Deadlock Delays Action in Oil Strike

Patton Ousted As Leader Of 3rd Army

Eisenhower Order Puts Him in Charge Of 'Paper Army'

FRANKFURT ON THE MAIN, Germany (AP) — General Eisenhower announced yesterday he had ousted Gen. George S. Patton Jr., as commander of the Third army and administrator of Bavaria and had placed him in charge of a "paper army," the 15th.

The order, effective Oct. 7, followed complaints that the pistol-packing, colorul Patton had kept Bavarian Nazis in office, and was made public just four days after the 59-year-old armored commander was called on the carpet to give a personal report to Eisenhower on his denazification actions.

Lieut. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott, who commanded the Fifth army in Italy and later headed the Seventh army, will succeed Patton as commander of the Third army and administrator of the eastern military district.

Paper Army

The 15th army at present consists only of headquarters and special troops engaged in research work on allied relations during the war. It does not control any occupation area.

The official announcement gave no reason for the shift, but disclosed that Eisenhower had notified Patton of the transfer last Saturday, the day after Patton had been summoned to Frankfurt.

Throughout the day Patton was not available to correspondents at his walled and turreted headquarters in Bad Toelz. Last night a sentry at his spacious lakeside villa at Tegernsee turned away an Associated Press correspondent with a curt message from an aide, "You're not admitted."

Controversy

Patton, known to his men as "blood and guts", has been one of the most controversial figures in the American army. His commands in Sicily and France moved with great skill and speed unequalled by any American general and his fighting ability has been respected by friend and foe alike.

His slapping of a shell-shocked soldier in Sicily, and his knack of making blood and thunder statements that aroused indignation in England and America at various times made his Eisenhower's No. 1 problem child. Only his superlative military ability saved him on several occasions.

Patton's transfer followed his latest outburst Sept. 22 when, replying to charges he was keeping Nazis in office, he defended his action as necessary to avoid anarchy.

Big Five Conference Ends in Deadlock

LONDON (AP)—The five-power conference of foreign ministers, after three weeks of discussing European peace settlements ended last night in apparent failure.

This was the first meeting of the major powers in which no joint communique was issued at the conclusion of discussions. There was merely a brief announcement that the council had "decided to terminate its present session."

In an authorized statement, United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes disclosed that the issue which deadlocked the conference was Russia's insistence on barring France and China from discussions of Balkan peace treaties.

No date was set for any future meeting and, conference circles said, it probably would not be until the heads of the governments find some solution of the procedure issue.

The discussions began Sept. 11 with the assignment to forge the framework of the Italian peace treaty and to write the basic clauses of similar treaties for the beaten Axis satellites, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Revise Regulations for Women—

Senior Hours Relaxed

Regulations governing the social activities of senior women students will be liberalized effective next Monday, Helen Oltman, A4 of Oak Park, Ill., chairman of the judiciary board of the University Women's association, announced yesterday.

Senior women maintaining satisfactory academic standards and social conduct will no longer be required to return to their houses or dormitories at a prescribed hour in the evening.

Liberalization of the rules—thus giving university women more freedom but placing the responsibility for scholastic work directly on the individual—was suggested by a special committee of representatives of women's organizations.

Approved

It was approved by the U. W. A. judiciary board, the U. W. A. council, the student council and the university committee on student affairs.

Senior women with a 2.0 grade average will not be required to return to their housing units by 10:30 p. m. Sunday through Thursday and 12:30 a. m. Friday and Saturday as under the present regulations. They will be permitted to come in at their own discretion.

If the "no closing hour" rule is abused, however, the judiciary board may place the student on undergraduate hours, and if abuse of the priviledge becomes prevalent in any housing unit, the entire unit may be suspended.

Suspension

Abuse consists of taking out undergraduate women or of excessive lateness. Poor scholastic work also will be cause for suspension of the priviledge.

One senior women in each house always will be on duty to admit the seniors. Each woman will be required to sign her name and the time she returns in a book. Those housed in dormitories will be admitted by the regular night clerk and will also sign in. The record books will be checked every two weeks.

"These priviledges were awarded the seniors in view of their maturity and in preparation for the increased responsibility which they shall acquire upon graduation." Miss Oltman said. "It is expected that these regulations shall be used with discretion at all times."

Parents Notified

The parents of every senior woman have been notified by letter of the new regulations.

Members of the senior hours committee last spring were Lorraine Lucas, A4 of Pocahontas, representing Currier hall; Mary Beth Hartman, P3 of Vinton, cooperative dormitories; Betty Underbrink, A4 of Jacksonville, Ill., Law Commons; Louise Johnston, A4 of Marchalltown, and Marianne Crews, A3 of Ft. Dodge, sororities; Virginia Bell, A2 of Duncombe, and Ann Mottelson, A3 of LaGrange, Ill., town women, and L'louise Smith, A4 of Elkader, judiciary board representative.

Members of the judiciary board are Miss Oltman, chairman; Miss Lucas, senior women; Miss Smith, dormitories; Miss Mottelson, town women, and Louise Hilfman, A4 of Bettendorf, sororities.

'Globester' Delayed By Engine Trouble

GUAM (AP)—The Globester developed engine trouble yesterday on the homestretch and was forced to return to Guam after it had sped 315 miles along the road to Kwajalein.

Scheduled to be in Washington by Thursday, the giant plane had left Guam at 3:15 a. m. (11:15 Tuesday, central standard time) and returned at 7:05 a. m. Delay in Guam, however, was limited to an hour.

Passengers were quickly transferred to another plane for the resumed flight of 1,1551 miles over water to Kwajalein.

Among those who were given Globester seats at Manilla were 22 former prisoners of war, including heroes of the death march from Bataan. Some had not been home since 1940.

Sooty Prisoner Learns You Can't Escape Law

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joseph Gaito, 26, sentenced to 3 1-2 years in prison, eluded his captors, slithered three stories down the inside of a ventilator at the courthouse—and landed in the sheriffs receiving room.

Covered with soot, Gaito sat up and said:

"I'm the fellow cleaning the furnace."

It was no good. A half dozen deputies instantly pounced on him.

Home From Pacific For 1,800,000 Naval Officers, Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — The navy estimated yesterday about 1,800,000 navy, marine and coast guard officers and men will be brought home from the Pacific before Sept. 1, 1946.

When the withdrawal is complete, only about 200,000 navy and marine officers and men will be on duty in the Pacific. All will be replacements, since the number to be returned is about equal to the number now on duty in the Pacific.

Movement of army personnel out of the Pacific will be slightly smaller, so that the total number of men too be embarked for home from Pacific areas in the next 11 months will be about 3,400,000.

Strikes Clutter National Scene

COMPILED FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCHES

Major developments yesterday in the nationwide strike picture were:

1. Labor-management disputes throughout the country raised to 415,000 the number of workers off the job due to strikes.

2. Nearly a fourth of the nation's soft coal miners and 214 mines were not working as a result of supervisory employes walkout.

3. The CIO oil workers' strike, embracing 40,000 persons, spread to its 13th and 14th states—California and New Jersey—as the government - labor - management conciliation conference continued in Washington.

4. The lower Colorado river authority restored electric service to nearly all its Texas customers, fired AFL strikers who had shutdown four hyroelectric plants Monday, and offered their jobs to war veterans, a number of whom were hired.

5. New York, crippled last week by a building service employes' strike which ended Monday, was hit yesterday by work stoppages of teamsters and longshoremen and a slowdown by bus drivers.

6. Members of the national federation of telephone workers will leave their jobs all over the United States Friday from 1 to 5 p. m. (CST) to vote "on strike action on a nationwide basis," an official in New York announced last night.

7. A petition for a strike vote to be conducted by the national labor relations board in 11 plants of the International Harvester company in Illinois, Iowa, Indiana and New York was filed yesterday by the united farm equipment and metal workers (CIO). Included in the petition will be five locals from Chicago plants and locals from plants at East Moline, Ill.; Rock Island, Ill.; Bettendorf, Ia.; Rock Falls, Ill.; Richmond, Ind., and Auburn, N. Y.

May Cancel Treaty Confab

WASHINGTON (AP) — As an apparent outgrowth of the Argentine problem, this government is discussing with Brazil either cancellation or postponement of the scheduled inter-American conference at Rio de Janeiro.

This was learned reliably last night in the wake of Capitol Hill discussions in which acting secretary of State Acheson and Spruille Braden, recently returned ambassador to Argentina, talked the situation over with leading legislators.

The Rio conference was called for Oct. 20 primarily to agree upon an inter-American defense treaty.

Several Latin American ambassadors had suggested informally a temporary postponement of the meeting.

Individual Tax Cut Approved by House

Committee Okays Plan To Relieve 12 Million Persons of Payment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The house ways and means committee voted yesterday to remove 12,000,000 low income persons from the income tax rolls in 1946 and to cut the total individual income tax burden almost half a billion dollars deeper than the administration recommended.

Fred A. Vinson, secretary of the treasury, had asked a $2,085,000,000 cut in the individual taxes. The committee voted an estimated $2,500,000,000. It has yet to act on his recommendations for corporation and other reductions. It it approves them without change, it total proposed cut would amount to $5,500,000,000.

Vinson had recommended that the three percent "normal tax" on individual incomes be repealed outright.

Brushed Aside

The committee brushed this suggestion aside. It tentatively approved (subject to possible revision later) a substitute proposal by Rep. Carlson (R., Kan.) which would:

1. Keep the normal tax, but with the more liberal exemptions now applied to surtaxes. The normal tax now is levied against net income over $50 without regard to the number of a taxpayer's dependents. The surtax exemptions, which would be applied to the normal levy, allow the taxpayer tax free net income of $500 for himself and $500 for each dependent.

2. Reduce the surtaxes by four percentage points in each of the graduated brackets. Thus, the surtax rate on the first $2,000 of net income would be 16 percent instead of 20 percent; on the next $2,000, 18 percent instead of 22, and on up the list.

12,000,000 Removed

If his plan ultimately becomes law the 12,000,000 removed from income levies after this year would be married persons (no children) making $1,000 or less net income; married persons with one child, $1,500 or less; with two children $2,000 or less; and so increasing $500 for each additional dependent.

Sultan in a Harem; Lone Male a Student At Women's College

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., (AP) —The first male student in Smith college's 70-year history yesterday made his appearance on the campus.

A veteran of two and one-half years in the army, Meredith Stiles, 23, of Essex Falls, N. J., enrolled in several advanced Spanish courses at the college to augment his courses at neighboring Amherst college.

A member of the class of 1944 at Amherst before he went into the army, Stiles received special permission from President Herbert Davis of Smith to attend classes—and to take his meals at Washburn house, a Spanish-speaking residential project.

Rice Riots Indicate Fall Of Jap Cabinet

TOKYO, Wednesday, (AP)—Disclosure of a rice riot in northern Japan and a flood of letters from Japanese critics, demanding governmental changes, added strength today to reports that the Japanese cabinet may fall or be drastically revamped.

Yomiuri-Hoichi said 100 villagers in Otakasawa-Migayi prefecture broke into a government-owned warehouse Sept. 26 and took 54 bales of rice after the watchman refused permission for them to borrow some. Prefectural police subsequently made arrests and recovered most of the rice.

"The village has a good record of forwarding rice to the government," Yomiuri-Hoichi said, "but currently is suffering a shortage of rice because the quantity allotted by the government is insufficient for its needs."

The newspaper Asahi said premier Higashi- Kuni, who solicited public expressions a month ago, has been deluged by thousands of letters, particularly by women complaining of difficulties in obtaining food.

With a forthrightness impossible under the old regime, the press demanded the dismissal of "feudalistic officials" such as those who tried to stop publication of the

Huge Sugar Supply Discovered in Java

1,600,000-Ton Cache May Shorten Ration Period to Early '46

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Anderson disclosed last night that 1,600,000 tons of sugar have been discovered in the ports of Java since the Japanese surrendered.

Obviously pleased over the discovery, Anderson told newsmen at a conference that this sugar should greatly shorten the period of rationing in this country. He said bakers, whose quotas have been cut sharply, probably will be the first to get the benefit of the Javanese supply.

Discovery of this sugar was reported by E. C. Zimmerman, commissioner for the Netherlands East Indies. He held out hope, Anderson said, that substantial additional amounts may be found in the interior of Java as well as on Borneo and other East Indies islands.

The sugar will be added to a united nation pool and will be apportioned among claimants by the combined food board, representing the United States, Great Britain and Canada.

No allocation has yet been made, but Anderson expressed the hope that it might be possible to end sugar rationing early in 1946.

The secretary announced he had been informed also that 35,000 tons of crude rubber had been found in Java.

'Need Naval Aviation as Peace Insurance'

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher, last night advocated training 5,000 naval aviators and crewmen yearly "to keep naval aviation a dominant factor in world peace insurance."

The commander of the famous task force 58, drawing a blueprint for naval aviation in postwar years, declared in an address at the veterans of foreign wars 46th national encampment:

"We should train each year 3,000 naval aviators and 2,000 aircrewmen to keep naval aviation a dominant factor in world peace insurance," he continued.

Police the Oceans

"Aircraft carriers, including the mighty 45,000-ton flat-tops of the U. S. S. Midway class, should be policing the oceans of the world at all times.

"And here again, it should be borne in mind that to insure effective operations, carriers of our task forces are always accompanied by supporting surface vessels such as cruisers and destroyers, everyone of them performing an essential function.

"Now with a post-war navy such as this, with the marine corps and an army of sufficient size and adequate strength and, obviously, adequate air power, we will be in a position to maintain the peace.

"But I say to you in all seriousness, we need more than that. We need the everlasting help of our workshops, our laboratories, our scientists so that in the development of new and more powerful weapons of war we are always one and preferably two jumps ahead of our potential enemies, for the 'hot' fighter plane of today becomes the 'sitting duck' of tomorrow."

The admiral said the nation also needs "a maximum degree of flexibility in our planning"—the fact that carriers were the "big shots" of the Pacific war 'doesn't necessarily mean that they will have the leading role, or indeed any role at all, in future wars."

He asserted that "to win the peace—and to keep the peace—the only safeguard lies in adequate preparations and the maintenance of our armed might at a high level."

Discuss Atomic Bomb

A V. F. W. official said that the atomic bomb, one of the lievliest discussion topics, had made the organization's long-standing policy in favor of compulsory military training a question for debate.

Several resolutions on that subject, and control of atomic power, were in the committee mill, due for convention floor action today and tomorrow.

Employment and rehabilitation of World War II veterans also are prime topics.

World War II veterans representing 23 countries pased a resolution on the subect of the atomic bomb which urged immediate ratification of the United Nations charter.

Union, Plants Given Another Day to Reply

CIO Says Companies 'Unwilling' to Answer Back-to-Work Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—The CIO oil workers and 11 companies obtained a 24-hour delay last night in the deadline for their reply to Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach's back - to - work proposal to halt spreading refinery strikes.

Union President O. A. Knight said his group's stand had been decided but that it was not conveyed to the conference or to the government, because of the postponement requested by the companies.

Meanwhile he declined to make it public.

Knight said the operators either were "unready or unwilling to answer" Schwellenbach's proposal.

The labor secretary said that in postponing decision until 3 p. m. today (C. S. T.) he was acting on the request of nine of the 11 companies involved in the conciliation conferences over the union's demand for 30 percent higher wage rates.

Agreed Previously

Two companies and the union, he said, had expressed readiness to reply to the proposal Monday. Schwellenbach's decision was announced shortly after C. S. Teitsworth, spokesman for the Socony-Vacuum Oil company, walked out of the conference, two and a half hours after the first settlement deadline.

"Some of the people think they need more time, that their opinion is not finalized as yet," said Teitsworth.

However, the Sinclair Oil company announced it would acept Schwellenbach's plan without change.

Other conferees, on both sides had brought in some qualifications they wished to attach to Schwellenbach's back-to-work proposal, Teitsworth said. But he added he was not fully familiar with the views of the CIO oil workers' internation union, since the union was meeting separately with federal conciliators.

In a letter given to Schwellenbach, Teitsworth said Socony-Vacuum "gladly subscribed" to most points of the government plan, including a temporary 15 percent wage boost pending final settlement.

Questions Arbitration

But he said he could not subscribe to arbitration of the wage question unless the arbitrator were mutually aceptable to both sides, and unless the arbitrator, in reaching his final ruling, considered the wage question "from the beginning, and without reference to either the union demand or the offers made by some oil company."

The union has demanded a 30 percent increase, and the large companies represented here have offered 15 percent. However, some smaller independent companies have settled for the full 30 percent, with the condition that this be changed in 60 days to match whatever figure becomes general in the industry.

"We feel that this matter of wage adjustment in connection with reconversion is fundamentally a broad economic problem and should be approached as such," Teitsworth's letter ended.

It was understood the unionists had held back their answer on the arbitration proposal pending clarification of the industry's stand.

As the conference began Schwellenbach's aides said they were confident of a settlement, but the CIO was dubious.

Forecast Is Again Fair and Warmer

At 1 o'clock this morning Iowa City was experiencing the coldest weather in this area. At that time the temperature here was 37. But there was a ground fog and it is not likely that there was frost this morning. Yesterday's high was 60.

Today it is going to be much nicer: fair and warmer, to be exact. The second day that we could make such a forecast. It will be even warmer than it was yesterday. There is no sign of cold weather or rain or anything in this whole area.

Editorials:

Thousands of Fans and Two Touchdowns—

It was bitterly cold, that fateful November day in 1941. A driving wind whipped across the prairie and through the Nebraska football stadium. Snow stung the faces of spectators and almost blinded the players.

But the Nebraska fans had cast aside their warm woolen robes and were on their feet, cheering. They'd been yelling above the roaring wind for several minutes. The Cornhuskers were on the march!

The crowd's tension electrified the Huskers. They were behind, but they kept moving. The wild cheering of the fans . . . more yardage . . . a touchdown . . . an extra point. Then the Nebraska line broke through to block a punt . . . the ball rolled into the end zone . . . a Husker fell on it . . . another touchdown . . . another extra point. Final score: Nebraska, 14; Iowa, 13.

And that was another sour-tasting lesson in school spirit for Iowa. We discovered —again—that everything counts in a football game. And we found out—again—that sometimes it is the crowd that is the deciding factor.

"The fans literally drove that team down the field," Glenn Devine, assistant Iowa coach, said. "The players had to go out and win. The crowd was cheering so loudly the players would have felt like heels if they hadn't won."

The Nebraska men knew that they had not only the good will but also the confidence of the fans. The good will put drive into their bodies, and the confidence bubbled over into yardage gained on the gridiron.

Why a cheering crowd should have such an uplifting effect on a team of athletes is an abstraction that is hard to explain. But the evidence is everywhere apparent. A team plays much better football in a full stadium than in an empty one. And a major league ball club puts on a better performance in a crowded ball park than in a vacant one.

Cheering spectators often have lifted athletes to new heights. A tennis player can come from behind, a boxer can get up off the floor, a man like Hank Greenberg can hit a grand slam home run if he has the fans with him.

Look at Dizzy Dean, for instance. The last time the Cubs were in the World Series, Dizzy, with nothing in his arm except the courage Chicago fans had given him, almost vanquished the merciless New York Yankees.

Even coaches can't explain the effect the fans' cheers have, except that it puts a tense pressure on the players. The feeling of the people in the stand vibrates into the men on the field, and the players find a new strength and a new will to win.

It even puts a sense of responsibility on the players — responsibility to their loyal supporters.

It was for those reasons—to show the fans' god will and confidence, and to give the players moral as well as physical strength—that pep rallies were started many years ago. And those are the reasons for tonight's rally in Macbride auditorium.

Rallies give the players an enthusiasm that they can carry with them from the opening gun. And rallies are especially important when the team must play on a foreign field, before a foreign crowd. The players get by remote control what the fans are unable to give them in person.

Often coaches can build their pre-game and halftime "fight" talks around what a speaker has said or how the audience has responded at a pep meeting. That very thing gave Iowa a victory over Notre Dame back in the days when Devine was playing for the Hawkeyes and Eddie Anderson was captain of the Irish.

Tonight the student body gives the football team a send off for the Hawkeyes' toughest game of the year—with Ohio State. And if Macbride auditorium isn't jammed by the largest crowd ever assembled there, the students will have no right to expect the Hawkeyes to win Saturday, or even to play a good game.

Attending the rally may mean inconveniences for some. It may mean fraternities and sororities will have to let their pledges out of study hall for a night. It may mean that some students will be late for previous appointments.

But at the moment tonight's pep rally ranks above everything else in importance. It may well spell the difference between a great Iowa and a mediocre Iowa next Saturday.

Blue Cross Plan—

Voluntary health insurance, such as the Blue Cross plan which is avaliable to all university employees and staff members, is one of the major points in the American Medical association's program for a healthier America.

The association believes that such insurance will help overcome the average person's hesitancy in taking prompt advantage of the scientific facilities for curing ills and healing injuries. If the services are pre-paid, doctors believe the average person will be more apt to make use of them—thus alleviating the big problem of convincing patients they must follow the doctor's orders.

Blue Cross is such a program. And university employees and staff members should enroll in it, not just because it may save them money or because it will help them avoid the financial hardships sometimes caused by unexpectedly large medical bills, but also because it is important that every citizen do his utmost to remain in good, healthy physical condition. That importance was illustrated in the war we just won despite the unnecessary physical handicaps of our nation.

Under the Blue Cross plan, each member pays $1 a month for his own protection and $1 additional for the protection of the spouse and all children between the ages of 90 days and 18 years.

For this amount, the member may, if a bed patient in a participating hospital (both University and Mercy hospitals participate in this plan), receive 21 days hospitalization the first year, 25 days the second year and 30 days the third and each succeeding year. After three years, the member also will receive 50 percent of the cost for 90 hospitalization in addition to the original 30 days.

While in the hospital, the member will get $4.75 a day for bed and board accommodations, and all operating room service, anaesthetic materials, general nursing care, special diets, surgical dressings, casts and use of splints, drugs, laboratory service, physical therapy and oxygen therapy free.

Additional expenses in all hospitals, whether they are members of the Blue Cross or not, also are provided.

The services of physicians and special nurses are not covered. And members who would receive benefits under the workmen's compensation law can not receive Blue Cross benefits.

Covering The Capital

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
(Jack Stinnett Is Ill)

WASHINGTON—Senator Ferguson, (R., Mich.) says a "shocking" amount of federal money is being spent for traveling and suggests that would be a good place to begin economizing.

A lot of unnecessary trips are made from Washington to far-away points, he says, because the various federal agencies are too centralized.

Give more authority to the field offices and the government not only will save on expense accounts but the people will get more efficient service, in his opinion.

"Most agencies have field offices," Ferguson told me, "but they fail to give those offices anything to do. When they have autonomy, there won't be any need for officials to pack the trains out of Washington."

Ferguson, whose official duties as a member of the senate war investigating committee have taken him to many parts of the nation, says a great deal of the congestion in hotels and sleeping cars would be eliminated if federal employes could be made to cut down on travel.

The latest available compilation of travel costs was gotten together by the Byrd economy committee two years ago. Not counting either the war or navy departments, the committee found that the various other departments and agencies of the federal government spent $35,672,853 on travel in one six-months period—the last half of 1942.

It cost more than $5,000,000 in the agriculture department alone.

A total of $15,573,833 was spent by the same civilian departments in six months for communication.

Some figure-dabbler on the Byrd committee staff figured out that for the $1,500,000 spent by the war production board in that period on telephone expenses, it could have put in three-minute telephone calls to the moon, 221,463 miles away, "every hour on the day, every day in the year."

The national education association says conditions in rural school areas are increasingly acute.

Teachers by the tens of thousands have left the profession for better paying jobs in industry and government. The armed services took additional thousands. Many of these, now discharged, show no inclination to return to the classroom.

Of the nation's 900,000 teachers, more than 360,000 are new to their jobs. Some 50,000 are teaching on emergency certificates. Two-thirds of these are in rural schools.

Of 175,000 one, two and three-teacher rural school, 60 percent of the teachers have had less than two years of college education, NEA reports. Smaller rural schools are about three times as bad off.

The average rural teacher's salary is $959. The average salary for teachers in urban schools runs around $1,955—one reason why rural teachers are harder to find than urban teachers, who themselves are looking around for bigger paychecks.

Educators Weigh Race Problems

Considers Taking Stand Opposing Color Segregation

RICHMOND, Va., (AP)—The question of whether Phi Beta Kappa should take a stand against segregated education in establishing chapters is debated in the current issue of the Key Reporter, official organ of the honorary scholastic fraternity.

The praticipants are Dr. Broadus Mitchell, New York economist and director of research for the international ladies garment workers union, and Virginius Dabney, editor of the Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Dr. Mitchell set forth his views in a letter. The magazine, feeling that the question was "sufficiently serious . . . to warrant a more detailed consideration than letters to the editor usually receive," invited Dabney to reply.

Dr. Mitchell, a native of Kentucky who has taught at Johns Hopkins, Occidental college, New York university, and Howard university, takes the view that Phi Beta Kappa "should demand," as a prerequisite for granting a chapter charter, that "no discrimination on account of race, creed, color or national origin be practiced." In the letters however, both he and Dabney centered on the question of admitting negroes to southern institutions.

Violating Freedom

He maintains that large numbers of colleges are violating academic freedom by denying entrance to "whole sections" of the population and are making themselves a part of economic oppression and bigotry.

* * *

Danbey, described by the magazine as a "liberal editor," contends that for the fraternity to forbid future establishment of chapters at institutions for one race only would be a mistake.

It would not cause southern schools to admit Negroes, he says, and it might have the same effect as abolitionist pressure from outside the south had on the efforts of anti-slavery southerns prior to the Civil war.

Dr. Mitchell expresses the views that existing chapters could not be disestablished but that the society could refuse to establish new ones. He cites a resolution adopted by the Phi Beta Kappa senate stating: "The senate would deplore in colleges holding or applying for charters for Phi Beta Kappa discrimminating affecting the faculties or student bodies in such a way as to limit the spirit of free inquiry and teaching."

Spirit of Inquiry

Dabney concedes that one interpretation of the resolution would be that segregated education would be inconsistent with the "spirit of free inquiry and teaching."

* * *

"It cannot be questioned that complete freedom of inquiry is denied to a negro who cannot enter his state university," Dabney wrote. "But the question which Phi Beta Kappa must decide is whether it wants to inject itself into an already delicate, if not tense, situation by refusing chapters to all such institutions. My own feeling is that it would be a mistake."

* * *

Dr. Mitchell says that the mandate of the supreme court (holding that is not enough for a state which does not maintain equal separate institutions for negroes to offer to negroes a scholarship to an institution outside the state) has not been pressed but can and will be .

Discrimination

"In all this," says Dr. Mitchell, "I take for granted that segregation is discrimination. No one who knows the south, particularly if he has been a part of it, can doubt that. . . . We shall not find solutions until we study together what are manifestly our common problems. This . . . means the habitual association of young people of both races in the learning process."

* * *

Dabney answers that one may agree or disagree with the point of view which "the overwhelming majority of white southerners" take on this question but there is no denying that it exists.

* * *

"Action by Phi Beta Kappa in denying chapters to institutions where the races are segregated would probably rouse still more resistance in those states to better education and other facilities for negroes and stir up intersectional feeling." He recalled how "the vigorous anti-slavery movement in the ante-bellum south was killed completely by the unbridled assaults of William Lloyd Garrison and his abolitionist compatriots. The latter were utterly sincere, just as Dr. Broadus Mitchell is, but southern leaders who were seaking earnestly to eliminate slavery in the 1820's and were making progress, found further headway impossible in the face of increasing pressure from the north."

Good Business in Shanghai—

Begging Racket

By RICHARD CUSHING

SHANGHAI (AP)—Nowhere in the world is begging such a highly organized and flourishing racket as in Shanghai, and Americans are slowly becoming hardened to beggars' moans and gestures encountered everywhere.

Begging is done with bloodcurdling wails, the display of stubs of amputated legs and arms, and the merciless sacrifice of children to extract alms from passersby.

Many cities have their beggars but in Shanghai its a cold, calculated business, actually operated under a half-dozen beggar "guilds," all said to be under the eye of a Fagin-like begger king, reputedly one of the wealthiest men in China.

Hold Stock in Exchange

The common belief is that these guilds are so well-fixed financially that they hold stock in the Shanghai exchange and operate much as any other major business concern.

They take care of their members, providing transportation for the legless to designated street corners in the early morning, and distribute containers of rice throughout the city at noon.

* * *

Should a beggar die, the guild spends a good sum on an elaborate funeral because that's a beggar's aim in life—bowing out in style.

* * *

Beggars are seen everywhere — in front of the luxurious hotels and in the filthiest slums—and are a constant source of amazement to American sailors and soldiers who at first were filled with compassion at their artful ways to gain a few pennies.

Go Through Contortions

On many blocks, day or night, the pedestrian is confronted by at least a half-dozen grovelling beggars who lie quivering, wailing, rolling their eyeballs in agonized manner, and stretching out their hands for alms.

* * *

A withered or severed arm or leg is naturally an asset in the profession, and there are tales of some beggars who actually had a member amputated so as to increase their "take."

* * *

Most heartrending, however, is the use of children. A deformed child contributes to the beggar's curbside setting of abject misery, while many normal ones are deliberately underfed for the same purpose. Not infrequently a woman may be seen sitting beside the body of a dead child and wailing a plea for money.

Some children are taught to quiver and moan constantly from early infancy.

Jam Social Events

A more straightforward shakedown technique is that of jamming the entrances to churches, hotels or residences during weddings, parties or other social events and howling until a payoff is made.

One frequent racket is worked this way:

* * *

A beggar with a nonestop wail parks at the gate of some prominent household, disturbing the residents all day. The next day another beggar goes on duty, and the next another, until finally the houseboy is informed that this nuisance can be stopped with the gift of a little money, but that otherwise it will continue indefinitely.

* * *

If by chance a beggar fails to get his fancy funeral when he dies, others make money on the body by carrying it to a doorstep and stating the price required for removing it. The houseboy rarely will undertake to do so, because of the custom that requires burial by the last person touching a body. Besides, he may be party to the racket.

Leave Body at Door

The body lies beside the door until a payoff is made, and even then the victim cannot be sure it will not be returned surreptitiously the next night.

* * *

Strange to say, Shanghai actually has some legitimate, hungry beggars. They usually can be identified by their long, stringy hair, because the organized beggars get haircuts now and then.

* * *

Unless they join the fraternity, however, the independents die off rapidly.

Interpreting the News

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Mr. In-Between could be heard talking all the way from China yesterday.

This Mr. In-Between isn't like the one in the song. It's a good idea to mess around with him. There are very many of him in China and he hasn't had much to say about what happens to him and his country. He hasn't been heard from here for a long time.

He isn't a member of the Kuomintang (party) which has been running the country, and he isn't a Communist who wants to reform it radically. He isn't narrowed by the responsibility of the supreme power nor by the prospect of getting supreme power. But he does have a chance to get a little say-so, and he's talking now.

He is just a citizen who has been on the outside looking in. He is Mr. In-Between.

Were Too Occupied

This particular Mr. In-Between happens to be a Chinese educator named Dr. Lo Lung-Chi. He talked yesterday to Clyde Farnsworth of The Associated Press. There are a lot of Chinese like him, who think the Kuomintang under Chiang Kai-Shek's leadership has been too preoccupied with preserving its own position and the Chinese Communists too anxious to turn the Kuomintang out and take its place.

Most Chinese are in-betweens and we haven't heard from them because of the press censorship exercised by the Kuomintang government.

Dr. Lo told Farnsworth that American trops landing in Tientsin might indirectly complicate the solution of China's internal fight between the Kuomintang and the Communists. This is because the marines are to be replaced by Kuomintang troops who then may start fighting the Communist troops which are all around Tientsin.

Dr. Lo does not say so, but he seems to be suggesting that taking over such isolated areas from the Japanese might well await some conclusive political settlement in Chungking of the whole Communist-Kuomintang disagreement.

Democratic League

Dr. Lo is head of the Democratic League of China which is a coalition of three small parties, all of which are in between the political extremes represented by the Kuomintang and the Reds.

The Reds and the Kuomintang have agreed on one thing—to hold a political council which will include not only themselves but the minority parties which Dr. Lo's group represents. These small parties, in time, are due to be legalized along with the Communists, so that under Kuomintang law it will no longer be illegal for a Chinese to belong to any political group except the Kuomintang.

Methodist Students Eligible for Loans

Loans for students holding Methodist church membership can be obtained through the Methodist student center, 120 N. Dubuque, according to tthe Rev V. V. Goff. Students need not be a member of the Iowa City church but must have had membership in some Methodist church for at least one year previous to the time of application for a loan.

The loans are made possible by the board of education of the Methodist church and are offered on a basis that allows students to complete their education before payment on principal is expected. Loans are made for one semester at a time and upperclassmen and graduate students may borrow larger amounts than freshmen and sophomores. The Loan Fund is one of the largest student loan funds in the nation, having been established in 1872.

While it is not necessary, it is desirable that those expecting to apply for loans do so before October 10, in order that the minimum of correspondence may be done with the national office in Nashville, Tenn.

Those desiring further information may inquire at the Methodist student center.

Detroit Packed for Cub-Tiger Series Opener Today

Rival Pilots Stick to Borowy, Newhouser for Mound Choices

By GAYLE TALBOT

DETROIT (AP)—This Motor City was jammed to the rafters with baseball World Series fans yesterday as the Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs went through their final limbering-up for today's opening tussle of the seven-game championship set.

Not a hotel room was to be found by late arrivals, and no lake steamers being used as floating hostels were similarly packed by the crowd that had flooded in to see the first peacetime Series since 1941. Briggs stadium, with its more than 55,000 seats, including some 14,000 bleachers, was certain to be a sell-out at game time, 2:30 p. m. Central Standard time.

The rival managers, Steve O'Neill of the Tigers and Charlie Grimm of the Cubs, stood pat on their pitching choices for the opener. Hal Newhouser, Detroit's 25-game winner, was to face Hank Borowy, the $100,000 beauty who won 11 for the Cubs while losing only two in the final two months of the National league race. He won 10 for the Yankees before the Cubs got him.

Tigers 5-7 Favorites

With Newhouser, a slim southpaw, prepared to bear down on Cubs' left-handed hitting array of Phil Cavarraetta, Stan Hack and Bill Nicholson, the Tigers remained firm 5-to-7 favories to win the opener, and 10-13 choice of the bookmaking gentry to capture the series. The first three games will be played here, after which the clubs will jump overnight to Chicago to finish the set.

Borowy will have the important advantage of having pitched against the American league champions for a number of years while he was with the Yanks. He knows their batting weaknesses, and Grimm has never wavered in his belief that the youthful-looking, mild-talking righthander will get the Cubs off on the winning side. The Tigers, speaking privately, have expressed a lot of respect for Borowy's skill.

While O'Neill predicted flatly that his Tigers, who had to fight right down to the final day to sew up their flag, would capture the series by four games to two, Grimm preferred to let the Cubs' bats speak for themselves. Neither would hestitate to say who might pitch the second game for him. O'Neill was on record that Stubby Overmire, another lefthander, would face the Cubs in the second bout if Newhouser should win the first. Otherwise he said it would be Virgil Trucks, a righthander. Claude Passeau was Grimm's second game nominee.

Weather Forecast Good

Series weather prospects were fairly promising. Although a chill wind blew yetserday and a drizzle fell on the Tigers while they worked out before noon, Selfridge field advised that the sun would be out today and that it likely would be no colder than 60 degrees at game time.

Manager Grimm arrived at the park early yesterday, swathed in an overcoat, and watched the Tigers go through a lengthy hitting and fielding drill. He and O'Neill congratulated each other on winning their pennants and posed for a battery of cameras.

Grimm at least pretended to be greatly impressed as he watched Eddie Mayo, Roy Cullenbine, Hank Greenberg and other Tigers slam a dozen balls into the stands.

"They sort of massage that ball, at that," he comented. "Of course, we might show them a little better pitching tomorrow."

Trucks, who might try to blow the Cubs down in the second series game, toiled hard with Catcher Paul Richards yesterday in an effort to get his curve working properly. He threw nothing but fast balls in his single post-navy effort against the St. Louis Browns three days ago. Though he was pretty impressive, the Browns gave his fast one a long ride every time they got hold of it.

Catchers Picked

Richards, the veteran player, coach and minor league manager, was slated to catch the opener for the Tigers, and possibly every game of the series. Mickey Livingston, a right-handed batter, was to wear the mask for the Cubs in each game that a southpaw pitched for Detroit, with Paul Gillespie doing the honors against Tiger righthanders.

Umpires for the opener figured to be Bill Summers, American league veteran, behind the plate, with Lou Jorda of the National on first, Art Passarella of the American on second and Jocko Conlon of the National on third.

The Cub workout was ended abruptly by a drizzle after the team staged a brisk batting and fielding drill for about 45 minutes under blue skies.

Bucks Groom For Iowa Tilt

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State university's gridders continued work on defensive drills yesterday in preparation for their first Big Ten encounter here Saturday against the University of Iowa.

Halfback Jeffy Krall, who was kicked in the back during the Missouri game last Saturday, saw limited practice and Coach Carroll Widdoes indicated he might not be in the lineup against Iowa.

At Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Coach Cecil Isbell of Purdue indicated yesterday that the makeshift backfield of Ed Cody at right halfback and George Mihal in Cody's regular fullback spot would start for the second straight week against Wisconsin Saturday.

Regular right halfback Dave Shaw was in uniform but his dislocated shoulder is not expected to be mended by Saturday. Cody scored three times in his place last week against Great Lakes.

The Boilermakers polished their aerial defense.

At Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) —Indiana worked on protection of its kickers yesterday as Coach Bo McMillin sought to prevent a repetition of last week's tie with Northwestern caused by a blocked kick.

In a defensive drill John Cannady and Chester Sanders, converted fullbacks, worked at center.

At Notre Dame

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Terry Brennan, No. 2 left halfback, worked at right halfback yesterday as Coach Hugh Devore of Notre Dame looked for an assistant for the injured Elmer Angsman.

Angsman injued a hip against Illinois last Saturday but is expected to be ready for Georgia Tech this week.

Pass defense was the general order of the day.

At Northwestern

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats, the squad at full strength, continued to work on passing yesterday in a strenuous workout. Coach Lynn Waldorf had Jim Farrar throwing passes in an offensive drill, and Don Laser playing defensive quarterback. Offensive blocking also was stressed. The aerial weapon, which Northwestern has used but sparingly in two games, will be used extensively against Michigan, yesterday's and Monday's workouts indicate.

At Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Jack Pierce, a freshman, may take over the left halfback job when Illinois and Indiana meet in the top game of the Western conference schedule here Saturday. Pierce was used at that spot in workouts yesterday and Monday. Eddie Bray, who injured a knee in last week's game with Notre Dame, was definitely out for the week. Mac Wenskunas was at center yesterday in place of George Bujan, also hurt in the Notre Dame game.

Commissioner Landis' Estate to Be Split By Wife, 2 Children

SHICAGO (AP) — Mrs. Winifred Reed Landis, widow of the late baseball commissioner, Kenesaw M. Landis, renounced his will in probate court yesterday which left her his entire $150,000 estate and agreed to take only her statutory one-third share.

Commissioner Landis died Nov. 25, 1944, at the age of 78.

DETROIT'S CORNERSTONE TODAY

HANK GREENBERG, the slugging outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, will be carrying a generous portion of the Motor City's hopes this afternoon in the Series opener. Shown here as he crossed the plate after poking the four-baser that won the pennant for the Bengals in their final game of the season against the St. Louis Browns, Greenberg has been the most dangerous hitter in Manager Steve O'Neill's lineup since being discharged from the army.

55,000 to See Opening Game

Attention Diverted From Auto Strikes; Weather Looks Good

DETROIT (AP) America's first peacetime World Series in four years set Detroit on edge emotionally yesterday and forced the city into a veritable balancing act to keep control in a whirlwind.

All over big and joyful Motortown the talk concentrated on the Detroit Tigers' chances of beating the Chicago Cubs for the world baseball championship in the series starting today, and ignored strikes and the threat of strikes.

A capacity crowd of 55,000 for Briggs stadium was expected, and that typified Detroit in general. For the Motor City was loaded down to the point where it couldn't take much more.

Detroit was just beginning to match its breath from its tremendous war job when the World Series came along, and last night a man couldn't buy or beg a place to sleep because of the congestion.

One hotel said it had turned down 10,000 applications for reservations within the last two weeks. Others had similar experiences.

To confuse the situation further, the oil workers strike had upset the city transportation systems. Buses and streetcars carried abnormal loads because thousands of private cars with empty gasoline tanks were out of service.

Detroit loved it, however, and paid more attention to the weather man's forecasts than to the labor difficulties in its No. 1 industry—automobiles. Today will be "fair with sunny skies," the weather man said.

Scalpers of the World Series tickets were busy. The ball park was sold out of reserved seats long ago for the three games here—there had been 300,000 applications for today's game—and scalpers were reported asking as high as $50 to $60 for strips of three tickets. The straight price is $18.

The police force prepared for an extra hour of duty in handling certain traffic jams, and the city rearranged its bus and trolley schedules in anticipation of newly urgent needs over the next three days.

Ted Husing veteran CBS sports announcer, will describe the Iowa-Ohio State football game from Columbus Saturday at 1 p. m. (CST). Husing requested detailed information about the Hawkeye squad from Iowa officials Tuesday.

Smith Makes 95 Yards

Nelson Smith came mighty close to being 100 percent of the Iowa running attack in the AAF Troop Carriers game last Saturday, for of Iowa's 104 yards by rushing, Smith was credited with 95. He carried the ball on 17 of Iowa's 38 rushing plays.

Hawks Win Four

All of Iowa's four victories over Ohio State were scored at Columbus, thel ast one occurring in 1928, 14-7. But the Buckeyes won the past three games there—1929, 1934 and 1944.

22 Vets Now Play

Now the 51 members of the Iowa football squad who have been issued game uniforms include 22 discharged service veterans. They are Braun, Colbert, Foster, Gustafson, Harding, Harnack, Kelso, Lund, McNamara, Niles, Novosad, Skophammer, Smith, Thorpe, George, Golden, Germuska, Allgire, Lappe, Simons, Wilson and Johnson.

New Team for Iowa

The Iowa team which plays Ohio State Saturday wil be 100 percent different in personnel from the starters of the 1944 game. None of those men now is even on the squad. Paul Fagerlind, Ralph Katz and Jack Kelso are the only 1945 players who entered the 1944 game.

Michalske Replaces Injured State End

AMES (AP)—Coach Mike Michalske indicated yesterday that Carl Poetz would start at left end for Iowa State against Kansas in the Cyclones' first Big Six conference football game at Lawrence Saturday.

Paetz is being groomed to replace Ed Farni who is out of action because of a knee injury suffered in the Iowa State Teachers game last Saturday.

The change at the end position is the only shift Michalske has made in the lineup that started against the teachers.

Tankmen Called

A call for all University of Iowa swimming team candidates was issued yesterday by Dave Armbruster, Iowa's veteran tank coach. Men interested should meet with the Hawkeye coach at the fieldhouse pool next Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Coach Armbruster expects a good turnout of returned veterans and freshmen. He termed prospects for this season's team only "fair."

Little Hawks, Rivermen Play Conference Foes Here Friday

U HIGH

Coach Don Barnhart sent his University high charges through a lengthy signal drill yesterday afternoon in practice with an eye to correcting the timing faults found last Saturday in the clash with Anamosa.

The first string, with Steve Nusser calling the plays, went through almost their entire repertoire from both the single wing and short punt formations. Several mistakes received a lot of attention from the Blue Hawk tutor.

Two other full teams put in a signal practice alongside the regulars, and they also received a lookover by Barnhart. Most pleasing to observers of yesterday's practice was the ball handling of quarterback Nusser and the speed of Craig Harper, Gus Helm and Bill Green of the starting backfield as well as the pep and chatter of the entire squad.

The Rivermen will be out for their third straight conquest and their first Eastern Iowa conference victory this Friday afternoon when they meet the West Liberty Comets on the practice field south of the University of Iowa stadium at 3:15.

Expecting a strong offensive from the Comets, Coach Barnhart plans to work on defense quite a while the remainder of the week, as well as polishing up the Rivermen's ball-carrying.

A short passing and punting drill with Nusser doing the throwing and kicking opened the session. Barnhart himself did some punting, and the remainder of the team practiced bearing down on the punt receivers.

Speed and quick starting as well as timing were the keynote of the afternoon's practice, with the whole team showing up well. The Rivermen are not a very heavy team, and they plan to make up in quick-opening and quick-starting plays as well as in passes what they lack in the matter of weight.

The entire team appears confident as to the outcome of the game Friday, but Barnhart warned them of the potent offense packed by the Comets, although he professed to fear little from the West Liberty defense.

CITY HIGH

"I'm afraid we still will be playing Davenport Friday," commented Coach Wally Schwank as his Red and White grid squad held a tough scrimmage session yesterday in preparation for their all important homecoming tussle with Dubuque here Friday night.

Coach Schwank, although pleased with the Little Hawks' performance in the Blue Devil game, attempted to discourage optimism by working on defensive drills in an attempt to stop the visitor's vaunted running attack.

Dubuque has lost two games thus far this season. The first being to East Waterloo, one of the toughest contingents in the state, 27-6, and the second was a 7-0 thriller dropped to Rock Island. There is no feasible way to compare Dubuque with Davenport because they have not played the same outfits this season.

The Hawklets dropped a 13-0 battle to Dubuque last year on the latter's field while in 1943 Dubuque spoiled City high's homecoming by edging out a 7-6 victory. The visitors' line will weigh approximately the same as the Little Hawks, while their backfield will be lighter with the exception of one man.

Coach Schwank's men will again rely on their smooth passing attack with Jimmy Sangster on the hurling end for the Hawklets. In the Davenport game the Red and White aggregation literally tore the Blue Devils' passing defense apart with long heaves down the field.

A standing-room-only crowd is expected at the homecoming which should be one of the best games in recent years.

AP Writers Like Detroit in Series

DETROIT (AP)—In one of the closest "votes" in the history of the annual Associated Press World Series poll, the baseball writers here for the 1945 classic yesterday picked the Detroit Tigers to whip the Chicago Cubs in this year's set, with six games as the general guess as to how long it will go either way.

All told, 45 writers tabbed the American leaguers to finish on top, against 35 who named the Cubs. Twenty-four tabbed the Tigers in six games and 21 did the same for Chicago.

Naturally, all the Detroit writers liked the Tigers and the Chicago scribes went for the Cubs. The one-circuit major league towns, like Pittsburgh and Cleveland, also went along with their own loop representative, except the Washington delegation, which split four votes.

The selections included:

Bill Corum, New York Journal-American—Cubs in six.
Bob Cavagnaro, Associated Press — Tigers in five.
Sid Feder, Associated Press—Cubs in five.
Arch Ward, Chicago Tribune—Cubs in six.
Gayle Talbot, Associated Press—Tigers in six.

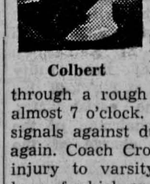
Scrubs Again Hold Rough Scrimmage

Obern (Ozzie) Simons, Iowa's dusky speed merchant, found a first team backfield berth for the first time last night as Coach Clem Crowe made his first varsity lineup shift this week. Jack Kelso, letterman who played last year, ran signals with the second string.

The regular Hawkeye backfield was further changed last night by the appearance of Clayton Colbert at right half. He filled in for Nelson Smith, slippery Sac City speedster, who watched from the sidelines with a severe cold. For the second straight night Crowe sent his second and third teams through a rough scrimmage until almost 7 o'clock. The regulars ran signals against dummy opposition again. Coach Crowe fears further injury to varsity, several members of which are already limping from minor ailments.



Colbert

The first team got some added instruction last night from Maury Kent, who scouted the Ohio State Missouri game last Saturday. Most of the defensive dummy scrimmage was spent against the Buckeyes' pass plays.

Meanwhile, a possible answer to Iowa's punting and passing problem loomed in the sideline performance of Herb Wilkinson, star of Iowa's cage kings. Although he probably will be unavailable to the Hawks because of his work in dentistry, Herb demonstrated a powerful punting ability and an accurate passing arm. Decked out in light football togs, he even booted a couple of tries over the fence on the east side of the practice field.

Reason Kelso was replaced last night lay in his inability to attain top shape this fall. He has had to favor a bad leg since practice sessions began, consequently missing scrimmages and other heavy drills.

The three former Seahawks, Paul Golden, Lawrence Germuska and Harold Allgire, figure prominently in last night's session and probably will make the trip to Columbus. Crowe said a squad of about 34 players would entrain here Friday morning for Ohio State. It is the second year in succession that Iowa has opened its league schedule in the huge Ohio State stadium.

After supper last night the entire Iowa squad viewed movies of the Bergstrom game. Coaches Crowe and Bud Boeringer pointed out the mistakes that must be corrected before the Hawks open the conference season at Columbus Saturday.

O'Neill Says Tigers Most Relaxed Club Ever to Enter Series

DETROIT (AP)—One thing we are pretty sure of after rustling around this busling metropolis for a couple of days, after the World Series starting today there will be no cries of "break up the Tigers" or "break up the Cubs."

In fact, you gather there is at least a scattered opinion the Cubs are pretty well broken down already, and that's a difference only in the direction of the break.

This idea is fathered by the fact many citizens who have seen only the Tigers, probably on off days, are picking the Cubs on the theory the Cubs couldn't be quite that bad, and vice versa. With them it's just a question of not knowing what they want, but knowing definitely what they don't want.

Anyway, the situation adds up to the prospect of a fine Series from a competitive standpoint, which is the important thing. And the fans aren't going to see a collection o 10-thumbed jitterbugs out there with the galloping heebie-jeebies. The boys have been through the mill this season and each club had its dress rehearsal in fag end games with the pennants at stake.

We'll be the most relaxed club ever to enter a World Series," Steve O'Neill said of his Tigers yesterday. "We were in first place 110 days and sometimes by only half a game. The boys are so accustomed to tension a World Series will be nothing new to them."

It isn't to be gathered that the Tigers are so relaxed they're practically limp and ready to be tossed around. As Steve says, the club, which he rates about on a par with his last year's team, believes in itself and won't be stampeded by the size of the stakes.

The Series looms as a battle between stars, as there are enough power hitters on each team to break up ball games if they happen to be guessing right. The Tiger pitchers, too, O'Neill indicates, will have to do a little guessing themselves. He hasn't an official scouting report on the Cubs.

STILL LIMPING

JACK KELSO, veteran Iowa left halfback, worked with Coach Clem Crowe's second string in practice last night. Still plagued by an ankle injury that has kept the clever Hawk from getting in shape this fall, Kelso undoubtedly will see action at Ohio State Saturday, but probably won't start. Obern (Oz) Simons, Chicago speedster, replaced him in the varsity drills.

Big Leaguers Agree To Aid in Restoration Of Minors Next Year

DETROIT (AP)—Heads of 10 major league farm systems met in the lull before the World Series yesterday and pledged cooperation in restoration of at least nine minor leagues next year.

Art Ehlers, minor league promotional director, said the meeting assured smoother relations between major league interests in the minors and guaranteed that a minimum of 20 minor leagues will operate in the first peacetime season. Last season, only 12 to 14 prewar loops were able to operate.

Ehlers said leagues expected to return to competition next year included the Texas league, Class A; Three-Eye, South Atlantic, and Southeastern, all Class B; the Canadian-American, Pioneer and Western International, Class C, and the Georgia-Florida, Florida State and Eastern Shore, Class D. The Western International was listed as a "possible" starter by Ehlers.

That voice with the giggle that will be heard by millions of listeners over the air waves this year belongs to Harry Von Zell who, as the announcer, straight man, comedian and what have you on the Eddie Cantor, Dinah Shore and Joan Davis shows will have a probably greater listening audience than any other person in the country. Von Zell's infectious laugh has made him one of the most popular of all the radio announcers.

"Queen for a Day," the fabulous Cinderella show on MBC, brings forth some strange requests from prospective queens. When the queen, who is chosen from the audience each day, five days a week, is asked her greatest wish, some real oddities turn up. One candidate wanted to push peanuts with her nose down Hollywood Boulevard.

The Andrews Sisters Show, with Curt Massey, baritone, Andre Baruch as announcer-emcee, and Vic Schoen's orchestra starts on CBS tonight at 10:30 p. m. (9:30 via WMT for us'ns in these parts). Jane Froman, the courageous trooper who was crippled in the Lisbon Clipper crash an who has re-Clipper crash and who has re-seas tour, will appear as guest star.

Let us not forget that this is also the night for the Sinatra show—as if we could. You can dial that over WMT at 8 p. m.

For the laughs you might choose one or take all from "The Gay Mrs. Featherstone" (alias Billie Burke) at 7:30 p. m. by way of WHO to the Eddie Cantor show and "Maisie" which follow in quick succession. Cantor comes from WHO but you'll have to switch to WMT to hear "Maisie".

"One Man's Opinion", a transcribed program heard each Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. over WSUI, presents W. Earl Hall, managing editor of the Mason City-Globe Gazette in a weekly talk. Hall's subject tonight will be "Radar—Important Role in the War."

Mary Osborne presents news from here and there on the campus at 2 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday over WSUI. That means you can hear it today.

OCCUPATION—

emperors' visit to General MacArthur.

With his investigators tracking down the spoils of war which Japanese exploiters gathered in the Orient, MacArthur set out yesterday after the munitions industry that armed Japan's warriors.

He told the imperial government to submit a complete report on the production of arms, ordnance, ammunition and automotive equipment from 1941 to August of this year, when the empire crashed in defeat.

As part of disarming, MacArthur's headquarters announced the imperial general air force had been completely demobilized and all air matters now were directly under American control.

Faced with almost certain ouster were at least three cabinet members who had an active hand in the war. They were:

War Minister Gen. Sadamu Shimomura, who once commanded forces in North China; Navy Minister Adm. Mitsumasa Yonai, a hold-over from Kantaro Suzuki's wartime cabinet, and commerce minister Shikuhei Nakajima, head of one of Japan's largest aircraft factories.

100 Years Old, She Wanted to Marry 'Georgia Gentleman'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Mary Ann Moulton, who on the eve of her 100th birthday expressed a preference for "a gentleman from Georgia" for her next husband, died Sunday.

Born in a cabin on the Ohio frontier, Mrs. Moulton, twice married, lived alone here with a chicken and cat as her companions. She did her own housework.

Interviewed Sept. 25, the day before her 100th birthday, she said she "had no particular Georgia gentleman in mind," but wanted one with a farm and some animals.

Radio Kick-Off Party To Be Held Tonight

The sportsmanship committee of the student council has worked in conjunction with the WSUI staff, and will hold a cheer scrimmage and general pep rally at the meeting.

A special musical program, including a salute to the Ohio State Buckeyes, has been prepared by the Iowa band.

New Synthetic Tire Tops Prewar Rubber

Wider, Flatter Tread Increases Durability Of Goodyear Product

CHICAGO (AP)—The B. F. Goodrich company yesterday introduced a passenger automobile tire made of 99.8 percent synthetic rubber which the company said will outwear prewar tires made made of natural rubber.

The greatest advance in the new tire, A. C. Kelly, district manager, said was the tread which is wider and rolls more squarely and flatly along the pavement. The increased "contact area," Kelly said, afforded greater stability, better distribution of weight and less scuffing of the tread.

A new synthetic rubber in which a rosin-based soap replaces a fatty-acid soap as an emulsifying agent is a factor in attaining better wear, cooler running and greater resistance to cracking and carcass bruising, Kelly added. Company officials said results of more than 2,000 separate tests showed the new product would "outwear prewar tires made of natural rubber."

"Regardless of the number produced," Kelly said, "ration certificates will be required until the government withdraws controls."

SUI Student Council Considers Program For New Iowa Yells

A program to introduce new Iowa yells through the university housing units was suggested to the student council last night by cheerleaders Rudy Bauer, A2 of Harlan, and Bob Puffer, A4 of Jefferson. The council met in Iowa Union at 7:15 for its first session since the adoption of its constitution.

A committee to contact students for the pep rally tonight in Macbride auditorium was named. Gloria Wakefield, J4 of Ames, was appointed to contact the sorority houses; Kay Keller, J4 of Sioux City, and L'Louise Smith, A4 of Elkader, women's dormitories; Violet Hamwi, A3 of Broklyn, N. Y., cooperative dormitories; Gordon Christensen, L3 of Iowa City, men's dormitories, and Everett Philips, E4 of Iowa City, fraternity houses.

The executive committee named John Stichnoth, A4 of Sioux City, to head the sportsmanship committee. Philips, Miss Wakefield, Miss Smith and Dick Baxter, G of Mt. Pleasant, will work with him.

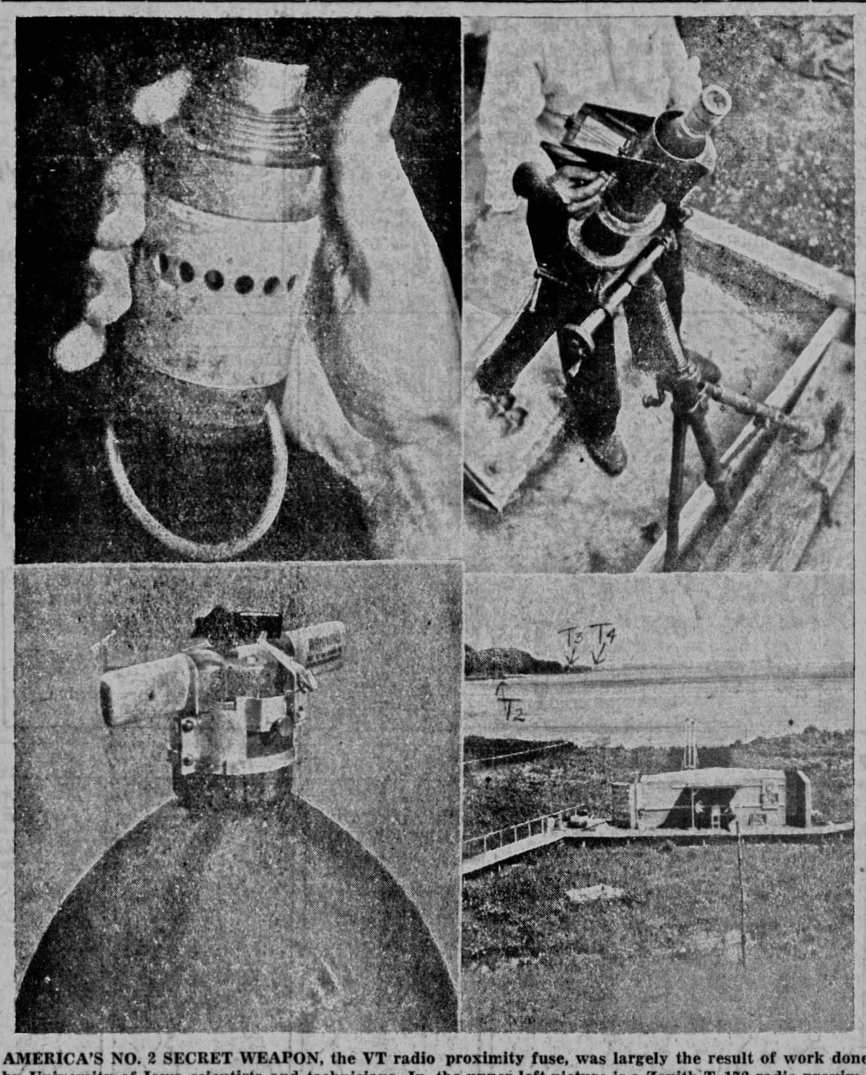
Authority to name sub-committees was given to Mary Osborne, A4 of Ottumwa, chairman of the student activities committee, and Edna Herbst, A4 of Newton, who heads the psychology group.

To provide a clearing house for student activities and to avoid conflicts, all university functions will be posted on a calendar by Miss Osborne's committee.

In cooperation with the psychology department, the committee headed by Miss Herbst will complete research work for the war department on establishing a norm for army air corps tests. Bob Gregg, M3 of Hawarden, and Del Donahoo, A4 of Moravia, will also help with this project.

At a 6:30 p. m. dinner preceding the meeting, Prof. John Briggs of the political science department was a guest of the council.

SUI's Secret Weapon



AMERICA'S NO. 2 SECRET WEAPON, the VT radio proximity fuse, was largely the result of work done by University of Iowa scientists and technicians. In the upper left picture is a Zenith T-172 radio proximity fuse for mortar shells. The upper right photograph shows a mortar shell, equipped with a Globe-Union T-132 fuse, in a special release mechanism for remote firing of the mortar. Lower left is a Zenith T-51 fuse mounted on a 500-pound general purpose bomb. Lower right is a view of the Clinton field station firing range and concrete gun emplacement. The picture, taken from the main control tower, shows observation stations (T-2, T-3 and T-4.) By reflecting its own radio waves back from the target, the fuse causes the detonation of the bomb or mortar shell at a pre-determined distance from the target.

Eight Groups Solicit Funds

Eight groups, seven in Iowa City and one in rural Johnson county, are soliciting now for contributions for the Community Chest drive and the last War Relief fund drive.

Although October 20 was suggested as a deadline by D. C. Nolan, general manager of the drive, Emil Trott, chairman of the rural group, has urged his solicitors to try to complete their drive by October 10, ahead of Iowa City.

A goal of $30,000, $17,000 for the Community Chest and $13,000 for the War Relief fund, has been set for Iowa City. The Johnson county quota, which is for the War Relief fund alone, is $15,600.

The groups and their chairmen are: buisness, Lyle Duncan; residential, Mrs. H. S. Evie; national firms, Dorr Hudson; university, R. H. Ojemann; general hospital, Harold A. Smith; professional, I. J. Barron; public schools, Donald Seavy, and county and towns, Emil Trott.

Group Makes Plans For University Party

To work out plans for an all-university party this month, a sub-committee was appointed at the central party committee meeting last night by Ralph Clave, M3 of Webster City, chairman. The plans will be carried out provided a good band can be engaged.

Members of the sub-committee are Bette Jo Phelan, A3 of Mason City, chairman; Wanda Siebels, A4 of Amber; Gloria Huenger, A4 of Whitig, Ind.; Abbie Morrison, A4 of Onawa, and Louise Johnston, A4 of Marshalltown.

The central party committee, organized at the beginning of the war as an emergency committee, decided that the need for its existance concluded with the war's end.

However, the committee will take charge of an all-university party this month and will be responsible for any dances on the restored prewar schedule which the original sponsors are not yet prepared to take over.

The purpose of the central party committee this year will be to help in the transition back to the peacetime party program.

Over 200 Attend Opening Forensic Meeting

More than 200 students met in Schaeffer hall at 7:30 last night for the first Forensic association meeting of the year. The forensic speech program plans for this year were introduced, and the speech activities of last year were briefly reviewed.

Bob Ray, G of Davenport, master of ceremonies, introduced faculty members from the speech department. Prof. E. C. Mabie, head of the department, spoke on its history, and Prof. A. Craig Baird, head of the forensic program, welcomed the new students. The requirements of participation in the speech program were discussed by Prof. Frank H. Knower. Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger stressed the importance of radio in relation to speech.

Several student members of the association gave short speeches during the program. Bob Ray discussed the speaker's bureau, the student senate and the radio forum. Marilyn Nesper, G, of Toledo, Ohio, related the history of Forensics. Last year's highlights were reviewed by Dorothy Kottemann, A3 of Burlington, and Owen Peterson, A4 of Parker, S. D., explained the discussion for the year.

A short debate was given by Gordon Christensen, L3 of Iowa City, and Charles Mosey, J3 of Reinbeck, on the topic, "Resolved: That Civilzation Should Go Underrgound." After the program, cider and doughnuts were served.

Returned Servicemen Form Important Group on Campus—

Vets Plan Smoker for Tonight

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

The The University Veterans association, organized in September, 1944, will be host to all veterans on campus at a smoker tonight at 7:30 in the River room of Iowa Union. A special invitation has been extended to women veterans on campus by Richard Nazette, L4 of Eldora, president.

A short business meeting will be conducted to elect a nominating committee which will set up a slate of nominations for the officers and executive committee for the coming year.

The program for the meeting is as follows: Charles Hanson, A1 of Rock Island, Ill., will act as master of ceremonies and present a magician's act. Betty Jo Morgan, A1 of Oxford, will play several accordian solos. Marcia Kuyper, A1 of Pella, will tap dance, accompanied on the piano by Marsha Batchelder, A3 of Haverhill, Mass.

The veterans' organiaztion is a group of university men who have had similar experiences in service and know the problems of returning veterans. It concerns a fellowship of soldiers, sailors and marines who have done their duty and are now on campus to prepare themselves for a promising post-war period.

Ten or more universities in the country have organized associations of veterans of World War II in order to facilitate the readjustment of these men returning to civilian life and to help them in acquiring the most complete and practical education possible.

All Veterans Eligible

Any veteran of World War II enrolled in the university, regardless of race, color, sex or nationality, may become a member of the University Veterans association. Meetings are conducted twice monthly; parties, smokers and dances are given periodically. The admission fee to the organization is $1, and annual dues are $2.

At the time the University Veterans association was established, the Association of Disabled Veterans invited all veterans of World War II enrolled at the university to join their organization. A committee of returned veterans headed by Carl Kugel, L3 of Sioux City, met and voted to organize their own group to be composed solely of World War II veterans on campus.

Wrote By-Laws

About 35 veterans interested in promoting the association elected a committee on organizations to draw up the constitutional by-laws for the group. The members were: Richard Nazette, George Phetteplace, L3 of Des Moines; Earl Jorgenson, A3 of Iowa City; Gordon Christensen, L3 of Iowa City, and Carl Kugel.

The constitution, modeled after the New York state bar association constitution, provided for a permanent organization of World War II veterans at the university. It was presented by the committee and adopted unanimously Oct. 9 at the first regular business meeting of the association.

One of the most outstanding features of the constitution is that it is especially designed so that membership in the Veterans association will not affect any member's standing with any other veterans organization, such as the Veterans of Foreign Wars or the American Legion.

Two Advisers

In contrast with the usual practice of having one faculty adviser, the association has two, Prof. William D. Coder, director of the university veterans service, and Prof. Wendell Smith of the college of commerce. The real authority, however, is vester in the executive committee, a group of five elected from the association who work in cooperation with the group's officers in managing the affairs of the organization.

Present officers of the association are Richard Nazette, president; Fred Davies, vice-president; George Phetteplace, secretary, and Eugene Jesse, treasurer. The executive committee members are Carl Kugel, Torger Torgerson, E2 of Dakota City; Eugene Coltrane, L3 of St. Charles; Gordon Christensen, and Kenneth Carter, A2 of Colesburg.

Besides helping in the governing of the association, the executive committee assists veterans as they return to the university, meeting them as they enroll, showing them around the campus, helping straighten out their schedule and housing problems and acquainting them with other veterans on the campus.

Committees

Five standing committees, social, radio, education, publicity and athletics were set up last fall. The social committee, headed by Don McDowall, G, has charge of one of the two monthly meetings of the association and plans all the social events of the group. The radio committee, under the direction of Don Pierce, G of Iowa City, plans the association's program over WSUI.

The education committee, under the leadership of Harold Severans, P4 of Iowa City, seeks to aid any member of the organization who has been having trouble in any field of study by referring them to one of the members of the association who has had special experience, background and training in a particular field. The membership includes specialists in mathematics, chemistry, physics and other fields.

Sponsors Team

The athletics committee, currently headed by Don McDowall, sponsored a basketball team in the intramural basketball tournament last year and intends to conduct more sports activities this year.

Women veterans enrolled at the univeristy are privileged to become members of the association. At present there are some women veterans in the organization.

Enrolled at the university under the GI bill of rights or the vocational rehabilitation act, the veterans receive their tuition, books and supplies from the government as well as a small monthly allotment.

The rehabilitation act proposes to train for a new occupation any serviceman hurt in service or having a disability acquired from army training. For acceptance under this program the veteran must have a definite vocational objective approved by the government which can be accomplished in four years' schooling. This is in contrast to the GI bill which places no requirement on the curriculum pursued.

Discharged veterans, who are returning in increasing numbers, have already become an integral part of SUI. The University Veterans association welcomes them with a well-planned schedule of campus activities.

PROF. WILLIAM E. CODER, director of the university veterans service, talks things over with Carl Kugel, L3 of Sioux City, and Dick Park, L3 of Victor, two members of the University Veterans association.

SUI to Have Police Forum

First police administration forum of its kind ever held here, will occur at the University of Iowa Oct. 18, 19 and 20 under the auspices of the bureau of public affairs, said Prof. R. M. Perkins of the college of law.

"It is something different than we have ever attempted before. Those persons assigned to certain topics are intended to serve as discussion leaders rather than lecturers, and ample opportunity will be provided for questions and discussion from the floor," Professor Perkins, director of the bureau explained.

Eleven outside participants and six from the university are listed on the program which includes among the topics "Selection and Evaluation of Personnel," "The Police and the Press," "Police Reporting and Record Systems," and "Administrative Responsibilities of the Police Executive in Juvenile Control."

The visitors include Gov. Robert D. Blue, Attorney General John M. Rankin, Fred L. Wilkins, acting director of public safety, Chief R. W. Nebergall of the criminal investigation division of the bureau of public safety and Charles Nord, director of the communications division of that bureau.

Three FBI men, E. E. Kuhnel of Des Moines and R. T. Harbo and L. A. Hince, inspectors from Washington, D. C., will speak, Professor Perkins reported. Other out-of-town speakers include Capt. J. H. Clift of the Cedar Rapids police department and W. Earl Hall of Mason City Globe-Gazette.

The clerk of the district court yesterday issued marriage licenses to Lucille Allen and Sylvester J. Stockman, both of Oxford, and to Lois Huff, Iowa City, and Charles Akers, Ft. Sheridan, Ill.
