Soviet Forces Only 33 Miles From Vienna

Russians Gain On 300-Mile Front; Moravia Invaded

LONDON, Sunday (AP)—Russian tanks, knifing up to 11 miles inside Austria, smashed through outflanked and tottering Nazi defenses south of Vienna yesterday within 33 miles of the Austrian capital and 12 miles from its southern bastion of Wiener Neustadt, Moscow disclosed last night.

Simultaneously, Red army spearheads rolled 22 miles across southwestern Hungary, stabbing to the Austrian border at a new point only 39 miles east of the key city of Graz and 117 miles from Italy.

In a day of powerful Red army gains all along a 300-mile front stretching from German Silesia across Slovakia and Hungary to the Yugoslav frontier, other Soviet troops cracked Bratislava's Vah river defense line 27 miles east of the Slovak capital.

On the northern roads to Vienna and Prague, Red army troops in upper Silesia captured the German strongholds of Ratibor and Bieskau in a drive toward the Moravian gap gateway to Adolf Hitler's inner Czechoslovak fortress. These troops made the first allied invasion of Moravia, striking into that territory by capturing Zauditz, seven miles southwest of Ratibor.

Moscow's nightly war bulletin announced that marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's Third Ukrainian army had swept into Austria on a curving 25-mile front, driving 11 miles inside the frontier to capture Kirschlag, 45 miles south of Vienna.

To the north the invading Russians captured Wiesmath, 12 miles south of Wiener Neustadt, great aircraft manufacturing city 22 miles south of the Austrian capital and 155 miles east of Hitler's Bavarian mountain retreat at Berchtesgaden. They were 11 miles from the main railroad linking Vienna with Italy.

Tolbukhin's troops were sweeping toward Vienna from the south on an 18-mile front Wiesmath west to the southwestern shores of the Neusiedler See (lake).

Allied Aerial Force Continues Assault On Ryukyu Islands

GUAM, Sunday (AP)—The thundering allied air fleet and air attacks on the Ryukyu island bridge to Japan apparently neared a peak of fury today as Tokyo declared an invasion "armada" was moving on the key island, Okinawa.

Aircraft and guns of the combined American and British Pacific fleets, operating under the United States fifth fleet command of Adm. Raymond A. Spruance, struck all along the Ryukyu chain. As the attack went through its ninth consecutive day yesterday, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz issued two communiqués indicating the assault was being intensified. There was reason to believe its intensity had reached a degree hitherto unmatched in the Pacific war. But Nimitz still made no mention of a landing.

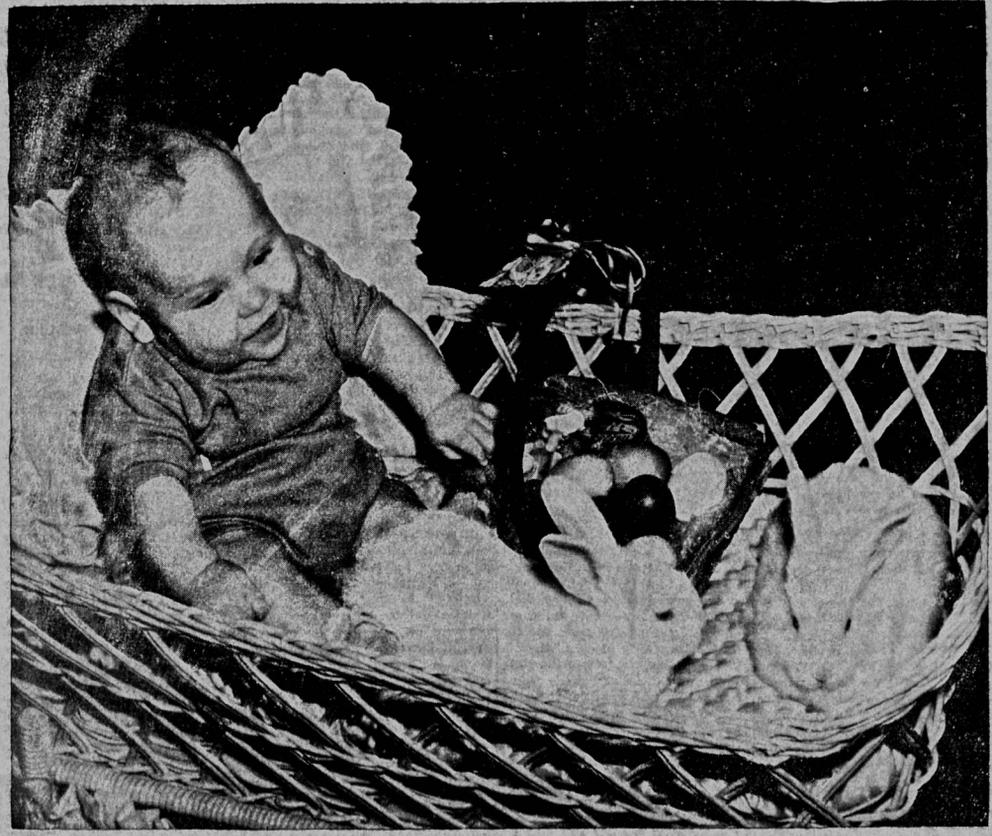

United States warships and planes centered their shelling and bombing on Okinawa "at close range."

Japan Reassigns 71 Generals to Effect Battlefield Transfer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—While American Superforts bombed Japan and United States and British warships pounded the Ryukyu islands south of the enemy homeland, Tokyo radio yesterday reported a "drastic reshuffle" of Nipponese generals.

A broadcast heard by the FCC said 19 lieutenant generals and 52 major generals were given new assignments in the "resolute" move to "transfer the homeland into a battlefield."

EASTER BUNNIES IGNORE QUARANTINE SIGN

A BIG YELLOW "MEASLES" sign tacked on the front porch at 118 E. Bloomington did not frighten two white cuddly Easter bunnies who early this morning visited Steven Ray Huffman, 5 months old son of Lieut. and Mrs. L. E. Huffman. The measles didn't bother Stevie in the least as he got better acquainted with his early callers. His dad flies a Corsair fighter in the Philippines for the marines and took pre-flight training in Iowa City. Both Stevie and his mother, Jean Irwin Huffman, plan for the lieutenant to be home next Easter when they'll celebrate without the measles.

5,000 Planes Hit Nazi Targets From Austrian Alps to Baltic

LONDON (AP)—Five thousand allied planes attacked priority targets from the Austrian Alps to the Baltic coast in shrinking German air yesterday, rounding out a record month in which it is estimated 165,000 tons of bombs were hurled on the Reich.

The German radio reported that allied bombers were over Germany again last night.

In yesterday's operations 1,300 of the Eighth airforce's Flying Fortresses and Liberators, escorted by 850 Mustangs and Thunderbolts, raided war plants and railroads in Halle, Brunswick and Brandenburg and what was believed to be Germany's only remaining big synthetic oil plant at Zeitz, 25 miles southwest of Leipzig.

Six bombers and three fighters were lost by the Eighth airforce. American fighters shot down six German planes, including three jet-propelled aircraft.

The German airforce made feeble and scattered attacks on

Maintenance of Soft Coal Production Ordered by WLB

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war labor board yesterday ordered soft coal production to be maintained indefinitely under terms of the contract expiring last night, with any pay changes retroactive to that time.

President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers, whose union has voted him authority to call a strike if he deems it necessary, said the miners were willing to "accede to the order of the WLB." The operators announced they would accept the order "without qualification."

They had asked for an arrangement to provide that any retroactive pay provisions in the eventual new contract be limited to cover only 30 days. The board set no limitation.

This means that it takes two or three months to work out an acceptable contract, and it carries higher pay rates than the old one, the higher rates shall apply to all the time from April 1 on.

Lewis and the operators have been negotiating for a month without any real agreement.

Russia Asks Place For Warsaw Poles At San Francisco

LONDON (AP)—Russia has asked that the Warsaw Polish provisional government be seated at the San Francisco world security conference and has been promptly told by Britain and the United States that this was "out of the question," it was announced last night.

Britain sent a memorandum to Russia saying she did not agree with the Soviet suggestion, and expressed hope that the Moscow committee set up at the Yalta conference would agree on the names of Poles "from inside and outside" the country who would be asked to meet in Moscow to discuss the formation of a broadly based united Polish provisional government.

This rift in big three diplomatic harmony was disclosed by the Soviet official news agency Tass which said that Moscow had made the request and "expected an early reply" from Britain and the United States.

Diplomatic quarters said that it was felt here that British acquiescence would constitute in effect recognition of the Warsaw regime and diminish hope of forming a coalition government with representatives from Poles both at home and abroad—as agreed at Yalta.

Allied Armies Seize 1,142,224 Germans On European Fronts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Allied armies on the eastern and western fronts have captured at least 1,142,224 Germans since Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt launched his Dec. 16 offensive against General Eisenhower's troops, a recapitulation of the latest official figures showed last night.

During the period, including the defensive battle of the bulge and the subsequent smashing of the Nazis' Rhine line, allied troops on the western front up to Saturday had taken 552,261 prisoners.

Longest-Ruling Monarch STOCKHOLM (AP)—King Gustav of Sweden will become his country's longest-reigning monarch today—and the chances are that he will celebrate by playing tennis.

If he does not play, it will be only because the weather still is a bit too crisp to play outdoors at his beloved Drottningholm castle outside Stockholm.

Beef Subsidy Cut Cancelled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The OPA yesterday cancelled a scheduled cut in the beef subsidy to non-processor packers as a result of a court finding that these slaughterers are not breaking even financially.

If this study has not been completed by May 10, an interim adjustment amounting to 40 cents a hundred pounds and retroactive to April 1 will be made, OPA said.

The action affecting non-processor packers eliminates a cut from 80 to 30 cents a hundred pounds in the special subsidy to these fresh-beef-only slaughterers. The reduction was slated to go into effect today.

German Suicide Charge

WITH THE U. S. FOURTH ARMORED DIVISION, March 30 —(Delayed by Censor) (AP)—German Maj. Gen. Hans Boehlsen, who was captured by the Fourth armored division yesterday, predicted today that Adolf Hitler would try to lead a final suicide charge in which he would die in order to become a martyr.

15th Army Enters Drive—Fury of Attack Mounts Steadily

By Elton C. Fay
Associated Press War Analyst
The fury of the allied attack east of the Rhine has mounted steadily for a week.

If the enemy had hoped the gigantic offensive might begin to show signs of slowing because of extended supply lines and a swiftly expanding battle front area, he was disillusioned yesterday.

It was disclosed that the new 15th army, commanded by Lieut. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, under wraps for weeks, had gone into action.

The balance of manpower, already heavily against the Germans, thereby increased. During the last week the Wehrmacht has been losing men by capture alone, not including tens of thousands killed and still more wounded, at the rate of about two divisions a day on the western front.

The exact position of the 15th in the battle line was not disclosed immediately, but it is part of the

After V-E Day Byrnes Sees—Slower Reconversion

WASHINGTON (AP)—James F. Byrnes told the American people yesterday that the nation's factories will be free to produce nearly a third more civilian goods within nine months after Germany falls.

This is a slower reconversion rate than was expected last fall. Nevertheless it means that, even before Japan is whipped, Americans should be able to buy in limited amounts many items, from automobiles on down, which they have been denied for years. Of course there will be a wait while materials are being processed into finished goods.

He said that "price, wage and rationing controls must be continued after V-E day," and that "we must retain the present high rate of taxes."

And, he added, Americans will not eat quite as well in 1945 as in 1944 and will be called upon to share their food with the armed forces and with liberated peoples.

Conceding the present division of authority has meant waste and duplication, Byrnes asked congress to give early consideration to legislation bringing the army, navy and airforce into a single department of national defense after the war.

He outlined reconversion plans and pledges in his second quarterly report to President Roosevelt, the senate and house on operations of the office of war mobilization and reconversion.

He emphasized, however, that there still must be "full steam ahead on war production."

40th Infantry Takes Negros Island Capital

Land-Based Planes Sink 14 Jap Ships Along Chinese Coast

MANILA, Sunday (AP)—Maj. Gen. Rapp Brush's 40th division infantry, moving so fast that Japanese were unable to explode prepared demolition charges, captured Bacolod, capital city of Negros island, Friday while Gen. Douglas MacArthur's land-based planes destroyed 14 ships, including three destroyers, as they pursued their aerial blockade of the Chinese coast.

The Yanks seized Bacolod, population 50,000, on the second day of their invasion of Negros, last large enemy held island in the Philippines. With capture of the capital city, only three Philippine cities of comparable size—Baguio and Legaspi on Luzon and Davao on Mindanao—remain in Japanese hands. Two of those, Baguio and Davao, were heavily bombed, and first corps troops pushed three miles nearer Baguio along the Naguilian-Baguio road.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, announcing the capture today, said Brush's division crossed two rivers, the Magunday and Lupit—saving all bridges in so doing—as they made a sweeping envelopment to seize Bacolod.

Japanese Resistance Collapsing in Burma

CALCUTTA (AP)—Japanese resistance is crumbling in the entire central Burma pocket and, with the major escape routes sealed, there appeared every prospect yesterday that between 20,000 and 30,000 enemy troops might be liquidated as soon as the allied command is ready to draw tight its cordons of British, Indian and Chinese forces.

Kyaukse, a key point on the main Burmese railway line 24 miles south of Mandalay, is now in British hands. Japanese commanders evidently are seeking to regroup. Kyaukse was occupied after a bitter two-week battle.

B-29's Raid Jap Kyushu, Honshu Islands

21st U. S. BOMBER COMMAND HEADQUARTERS, Guam, Sunday (AP)—Superfortresses, in twin blows against prime industrial targets and military objectives in the Japanese homeland, blasted Kyushu and Honshu islands Saturday.

A large force, estimated at about 150 of the sky mammoths, rained bombs on Kyushu, southernmost of Japan's main island chain. A smaller force returned to the attack on Honshu island, again hitting Nagoya, the great industrial city and a center of Nippon's aircraft production.

Radio Tokyo, noting the relentless Superfort blows against southern Japan's "airfields and airfield installations," guessed that the attacks were in support of "landing attempts" at Okinawa, in the strategic Ryukyu chain which extends southwestward from Kyushu to Formosa.

The Saturday daylight mission to Kyushu was a precision bombing raid against such targets as the Tachiarai machine shops.

'Final Battle' Of West Front In Progress

Eisenhower Broadcasts Surrender Invitation To Isolated Enemy

PARIS, Sunday (AP)—The allies clamped a steel deathlock around the Ruhr basin last night but Germans fought savagely in an effort to break out northeastward toward Berlin, now only 170 miles away, and there was no sign that they were ready to accede to General Eisenhower's new demand for surrender.

"This is the final great battle of the west," wrote Associated Press Correspondent Hpl Boyle from Paderborn, six-way road hub in which the battle of annihilation centered.

The battered Nazi cohorts, fighting fiercely, gave every indication they intended to battle to the last. There were indications that remnants of the German armies, forming as best they were able, were massing along the river Weser for a final stand and possibly a desperate, last-ditch counteroffensive, inspired by Hitler.

High allied officers were confident that such a suicidal offensive would shatter against the ring of allied steel but admitted it might result in a bloody finish to the war.

American combat officers gave no evidence of the obvious jubilation of supreme allied command officers and freely predicted that the Germans might try another offensive before admitting defeat. Vrely few officers who have been battling the Germans expect the war to be over before two or three months.

Allied supreme headquarters made no break in its security blackout but broadcast an invitation by General Eisenhower to all isolated German forces to surrender. He disclosed that the new United States 15th army and the French First army both joined the struggle, raising to nine the number of allied armies battling east of the Rhine.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead said that United States Ninth and Third armored divisions had made contact at Warburg, 24 miles southeast of Paderborn, to close one side of the trap, while Wes Gallagher wrote that the Second armored division of the United States Ninth army had thrust eastward 30 miles and established tactical radio contact with the United States First army near Paderborn.

Radio Tokyo, noting the relentless Superfort blows against southern Japan's "airfields and airfield installations," guessed that the attacks were in support of "landing attempts" at Okinawa, in the strategic Ryukyu chain which extends southwestward from Kyushu to Formosa.

The Saturday daylight mission to Kyushu was a precision bombing raid against such targets as the Tachiarai machine shops.

Red, Blue Stamps To Become Invalid First of Each Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both red and blue ration stamps will become valid on the first day of each month in the future, the OPA announced yesterday.

Blue stamps for canned fruits and vegetables have always been validated on the first day of the month, but validation of red stamps has been by rationing periods, which did not coincide with the calendar month.

Both blue and red stamps will be validated in blocks of five, making a total of 50 blue points for canned fruits and vegetables, and an equal number of red points for meats and fats.

The new plan, OPA said, will make it easier for housewives and merchants to determine when new ration stamps will be good.

Under the old plan, five red stamps were validated for each four-week period, or six stamps when the rationing period covered five weeks.

Nazis Officials Warn Against Allied Agents

LONDON (AP)—Amid reports of mounting confusion and hunger in the Reich Nazi officials appealed to the people yesterday to aid in tracking down allied agents who are infiltrating into Germany "spreading unrest and demoralizing German troops."

Reports reaching Stockholm said German civilians were giving their territory not only to deserting but to the allied secret

An Open Letter to the Editor—

Hurray! That was our first reaction to the newly proposed Student Congress. Upon calming down a bit, however, we realized this was far more significant than the common reaction to a football victory or an election rally. Here is a force, which if receiving the enthusiastic and wisely directed support of the student body may well grow into an organization strong enough to effect in some measure, the peace plans. The beginnings are modest, in comparison to what we hope the end result will be. What is ultimately desired are student congresses in colleges and universities throughout the country. It is significant that a veteran enrolled in the university proposed this plan. He, no doubt, feels more strongly than we, the need for a well-informed student body, and justly so. The Congress, as he proposed it, would meet at least twice a year. The one most important international problem could be brought up at that time. It is significant too, that no one department is asked to sponsor this Congress. The more heterogeneous the group, the more representative the opinion. The form of the Congress is not as important as the idea itself. In no way, has there been an attempt to find out what the college student thinks. Public opinion has proved itself a powerful weapon, and an uninformed public can bring on irreparable harm. Are we being too idealistic? We think not. Idealism seems to be the battle-cry of those who are either too lazy, or too afraid, or too addicted to the status quo. In this crisis, it is absolutely imperative that we shed our usual apathy! Whole hearted support and enthusiasm is the first step toward making a student congress such as this, workable. Let us not make the same mistake as the people of France did prior to 1940. Our government is not a spectacle to be viewed only by a passive audience. In order to serve, we must not "stand and wait!"

Looking Ahead in Washington—

WASHINGTON (AP)—You can mark up Okinawa Island in the Ryukyus as another two. The prolonged sea-and-air pasting is a familiar pattern. Two absorbed bombs daily for more than two months before the marines landed. The Japanese began insisting a week ago we already had landed on Okinawa, apparently because (1) they felt sure we would eventually, and (2) they could meanwhile claim to have repulsed us. The Ryukyus chain (so-called because the Japanese name, Luchiu) is the key to the north China sea and would be another stone in an arch of airbases which may be forming up around Japan. Gasoline—Eastern motorists better lay off gasoline there when V-E day comes. If there are any ration increases—that's still unsettled—the intention is to keep them equitable over the country. Even the most optimistic estimate of possible ration increase is for about 25 per cent, which would give an A-card holder less than half a gallon more per week than he's getting now. The air—Young service pilots who hop oceans yesterday better not bank too heavily on jobs in overseas passenger traffic after the war. Planes on the drawing boards and on order for post-war transoceanic travel are so big that Juan Trippe, president of Pan-American airways, says 11 of them could handle our anticipated traffic. Even at 50 per cent capacity, he tells the senate commerce aviation subcommittee, they could carry 440,000 passengers a year. Seabee buzzings—The navy's "can do" boys, the construction battalions who have become a legend in three years, may be permanently married to the navy, which is advising Seabees who ask about reenlistment that studies are being made about a postwar Seabee organization. Ku.S. and the world—For a hint as to how America will fit into the postwar world, keep your eye trained on congress this month. Democrats and Republicans are readying for another historic encounter on a favored battleground, the tariff. Party liens have formed swiftly since President Roosevelt asked a three-year extension of the reciprocal trade act, with broad additional authority to lower tariffs, some as much as 75 per cent under the Hawley-Smoot law. He said tariff adjustments, in trade pacts drawn individually with other nations, would increase foreign trade and stimulate business. Republicans like Rep. Knutson (R. Minn.), house leader on tariff matters, claim lowered duties would expose American labor to competition with poorly paid foreign labor and cause American industries to close, with resulting unemployment.

The Light-Hearted Yanks—

WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY (AP)—The French, who are fun-loving folk themselves, had trouble understanding the antics of American soldier humorists in combat zones, so the Germans really must be baffled by the doughboys and their ways. Saarbrücken furnished a good example of what has become a pretty well established routine for post-battle acts now familiar to soldiers and correspondents but which must have seemed madness to the few dazed civilians still in town. Smashed houses yielded hundreds of shiny silk hats which were surefire comedy props. Soon scores of soldiers were traipsing about with these on their heads and canes in their hands. Other headgear which appealed to the GI clowns included bright women's bonnets, firemen's hats and derbys. Happy was the budding buffoon who could add a parasol, bright necktie and cream colored gloves to his ensemble. Two-man teams made the usual sport with baby carriages and such. All this horseplay didn't mean discipline had let down or that low-up jobs weren't going on efficiently. Few officers were non-violent attempts as one regimental commander said, "Anything that those fellows can do to give each other laughs is okay with me—laughs are too rare in their work." But it must be very mystifying to Germans raised on stiffly disciplined soldiers. Aside from clowning, soldiers with spare time in a newly-won city do about the same things any group of fellows would do if dropped into a strange town at home. War conditions alter techniques but not objectives. Some look up spots of historic or cultural interest—and the number who do this is larger than many may believe. Some look around for drinks. Some look for a girl. Some read and write letters. And many indulge in those things which are at once necessities, pleasures and luxuries for soldiers—eating and sleeping. Higher Milk Production WASHINGTON (AP)—The government moved yesterday to encourage a high level of milk production in April. It suspended a provision of its dairy production subsidy program under which payments to farmers would have declined 35 cents a hundred pounds of milk today.

Speech Clinic---a Laboratory for Living

By DOROTHY HERRICK
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

Directors of speech clinics in over 25 leading nationwide colleges and universities are graduates of the State University of Iowa speech pathology program, one of the finest in the United States.

Sponsored jointly by the psychology and speech departments and child welfare, the speech pathology program consists of three major areas: teacher training, research in speech problems and clinical services.

Degrees Earned

Students may earn the B. A., M. A. or Ph.D. degrees with concentration in hearing conservation or in speech pathology, either in the speech department or psychology department, after which most graduates enter speech work in public schools, colleges and universities, or in special institutions.

A great demand exists today for workers in hearing conservation and speech for veteran rehabilitation.

Courses dealing with anatomy, hearing, voice and phonetics, speech defects, and general semantics are among those provided in the speech pathology program.

Special Summer Course

A special four-weeks course for technicians is offered as a featured part of the summer pathology program. This course covers audiometry and fitting of hearing aids, weekly lectures and discussions on speech and hearing rehabilitation, and facilities for research and clinical training.

The nature, causes and methods of treating various speech defects are the main topics of research in speech pathology with a large share of the studies devoted to stuttering.

To date, the main finding from the study of stuttering is that those who stutter are apparently normal from a physical point of view, but that stuttering is a type of behavior a child learns—not through imitation—but a sort of fear of speaking incorrectly. A child often learns this fear from parents who demand too high speech standards. The child is too often corrected and criticized, and so develops tension in an effort to speak better. The child fears to talk to people who might criticize him.

Articulation Disorders
Studies have also been undertaken, chiefly by Prof. Grant Fair-

BOB ARBOGAST, A1 of Villisca, and Bob Jenner, A4 of Sutherland, are shown in the "mirror room" of the speech clinic. A speech defective is able to see himself speak and realize the various word formations with which he has difficulty. Jenner is a clinician in the clinic.

banks, in articulation disorders and disorders of voice. Speech disorders associated with cleft palate and cerebral palsy (spastic paralysis), are investigated under the direction of Prof. C. R. Strothe.

Corrective services in the speech clinic, directed by Prof. Wendell Johnson, are provided without charge to university students. Pupils in the communication skills program are tested in speech and hearing, and those found defective are given special instruction at the speech clinic.

Also handled in the clinic are non-student cases, the number of which is held to a necessary minimum. A special summer clinic is held for children. Home care for those outside Iowa City is arranged for by the Iowa City office of the division of child welfare of the state department of social welfare. Helen Alcom is in charge of the office. Since 1932, 3,270 speech cases have been examined or given instruction of an individual nature. The number of 250 per year does not include most of the students handled in classes.

In a survey made of 30,000 Iowa school children in five counties, results showed that about five per cent of the children have speech defects serious enough to handicap them; 25,000 such children attend Iowa schools. Of this number probably not over 500 are receiving any speech correction service in spite of the fact that the university turns out probably more speech correction teachers than any other midwestern university according to Professor Johnson.

Work Outside Iowa

Practically all these teachers trained at the university work in other states. However, it is probable that the new school code being enacted by the present state legislature will, to some extent, correct this condition.

The speech clinic is sponsored jointly by the speech, psychology and child welfare departments in cooperation with the colleges of medicine, dentistry and education and the university hospitals. Work with the hard of hearing is done in cooperation with the otolaryngology department.

General Semantics

One of the interesting areas in Professor Johnson's program is the study of general semantics, which is concerned with the language or symbolic aspects of behavior. The connection with speech pathology lies in the study of language disorders involved in semantics.

However, general semantics has a wide application and is not limited to speech pathology majors. In the present course in general semantics, 23 majors are represented.

Theses in Semantics

Several M. A. and Ph. D. theses have been done in general semantics in the past five years dealing with certain differences between language of university students and patients in the psychopathic hospital and with various aspects of development of language behavior. Studies related to problems of meaning were also carried out.

With the realization of the importance of understanding the over-all problems in speech difficulties, this entire training program "is offered in response to the increasing demand for training in preparation for work in the federal rehabilitation program, in public health agencies, in hospitals and clinics and in the public schools."

SUI Graduates Write Book on Vocations

By MARY OSBORNE
Daily Iowan Staff Writer

Two graduates of the university's school of journalism are the authors of a new book on vocations in the world of tomorrow. Entitled "Twenty Careers of Tomorrow," by Darrell and Frances Huff, the book is an effort to guide those who will be making a vocational choice in the immediate postwar years—boys and girls now in school, men and women who went into uniform before their careers were decided upon—those whose jobs must be reconsidered in the light of a changing world.

"Twenty Careers of Tomorrow" is dedicated to Prof. Stephen H. Bush, head of the Romance languages department, in whose survey of French literature course both Mr. and Mrs. Huff were enrolled in 1936-37. The dedication reads: "To Stephen H. Bush, who, to the great good fortune of many students, chose teaching as his vocation."

The book concerns job possibilities in 20 broad fields, written in an informative style designed to interest readers in the world of the future, in 194X. "There has never been a time when the job outlook was either so vague or so exciting as it is right now," according to the Huffs. "All this talk of a changing world does not mean that only he who chooses a new kind of career will have a job, but it does mean that there are new and uncrowded fields in which the chances of great achievement are better."

Each chapter of "Twenty Careers of Tomorrow" develops a general view of the postwar job situation, suggesting new trends in old industries and predicting opportunities in fields little considered today. "You'll never hear a good research worker say a thing can't be done. The experience of the researchers leads them to say it hasn't been done yet," the authors point out.

In a chapter on plastics, "the glamour girls of industry's future," the career book mentions opportunities for capitalizing on new ideas. "The plastic industry is one where a young man with a sure fire idea and a little cash can produce and sell merchandise." And big companies are always on the lookout for new ideas in any field. While the outlook for all industries is obviously not so rosy, new jobs arising from new discoveries present broad opportunities for anyone willing to take a chance. "The career seeker cares less about the next two or three years than about the rest of his working life."

The young person who enters a new field of industry immediately after the war will find himself in a good job as the field develops. "Twenty Careers of Tomorrow" tells what and where the jobs will be, the training needed and what financial returns can be expected.

Career prospects in working with plastics, wood, glass, light metals and fabrics are promising. Pictures supplementing the authors' preview of opportunities in the new field of electronics give the career seeker a new idea of job possibilities. Frequency modulation radio, facsimile and television will shape the radio industry of the future with the job field increasing accordingly.

Publishing will become an international adventure, the Huffs predict, since foreign-language editions of American magazines already have proved so popular. An Arabic edition of the Reader's Digest sold 60,000 copies in two days and the Spanish edition has a circulation of 800,000, indicating the opportunities for linguists in the publishing field.

Modes of transportation will vary in popularity in the postwar world; with "flying flippers" on the way helicopters and roadable planes may become the family cars of the air. But all careers do not lie in such new fields. "In the next few decades we won't have to worry about how to keep able young men and women down on the farm," the Huffs write. "They will be making careers in a new kind of farming—a definitely scientific farming—which is bound to replace the man with hoe, tractor or plow."

New jobs in working with food and in the field of medicine offer countless opportunities for careers. Specialists and research workers will do much toward improving the world's health in 194X. In another of today's crowded fields, education, job possibilities will be increased through the use of motion pictures and radio in teaching.

The business of asking questions to find out what Americans think or want will expand as new products appear; the field of the market researcher may even offer international opportunities. New frontiers to conquer, some even beyond 194X—a whole world of frontiers—is the picture presented to career seekers by "Twenty Careers of Tomorrow." As reconversion for peace is completed, the results of the war's development of science will be evident. Whether the job seeker makes the most of his opportunities in the new and changing fields of industry in 194X is a matter of personal achievement, but opportunities there are for the taking.

Opinion on and off the Campus—

Is Psychology a Science—or Guesswork?

Phil York, A2 of Swampscott, Mass.: "Psychology definitely is a science and should be considered apart from philosophy. Psychologists do clinical work, although they do indulge in much theory. Most of these theories, however, have been proved or are being proved in the laboratory."

Dean Foster, A1 of Herndon: "I believe that psychology is a science. Psychologists derive their theories from their studies of the behavior of people; therefore, psychology should be classed as more than just a guessing game."

Dorothy Perkins, A4 of Keosauqua: "I believe that psychology is closer to being a science than it is to being a mere guessing game; although it doesn't seem to be in the same class as chemistry, physics, and biology, because many of its theories can't as yet be expressed in formula as they are in these other sciences."

Tom Murphy, A1 of Shenandoah: "Psychology is as much a science as are any of the other sciences. Knowledge in psychology is based on years of study and experience of experts much the same as knowledge in other sciences is based."

Carol Billemyer, A2 of Rockford, Ill.: "I think it's guesswork. Psychology is concerned with how individuals understand each other, and this varies too much and is too personal to ever stay within the confines of a cold, exact science."

Don Kreymeyer, A2 of Ft. Madison: "Psychologists will say that it's a science, but it is just plain common sense. Opinions which I have heard from psychiatrists bear out the fact that it's common sense which is used in the field of psychology."

Norma Ems, P2 of Savageton, Wyo.: "It is definitely a science. In its field it is every bit as logical and valuable as medical science."

Seven Students Rate Superior in State Tourney

Sioux City Central Wins First Place In Class A Schools

Griffin, Gunderson, Podol Rank as Top Individual Speakers

Seven Iowa City high school students received superior ratings in three of the five divisions of the Iowa state high school forensic meet held at the University of Iowa this weekend. Results of the three-day finals were announced by Prof. A. Craig Baird, director of the tournament, following the luncheon for contestants yesterday noon in the Hotel Jefferson.

President Virgil M. Hancher stressed the power and importance of the spoken word in his welcome to contestants assembled for the luncheon.

Program Schedule

In speaking before the group, Prof. E. C. Mabie outlined the program schedule being prepared by the university faculty to meet the individual needs of students in terms of their center of interest.

"Such a program has been discussed for some time among the faculty," Mabie said, "but we never quite knew why students taking individual study courses sometimes failed because we had never talked to the students themselves."

"Students have not been able to carry on such a program of study because they are not prepared for it. Liberal education is not given; it must be sought," he emphasized, then added, "but the good student must be stimulated to action."

Personal Desire

Urging students to come to the university with the desire for personal growth and development, Prof. Mabie made it clear that it was the responsibility of the student to gain knowledge with a clear mind.

"I hope you will come with a curiosity and an interest in other fields you don't know so much about," he said. "It is with a background of broad education, interest, and development that high school students will become outstanding leaders in their chosen field." In conclusion he emphasized a sincere approach and hard work for superior achievement.

Debate

Central Sioux City won 11 and lost 3 rounds in the three days of debate contests to take first place in Class A debate. Burlington, Muscatine and Roosevelt high schools of Cedar Rapids tied for second place for Class A schools, each chalking up 10 victories in 14 rounds.

Hans Koebel To Appear With Band

Prof. Hans Koebel of the music department, one of the most widely known cellists and teachers in the middlewest, will appear as soloist with the University band in that organization's annual spring concert Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. His appearance will mark the first known public performance of a major work for cello solo and band.

The composition to be played by Professor Koebel is the "Concerto in B-flat major" (Luigi Boccherini), a work written originally for cello solo with accompaniment of string orchestra and two horns. The band arrangement is the latest of a series of experimental works by Prof. C. B. Righter, director of university bands.

Complete instrumentation is employed in the accompanying parts, but to insure correct balance only about half of the 90-piece concert band will be used for the number.

The Boccherini concerto is a composition in three movements, the first, a moderate allegro, the second, a beautiful singing adagio and the third, a lively rondo. The first and last movements include brilliant cadenzas for solo cello.

In addition to the feature solo work, the band will play numbers by Borodine, Debussy, Bach, Gounod and Delibes, concluding with two lighter compositions by Romberg and Conrad.

Free concert tickets are available at the main desk in Iowa Union, Whetstone's and room 15, music studio building.

Tug Wilson Gets Two First Places; Sets High Jump Mark

By CHAR FERRIS
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

Showing surprising strength in the Mississippi Valley conference track meet staged yesterday afternoon at the Iowa fieldhouse, City high jumpers topped second place, just three points behind Clinton's River Kings.

The Hawks were again led by Co-Captain Tug Wilson, who won two firsts and cracked the Mississippi Valley conference record in the high jump with a leap of five feet 11 1/4 inches, besting the record established by Machael of Clinton in 1939 by 1/4 of an inch.

Run Close

With Clinton, Iowa City, and Davenport running close all the way, the three teams finished in that order with 36 1/9 points for the River Kings, 33 1/9 for the Hawks, and 32 7/18 for Davenport, while East Waterloo finished fourth with 30 7/18.

In placing second in the meet, the Little Hawks grabbed three firsts while placing men in five other events.

Wilson gained top place in the high hurdles, besides capturing first place in the pole vault with a jump of 11 feet, four and one-half inches.

Also coming in first for the Red and White was the mile relay team made up of Ted Gunderson, Tom Nichols, Virgil Troyer, and Harold Eakes.

Make Come Back

After the first two men for the Hawks ran only in third and fourth place, Troyer came up strong for the Little Hawks to take a lead which Eakes, as anchor man, did not relinquish.

The Red and White placed second in the mile medley run as Dean Housel put on a final spurt to come in second instead of third.

Strong Team

With a strong team in all events Clinton swept first and third places in the broad jump, first in the 60-yard high hurdles, first place in one heat of the 1/2 mile run, two seconds (tie) in the pole vault, and second in the mile relay, as well as third and fourth places in other events.

In taking second place in the meet Iowa City was much stronger than anyone had expected, as Coach Wally Schwank said before the meet that he wasn't hoping for much better than fourth or fifth place.

Eric "Rickey" Wilson scored three firsts and participated on the mile relay team which won its race to lead the University high Blue Hawks to the Eastern Iowa conference indoor track championship last night in the Iowa fieldhouse.

In winning his three events, Wilson broke two records—in the 440-yard dash, running the distance in 53.4 seconds, which was 6/10 of a second faster than the old record set by Hawker of West Liberty; and in the broad jump, where he leaped 19 feet, 11 1/4 inches to top the old record by two and three-fourths inches.

Several records were menaced seriously, but the only ones broken were those made by Wilson, the son of Eric Wilson Sr., former Olympic star, in the sprints. Lathrop of West Branch topped 10 feet, 8 1/2 inches in the pole vault, coming just one-half inch short of the conference record for his event. In the mile relay, won by the University high team, the victors were only 7/10 of a second off the record set by U-high in 1940, and Rummells of West Branch ran the 60-yard low hurdles in 7.5 seconds—the record is 7.4 seconds.

Early Lead

The Rivermen jumped off to an early lead on victories by Don Helm in the mile run, Wilson in the 50-yard dash and the 440-yard dash, and, since they placed two men in almost all the events, the Blue Hawks kept building a strong lead, finally coming out victorious over West Branch by 20 1/3 points. The defending champions, Mt. Vernon, placed fifth behind Monticello and Tipton. West Liberty was last.

Court Fan—

Feels Gypped

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—A friend of ours is very sore.

He paid his money to see Bob Kurland of the Oklahoma Aggies and George Mikan of DePaul meet on a basketball court the other night, and although they did meet he feels somehow that he was gypped, as the meeting was so comparatively brief it was quite inconclusive, and just left a bad taste in the mouth.

He doesn't begrudge the money, as it was a Red Cross game at Madison Square Garden and the money could not go to a worthier cause. But he does feel that he was lured to the game by misrepresentation, and he blames the basketball rules.

Big Guys

"I went primarily to see those two big guys play against each other," he says. "The game was incidental to me. And what happens? Mikan goes out on fouls inside of 14 minutes. I still don't know how they would have stacked up against each other over the distance, or which was the better team when each was at full strength."

"Why can't they figure out some way so a player can remain in a game? I don't know of any other sport where a player is banished for keeps after a certain number of rule infractions, unless he's slugging or something. In hockey they put a guy in a penalty box for a few minutes, but he can return to action."

Many Times

"In football a player can hold or be offside any number of times. The team is penalized, the same as a basketball team is when a player fouls, but the guy is not removed from the game, unless the coach gets tired of those backward gains."

"The penalty should be severe enough without ousting the player and cheating the fans of what they paid to see. They might figure out a plan to have a penalty box like hockey, or allow extra free throws for every foul above a set number. As it is, I paid to see Mikan, and when he went out and a sub went in it was the same as Joe Louis fouling out of a boxing match about the third round and some palooka going in to sub for him."

Something There

Our friend has something there. We have never seen the enthusiasm and anticipation go out of a crowd quite so abruptly as it went out of the 18,000 or so in the Garden. It was just like sticking a pin in a toy balloon when Mikan left the game.

Mikan, because of his sensational scoring in earlier games here, had become a pet of the New York fans. They virtually adopted him, cheering his every move. He went out because he broke the rules. Kurland survived, yet there was some booing aimed at him when he was removed for a sub. Why? Who knows? Just because he was still in there and Mikan wasn't, maybe. A nice kid playing a good, clean game, too.

From what we did see of the two players together we got the impression that two good big men tend to nullify each other, more or less. The seven-foot Kurland, certainly had none of the worst of it during the 14 minutes or so he opposed the six-foot-nine Mikan. We'd say it was a virtual standoff.

Hard on the heels of the two little men, who haven't won a tournament in five years came the hottest man in the game—Lord Byron Nelson.

Nelson scored a 69, the only sub-par round of the day, for a 36-hole total of 140. Another shot back was Sammy Byrd of Detroit, the former ballplayer, with a 70-71-141.

Sam Snead, winner of six winter meets, practically blew himself out of consideration with a 74 for 145, needing 40 strokes on the out nine. PGA Champion Bob Hamilton reversed the procedure by taking a 40 on the back nine for a 74 and a 147 total.

Field Cut

The field was reduced to the low 40 and ties for tomorrow's 36-hole windup for $8,666 in war bonds.

The leaders include Bob Hamilton, Chicago, 73-74-147 in 14th place.

Mort Cooper Goes 6 In Intra-Squad Game

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Pitcher Mort Cooper, winner of 65 games for the St. Louis Cardinals in the last three seasons, is rounding into form early and yesterday pitched six innings of an intra-squad game which the regulars won, 8 to 1.

COACH CLEM CROWE who will guide Hawkeye gridiron destinies come next fall, is already in action. We have received an announcement to the effect that Crowe plans to hold a meeting of all football candidates in the river room of Iowa Union at 7:30 next Tuesday night, April 3. If you are rugged and have big muscles we urge you to attend.

If you should glance over the rest of this page you will see a story in heavy type which will announce this same meeting. That being the case we won't blame you if you should accuse us of repeating it just to fill up space. This is not true, however, although you may have a point at that.

Some Risk

At the risk of being termed a tub thumper in some uninformed quarters we would let you in on the fact that we are planning to give Mr. Crowe's meeting the big build-up. We repeat, we don't beat the drum for an occasion unless we feel that it warrants all the noise. But this meeting does deserve some sound. So, we are turning the tub.

It is extremely important that all candidates attend as, in Mr. Crowe's own words, he may not hold spring practice if a large enough number of men do not appear. He speaks truthfully when he adds that there would be little use in holding drills for a small group, particularly if most of them are facing the prospect of meeting a relative—Uncle Sam—in the near future.

Own Words

Let us give you the story in Crowe's own words: "This will give me a chance to meet the players, learn of their plans, and in general to make a survey of the material. After I discover what men will be available I will make definite plans for spring practice."

So, we repeat, if you are a football player, if you have any friends who are football players, if you have ever wanted to be a football player, or even if you have ever looked at a pig and wished it had laces in its hide, we urge you to attend this meeting. Again: Tuesday night, April 3, at 7:30 in the river room of Iowa Union. We assure you that Mr. Crowe will welcome anyone. After all, he even suggested that the members of the press report when he arrived on Friday.

Thus endeth the day's percussive lesson.

The new coach stated, however, that only a small turnout is made he may abandon plans for spring drills on the theory that such practice would be of no benefit, with the prospect of those few men who are left being taken into service. Nevertheless, all candidates are urged to attend.

Penna, Dodson Tied At Halfway Mark In Durham Open

By FRITZ LITTLEJOHN
DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—The "Little Men" of Golf showed no inclination to give up today in the second round of the Durham Open, Toney Penna and Leonard Dodson deadlocking for the lead at the halfway mark of the 72-hole meet.

Penna, the smallest of the pros, added a 71 to his opening 68 and the slender Dodson pulled up even with the Dayton, Ohio, Wisecracker with 69-70-139.

Hard on the heels of the two little men, who haven't won a tournament in five years came the hottest man in the game—Lord Byron Nelson.

Nelson scored a 69, the only sub-par round of the day, for a 36-hole total of 140. Another shot back was Sammy Byrd of Detroit, the former ballplayer, with a 70-71-141.

THE IOWA HAWKEYE baseball team will open its abbreviated ten game schedule tomorrow afternoon at 4 against the Ottumwa naval air station nine. The contest will be played on the diamond west of the Iowa fieldhouse.

Coach Waddy Davis, in announcing the Hawks' starting lineup, said that the Ottumwa game would be a warmup test for the conference-opening series with Wisconsin here April 6 and 7, and would give him a chance to try his new team against the Skyers with their combination of former minor leaguers, semi-pros, and collegians.

Apparently Davis thinks that this year's edition of the Hawks is stronger than last year's squad, which won 3 and lost 5 games, four of the losses coming in conference competition.

Two of last year's first string men aren't listed in the starting lineup, but Davis said that they would be sure bets to see plenty of action. They are Bill Anderson, West Branch, who played first base last season, and Jim Dunfrund, Strawberry Point, who played third base.

Davis has repeatedly said that the squad's hitting is poor, but has gone on to say that this may be due to the high quality of pitching that the hurlers have been showing. Max Smith of Rake, 1943 letter winner, is the No. 1 hurler, closely followed by Wilmer Hokanson, Des Moines, another veteran, and Gene Hoffman, LaMoine, senior who once pitched for Loras college. Coach Davis said that these three, all right-handers, would each work three innings of the contest.

WSUI will broadcast the game beginning at 4:30, 25 minutes after the contest starts. Dick Yoakam, WSUI's sport's editor, will describe the contest with the assistance of Bob Brooks of the WSUI staff.

AS MINERS TOOK STRIKE VOTE

JOHN L. LEWIS, president of the United Mine Workers, has returned to the coal-wage bargaining table with a rousing vote of confidence from rank-and-file miners who authorized a strike in support of the union's demands. The strike poll, first ever conducted in the nation's bituminous coal fields, was overwhelmingly in favor of a strike vote if necessary. The miners have demanded a wage increase of approximately $6 a week while the operators officially have made a counter offer of $3.06 weekly. In the photo, miners are shown casting their vote in Pittsburgh. (International)

Junior Red Cross To Fill Gift Boxes For Foreign Children

Tuesday morning will be the opening day for Iowa City American Junior Red Cross members to purchase and fill gift boxes with supplies to send to school children in liberated Europe so the can continue their education, according to Mrs. J. P. Cady, director of the junior groups.

The Junior Red Cross members in the United States will send 500,000 boxes of school supplies this year. These special boxes will contain chiefly school and health materials.

Members of Junior Red Cross societies in Latin America, Greenland, Iceland, Eire, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands, who in the past few years have received gift boxes, also want to help European children. They have agreed that all boxes packed in the United States this school year shall go to children in Europe who have suffered from the war.

Boys and girls in the liberated countries lack many things American youths take very much for granted.

Contents of a sample educational gift box will include: three pencils in flat case, penholder, a dozen pen points, box of crayons, three small pads of paper, eraser, compass, protractor, felt penwiper, small pencil sharpener, colored drawing pencils, slate pencil, modeling clay, blotter, cake of toilet soap, toothbrush, toothpaste, washcloth, pocket comb, needles, thread, thimble in small case, matched buttons on a small card, a handkerchief, small bag of marbles.

Edith Hotka, teacher-sponsor at Newport No. 3 reports her students held a program and box social and raised more than $13.

The proceeds will be used to purchase eight boxes and materials to fill the boxes. Johnson county has a quota of 60 boxes to fill. City schools may raise the money for their boxes by contribution or by group project.

You're in for It— It's April Fool's Day

—So Be Prepared—

BY SHIRLEY MINTZ Daily Iowan Staff Writer

So what if you were awakened this morning by a bucket of cold water, or somebody sent you all over town looking for a wall stretcher? Remember? It's April Fool's day as well as Easter.

April fooling became the custom in France, where it is said to have had its modern beginning after the adoption of the new calendar by Charles IX in 1564, making the year begin January 1. It had previously been common for the people to exchange calls and new year's gifts on April 1 under the old calendar. After the adoption of the new calendar several die-hard conservatives continued the practice of sending mock gifts and making mock ceremonial calls on April 1. This continued until the original meaning of the custom was lost and all that remained was the custom of practical jokes. The French named the recipients of the pranks "poisson d'avril," meaning young April fish who are caught easily, and equivalent to our "poor fish."

French "Fools"

France's favorite April Fool's joke concerns the Duke of Lorraine and his wife who escaped from France during the revolution on April 1 dressed as peasants. Someone suspected who they were told the guard of the gate but he thought it was an April Fool's joke and the couple were allowed to pass through.

The custom spread to England at the beginning of the 18th century and was called "hunting the gowk," a gowk being a cuckoo. Probably the most famous April Fool's joke in England is that of the "White Gate" of London Tower. Cards with an inverted sixpence in the upper left hand corner to give it an official look, were sent to people inviting them to witness the annual washing of the lions, and entrance was to be permitted only through the "White

Labor, Farm Leaders Petition for Control Of Meat Prices

DES MOINES (AP)—Labor, farm and consumer leaders yesterday petitioned Iowa senators and congressmen to prevent any increase in the price of meat at butcher counters.

A. A. Couch, president of the Iowa State Federation of Labor, said the meat packing industry is seeking to obtain from congress and the office of price administration a increase on meat price ceilings.

A resolution to Iowa representatives in Washington followed a meeting of five resolutions committee members of farm, labor and consumer leaders who act in advisory capacity to the OPA.

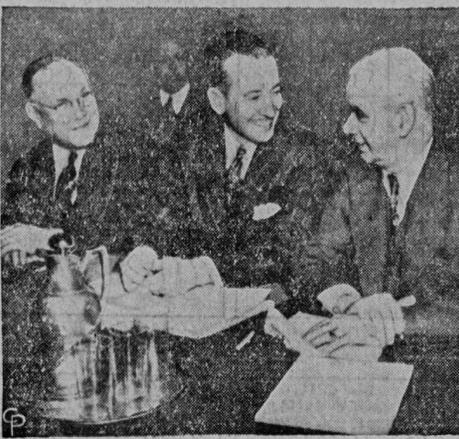

The marines, navy, and cupid made a three-point landing at the Chi O house when Melfie Scales, marine-to-be, kept the girls on a run in search of the five pounds announcing her engagement to DTD Bob Weed of the navy reserve.

Scotch Trick

Scotland's favorite trick is to request that a friend carry a message to someone at the other side of town or in the next village. The letter says, "This is the first of April, Hunt the gowkie another mile." The person receiving the letter either claims he cannot do what the letter asks, or that he is not the person sought, and sends the poor messenger on to see someone else. Until a kindhearted soul tells the secret the messenger is passed from hand to hand, and often from village to village until sunset.

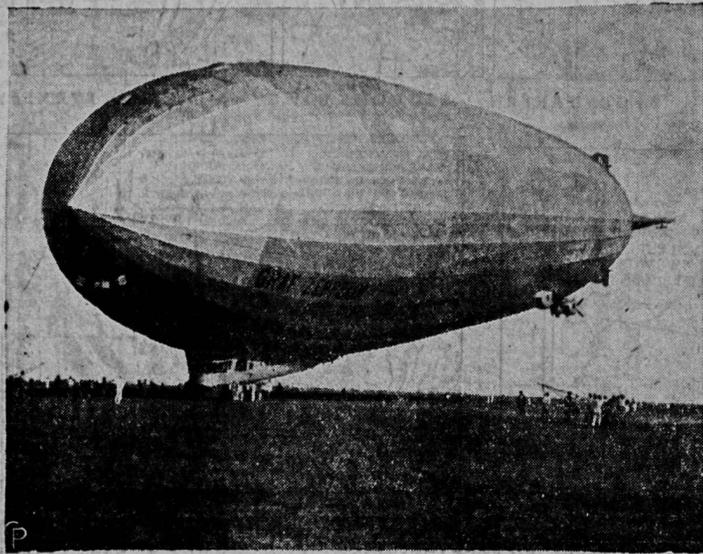

It was the English who brought the custom with them to America. Americans have cherished the custom and improved upon the pranks. Today zoos and aquariums will be receiving thousands of calls asking for "Mr. Fish" or "Mr. Bear." The New York zoo was bothered with so many of these calls that on April 1 it always disconnects its phone. And if someone asks you to get him a left-handed monkey-wrench, why, April Fool!

Mayor Orders Park Closed After 8 P. M.

As a result of friction between university men students and high school boys which nearly resulted in a riot in the city park Friday night, no one will be permitted inside the city park after 8 p. m. from now on, Mayor Wilber J. Teeters stated yesterday.

Last night two shifts of police and two squad cars patrolled the west bank of the river to prevent a recurrence of Friday night's clash between the two factions.

An organized pitched battle between university and high school men students was averted Friday night by police who arrived on the scene just in time to prevent an open outbreak of fighting.

Early yesterday morning a large group of university men students gathered in the police station to state their case. They claimed that the high school boys, between 60 to 100 of them, were molesting them and their dates in the city park.

The high school boys had insulted their dates and used profane language. The university students further claimed that high school boys had been molesting small parties of both men and women students at night on the west side of the river for more than a week.

Police yesterday morning questioned many high school boys who had been recognized in the crowd Friday night.

"I believe we have the situation in hand now," Mayor Teeters said yesterday. "The police are prepared to handle any further situation which may develop."

"The disagreement between the university men students and the high school boys is childish and I hope that the matter is now settled," the mayor declared.
