Russians 3 Miles From Berlin's Heart

Report Of Red-Allied Juncture Seen

Paris Radio Reports Allied Armies Meet In Dresden Area

PARIS, Sunday (AP)—Formal announcement that the Americans and Russians have joined in central Germany was expected today in a matter of hours, and there were indications that the United States Ninth army might be the chosen force for the historic meeting with the Red army at or near Berlin.

Associated Press Correspondent Wes Gallagher, with the Ninth army at Magdenburg, reported that the great Russian breakthrough—which now has entered Berlin—explained why the Ninth army had been sitting on the Elbe river west of the German capital since April 11.

The Ninth army had, and still has, the power to have marched to Berlin within ten days of its reaching the Elbe, Gallagher noted, and referred to the expected juncture of the Ninth and the Russians in the Berlin area.

Simultaneously with Gallagher's dispatch, United States 12th army group headquarters announced cryptically that a reconnaissance plane "in contact with the 83rd division (which is a Ninth army division) reported having sighted what is believed to be Russian armor somewhere east of the Elbe river this (Saturday) afternoon."

The very fact that army group headquarters saw fit to make such an announcement lent it added significance. Reconnaissance planes in contact with frontline divisions do not operate at extreme range ahead of the line.

Paris radio reported the dramatic juncture already had been made, and there were reports here that patrols had made preliminary contacts. Supreme headquarters did not confirm these reports, and it was regarded here as certain that the actual meeting was still to come—but that it would come within hours, not days.

Superfortresses Hit Five Airfields In Jap Home Islands

GUAM, Sunday (AP)—One hundred to 150 Superfortresses visually bombed airfields on Kyushu, southernmost of the Japanese home islands, this morning.

Five airfields were the targets. It was the second B-29 raid on Kyushu in 24 hours, the fourth in six days, and the seventh March 27, when B-29's began their series of neutralizing attacks on the island's airbases.

Although there is every indication that the airfields have been well neutralized in the previous three raids—the Japanese have sent no aerial attacks in any strength against the United States Okinawa force since April 16—the 21st bomber command apparently has decided to take no chances on the enemy making quick repairs to its runways and other installations.

B-29 crews reported encountering no fighter opposition as they made runs on the five airfields. Two fields, Tomitakana and Miyazaki on the eastern coast, were attacked for the first time.

Small Japanese Force Destroyed By Chinese

CHUNGKING (AP)—A small Japanese force which speared to within 65 miles of the United States 14th airforce base at Chih-kiang, 250 miles southeast of Chungking, was destroyed by Chinese troops Friday, the Chinese high command announced last night.

Northeast of Chungking, violent fighting raged near the Shensi border. The high command claimed that the Japanese stronghold of Hsihsiaokow, 80 miles north of Laohokow, had been recaptured.

"JUST TRYING IT ON FOR SIZE" says Rose Ericson, 14 of Monmouth, Ill., but Janet Fisher, 11 of Ottawa, Ill., is duly impressed and longs for that day in 1948 when she, too, will be donning the black cap and gown that signifies four years in Iowa.

Three U. S. Divisions Register Small Gains On Southern Okinawa

GUAM, Sunday (AP)—Three American infantry divisions made small gains in the "bitterest kind of fighting in their all-out offensive on southern Okinawa yesterday.

The American flag, meantime, was raised on little Ie island off the west coast, signaling the end of a six-day campaign.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported in his communique today that fighting was so fierce on southern Okinawa that one section of high ground changed hands several times.

He said Yanks of the Seventh, 27th and 98th divisions made "small gains through heavily defended areas" in the third day of their push toward the Okinawa capital of Naha, four miles to the south through some of the most elaborate enemy positions yet seen in the Pacific.

Naval guns and army and marine artillery continued their terrific bombardment of Japanese positions. Carrier planes attacked Japanese troop concentrations in the southern part of the strategic Ryukyu island, only 325 miles south of Japan itself.

On the United States flag was raised on Iegusugu peak yesterday morning.

Mopping up was proceeding on Ie, which is valuable mainly for its four-strip airfield captured the first day of the invasion. American planes already were operating off this field.

A few Japanese aircraft raided the Yontan and Ketena airfields on central Okinawa Friday night, causing minor damage.

Two other Okinawa airfields are prime objectives of the big Tenth army push.

Gloria Vanderbilt Weds Stokowski

NEW YORK (AP)—Gloria Vanderbilt De Cicco and Orchestra Conductor Leopold Stokowski were married yesterday in Mexico, her lawyer announced last night.

The announcement was made by Otto E. Koegel, of the law firm of Dwight, Harris, Koegel and Caskey, who issued the following statement:

"Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt announces that her daughter, Gloria Vanderbilt, and Leopold Stokowski were married in Mexico yesterday.

"They will travel in Mexico for several weeks before returning to New York and California."

Peace Envoy

PARIS (AP)—Franz von Papen let himself be captured in the Ruhr pocket, not because the Nazis had entrusted him with a peace mission, but because he thought the allies might send him on a peace mission to the Nazis.

This conclusion has been reached by allied officers, including Russians, who questioned the wily diplomat, it was learned last night.

Yanks Advance In Philippines

MANILA, Sunday (AP)—American troops made new advances in northern Luzon and on Mindanao, against the last two Japanese strongholds in the Philippines, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

In a swift amphibious advance up the Mindanao river on the southern-most major island of the archipelago, 24th division troops pushed to a point 32 miles inland from their Illana bay beachhead. They captured the Paidu-Palanga terminus of a road connecting with vital highway No. 1.

Another column continued to press eastward along the highway farther north, in the drive across Cotabato peninsula toward Davao gulf. Other units fanned out north of Illana bay throughout Lanao province.

Japanese troops at Davao and other centers were blasted by heavy, medium and dive bombers. On Luzon, 25th division doughboys, in a bitterly contested advance, secured Kapitana and the adjacent high ground commanding the Cagayan valley road.

The new advance placed the 25th's doughboys two miles from the crest of Baleta pass, towards which they have been fighting for weeks. Other forces were closing in on the pass from the west, along the Villa Verde trail. They reported a definite weakening in the Japanese resistance.

Supporting bombers and fighters dropped 500 tons of bombs on Nipponese positions in the area and strafed troop concentrations.

Philippine based bombers, continuing their south China sea blockade and daily strikes against Formosa and the Dutch East Indies, sank five Japanese cargo ships and a score of smaller craft.

Guerrillas, including Mohammed Moros, pursued fleeing Nipponese in hills and jungles as MacArthur announced organized Japanese resistance had been broken everywhere in the Philippines except in northern Luzon and in Mindanao.

Allies Menace Central Burma Oil Fields

CALCUTTA (AP)—The southeast Asia command announced last night that British and Indian troops now threaten the entire Chauk-Yenang-Yaung oil fields in central Burma and the entire area may be occupied by allied forces within a few days.

With Chauk and the surrounding area where some 800 wells are located already in British hands, a military blackout covered the operations of the 14th army striking toward Yenangyaung, 30 miles south. There are about 3,000 wells in the southern region of the rich oil belt which produces about 300,000,000 gallons annually.

First troops to penetrate the oil fields reported very few derricks had been overturned and that power lines and transformer stations were intact.

Investigation Retutes Charges of Conditions In Veterans' Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Investigating congressmen said yesterday nothing had been discovered to substantiate charges that "shocking mistreatment" is being given patients in veterans administration hospitals.

Coincidental with that development, the Veterans of Foreign Wars criticized the policies of the veterans administration in handling insurance claims.

"Generally good conditions prevail," in the veterans' hospitals, a number of congressmen reported on the basis of a personal survey of various institutions throughout the country.

No evidence has been found, they asserted, to support the contentions of Representative Philbin (D, Mass.) and others that "a scandal exists" in the treatment of wounded veterans.

In questioning the veterans administration handling of insurance claims, Casey Jones, national service officer of the VFW, said the VA was afflicted with "red tape" processes, "undue delay" and duplication of effort in handling beneficiaries' claims for dependency pension and national service life insurance of men who die or are killed in the armed forces.

The veterans administration, Jones said in a statement, even had once requested "a mother 81 years of age to secure a statement from the midwife in attendance at her birth" in order to establish proof of her age on an insurance claim.

Chairman Rankin (D, Miss.) of the house veterans' committee declined to make public the full reports of the various committees at this time. Instead they will be asked to make them as witnesses at hearings he expects to start within a few days.

Iowa Supreme Court Justice to Represent VFW at Conference

DES MOINES (AP)—Justice Frederic M. Miller of the Iowa supreme court, yesterday was named as a representative of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the San Francisco conference.

Judge Miller has been vice-chairman of the special committee of the American Bar association on proposals for organizing nations for peace and war.

"I believe we should have world organization, and I believe we will have it out of this conference," Miller said.

Selection of five delegates was announced by Jean A. Brunner, national commander, at Washington. The delegation will be headed by Louis E. Starr of Portland, Ore., junior VFW vice-commander in chief.

Files Suit for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jennifer Jones, darkhaired film actress who won a motion picture award in 1943 for her first starring role in "The Song of Bernadette," filed suit yesterday for a divorce from actor Robert Walker.

She charged Walker treated her with "extreme cruelty" and caused "grievous mental and physical suffering."

Warsaw, Reds Sign Treaty Of Friendship

Molotov Fails To Arrive for Meeting With Stettinius, Eden

WASHINGTON (AP)—Warsaw's announcement of a friendship treaty between Russia and the Kremlin-sponsored Polish regime threw into high relief yesterday a statement by Cordell Hull that the present chance for world organization, "once lost, may never recur."

There was no confirmation of the Polish report here, but it was accepted as probably true and as a dark shadow over diplomatic preparations for the San Francisco United Nations conference opening Wednesday.

Hull, former secretary of state, set out this country's hopes for the meeting, which he called a "turning point in history," in a letter dated April 20. He reported that his health will not permit him to go to San Francisco, at least in time for the opening of the meeting.

He wrote Secretary Stettinius that any successful world peace agency "must be built upon the foundations of law, justice and fair dealing." The letter was from Bethesda naval hospital where Hull has been ill for months.

Russian Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov failed to arrive in time for big three foreign ministers' conferences yesterday so the British and American representatives went ahead without him.

Apparently they found their views parallel on issues facing the three major allies.

Officials disclaimed knowledge of when the Soviet foreign affairs chief will arrive.

British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden had a long conference with Secretary of State Stettinius and said, when he emerged, that the two were "as usual in complete agreement on all points discussed."

It had been hoped that the Russian leader would be here by now so that the three could go over a long list of questions of which they hope to act together at San Francisco.

Apparently, Eden and Stettinius felt compelled to begin without him.

One Driver Injured In Auto Accident

One driver suffered a cut on the forehead and damage amounting to $275 was done to two cars in an accident on Clinton street north of Market street last night. The injured driver is Jack Shay, 41, son of Clem Shay, 414 S. Gilbert street.

Gerald Neuzil of Tiffin, driver of the second car, told police that he had intended to turn east at Market street but driving past the corner, had stopped about six or seven feet from the curb and started to back.

Shay, who stated that he did not see the other car, crashed into the rear of it. The damage to Neuzil's car was estimated at $150 and to Shay's $125.

American Armies on Western Front—Finish Job in Central Germany

By J. M. Roberts Jr. Associated Press War Analyst

The American armies on the western front appear to have completed their job insofar as central Germany is concerned. Patton and Patch are turning south, Simpson and Hodges are busy cleaning up the territory they have overrun so rapidly. Gerow's new 15th army appears to have been assigned more of an occupational than an immediate fighting role, cleaning up behind the First, Third and Ninth army spearheads which ripped central Germany into shreds.

Residents in Besieged Berlin—

Huddle in Cellars

LONDON (AP)—Three million terror-stricken Berliners, fearful of hunger as besieging Russian armies cut them off from the rest of the world, huddled in cellars last night after being exhorted by Reich Defense Commissioner Goebbels to defend the capital to the death.

A late German broadcast declared forlornly: "The hour is too serious to hide anything now."

As shells from Russian artillery smashed into the bomb-battered city Goebbels in his second speech in three days to Berliners declared: "What you have earned with blood and tears you must defend with all the means at your disposal. What you have earned with sweat and work you must defend as only you can defend it."

Later Nazi propagandist Hans Fritzsche said that "during the years of bitter battle for National Socialism we have learned to love Berlin and we will under no circumstances let the enemy take possession of our town."

Fritzsche, vaguely suggesting that Hitler himself might be conducting the city's final defense, said:

"The man who at that time fought for Berlin—the man who conquered Berlin—today leads its defense."

Excerpts of Goebbels' speech were broadcast over the German general radio as the propaganda minister's talk was given over controlled wire facilities to Berliners, and therefore the actual tenor of his speech and his full remarks are not known.

U. S., British Seize Bologna, Drive 10 Miles

ROME (AP)—The United States Fifth and British Eighth armies quickly toppled the great fortress city of Bologna yesterday and swept on 10 miles northwest in pursuit of German troops fleeing for their lives across the Po plain.

Gen. Mark W. Clark told his 15th army group that the fall of this ancient city of 270,000 population—which through the winter's bitter fighting stood as a defiant German symbol of resistance—"represents to us the beginning of final victory in Italy."

Troops smashing into the city met only light resistance and by last night the great pursuit of the Germans was well under way. San Giovanni, 10 miles northwest of Bologna, was overrun and Polish troops went on to score gains northeast of the city.

Members of the United States 34th and 91st divisions entering Bologna touched off a great victory celebration among tens of thousands of joyful Italians.

At the eastern end of the front the British Eighth army drove three miles beyond Portomaggiore, capturing Marzara, and were reported within eight miles of Ferrara, important communications center just below the Po river and 30 miles northeast of Bologna.

much farther east it probably would be the Ninth army closing up on the British right flank as they head northward toward the Baltic.

The speedy closing-up of the Russians to our forward lines has raised the question of command, but the argument probably will prove purely abstract.

It seems quite likely that the Russians and the western allies have been assigned their zones of conquest, and that operations problems will lie almost wholly in the field of liaison rather than in tactical command. These zones probably conform, roughly at least, to the zones of occupation agreed upon politically.

The Russian occupation zone has been described as east of a line running slightly west of Berlin.

Yank Planes Bomb Near Berchtesgaden

Munich's Battered Railyards Pounded Without Opposition

LONDON (AP)—At least 820 American planes attacked in and around the south German "national redoubt" almost unopposed yesterday, dropping bombs in the area of Munich, Nazi birthplace, and near Berchtesgaden where Nazism may make its last stand.

More than 300 Eighth airforce Fortresses escorted by 400 Mustangs and Thunderbolts brought the total of bombs dropped on Munich to 10,500 tons, hammering the already battered railyards there and at nearby Ingolstadt and then bombing and strafing the jet plane base at Landsberg 30 miles to the west.

The Ninth airforce, striking from advanced bases, made its first raid into Austria with an attack by 120 A-25 Invaders on the railyards at Attnang-Puchheim along the important Salzburg-Linz line and not far from Adolf Hitler's Berchtesgaden retreat.

Fighter bombers of the Ninth also attacked airfields, destroying at least 34 grounded planes and damaging others. Other fighter bombers pounded motor and rail lines ahead of the armored spearheads of the United States Third army.

The Luftwaffe, which has lost more than 3,000 planes in the last two weeks, failed to come up. Bomber crewsmen said they encountered no German planes and only light flak in the trip to Munich, from which six bombers are missing. All fighters returned.

Bad flying weather curtailed aerial operations over northern and central sectors of the western front.

Local Thunderstorms Forecast for Today

Better not plan any picnics or other outdoor excursions for this afternoon because local thunderstorms are forecast and if you go on a picnic it will rain, but if you don't, it won't rain and the people who didn't read this but do go on picnics will have a good time.

It will be a typical partly cloudy spring day, maybe local thundershowers and slightly cooler. Just such a day as yesterday only cooler. The high yesterday was 61, the low in the morning was 39 and at 11 o'clock last night it was 90.

Latins Seek Greater Voice in Council

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Expansion of the proposed world security council to give small nations a greater voice on issues of war and peace was demanded yesterday by representatives of Latin American countries arriving for the United Nations conference which opens next Wednesday.

The Latins' conference plans cover three main points: 1. A demand for four more temporary seats on the security council, which under the Dumbarton Oaks plan has five permanent big-power seats and six which change periodically for the other nations. The Latins said they would like to reserve these four for themselves.

2. A prediction that Brazil would seek an additional permanent seat on the council for one of the Latin American nations.

3. A strongly-expressed intention to dovetail the inter-American system into the proposed world organization without weakening the hemisphere arrangement.

Anglo-American agreement evidently was assured. In Washington Eden said after a talk with Stettinius that the two were "in complete agreement on all points discussed."

3 Vice-Presidents Ran Into Trouble With Presidency

WASHINGTON (AP) — Only three of the seven vice-presidents who have stepped up to the presidency have had very stormy political going.

Andrew Johnson, taking over in a crisis comparable to that facing Harry S. Truman, escaped ouster by a single vote in the senate.

Millard Fillmore, got in bad with many fellow northerners but helped postpone the Civil war for 10 years.

All but one member of John Tyler's cabinet resigned when he vetoed a bill.

Johnson succeeded the assassinated Lincoln only nine days after General Lee's surrender. Four years of war between the north and south had left deeply-rooted political antagonisms. President Johnson, a Union-supporting Democrat, started a reconciliation program similar to that of Lincoln.

Extremists in an overwhelmingly Republican congress insisted upon drastic reconstruction of the south. Johnson and congress engaged in bitter battle. In contrast to President Truman's friendly appeals to congress to help him secure the peace, Johnson made vitriolic attacks on his opponents.

In order to deprive Johnson of executive power, congress enacted over his veto a "tenure of office" law which required him to obtain senate approval for the removal of civil officers. Johnson, without consent of the senate, ousted Secretary of War Stanton, who he said was disloyal to him.

The house took action to remove the president from office, voting his impeachment for "high crimes and misdemeanors." The only important charge was his violation of the tenure of office act. He was acquitted after a two-month trial by the senate. The vote of 25 to 19 failed by one of the required two-thirds. A few Republican senators who voted for acquittal were denounced by members of their party as traitors.

When Fillmore, a Whig, became president on the death of Zachary Taylor in 1850, he changed the administration's attitude on slavery compromise measures. President Fillmore signed five compromise bills. He was sharply attacked by anti-slavery members of his own party, but the legislation deferred a complete break between the north and the south.

John Tyler, successor to Whig William Henry Harrison, ran into a lot of trouble. As a Democrat with some Whig leanings, Tyler took a position between the two parties and failed to get the support of either.

He vetoed several Whig measures. When he vetoed a "fiscal corporation" bill, every member of his cabinet except Daniel Webster resigned.

Republicans Chester Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt and Calvin Coolidge had comparatively smooth sailing when they took over the presidency.

Arthur, "a machine politician and a New York dude with silky sideburns," was not popular when he succeeded the assassinated Garfield. The press expressed fear that the nation was headed by a "political spoilsman."

President Arthur, however, generally appointed high-grade men to office and earnestly supported civil service reform. A crop failure helped give the Democrats an 1882 congressional election victory, but Arthur's tact kept him out of serious conflict with congress.

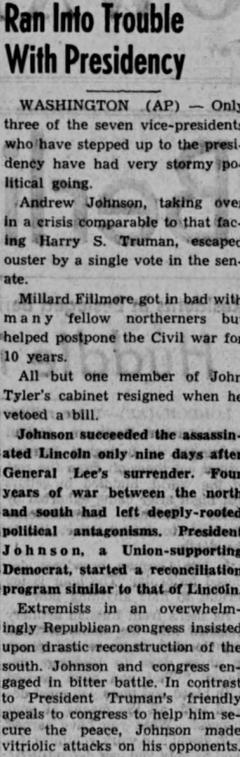

Theodore Roosevelt didn't want the vice-presidential nomination which led him to the presidency. However, New York state Republican boss Thomas Platt figured that would be a good place to isolate the "radical young upstart." Western admirers of Teddy also helped put him on the ticket with McKinley.

Big business got the jitters when McKinley died from an assassin's bullet and the rough rider became president Roosevelt, glad to get away from what he considered the boredom of the vice-presidency, started to "bust the trusts."

He had some opposition in congress, but his attack on monopolies, a program for conservation of national resources and his vigorous personality were popular with most voters. He had practically no opposition for the presidential nomination in 1904 and won the election by a record-breaking majority.

Calvin Coolidge, succeeding Warren Harding, was frequently attacked by western progressives in congress because of his opposition to farm relief measures. However, his homespun preachments on thrift, combined with industrial prosperity and a reduction of the national budget, won favor with a majority of voters. He inherited the teapot dome oil scandal but appointed able prosecutors and coolly coasted to a presidential nomination without opposition.

YANKS WADE RIVER OVER NAZI'S DEAD BODY

CUT DOWN BY AN AMERICAN machine gun burst, a dead Nazi SS trooper lies in the chilly waters of the Schlessen river, near Waldau, Germany. The river was forded by doughboys of the 26th division as they drove forward to assault German troops dug in among the surrounding pine forest. This is a United States army signal corps photo.

Franklin Roosevelt as I Knew Him

By Kirke L. Simpson

WASHINGTON (AP)—I have come in my memories of Franklin Roosevelt to the sad last chapter.

All the nation, the civilized world, grieves at his untimely loss; but to none other than his own kin can that grief be more personal than to the small company his brave and buoyant spirit had bound so closely to him—the Cuff-Links club.

There seems no point in recalling all those Roosevelt birthday dinners, of which the Cuff-Links were an invariable part.

The last session came just a day or two before the president set off on that fateful trip to Yalta to meet Winston Churchill and Joseph Stalin for the last time.

That last time the president got into us more deeply at the poker table than ever before. He chuckled over the pile of chips before him and said to me it was well the game had come after, not before, his fourth-term election race since luck at politics and cards were not supposed to run together.

That night the game broke up unusually early. Some of the younger folk from the dinner party were singing around a piano in an adjoining room. The president was not yet ready for bed, although midnight had gone. He joined the

Admiral Jonas Ingram—He Wants Bigger Navy

AN EAST COAST PORT (AP) —The United States will maintain a peacetime fleet at least 50 per cent larger than she had at the start of the war, and will require use of additional outlying naval bases in the Atlantic and Pacific, in the interest of world peace.

These are top items on the first public blueprint of this nation's postwar navy, as drawn by Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander-in-chief of the United States Atlantic fleet, in an interview aboard his flagship.

Compulsory military training and retention of thousands of naval reservists on a permanent commission basis are other items on the admiral's formula.

Emitting twin streams of salty language and pipe tobacco smoke, Ingram said "American responsibility and leadership demand that we maintain the strongest navy and airforce in the world after this war, in order to preserve world peace."

"Our fleet," he added emphatically, "should be bigger than any other fleet."

"With peace comes we should keep in commission at least 50 per cent more ships than were in active commission at the start of the war, and should retain in reserve at least 100 per cent more."

"With aviation able to get you anywhere in 60 hours, we must have more outlying naval bases. Air power and sea power go hand in hand and each is limited without the other. We should keep out of certain bases in the Atlantic and the Pacific on territory previously held by other powers. We must add many bases in the Pacific, the number depending upon the needs of the fleet and the post-peace table status of Japan."

Ingram's big hand almost concealed his coffee cup as he swung the conversation to compulsory military training, saying "your American youth would get some

Correspondent Tells Of Wave of Death Abroad in Germany

Editor's note: Ole Ollen, Berlin correspondent of the Stockholm Morgonbladet, was watching the approach of Nazi doom from the German capital until last week, when he returned to Stockholm.

By Ole Ollen

STOCKHOLM (AP)—A wave of German deaths at German hands is approaching a climax. The odor of death seems to float over all Germany.

Still it is the day of the Nazi execution squads. But other Germans say the time of vengeance will come.

These other Germans, many of whom followed the fuhrer without question in the day of triumph, talk now of bitter hatred for the leadership which has brought the Reich to ruin. They say it will be a terrible day when it is loosed against the Nazis—who failed to deliver the promised victory.

This is the story these Germans told me before I left Berlin last week:

There is the hatred among the survivors of Germans who went to death in concentration camps. There is the hatred of the oppressed. And there is fear.

I was told that many persons already have been marked special victims for vengeance. It was said that when the Nazi grip was broken the people of Moabit and Neukoln, the workers' quarters of Berlin, would act. Their crowded houses accommodate several families each in cramped space, while their Nazi bosses have fled.

But against this day the Nazi executioners are working overtime—desperately—before the end comes.

Franklin Roosevelt as I Knew Him

At the table he decreed that each of us should write his guess as to just how and on what grounds Al Smith would take his coming walk-out on the administration. Each would put in a blue chip and after we had listened to Smith's speech on the radio decide who won.

We did that, and I remember Harry Hopkins rhymed his effort wittily. I filed a claim on the president's penciled guess, and he scrawled his initials on it. I have it before me now.

As Smith's voice filled the room the president showed no emotion except for a dancing light in his eyes, but when the speech ended he clutched my knee with his big fist. I had black-and-blue marks to show for it next day.

"Do you know what that means, Kirke?" he asked. "It means 500,000 votes for our side."

We then divided up the blue chip pot. The president won. This was what he had scribbled as his guess:

"Because the president and his administration have failed to live up to the 1932 platform and have instituted unconstitutional and un-American policies, he and his administration no longer represent the Democratic party."

Organized German Resistance On Front Lines Is at an End—

ON THE ELBE RIVER, Germany (AP)—For all practical purposes organized German resistance on well defined front lines is at an end.

Before the western allies there is nothing approaching a front. There are only pockets of resistance—in Holland, at Bermen and Hamburg, opposite Magdeburg on the Elbe and isolated bodies of troops in front of the American First, Third and Seventh armies.

(Gen. Omar N. Bradley, declaring that his First, Third and Ninth armies had finished one phase of the thrust into the heart of the Reich, said Thursday, "It is necessary to pause temporarily before we go into the next." He added that virtually every German soldier that faced the Americans on the Siegfried line Feb. 23 when the Roer river crossing was made "now is either killed, wounded or a prisoner of war.")

Lose Power

By applying pressure allied forces are able to go anywhere into Germany that they desire without the Germans being able to do anything about it. The Germans lost the power to wage anything but a guerrilla war through the loss of the Ruhr, the Saar, Silesia and the huge stores overrun by the western allies.

Instead of stopping then to clean up the Ruhr, in which more than 300,000 of Hitler's troops were lopped off, Simpson devoted one corps to the task and sent two other corps dashing across the north German plain toward the Elbe and Berlin.

Complete Destruction

British and Canadian forces completed Germany's military destruction by sealing off German forces in Holland and the great port of Bremen.

The former western front thus has become a disconnected series of strong points or pockets in which the will to resist depends largely on the determination of local commanders.

Without taking anything from the infantry which always has tough, dirty jobs to do in the show down, it is apparent that the American power has been in the brilliant work of the armored divisions in open warfare.

Perhaps the most outstanding of them all has been the Ninth army's "Hell on Wheels." Second armored division. This veteran division has a record of two and a half years of brilliant fighting in Africa, Sicily, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Germany behind it.

Hell on Wheels

When the Ninth army's drive across the Rhine and north of the Ruhr slowed Simpson called on the "Hell on Wheels" tanks again. The division broke through into the open, advancing 240 miles in 13 days. Its drive was climaxed by a 57-mile run to the Elbe—the long-stay daylight run of the war for a full armored division.

The American use of armored forces in this final stage of the European war equalled or bettered anything the Germans produced in their best days and certainly has been a major factor in the defeat of the enemy.

The swift armored runs accounted for vast numbers of prisoners which led to the German breakdown over manpower.

Looking Ahead in Washington—

WASHINGTON (AP) — Let's look ahead today into the future of a man named Harry S. Truman . . .

Farmer's pal: Leaders of the old-line farm organizations, like the National Grange and the American Farm Bureau federation, are pleased with the succession of Mr. Truman to the presidency.

They believe his early farm background and acquaintance with midwestern farm problems will make him even more sympathetic toward agriculture than was Franklin D. Roosevelt, and . . .

They expect a warmer reception at the White House than was accorded them during the past few years. This is particularly true of Edward A. O'Neal, president of the federation. O'Neal opposed part of the government price stabilization program and hence his relations with FDR weren't so cordial.

Mr. Roosevelt frequently indicated his preference for the advice of James G. Patton, president of the national farmers' union, a group which worked closely with CIO's political action committee during the last presidential campaign.

No wedding yet?: Navy opinion does not expect Mr. Truman's strongly expressed endorsement of consolidation of the army and

TO WED IN MAY

THE ENGAGEMENT AND approaching marriage of Mary Louise Miller to Technical Sgt. Robert William Tudor, U. S. M. C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Merton H. Tudor of Rochester road, is announced by Miss Miller's parents, Mrs. Carrie B. Miller, 628 North Linn street, and James A. Miller of Polar, Mont. The double ring ceremony will take place in California in May. Miss Miller is a graduate of Polar high school and has been attending the University of Iowa, where she is a sophomore in the college of liberal arts, majoring in political science. Sergeant Tudor attended City high school and Brown's college of commerce prior to his enlistment in the marine corps. He recently returned from serving one and one-half years in the south Pacific with the fourth marine air wing. He has received the Presidential citation, and is now stationed at the El Toro marine base in Santa Ana, Calif.

Joan Chance, Dr. Wendell Johnson Exchange Marriage Vows in Single Ring Ceremony

Before an altar decorated with palms and candelabra, Joan Chance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale C. Chance of Redfield, became the bride of Dr. Wendell A. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Johnson, 809 Seventh avenue, at 3:30 yesterday afternoon in the First Methodist church. The Rev. L. L. Dunnington officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Preceding the ceremony Jean McFadden, senior in the college of liberal arts at the university, sang "Through the Years" and "Ich Liebe Dich," ("I Love You"). Mary E. Bell, student in the music department at the University, served as organist.

Mrs. Edwin C. Ellis of Mt. Vernon, sister of the bridegroom, attended the bride as matron of honor. Mary Louise Larsen, also a student in the college of liberal arts, and Diana Chance of Redfield, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Serving as best man was Staff Sgt. Raymond Tiffany, formerly of Iowa City. Navy medical students, all members of Alpha Kappa Kappa fraternity of which the bridegroom is a member, served as ushers. They were Jack Moyers, Ken Krabbenhoft, Don Hesselschwerdt and Jack Gregg.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white chiffon gown fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, bridal point sleeves and a long train. Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap banded with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

The matron of honor wore a blue chiffon gown designed with a sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and a matching

Senior Class Presents Funds for Memorial

Gift Added to Former Donations to Build $200,000 Campanile

Presentation of the senior class gift of funds for a war memorial on the University of Iowa campus was made yesterday by Jack Moyers, M4 of Guthrie Center, at the annual meeting of the Alumni association. Following a precedent set in 1942 and continued by subsequent classes, the funds will be placed in trust to be used after the war for a campanile "in remembrance of things done" on the campus by those classes, said Moyers, chairman of the senior memorial committee.

The 1942 class attracted nationwide attention by its action in recommending that funds be set aside for the building of a campanile with chimes as a permanent memorial to Iowa men and women serving in World War II. According to the plans of the 1942 committee, the project would ultimately amount to a $200,000 fund, including gifts presented by subsequent senior classes and donations contributed by friends of the university.

The bluff south of Westlawn and the hill north of the theater building have been suggested as possible sites for the bell tower. The campanile would be similar to towers at the universities of Wisconsin, Purdue, Stanford and Iowa State.

Many of the gifts presented to the university during its 98-year history by various senior classes have become campus landmarks. The two boulders on the liberal arts campus bear bronze plaques identifying them as gifts of the classes of 1869 and '70. The old stone sundial and seat west of Iowa Union were the gift of the class of 1913. When the Union was built, the sundial was moved from its original site at the end of Iowa avenue to its present place.

Without competition as the most unique gift is a gold plated drinking fountain, complete with cup, presented by some unknown class in the university's younger days. Now classed as a museum piece, the drinking fountain has been relegated to storage, its glories eclipsed until drinking cups again come into demand.

Since 1923, when the present Association of Senior Class Presidents came into existence, a majority of senior gifts have centered around Iowa Union. Several of the classes graduating during the time the building was being erected presented funds for the Union itself, honoring Iowa alumni who fought in World War I.

The balcony and grandfather clock in the Union lounge, four fireplace sets and the fountain base now on the sun porch were gifts of classes during the twenties and early thirties. The stairway from the main floor to the roof garden was built with donations by the classes of 1923 and 1924.

A cash donation for the lounge illumination system came from the class of 1934; the Mark Twain room and the west approach to the Union were presented by the class of 1935, while the seniors of 1936 and 1938 contributed funds for the east approach to the Union footbridge and the lights on the bridge.

Five classes chose portraits to be hung in the Union lounge. The portraits of prominent university figures include several done by Prof. C. A. Cumming, former head of the school of fine arts. The seniors of 1928 presented a por-

Gardner Advises—

Spray Fruit

Fruit growers should spray earlier than usual this year, according to a report by county extension director Emmett C. Gardner, because the fruit season is about three weeks ahead of normal.

When only a tenth of the petals remain on apple trees, it is time to apply calyx bud spray to fruit trees. This is one of the most important applications on the spray schedule.

After most of the petals have fallen, the fruit grower can use the following week to apply the calyx bud spray, the cluster bud wasn't applied.

Rain has made conditions excellent for apple scab to develop early, adding to the need to get the calyx spray on as soon as possible.

Gardner says the spray should be applied to both bearing and nonbearing trees. The entire tree, including the trunk, should be thoroughly covered.

Fruits to be given this spray include apples, plums, pears, cherries, and in southern and central Iowa, peaches. Gooseberries, currants and black raspberries should be sprayed at the same time.

Here is the spray mixture recommended for all fruits except peaches.

To prepare 50 gallons of the spray, mix four quarts of liquid lime sulfur (or four pounds of the dry form), two pounds of hydrated lime and 1½ pounds of lead arsenate.

Because lime sulfur injures peach foliage, use three pounds wettable sulfur and one pound lead arsenate in the spray mixture for that fruit.

Hagquist-Conley

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hagquist of Duluth, Minn., announce the engagement of their daughter, Shirley Jean, to Dr. F. William Conley, son of Mrs. Sue Conley of Marshalltown.

Mr. Hagquist is a student at the College of St. Scholastica and a member of the Phi Sigma society.

A graduate of the University of Iowa, Dr. Conley was affiliated with Phi Beta Pi fraternity. He is now a resident associate at the Duluth clinic.

Crain-Jones

Word has been received of the marriage of Pfc. Perne L. Crain of Davenport to Petty Officer Carroll C. Jones, U.S.N.R. The wedding took place Feb. 24 in the First Presbyterian church, in Santa Barbara, Calif. The Rev. Joseph Ewing officiated at the ceremony.

The bride, who was a teacher until 1944 in the Oral-Deaf school in Davenport, is an alumna of St. Ambrose college in Davenport and the University of Iowa. At present, she is taking post-graduate work at the University of Southern California in Los Angeles.

Petty Officer Jones graduated from Keokuk high school and also attended St. Ambrose college. He is now stationed at the naval air station at Terminal Island base, San Pedro, Calif.

Shannon-Scott

In a single ring ceremony, Doris Maxine Shannon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Shannon of Bennington, became the bride of Elmer M. Scott, gunner's mate first class, U.S.N., son of Mrs. Stella Scott of Minburn, April 1 in the First Methodist church at Winterset. The Rev. W. A. Samp officiated.

The bride is a graduate of St. Charles high school and attended the American Institute of Business in Des Moines, where she has been employed as secretary at the ordnance plant.

Mr. Scott, a graduate of Minburn high school, attended the University of Iowa prior to his entrance into the navy. He has served 37 months in the south Pacific and is now taking further training in Washington, D. C., where the couple will reside.

Alumni Group Meets; Seniors Add to Fund For War Memorial

The University of Iowa Alumni association held its annual meeting yesterday in the river room of Iowa Union, with Bruce Mahan, director of the alumni service, presiding in place of the association's president, Walter L. Stewart of Des Moines, who was unable to attend the university's 85th Commencement.

John Cumming, C4 of Newton, and Mary Jane Neville, A4 of Emmetsburg, were introduced to the group as president and secretary of the senior class of 1945. Jean Stamy, A4 of Marion, was presented as chairman of the senior invitations committee.

Presentation of the class gift was made by Jack Moyers, M4 of Guthrie Center, chairman of the senior memorial committee. The funds of the 1945 senior class have been added to the gifts of SUI seniors since 1942 for the erection of a war memorial to University of Iowa men and women who have served in the armed forces during World War II.

President Virgil M. Hancher accepted the senior gift in a short speech to members of the Alumni association, tracing the university's accomplishments in the past and reviewing plans for the future growth of SUI. "The future I hope and believe to be bright," President Hancher said. Barring unforeseen occurrences, the university should be able "to go forward without any serious loss of momentum."

The president presented gold medals to alumni of the class of 1895 returning for their 50th reunion. The 1895 class of the college of medicine won the traveling cup for highest attendance at the reunion, with 55 per cent of its living members returning. President Hancher also introduced members of the class of 1890 returning for their 55th anniversary and two graduates of 1885 returning for the 60th reunion of their class.

Hawks Whip Wildcats Twice; 6-3, 5-4

Smith Hurts Three Hitter

Iowa Hitters Come Through in Clutch; Spencer Leads Attack

By BETTYE NEAL
Daily Iowan Sports Writer
Iowa's baseball team won its first conference victories of the season yesterday, rolling over Northwestern to celebrate Alumni Day in a doubleheader by scores of 6-3 and 5-4.

It was largely the work of Hawk pitcher Max Smith that enabled the Iowa nine to win their first contest, for he gave up only three hits and allowed as many runs behind the almost non-existent support of his infielders. He had seven strike-outs to his credit.

Scoring Spurge

An eighth inning scoring spurge, in which the Hawks drove across all six of their runs, gave the victors a three-point margin over the Wildcats, and from that point they were never again threatened.

Northwestern scored first, in the second stanza, when Bruno Gargas, catcher, crossed the plate on Henry Quinn's error. The Old Golders tried to even the count in the bottom half, but the attempt failed when George Knack struck out with Smith on third and Spencer at second.

Sluggers Farrar

The Wildcats put over another run in the third, when Jim Farrar slammed a home run, and talked again in the sixth on faulty Iowa fielding. The Hawks got their first hit in the fourth frame, and added two more in the fifth by Spencer and Quinn, but again the threat ended when Ochs fled out.

The timely eighth inning rally started when Ochs, Grewe and Cabalka led off the batting order with singles. After the first two had scored, Smith's bunt sent Cabalka home to tie the game up at 3-3. Spencer hit next, advancing Smith to third and Quinn walked, loading the bases.

Close Decision

George Knack's single sent Smith in, but Spencer was called out on a close decision at the plate, which put McCord on first, and again filled the bases.

Leading 4-3, the Hawks counted twice more when Ochs got his second hit of the inning, scoring Quinn and Knack. The scoring spurt ended when the speedy little second baseman was called out stealing second. Northwestern failed to take advantage of their last chance to even the count.

The second contest early assumed the aspect of becoming a free-for-all scoring game. Tornquist, leading off for Northwestern in the first inning, singled and then scored on another hit by Gargas. The Wildcats stretched their lead by tallying again in the second frame, but Iowa made the score 2-1 immediately, as Spencer doubled and came home on Quinn's hit.

Wildcat Errors

Hawkeye hitting power again became evident in the third, when Grewe singled, bringing in Ochs, to tie the count. From then on, Wildcat errors worked for Iowa, with Grewe and Dunfrund scoring, to bring the Hawks into the lead, 4-2.

Jack Wisniewski, who replaced Bill Anderson at first base in the second game, gave Iowa his fifth run in the sixth frame, but the Hawks could not summon up enough power after that to increase the lead.

Northwestern threatened to reduce the margin in the seventh inning, when Walsh and Weil got on base by virtue of error and a walk respectively, and scored on a long fly by Tornquist.

The Wildcats' last bid for the victory came in the eighth when Gargas advanced to scoring position, but he died on the bases as the Iowa infield rose to stop the threat.

Hoffman Fans Seven

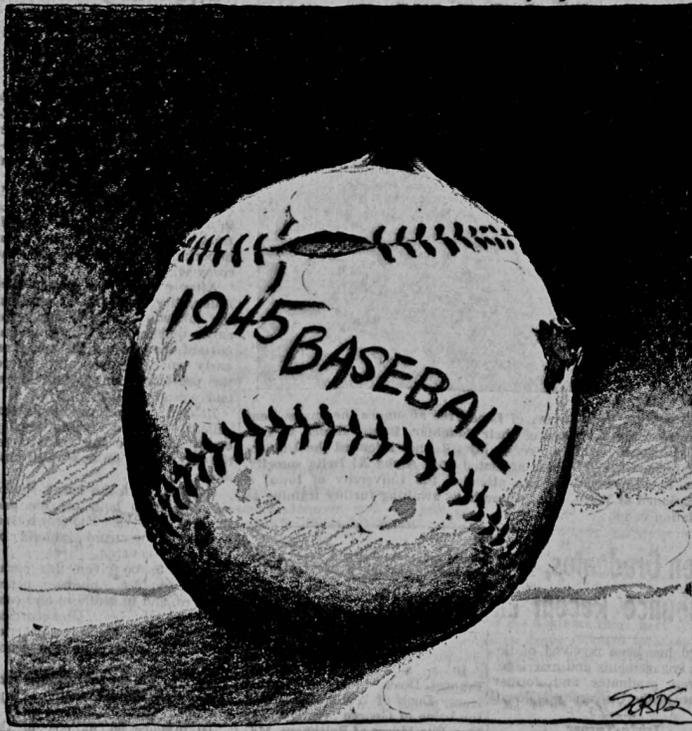

Gene Hoffman hurled the second game, and held the losers to nine hits, while striking out seven batters. Charged with the loss was Dick Bokelman, who allowed only five hits, and fanned the same number of men.

Iowa's twin victories give them a conference record of two wins against four losses. The Hawks finish their Big Ten season next weekend against Minnesota.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bill Nicholson's seventh-inning double against the right field screen scored Phil Cavaretta with the run that gave the Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Pirates yesterday.

In squaring the series at the one game apiece, the veteran Paul Derringer racked up his second win of the season.

Behind Preacher Roe, the Pirates led, 3-1, at the end of the third, but Chicago tied it up in the fourth on singles by Nicholson and Hank Sauer, an outfield fly, and Derringer's hit.

Giants Stop Dodgers, 3-2

NEW YORK (AP)—Although stung for 11 hits and coaxed for five bases on balls, Bill Voiselle was as tight as a drum in the pinches as the Brooklyn Dodgers left 11 men on bases, to drop their second straight to the New York Giants, 3-2, yesterday before 10,260 rain-drenched fans.

Steve Filipowicz, ex-Fordham football hero, provided the Giants with the margin of victory with a two-run homer in the fifth inning. The New Yorkers scored their other run in the opening frame when Mel Ott singled in Johnny Rucker who had doubled.

Cards—Trip Reds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals took advantage of a nine-inning lapse in the Cincinnati defense yesterday to score a tie-breaking run and win the opening game of their series, 3 to 2.

Arnold Carter, the Red's only lefthand pitcher, appeared to have the game tucked away on his fine seven-hit job until Marty Marion pried the lid off the Cardinals at the start of the final frame by rapping out a single.

Emil Verban bunted and Steve Mesner threw wide to first, both runners being safe. Relief pitcher Ken Burkhardt sacrificed both runners a notch, and Augie Bergamo walked, filling the bases and setting up the situation for the game-winning single by Johnny Gopp which was forthcoming promptly.

Prior to that undoing, Carter had allowed only seven hits and two walks.

Maybe So

Lots Of Jots That's All

By BOB KRAUSE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
PLEASANT PATTERN: Well, they did it the Hawk-eyes finally broke out in all their wrath and smacked down the Northwestern Wildcats twice in a broiling sun yesterday afternoon broiled, however, isn't quite the word to describe the condition of most of the spectators after the long afternoon burned to a crisp is more appropriate believe us, we know pass the lotion, pal

. All Waddy Davis' men needed was a few ringing base hits to get themselves out of the diamond doldrums these they produced with much gusto for the first time since the first game with Ottumwa the reason for where we sat: Iowa hitters weren't going up to the plate with murder in their hearts they were keeping their collective eye on the pill and just meeting the ball therein lies the secret to good hitting, unless you happen to be related to Babe Ruth

. It took a while for the Hawks to catch on to John Remke, the Wildcats' first hurler But when they finally did John couldn't speak for himself anymore Remke threw what is known to the trade as a "slider" that's a type of pitch which looks like it's just loafing up to the plate the prospective batter thinks he can take it easy for a second maybe think about that blond in the third row (courtesy of Dick Yoakam) suddenly the pitch explodes in his face, lands in the catcher's mitt with a loud crash strike three

. Iowa got a cheap score in the first game when the Northwestern catcher thought he had an easy force at home actually the plate was covered by dust and he missed it with his foot the umpire apologetically brushed off the pan as the catcher gave him the brush-off but those two victories weren't cheap the Hawks came through before the fans on Alumni Day Nice going, men

THIS IS THE LAST of a series, "Maybe So" and its author are leaving for distant shores. We can say that we've enjoyed "maybe-soing," and perhaps you have. If so, we are grateful. Now we say so long to all our friends until a bit later. Good luck to all. Thanks to all.

Michigan Halts Illinois, 1-0

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—The University of Michigan's Big Ten baseball champions turned in their second consecutive shutout over Illinois yesterday, 1 to 0.

Hurlers Bliss Bowman and Red Louthen held the Illini to two scattered hits, while Michigan bunched two of their three hits off Art Ecklund in the fifth inning to score the lone tally.

CLEVELAND'S "HARD BASE" PROBLEM STILL HAS TO BE SETTLED AND THOUGH HE WOULD PREFER MOST ANY OTHER PITCHER, ROY MAY END UP AT THE HOT CORNER.

Illini Enter Drake Relays

To Forego Penn Relays For Des Moines; 826 Athletes Listed

DES MOINES (AP)—Illinois, which won the lion's share of honors in the Drake Relays last year, will be back to compete in the Iowa spiked shoe carnival Friday and Saturday, M. E. "Bill" Easton, relays manager, announced yesterday.

Only Friday H. Jamison Swarts, athletic director for the University of Pennsylvania, announced that Illinois would compete in the Penn Relays the same weekend. Easton said he talked with Leo Johnson, Illini coach, yesterday and "Leo says Illinois very definitely will be here. They will arrive Friday afternoon."

Easton said the number of individual entries in the Drake competition was up to 826, the highest since 1942. Thirty-five universities and colleges and 48 high schools have entered contestants. Seven hundred and fifty athletes competed last year. High school events will be held Friday and the college competition Saturday.

Among the entries received yesterday was that of William Lund, a Navy V-12 broad jumper from Case School of Applied Science, Cleveland, Lind, National A.A.U. broad champion last year, won the Cleveland Knights of Columbus indoor meet this season with a jump of 24 feet 5 inches. Wisconsin entered a 16-man delegation to compete in four relays and six individual events.

Loss of Nichols
A cloud in the relays picture was the loss of Dave Nichols of Illinois, National collegiate champion in the high hurdles. He will be unable to compete because of illness, which has forced him out of school temporarily.

Missouri's star weight men, Bill Bangert and Ed Quirk, will split for the relays competition. Quirk will compete in the Penn events and Bangert at Drake. Bangert is National collegiate champion in the discus and National A.A.U. indoor champion in the shotput.

United Clothing Collection Drive Ends Successfully

The close of the United Clothing Collection drive in Iowa City last night found headquarters at 208 E. College street piled high with clothing contributed by Iowa Citizens. Three truckloads of packed clothing has already been sent to the warehouse for storage and a large quantity of clothing remains to be packed.

"The thoughtfulness of people was the most gratifying thing about the drive," Mrs. Dan A. Shaffer, chairman of the drive, said last night.

Some Iowa Citizens felt that they had not done enough in giving their used clothing and actually bought new clothing to contribute to the drive.

Much of the clothing contributed had been mended. Some thoughtful persons contributed spoils of thread, needles, pins and buttons. Mrs. Shaffer expressed gratitude towards all those who had assisted in making the drive a success, including the volunteer workers at headquarters and the Parent-Teachers association and the Girl Scouts who packed contributions brought to the schools.

World War II Veterans Plan Local AMVET

Veterans of World War II will be organized in Iowa City this week under the direction of Richard F. Nazette, 613 E. Burlington street, a veteran who was a lieutenant in the army and Pfc. Jesse E. Jacobs, 211 Newton road.

Nazette, a junior in the College of Law is a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Jacobs, a sophomore in the College of Medicine, is a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity.

One of the first chapters to be organized, Iowa City's group will receive its charter as soon as there are ten members.

First Chapter

The first Iowa chapter, organized in Atlantic three months ago, started with 14 members; there are now 150 members.

Dr. C. M. Longstreth of Atlantic and a retired Lieut. Commander in the medical corps USNR, is state commander of American Veterans of World War II. He was in Iowa City yesterday making first plans for the local organization.

He also organized Iowa's first chapter in Atlantic. Before coming to Iowa City, he called at Clarinda and Des Moines where he appointed officers and from there will go to Waterloo and Sioux City.

Brigadier Gen. H. C. Holdridge, retired, is executive secretary of the national office in Washington D. C. Many of the organizers also are members of the American Legion.

Membership Requirements

Eligibility requirements are as follows: any veteran of the armed forces of World War II, between Sept. 16, 1940, and the end of hostilities; Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard; including women's components thereof: Wacs, WAVES, Spars, Army Nurse Corps; either honorably discharged or possessing certificates of honorable termination of active service; or members of these components still on active service, are eligible for membership in the AMVETS.

Those in doubt as to eligibility because of the special nature of their service, submit the case for decision to National Headquarters.

The original organization of the AMVETS was established in Washington, D. C., in September, 1944, by a number of veterans of World War II. Because of favorable world wide publicity it has emerged rapidly as an outstanding veteran's organization.

It goal will be helpful participation in veterans' activities. Its membership, including posts, represents thirty-five states.

Organization Aims

The aims and purposes of this organization are as follows:

- (1) To serve our country in peace as in war and to build and maintain the welfare of the United States of America toward lasting prosperity and peace for all its inhabitants.
- (2) To encourage, in keeping with the policies of our government, the establishment of a concrete plan to secure permanent international peace. To aid in promoting a lasting peace among nations predicated upon honesty, justice, and understanding of mutual rights, duties and problems.
- (3) To inspire in our membership a sense of responsibility, and to develop leadership, for the preservation of our American democratic way of life.
- (4) To help unify divergent groups in the overall interest of American democracy.
- (5) To train our youth to become purposeful citizens in a democracy with a full knowledge of the responsibilities as well as the privileges of citizenship.
- (6) To cooperate with all recognized existing veteran organizations to the furtherance of the aims of World War II veterans. We feel strong bonds of friendship for the men of our country who fought in the first World War and the previous wars of our history. We recognize and appreciate the unity, interest, and strength they lend to all movements for veteran welfare. In our common efforts to achieve just benefits for veterans and to protect the rights of our comrades still under arms, we are eager to cooperate to the full with their organizations.
- (7) To insure the orderly return of the veterans to civilian life by protecting his rights as an individual while he is still in uniform.
- (8) To expedite and assist in the rehabilitation of the veteran by maintenance of employment services, sponsoring educational opportunities, and providing counsel for insurance, housing, recreation, and personal problems, and supporting adequate hospitalization and medical care.
- (9) To act as a liaison agent between the veteran and the government.
- (10) To seek community planning for the adequate care of all disabled veterans and the general welfare and rehabilitation of all veterans.
- (11) To provide an organization to encourage fellowship among all veterans of World War II.

ROBERT MCCOY, B-17 pilot and former university student who participated in a mighty raid on the German capital last October.

B-17 Pilot Robert McCoy, Former SUI Student, Tells About AAF Bombing Raid on Berlin

While he read the paper in The Daily Iowan news room telling about Berlin tottering from Yank ground assault, B-17 pilot Robert McCoy, former University of Iowa student and son of Com. H. J. McCoy, medical officer at the pre-flight school, told about his visit to the German capital last October when the AAF force made Berlin totter with its bombs.

Bob had left the states in August, 1944. The mighty Berlin raid was last October. It was a costly completed mission. All Bob's crew was lost except the pilot and himself, acting co-pilot at that time. Flak knocked out the number one engine on the plane. Bob asserted flak was the main opposition although they did see the hide and seek German airforce at various times.

When they weren't flying missions the Eighth airforce takes London over, according to Bob. Upon returning to the states the 12 o'clock curfew isn't one bit inconvenient because London maintains a 10 o'clock curfew. For entertainment there are good shows that cost sky high prices and "terrific beer." Shopping is just about nil because ration points are required for everything and then you can't get merchandise.

Robot bombs didn't cause as much excitement as ice cream when London finally got a supply. The public was a little leary and some of the children wondered what the cold sweet stuff was. To make it more convincing a store posted the sign, "Ice Cream! If you don't believe it is ice cream ask the Americans!" That settled it—the line formed to the right.

Bob's biggest thrill when he returned was exactly the same as all the other lucky guys. It was the Statue of Liberty, and somehow that lady outranks all the glamour pin-up gals that Hollywood can glorify.

Bob said he thought the States were just the same, but Iowa City had changed, but for the better. "The campus is overrun with women!" he exclaimed. He was on campus in 1942 and 1943 and took premed work. When the service began to draw heavily on college groups, he decided to go into the army even if the McCoy family leaned slightly towards the navy side of things. Bob has been awarded the Air medal with five Oak Leaf clusters for 35 missions over Germany.

While in Iowa City Bob accomplished two things, played some golf with his father and looked up his Phi Delta Theta fraternity brothers.

"I report to Santa Ana, Calif. for reassignment," Bob said, "but as soon as the war is over, I'm anxious to get back into the harness here at the university. It's right back to premed for me!"

The council Friday night authorized the mayor and city clerk to enter into a one-year contract with Ira W. Montgomery, the present garbage collector, for collecting and disposing of the city's garbage until May 1, 1946. Montgomery is to receive $12,000 under the contract.

The special garbage committee is expected to report to the council as soon as possible. It is hoped that by the time Montgomery's contract expires, the equipment and manpower will be available for the city to take over the refuse disposal job itself.

Those making the trip are Bruce Knowles, Bob Wilhite, Bill Potter, Don Guthrie, Dean Dunshie, Kenneth Bishop, Harold Harvigen, Lyle Nesbitt, Dale Godbey, Betty Kirby, Dick Emmert, Helen Gower, Chester Miller, Lillian Parizek, Mary Dvorsky, Margaret Marsh, Virginia Williamson, Jack Harris, Harriet Barnes, Paul Opstad, Nancy Jones, Martha Hiseock, Mary Lou Kringel, Peggy Kemp, Mattie Ann Albrecht, Duane Smith and Tom Dunnington.

Calvin Yoder of Iowa City was awarded the state farm bureau prize for outstanding work in helping pick corn last fall for neighbors who did not have corn pickers. The award was made at a meeting of the Johnson county Farm Bureau in Iowa City Friday night.

Edward Hudepoohl of Oxford was awarded second prize for combining soy beans for his neighbors.

City Plans— Garbage Disposal

Plans for the municipal ownership and operation of a refuse collection and disposal service for Iowa City are taking shape. "Collecting and disposing of garbage and other refuse is an important sanitary measure in any city," Mayor Wilber J. Teeters said yesterday.

A committee of three aldermen, I. J. Barron, Vernon I. Capen and Charles T. Smith, was appointed by the mayor at a council meeting Friday night to investigate all aspects of the garbage and refuse problem.

"The proposed municipal system would not only collect and dispose of garbage but all other kinds of refuse as well," the mayor declared.

If the hopes of the mayor and the council are realized, Iowa City will have its own trucks for collecting garbage and refuse, crews of uniformed men and some sort of a disposal system probably located near the sewage disposal plant south of the city.

Mayor Teeters believes that two modern garbage collection trucks could adequately service the city. Such trucks are built especially for the purpose, are all enclosed, have a low elevation for garbage to be lifted into the truck and contain machinery for grinding and packing the garbage.

Several methods of disposal are being considered. It has been learned that incineration is expensive, especially for cities this size.

One of the most modern methods is to place the garbage in closed concrete pits to ferment and decay through bacterial action. The pit method has been tried in a few cities in Florida and New York and been proved very successful.

"If we should decide that the pit method is the best, we have nearly 20 acres of land near the sewage disposal plant which would be ideal for the purpose," Mayor Teeters said.

The council Friday night authorized the mayor and city clerk to enter into a one-year contract with Ira W. Montgomery, the present garbage collector, for collecting and disposing of the city's garbage until May 1, 1946. Montgomery is to receive $12,000 under the contract.

The special garbage committee is expected to report to the council as soon as possible. It is hoped that by the time Montgomery's contract expires, the equipment and manpower will be available for the city to take over the refuse disposal job itself.

There's a story drifting around that one balmy evening this spring, four coeds were having a picnic along the riverbank. Suddenly, out of nowhere, a voice tried to engage the unsuspecting young ladies in conversation. The unseen intruder kept talking, so the story goes, until the poor girls held a council, sorrowfully gathered up their food, and "like the Arabs, silently stole away." Imagine the reaction when they later discovered that "The Voice" was a loud speaking system, with a two-way hook-up.

It's the "Strawberry Festival"

all this month at FORD HOPKIN'S. Great big luscious strawberries for shortcakes, sundaes, sodas, or banana splits. A combination of a FORD HOPKIN'S Sunday dinner of vegetable soup, baked sugar-cured ham, whipped potatoes, green beans, head lettuce salad, rolls and butter, coffee or tea, and a special strawberry dessert would be a hearty "Hooray!" for this festival.
