U.S. Fleet Unit Unopposed In Tokyo Bay

No Enemy Shipping Found by Force Patrolling Entrance

GUAM, Sunday (AP)—American cruisers and destroyers which bombarded the entrance to Tokyo bay Wednesday night and early Thursday morning met no enemy resistance of any sort—either air, surface, shore or submarine, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today. The force blasted radio, radar and other installations and retired "without incident," he said.

"This force patrolled the eastern end of Sagami gulf (entrance to the outer Tokyo bay) but found no enemy shipping," the admiral reported.

Naha cape, hit by the shells, is the tip of the gulf's eastern shore line, and lies 55 miles south of Tokyo.

The navy report was the first of results since last Thursday's communiqué announced the bombardment by ships that included the cruisers Topeka, Oklahoma City, Dayton and Atlanta and the destroyers Ault and John W. Weeks.

Movements of the powerful battle fleet since have been hidden by radio silence, and jittery Tokyo acknowledged today that a new naval bombardment might be expected at any moment.

Returning from roof-top strikes, American fighter pilots today reported earlier Superfort raids had left vital Japanese industrial areas "well burned out."

Tokyo radio unwittingly seconded the Yank reports with the statement that Japan's stock of scrap iron, badly needed for war production had "increased considerably in the war-damaged areas and we have been able to get all the scrap iron we want and need."

HIS LORDSHIP GETS A BAWLING OUT

MY WORD—and tut-tut and all that! It's none other than the lord mayor of London, himself, getting a thorough dressing down from a youthful boat enthusiast whose craft his lordship seems to have upset as he tried to land a hand at sailing the toy craft. The scene took place during a visit by the lord mayor to the Heritage Craft school at Challey in Sussex, England.

Army Schedule Of Transport Criticized

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate heard yesterday that both the navy and the office of defense transportation are irked with the army and complaining that the return of soldiers from Europe has been speeded up without advance notice.

Swamping of transportation facilities was alleged.

Chairman Mead (D., N. Y.) of the senate war investigating committee said ODT Director J. M. Johnson had testified the army "brought 100,000 more than they told him they would."

Mead also said Secretary of the Navy Forrestal "told us that he was not informed and that he thought it was some of his business."

Both ODT and the navy declined to comment on the matter yesterday.

Justice T. M. Fairchild Dies at Home

Heart Attack Caused Death of 78-Year-Old Justice of the Peace

Justice T. M. Fairchild died at his home, 100 Clapp street, last night. Death was sudden and caused by a heart attack.

Justice Fairchild practiced law in Iowa City for many years and was justice of the peace from April, 1934, until the time of his death. He was 78 years old.

The body is at the Oathout funeral home. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Timothy Marsh Fairchild was born in Branford, Ontario, March 1, 1867, the son of Timothy and Joanna Fairchild. At the age of four his parents moved to Johnson county.

He attended Iowa City schools and was graduated from the university college of law in 1896. In 1899 he was married to Lena Koser of Coralville.

Big 3 Conference Ends First Week Of Meetings

American Officials Appear Satisfied With Progress Made

POTSDAM (AP)—The Big Three victory conference reached the end of its first week last night and American officials expressed satisfaction with progress already made in problems ranging from the interallied rehabilitation of Europe to the destruction of Japanese resistance.

President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin held their fifth, three-hour meeting yesterday and an announcement from the American compound said: "The work of the conference is going ahead and much serious business has been done."

How long the meetings would continue and what agreements were reached were questions left unanswered, but the brief American statement—the first interim report given by any of the three delegations—reflected President Truman's earnest wish to keep the world informed as much as possible of progress in this suburb of conquered Berlin.

The American delegation reported that the three leaders of the United States, Britain and Russia spent approximately 15 hours this week in direct discussions at the round-table.

They met formally each day, starting Tuesday, while their foreign secretaries began the daily spade work Monday.

Churchill, Eden and former Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee and the highest military commanders of Britain slightly delayed the previous schedules yesterday in order to witness a parade in the Tiergarten of the British Seventh armored (Desert Rats) division.

Once Fashionable Hotel—Prison for High Nazis

MONDORF, Luxembourg (AP)—One of the great dramas of the postwar era is being played out in the rooms and corridors of the once fashionable Palace hotel where Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop, Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz and 49 other high-ranking Nazi officials and Wehrmacht officers are being held pending further disposition by the allied war crimes commission.

Stripped of their plumage, surrounded by barbed wire and machineguns, they bear little resemblance to the "supermen" who tried to loot the world.

Col. B. C. Andrus, commanding officer, whose 391st anti-aircraft battalion guards the enclosure and garrisons the town, said: "We stand for no coddling here. These men are in jail. We have certain rules and those rules are obeyed."

With Andrus as conducting officer I went through every room in the seven-story building for inspection of the conditions under which the once-mighty Nazis live.

The once impeccable Ribbentrop, who moved through salons of the elite, occupied a bare single room on the fourth floor. When he gazes out his barred window his view is of a guard on a raised platform with mounted machinegun.

He sleeps on a folding canvas cot with straw mattress. There are no mirrors and no electrical current is provided. When he wishes to shave, one safety-razor blade is issued to him and taken away after it has been used.

All panes have been removed from the windows and replaced with unbreakable substitutes, in keeping with anti-suicide precautions.

AUSSIES GAIN Break Up Jap Counterattacks

AUSTRALIAN Ninth division troops on Borneo are smashing forward against badly disorganized Jap resistance from points more than 30 miles inland from the west coast beachheads at Brunei bay. Farthest inland advance puts the Aussies in the town of Marudi and a seven-mile inland gain by the Australian and Dutch colonial forces is reported in the Riko river sector near Balikpapan. Map above shows (1) Aussies' advance from west coast beachheads taking Marudi and (2) Australian and Dutch colonial forces meet stiffer resistance in Balikpapan area.

The routine at the Palace hotel is almost identical with that of penitentiaries in the United States, with the exception that the only movies are atrocity films and the only amusements walking in the sunlight and innocent conversation.

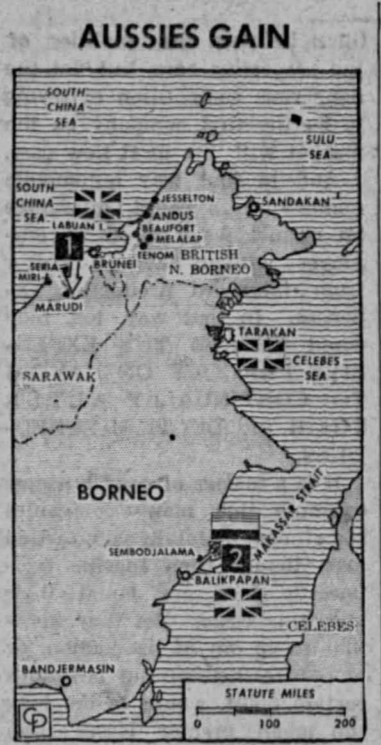

Chinese veterans, absorbing the blows, quickly recovered and "totally frustrated" the Japanese attacks. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's soldiers then went over to attack and, pressing on Kweilin from the north, reached a point eight miles from the city, the Chinese said.

After repelling a Japanese blow from the walled town of Paishou, one of the main Japanese strongholds guarding Kweilin's western approaches, the Chinese broke into the town through the south gate and street fighting now is in progress, the communiqué said.

The capture of a point eight miles north of Kweilin carried the advancing Chinese troops within two miles of the enemy escape route to Hengyang. Earlier in the week, the Chinese established a road-block across the line at Chai-shu, but the high command indicated that Japanese counterattacks had freed the route for a precarious enemy withdrawal.

Meanwhile on China's southeastern "invasion" coast, General Chiang's forces hurled flank attacks against Japanese units from Amoy which since June 30 have been trying to fight their way southwestward to the former treaty port of Swatow.

The high command gave no account of fighting on other fronts along the coast or in the interior and failed to explain what had happened to Chinese vanguards which it said earlier in the week had broken into Kweilin's outskirts.

Petain Says Laval Arrested to Prevent Seizure of Colonies

PARIS (AP)—Marshal Petain testified yesterday that he had Pierre Laval arrested Dec. 13, 1940, to prevent Laval from using French troops to seize African colonies which had joined Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Free French movement.

He said he did this because he was afraid such action would result in war between Britain and France. The fugitive Laval at present is under detention in Spain.

The 89-year-old marshal, facing trial Monday on a charge of having intelligence with the enemy, was a witness at a preliminary hearing of Mjeel Peyrouton, former minister of the interior in the Vichy government, who faces a similar charge.

Peyrouton was taken to grim Ft. Demontrouge for the hearing, and there Judge Mitton questioned the marshal and the civil minister on the Laval affair.

Polish Council Lists Boundary Demands

LONDON (AP)—Establishment of Poland's western frontiers on the Oder and Neisse rivers in Germany, within 60 miles of Berlin and including the port of Stettin, Berlin's outlet to the Baltic, was defined as the country's number one problem yesterday at a Warsaw meeting of the Polish national council.

The Warsaw radio said Premier Edward Osobka-Morawski told a plenary session of the council that the new frontiers must be established "as soon as possible."

Three other projects of the new "unity" regime at Warsaw were listed as:

1. The return of Polish emigres "dispersed all over the world as a result of the war, as well as those who left the country before the war in search of work and bread."
2. The holding of parliamentary and municipal elections.
3. Agrarian reform and the reconstruction of industry and the country's economic and political life.

Manila, Sunday (AP)—A single naval Privateer plane bombed and strafed Japanese troops near Swatow, China, on Thursday while Mariner planes sank three enemy sea trucks off Hong Kong and strafed 14 cargo-laden junks north of Hainan island, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

Members of House Leave for Longest Vacation Since 1938

WASHINGTON (AP)—House members took off yesterday for their longest vacation since 1938 after a listless final session in which they boosted the pay of a group of legislative employes and discussed the palatability of horse meat.

Barring emergencies which might recall them to work sooner, they won't return to business until October 8, the 11-weeks holiday being the most extended unbroken surcease from official work since the six-months vacation of 1938.

There was no fanfare or celebration as the adjournment bells rang the end of a six-months session with only about 50 members in their seats at the finish. Quitting time was 2:22 p. m. eastern war time.

Chennault Asked To Remain in China

KUNMING, China, July 20 (Delayed)—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Claire Lee Chennault listened today to pleas from the national people's political council at Chungking that he remain in China, but said he could not withdraw his resignation as commander of the United States 14th airforce.

"The same situation still exists that caused me to submit my resignation," the former leader of the Flying Tigers told Chinese correspondents. "I don't see how I can change my decision at this time."

Chennault announced his resignation July 14, after a disclosure that the American air effort in China was to be reorganized under the overall command of Lieut. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer.

Rain Falls on Forest Fire Still Raging In Northern Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Welcome rain was falling yesterday over the blazing 70 square miles of northwest Oregon—but the still unquenched fire continued to roar ahead.

Flames defiant of the drizzle raged before a strong south wind over Roundtop mountain, and approached within two airline miles of the timber town of Cochrane below.

Another blaze on the eastern edge of the flaming area was moving toward the Pacific coast, 20 miles away.

The Weather Local Prophet Gloats In Heat, Humidity

And the Holy Prophet, Weatherman, went up into the Sacred Mountain and spoke thus unto the Oracle: O Oracle, all yesterday the people of Ai'wa Sidi were in great torture. For the Sun was most merciless and the Air was most heavy and humid and did press down upon them to their sore discomfort. So hot did it become that the Mercury rose to heights undreamed of—92 degrees—and laughed in glee at the wretchedness of the people. And never did the Mercury drop below 72 degrees and give the people some small relief.

And so, O Oracle, what shall I say unto the people of Ai'wa Sidi? And the Oracle answered and said: Tell them, O People of Ai'wa Sidi, you have sinned most grievously. For you did insult the Holy Prophet, Weatherman, and unjustly accuse him of false reports and inaccuracy. This torment is unto you punishment from the Oracle of this Holy Prophet! Now is he vindicated! Broil, ye who have with profane mouths and vulgar lips abused the Holy Prophet!

A Guaranteed Annual Wage—

A guaranteed annual wage is becoming a more and more popular cry of labor. Working men want security not only in the amount of hourly pay they are to receive, but also in the number of weeks a year they are allowed to work.

Loudest voices have come from laborers in the automotive industry. Heavy seasonal layoffs throwing hundreds of thousands into unemployment were regular in the 1930's. Now these men want to be assured that the same thing won't happen in the 1950's or 60's.

Unions want to insert into their contracts with employers a stipulation that the workers receive a certain annual wage — IN OTHER WORDS, THAT THE MEN WILL GET TO WORK THE ENTIRE YEAR INSTEAD OF JUST A FEW MONTHS.

Industry, however, contends a guaranteed annual wage would discourage employment. Employers say that in their operating expenses they would have to provide for a new fixed charge of such magnitude that they necessarily would have to try to reduce it to a minimum.

They say they would employ less people than if they were comparatively free to take a chance on the future of their business. Under these circumstances, they say, A RELATIVE MINORITY OF THE WORK-FORCE WOULD RECEIVE REGULAR EMPLOYMENT, WHILE THE BALANCE WOULD EITHER BE ENTIRELY UNEMPLOYED OR EMPLOYED AS CASUAL OR TEMPORARY LABOR.

WHAT, THEN, IS THE ANSWER TO SEASONAL LAY-OFFS? IT IS LABOR-MANAGEMENT PLANNING FOR CONTINUOUS PRODUCTION.

Instead of producing a year's new automobiles all in a few months, why not regulate production so that a steady stream of automobiles are being turned out?

If the entire automotive industry—or any other industry—followed such a practice, it would still have the beneficial compe-dition between the qualities of the respective cars, but not the dangerous competition of trying to be the first company on the market with the most new cars. And in that way automobile manufacturers could guarantee an annual wage to their employees without having to suffer from increased production expenses. In that way, too, they could ESCAPE THE EXPENSIVE PRACTICE OF HAVING TO CONTINUALLY ALTER THEIR PRODUCTION SCHEDULES.

It is a matter of good business example that many companies sometimes maintain production even though their income temporarily does not equal their operating costs. Yet they know that to go out of production, or to reduce their output beyond a certain point, would in the long run mean greater losses than they would suffer by continuing.

IT WOULD APPEAR, THEN, THAT A STEADY PRODUCTION SCHEDULE, BESIDES BEING BENEFICIAL TO LABOR, WOULD HAVE CERTAIN ADVANTAGES FOR INDUSTRY ITSELF.

A guaranteed annual wage for labor also would mean expanded markets. It is a fundamental principle of our money and banking system that our economy cannot expand if the wage earners put their money in savings accounts. But when the workers must live in fear of being laid off for several months a year, they must put their money in banks to form a reserve.

If the workers were guaranteed an annual wage, more money would go immediately right back into the economic cycle. It would return, without delay, to the industrialist who could use it for expansion, or for continuing steady production.

But it appears that labor and management are not yet ready to draw up chairs around the same table and work out plans for maintaining steady production. The fault lies with both, but perhaps more with one than with the other. If we are to have 60,000,000 jobs, we must have cooperation first.

'Insure America Against Depression!'

Philadelphia Record: "Insure America against depression!" So says War Mobilizer Fred M. Vinson (who is to succeed Henry Morgenthau as secretary of the treasury).

Vinson is a liberal who has much conservative support. No-body questions that he has both feet solidly on the ground.

HE HOLDS THE CONFIDENCE OF BUSINESS, OF LABOR AND OF THE CONGRESS.

Striking evidence is the unanimous senate approval of his appointment as war mobilizer and earlier as federal loan administrator, a post he held briefly.

So, when Vinson proclaims the urgency of taking out national insurance against unemployment and postwar depression—

Can anybody in good conscience who has concern for his country's welfare shrug off the warning, as the warnings and program of Commerce Secretary Wallace for 60,000,000 jobs were disparaged because they came from a "visionary"?

Vinson adds his voice to those of a host of others in and out of government life when he urges higher wages, lower prices, lower unit production cost and profits, extended social security — AND FULL EMPLOYMENT GUARANTEED BY A LONG-RANGE PROGRAM OF PUBLIC WORKS.

But as Robert Roth reports in his series of stories on our post-war economy in the Record, full employment is like the weather: EVERYBODY TALKS ABOUT IT, BUT NOBODY DOES ANYTHING ABOUT IT.

Congress has not prepared America for peace. And it shows little or no disposition to take concrete steps now to legislate prosperity insurance. In fact, Senator Taft has suggested that congress take a vacation after the senate approves the San Francisco world charter.

That's as bad as a fire department going home to lunch when an alarm comes in.

Congress has a solemn duty to this country to provide legislation now—not three months from now or after the war ends—to guarantee full American employment, for civilians, for returning servicemen.

PUBLIC WORKS, COMPLETELY PLANNED AND READY TO BE PUT INTO OPERATION AT THE FIRST SIGN OF UNEMPLOYMENT, IS THE KEY.

Maybe Vinson's warning — in which he wisely asserted we must be ready for a short war with Japan as well as a long one — will receive serious attention from the congress.

We so hope and pray. Vinson knows how to get along with congress, in which he served seven terms in the house. He's a respected friend talking to old associates. Perhaps he can succeed where Wallace can't.

It would be no easy matter to put Vinson's program in operation. It calls for a 50 per cent betterment of the American standard of living, a national income of at least $140,000,000,000 compared with $88,000,000,000 in 1939. It provides for lower taxes. It pre-supposes tremendous development in mass low-cost production, lower management profits.

It will be a hard job to insure America—and it will become harder the longer congress waits. BUT DEPRESSION IS TOUGHER STILL. OR HAVE WE FORGOTTEN?

Start New Movement In Congress to Speed Small Airline Service

By JACK STINNETT WASHINGTON — While the commercial aviation emphasis these days is all on the international airways and who is going to fly them, a movement has started in congress to speed airline service to small communities over the nation from Saco, Me., to San Juan Capistrano, in you know where.

While we like to think of the United States as a country well blanketed by the airlines, the blanket doesn't cover much more than our knees.

There are 360 cities and towns now on main, trunk or feeder lines of commercial companies. It sounds fine. But they serve only about a third of our total population. There are 2,500 other communities which have applications before the civil aeronautics board, and are eager to take off the minute CAB flashes the green light.

Push Applications To hurry this along, Rep. Jennings Randolph, the West Virginian who is about the best friend commercial aviation has in congress, has introduced a resolution in the house requesting CAB to open the throttle in granting these applications.

The resolution actually is only a declaration of intent—a "vote of confidence"—but it's believed that by going on record as favoring the quickest possible action on the applications, congress can provide the stimulus that will prod CAB along.

If CAB is lagging, it isn't because they want to hold up service to the smaller communities, said Josh Lee, former senator from Oklahoma and now a member of the board, when I asked him about it.

Slowed Down There are three things that have tended to slow the board down: (1) It has had to drop almost everything to act on granting international routes or else see the United States take a back seat in world aviation. (2) The law requires that open hearings must be held before action can be taken on any application—and open hearings require time. (3) The board has to proceed cautiously for fear of binding the treasury to airmail commitments beyond what the law allows — in other words, every community served has to be surveyed.

The CAB would like to see some additional legislation protecting it in the grant of charters to new lines or the extension of existing ones. Representative Randolph doesn't think any is necessary, but will whip up some if his present resolution doesn't get the job done.

Passage Assured Since every one of the 48 states and 315 of the nation's 435 congressional districts are represented in the applications on file, there isn't any doubt about passage of the Randolph resolution.

It was Representative Randolph who seven years ago was a house leader in the fight to get the experimental airmail pick-up bill through. Serving small communities by the pick-up and drop system has been paying the post office dividends ever since.

The congressman thinks the same will prove true when the towns, villages and crossroads are given a chance to support scheduled commercial flights.

Swiss Women Renew Fight for Suffrage

BERNE (AP)—Now that the European war is over the women of Switzerland are renewing their agitation for woman suffrage. They argue that since they served in the army they also should be given the right to vote.

To a recent meeting of suffragettes in Berne the women brought petitions signed by 38,223 women and 11,855 men. The legislature of Canton Berne in 1943 rejected woman suffrage by only a few votes.

WAKE ISLAND HEROES

THE STORY OF the heroic stand of the marine garrison on tiny Wake Island before its capture by the Japs early in the war was told in Washington by First Lieuts. John Franklin Kenney, Colfax, Wash., (left) and John Alexander McAlister, Blue Mountain, Miss., (right). There marine officers were captured on the atoll but later escaped from a Jap prison camp in Shanghai, China.

Looking Ahead

—Fewer Federal Employees

By Washington Staff of AP WASHINGTON—Look for some action by President Truman to shake down the number of federal employees when the war with Japan gets well along.

Senator Byrd (D., Va.), who recently suggested that the end of the German war made it possible to dispense with 300,000 federal workers immediately, has been asked by Mr. Truman to talk with him about the matter when the president returns from Potsdam.

Byrd contends the more than 3,000,000 federal employees ought to be reduced to 1,000,000 when the war ends, but he's not urging any such drastic cutback while the fighting continues. The 3,000,000 figure includes many workers in navy yards and other government-owned war production plants.

FIRST WOMAN GENERAL?: A movement already is afoot in the war department to up the new head of the WAC—Col. Westray Battle Boyce—to the rank of brigadier general. She was a lieutenant colonel when made WAC boss and was promoted to colonel then. Her predecessor, "builder of the WAC" Oveta Culp Hobby, held the rank of colonel.

GAS STILL TIGHT: Perish the thought of getting extra gasoline for those vacation trips you once planned to make by train.

Instead of entertaining any idea of liberalizing gasoline rations, OPA right now is making a check to determine whether some local boards are handing out "B" rations too liberally.

LONG HAUL: And don't look for any easing of congested travel conditions even when V-J day comes.

Many thousands of migrant workers and their families, in addition to soldiers and sailors returning from the Pacific, will be seeking travel space. Transportation will be ended also for thousands of homeward-bound service men and women mustered out of military posts in this country.

SLOW GOING: Don't look for a new map of Europe on the front pages of the nation's newspapers the day after the Big Three conference in Potsdam ends.

If the Big Three manage to achieve their overall policy agreements on Europe, looking toward the settling of boundary problems, you can then expect a series of conferences by commissions charged with the slow task of working out details.

Interpreting the War News

Attention Focused on Big Three Conference; Shelling of Japan Causes Speculation

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON Associated Press News Analyst Attention remained closely focused on the Churchill-Stalin-Truman conversation in Potsdam at the weekend despite provoking meagre official word from the Big Three conference as to the nature or progress of its deliberations.

Such intimations as did reach the press, however, only served to heighten expectation on this side of the Atlantic that decisions affecting the duration of the war with Japan would be reached.

The titanic combined Anglo-American sea-air attack on Japan that continued unabated throughout the week heightened that expectation. City after city, both coastal and interior, in Japan was withered by bomb blasts or incendiaries, and by naval guns. There was no effective reaction by the foe of any sort except for a hornet's nest of anti-aircraft

DRIVER'S TEST

Pacific Reporter

—Okinawa Chapel

By RICHARD CUSHING OKINAWA (AP) — A shrieking wind—the edge of a tropical typhoon—whipped through the open sides of the tent as the chaplain's voice lifted in prayer: "O Lord, that we may be strong in the tasks ahead."

Driven rain and sand stung faces and bared heads of the 60 United States army corps men standing reverently in rough pews, fashioned from pickup lumber.

A chugging bulldozer clanked by on the coral road outside as the chaplain finished and announced "Hymn 54." The wind shrilled in rising fury. A Seabee dynamite blast shook the ground.

Sing Hymn Above it all the air men sang, accompanied by the chords of an old upright piano—"Hear Thou the prayer I make on bended knee..."

The hymn ended, they knelt and prayed for strength, for their loved ones and for their country. They prayed for peace.

This was inaugurated the new chapel of a bombardment group on Okinawa. Protestant Chaplain, Capt. Marion O. Smith of Galesburg, Ill., was filling in for Maj. Howard J. Johnson of Fort Worth, Tex., ill with yellow jaundice caught while preaching at the front lines on Luzon in the Philippines.

About 50 feet long and 20 wide, the chapel stands among three grey stone Okinawa tombs. It was built in six days, largely under the direction of Pfc Lon Lence of Carbondale, Ill., a radio operator who doubles as Major Johnson's assistant. The floor is dirt. A small altar holds a golden cross and two candles, placed upon red felt covering two stacks of "C" rations.

Over the altar billows a white silk parachute.

Three Services Protestant services are held Sunday mornings. Catholic services are held Sunday evenings. Jewish services are read on Friday nights.

Men at the front seek solace in religion, says Chaplain Smith. They often ask shyly how he, a man of God, can condone war, even participate in it.

Dike Against War To this Chaplain Smith answers, in effect: "You are fighting to place your life as a dike against the flood of worldwide destruction. Christ died willing to stop sin. The New Testament says others may give their lives as the ransom for man. We come over here to help free the world from recurring war and devastation and suffering. We can fight, with our soul at peace."

Yank Has Heard Everything Now

Questioning German soldiers in his capacity as a military government officer, Lieut. Albert H. Kahlenberg, of Oak Park, Ill., was told about what he termed the extreme in militarism—"the German military laugh."

According to Wehrmacht members, when a speaker was not going too well and failed to get laughter from some pun or stale and ancient joke, an officer often would get up and say "a short military laugh, please."

And the soldiers in the audience would show their perfect discipline by howling "Ha ha" — in cadence.

High School Students to Present Play

Curtain Up Monday at 8

To Produce O. Wilde's Farce, 'The Importance Of Being Earnest'

"The Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde will be presented in University theater tomorrow and Tuesday evenings at 8 o'clock by high school students enrolled in the university's special courses in speech and dramatics.

The play is one of the farce classics of English modern drama, according to the director, Prof. Vance Morton of the dramatic art department. First produced in London in 1895, it has been a universal favorite among theater-going audiences for 50 years, he said.

The last revival of Wilde's "trivial comedy for serious people" was in England in 1939 with John Gielgud as the star. Such famous theater performers as Henry Miller, William Faversham and Viola Allen have portrayed the leading characters in American productions of the play, Professor Morton said.

"The Importance of Being Earnest" was produced in 1939 in University theater. The theme of that production was modern. This time the play is done in the original Victorian style. Costumes were designed by James Casaday and scenery by Richard Scammon to reflect the period of 50 years ago.

Tickets for the production may be obtained at room 10, Schaeffer hall. Students should present their student identification cards to get tickets. There will be no reserved seats.

Members of the cast are R. DeWayne Minor, Hilda Greenberg, Flora Robinson and Patricia Tracy, all of Cedar Rapids; Franklin H. Knower Jr., of Iowa City; Edgar Smutny of Boulder, Col.; George Morrison of Joliet, Ill.; Jack Roach of Plainfield; Jane Lekberg and Genevieve Grant, both of Indianola; Joanne Davis of Northampton, Mass., and Betsy G. Ross of Ames.

Mary Holmes to Give Third Art Lecture On Current Exhibit

Mary Holmes of the art department will speak tomorrow afternoon at 4:10 in the art building auditorium on the university's exhibition of contemporary art. This is the third of four weekly talks on the art show.

Prof. Melvin M. Rader, visiting lecturer in the philosophy department, will give the final talk in the series next Monday. The exhibition will remain in the art building and Iowa Union until July 31. Gallery tours of the show are conducted Sunday and Wednesday afternoons this month by graduate assistants in the art department. The tours start at 4 p. m. in the main gallery of the art building.

Harriet Glaser, Staff Sgt. Robert Meyerson To Wed in Ceremony This Afternoon at 5:30

Pharmacy to Offer Awards

Three resident tuition scholarships will be available to superior students who have completed their freshman year in the college of pharmacy here, according to Dean R. A. Kuever.

The scholarships are from a $400 grant by the American Foundation for Pharmaceutical Education. Iowa is one of 52 universities sharing scholarship grants.

The 1945-46 winners will be named in September at the beginning of the fall semester, Dean Kuever said. Each must have made at least a 2.5 grade-point average in the freshman year.

Planes Come High BOGOTA (AP) — Moral and physical damages sustained by one indirect victim of an aviation disaster seven years ago were valued at $66,000 by supreme court here. Dr. Jose de J. Pulecio lost, within a few seconds, his wife and three children, and the court ruled that the shock was so great that his capacity for work was reduced one half. The indemnity will be paid by the national government.

Sergeant Meyerson was graduated from Lane Technical high school in Chicago and attended Herzl junior college prior to his enlistment in the army airforce. He recently returned from nine months service in Italy with the 15th airforce.

Schick Spills Cadets, 4-2 In Brilliant Mound Duel

Meet Rath's Here Today

Norbord Fox Bests Nick Langenderfer In Hurling Duel

By BOB WILSON
Daily Iowan Sports Writer
Schick Hospital's nine tasted revenge here yesterday as they outclassed a hapless Seahawk team, 4 to 2. The contest was a marked contrast to the last meeting of the clubs here two weeks ago, when the Pre-Flighters scored an easy 7 to 2 win. The Cadets simply couldn't get started yesterday, and muffed several scoring chances.

Superior Base Running

Superior base running, rather than hitting power, characterized the scoring for the Schick nine. In the second inning, with one gone, Jim Coughlin walked, then literally stole his way home. He made a second and third in this manner, and ran home later on a double steal.

The Schicks tallied again in the fourth. Bill Nowak, center fielder, reached first by a Seahawk miscue, and scored on a stolen base and a hit.

The Cadets missed an opportunity to register in the sixth stanza. Jim Ashcraft drove a long hit deep into right field, for an easy three bagger, but was called out at the plate as he tried to stretch it into a home run.

Both nines tallied in the eighth frame. In their half, the Schick team put together a base on balls, two hits, and a stolen base to counter two more runs. Peruccio led off the inning with a free pass. He advanced on a sacrifice, and dashed home on Ingles' sharp single.

On the next pitch, Ingles stole second and scored on Lowell's one-bagger. Lowell was caught off second by the use of the ancient "hidden ball play," cleverly executed by Lou Rochelli.

Scoring Column

The Cadets finally broke into the scoring column in the last of the eighth. After walking the first two batters to face him, Fox, Schick hurler, was replaced on the mound by Scolan. Then, with two men on, Jack Gish slapped Scolan's first offering into center field for a clean hit, scoring Deizel. Rochelli's single brought in Ashcraft, making the score 4-2 with still no one out. The Cadets again failed to take advantage of their scoring opportunity, and the next three men were retired.

Pitching Debut

Making his pitching debut for the Cadets, Nick Langenderfer pitched an excellent game, well spacing six hits. It was the fine base running of the Schick ball club that proved to be the difference between victory and defeat.

Norbord Fox pitched superb ball for the visitors for seven innings, but tired in the eighth and lost control. He gave up only three hits and struck out five.

The Cadets will attempt to snap

Dodson Leads St. Paul Open

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Leonard Dodson of Kansas City, the nonchalant "Clown Prince" of professional golfers, continued to lead qualifiers at the end of the second round of play in the St. Paul open yesterday.

Dodson carded a 70 yesterday which, with his Friday 67, gave him a 137 total for the two days. Four pros with 139 totals pressed close on his heels.

They were Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kan., with a 71 yesterday and a previous 68; Ky Lafoon of Chicago, who cut one stroke off his opening round 70; Serg. E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Wright Field, Ohio, who chopped three strokes off his earlier 71; and Virgil Shreve of San Francisco, Calif., down one stroke from a 70 on Friday.

their three-game losing streak this afternoon as they meet the Rath Packing nine on the local diamond.

Pirates Split Doubleheader With Braves

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Ducky Medwick's ninth inning single to score Carden Gillenwater spoiled Nick Strincevich's shutout yesterday as the Pittsburgh Pirates whipped the Boston Braves 3-1 in the second game of a doubleheader after dropping the opener, 5-1.

Strincevich allowed only six hits as he achieved his tenth win of the season.

Bob Elliott's double and a single by Babe Dahlgren opened the scoring off Bob Logan in the fifth. The Pirates blasted Hogan off the mound in the next frame with two runs on a double by Pete Coscarart, Frankie Gustine's triple and an infield out.

Veteran Bill Lee won his first game since joining the Braves in the opener. He yielded nine hits but kept them well scattered.

The Braves touched Al Gerheuser for three runs in the sixth, one of them being Tommy Holmes' 16th homer of the year, and added two more in the eighth. Pittsburgh's lone run came in the fifth.

Second Guess

By ROY LUCE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

YESTERDAY we witnessed the third straight defeat of the Seahawks, and the sixth of the season. It was a tough defeat for the Cadets to take—seeing that they outthit the Schick Hospital nine, 7 to 6.

Even in defeat, there was some consolation for the Seahawks and playing Coach Carlos Ratliff. For the second straight time, Ratliff has come up with a pitcher that looked as good as the navy regulars—and that includes Steve Stuka—who by the way will hurl today's contest with the Rath Blackhawks of Waterloo.

Good Ball

Nick Langenderfer, in his first mound appearance under the Seahawk colors, hurled good ball all the way, but erratic play by his teammates and some excellent base running, coupled with the timely hitting of the Schick nine, proved his downfall.

In the second inning, for example, Mike Franchuk's wild heave into centerfield trying to catch Bill Nowak who was stealing second after drawing a base on balls, allowed him to score the first tally for the Hospital nine. Incidentally, the throw was made immediately after Karstens had gone down swinging.

The Schick nine produced another run in the fourth on one hit, and two more in the eighth—all aided considerably by errors, walks and smart base running. Their two run spurge in the eighth needed only two base blows. Medwick, cf, 4 1 2 0

Yes—the spark is gone and the Seahawks are slipping. When they get the so-called pitching they have been asking for, they still fail to win games. What the trouble is, no one seems to know. They had the hitting yesterday—they had everything but the runs, and apparently they have lost the formula on how to get them.

Best We've Seen

Fox on the mound for Schick was perhaps the best hurler we have seen in action here this season. Sure—he gave up three hits—but he kept them so well scattered that the Cadets didn't even come close to a run when he was pitching.

Perhaps that is a misstatement of the facts. The Cadets, in one sense of the word, did come close to scoring several times, but always Fox tightened up and retired the side. In the second frame, the Seahawks loaded the bases, but Fox calmly whiffed Langenderfer to end the scoring threat. Again in the fifth with two men on base and only one out, he forced Deizel to hit into a fast double play, short to second to first, to end the inning.

Returned From Germany

Fox, we understand, just recently returned to this country after spending some time in Germany as a prisoner of war. The German treatment was very evident as he started to tire in the eighth and issued two straight walks in a row. He, himself, realizing that he was through, motioned to the dugout for a new hurler. Scolan, who replaced him, immediately dished up two hits in a row to the Seahawk batters. However, he settled down and retired the side in order in the ninth.

It was hard to pick out the fielding gem of the day. Lou Rochelli at short was as usual, sensational, but the plays of the outfield drew the biggest applause. Luke Majorik, perhaps made the best play when he made a long run after a fly ball and just failed to reach it. He snagged it on the first bounce, and in the same motion, whirled and pegged it to second, where the poor unfortunate Schick man was called out, trying to stretch his single into a double. Harry Beason's long running catch of Mike White's line drive in the ninth was another feature of the Seahawk outfield play.

The play of Jim Coughlin at short for the visitors almost equalled that of Rochelli. His lightning like pegs to first nicked many a base runner when they thought they had it beat out for a hit.

For all around play, however, it was the hurlers for both teams that stole the show. For the first time this season, the fans witnessed a real pitching duel—one that had the crowd on its feet constantly.

Packers Come to Town

This afternoon, the Seahawks take to the field to try and break their three game losing streak against the Rath Blackhawks of Waterloo. Little is known of the Packers, but it has been rumored that Paul Fagerlind, the Iowa star football, basketball and track man,

Five Assistants Named to Aid Hearden With 1945 Cadet 11

Announcement of five assistant coaches today by Lieut. Comdr. Jack Meagher, athletic director of Iowa Pre-Flight school, completes arrangements for the Seahawks to open football practice tomorrow.

The five named to assist Head Coach Lieut. Tom Hearden include Lieut. George Cole, Lieut. James Poole, Lieut. Steve Sanko, Lieut. Michael O'Leary and Lieut. Clarence Rundell. Sanko, O'Leary and Rundell were members of the staff last year with Hearden.

Practice sessions will be held twice daily with two battalions drilling during their morning sports program period. The other two battalions present who will be available for football will work during their afternoon sports program class. This means each candidate will have about an hour and a half drill per day.

Squad to Be Cut

This program will be followed until Aug. 13, when Hearden and his staff will trim the squad to 50 and then proceed on a regular afternoon practice basis. This will allow five weeks of concentrated practice prior to the opening contest with Ohio State's Western conference champions here on Sept. 22.

Only two members of last year's team are available and both are officers so will be competing only against service opponents. These include Poole, the former New York Giant end who has signed a postwar contract to assist Lieut. Comdr. Meagher with the coaching of the Miami eleven in the new All-America league, and Tackle Ray George. One other officer available will be Lieut. John Januska, tackle from Boston college, who played last year on the Jacksonville naval air station team, piloted by Lieut. Don Faurt, 1943 Seahawk coach.

147 to Report

Advance indications point to the issuing of equipment to 147 who have signified their intention of reporting. However, most of these have only high school experience with no well known college players listed.

With Poole, who will be a playing coach in service games, having been a member of last year's team the only newcomer is Cole. Head of the mass exercise department, Cole formerly served as back field coach at the University of Arkansas and will fill the same capacity on the Seahawk staff.

Listed as line coach for the second season is Sanko, the former Duquesne star, who followed a career in professional football by returning to his alma mater as coach. Assisting him with the line will be Rundell, ex-coach at San Angelo, Tex. high school.

Poole will specialize in the ends with the centers being taken over by O'Leary, star undergraduate football and basketball player at Creighton university, who was coaching at Anaconda, Mont. high school when he entered the service.

will be on the mound for them this afternoon.

Fagerlind, although out for baseball here at Iowa, appeared only briefly as a pinch-hitter. He has had pro offers from both the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago Cubs for his pitching performances. Last year for Rath, he pitched two no-hit games, so if he is on the mound today, the fans can be sure that they will see some fine ball.

Tigers, Athletics Battle to 1 to Tie In 24 Inning Tilt

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics and the Detroit Tigers tied a 39-year-old American league endurance record yesterday as they battled almost five hours through 24 innings without any decision reached.

Umpire Bill Sommers called game at the end of the 24th inning with the score tied 1-1.

The Athletics and the Boston Red Sox in 1906 played 24 innings to set an American League record which has never been equaled or broken until yesterday.

It was the longest major league game of this season and came within two innings of tying the all-time major mark of 26 innings, set in 1920 by Brooklyn and Boston of the senior loop.

Detroit's Les Mueller, a right hander with a fast ball who was recently discharged from the army, outlasted three other pitchers used in the game. He pitched 19 and two thirds innings and was relieved by Paul (Dizzy) Trout after he had walked two men.

Russ Christopher, seeking his 12th victory, hurled 13 innings for the A's and was followed by Jittery Joe Berry.

Umpire Sommers called the game on account of darkness.

Bobanet Runs First In Franklin Handicap

CAMDEN, N. J. (AP)—Bobanet, member of the Bobanet stable of Bruce Livie, of Baltimore, and one of the leading juveniles of 1944, registered his first victory this year when he won the rich six-furlong Benjamin Franklin handicap before approximately 25,774 fans at Garden State Park yesterday.

Eleven three-year-olds started, and it was an interesting race from start to finish with Bobanet, under a strong ride by Shelby Clark, beating Mort Newmeyer's Turbine a neck in a driving finish.

Bobanet was coupled in the betting with Pholos and the Entry, overlooked in the betting, paid $17.40.

Feller Hurls No-hit Game For Great Lakes

GREAT LAKES, Ill (AP)—Bob Feller, displaying his brilliant pre-war form, hurled a no-hit game as his Great Lakes Blue-jackets walloped the Ford All-Stars of Dearborn, Mich., 18-0 before 10,000 sailors here yesterday. Feller struck out 10 for his perfect game which gave the Blue-jackets their 19th victory of the season and raised his total of strikeouts to 110 for 11 games.

The former Cleveland star, now a chief specialist and coach of the Blue-jackets, last hurled a no-hitter in 1940 when his 1-0 victory over the Chicago White Sox was recorded as the first opening no-hit game in the American league since 1900.

In making one of his rare full-game appearances of the season, Feller was caught by Walker Cooper, former St. Louis Cardinals' receiver. Cooper's two-run homer sparked a five-tally spurge in fourth that broke up a duel between Feller and Bert Fodor, who last summer pitched the Ford All-Stars to one of the two victories scored over Great Lakes all season.

Brownies Rejoice—Chet Laabs Returns

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Chet Laabs, the man who supplied the punch that pushed the St. Louis Browns into their first pennant on the final day of the 1944 season, is coming back to the American league champions.

The Browns' front office announced yesterday that Laabs has been released from his Detroit war job and will report to St. Louis immediately to begin training. He will join the club when it returns from the current road trip.

The short stocky outfielder played only 66 games for the Browns last year and in 65 of them he was just another guy, one of the weakest on a weak-hitting team.

Then came Sunday. The Browns were meeting the New York Yankees whom they had defeated three straight times. At Detroit the Tigers were meeting the last-place Washington Senators. The American race hinged in the balance. To take the flag the Browns had to win, and the Tigers had to lose.

Dutch Leonard and his knuckle ball took care of the Tigers, but out at Sportsman's Park the Browns were having an awful time with the Yanks.

The New Yorkers had stepped out to a one-run lead in the first and picked up another in the third. Mike Kreevich started the fourth for the Browns with a single. Up came Laabs. There were audible groans from the record crowd of 55,518. Laabs had been making more or less a habit of striking out. Mel Green pitched, Laabs connected, and the ball landed 10 feet inside the foul line

Cedar Rapids Open Tourney to Draw State's Better Golfers

Special to The Daily Iowan

The Cedar Rapids Open golf tournament, which in three short years has become Iowa's richest links attraction, was set Saturday for its third annual running July 29.

The tournament, which offers overall prize money running close to $1,500, will be played at the Cedar Rapids Country Club, one of the finest golf layouts in the state.

A $500 war bond, biggest prize ever put up in the state, will go to the winning professional. The low scoring amateur will receive a $100 war bond, top money permitted under National Amateur Golf association rules.

Other prizes in the professional section are second place $200 bond, third place $100 bond, fourth place $50 bond and fifth place $25 bond. Other amateur prizes are a $50 bond for second place, $25 bond for third and $10 in war stamps for fourth.

In addition special prizes of $50 have been set up and George Harless, tournament manager, said the special prize figure would be boosted considerably to offer more prizes in the championship flight on tournament day.

The prize list has attracted most, if not all, of the state's better golfers as well as a number of top flight golfers from surrounding states. A field of 300 is anticipated.

That field includes both the defending champions — Pat Wilcox of Des Moines, who won the professional division in the second annual Cedar Rapids Open last year, and Jack Smith of Cedar Rapids, last year's amateur winner.

It also includes Charley Burkhardt of Cedar Rapids, winner of last week's Waterloo Open, Jack Hall of Des Moines, the Iowa Masters' champion, Bill Urban of Fairfield, a sparkling newcomer to the Iowa golfing ranks, Walt Hodge of Dubuque, Gene Chapman of Iowa City, C. V. Anderson of Waterloo, Tiny Merchler of Bloomington, Ill., and others.

The amateur section has drawn such golfing names as Jack Pratum of St. Louis, Dave Juillard of Chicago, Ev Scheppelle of Waterloo, Dixie Smith of Des Moines, Kenneth Young of Davenport, Harold Skow of Newton, Harlan Benshoof of Des Moines, the state prep champion, Merle Stimson of Waterloo, and Dr. Paul Barton of Davenport, a former Iowa Amateur champion.

The ball game is scheduled to begin at two thirty. According to Sangster, either Sonny Dean or Bob Devine will be on the mound for the Iowa Citizens.

The win enabled the Giants to move back into the first division.

Legion Nine Faces Wapello

Iowa City's junior American Legion baseball team will meet Wapello here this afternoon in a new Legion tournament. The ball clubs in District Number 1 have formed a league which is now sponsoring this round robin tourney.

The district has been divided into two halves, the northern and southern parts. The final round will see the clash of the champions of the two sections.

Earl Sangster's charges, who gained the semi-final round of the last Legion tournament before they lost a heart-breaker to Keokuk, will be playing their first contest in the new list of games.

In preparation for the game today, Coach Sangster has put his boys through the paces so that they might be in top form for the tilt. They have been practicing hitting against the offerings of a left-handed hurler, as the pitcher of the Wapello nine is a south-paw.

The ball game is scheduled to begin at two thirty. According to Sangster, either Sonny Dean or Bob Devine will be on the mound for the Iowa Citizens.

European Borer Found in Several Nearby Corn Fields

The European corn borer has been identified by Emmett C. Gardner, county extension director, in several fields in Johnson county.

One of the worst infested fields, reports Gardner, is a 20-acre field near Indian Lookout. This field is near the tasseling stage. It was planted May 9.

Practically all the stalks have small holes eaten in the leaves by the small borers which are found near the tassel and in the base of the leaves. As they grow larger, the borers will start boring into the corn stalks in many places. These borers will live inside the stalk for a few weeks and finish their life cycle as borers there. Then they go into the pupa stage and in a few days they emerge as adult moths.

This moth will fly in August to the late planted corn fields where eggs will be laid on top of the corn near the tassel. In a week the eggs will hatch into small borers and a second brood of corn borers will begin damaging the corn plants.

The second brood of corn borers will pass through the winter in the borer stage in corn stalks, corn ears, cobs, and other stem plants.

Corn borer control is only secured by all farmers cooperating together in a control program because the moth flies from farm to farm and can cover several miles of territory, Gardner said.

Livestock Men Describe Situation—

Meat Shortage to Continue

THE WAY IT IS—empty pens at the national stock yards tell why your butcher's cabinets are bare today. It's also why the pork and beef situation will not look any better in the coming months, according to leading livestock brokers and commission men.

By HARRY BARNES
Central Press Correspondent
NATIONAL CITY, Ill. — Mrs. Housewife who read the heartening news that there will be 5 per cent more meat during the coming months is due for a sad awakening when it actually comes to putting more meat on the family dinner table.

Such is the opinion of leading livestock brokers and commission men at this home of one of the country's leading meat markets, the national stock yards.

The meat shortage, they say, is here to stay, at least for another four or five months, and nothing the government can say about bigger allowances to John Q. Public is going to make any difference.

There is only one thing that can put more meat on the table, according to these august opinions, and that is "more meat." Right at the moment, there seems to be little prospect of increased supplies so that Mrs. Housewife can get a bigger and better roast for Sunday dinner.

Why Outlook Is Bad
Numerous factors enter into the predictions of livestock men that the meat shortage is not yet near an end.

The first and foremost of these is the shortage of hog receipts that has been building up until marketing this year is far below the level necessary even to maintain military requirements.

The shortage in hog receipts consequently creates a lack of supplies.

plies that must be taken up, wherever possible, by other meats.

While cattle runs in the past have been at a fairly high level, the stock has been of light weight and fails to offset the shortage of pork and pork products, thus creating a two-way shortage.

Pork Outlook Discouraging
This year's outlook for pork and hog volume is discouraging. The department of agriculture reported not so long ago that a spring and fall pig crop of 87,000,000 head is indicated, a number only slightly larger than last year's crop of 86,753,000 head.

What is more significant is the fact that this indicated crop is 7,500,000 head less than the number required to meet actual demand.

The potential pork and lard tonnage from the spring crop shows a reduction of approximately 700,000,000 pounds from the tonnage of the spring crop in 1944, and a cut of more than 4,000,000,000 pounds from the spring crop of 1943. That is one of the reasons there is less meat today.

R. C. Pollock, general manager of the National Live Stock and Meat board, said recently that the total estimates of 1945 meat production approximate 22,400,000,000 pounds, or 2,125,000,000 pounds less than in 1944. And you know how short meat was last year.

Subsidy Didn't Help
Here again, the reduced 1945 figure is due to a drop in hog population and consequently in production of pork and pork products.

There was some hope that the 50 cent subsidy to cattle feeders would increase the over-all supply of meat, but Prairie Farmer in a recent survey polled a group of corn belt feeders on the question and received a discouraging answer.

Only 18 per cent of those answering thought an increase would be forthcoming; 38 per cent answered "perhaps, a little," but 44 per cent said no.

Only five out of every hundred cattle feeders polled said they definitely would put more cattle into the feed lot as a result of the direct subsidy of 50 cents a hundred for cattle weighing more than 800 pounds and bringing at least $14.25 per 100 pounds.

A shortage of manpower, feed costs and dissatisfaction of farmers over price controls are mainly stock production, particularly hogs, according to Ed Smith of the Producers Livestock commission association here.

Smith was among the first in the country to predict a meat shortage and he, like other experts, maintains the shortage is not near its end.

In addition to the present prospects of a continued shortage in hog runs, another factor has crept into the situation that will play an important part in the meat supply later this year.

According to H. M. Conway, director of research of the National Livestock Producers association, the outlook for this year's corn crop is "rather serious."

Weather Hurt Corn
Due to weather conditions, corn crops got off to a late start and the success of the crop will depend

Two SUI Graduates Write Play Presented By Summer Company

Capt. Milton Lomask of Des Moines, 1930 graduate of the university, and Broadway actor Whitford Kane, a member of University theater faculty in the summer of that year, are co-authors of a play to be presented for the first time next month in Eagles Mere, Pa. The play is titled "Return of the Innocent."

Kane, who will appear in the production Aug. 16-18 at Forest Inn playhouse in Eagles Mere, has been a featured player on Broadway and in the movies for the last 50 years. He will be seen this fall in the Theater Guild production of "The Winter's Tale."

While a member of the SUI summer theater faculty, Kane directed and appeared in "Juno and the Paycock" and "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Captain Lomask, now stationed at Edgewood Arsenal, Md., was associated with the Des Moines Register after his graduation from Iowa in the summer of 1930.

considerably upon a subsequent weather conditions and the length of the growing period.

Additional cultivation of corn may be impossible, due to the labor shortage, Conway pointed out. The situation, he added, is general throughout the corn belt.

Commission men agree that while cattle receipts have remained fairly steady, the choice stock that once was common in the buying pens are almost a thing of the past. Most cattle received today are low-grade stock of lighter weight, and the government takes the best of it, leaving the rest for general distribution.
