Americans Crush All Major Resistance West of Rhine

Reich Suffers Worst Lashing

RAF, Yank Planes Concentrate on Nazi East Rhine Defenses

LONDON, Friday (AP)—More than 8,000 American and British planes gave Germany its greatest dawn to dusk lashing yesterday, concentrating particularly on Nazi defenses east of the Rhine, and last night RAF Mosquitos maintained the terrific pressure by bombing Berlin for the 31st consecutive time.

The German radio declared that at least four other formations of night raiders were on the prowl over western Germany, the Hannover-Hildesheim area, Muenster and the province of Bavaria.

These were the major blows delivered during one of the finest flying days of the year yesterday: 1—Approximately 4,000 planes, including 2,000 American and British heavy bombers from Britain, tore up enemy concentrations and reinforcements within the Ruhr industrial basin and surrounding areas. This attack, one of the most violent delivered by air power during the war, was directed at targets across the Rhine from Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's impending "jump off" positions.

2—A force of more than 500 Italy-based United States heavy bombers blasted the big Ruhrland oil refinery 70 miles southeast of Berlin. This blow was believed to have virtually halted the production of gasoline within the United States 15th airforce's range in southern Germany, Austria and Hungary.

3—Using the new 11-ton volcano bombs, British heavy bombers collapsed the main span and the approaches to the important Nienburg railroad bridge between Hannover and Bremen.

4—American and British tactical airforces flew nearly 4,000 sorties from bases on the continent, losing only five planes while destroying 63 German aircraft on the ground and damaging 46 others and picking off eight in the air.

Laborites Denounce Churchill Delegation To San Francisco

LONDON (AP)—A bitter political row flared up in commons yesterday when Laborites accused Prime Minister Churchill of packing Britain's seven-man, two-woman delegation to the world security conference at San Francisco in order to maintain his Conservative party's supremacy after the war.

Temper snapped in the usually staid house as Churchill announced that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would lead these delegates to the conference beginning April 25.

Clement Attlee, deputy prime minister and lord president of the council; Lord Cranborne, dominions secretary; Lord Halifax, British ambassador to Washington; and five parliamentary secretaries, George Tomlinson of the labor ministry; William Mabane, food; Dingle Foot, economic warfare; Ellen Wilkinson, home security; and Florence Horsburgh health.

When the prime minister announced Eden, a Conservative, would lead the delegation, the Labor members immediately attacked.

Treasury Men Check For Delinquent Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The treasury disclosed yesterday that its famous "T-men" are checking up on free-wheeling spenders in big-time pleasure resorts to determine whether they have paid their income taxes.

Officials said that Elmer Irey, chief coordinator of treasury enforcement activities (that's the T-men), picked up $50,000 of delinquent taxes in a few days in Miami, Fla.

Recent Events Beyond Pacific—

Leaves Japs Confused, Uncertain

By Kirke L. Simpson
Associated Press War Analyst
Pending further evolution of allied-Russian concerted operations in Germany to disclose where the battle of inner Germany will begin, events beyond the Pacific leave Japan hardly less confused and uncertain than her crumbling Nazi accomplice.

Within the last 48 hours allied air power has run the gamut of Nipponese defensive deployments from western Burma to the hide-outs of Japan's sorely battered fleet in the inland sea. The swooping planes, land or carrier based, were obviously paving the way for something, but for just what Tokyo could not certainly tell. Powerful naval task forces were reported at one stage no more than 60 miles offshore from Japan's home islands.

Tokyo broadcasts give certain evidence of the invasion fears running high in Japan. The same fear is dominating Japanese army commanders in French Indo-China. It was redoubled by the Nipponese reported heavy air attack on Hainan island, the big Chinese southern appendix dominating the Gulf of Tonkin and the northeast coast of the French colony. Through it runs the slender and vulnerable Nipponese communications life line linking her armies in China with Burma, Malaya and the Dutch Indies.

Formosa, the Japanese China sea Gibraltar, got another blasting, Tokyo said. There was Japanese word for it, too, that the great task force from which navy bombers caught nearly a score of war craft at moorings in inland sea harbors was moving south-westward again, perhaps to strike into the center of the Ryukyu chain of islands that runs from the southwestern tip of Kyushu in the home islands all the way to Formosa.

Tokyo reflects a Japanese belief that the largest and most central island of the Ryukyu group, Okinawa, is an American objective. That seems a logical deduction for Okinawa offers both good weather proof harborage at Naha and ample room for bomber and fighter strips. There are open plains and little forested land and the island lies within 400 miles of Formosa to the southwest and less than 500 miles from Nagasaki to the northeast. Tokyo has good reason to assume that it figures in American future strategy.

100,000 Nazis Captured

Germans Report U. S. Troops Ready To Storm River

PARIS, (AP)—Two United States armies crushed all major resistance west of the Rhine yesterday in the last phase of a battle that cost the Germans 100,000 captives alone, and the enemy said the river barrier was about to be stormed both from the Palatinate and opposite the Ruhr, which was blasted.

One German report said Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third army had massed 300 regular and amphibious tanks and strong engineering and motorized units for a smash into the mountainous inner core of the Reich.

Another declared that Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery had opened a thunderous artillery barrage to screen a Rhine crossing of Wesel, adding to destruction wrought by the thousands of warplanes which throughout the day sowed ruin through the Ruhr valley.

Third army strategists now were free to plan the crossing of the Rhine for possibly no more than 4,000 German effectives remained in action west of the stream after one of the worst disasters ever visited on German arms.

Written off were the great Rhine cities of Mainz and Ludwigshafen, where resistance folded during the day and the few defenders were chased into corners from which there was no retreat, with the Rhine bridges blown.

Third army banners floated over 100 miles of the Rhine's west bank from Ludwigshafen to Coblenz, and racing armor was five miles from Speyer and 19 from Karlsruhe, the two main roads back for the battered German band—all that remains of two German armies once more than 100,000 strong.

The First army now held nine miles of the south bank of the Sieg river northeast of Bonn within a dozen miles of the Ruhr's south rim. Southward its bridgehead reached within seven and a half miles of Coblenz, on the west bank, where the Third army sits in firm control.

The German defense lines crumpled early yesterday in Mainz, which frantic SS troops had tried to turn into an island of resistance in a sea of almost unsurpassed destruction. By mid-afternoon Mainz was more than 75 per cent cleared.

Spanish Prince Asks Franco to Resign

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)—Declaring that Spain is in danger of another civil war, Prince Juan, heir to the country's now non-existent throne, called upon Francisco Franco yesterday to resign and bring lasting peace to the nation by restoration of the monarchy.

The exiled son of the late King Alfonso made his plea to the generalissimo in a statement given to The Associated Press on the sixth anniversary of the end of the Spanish civil war.

If he should become king, the prince said, he would seek a political constitution by popular vote, protection of individual rights and political liberties, more equitable distribution of wealth, a popular legislative assembly and elimination of unjust social conditions.

The statement, in which the prince declared "Spain is in danger of becoming involved in a fresh fratricidal struggle," was believed to have been already transmitted to Franco.

No matter who wins at least three of the offices will remain in the family, for three of the women candidates are running against their husbands.

Reds in Twin Advance

Drive Within Mile Of Czech Border

Neustadt Falls In First Stages Of Soviet Breakthrough

LONDON (AP)—Russian troops, in a powerful new two-pronged offensive in upper German Silesia, have smashed to within one mile of Czechoslovakia in twin advances of 25 miles and killed or captured 45,000 enemy troops in a 450-square mile trap west of the Oder river, Moscow announced tonight.

Massed forces of Marshal Ivan S. Konev's First Ukrainian army were battling forward in an all-out assault to clear industrial upper Silesia and win the last Nazi war production centers in the rich region.

Marshal Stalin announced Konev's forces had toppled the key industrial city of Neustadt and more than 400 other towns and villages in the first stages of the Russian breakthrough.

Konev's offensive dove-tailed with a thunderous assault which the Germans said the Russians had launched against the Baltic port of Stettin and with a fast-driving Red army offensive over German-reconquered territory in Hungary. Berlin said the latter drive had reached within 95 miles of Vienna.

Moscow's war bulletin announced that meanwhile Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army was hammering closer to the two Baltic ports of Danzig and Gdynia. Advancing through the canal-webbed Vistula delta south of Danzig, the Russians seized nine places, including Russoczin, seven miles below the former free city.

Army Lists 767,680 Casualties to March

WASHINGTON (AP)—The cost of the army's drive to seize the west bank of the Rhine river began to show up yesterday in the casualty reports.

After more than a month during which the weekly increase in reported casualties grew progressively smaller, the army and navy released figures showing a rise of 18,223 of the increase.

Undersecretary of War Patterson, listing army losses of 767,680 said the report covered the fighting during the latter part of February. It was at that time that the First and Ninth armies jumped off from the Roer river line in their final push to the Rhine.

Coupled with the navy's casualties of 91,907, the army figure pushed the over-all casualties since Pearl Harbor to 859,587.

Hollywood Unions Persist in Strike

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Thousands of film studio workers continued with their jurisdictional walkout yesterday despite an explicit national war labor board order directing them to resume work.

"We're just striking as usual," said Herbert K. Sorrell, president of the conference of studio unions which claims that 14,000 workers are idle and will remain so until a "clean-cut victory" is won.

Packers Blame 'Meateasies' For Shortage

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional groups heard complaints from the range country and packing houses yesterday that there is plenty of meat on the hoof but the government policies keep it off legitimate buyers' tables.

A retailer said "meateasies" are getting more and more of the steaks and roasts to sell on the sly.

The congressmen also got this rejoinder from the office of price administration: prices and subsidies have been adjusted to costs and the trade generally is coming out pretty well.

Said Representative Barrett (D-Wyo.) at a meat inquiry called by Representative Sundstrom (R-N. J.), "We've got 10,000,000 excess cattle now out in the west and there's no reason at all why there should be a meat shortage. OPA is to blame."

In the same unofficial meeting with industry and government spokesmen, A. L. Erikson, chief of the OPA meat price branch, said all types of livestock ceilings have been adjusted to compensate for increased costs.

Congress Asked To Investigate War Crimes Commission

WASHINGTON (AP)—A demand that congress pry the lid of secrecy from operations of the allied war crimes commission was made yesterday before the house foreign affairs committee.

Representative Celler (D. N. Y.) called for a "full time debate" in the house after Herbert A. Pell testified that he doesn't know whether he still is this government's representative on the commission charged with fixing the war guilt of enemy leaders.

"The work of the commission cannot remain secret," Celler declared. "Let the pitiless light of publicity reveal the places where ineptitude and indecision are crippling its efforts."

Pell was called before the committee to review the work of the war crimes commission.

Partly Cloudy, Still Warmer Today

After two beautiful spring days, the second even better than the first, we come to the third in the series, and this time the third is the best. There will be increasing cloudiness today but it will be high and shouldn't cause any annoyance. And it will be warmer. The mercury slid up to 72 yesterday afternoon as the sun assisted a mass of warm air which has moved into this area. The low yesterday morning was a chilly 27, meaning that the mercury climbed 45 degrees, which is quite a climb for mercury. Look for some unsettled conditions this weekend.

Guimaras Island Invaded by Yanks

Heavy Bombers Blast Cebu for Three Successive Days

MANILA, Friday (AP)—Guimaras island, just a mile and a half southeast of captured Iloilo on Panay, was invaded by American doughboys Wednesday as heavy bombers on three successive days poured, 214 tons of bombs on Cebu island to the east.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported this 27th island invasion of the Philippines in his communique today, announcing only that "in a shore-to-shore operation our troops seized Guimaras island, southwest of Panay."

The heavy bombing of Cebu island, across the Camotes sea from Leyte, was concentrated on Japanese bivouac and supply areas in the vicinity of Cebu city, midway along the island's east coast.

"Many explosions and fires were observed," the communique said. Meanwhile naval P-T boats patrolling the Cebu coast by night sank several enemy small craft and many rocket-firing planes sank a midjet submarine off Cebu city.

Patrol bombers ranging the blockaded China sea sank or damaged 12 small freight vessels and four landing craft.

General advances on all ground fronts on Luzon were reported. Forward elements of the 33rd division, probing closed to Baguio from the west, reached the Naguilian river and an airfield at the outskirts of the Philippine summer capital.

Operators, Miners Deadlocked; Expect Government to Step In WASHINGTON (AP)—Soft coal operators and miners are deadlocked over John L. Lewis' demand for a ten cent a ton union royalty, and government intercession appears just a matter of timing.

Negotiating committees representing operators and the United Mine Workers withheld public announcement yesterday but were clearly at a stalemate, marking time for something to happen.

This might be entrance of the United States conciliators into the conferences to try to bring the divergent parties together before the current pay contract expires March 31.

Edward J. Flynn Visits Pope Pius

ROME (AP)—Edward J. Flynn smilingly disclosed after an audience with Pope Pius yesterday that the question of relations between Soviet Russia and the Vatican had been discussed, but "only conversationally," and added that he was bearing no personal message from President Roosevelt to anybody.

Flynn, a personal friend of Roosevelt, arrived in Rome from Moscow Wednesday and was granted the hour-long audience with the Holy See yesterday.

LaGuardia Declares 1 O'Clock Curfew Sensible, Workable

NEW YORK (AP)—Mayor F. H. La Guardia said last night that his "hour of tolerance" for amusement place closing was intended to make the nationwide curfew "workable, enforceable and sensible" as it applied to New York City.

"It is simply construing the existing regulations in such a manner as to make it easily enforced," he said in a prepared broadcast, adding:

"Your mayor is seeking to avoid recurrence of criminal activities, graft, corruption and unlawful operations such as were created by prohibition."

La Guardia suggested that congress could create an "enforceable" curfew by establishing a license system fixing the hours of operation.

He made no reference to the decision of nearly all New York night clubs and theaters, and many taprooms, to close at midnight rather than at 1 o'clock as his action last Sunday permitted.

SUI Added to List Of Guidance Centers For Aiding Veterans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Iowa colleges—Morningside, Iowa State and Iowa State Teachers—and the University of Iowa have been added to the list of new guidance centers to aid veterans.

The centers, which aid veterans in selecting courses to which they are most suited, are established by contracts between the veterans administration and the schools.

Earl of Athlone in U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Earl of Athlone, governor general of Canada, and his wife, Princess Alice, reached Washington yesterday for a two-day visit with President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

They were formally received at a military ceremony on the south grounds of the White House following an informal reception at Union station, where the president and the first lady went to meet their visitors.

Results 'Good' As Superforts Hit Rangoon

CALCUTTA (AP)—A sizeable force of B-29 Superfortresses from India bases attacked Japanese installations around the big Burmese port of Rangoon yesterday with "good to excellent" results, laying at least five bombs squarely in dump areas, the 20th United States bomber command announced.

The attacking Superforts, making their fourth large raid on the Rangoon area in support of allied ground forces driving southward from Mandalay in central Burma, encountered only light anti-aircraft and fighter opposition and completed the mission without a loss.

Yesterday's attacks were centered on supply and storage dumps near Lake Victoria, just north of Rangoon, and on the Mingaladon airfield and cantonment.

A security blackout was slapped on movements of the 20th British armored division pushing southward from the Mandalay area, indicating that a swift drive to liquidate trapped Japanese troops in the Irrawaddy river pocket was under way.

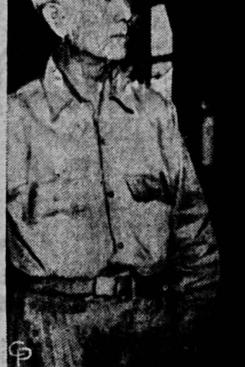

Registration of Nazis With AMERICAN TROOPS IN GERMANY (AP)—

The job of registering and fingerprinting conquered Germans has begun and 10 million registration blanks have been sent to military government detachments in the conquered Rhineland areas. There are not that many people living in the occupied areas at present but AMG authorities expect to use up all the blanks.

The Worst Is Not Yet—Meat to Be Short Until Fall; Eggs to Be Scarce, Too

By Tom Williams
CHICAGO (AP)—United States civilians will be on a light meat diet until autumn—at least. And there's a possibility that there may not be enough eggs, the most popular meat substitute.

The home front, already conditioned to smaller meat rations in many areas, faces a 12 per cent slash in its share for the April-May-June quarter. Packers believe there will be little improvement before fall, when a seasonal increase in the marketing of livestock can be expected.

The government figures the per capita allotment of meat for civilians will drop to an annual rate of 115 pounds in the next three months, the lowest in 10 years.

The American meat institute reports that the situation "bordering on a meat famine in many parts of the country." Further, says the institute, the situation will "get much worse before it gets any better."

Meantime, the Chicago mercantile exchange says the nation also is facing a serious shortage of eggs. It reports national stocks were estimated at 621,000 cases on March 1, compared with 2,808,000 cases on the same date last year.

Egg production is eight per cent under a year ago, thanks to a reduced poultry population and a severe winter. At the same time, the demand for the armed forces has increased and civilian needs also are higher, because of the meat shortage.

Here's the meat situation: Amounts of beef, veal, lamb and pork available are far too short to supply the mounting demands of civilians, lend-lease and the armed forces.

The winter's hog run, sharply reduced by a shortage of farm animals, already is tapering off and few swine will be marketed during the summer. In another six weeks cattle receipts will begin to diminish and will continue small until mid-August.

Officials of packing plants in Chicago, the nation's butcher shop, attribute the meat shortage principally to orders requiring federally inspected slaughterers to set aside most of their kill for the armed forces and lend-lease.

In recent weeks this set-aside has amounted to 60 per cent of the good and commercial steers and heifers, except those of extremely light weights; 70 per cent of all utility steers, heifers and cows; and 80 per cent of all cutters and canners.

One-half the dressed weight of all pork, 75 per cent of the lard produced in most states, 40 to 50 per cent of the good and choice lamb, and 50 per cent of all good, choice and commercial veal also is set aside for government purchase.

Packers regard the shortage of hogs as extremely critical. On Jan. 1, there were approximately 60 million hogs on the nation's farms—22 million fewer than on Jan. 1, 1944. The government requested a reduction in the livestock population last summer because officials feared large surpluses in event of an early peace in Europe and because stocks of corn and other feed grains at that time were small.

Farmers, unable to obtain corn, even at ceiling prices, complied too readily. They cut their herds of hogs 30 per cent instead of 17 per cent—and the wartime demand for pork continued to soar.

The war food administration reversed its crop goals, and farmers were asked to shove the food output up another notch. But it takes time to grow a hog—about 12 months to get it up to market weight.

Meantime, the number of sheep and lambs declined approximately 12 million head and the cattle population dipped slightly.

Total hog marketings through the 12 public stockyards and interior Iowa and southern Minnesota during February were about 58 per cent under the count for February of last year.

Marketings at those centers during the first week in March totaled 406,000 head compared with 897,000 for the week ended March 4, 1944.

Cattle receipts reached large volume in recent weeks—but the kill was not enough to go round. Heavy marketings probably will continue for another six weeks before the seasonal slump.

Crass feed cattle will not be in your corner meat market until August or September, with no real increase until October and November.

The results of liquidation also will be shown in future supplies of beef. Last year 7,769,559 calves were butchered—50 per cent more than in 1943. Normally this young stock would have been sent into corn belt feed lots to be fattened and sold a year later when they would produce an additional two to three hundred pounds of meat.

Heavy marketings of young and unfinished stock have been attributed to OPA price ceilings, other government regulations and the abnormal demand for meat.

For the first time in many months no live poultry was received at the Chicago wholesale market on Monday, March 12, and trade sources said the condition reflected a nation-wide shortage.

FASHION ACADEMY NAMES BEST-DRESSED WOMEN IN AMERICA

Ann Sheridan, screen

Jane Wyatt, all-American

Carole Landis, stage

Mary Livingston, radio

Nadine Connor, opera

Major Juanita Redmond, nurse

Jane Froman, popular music

Vivian Della Chiesa, concert

THE FASHION ACADEMY has announced the names of the 13 best-dressed women of the year together with a special "public life" award for all the women in military uniform. Warning that award winners are required to show "active participation in some phase of the nation's war effort and adaptation of wardrobe to war work," the academy named the fashion winners in 12 fields of activity, eight of whom are pictured above. Major Redmond was named as representative of servicewomen.

Patton Captures Land of Women

By Wade Werner
BAD KREUZNACH, Germany (AP)—It is a land of women which Patton's armored columns have been overrun during the past few days.

The tanks have thrown an iron net around countless towns and villages whose inhabitants had no chance to flee, but they seem to be overwhelmingly women, a few old men and boys only emphasizing the absence of German males.

Yanks are plentiful and there are many men among liberated foreign workers trudging or riding trucks toward rear emergency camps. The hundreds of trucks carrying German prisoners rearward roll swiftly through the villages, leaving clouds of dust and the bewildered women.

The preponderance of women was revealed when an AMG detachment arrived in this health resort and vacation center whose normal population is 30,000. The streets were crowded with women silently watching American traffic.

Others gazed woodenly at smoldering fires from the latest bombing by hit and run Luftwaffe raiders. Bad Kreuznach already had been severely pounded by allied planes and in the final onslaught of armor.

A few years ago Bad Kreuznach would have seemed a tragically battered city. But after Bitburg, Pruem, Wittlich, Mayen and others in the Third Army's path, the first impression is of the large number of houses still standing.

The AMG commander, Capt. S. M. Brown, estimated there were still 20,000 people here—mostly women and children, many of whom were evacuees from other bomb-ridden Rhineland cities.

Brown, a former school superintendent, found the fear of the Gestapo still strong. The former burgomaster, who had been ousted and jailed by the Nazis, was considered eligible to serve under the military government, but could not be persuaded, pleading he was too old. Nevertheless, non-Nazi

Polish Leader Wants Baltic Ports for Nation

MOSCOW (AP)—The Polish press agency said last night that provisional President Boleslaw Bierut told the first Polish troops to reach the Baltic that Poland would get the seaports of Danzig and Stettin as well as its pre-war outlet of Gdynia.

"We are standing on the Baltic coast and will never move from it," Bierut said in his message to the troops.

"The new democratic Poland," he said, "will not be satisfied with a single seaport connected with the country by a narrow strip of land as it was before September, 1939. We shall have the seaports of Danzig, Gdynia and Stettin which will connect us with the entire world of free nations."

Opinion on and off the Campus—What Are Your Plans for Summer?

Ardele James, A1 of Walcott: "I plan to work at the Arsenal in Davenport this summer and hope very much to go into Chicago nearly every weekend."

Betty Lou Towne, A4 of Algona: "I intend to stay here for summer school this summer and hope to get about nine hours credit towards my master's degree."

Fred Laros, A2 of Omaha: "I am going to stay in school this summer, but I want to take a short vacation in Chicago sometime in August."

Jack Nagle, L4 of Davenport: "I'm staying in school this summer and will probably be kept pretty busy."

Ruth Weber, A1 of Muscatine: "I'll probably keep house this summer because my mother is working. I would like to go to Wisconsin for a couple of weeks, but I doubt that I will."

Patricia Coy, A3 of Newton: "I would like to get some kind of work in the office of a manufacturing company."

Sara Wallace, A1 of Ottawa, Ill.: "I am going to spend most of the summer in California enjoying myself. I want to do some swimming, attend a few night clubs, and just have a good time."

John Bressler, A1 of Carson: "I want to go home, loaf and do a lot of fishing."

Myron Lorenzen, A3 of Waterloo: "I am getting married in May and we are going to the Black Hills. Then I'll return to school for the two month session. In August we are going to Colorado for another short vacation."

Pat Kirby, A3 of Greenville: "I'll be taking work in the speech department in Wayne university in Detroit."

Virginia Beach, A1 of Oskaloosa: "I'm going to work in a bank in my home town."

Barbara Krichel, A2 of Keokuk: "I'm just going to loaf."
Frances Schilling, A1 of Jamaica: "I'm going home to sleep and eat."

Marine Corporal Describes First Hours Of Yanks' 26-Day Battle for Iwo Jima

(The following is an eye-witness account of the assault on Iwo Jima during the first hectic hours of the fierce, 26-day battle, by Marine Corp. Arthur L. Natter of New York City, among the first 100 casualties to be returned to the United States. Wounded during the second day of the struggle, he is now resting at the United States naval hospital, San Francisco, Calif. Natter is a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. Natter of New York.)

I started looking for the rest of my outfit. They weren't far away, getting an artillery piece emplaced.

We were about 700 yards from Mt. Suribachi, our target, and fired round after round into the face of that seemingly impregnable fortress. By now the air was filled with shells, and the beach was littered with damaged equipment, dead and wounded marines, and fresh troops scrambling ashore.

That night, about midnight, the Japs opened up with everything they had. They had evidently received information as to our gun position and were concentrating on putting it out of commission.

A giant mortar shell came screaming down out of the sky and landed just a few feet away, missing everything up in general. About six of us were hit, some badly, others not quite so bad. A corpsman came running up and whipped out his battle dressings.

He found me laying there beside the gun numb and dazed and not quite sure just what had happened to me.

Then he took a look at my right arm and started to work on me. After the battle dressings were applied we were taken to a bat-talion aid station on the beach, just a few yards away from the water's edge. The aid station consisted of nothing but an oversized foxhole covered with a tarpaulin but there was a navy doctor in attendance there and with the aid of a flashlight he succeeded in getting my wound patched up.

At approximately 7:30 the next morning we were taken out to a hospital ship which lay a short way off Iwo. I was very much surprised when I saw navy nurses aboard that vessel. I didn't dream there was an American girl within miles of that fiery hell-hole I had just left. They're great girls, afraid of nothing and skilled in the art of making the wounded as comfortable as possible.

Aboard the hospital ship we had hamburger steak, ice cream, and potatoes, the best morale builder I know of.

Reporter George Mills Helps Solve Ironing Board Problem

By Lewis Hawkins
WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY (AP)—Here is one of the favorite stories of Col. A. C. Morgan, commander of the 27th regiment, 70th division, who as assistant commandant of Ft. Des Moines had a leading part in training the first WAC officers.

"We had the barracks all fixed up for the first officer candidates and were already to open up when an Associated Press reporter whose name I can't recall came out from Des Moines to look the place over.

"It already had been inspected by Mrs. Hobby (Col. Oveta Culp Hobby, director of the WAC) and by various generals. Presidents of women's clubs and other women including my wife, and all had agreed that everything was lovely—particularly the thoughtful touch of putting 20 ironing boards and electric irons in each barracks so the girls could keep uniforms neat.

"But that AP reporter—he must have been a married man—took one look at the ironing boards, laughed and said 'that's fine but they won't work.' Then he pointed out that the boards, which let down from the wall, each had a leg which folded down from the end away from the wall and said 'that would be all right for men's trousers which lie on top of the board but a woman slips a skirt over a board and she can't do it with those.'

"Of course he was right and we had to do some fast scrambling around to remake those boards before the first class moved in."

The Des Moines reporter was George Mills, formerly with The Associated Press. Mills is now with the Des Moines Register.

Uncoordinated Fight In Indo-China Hinders Campaign

PARIS (AP)—Serious differences among the allies over the status of French resistance forces within Indo-China are preventing effective coordination of a campaign against the Japanese in that far eastern colony, it was reported reliably yesterday.

For a year and a half the French have persisted in organizing and directing a separate resistance movement within the colony instead of developing units of an overall inter-allied plan. Britain and the United States were said to have encouraged this attitude by failing to decide in which theater Indo-China belongs.

The question was whether the operations are to be part of Lord Louis Mountbatten's southeast Asia command, part of the United States China command, or General MacArthur's southwestern Pacific command. This has not been ironed out even now, it is said.

Official circles said the allies had replied "favorably" to French requests that arms, munitions and food be parachuted into Indo-China. But this reply was received even before General De Gaulle two days ago publicly demanded aid for the far eastern Maqui.

Methodist Students' Spring Conference To Convene in Ames

The Iowa Methodist student movement will hold its annual spring conference at Ames from April 6-8. Delegates from the colleges of Iowa will be limited to 50 in keeping with travel restrictions.

Among those planning to attend from the University of Iowa are Ruth Quinlan, Bette Jacobson, Don Davis, Irene Baldwin, Ethel Miller, Gwen Wager, Meredith Moyers, Dale Dilts, Jean Loomis and Dorothy Steiner.

Dr. Rockwell Smith, professor of Christian ethics at Garrett Seminary in Evanston, Ill., will be the principal speaker on the theme, "Crisis in Community." Dr. Smith will speak on the implications of the Christian faith for both rural and urban living.

Other speakers will include Dr. Frank Lindhorst, area director of religious education for the Methodist church; Mrs. Mary Hazelwood, church leadership expert from Nashville, Tenn.; Allison Hopkinson, Mrs. Ella Bradford and Vic Goff, minister to students at Ames, Cedar Falls and Iowa City, and Libby Anderson, youth minister at Indianola Methodist church.

The conference will start with a party on Friday evening and continue on Saturday at the Lynn Fuhrer Lodge, a short distance from Ames. A banquet and party will be held at the Collegiate Methodist church in Ames on Saturday evening. The Iowa City delegation is in charge of a Saturday party.

There is still opportunity for more Iowa City delegates to go. Those interested should contact Vic Goff at the Methodist student center.

Colorful Rhythms of Teresita, Emilio Osta To Recreate Old Spain for SUI Audience

Iowan Citizens will take a trip south of the Rio Grande when the Latin brother and sister dance team of Teresita and Emilio Osta bring a brilliant program of authentic dances of the provinces of a pre-war Spain in the colorful costumes of our South American neighbors to Iowa Union as an extra attraction of the university lecture series this Monday, March 26 at 8 o'clock.

This is the second appearance in Iowa City for the Osts; their first performance was given in the Union during July of last year to an enthusiastic audience.

Musical Lore
From their varied store of musical lore acquired in countries all over the world by actually living with the peoples to study their music first hand, Teresita and Emilio bring to their audiences the exotic and strange subtleties of an ancient people in such dances as "Joromo" of Venezuela, the "Cueca" from Chile and "El Gato" native to Argentina. One favorite is a colorful peasant number representative of the ancient kingdom of Aragon.

Teresita dances to create vivid pictures to merge one into another in an unbroken flow of beauty. The melodies played by Emilio on the piano, build a backdrop of far off places for the pictures Teresita creates.

Beautiful Costume
One of the most beautiful costumes worn by Teresita is made of white imported French lace which now is no longer available. When her dressmaker threw up her hands in horror at the job of sewing sequins on the costume, Miss Osta got busy and put them on herself.

One of the minor war casualties for the Osts was the unavailability of the vivid wool in flower designs which are typical of the peasant costumes, but being resourceful, Miss Osta converted 15 imported bright yellow, green and red flower-patterned kerchiefs which she discovered in a New York shop into a peasant costume for one of her dances.

Two Local Veterans On Way to Iowa City After Duty Overseas

Two Iowa Citizens, veterans of the Tunisian and Italian campaigns are en route home from the Fifth army front in Italy after serving more than three years overseas.

They are Staff Sergt. Keith Hora, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hora, 813 S. Gilbert street, and Corp. Joseph Mattes, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Mattes, live at 516 E. Burlington street.

Both men were members of the national guard in Iowa City before federal mobilization in February, 1941. They trained at Camp Claiborne, La., with the medics and went overseas in February, 1942.

After further training in Ireland and Scotland, Sergt. Hora and Corp. Mattes took part in the invasion of North Africa, landing at Algiers Nov. 8, 1942. Sergeant Hora is a platoon sergeant. Corporal Mattes is a medical ward attendant.

Lieut. Bill Bowles of Des Moines, recently arrived at a strategic airforce station in England, from where he will soon transfer to his permanent station.

Before entering the army airforces he was enrolled as a pre-law student in the University of Iowa where he was a member of Sigma Nu fraternity. His wife, Mrs. Jean McGrew Bowles, lives in Des Moines.

A former pre-medic at the university, John J. Baird of Cedar Falls, a P-51 Mustang fighter-bomber pilot, has been promoted to the rank of captain.

A veteran of over 120 sorties against the enemy, Captain Baird is a member of the Ninth airforce "Pioneer" fighter group. His group has made a record of nearly 700 enemy aircraft destroyed in 14 months of tactical operations.

Son of Mr. William S. Baird, the Cedar Falls flyer has the Air medal with seven Oak Leaf clusters. He entered the service in January, 1942, and has been on overseas duty with the 19th tactical air command for the past 16 months.

Pfc. James Dunnington, son of Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Dunnington, 214 Jefferson street, returned this week from duty in the South Pacific to spend a 30-day leave with his parents.

Private Dunnington attended the university during the fall semester of 1943 and left in January to enlist in the marine corps. He has been overseas for about a year.

Emilio adds to the colorful dances of Teresita is the mellow tone of Teresita's castanets which she has been using since 1936. To preserve the mellow tones, the castanets are always carried in a green knitted pouch to protect them from extremes of cold and heat.

The combination of Emilio's rhythms at the piano, the colorful costumes of far-away lands on the graceful Teresita and the click-click of her mellow castanets as she dances, is the ticket that transports audiences to Latin America of long ago.

Prof. Craig to Return For Summer Session

Prof. Hardin Craig, head of the English department at SUI from 1918 to 1928, will return to the Iowa campus to teach two courses during the eight-week summer session.

One is a two hour course, Shakespeare's comedies, and the other a three hour course, The Study of Literature, which includes literature as communication, as record, as fine art, and as cultural agency.

After leaving Iowa, Professor Craig went to Stanford university. He retired from there in 1941. Since then he has been teaching at the University of North Carolina.

Professor Craig has been visiting instructor here every summer since he left except last summer when he taught at the University of Washington in Seattle.

The U. S. has approximately 26,000,000 dairy cows.

End for This Jap

IN THE ONLY motion picture scene ever made of a Jap actually fighting back, this Nipponese warrior was snapped as he tossed a miniature bangalore torpedo at a Marine tank a split second before a Leatherneck bullet gave him an honorable discharge from this world. The torpedo—a length of piping jammed with explosives—is seen above the Jap's head. The photo is from the documentary film "Fury in the Pacific" made by combat cameramen of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Forces. (International)

Semi-Finals Open Tonight

Ottumwa Falls Before Muscatine Quintet In Final Seconds

DES MOINES (AP)—Muscatine defeated Ottumwa 29 to 27 in the second game of the opening round of the state basketball championship tournament today as Charles Mason shot a basket for the winners as the gun sounded to end the game.

The Muscatine victory, rather unexpected after the Bulldogs had taken an 18 to 9 halftime lead, followed another sparkling first round battle in which Storm Lake, the underdogs, rallied to oust Dowling of Des Moines, 29 to 28.

Ottumwa, which had shared the Little Six conference title with the Muskies with a 13 to 1 record, performed like champions for their wide halftime lead. The Bulldogs held their foe to only two field goals and five free throws.

Three-Quarter Mark
At the three-quarter mark, with the score 22 to 15, it still looked like Ottumwa.

But Mason collected his first field goal and followed with a free throw in the first minute of the last session.

Ultimately it was 24-24, then 26-24 Ottumwa. Mason right back for a field goal and it was 26-24. Don Ferguson, the expert Ottumwa guard, made a free throw and took the ball out-of-bounds instead of trying his second shot.

With 40 seconds remaining Charley Riek dropped in a free throw for the Little Muskies to tie the count and set the stage for Mason's heroics.

Opening Game
In the opening game of the tournament Storm Lake's big team caught Dowling by surprise as the Northwest challenger blazed back to wipe out the Irish's 26 to 22 three-quarters lead.

The Irish, winner of recent games with exciting finishes, saw Storm Lake turn the trick on them as the Tornadoes showed more poise in the stretch drive.

Jackie Donahue, Dowling star, was held without a field goal and made only four of the 11 chances from the free throw line.

Waverly, the 1944 state high school basketball champions, bowed out of the 1945 race tonight as Ames shattered the Go-Hawks 22-game winning streak, 25-18. The Little Cyclones led all of the way.

Sioux City Central, the lanky challenger from the Northwest, opened the night program with a 66 to 41 victory over Little Genesee, the winners racking up what was believed to be the highest score in tournament history.

Sturdy Defense
Ames' Little Cyclones, throwing up a sturdy defense, eliminated Waverly's defending champions, 25 to 18, in the final first round game to shoot into a semi final round battle with Central.

The Little Cyclones revealed an airtight defense which limited Waverly to just two field goals in the first half and only six in all.

Scoring Honors
With defense dominating the play of both teams, Joe Morton, Go-Hawk guard, copped scoring honors with nine points. For the winners Jerry Galvin and Jim Buck, forwards, fired six points each.

Sioux City led at the half 29-20, pulling way late in the period after a fairly close game. In the second half Central rapidly moved out in front of the Class B school.

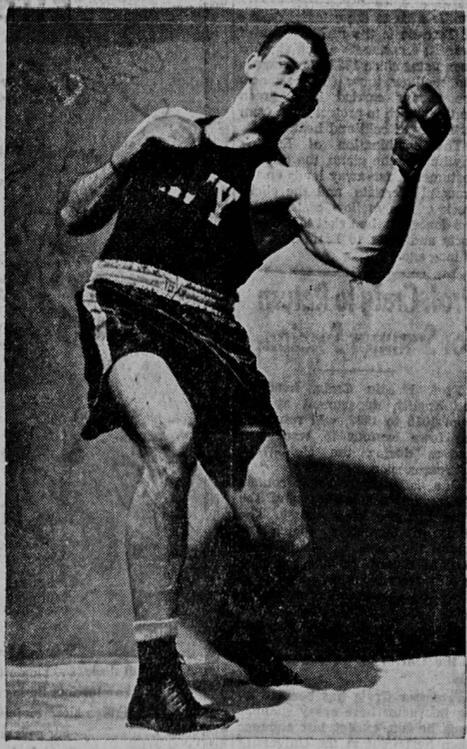

Vic Bianchini and Dudley Ruisch, Central forwards, shared scoring honors with 14 counters apiece while Bob Williamson, who went out on fouls early in the second half, scored 13.

The game's high scorer was Reece Lambert of Genesee who poured in 18 counters.

EXHIBITION GAME
CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo. (AP)—The American League champion St. Louis Browns reaped two runs off three singles and a double while pitchers Sig Jakucki and rookie Al Lamachia shut out Toledo of the American Association on one hit in their first exhibition game of the season Wednesday.

Tourney Pairings

DES MOINES (AP)—Pairings for tonight's semi-final round in the boys' state high school basketball tournament are:
Storm Lake vs. Muscatine at 7:30.
Sioux City (Central) vs. Ames 8:45.

Cadet Boxers End Season At Minneapolis

Winding up their season, the Seahawk boxing team will face the Minneapolis NAS team in a return match at Minneapolis tonight.

The cadets this year have the most successful record in the history of varsity boxing at the Pre-Flight school. They have two victories over Wisconsin, a defeat by and a draw with the Bunker Hill NAS, and a 4 to 3 victory over the same Minneapolis team they meet tonight.

The same series of bouts will be used tonight as that of the match here two weeks ago. There are no contestants available in the 120 and 127-pound division at Minneapolis so there will be two bouts in both the 135 and the 155-pound classifications to fill out the card. A heavyweight fight will be staged giving the schedule eight bouts. The former meeting between the two teams omitted the heavyweight match.

With the addition of the heavyweight and new candidates in the 175, 165, and 145-pound divisions, Lieut. Comdr. Roy Simmons will probably present a tougher team to the Seahawks for the last match of the season.

There will be no changes in the navy lineup that faced Minneapolis before except for the addition of Melvin Levy who has a record of three knockouts in four starts at the heavyweight spot, and Lawrence Hickey who made his first performance for the Seahawks a lively one by scoring a knockout over Ted Chmura of Wisconsin in the third round of the 165-pound event.

Undeclared Bob Wilson who has five straight victories in as many contests and Don McLaughlin, another talented navy performer, will take over the duties in the 135-pound class. Wilson fought in the 145-pound division last week to gain his victory over Sullivan of Wisconsin.

Harold Brady will take the 145 spot again and Walter Kuhla, who, after being defeated by the Minneapolis contestant two weeks ago, came back and scored a sensational second round knockout over the Wisconsin opponent last week, will retain his 155-pound position.

Don Turner, who scored a win by decision in the previous meeting with the Minnesota team, will handle the other 155-pound job for the local team.

Blaine Heaton with three victories will be after his fourth in the 175-pound event tonight. Melvin Levy will finish out the navy lineup for the final event of the match and the season.

Mort Cooper Signs
CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—Morton Cooper, ace right-hander of the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff, has signed a 1945 contract and joined the squad in workouts yesterday. Word also reached camp that utility outfielder Augie Bergamo is en route here.

Melvin Levy—Seahawk Heavy

By MERLE FLEMING
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

State and regional handball champion, a winner of three boxing bouts in seasonal collegiate contests, and a full-fledged petroleum engineer after he has 12 more weeks of study—that's a pocket size record of Melvin Levy, 22-year-old Seahawk heavyweight who is currently causing the sports world to sit up and take notice.

A native of Denver, Col., Levy started on the road to athletic fame at Regus high school. Between his work and study hours, he played handball with the students and faculty members, and though his spare moments were few, he managed to get the knack of the game.

After graduation from high school, he attended the Colorado School of Mines at Golden for three and one-half years, coming within 12 weeks of a degree in engineering. In his last semester he was called into the navy, in July of 1944.

Two Championships
College was not all study for the powerful, sports-loving cadet. During his years at Golden, he capitalized on his handball playing proficiency, and when he attended the Rocky Mountain regional meet at San Francisco in 1942, he was runner-up in the AAU doubles tournament. The next year, he was singles champion in the Rocky Mountain region, and won the title again in 1944.

When the tall Colorado youth arrived at Iowa Pre-Flight, he took up boxing for the first time, getting the necessary ring experience in squadron competition. His new ability came into full focus, for he was one of the chief candidates for the heavyweight position.

Three Kayos
Levy's record on the cadet team has been a commendable one, and he is rated one of the top-ranking heavyweights in boxing. In this season's competition, he has three kayos to his credit, one of them technical and the other two knockdowns. He fights his last bout for the navy tonight at Minneapolis, and then will be transferred to a primary base within the next two weeks.

Y.M.C.A. Champ
Handball, however, seems to be his first love. After scoring a technical knockout, his third of the season, in a boxing match here last Friday night, he went to Cedar Rapids the next afternoon and won his third singles championship, the state Y.M.C.A. handball crown.

Levy's navy career has been entirely in the V-5 aviation cadet program. After his induction last year, he was stationed at William Jewell college, Liberty, Mo., for a period of prep-flight training, coming to the local Pre-Flight school in October.

Leave last January made it impossible for Levy to compete for the regimental boxing title, since

N. C. A. A.—Buckeyes Triumph

By Orlo Robertson
NEW YORK (AP)—Ohio State's rugged basketball team squared accounts for the season with the University of Kentucky last night, scoring a 45 to 37 victory to enter the finals of the N.C.A.A. eastern division championship with New York university.

Putting up a defense that forced the Southeastern conference champions to take most of their shots from outside, the Buckeyes avenged a 62-52 licking they took early in the season before a crowd of 15,584 at Madison Square Garden. New York university whipped Tufts 59-44 and will clash with Ohio State tomorrow night.

It was a roughly fought affair with 21 fouls being called against Ohio State and 18 against Kentucky. Neither team, however, was especially accurate from the free throw line, the Wildcats missing repeated opportunities to close in late in the game when the Ohioans were protesting a 10-point lead.

Both teams lost their chief operatives six minutes from the end when Arnold Risen, Ohio's six-foot, nine-inch center, went out on personals and Jack Tingle, slippery Kentucky forward, suffered a badly sprained ankle.

Ohio State never trailed, although the score was tied twice in the first half before Rod Caudill led a sprint that gave the Buckeyes a 21-15 margin at the intermission. With Don Grate finding the range, the Big Ten boys opened up a 12-point margin early in the second period but Tingle went off on a scoring spree that made the game an argument until he left the game.

Grate and Caudill paced the winners with 15 and 14 points, respectively, while Tingle was Kentucky's No. 1 scorer with 11 tallies.

Halldorsson To Compete

Jonas Halldorsson, 30-year-old distance swimmer from Iceland has been chosen to represent Iowa in the National Collegiate swimming meet at Ann Arbor, Mich., March 30 and 31, Coach David Armbruster announced yesterday.

Halldorsson will swim the 440-yard free style and the 1,500 meter free style in the national meet. Halldorsson has not swum the longer distance in competition this season, but he won the 440 against Illinois and Illinois Tech. The Iceman racked up 35 points during the dual meets this year to finish second to Captain Bernie Walters in the scoring.

According to an unofficial agreement among the Big Ten coaches, no coach will enter a man in the national meet who did not take points in the Big Ten meet, and under this rule, only Walters, Halldorsson and the medley relay team were eligible.

Walters and the relay team felt that the time lost from studies as the result of such a trip would be too great and declined to go.

He was home in Colorado when the bouts were held. His plans after the war are the same as many cadets who have not quite completed their education—he is going back to school. After that he isn't sure about his future, but one thing he is certain of now is that he will not do any more amateur boxing.

"If I'm going to be beaten up, I want to get paid for it," he says. "I still think boxing is a lot of fun, and more teen age boys should get the chance at it."

About his navy career, he says, "I'm an aviator who hasn't aved, and a sailor who hasn't sailed!"

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES
This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief
Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking up acids, swelling, poisons under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with a burning and stinging sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.
Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Maybe So

Mighty Mikan

YOU PROBABLY KNEW we were going to talk about it anyway, but we hope you will pardon us if we mention it in the midst of this sizzling state basketball business—we understand Muscatine will have a new school song next year, something in the nature of "Hail Charley Mason, We Love You." What we had in mind was George Mikan of DePaul.

If you took even a peep at yesterday's sports pages you will know that Mr. Mikan's 6 feet and 9 inches of even-better-than-you-thought basketball player. As the moment he is engaged in the process of trying to place the Blue Demons in the position of "best" in the nation. We are willing to bet you a Kool cigarette—nothing more potent—that Giant George will do it, too.

It all began last Monday night when DePaul played its first round game in the National Invitation tournament at Madison Square Garden. On this occasion they defeated West Virginia by a margin of 72 to 56. Mikan gluffed the hoops with 33 points.

The night before last the Demons took on an old pal of ours, Rhode Island State, in the semifinal round of the extravaganza. Our Rams went into the fray with an offensive average of 85.5 points per game. The final score, amazing in itself, was 97 to 53—favor of DePaul.

But the real triumph of the evening belongs to Mikan, who appears to be basketball's only one-man combination. Believe it or not—courtesy of Ripley—he actually matched the entire total of the whole Rhode Island team—53 points. Adding to other records George has splintered so far he now has a total of 86 points in two nights play.

Considering the fact that he does have to lug that tremendous height around with him all the time you might suppose that Mikan would be a little awkward—from the altitude if from nothing else. Well, a couple of years back this was very true. We saw him play in Madison Square Garden at that time and he looked like Mortimer Snerd in high society.

It is hardly necessary to say that, since those days, George has learned what to do with his feet. The Invitation has now reached the final stage and, on March 26, DePaul will face Bowling Green for the title. George won't forget much between now and then.

Romero Macias, Woltz To Compete Tonight

Romero Macias and Jim Woltz of the Hawkeye wrestling team will wrestle their first bouts in the preliminaries of the National AAU meet in Dallas, Texas, tonight.

Macias, twice 128-pound champion of the Big Ten and captain of the 1945 Iowa mat squad, won matches in the dual meets against Minnesota and Wisconsin and went on to take the Big Ten crown. He is undefeated since enrolling in the University of Iowa last year.

The other Iowa entry in the national meet, Jim Woltz, is a product of the wrestling classes held in connection with the university's physical education program. He enrolled in the class last fall and went out for the varsity squad. Although lacking in previous experience, the 155-pounder was undefeated in dual meets this season and placed in the Big Ten championship meet.

Coach Davis Announces Five Permanent Posts

BACK AT LAST

By Jack Sords

Twelve Hurlers Seek Diamond Assignments

Pitcher, Catcher, Two Outfield Positions Still Undecided by Coaches

Coach Waddy Davis has announced the permanent lineup for five of the nine positions on the Hawkeye baseball team, with the left and right field, pitcher and catcher posts still in doubt as the Hawks go into their second week of outdoor workouts.

Bob Schulz will play first base; Leo Cabalka, second base; Jerry Walsler, third base; Henry Quinn, shortstop; and Pat Greive, center field. In left field, George Knack is battling it out with Jack Kelso, and in the right garden spot Paul Fagerlind appears to have the nod, with Bill Anderson a strong contender.

Catcher Undecided
Although the catching post is still undecided, Joe Zulfier shows the most promise, and will probably see a good deal of action during the season. Davis, however, lauded the improvement of Russ McLaughlin and indicated that the Audubon freshman will also be a great asset behind the plate.

The best-stuffed position on the team is that of pitcher. Six of the 12 hurlers are showing almost equal ability as top-flight contenders, presenting Davis and Maury Kent with quite a problem in making their permanent selections.

Six Able Pitchers
Max Smith will probably be number one hurler this season, but he will have able support from Wilmer Hokanson, Gene Hoffman, Paul Fagerlind, George Knack and Allen McCord.

"We can't tell about the pitchers yet, other than that they are all pretty good," Davis said. "It will take an actual game with some good hitters to sift off the best. Ottumwa will give us such a test, because they have a strong team, and the pitchers that are able to hold them will have proved their worth."

The Hawks dispensed with their usual intra-squad game yesterday, and buckled down to the business of polishing individual play. Defensive setups were emphasized during the two and a half hour drill, and Davis coached his men in cutoffs and outfield play. Coach Kent conducted a stiff infield workout toward the end of the session.

Davis appeared more optimistic than ever about the hitting situation, which began to show improvement early this week. He is planning a nine-inning game Saturday between the squads, and hopes through this to discover the men behind the sporting talent which has become apparent recently.

Borowy Joins Yankees
ATLANTIC CITY (AP)—Hank Borowy, highest ranking pitcher for the New York Yankees last year, joined his teammates yesterday, but the entire squad was forced indoors for the second straight day.

Twenty-two players took calisthenics in an abandoned navy hangar whose concrete floor made batting impossible.

University High Track Squad Opens Season Saturday, March 31

About a dozen University high men have been working out the past few weeks under Dr. M. F. Carpenter in preparation for the first meet of the season Saturday, March 31. At that time the Rivermen will face opponents from all conference schools at the Iowa fieldhouse.

This event, the Eastern Iowa conference meet, will be the only indoor contest on the Blue Hawk schedule, and will be followed by such events as the Marion relays, Teachers college relays and the outdoor conference meet.

Leading contenders for places on the team are Eric Wilson Jr., senior sprinter who last year broke the existing state record for the 440-yard dash at the Marion relays, and Jim Williams, who is showing up well as a broad-jumper.

Dr. Carpenter expects the team to be strong in the sprint events, and the relay teams are expected to show up well this year. Several distance runners who have participated in cross-country track are also expected to turn in commendable performances during the season.

Among the toughest jobs ahead for the U-high mentor will be those of developing weight men and jumpers, especially in the

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY KRUPP WORKS GETS THE WORKS

FOR THE FIRST TIME in history the great Krupp Arms Works, above, at Essen, Germany, home of the monster gun "Big Bertha" and all her kin, is under Allied shelling. It is the initial taste of their own medicine for the factories and workers—the medicine they delighted in giving to Paris in the last war and to Dover in this one. Over 200 square miles of Germany's most densely populated and most highly industrialized territory lies under the muzzles of our big guns. (International)

Prof. H. B. Cheney Outlines Soil-Saving Measures for Rotarians, County Farmers

Stating that the large crops which Iowa farmers have produced the past three seasons, the largest crops in history, have reduced seriously the fertility of the soil, Prof. H. B. Cheney, extension agronomist of Iowa State college, outlined the measures which can be taken to save the soil of Iowa.

He spoke at the annual Farmer Friend luncheon of the Iowa City Rotary club in Hotel Jefferson yesterday. Members of Rotary invited farmers of the county as their special guests.

"The intensive farming methods which farmers have had to use to produce large crops for the war effort have allowed erosion to take away a serious amount of the valuable top soil as well as depleting the fertility of the soil," Professor Cheney explained.

He advocated the following farming methods to reduce loss from erosion and increase fertility:

1. Growing of alfalfa, clover and other legume crops to build up nitrogen in the soil. "The soil of Iowa is especially deficient in nitrogen," Professor Cheney said.
2. Increased practice of contour farming.
3. Combining strip farming with contour farming.
4. More widespread practice of crop rotation.
5. Building bench terraces on the slopes to keep the water from running off.
6. Keeping waterways, draws, in the fields planted in grass sod to prevent gullies from starting.

Iowa State college soil experts have made many farming tests to determine the best methods of soil conservation. In one of their tests they found that there was a difference of corn yield of 30 bushels from fields planted in corn after one and two years from the season that the fields were planted in alfalfa.

In another test, one field was planted in corn season after season for 12 years while a nearby field was rotated between corn, legumes and other crops. The first field yielded 86 bushels to the acre.

"An inch of topsoil is lost through erosion every four years from a field that is planted continuously in one crop while an inch is lost only every 15 years from a field that is rotated," Professor Cheney explained.

The use of lime as a fertilizer helps but is not sufficient to enrich the soil properly. In addition to lime, phosphates and potash must also be restored to the fields of Iowa.

"Burning cornstalks is really throwing valuable nitrogen to the winds," the soils expert asserted. Cornstalks should be plowed under so that the nitrogen contained in them is not lost.

Contour and strip farming results in greater yields and saving the soil and is an easier method of farming and requires less labor and power. Strip farming breaks up the slopes into shorter slopes and thereby helps to hold the water and keep it from running off and carrying the top soil with it.

Terrace farming on slopes can be done with simple equipment and is an excellent soil conservation practice.

Terracing is not a new theory but has been used by the Chinese for centuries. With colored slides Professor Cheney showed how the Chinese had built up bench terraces with hand labor over the centuries.

"Iowa has 25 per cent of the best farming land in the United States," Professor Cheney asserted. "That is worth preserving."

The fertility of the soil is the basis of our civilization. It affects all the people. "The people of the cities and towns can do a great deal in helping the farmers to practice methods which will prevent erosion and build up soil fertility," he concluded.

SEEK COUNCIL POSITION

ROY EWERS, 1530 Muscatine avenue, Republican candidate for councilman from the 5th ward, is employed by the U. S. Geological survey. A graduate of St. Patrick's high school in 1931, he was a student in the college of engineering from 1932 to 1935. Cooper was employed during 1941-42 by the Chicago Ordnance district in the tank and automotive branch and did research work on the Missouri river flood control at Omaha, Neb., during 1942-43. Cooper is married and has two daughters, Roberta, 6, and Dorothy, 3.

Association Elects Emeritus Life Member

Prof. Edward Bartow, retired head of the chemistry department, has been recently elected an emeritus life member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

In 1911, the sum of $5,000 was bequeathed to the association, subject to condition that the principal should be preserved and the income from it used for establishing emeritus life memberships.

Previous to this year 151 members of the association whose memberships were of long standing had been elected members of this group. At present 55 of them are still living. This year it was possible to elect 15 new life members.

Prof. Bartow was elected to the association in 1906. He retired as head of the chemistry department here at the university in 1940.

Party Line—Spring Formals

"The Cloudburst," annual spring formal, will be held for members of Alpha Delta Pi sorority and their guests at the chapter house tomorrow evening from 8:30 to 11:30 with the Avalon orchestra, directed by Bob Horne, providing the music for dancing.

Monte Ecarius, A1 of Sioux Falls, S. D., is general chairman of the semi-formal party which will take place in an atmosphere of pink and silver clouds accented by spotlights.

Assisting on the committee are Janet MacTavish, A3 of Esterville; Mary Elizabeth Bell, A3 of Colfax; Anne Gilman, A2 of Ames, and Judy Brennan, A3 of Marshalltown.

Chaperones for the "Cloudburst" will include Dr. and Mrs. E. V. Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Armbruster, Mrs. George Coble of Aurora, Ill., and Mrs. Alta McClenahan, Alpha Delta Pi house-mother.

Plans for the "Spring Fling," annual spring formal party of Zeta Tau Alpha sorority, are being made for tomorrow evening at the chapter house. A buffet supper will begin the evening's activities, after which the guests will dance to records.

In charge of arrangements are Marvella Gregg, A1 of Rock Island, Ill., and Jan Keel, A1 of Villa Park, Ill. Committees include Joyce Kearsing, A2 of Spring Valley, N. Y., program; Dorothy Pederson, A4 of Clear Lake, music; Norma Stemple, A2 of Ft. Madison; Marian Howard, A1 of Des Moines; Lorraine Bryant, A1 of Muscatine; Peggy Green, A2 of Louisiana, Mo.; Jean Hawley, A1 of Davenport; Elizabeth Peterson, A1 of San Diego, Calif.; Mary Jane Quinn, C3 of Riverside, and Rosa Lee Shay, A3 of Maloy, decorations; Betty Lou Paris, A2 of Keota; Cecilia Lauferweiler, A3 of Ft. Dodge; Gloria Barbee, A1 of Centerville, and Maxine Holler, A1 of Davenport, refreshments.

Chaperoning the affair will be Mrs. Hazel Miller, Dr. and Mrs. C. I. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howe, and Dr. and Mrs. I. A. Rankin.

In honor of all Currier women who received a three point or above grade point average last semester, a buffet supper will be given Sunday at 5:30 p. m. in the south recreation room of Currier hall. Pat Emal, A3 of Iowa Falls, is in charge of the party.

Donna Nelson, A3 of Humboldt, will be featured in a tap dance as a part of the floor show which will also include several vocal selections by Rosalie Smith, A1 of Macedonia, and a reading by Helen Caro, A3 of Highland Park, Ill.

On the committee for the party for "three pointers" are Dolores Thomure, A3 of Bonne Terre, Mo.; Jean Dawson, A1 of Des Moines; Marjorie Miller, A1 of Hillsboro; Muriel Burnell, A1 of Cedar Rapids; Frances Falck, A1 of Decorah, and Betty Jane Atkinson, A1 of Cedar Rapids.

Spring will be the theme of the buffet supper and the table will be centered with a bowl of spring flowers.

Pledges of Theta Xi fraternity will give a party for the actives at 8 o'clock tonight at the chapter house. Chaperones will be Prof. and Mrs. John Russ and Prof. and Mrs. Louis Zopf. Kenneth Nielson, A2 of Ringsted, is chairman of the party committee.

The first seven ribs in the body are called true ribs, the next three false and the last two floating ribs.

Proprietor Pleads Innocent to Charge

Henry Musack, proprietor of Musack's pool room, 221 S. Du-street, plead not guilty in police court yesterday to a charge of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor with intent to bootleg.

At the preliminary hearing Police Judge John Knox bound Musack over to the district court and set bond at $500.

Student From Bagdad To Speak at Vespers For Presbyterians

Bismat Theodorus of Bagdad, a graduate student in biochemistry, will speak at the 4:30 Sunday vesper services at the Presbyterian church on "Bizarres of Bagdad."

Miss Theodorus attended grade school in Iraq where 95 per cent of the people are Mohammedans. She received her degree in medicine from the American University of Beirut in Lebanon, and taught science in a Bagdad high school for girls before coming to this country.

A skilled linguist, Miss Theodorus speaks Arabic, Assyrian, Kurdish, French and English. Arabic, the national language in Iraq, is required in the schools. After the vesper service supper will be served. Mary Louise Miller, Marilyn Fontaine, Louella Bare and Bill Smith are in charge of arrangements. Bill Burey will supervise the recreational hour.

YMCA Executive To Talk at Meeting

Hillis Houser, boys' work secretary of the national Y. M. C. A., will speak on "How to Play" at the University of Life meeting for high school students Sunday at 7:30 p. m. at the Presbyterian church.

Houser, now a graduate student in the university, was president of the Y. M. C. A. while an undergraduate.

Church Plans Good Friday Observance

Trinity Episcopal church will again be host to the community at the traditional three hour service of Good Friday March 30. The service will consist of hymns, prayers and meditations on the seven last words of Christ upon the cross led by guest ministers from various Iowa City churches.

The service will begin at 12 noon and continue until 3 p. m. An introductory meditation will be given by the Rev. Fred W. Putnam, rector of Trinity church. The meditations on the last seven words will be given by the Rev. Irlon T. Jones, the Rev. Elmer E. Dierks, the Rev. Victor Goff, the Rev. James Waery, the Rev. Donavan Grant Hart, the Rev. David Shippey and the Rev. Lewis L. Dunnington.

Ushers for the service will be vestrymen of Trinity church. Prof. Winifred T. Root of the history department, Prof. Vance M. Morton of the dramatic art department, Prof. M. F. Carpenter of the English department, Roy J. McGinnis, President Virgil M. Hancher, William Cameron, Prof. B. V. Crawford of the English department and Senator LeRoy Mercer.

John Adams will be organist. Those unable to remain for the whole service are urged to attend during the hour most convenient for them, Reverend Putnam said.

CANDIDATES FOR ALDERMAN

ADOLPH N. BOEYE, Republican candidate for alderman from the third ward, is a buyer for Bremer's. He is a veteran of the first World War and a member of the American Legion. He is also a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Boeye is married, has two children and lives at 830 N. Dodge street. With 25 years of business experience behind him, he promises to assist in continuing the business-like administration of Mayor Teeters if elected.

THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE for alderman from the third ward is Charles T. Smith, senior laboratory assistant in the state hygienic laboratory for the past 15 years. A resident of Iowa City for 39 years, he was educated in the public schools and now lives at 906 E. Davenport street. He is a member of St. Wenceslaus church and the Eagles and Moose lodges and Company C of the state guard. He is married and has one son, Leland, eight years old.

SERG. CALVIN SMITH WITH HIS 'KP'S DREAM'

An Iowa City boy makes good. At least the news release from an army air station in Abadan, Iran, indicated that Sergt. Calvin L. Smith was a hero to the GI's in the Persian gulf command. They are searching now for just the right kind of medal to decorate his uniform. The story came from Iran like this:

"Sergeant Calvin L. Smith of 418 S. Madison street, is a hero to the GI's who pull KP in this army air base. In fact, the Iowan will be a hero to millions of GI's throughout the world if his "invention" ever catches on with the army—for Sergeant Smith is the builder of an electric potato peeling machine. That, to any soldier or ex-soldier who has ever been confronted by a few bushels of potatoes to peel by hand, is great news!

"Sergeant Smith got the idea for his potato-peeling machine one day when he was a corporal—and seated in back of the headquarters mess hall with a pile of spuds in front of him. A few days later he presented the machine to the mess sergeant.

"After a few trials, the mess sergeant was very pleased. In the first place the "KP's Dream" turns out more potatoes in an hour than a dozen KPs could do in a day. It also enables the mess to use small potatoes otherwise thrown away because they are too small to peel by hand."

"But, most important, the mess sergeant doesn't get any more hurt looks when he tells his KPs to peel potatoes."

The sergeant's machine is powered by a vertically-set 3/4-electric motor which revolves the platform in the bottom of the drum through a couple of belts, pulleys and a reduction gear.

An old boiler is used as the drum. The inside surface has been scratched and roughened—that's the part that does the peeling—by Smith's spot welding torch.

Water flowing through the machine carries away the peelings. When the potatoes are peeled, a touch of a lever tumbles the finished spuds into a cooking pot.

Sergeant Smith returned to the United States recently for re-assignment. But he left the electric potato peeler behind as a gift to the grateful squadron members in Iran.

Driver Fined $5

Mrs. Herman Good was fined $5 in police court yesterday for driving without a driver's license. Police Judge John Knox suspended $3 of the fine.

Samuel F. B. Morse, who invented the telegraph, painted the portrait of Lafayette which hangs in New York's City Hall.

The expression "pin money" refers to the allowance men gave their wives in the 16th century for pins, which were a luxury.

National Defense, War Production Supplants Classes in Japan

Teen-age girls learn military drills.

BEGINNING April 1 and continuing for one year, school children living in Japan will have completed their formal education upon graduation from the first grade. This announcement comes from Tokyo and the reason offered for this sudden halt in the Japanese educational program is that it will be necessary for school children and teachers to devote their entire attention to national defense and war production. Photos shown illustrate the type of education which will take the place of the usual classroom study. (International)
