Aussie Infantry Takes Brunei Without Fight

Other Units Drive Within Half Mile Of Timbalai Field

MANILA, Friday (AP)—Brunei, important river port and capital of the north Borneo sultanate of Brunei, fell by default to Australian Ninth division infantrymen who walked unopposed into the bomb-flattened town Wednesday, it was disclosed today.

The town 16 miles from the nearest landing points when the invasion of British Borneo began last Sunday, was occupied after a hot march through the lush jungle against scanty Japanese opposition.

A communique from Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that Australian units of Labuan bay, had moved within a half mile of the Timbalai air strip along the Hamilton road and found not more than 500 Japanese opposing them.

The defense was stiffening, however, with mortar fire and snipers on the increase both in the Timbalai area and in stubborn pockets north and west of Labuan air strip, which already is being used to some extent by the allies.

Timbalai is the last Japanese-held airfield of three in the invasion area.

A headquarters spokesman here, commenting on the light casualties on both sides, said "many thousands" of Japanese were scattered throughout west Borneo, although the slight reaction in the Brunei bay area indicated that no sizeable forces of the enemy remained there.

United States 13th airforce Mitchell medium and Lightning fighter-bombers and Royal Australian airforce Beaufighters and Kittyhawks continued strong support of the invasion forces, striking heavily at Jesselton, British north Borneo, northwest of the Brunei bay.

Light naval forces shelled and started fires at Mari, air-field 75 miles southwest of the invasion sector around Brunei bay.

The Australians, who invaded the bay district on Sunday, marched 16 miles through jungle-grown trails in reaching Brunei.

Australian infantry pressed ahead of their tanks, encountering only small-arms and machine-gun fire.

Enemy supply ship sunk off Sumatra

CALCUTTA (AP)—A Japanese supply ship and a submarine chaser have been sunk by British destroyers of the East Indies fleet off the northwestern tip of Sumatra, the southeast Asia command announced yesterday.

RAP Liberators supported the operation and Japanese bombing attacks on the British ships caused no casualties or damage, the communique said.

Slowly enlarging the ring of allied-held Burma above Rangoon, British 14th army troops pushed the Japanese a little nearer the Thailand border by capturing an enemy position nearly 21 miles east of Toungoo on the Toungoo-Mawchi road.

British Offer India Revised Council With Two Positions Held by Britons

LONDON (AP)—The British government yesterday offered India a revamped executive council with only two posts held by Britons—a move which a British paper called a "genuine step forward . . . towards Indian self-government" — and renewed its 1942 proposal for postwar dominion status for the Oriental key-stone of the empire.

Management of foreign affairs, now controlled by Viceroy Lord Wavell, would pass into Indian hands as well as the finance and home departments, now held by Britons. Indians already outnumber Britons on the council by 10 to four.

The viceroy is bound by the council's advice in most matters, but may overrule its recommendations if they collide with his own views on what is essential for the safety or tranquility of the country.

While L. S. Amery, secretary of state for India, read the white paper to parliament, Wavell in a New Delhi broadcast told Indians that eight members of the Congress party's working committee had been released from jail and said he intended to invite Indian leaders to confer with him on formation of a new executive council "more representative of organized political opinion."

The white paper said Britain's main position remained the same—that the "working out of India's constitutional system is a task which can only be carried through by the Indian people themselves," and Amery concluded by saying "We cannot hand India over to anarchy or civil war."

Sir Stafford Cripps, who carried the British plan for dominion status to India three years ago, said he "wholeheartedly welcomed" the plans, and added that increasing the number of Indians on the council "must bring about complete alteration in the balance of power which has hitherto existed between the British and the Indians."

No reaction from India had reached London last night.

Jap Defense Line On Okinawa Cracked

Highest Summit In South of Island Captured by 96th

GUAM, Friday (AP)—Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th infantry division cracked the center of the previously outflanked Japanese defense line on southern Okinawa Thursday by capturing 500-foot-high Yaeju hill and pushing on south.

The summit of southern Okinawa's highest peak was gained early yesterday after a brisk fight while other divisions cut in behind both ends of the rugged escarpment line where an estimated 10,000 Nipponese are making a last stand in an area of less than 13 square miles.

West of Yaeju hill, a key position, other 96th division infantry assaulted a second high point. The hill was won by the 381st regiment.

Lieut. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner Jr.'s 10th army troops continued their heavy pressure throughout the entire Yaeju defense lines despite strong Japanese resistance.

More than 100 Japanese surrendered on Oroku peninsula and many others committed hara kiri on Oroku peninsula.

Elements of the Third marine amphibious corps, meantime, made unopposed landings on Senaga island, off the southwest coast of Oroku peninsula. They captured five Japanese naval guns.

On the southeastern coast, the Seventh infantry division gained 300 to 700 yards to reach the center of Mazaka town. Resistance there was moderate to heavy.

Reds to Try 16 Poles For Terrorism

Mikolajczyk Prepares Demand for Release Of Accused Leaders

LONDON (AP)—Russia announced last night that 16 Polish leaders would be tried within the next few days for "terroristic acts of diversion" behind Red army lines.

The announcement came on the eve of a conference scheduled to open in the Russian capital today among representatives of the Big Three and various Polish factions for the purpose of organizing a broader-based Polish provisional government.

At least one of the Poles invited to the meeting, former Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, a leader of the Peasant party, had been reported by the British press to be prepared to demand the release of the 16 accused Poles as a condition to participating in the parley.

Russia announced May 6 that she had arrested the Polish leaders, creating a storm in international relations and leading to a breakdown in Big Three negotiations on broadening the Polish government. Earlier this week the Paris radio reported that Harry Hopkins, President Truman's special emissary to Moscow, had effected the release of the group.

Moscow for the first time identified four of the arrested group in last night's broadcast announcement.

They were Jan Jankowski, vice-premier of the London Polish government-in-exile; Gen. Bronislaw Okulicki, former Polish underground army leader; Stanislaw Jasiukowicz, former parliament national party representative, and Adam Bien, Peasant party member and former Warsaw judge.

The exiled government here, to whom a majority of the arrested Poles owe allegiance, charges that the men were seized after being invited to the headquarters of a Russian commander in Poland, who had offered to arrange their transportation to London.

The exile group has refused to recognize the validity of any forthcoming negotiations in which it is not represented.

Moscow has insisted that the case is in no way connected with reorganization of the Polish government in line with the Yalta agreement.

Chinese Reach Ishan Suburbs

CHUNGKING (AP)—Chinese troops attacking on a broad front in south China have reached the suburbs of Liuchow and Ishan, key strongholds in the shrinking Japanese transcontinental corridor to southeast Asia, the high command announced yesterday.

Enemy garrisons were being pounded in the northern suburbs of Liuchow, site of a former American air base in Kwangsi province, and also at Ishan, 43 miles to the west of the Kwei-chow (Kweichow)—Kwangsi railway.

The Chinese were forced out of Ishan last Monday following a severe Japanese counterattack, believed launched by rearguards protecting the enemy's withdrawal from the corridor which once connected Japanese forces in China with 200,000 enemy troops in Indo-China, Thailand, Malaya and Burma.

American airmen aided the Chinese by strafing enemy lines from Liuchow northeastward to Heng-yang.

Patton to Return To European Job

Will Head Third As Occupation Unit In Germany

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton is going back to Europe and an occupation army assignment instead of heading forthwith for Tokyo.

Secretary of War Stimson announced the plan for the two-guanoing general yesterday in designating his Third army, along with the Seventh, for the job of occupying Germany.

Patton, tank expert and exponent of daring tactics, has been expressing a hope for a chance at the Japanese ever since he came home. The war department announced that the Third army and the Seventh, also combat veterans, will stay in Germany, was in itself surprising. The 15th army had been generally considered as the probable occupation outfit.

Stimson said the Third and Seventh armies "rather than the 15th" will be the occupation force, but reports from Europe said the 15th will stay until December. Presumably, if it can be spared then, it will come home. Reports here were that it might be disbanded as an organized unit and its forces assigned to other groups.

Presumably the Third and Seventh army occupation forces will be considerably different in makeup from the combat outfits that slammed the Wehrmacht back.

NLRB Curtails Regional Operations, Asks Added Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The national labor relations board, its funds depleted by an unforeseen increase in the number of strike votes, drastically curtailed its regional operations and looked to congress yesterday for help.

The new allotment of funds now before the senate appropriations committee will not be available before the start of a new fiscal year, July 1, and the board is broke, a spokesman said in an interview.

The agency does have about $80,000 left over in its printing and binding fund, but under the law this can't be used for anything else, so legislation is needed to free it for general expenses.

Chairman Cannon (D., Mo.) of the house appropriations committee told this reporter that the committee would take up the NLRB's situation Saturday.

Yank Gain In Mountains Of Luzon

MANILA, Friday (AP)—United States troops scored a three-mile advance Wednesday through northern Luzon's mountains. Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today, placing them two miles from the entrance to Cagayan valley, where the biggest enemy force still at large in the islands is believed to be deployed.

As the Americans toiled along the mountain trail, medium bombers and fighters in 500 sorties Tuesday blasted and strafed the Japanese supply lines through the valley.

More than 40 miles to the southwest, the 33rd infantry division was only six miles from the isolated enemy base of Bokod, after overrunning the towns of Tabio and Ambuklao. Bokod is 16 miles northeast of the summer capital of Baguio.

Supplementing wide-spread air strikes at enemy supply lines throughout the area, shore raiders landed at night on Sangihe island, south of Mindanao, blew up six large warehouses, destroyed a number of watercraft and withdrew without loss, MacArthur's communique said.

Chinn Elected Council Head

Gerald K. Chinn, L3 of Des Moines, has been elected chairman of the newly organized Student Council.

Gordon Christensen, L1 of Iowa City, has been named secretary. Both will serve only for the summer. Regular officers will be elected next fall when the now-vacant positions on the council are filled.

Chinn is president of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and heads the inter-fraternity council.

Christensen is a member of the Veterans association and is affiliated with Phi Delta Theta fraternity.

The council this summer will formulate plans for a fall program to encourage student activities. When other student organizations on the campus send representatives to the council this fall, a formal expression of the council's activities is planned.

Small Nations Want Easy Amendment

As Alternative Seek Right to Withdraw From World League

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Little nations at the United Nations conference held yesterday for easy amendment of a world charter in the future or, failing that, the right to withdraw at any time from a new international league.

They want one or the other as protection, now that the Big Five have clinched their control over the prospective world organization and the right to veto peace-enforcement steps.

A delegate from one of the lesser powers put it this way: "As the charter is now set up, there seems to be no way open to modify the veto in years to come, particularly since the Big Five also want to control any revisionary meeting which may be called in the future. We feel that if the Big Five plan to keep their veto power indefinitely, we will want to get out of the world organization."

With the exception of Russia, the Big Five now are against putting a specific withdrawal clause in the charter and all are insisting the veto must apply to revision of the charter in later years.

The conference was operating under a new time table calling for committees to finish their chores by tonight, and a rapid round of public commission sessions over the weekend and early next week, with the signing of the charter set for no later than June 23.

B-29's Drop Incendiaries On Osaka

Arnold Discloses Quota of Destruction From Guam Base

GUAM, Friday (AP)—The American bomb load dumped on Japan will reach the rate of 2,000,000 tons a year by July 1, Gen. H. H. Arnold announced today just as 520 Superfortresses were siring 3,000 tons of incendiaries on industrial Osaka and Amagasaki in a first-anniversary raid.

Arnold, chief of the United States army airforces, personally disclosed the heavy Osaka raid in a dramatic press conference in which he detailed his program for "complete and utter destruction" of the enemy homeland by air.

The gigantic desolation wrought in Japan by a series of Superfortress raids, that have totaled about 75,000 tons since November, will be as nothing compared with the devastation the enemy may expect to start within hardly more than two weeks, Arnold made clear.

The scheduled 2,000,000 annual bomb tonnage would average 5,480 tons each day, and the five-star commander of the airforces grimly declared:

"If that is what Japan want, by God, that is what she is going to get."

Here on his first visit to the Marianas area and the 21st bomber command, Arnold disclosed that the program for Japan was the same as for Germany—aerial destruction of her industries, with the aid of Japanese-acquainted target-evaluators.

Differences, as he pointed out, are that Japanese industry is concentrated in a smaller area, but is better dispersed among homes and small plants.

"We are going to more than double the tonnage we are going to drop on Japan, starting July 1," Arnold added at a press conference.

"Starting July 1, we are going to drop 1,700,000 tons and forces of Gen. George C. Kenney (commander of the far eastern airforces) 300,000 tons.

"You know what will be left of the area from Tokyo to Nagasaki, which is all of Japan that counts industrially."

"Suicide planes are cheap and can be made in a back yard. That is why we went into the destruction program to defeat Japan. It is necessary to destroy five key cities (Tokyo, Nagoya, Yokohama, Kobe and Osaka). It is going to be a terrible place to live in."

C of C Believes Peacetime Draft To Be Good Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—A year of compulsory military service for America's young men, the United States Chamber of Commerce said yesterday, would be good business.

Advocating a continuous 12 months' training period, the businessmen's organization said the annual cost "of maintaining say, 1,000,000 young men in training, would far less than that of the alternative necessary standing army and navy of several million men."

"Certainly military training could be financed for a great many years at the cost of only one year of war," Dunlap C. Clark of Kalamazoo, Mich., told the house postwar military committee for the Chamber.

A newspaper publisher and an editor-historian disagreed on the value of the proposed peacetime draft in testimony before the committee headed by Representative Woodrum (D. Va.).

Catchers Now
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Control of prowling cats was voted by the Illinois house yesterday amid mock meows.

Passed and sent to the senate with two votes to spare, 79-23, the measure declares and accuses them of nuisance and inflicts a fine of $500 for each cat. It requires peace officers to impound and destroy cats running at large. The animals could be ransomed for $5.

The weather at least is favorable for this, the opening day of the fishing season at Lake Macbride. Now if the conditions of the water are favorable and the fish are in a cooperative frame of mind . . . The rain yesterday afternoon measured only .01 of an inch but it MUST have rained more than that up town. The high was 82, the low 68.

Atrocities—Will We Learn?

Americans have been shaken out of many complacencies in this war, but seldom has the jolt been as severe as that which accompanied the atrocities night-mare.

From that jolt Americans should learn a lesson. FOREIGN NATIONS WILL GO TO GREAT EXTREMES TO UPHOLD THEIR PRINCIPLES—regardless of whether those principles are "right."

Some of the acts of foreign nations are difficult for our sensibilities to comprehend. But almost always THESE ACTS COULD HAVE BEEN UNDERSTOOD, if only we had made an effort.

Pearl Harbor came. We were shocked. We swore that a thing would never happen again.

The Philippines... Wake... Guam. More shocks. And we swore such things would never happen again.

The bombed cities of England... the homeless, starving children of France. Again more shocks. Again more pledges.

And now the Nazi atrocities. There were some who wouldn't believe. A representative group of newspaper editors, trained in reporting ONLY THE FACTS, was called. They reported, and the stark realism has left an indelible picture in our minds of a foreign aggressor fighting to achieve a goal.

These atrocities present a striking example of a blind American people, ignoring the "interests" of other nations because they are sightless to any but their own "interests." We have failed to try to understand the motives behind innocent-appearing "new orders" until it is too late.

It was in China that these atrocities first came to light. Japan's conquest of Manchuria, the rape of Nanking, tortures and enslavement for the Chinese people.

Then came Ethiopia and the machine-gunning of native troops. The atrocities continued in Spain. In Europe, Hitler persecuted the Jews.

But through it all, we kept our eyes shut. We had been told that the Belgium atrocities of the last war were merely propaganda. SO WE ACCEPTED THE SIMILAR DEEDS OF THIS WAR AS "PROPAGANDA" AND NOTHING MORE.

All of this happened because we had not made ourselves acquainted with the nazism and fascism of Europe. We looked in books to find out what a fascist and a dictator were. And when we found out, we shrugged our shoulders and said: "Well, that's all right if that's the kind of government they want. We certainly don't want it. But it's up to those people."

WHAT WE DIDN'T DISCOVER WAS THAT FASCISM AND NAZIISM IN THOSE COUNTRIES WERE PROGRAMS OF CONQUEST OF OTHER NATIONS, ENSLAVEMENT OF OTHER PEOPLES. WE DIDN'T DISCOVER IT BECAUSE WE KEPT OUR EYES SHUT. THERE CERTAINLY WERE ENOUGH INDICATIONS.

"But now," you say, "we realize what happened and it won't happen again. We swear it won't."

Certainly we can look into the past and realize what happened. The problems of the past have been solved—whether rightly or wrongly—and all we need do is sit in our easy chairs and read our newspapers. We don't have to think about the problems.

BUT HOW ABOUT THE PROBLEMS OF THE PRESENT? THEY AREN'T SOLVED. DO WE

speediness is by no means limited to heroes of the cinder track.

Some of them have put the tag of the "Dashing Dane" on Minister Henrik de Kauffmann and are claiming that he's the fastest man off the mark they've seen in some time, in or out of a track suit.

Paul Mallon

—Senators Back OPA

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON — Senators roundly damned OPA for weeks—then surprisingly extended its powers another year.

The decision was not illogical. True enough, OPA has committed many blunders, and is wholly unsatisfactory. The gross flaws, however, have been of an administrative nature and no fault of legislation.

When Senators tried to write over-alls rules to cure these defects, they found it difficult, if not impossible. So as they came up, hot or cold, against the final question of allowing OPA to continue, a small majority was readily found by the administration to believe that price restriction management must not be stopped while there is a shortage of goods—else there will be inflation.

But there was more behind the senate vote than logic. I understand a deal was made for a thorough housecleaning which will amount to an OPA re-organization. Indeed, it is not impossible that Director Bowles himself may go, although the congressional complaints are not personally directed against him, but rather against the sub-strata of what the congressmen call "theorists," who really do the technical OPA work in lower level positions.

This crowd clings to its ideas of regimentation and restriction on sound business practices while black markets flourish. The ousting of at least some of these is already planned. In fact, a few hours before the vote, New York's regional administrator, Woolley, promised a shake-up in his much criticized office "very soon."

Rather surprisingly, the senators critical of OPA are privately expressing new admiration for J. A. Krug, the supposedly, new deal chairman of the war production board. Businessmen have reported confidence in him, and say he has sounder ideas than any other official in the government management despite his heritage.

This may be due to Mr. Krug's advocacy of a withdrawal of controls in order to speed up reconversion. It would not be surprising if Mr. Krug wound up on the top of the heap.

These considerations are probably what caused such ardent anti-OPA fans as Senators George and LaFollette to vote in favor of the Barkley compromise amendment which secured sufficient prestige to put the continuance bill through the senate. The progressive LaFollette and the more conservative George see just about eye to eye on the defects in OPA so there cannot be much doubt about their glaring validity.

Price uncertainty and regulations unquestionably have caused a general reluctance of business to convert to peacetime goods.

While the OPA has laid down a general formula for reconversion prices (based on 1942) there are confused exceptions.

Krug apparently believes OPA mismanagement could cause unemployment in the reconversion era, if continued without change. Now both Bowles and his head of pricing, Brownlee, are businessmen (but not of like views with Krug, George or LaFollette) and whether their reorganization will be able to reestablish confidence of business in OPA management is still an open question in the majority senatorial mind.

Certainly every discernible prospect suggests relaxing of OPA restrictions and establishment of a more cooperative attitude, coupled with more effective action against black markets.

The continuance bill now must pass the house where no haste is visible, although OPA's powers expire June 30. Hearings were begun there only after the senate passed the bill.

However, if the administration handlers are able to convince the representatives, as they did the senators, that a better day is coming in OPA, there may not be much trouble.

The house is generally depended upon to eliminate the disturbing farm bloc amendment which the senate tacked on at the last minute, establishing a cost plus formula for farmers and meat packers. The senate was half asleep when the amendment was passed, according to the administration leaders, who feel sure they can get it out of the bill.

There is thus a good chance the OPA will squeeze through with its private promise to be better.

Housecleaning has been a task beyond the ability of any management so far. The "theorists" tramped in with Leon Henderson and have clung fervently to their position.

It must therefore be reported congress is reluctantly moving to renew OPA's lease on life because it can think of nothing better to do—and I think many a congressional finger is crossed.

Washington Off the Record— Career Daughters

By JANE EADS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON — Diplomatic daughters are creating their own Who's Who in the capital's cultural circles.

Take Silvia Brull, 26-year-old daughter of Minister Counselor Brull of the Cuban embassy.

Already well-known as a writer of short stories, radio scripts and magazine articles, she is resigning her job in the press section of the Pan American union to complete a book on Ignacio Agramonte, who distinguished himself in Cuba's 10-year war of independence.

Her sister, Cristina, 24, was educated like Silvia in Paris, Rome and Brussels and made her debut in the last capital. She is an artist. She has exhibited her work at leading galleries in Cuba and won a prize several years ago from the Museum of Modern Art.

Maeva Brennan, one of the three attractive daughters of the Minister of Eire and Mrs. Robert Brennan, is an associate editor of Harper's Bazaar magazine.

Maeva, who was named after an ancient Gaelic queen, inherited her literary ability from her father, who was managing director of the Irish Press, great Dublin daily, and also a famed journalist in his native land.

Sibilla Skidelsky, Russian-born stepdaughter of Dr. Joao Antonio de Bianchi, Portuguese ambassador, is a noted art authority.

Lucia, Nora and Anna Mario, the three daughters of Carlos Martins, Brazilian ambassador, promise to be as accomplished as their well known sculptor mother, Maria Martins.

Lucia is a writer, Nora an artist and Anna Mario a poetess.

Enlisted personnel at the navy department buildings must show the contents of bundles or suitcases to marine guards at the entrance.

The other day a little enlisted man, hurrying to catch a train, skipped through without showing his suitcase.

The marine guard called her back and demanded, "What's in that suitcase?"

"Well," she said, "I've got a skirt, a clean shirt, a pair of stockings, a slip..."

"O.K.," said the red-faced marine. "Have a nice weekend."

Current hero of the navy department is the lieutenant who hauled out an axe to break the champagne bottle which Mrs. Harry S. Truman banged unsuccessfully against a Navy hospital plane recently.

The axe has been gilded and bedecked with ribbons.

The navy resorted to the axe after watching the First Lady dent the aluminum nose of an army plane... while bouncing a bottle against it nine times.

Patton's Role in Europe Temporary—

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

General Patton's reaction to the disclosure that he is to return to Europe and not be sent immediately to fulfill his expressed desire "to fight the Japs" can only be conjectured but his disappointment if any must be tempered by two circumstances.

For one thing, Patton is above all the outstanding allied exponent of tank warfare, blitzkrieg fashion. He out-blitzed the Nazi inventors of that form of battle every time he met them in north Africa, in Sicily, in Normandy, across France and in Germany.

It was that already proven quality which made General Eisen-

Congressional Battle On Peacetime Military Training Is Simmering

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The kettle already has started simmering under postwar plans for universal military training; and before that fire is quenched, the kettle may blow its lid.

Few more controversial subjects have come before congress, but don't misunderstand the hearings now going on before Rep. Clifton A. Woodrum's (D. Va.) special committee on postwar military policy.

This isn't a debate on any specific bill and the committee itself is not authorized to draw up or present any legislation. The object merely is to get both sides and all shades of thought on the matter into the record. It may be a guide to legislation and the final vote—nothing more.

The 23 members of Woodrum's committee represent almost all those shades of thought on whether the years ahead will see our youth undergoing a year or more of military training before they reach the average college age. The more than 100 individuals slated to appear before the committee are equally representative.

After that (but certainly not before fall or early winter) will come the bills, more committee hearings, the floor fights and eventually the votes on what many think may be one of the nation's most important pieces of legislation in determining our future place in world affairs.

A LITTLE announcement the other day by Robert W. Horton, public relations director of the United States Maritime commission (and incidentally one of the few press relations chiefs permitted to make statements in his own name) slipped by without the notice it deserved.

It was to the effect that plans have been completed for resumption of normal ship news coverage in the Gulf and Atlantic seaboard areas.

This, of course, doesn't include any information on troop transport movements or the shipping of vital war supplies headed in either direction for the Orient, but it does mean that so far as the reporting of commercial cargo arrivals and departures in the Atlantic are concerned, the war is over.

Island by island advance in the Pacific from the start. Not even on Leyte or Luzon, and certainly on no other island taken yet, have battle conditions, enemy tactics and terrain combined to offer chances for decisive tank warfare of the sort at which Patton and his men excelled.

Whether there ever will come opportunities for full scale battles of maneuver against the Japanese is at least questionable. A glance at any detailed map of the Japanese home islands or of China must convince any observer that when full scale invasion of either comes, it will be under conditions utterly different from those encountered in Italy, France or Germany. The road networks of continental Europe that facilitated allied operations are distinctly lacking in Japan and China.

Thorough out General MacArthur's campaigns from New Guinea to Luzon and now on Borneo, his tank elements have been restricted almost wholly to an infantry support role by terrain.

It has been slow and largely foot-slogging work every step of the way. There has been little chance for strategic or tactical maneuvering and employment of armor in divisional strength even if it was available.

Speakers Named for Summer Lecture Series

George Denny To Be Guest

Town Hall Moderator To Head First of Six Sessions—Dr. Lampe

Five of the six speakers for the summer session lecture series have been announced by Dr. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, who is in charge of the series.

The lectures will be held Friday evenings at 8:30, on the west approach to Old Capitol when the weather is permissible; otherwise they will take place in Macbride auditorium. The speakers each week will remain for a round table discussion Saturday morning at 9 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Dr. George V. Denny Jr., president of Town Hall, Inc., and moderator of America's Town Meeting of the Air, will open the series June 22-23 with a talk on "Is This America's Century?" His appearance will be part of the program of the Institute on International Relations. Dr. Denny is nationally known as presiding officer in the weekly radio Town Meeting discussion of great issues by well known personalities.

Dr. Howard Thurman, outstanding Negro leader and dean of Howard university in Washington, D. C., will be heard July 6-7. For the past year Dr. Thurman has been participating in the experiment of an inter-racial church in San Francisco, called the Fellowship Church of All Peoples; its ministers are both white men and Negroes. It is expected that Dr. Thurman will discuss this experiment in inter-racial fellowship on the summer session lecture program.

Jack Major will appear in the lecture series July 13-14. "Colonel" Major will present a humorous lecture based on his experiences with American soldiers in the south Pacific.

Dr. T. Z. Koo of China will be the speaker for July 20-21. Dr. Koo, who has appeared on the Iowa campus several times, is a popular speaker at student gatherings. He is one of the secretaries of the World Student Christian federation and has been an official consultant of the Chinese delegation at the San Francisco conference on international organization. Since his last appearance in America, Dr. Koo has been in the custody of the Japanese in Hong Kong and Shanghai, culminated by a thrilling escape.

Ending the series July 27-28 will be Admiral H. E. Yarnell, now retired from the United States navy, who will speak on "The War in the Far East." Admiral Yarnell obtained much of his subject material when he was commander of the United States Pacific fleet. He appeared as a summer lecturer a few years ago and requests have been made that he return.

June 29-30 is the only open date remaining in the lecture series. A speaker will be announced soon for that week.

Summer Workshop To Continue Today With Work on Project

Sessions of the summer workshop on home-school cooperation which began yesterday morning will continue today, with the morning hours devoted to work on individual projects and the afternoon meeting to classroom work. Mrs. L. W. Hughes, first vice-president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, is chairman for this afternoon's program.

Prof. Ernest Horn of the education department has organized the afternoon's discussion on the types of cooperation a teacher needs from the home to secure effective classroom work.

"What types of cooperation does the parent need from the school to guide his child in attitude toward his work and to interpret and aid his progress?" is the discussion topic organized by Dr. Beth Wellman of the child welfare department.

The discussion of how these needs can be met has been organized by Agnes Samuelson, school education chairman of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, Supt. H. K. Bennet of the consolidated schools at Tipton, and Dr. E. C. Denny, head of the education department at State Teachers college in Cedar Falls. A general discussion will follow the organized program.

Hospital Head Testifies

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the Northport, N. Y., veterans hospital told a congressional committee yesterday the army assigned physically unfit soldiers there to attend mental patients.

In addition, testified Col. Louis Verdel, the hospital's manager, two of five army doctors attached to the institution have been on prolonged sick leave—one of them diagnosed as neurotic by army examiners.

The committee went into closed session yesterday afternoon to examine Verdel in private after Chairman Rankin (D., Miss.) of the veterans committee declared: "Maybe we'd better investigate the war department. I bitterly resent the war department's attitude toward these veterans hospitals."

Colonel Verdel said 15 soldiers were court-martialed and several civilian employes fired last winter after incidents were uncovered where patients at the hospital were slapped, choked and struck by knotted towels. He said there were "some cases of fractures" as a result.

In a candlelight ceremony, Doris Maxine Kaefring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Kaefring of Oxford, will become the bride of Petty Officer Rollin W. Roth, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Roth of Milford, Neb., tonight at 8 o'clock in the Congregational church. The Rev. W. F. Ellerbeck and the Rev. James E. Waery will read the vows of the double ring service before an altar banked with garden flowers and palms.

Preceding the ceremony, Harold Webster will sing "I Love You Truly" (Bond) and "Because" (D'Harlot), accompanied by Mrs. Gerald Buxton, who will also present nuptial organ selections.

Attending the bride as maid of honor will be Leona Roth of Milford, and serving as bridesmaids will be Veronica Leeny and Helen Crow, both of Iowa City. Merle Bender of Milford will serve as best man, and ushers will be Kenneth Smalley and Samuel Miller, both of Iowa City, and Petty Officer Merle Roth, U.S.N.

Satin and Marquisette Gown
The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will be attired in a floor-length gown of white satin and marquisette. The fitted bodice is fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and leg-o-mutton sleeves, and buttons down the back. Her full skirt extends into a train and her fingertip veil will fall from a tiara of orange blossoms. She will wear a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and her bridal bouquet will be of white gladioli.

The maid of honor has selected a floor-length gown of blue satin, with a full skirt of net over taffeta. The princess style bodice is designed with a sweetheart neckline and short sleeves, and she will wear a veil of matching blue net held in place by a halo of rosebuds. Her flowers will be of pink gladioli.

The bridesmaids will wear floor-length gowns of yellow and pink net, with which they will wear matching veils, and each will carry a colonial bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Kaefring has chosen a dress of white flowered jersey, complemented with white accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Reception in Church Parlors
Immediately following the ceremony, a reception will be held in the church parlors. A three-tiered wedding cake surrounded with garden flowers will center the serving table. Hostesses will be Arlene Brogla, Patricia Walz, Margaret and Jeanne Crow and Mrs. Donald Crow.

The couple will then leave on a wedding trip to Milford, and for traveling the bride has selected a white sharkskin ensemble, accented with navy blue accessories. The bride is a graduate of University high school and the Iowa City Commercial college. Recently she has been employed as secretary at the educational placement office of the university.

Petty Officer Roth was graduated from Milford high school, and has recently returned to the states after 20 months' service in the south Pacific. At the conclusion of his leave, he will be stationed in Corvallis, Ore., where the couple will reside.

Group to Investigate Hartford, Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Doughton (D., N. C.) of the house ways and means committee said yesterday he probably will call that house group together next week to decide whether to investigate dealings between John Hartford and Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt.

His announcement was made shortly after he relayed to the house a report from the treasury that a $228,500 "bad debt" tax deduction claimed by Hartford on his 1942 income has not been allowed but is under investigation. Hartford's attorney has said a $196,000 unpaid balance on a $200,000 loan by Hartford to the late president's second son was written off in 1942.

After Doughton made his report Representative Knutson (R., Minn.), ranking minority member on the ways and means committee, proposed that the committee send its chief tax expert, Colin F. Stam, to examine the return made by Hartford, president of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company.

Knutson said he would propose an immediate executive session of the committee—perhaps tomorrow or next day to "take this thing up."

Scientific Issues— Going Overseas

Scientific publications of the University of Iowa collected since the beginning of the war now are being mailed to libraries in European nations.

Shipments on publications in education, natural history, humanities, aims and progress of research, engineering and child welfare were stopped early in 1940.

Copies were saved pending the resumption of the exchange plan. Within the past week, more than 50 packages have been sent to Russian cities, including Moscow, and to Gothenburg and Stockholm, Sweden, according to Loretta Madden, mailing service supervisor of the publications department.

As libraries in the liberated nations begin to function once more it is expected that many additional mailings will be made. In many cases, however, the libraries were destroyed and a long time must elapse before rebuilding.

Al Snider to Ride Hoop Jr. in Preakness Stakes Saturday

BALTIMORE (AP)—Most everyone around here has been talking about a couple of three-year-olds named Hoop Jr. and Pavot making a two-horse race out of the 55th Preakness stakes, but some recent wacky goings on yesterday prompted a cautious reminder that a "dark number" might grab the glory and gold out of Pinlico way come Saturday.

First there was the jockey scramble for the chance to climb aboard Hoop Jr. after Eddie Arca, who rode F. W. Hooper's star to a Kentucky Derby victory, bowed out because of contract obligations.

On top of this there was an unusual amount of confusion and secrecy about the probable field, complicated by the fact that most of the owners and trainers are absent because the Preakness card is a special one-day event and since there is no racing now at Pinlico the people who know about such things are scattered at other tracks.

The jockey situation cleared when it was announced that Albert Snider, the Canadian boy who was up on Burning Dream in the derby, would be in Hoop Jr.'s saddle for the Preakness.

Chisox Spill Indians, 4 to 3 Behind Grove

CHICAGO (AP)—Orval Grove made up for a shaky start yesterday to both pitch and bat the White Sox to a 4-3 victory over Cleveland and a sweep of the three-game series.

Grove, seeking his seventh victory, gave Cleveland a three-run start, including a run on his own error, but then settled down to stop the Indians the rest of the way and drive in the winning run himself with a double against the wall in left-center field in the sixth inning.

Second Guess

University Problem Misguided Conceptions

By ROY LUCE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

In the way of an explanation first—this column expresses the views of the university athletic department on a situation that has been apparent for some time. Tomorrow, Mark Cox of the Pre-Flight school will be the guest columnist and will present the Pre-Flight officials viewpoint on the situation.

IT HAS BEEN raging for some time now and athletic department heads have been shedding grey hairs over the situation for months and months.

Dad Schroeder, head of SUI's athletic department expressed the feelings of all at a luncheon the other day when he said that he would like to see more harmony between the Iowa Pre-Flight school and the university, itself.

It has been a problem that has caused many unpleasant incidents—both unpleasant to the university and to the Pre-Flight school. Schroeder would like to see the problem corrected, and we rather imagine that navy officials would too.

Misguided Conception
The whole problem stems from the misguided conception of students and cadets that a great rivalry should exist between the two.

And no one can say that it hasn't existed. We firmly believe that a firm and lasting friendship should exist between the two. And it can exist, if both the students and cadets will try and get the feeling that the Pre-Flight school is a part of the university.

To the students, the Seahawks should be their team and to the cadets the Hawkeyes should be their team. If students will sit down and rationalize things out, they will see that the navy is a department of the university.

It would be the same if the college of medicine or dentistry should field athletic teams and compete in big time competition. Those boys would be university boys just like all the rest of us—and should be supported just like the Hawkeyes. (If you can say the Hawks were supported last fall.)

What Schroeder would like to see instilled in the minds of the students is the fact that the Pre-Flight school is a part of the university, just like any other department of the school is a part of the university.

He would like to have the cadets feel that this is their school and that they should feel justly proud if a Hawkeye team should defeat an old rival. It would make things much easier for everybody if the students as a whole would attempt to correct this rather obvious bad feeling existing between the two "departments of the university."

Cadets' Rights
The cadets should be allowed to attend all university functions—including dances, just as though they were a member of the university. We all want the cadets to like Iowa just like we like it. We know that many of the some 15,000 cadets that have passed through the school have liked it because they have signified their intentions of returning to Iowa to finish their education when the war is over.

When the Japs Are Licked
We are quite sure that a big share of the students want the cadets to feel that this is their school and their home—and that when they are flying navy fighters from the deck of a carrier in the south Pacific sometime in the near future, they will remember Iowa as a place to return when the Japs are licked.

We know the university wants them to, and we rather imagine that there are quite a few girls that want them to, too. Sure, we know that the cadets are nicknamed the "Black Plague," but this feeling is held by only a few men students who have been unable to get dates on Friday and Saturday nights, merely because some cadet is a better man than he is.

Major League Club—

Could Use Camilli

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—We imagine some major league club in need of batting punch would do well to send someone giddying out to the west coast to interview a gentleman named Dolph Camilli, currently at liberty, as actors say when they mean they are out of a job.

It would take a lot of honey talk and the promise of plenty of potatoes and living quarters for the Camilli clan, but it would be a try, as the most valuable player in the National League four years ago should have plenty of good baseball left in him.

We like the way the 37-year-old guy described the termination of his duties as manager of the Oakland club.

"I was fired," he said bluntly. Usually under the circumstances there is a lot of polite hog-wash to the effect the manager was resigning for the good of the club or because of pressure of other business, when everyone might know he was called to the front office and told to resign, or else. That's just handing him a cushion before kicking him out.

But Dolph always was a straightforward gent. When he held out, which was often, there was no doubt about it. When he announced he was quitting major league ball, he wasn't fooling. He sometimes got fooled himself, though, particularly by left handed pitchers. Some of those southpaws made him look pretty terrible.

It took him a little while to get around to quitting after he said he would, but he made good his threat eventually, the final straw apparently being the deal sending him from the Dodgers to the Giants. Whether he considered that a fate worse than death is not known, but the fact remains the trade was announced Aug. 5, 1943, and Aug. 6 he said he was through, and he was. He never reported to Mel Ott's team.

He had sound reasons for deserting to remain on the coast. He had a 2,800-acre ranch at Laytonville, Calif., and help was hard to get. Besides, the task of transporting his extensive family back and forth across the country and getting it located back here came under the heading of major projects.

In fact, he pointed out his expenses were so heavy he was lucky to have $5,000 left over from his salary, although that explanation will be swallowed with a lump of sugar by the average citizen who is lucky to have five cents left over without getting farther from home than the nickle will take him.

At that time, though, Dolph was reported to be drawing $20,000 a year from the Dodgers. That was only three years ago, and a fellow worth that kind of money then should be worth a little yet.

Maybe his sour experience managing a minor league club has convinced him that just being a private in the major leagues is a pretty good job after all. We imagine the Giants still have first call on his services, and right now they could use a fellow who can hit. It would be worth a try, anyway.

Will Play Second Game Here Sunday; Pitching Staff Cut

Carlos Ratliff, whose worries as pilot of the fourth Iowa Pre-Flight baseball team have been concentrated in hitting, will shift his attention to the pitching department this weekend when the Seahawks oppose the Davenport Red Sox in a home and home series which will open Saturday night in the river city and extend through a Sunday afternoon engagement here.

The Seahawks collected the handsome total of 25 base hits in their last two games, but a complete collapse of pitching allowed Northwestern to come from behind in the seventh inning and score 7 runs and go on to win in the 10th frame, 8 to 7, and only the relief hurling of Herman Soard averted a similar disaster at Notre Dame when he choked the Irish off after scoring five runs in the ninth to salvage a 7 to 5 triumph.

So impressive had been Soard's three relief appearances last week Ratliff had counted on starting him in one of the Davenport games. However, Soard's back injury this week will keep him out of the lineup, for an indefinite period, possibly for the rest of the season. Further trouble among the hurlers cropped out when John Crew, who earlier had pitched the Seahawks to a 9 to 5 victory over Wisconsin, dropped off the squad due to a shoulder injury.

As a result, Ratliff will be forced to rely on the same starting combination of Henry Kaiser and Steve Stuka. Kaiser, whose lack of control has kept him from finishing in his last two starts, will be the choice on Saturday night with Stuka, No. 1 hurler with three triumphs against one defeat, scheduled to work Sunday.

With the pitching personnel reduced to four cadets, relief duties will fall to Robert Kifer, who also suffered control trouble in his only appearance at Minnesota, and Nicholas Jacob Bengenderer of Swanton, Ohio, who has shown improvement in recent drills.

Four members of the Seahawk lineup have boosted their averages to .300 with Luke Majorki and Soard heading the list at .333. The hitting of Ed Kietzel, who took over for Bill Schaeberlein at second base, especially added power at Notre Dame when he connected for three safeties. Additional hitting may be forthcoming when Jack Gish, one of the newcomers, fits into the lineup, probably in left field.

James Doolittle was the first man to fly across the American continent in one day.

Iowa's fielding average was .931, only 9 percentage points behind second place. Minnesota led with .986 and Indiana was second with .940, followed by Illinois with .932. Hawkeyes finished eighth in the final standing with 3 wins and 5 losses. Two games were lost by a one-run margin and the Iowans were only one game out of a tie for fourth in the tight battle for places.

Stephens Clubs Two Homers as Brownies Stop Tigers, 3 to 2

DETROIT (AP)—Vern Stephens, belting Brownie shortstop, clubbed out two mighty homers, driving in all three runs today as St. Louis took a 3 to 2 verdict from the league leading Detroit Tigers.

Stephens, who leads the league with 10 circuit bloopers, pounded one into the upper right field seats in the fourth inning, scoring back of Milt Byrne, who had walked. The other, into the left field pavilion with nobody on base, broke a 2-2 tie in the ninth.

The defeat left the Tigers a half game ahead of the second place New York Yankees, who were idle.

Churchill Takes Steps To Strengthen Policy

Places Great Britain On Non-Partisan Basis For Big Three Meet

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, hailing a "marked improvement" in relations with Russia and continued "complete accord" with the United States, took steps yesterday to place Britain's foreign policy on a solid non-partisan basis for the Big Three meeting expected in July.

In perhaps his valedictory address on the eve of dissolution of the longest-lived parliament in 300 years, he informed commonsense had invited Labor party leader Clement R. Attlee to accompany him to the conference, which he said would be held "before the results of the impending election are announced." The date for the announcement has been set for July 26.

Churchill also offered hope for a break in the British-French stalemate on the Levant crisis, telling a cheering commonsense: "I am glad to hear that former Premier Edouard Herriot is said to be coming over here on behalf of General De Gaulle."

However, in Paris General De Gaulle's headquarters said no emissary would go to London "at this time," and said nothing was known of a mission by Herriot.

In plain words the prime minister explained his reason for the Attlee invitation—"in case anyone says 'are you committing yourself to something for which you have no authority, in case in the ballot box there lies something which strips you of your authority.'"

This would appear to place the date for the Big Three meeting some time between July 5, when Britain will hold its first general election in 10 years, and the July 26th announcement of the result, when the service ballot will have been counted.

The prime minister said, as did President Truman Wednesday, that he could not say where or exactly when the conference would occur. The British press thought it likely the locale would be Germany. The Finnish radio, quoting roundabout reports, said preparations for the session already were underway in Copenhagen.

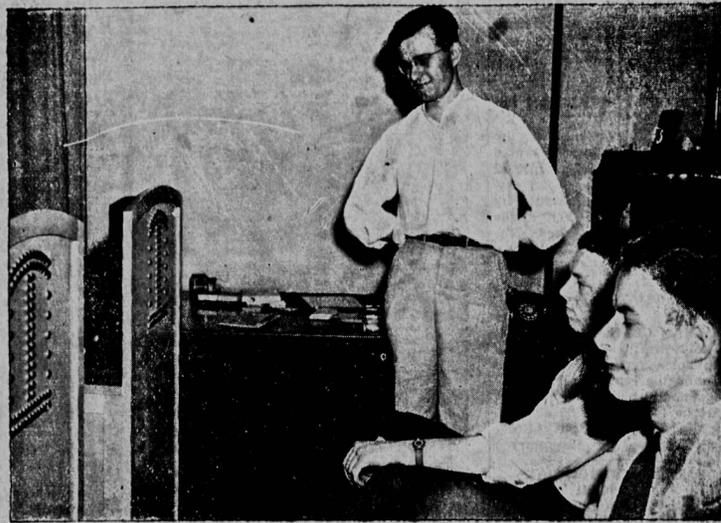

Churchill touched briefly on British relations with France, Poland and Yugoslavia.

Fined for Speeding

Orville M. Price, 1325 Keokuk avenue, was fined $10 in police court yesterday for speeding.

Paul Hauston, 445 Grand avenue, and J. J. Zeithamel, 322 S. Capitol street, were fined $1 each for overtime parking. Walter Benson, West Branch, paid a $1 fine for double parking.

STUDENTS TAKE ARMY AIR CORPS TESTS

SHOWN TAKING an army air corps test for the war department are two university students. In order to make it more convenient for men students to take the test, the experimental apparatus has been moved from East hall to the Y. M. C. A. rooms in Iowa Union. Two volunteers are needed every hour from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. until the scores of 400 men have been tabulated. Results of the program will be used in setting up examinations for candidates for the army air corps.

Y. W. C. A. Officer Enrolled—

Students in Industry

Bonnie Lansing, A4 of Iowa City, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., left this week for Chicago to attend the summer students-in-industry project sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. and the Y.M.C.A. Members of the project, which begins June 17 and ends Sept. 1, will work in Chicago's industries and stores while studying related economic and social problems.

Purpose of the whole project is to make students from college and university campuses see "the complexity of a great industrial city in the full light of the Christian ethic."

While working in Chicago at regular rates of pay, the students-in-industry see the multiple economic, religious, social and political problems of the city. By actually facing the problems of the American worker and through seminars, field trips and personal counseling, they acquire an understanding of these problems.

An advisory committee composed of civic, religious, industrial and labor leaders under the chairmanship of the Rev. Paul J. Folino, pastor of the United Church of South Chicago, planned the project. Dr. Victor Oberhaus, professor of social ethics at the ethics at the Chicago Theological seminary, will direct the Chicago seminar for the entire 10 weeks.

Miss Lansing first became interested in the project when Ruth Haines of the national office of the Y.W.C.A. visited the campus early in the spring. At a general "Y" meeting she described plans for students-in-industry seminars to be held in Chicago and Minneapolis. Miss Lansing sent in an application for the Chicago project soon after that and later received word that she was one of 35 women from all parts of the United States to be accepted.

A $15 fee covers registration for the 10 week period. Men enrolled as students-in-industry will live in the dormitory of the Chicago Theological seminary and women students will be housed in another dormitory nearby.

Living costs are paid by the students out of their own earnings, while salaries are in accordance with prevailing rates of pay for work done. Everyone enrolled in the project is guaranteed a job, with the opportunity of making a choice from several positions offered. Each student is given information about jobs available, but he must make further contacts through job interviews.

This is the first year that a student from Iowa has attended a Y.M.C.A.-Y.W.C.A. students-in-industry seminar. The project is relatively new with the "Y" organization.

Kansas City's War-Time High School Program Brings Excellent Results

By BERT H. DAVIS

Central Press Correspondent KANSAS CITY, Mo.—War-time has been exciting and also educational for high school students hereabouts. While every Kansas City public school was earning its "S" flag for student service in war-time projects, the classroom and lab moved "on target" with improved and pin-pointed technical courses.

High school math, language courses and physics fed right into army and navy needs, as explained to local principals and supervisors. In equipping youngsters "to learn how to learn" and to be all set for the military units' physical conditioning, schoolmen can be credited with saving time, money and even lives of their students headed for combat.

Consulted Boys First

Supt. Herold C. Hunt explains that the schools went into a heavy huddle with their boys, to help them meet the needs common to all soldiers.

"Fifteen hundred boys came to each of two pre-induction conferences, spaced about three months apart," Hunt says. "The students approaching 18 were glad to have information about applying selective service to their own cases and to know what to expect in army exam and reception procedures, the way various high school work would qualify them for specialties, and the possible chances for uniformed men in advancement and further training.

"There was nothing theoretical or bookish about these meetings. Men from the various branches of service came in to talk and answer questions. The parochial high school boys had a big part in the conferences. Also about 100 boys outside the local school system were invited in.

"Before the second conference, the Kansas City OCD asked us to set up something similar for older selectees, no longer in school. That was taken care of by an evening session following the school boys' conference.

"The draft boards, veterans' organizations and other local clubs helped us get out a large and enthusiastic attendance at all these pre-induction meetings."

Boys from the junior class and up were enrolled for aircraft training programs, using equipment and at times instructors sent in from the army air corps. When NYA went out in 1943, the Kansas City superintendent of schools bid for its teaching equipment in welding, radio work and machine shop practice.

Local plants worked with the schools to provide odd-time and vacation training in actual production and maintenance jobs.

Even the boy definitely ticketed for military service was able to carry along with him the type of mechanical aptness and familiarity with tools that click in the modern army.

"Old ideas of what the infantry does and the sort of things it needs to know to 'put 'em up and lay 'em down' are still persisting for a good many of us," remarks

Buller Disman, school board president.

"The boy we tried to visualize in much of our war-program planning would go into the foot-soldier's branch at 18, to face things like these:

"Training officers would show him how to handle and live with nearly 20 complicated weapons—some never used in any previous war.

"He would learn to estimate heights, distances and speeds—or perhaps pay the forfeit of his life or his buddy's if he had to guess at the answer.

"Besides the skills needed in making and breaking camp, digging in and operating signals, infantrymen not long out of high school are supposed to use rulers, tapes, protractors, and compasses and to get the quick and vital facts from photos, maps, charts and weather-recording instruments.

"And that is just the infantry's war-trade skills—many of which Kansas City found it could successfully prepare for among the under-18s going through high school."

Part of the war-time experience in picking up new ideas and working in groups for civic and patriotic aims was in the usual coast-to-coast pattern.

That included participation in war bond and stamp sales, war chest and Red Cross campaigns, collection of waste paper and grease and surplus metals, child care and Victory gardens.

However, beyond that were the town in the central states—far beyond buzz-bomb range, submarine prowling and fire-balloon dangers—will be able to list many.

High school students here helped establish "teen town" recreational centers in every district.

Articles worth $18,000 were made in one year by more than 3,000 girls enrolled in clothing classes.

More than 8,000 articles comprised a year's gift to Junior Red Cross, including one assignment of 100 folding chairs that required 2,000 boy-hours of shop time.

State-sponsored Victory farm volunteer courses, not commonly provided in schools of the larger cities, equipped 50 Kansas City high school pupils for the full-summer jobs they took on farms. More than 230 other students volunteered through the school system for less skilled forms of farm work.

"Enrollment dropped in this period," says Superintendent Hunt, "but the rate of attendance was better than in the earlier years. Part of the improvement came about because teachers took more interest in having full classes.

Enthusiasm contagious "Their enthusiasm for the war-slanted courses whose practical values would be felt as soon as students put on a uniform or took a job at shop or farm, was apparently communicated to students.

"We have issued more than 10,000 work permits in a year, which shows that the boys and girls could readily get jobs and might have dropped schooling entirely, in order to earn more. You can bet we are glad they stayed on, and acquired everything we could possibly provide in education for living."
