf
Topspeeded Nelson and McSpaden played the hottest golf of the tournament in their triumph, scoring an eight-under-par 62 on the morning 18 and finishing out the match 14 under.

"It's the best four ball match I've ever shot," said Nelson, who has played with McSpaden in other four ball events here and failed to get beyond the second round.

Both the Snead-Hamilton and Byrd-Shute combinations had eight under par 132's for the 36-hole route.

Diamond Test Starts

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball reflected a tone of subdued optimism yesterday as it awaited player reaction to calls for spring training, the game's first real test of 1945 operation.

Although signed contracts continued to trickle into the offices of the 16 major league clubs, indicating about 50 percent of the reserved players had agreed to terms, the number of men who actually would report was the doubtful factor.

National service legislation, still pending in congress, may have a most important effect on the manpower problem. Lacking a final decision on the proposed law, Presidents Ford Frick and Will Haridge of the National and American leagues had delayed asking further conferences with War Mobilizer James Byrnes.

Congressional sources in Washington said that it may be about the first of April before baseball gets from the government anything resembling a definite answer on the availability of players.

Washington and the Chicago Cubs have been in camp four days and 12 more teams are due to start work before next Saturday. The St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds will not open until March 19.

The New York Giants and Yankees will gather at their respective New Jersey camps in Lakewood and Atlantic City today.

Rafferty Wins K. C. Mile Race

NEW YORK (AP)—James Rafferty, putting on his usual bicycle sprint, won his seventh straight indoor mile last night at the Knights of Columbus meet, shunting Gunder Haegg of Sweden to fifth place in a six man field.

The complete brackets and first round pairings:
Upper bracket: Eau Claire (Wis.) Teachers-Central, Fayette, Mo.; Eastern Kentucky of Richmond-Simpson, Indiana, Iowa; West Texas State of Canyon-Wichita (Kan.) university; Peru (Neb.) Teachers-Pepperdine of Los Angeles.

Lower bracket: Central Normal of Danville, Ind.-Catawba college, Salisbury, N. C.; Loyola of New Orleans-Phillips university, Enid, Okla.; Washburn university, Topeka, Kan.-Southern Illinois Normal of Carbondale; Doane college, Crete, Neb.-Eastern Washington State of Cheney.

BOWLING TOURNEY STARTS TODAY

Pins will start flying at nine o'clock this morning when the Iowa City Bowling association's singles and doubles tournament, the second of two events held this year, gets under way at the Plamor Bowling Alleys. The tournament is expected to be over by 11 p. m.

Entered in the meet are 36 doubles teams, with high score determining the winners. The high score for each man will be considered in determining the winner of the single competition.

A prize list totaling $80 for each event—doubles and singles—has been posted by the Iowa City Bowling association, with the first seven places being awarded cash prizes.

Teams Arrive For Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Pepperdine College of Los Angeles, a seeded favorite with only one loss to a college team this season, was first of 16 teams to arrive here for the National Intercollegiate Basketball tournament which begins a week's play in Municipal Auditorium Monday night.

Other early arrivals included Eastern Washington State of Cheney, another seeded team which boasts the nation's third high scorer in Jack Perrault; Loyola of New Orleans, and Simpson College of Indianola, Iowa, whose season record read 16-4.

EVACUATE 4,000 IN PITTSBURGH

WITH AN ESTIMATED 4,000 persons evacuated at Pittsburgh, the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers created at 33.4 feet in the worst flood in eight years for western Pennsylvania, where the Ohio river starts. Children's Art On Exhibition

An exhibit of children's art is now being shown in the main corridors and the east and west foyers of the art building. The paintings are the work of children in the university experimental schools from junior-primary to eighth grade levels.

The basic idea behind these paintings is to get the children to express their own thoughts in form and color. "Several bold, satisfying patterns of gay color made by five-year-old children indicate the innate sense of design and love of color possessed by the very young," said Prof. Edna Patzig of the art department.

Not only do the students learn to express their own thoughts, but they are taught musical interpretation in color and form to express the mood of the selection. Abstract water color, and bird studies are also included in the exhibit.

"In some pictures one is amazed at the accuracy of observation, the ability to present the essential characteristics and omit unessential detail. A small water color painting of a frog done by a five-year-old child has this convincing quality," commented Miss Patzig. To get these children to respond visually to what they see is stressed throughout the grades. They are shown examples of art in painting and sculpture, but are also made aware of creating order and pleasing appearance in their immediate environment, school papers and posters.

"In the upper grades there are some charming interpretations of subject matter," continued Miss Patzig. "All Bundled Up" by a fifth grade child is so realistic that we begin to feel cold looking at it."

Petit Jury to Appear Next Week, Begin Hearing Two Cases

A petit jury is to appear Monday, March 19, to begin hearing two cases in district court. The cases are the $15,000 suit of Carl S. Crossett against the Ruan Transportation company and the city of Solon versus J. L. Kinney.

Crossett is the administrator of the estate of Martha Jane Crossett, who died Feb. 5, 1944, shortly after being injured in an automobile accident.

His petition states that the car in which Miss Crossett was riding from Cedar Rapids to Iowa City was struck by a Ruan gasoline truck on highway 218 at the Drapport inn curve, and he charges Ad Bowers, driver of the truck, with negligence. The truck was owned by Clarence Wilson and John Ruan.

Kinney, arrested in Solon for fighting and quarreling, Jan. 12, 1945, pleaded not guilty and appealed the case to the district court.

Cub Pack 13 Installs New 8-Member Den; Four Given Awards

A new Boy Scout den was taken into cub pack 13 at Horace Mann school Friday evening. The den, with eight new members, is under the direction of Mrs. Keith Bush, den mother. Forty parents witnessed the induction.

At the meeting Friday four cubs received awards. Winning advancement to wolf rank were John Hammond, John Larew and Conrad Smith.

Clayton Shalla received his golden wolf arrow. A program of stunts was given by dens one, two and three, under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Shalla.

Succeeds Harmon

MAJ. GEN. WILLIS H. HALE has been named to succeed the missing Lt. Gen. Millard F. Harmon as commander of Army Air Forces, Pacific Ocean areas. Kansas-born General Hale, 52, was appointed Jan. 13 as Harmon's deputy commander and before that time was commanding general of shore-based aircraft, Central Pacific forward areas. 'Far Off Hills' to Be Given

Play Cast Announced

Professor Sellman To Direct Drama Of Irish Theme

The cast for the next university play, "The Far Off Hills" which will be presented March 20-24 in University theater, was announced yesterday by Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of speech and dramatic art.

This Irish play with an Irish setting, written originally for players in the Abbey theater in Dublin by Lennox Robinson, is under the direction of Prof. Hunton D. Sellman of the dramatic arts department. Included in the cast are: Harold I. Hansen as Patrick Clancy; Betty Lord, G of Davenport, Marian; Phyllis Blackman, A3 of Iowa City, Dorothea ("Ducky"); Carol Raymond, A3 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, Anna ("Pet").

William Porter, journalism assistant of Iowa City, Oliver O'Shaughnessy; James H. Platt, Dick Delany; Charles Burningham, A3 of Marion, Harold Mahony; Merline Case, G of Atoka, Okla., Susie Tynan; Bob Jensky, Pierce Hegarty; Nancy Hole, A2 of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, and Ruth Ann Young, A3 of Oskaloosa as Ellen Nolan.

Prof. A. S. Gillette of the dramatic arts department designed the settings for the university presentation of "The Far Off Hills" and Prof. Bernice Prisk is in charge of costumes. Special lighting effects will be done by the class in lighting.

Barry Fitzgerald played in the original play which portrays the dominating Marian Clancy who tries to manage her father's house and her younger sisters. Much to the relief of the entire family, Marian is finally won in marriage by Pierce Hegarty on the promise that with his help, Marian can run the town.

War Fund Totals $16,800

A total of $16,800 has been turned into the Red Cross war fund, according to Mrs. C. W. Keyser, chairman of war fund headquarters at the City hall. The sum of $2,300 was contributed yesterday.

General chairmen of the drive: Mrs. H. S. Ivie, Mrs. Earl Sangster, Mrs. Homer Cherrington and Mrs. M. Willard Lampe, ask that all leaders get their reports in as soon as possible. The final goal is $42,700.

The V-12 dental and medical units at the university topped their quota by submitting $158.50. One hundred percent of the students participated.

Sorority Entertains At Open House

Former SUI Student Flies 180 Bombings; Gets Promotion

Former University of Iowa student Frank H. Binder of Council Bluffs, was recently promoted to the grade of sergeant, it has been announced by his 15th army air-force bombardment group headquarters.

A nose turret gunner with a heavy bomber crew, Sergeant Binder is stationed in Italy with a veteran B-24 Liberator squadron which has flown more than 180 long-range bombing assaults against key production and supply bases throughout central Europe and the Balkans.

Receiving aerial gunnery instruction at Laredo, Texas, Sergeant Binder was stationed at Topeka, Kan., prior to his assignment to combat duty in the Mediterranean theater of operations.

Lieut. Wayne E. Dack, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Dack of Le Mars, recently completed his 35th mission as pilot of a B-24 Liberator bomber with the 15th airforce in Italy.

A former student at the University of Iowa, Lieutenant Dack holds the Air medal with three Oak Leaf clusters and the distinguished unit badge for outstanding performance of duty in armed conflict with the enemy.

"Things get mighty rough out there at times," said Dack, "but as long as the ship stays in one piece, we can always count on her taking us on a round trip."

He was commissioned at Marfa, Texas, last March, after entering the service in June, 1942, and has been overseas since last July.

Seaman First Class Richard Brink, who was graduated from the University of Iowa in April, 1944, in chemical engineering, is visiting Catherine Covert, A4 of Iowa City, this weekend.

He is attending radio technician school, Navy Pier, Chicago, at the present time. Entering the navy in June, 1944, he received his boot training at Great Lakes, and pre-radio training at Texas A & M, College Station, Texas.

While at the University he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity.

THE IMPORTANCE OF PASTELS

It's time we all learned the importance of pastels and this cool-looking aqua linen is a perfect example of what they can do for you. The yoke is embroidered in an eyelet pattern and the soft look is achieved by ruching running from neck to hem and edging the clever cap sleeves.

There are pastels in suits too. These light, gay colors speak a language of spring and beauty. You'll like a bright, new suit for spring. And you'll like the sweaters and blouses that add a neutral note. Plan a pastel pattern for spring.

Dear Miss Browning:

The task of selecting a queen and five attendants from the photographs you sent me was a difficult one.

For queen I have chosen your Marmee Miller. It is difficult to tell you exactly why I feel her to be more beautiful than all the others. I think I judged somewhat by the height of her forehead and spread of her brows. The full length picture also had some bearing . . . it shows her figure to good advantage.

For the 5 attendants I have chosen Dorothy Johansen, who has a quick intelligence and a good nordic face; Joyce Boehmler, for her splendid eyes and unusual nose; Sally Umlandt whose charm and general good fellowship are so generously apparent in her features; Ann Lenzen, whose fine understanding eyes and excellently modeled features have great photographic possibility, Geri Hoffmann who to me has a warm piquant attractiveness.

My congratulations to a collection of students far above the average in appearance.

Sincerely Yours,

Prof. L. A. Ware Discusses Radar

Radio Detection, Ranging Device Shows Object's Shape

By LYNN JOHNSON
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

"I know a secret I won't tell!" This has been the unsung chant of 10,000,000 people during the past 23 years. And that secret has been the development and use of radar, the radio detection and ranging device.

Radar has been an open secret to the millions who make them in factories or use them in combat. The British, Germans, and Japanese also have them. Radar has been on the censor's restricted list because of intense Axis-allied rivalry, but now some of the facts can be told.

The principle of these electronic super-gadgets is relatively simple. A high frequency wave from an airplane, ship mast, or surface ob-ervation station is sent out by a radar transmitter. "Frequency," explained Prof. L. A. Ware of the college of electrical engineering, "is the number of complete oscillations per second, known as tone in music." For example, voice frequency varies from about 100 to 5,000 cycles a second. Nineteen-thousand cycles a second is the extent of human hearing. Radar high frequency is above a hundred-million cycles a second.

After the transmitter sends out the high frequency wave, traveling in a straight line at the speed of light, 186,000 miles a second, the wave strikes an interfering object. This may be a plane, a shoreline, a ship, or a tall building. Then the wave bounces back to the radar receiver. The time it takes for a round trip is measured and instantly translated into the distance to the interfering object.

Radar has been developed to such a high degree that it now indicates the shape of the object. Although the devices lack television and X-ray powers, it can be determined whether the interfering object is a single plane or a squadron, a lone ship, or a fleet, a shoreline or a mountain. From the air, radar will show an outline map of what lies below.

Radio detecting and ranging devices are not without their limitations. Land uses are confined to locating airplanes in the sky and ships at sea. Also, radar cannot see beyond the horizon, over the curve of the earth.

In some respects, radar has the edge on television and X-ray . . . it can see farther, measure distances, and see when the human eye is blind.

Many are the uses of the radar devices. They transmit a screen of radio waves through which it is impossible for the enemy to launch an undetected attack; they find targets which the human eye cannot see; they aim guns at unseen targets, determining the range, and making it possible to fire those guns at the correct split second to insure hits or near-misses, making full allowance for target movement and weather conditions, such as a high wind or driving rain; they show bombing planes where they are going and the outline of the terrain; they make possible the release of bombs at the precise moment to insure accurate miracle bombing; and they perform their most outstanding miracle when they show pilots the way to go home, leading them in and helping them land when visibility is zero.

Before the war, a small group of men studied pre-radar at the University of Iowa. "Naturally, we needed special equipment which was new and complicated, and thus expensive," explained Professor Ware, "but the men all received a good start on their radar work."

Radar is primarily a military development, according to Professor Ware. Post-war uses will be limited primarily to aviation and shipping, to keep track of plane positions and prevent collisions on the sea. "However," continued the professor, "engineers will get busy and find new uses for radar. Radio was used only by the army during the last war, but there was a great development after the war. Undoubtedly, the same will happen to radar."

Although radar as such will not be offered in the university curriculum, component courses will be offered, such as electromagnetic theory, high frequency electronics, and high frequency transmission. Radar men now in the service will need no additional training to be technicians, but added education will be necessary for the men to be radar engineers.

RADAR FIRSTS

First Discovery: In September, 1922, in a naval aircraft radio laboratory, two men noticed that radio signals were reflected by tall buildings and by passing ships. The men were Dr. A. Hoyt Taylor and Leo C. Young.

First Army Experiments: After 10 years of research, the navy passed radar results on to the war department. At this time, detection of aircraft 50 miles away was possible. By 1934, actual distance to these planes could be determined.

First Use on a Battleship: An experimental set was installed on the U.S.S. New York in 1939, and it successfully determined the presence of destroyers hidden in fog eight miles away.

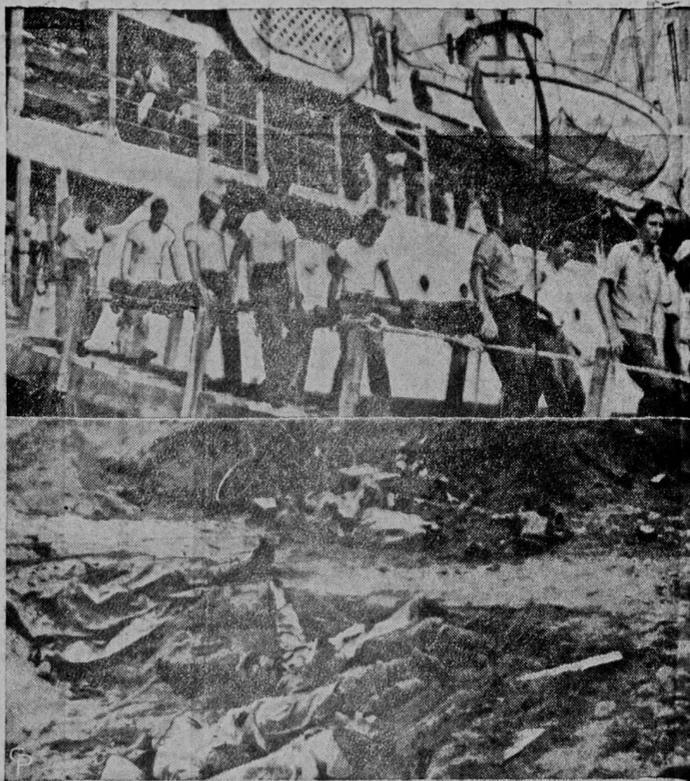

First Use in the War: In 1940, by Britain, who conducted her own research and development. She used radio locators to spot German aircraft before they reached the English shores, enabling RAF planes to intercept them and win the Battle of Britain.

First United States Use in War: At Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941. Private Joseph Lockhard detected approach of Japanese planes. He was off duty, and his warning was unheeded.

First Warship Sunk by Radar: May, 1941, when the Germans detected the H.M.S. Hood by radio location and sank her with their first salvo.

First Use for Bombing of Invisible Targets: October, 1943, when the U. S. army airforces raided Germany and Austria.

THE DEAD--THE WOUNDED--A PRICE FOR IWO

FROM THE BLOODY BATTLE for Iwo Jima have come these stretcher cases of wounded Americans—Leathernecks who fell before the withering Jap fire that met the advancing troops. Not as fortunate as their buddies, who are being carried from a hospital ship to an advanced Pacific base, top photo, are the two Marines shown in the bottom photo lying dead within a few yards of the bodies of Jap soldiers. Amidst the debris of the fierce battle, these two have been covered by their ponchos. The costliest battle of the Pacific, the price for the capture of Iwo, Tokyo's "Lookout," has been paid by these men. These are official U. S. Coast Guard photos. (International Soundphotos)

"Let's Go Stepping"

Yesterday at high noon wedding bells rang out in Iowa City. They were ringing for Kay Harmeier, Alpha Xi, and Essign Tom Boylen, Kappa Sig, who were officially made one at St. Mary's church.

She's lovely, we don't know about the Ponds, but she is engaged. "She" is Peggy Wood, Zeta, and the man in the picture is Lieut. Keith Admonson.

Put down that heavy suitcase. We know you've got to get to the station. But we also know there's a VARSITY-HAWKEYE CAB ready to save your time and strength. Don't weight yourself down. Let the cabs with the green lights set you out right for weekend doings.

The Navy Pre-Flight school is kind of indirectly responsible for another pin-hanging. And directly responsible are Darlene Barker, Ad Pi, and Cadet Bob Richardson, Sigma Nu.

Kappa Dorothy Inglis passed five pounds last week and chained a Kappa key to a Sigma Chi cross. The pin belongs to Jerry Lossee, a cadet at Pre-Flight.

It's another pin at the Ad Pi house this week and it's Betty Thomas wearing it. Pin in question wandered over from the Phi Bet house and man in case is Wes Page.

Sure, spreads are always fun. But they're even better if you've got something new for special serving. We'd like to suggest a salad. And we suggest you get your props at BRENNEMAN'S VEGETABLE MARKET. There are apples, nuts, and salad dressing. They've also got crackers of all kinds and olives and pickles to top it off right. Re-style that menu at BRENNEMAN'S.

Look your best and swing along with the Easter parade come April 1. Mr. Edward Rose at the DRUG SHOP carries a complete line of Marcelle Cosmetics to give you that added touch. Marcelle Cosmetics are safe even for the most sensitive skins because they are so pure. Try the Marcelle brand at the DRUG SHOP.

One week at home to visit Seaman 1/c Frank Culbertson, home on leave, and Lucile Smith, Law Commons, returned to Iowa City with a sparkler on her third finger left hand. They're going to take that "next step" when and if he gets his next leave.

A big beautiful ensign on leave, a weekend at his home in Louisville, Ky., and a pair of wings—what more could a girl ask! And this week's lucky little lady is Sandy Crawford, Currier, who's special guest is Ensign Barney Grimes.

It'll be a dry spring for you if you're wearing one of BREMER'S water-repellant, washable Zelan jackets. They're fashioned with a button front, slash pockets, and an elastic back. These wearable jackets come in small, medium and large sizes in beige and tan colors, and they're specially priced at $3.59 at BREMER'S.

We Recognize

. . . John Cumming, C4 of Newton, a major in accounting. John's president of the senior class of the commerce college and president of the council of presidents. He's a member of Union Board and a proctor at Chelsey house. And this president's president reached a new high when he gave a ring to Bobbie Shields, Tri-Delt, just last night.

This is the story about a man who once had a fraternity pin. It was a lovely Phi Psi pin and Karl Fuerste was very proud of it. One day he went to the Theta house and gave his pin to Lennie Brown-ing. Moral: sometimes you can get along fine without a pin.

Vonnie Hoffman, Pi Phi, just whipped out of the hospital and a case of mumps to whip into the climax of a romance with Lieut. Howie Heydt of Rochester, N. Y. For his weekend visit in fair Iowa City meant business and there's a diamond that proves it.

Wish we could have seen Del Donahoo beating down the door at the Phi Delt house last week trying to get out to the cab waiting to whisk him to an 8:30 broadcast. It all began when the knob fell off the front door, continued with Del dashing about on three floors, and ended with his escaping via the furnace exit. Yessir, the show went on.

Something new at the Pi Phi house is the chain joining Rachel Updegraff's arrow to John Scanlin's Sigma Chi cross.

That Kappa gal with the Phi Psi pin is Tedda Toenjes and the guy who gave it is John Bragdon of Ames.

Maybe that spark between Norma Lambert, Law Commons, and home town boy, Norm Bailey, will spring to life after this weekend in South Bend. Tune in next week and find out.

A new diamond on the left hand of June Muhl was the very good reason for that five pounds passed at the Tri-Delt house not so long ago. June's engaged to Frank Shook of the marine air corps.

A telephone call from California means a very pleasant summer in that sunny state for Peggy Starn, Chi O. For it was from Maj. Paul Stewart, former Sigma Chi, who's now stationed in California after being a Jap prisoner.

FORD HOPKINS has a Sunday dinner all planned for you. Strange History—

Marriage Customs

Comes spring and the young folks' fancies lightly turn to what they've thought of all winter. But hang on to that frat pin, fellas, and reconsider accepting that diamond, girls, and let's see how all this marriage business got started.

Man, away back when, was a brave and polygamous animal until, realizing the error of his ways and the inelasticity of his purse, he became monogamous. Marriage was first intertribal but still wishing to do things the hard way marriage outside of the tribe became popular. The first form of outside marriage was marriage by capture.

Cave Man Style

Accompanied by a friend, the bridegroom-elect went on the war-path, seized the maiden of his choice and carried her away to his home. Today, the bestman is a relic of marriage by capture suggesting the strong-arm man who helped the bridegroom. The wedding ring symbolizes the ball and chain which bound the bride; the custom of throwing shoes is a reminder of the many objects thrown at the fleeing couple by the bride's parents; and the honeymoon, the most romantic of all bridal customs, is merely the span of time when the captor had to hide his prize from her kinsman until their consent had been gained.

People soon began to take a very realistic outlook upon this thing called marriage and marriage by purchase soon succeeded marriage by capture. In Babylonia and Assyria all the girls of marriageable age were assembled before the temple once a year. The handsome girls brought high prices and these sums were turned over to the homely ones as an extra added attraction.

Unusual Ceremonies

Strange as the ways of getting a wife are the ceremonies which bind marriages. In many countries, merely joining hands was necessary; in Australian tribes, the woman carries fire to her lover's hut and builds fire for him; in Croatia the bridegroom boxes the bride's ears; in Hungary the bridegroom used to kick the bride after the ceremony to make her feel subjection, and in Russia the father would hit the girl once with a new whip and then give the whip to the new husband.

In the Greek Orthodox church, which has the most elaborate rites, the couple are separated from the altar by a band of rose-colored satin. When they are called to the altar by the priest the first one to step on the band will be the one to impose his or her will upon the household. While the priest is pronouncing them man and wife they walk around the altar three times. Until the third time is completed there is time to turn back but after that the couple are united.

In the Jewish ceremony, after the rabbi, the bride and bridegroom drink wine from the same glass, the bridegroom breaks the glass with his foot, symbolizing that the marriage must last until the fragments can be put together.

During the ninth and tenth centuries the couple would be promised to each other at birth and a ring placed on the right hand of the girl. The ring would be transferred to the left hand at the time of the ceremony. Bridegrooms, who struggle slipping the ring on the third-finger-left-hand today, will be glad to know that the ring formerly had to be put on four fingers. When he slipped the ring on the first he said, "in the name of the Father," for the second, "in the name of the Son," for the third, "in the name of the Holy Ghost," and "Amen" for the fourth.

"Wife Beating"

The husband was allowed considerable license in treating his wife well. An old Welsh law decided that three blows with a broomstick "on any part of the person except the head" is a fair allowance and another provides that the stick be no longer than his arm or thicker than his middle finger.

Mrs. Shipley to Tell Of Asiatic Peoples At Vespers Sunday

"Peoples of Southeast Asia" will be the subject of Mrs. David C. Shipley's talk at Westminster fellowship vespers today at 4:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian church.

Her talk, based on first-hand observations, will review highlights of a recent book on the same subject by Bruno Lasker. Mrs. Shipley visited many islands of the south Pacific as well as countries of southeastern Asia on a world tour some years ago.

Eleanor Wesslink, A2 of Hull, will be student chairman and worship leader. Students, cadets, WAVES and any others interested may attend the service.

Fish should be put in a tightly covered container in the refrigerator.

War Materials in Manchuria—

Japan Could Lose Home Islands

By HUDSON PHILLIPS

NEW YORK (AP)—As the war moves closer to Japan's home shores, economists are reappraising Nippon's ability to continue getting vital raw materials to make ships, guns, planes and other war goods.

At this point their thinking simmers down to an important consideration of Russia. If she declares war on Japan, they reason, Japan may make her last-ditch stand on home islands; if not, she could lose the homeland but still fight on in Manchuria.

The country has extensive deposits of coal, iron, lead, cement and shale oil. It also has zinc, copper, gold, magnesite and aluminum shale. Its fertile farming regions produce chief crops such as soy beans, sorghum, rice and corn. Dr. Lee Fah Yih, assistant director of the China Institute in America, said Russian troops are garrisoned on the northern and eastern borders of Manchuria.

"If the Russians do not come in on the side of the united nations," he said, "then it will be possible for Japan to lose her home island but still fight on with the rich war materials she can find in Manchuria."

"Before Japan began extensive warfare against China in 1937, she had 80 percent of the coal she needed to fuel her heavy war industries located in mines on the home islands."

"Since then, however, her industry has been greatly expanded to make weapons and all kinds of heavy equipment needed for war so that she began drawing heavily on countries like Manchuria and Indo-China.

"Indo-China, a good coal source, now is virtually cut off because the united nations control the sea lanes between there and Japan. The Japanese captured the four railroads which make up the continental supply line in China but they can haul little more than troops."

Because Japan must import so much coal now, she is in a reverse position on the manufacture of steel.

Instead of having her steel mills in coal-producing areas like the United States, she brings much coal from Manchuria and other occupied countries to her blast furnaces.

But Japan gradually has been moving some of her industries to Manchuria.

In this way she hopes to scatter her war industries, to bring her steel-making facilities to rich coal deposits held in Manchuria.

Seven Graduates, Former Students Announce Engagements, Weddings

Word has been received of the recent engagement and marriages of seven graduates and former students of the University of Iowa.

Rieke-Voss

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Rieke of Blairtown announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Ens. Marlyn W. Voss.

A graduate of the University of Iowa, Miss Rieke has been teaching in the public schools at Hanover and Rockford, Ill.

Ensign Voss was commissioned in May and is now serving with the Atlantic fleet.

Frasier-Shotwell

In a double ring ceremony in the home of the bride's parents Feb. 12, Jeannette Frasier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Frasier of Grinnell, became the bride of Technical Sergt. John Reigard Shotwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Shotwell of Des Moines.

Mrs. Shotwell was graduated from Grinnell college in Grinnell and is an instructor in the speech department of the University of Nebraska at Lincoln.

Sergeant Shotwell, a graduate of the University of Iowa, has been stationed in the southwest Pacific area.

Young-Scheibenberger

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Young of Grandview announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen, to Corp. John C. Scheibenberger Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Scheibenberger of Coin.

A graduate of Grandview high school, Miss Young is now a senior at Grinnell college in Grinnell.

Corporal Scheibenberger was graduated from Sheandoah high school and was a student in the college of engineering at the University of Iowa. He is now stationed in the Pacific area.

Sloss-Martin

Mr. and Mrs. A. Campbell Sloss of Ames have announced the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Ann, to Capt. Wayne R. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fausch, of Roland.

Miss Sloss attended the University of Iowa and is now employed in the AH department of the Agricultural Experiment station at Iowa State college in Ames.

Captain Martin attended Iowa State college before entering the service. He recently returned from 11 months in the Mediterranean area and is taking additional bombardier training at Midland.

Gerke-Rea

In a single ring ceremony, Barbara Jeanne Gerke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gerke of Marshalltown, became the bride of Ens. Norman Hamilton Rea, Jr., son of Mrs. David Ruppel of Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 7. Dr. George West Diehl, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, read the ceremony in his home in Corpus Christi, Texas.

The bride, a graduate of Marshalltown high school, attended Coe college in Cedar Rapids and the University of Iowa where she was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority.

Pehrson-Younggren

Word has been received of the engagement and approaching marriage of Frances Pehrson, daughter of Mrs. Peter Pehrson of Red Oak, to Herbert Younggren, also of Red Oak.

Miss Pehrson, a graduate of Red Oak high school, attended junior college in Red Oak and was graduated from the college of commerce of the University of Iowa, receiving a B.S.C. degree. She was affiliated with Alpha Xi Delta sorority and Phi Gamma Nu commerce sorority. She was employed as secretary to the dean of men at the University of Iowa and has been serving as manager of the Securities Acceptance corporation branch in Red Oak.

Gardner-French

In a ceremony in the pastor's study of the First Presbyterian church in Davenport, Nancy Rendleman Gardner, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. William H. Rendleman of Davenport, became the bride of George T. French, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Decker French, also of Davenport. The vows were read by Dr. Alfred S. Nickless.

Mrs. Gardner received her degree from the University of Iowa and Mr. Gardner was graduated from Yale university in New Haven, Conn. He is the assistant superintendent of the plow works division of Deere & company in Moline, Ill.

NAVY HOLDS ITS OWN THIS SPRING

The Queen chooses from Willard's—an afternoon dress of navy crepe—with a picture frame neckline outlined in dusty pink lace. This charming but simple frock is designed by Jay Arnold for pure beauty—cap—sleeves—fitted bodice—and graceful skirt ala spring 1945. Not to be outdone by brilliant colors presented at Spring showings this year, we find navy still able to hold its own in the season's collection of lovely dresses.

FASHION NEWS IN TRICK OPENINGS

The wrap-around skirt so popular in afternoon dresses has invaded the suit field—in a modified version. A tailored mocha brown trim accentuates the fascinating side opening of this applegreen flannel suit and repeats itself at the cuff line. Miss Sally Umlandt wears a brown sweater with the suit, completing the effect with brown purse and gloves and a brown fur felt Victorian bonnet.

SAUCY BOWS HOLD AN INSIDE STORY

The classic neckline of this stunning black sheer is accentuated by four saucy bows simulating a jabot effect and adding a note of interest with their clever gold lining. The gold makes a re-appearance in the lining of the three-quarter-length sleeves. A black felt coolie hat, Corde bag, and white doeskin gloves complete the costume.
