Allied Council Set Up for Jap Control

Fear Uprising Of Japanese Communists

Tokyo Banzai Parade Brings About Warning From Industrialists

TOKYO (AP)—Four Japanese industrialists, provoked by a banzai parade before General MacArthur's headquarters of 600 Japanese Communists celebrating their new freedom of expression, warned today "Japanese Communists are waiting for the proper time to rise."

The parade of avowed anti-imperialists, organized by a Communist leader to celebrate release of political prisoners, was staged yesterday while American financial sleuths were probing into Nippon's war finance secrets.

The industrialists—representing coal, steel and small ship building—said efficiency of Japan's heavy industry during the war was reduced 50 percent through strict government control.

They told a press conference they feared an "uprising" by Japanese Communists and at the same time blamed government placing of war plant personnel, including prisoners of war, for the asserted reduction in productive efficiency.

Follow U. S.
Kentiro Matsumoto, president of the Japanese Coal association, asserted—"Labor will have to follow the example set by American labor to negotiate." He declined to estimate how long it would take the Japanese to adapt American methods.

A new allied directive placed Japan's import business on a strict cash or commodity-exchange basis, confining imports to items necessary to maintain the minimum standard of living.

The cabinet of Premier Kijuro Shidehara, chosen only four days ago to take over the post, met for two hours today and scheduled another extraordinary session tomorrow for discussion of pending issues.

Shidehara was received by Emperor Hirohito today to report on general administrative affairs.

Backs to Palace
The paraders, who carried red banners and Korean independence flags and numbered only about 600, turned their backs to the imperial palace—in direct affront to the custom of bowing down to the edifice.

The marchers, led by Yinosuke Makanihi, Communist leader and one of 16 political prisoners just released by American orders from long imprisonment, tied traffic in a knot in front of General MacArthur's headquarters while they shouted "banzais" in appreciation for the release order.

In a Communist meeting before the parade, Akinishi tearfully related how he had been beaten during his imprisonment, and Totuzi Fuse, liberal-thinking attorney, criticized Japanese militarists and declared the overthrow of the emperor system was the only solution to Japan's problems.

Jackson Queries Nazi For Needed Evidence

BERLIN (AP)—Justice, Robert H. Jackson left a preliminary session of the international war crimes tribunal here yesterday and flew to Nuernberg to question Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, one of Hitler's earliest disciples.

Wiedemann, arrested recently in Tientsin, China, is not among the 24 major Nazis facing indictment by the tribunal, but is expected to give evidence against his former associates in the Nazi hierarchy.

The sudden departure of Jackson, who is the United States member of the prosecution, coupled with the fact that Wiedemann was flown all the way from China to Nuernberg, gave support to the belief his testimony would be of prime importance.

Filing of the indictment, originally scheduled for Monday, has been held up because of the absence of Russian members of the court.

Coal Strike Settlement Delayed

50 PERSONS INJURED AS MOVIE WORKERS STRIKE

MORE THAN 50 persons were injured as massed pickets again attempted to keep production halted at Warner Brothers studio in Burbank, Cal. A furious battle in front of the main gates of the huge movie plant marked the bloody renewal of labor strife there. Photo above shows non-striking workers, determined to enter the plant, marching at right angles into mass picket line.

Lewis Takes Stand In Suspension Case

Fred H. Lewis took the stand last night in his hearing before the city civil service commission to explain his side of the story of the events leading up to his suspension from the Iowa City police force Sept. 21.

"I did not at any time think of poisoning Mrs. Dalton's dog although at one time I would have shot it," Lewis declared.

Lewis told the commissioners hearing his appeal from suspension how he had been bothered by a fox terrier named "Pooch" owned by his neighbor, Mrs. Helen M. Dalton, 606 E. Jefferson street.

"Every conceivable thing that a dog could do to molest property or a person, that dog did," Lewis said.

In an affidavit signed by Mrs. Dalton, Lewis is charged with abusing her dog on numerous occasions. He is implicated in the poisoning of her dog on Sept. 12.

Couldn't Sleep
Lewis told the commissioners last night that on the morning of Sept. 8 he had come from work about 8 o'clock and had gone to bed. He could not sleep, he said, because the Dalton dog started barking about 8:30. The dog barked continuously until 8:55.

He telephoned Mrs. Dalton but no one answered the phone. He then went down to the police station with the intention of filing an information against Mrs. Dalton for maintaining a dog nuisance.

Lewis said he talked with Police Judge John Knox about the dog's bothering him. Judge Knox reminded him that the state law provides that any person can shoot a dog which is on his premises creating a nuisance and that it is an officer's duty to shoot such a dog.

'No Gun'
"The judge asked if I had a gun. I said no but that I could borrow one," Lewis testified.

He added that another member of the police force said "why don't you slip it a waffer?"

"I replied that I would not do anything that the law would not protect me on," Lewis declared.

Continuing his testimony, he said that Police Chief White said to him "Why don't you take one of the saved-offs?" Lewis said that he would rather use a full choke shotgun.

After failing to find another shotgun, Lewis said that he returned to the police station, took one of the short shotguns, and three shells and told the man at the desk that he was going to take the gun as Police Chief White had suggested.

"Then I went home," Lewis said continuing his story. He said that he waited for the Dalton dog to come out of the house.

"That morning I surely would have shot the dog," he admitted.

Purchased Poison
Testimony introduced by Kenneth M. Dunlop, attorney for the commissioners, Tuesday night showed that Lewis had purchased strychnine at Ford Hopkins Sept. 7.

Last night Lewis said that his wife had asked him to buy the House Speeds Move to Cut 1946 Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house yesterday arranged an unusual 9 a. m. (CST) session today to speed passage of the first post-war tax-cutting bill. As drawn, the measure would cut individual and business taxes by $5,300,000,000 in 1946.

The rules committee virtually banned any changes in the bill on the house floor by decreasing that no amendments could be considered unless offered by the ways and means committee. Some members criticized this as a "gag rule."

The procedure blocks any move for outright repeal of the war-imposed excess profits tax on corporations. The bill cuts the effective rate of this tax from 85.5 percent to 60 percent.

The bill, in a $2,600,000,000 reduction of individual income burdens, excuses 12,000,000 low income persons paying any federal tax and stipulates that all other individuals shall have a 1946 cut of at least 10 percent. It reduces corporate income levies and sets for next July 1 a sharp cut-back in excise taxes on such things as liquor, luggage, fur coats, jewelry and cosmetics.

The CIO and 14 other organizations, including the Farmers' union, yesterday launched a bitter attack on the legislation. In a letter addressed to each house member they said the bill would "grant huge windfalls to the most prosperous corporation" but permit "only meager relief to low and middle income groups" of individuals.

In addition to the direct relief for individuals and corporations, the bill virtually certain of passage today would provide:

1. Freezing the social security tax in 1946 at one percent on employer payrolls and employe pay envelopes. This tax was due to rise to 2.5 percent on Jan. 1.

2. Repealing the war imposed 55 a year use tax on automobiles, effective next July 1.

Avalos Appointed Argentine President

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Gen. Eduardo Avalos was named minister of war last night replacing Col. Juan Peron, Argentina's "strong man," whose resignation Avalos forced Tuesday. It was reported that lifting of the nationwide state of siege imposed by Peron was imminent.

Commodore Edmundo Sustaita was appointed secretary of aeronautics replacing Brig. Gen. Bartolome de la Colina; Col. Aristobulo Mittelbach was made acting chief of police at Buenos Aires succeeding Col. Folomemo Valasco. The new appointees were reported to be friendly to Peron.

It was not disclosed officially whether the cabinet considered ending the siege, under which hundreds of government opponents have been arrested during the past two weeks, but observers believed it a likely step.

Another Beautiful Day Forecast for Today

Anybody who says that we missed our prediction yesterday is guilty of treating us most unjustly because the latter half of the day was really quite beautiful. But just to show that we bear no grudge, today the weather is going to be perfectly beautiful all day. In fact, the temperature will even be warmer than yesterday's high of 56 and low of 37.

So it did rain just a little yesterday morning! So there were a lot of nasty clouds around most of the morning!

House Group Urges U. S. Withhold Loans To Russia and Britain

Committee Suggests Revision of Policies Following Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A house committee, after a tour of Europe, recommended yesterday that the United States withhold loans to Russia and Britain until they reverse some of their policies.

Seven members of the Colmer postwar economic policy committee, suggested in a statement that:

Recommendations
1.—The U. S. S. R. adopt an "open door" attitude toward American technicians and the press.

2.—Britain unlock trade barriers "inimical" to American interests.

3.—Germany be reconstructed, without armaments of course, so it can feed itself and in time, again become a factor in United States trade.

4.—The United States expand field forces handling disposal of billions in surplus property abroad.

Chairman Colmer (D., Miss.) told a news conference that the members, visiting Marshal Stalin, "frankly talked business, and asked how he proposed to repay the six billion dollar loan Russia is asking."

British leaders, including Prime Minister Attlee, also were asked what concessions they are willing to make in easing trade barriers.

Colmer acknowledged that in both instances the committee didn't get an "enthusiastic" response.

Critical Report
A formal report on the findings will be made in about 10 days. Meanwhile, Colmer said, the members will seek an audience with President Truman "to pass on some helpful information."

The preliminary report was sharply critical of Russia, asserting that the Soviets are "moving" all German industry. This threatens to place a burden of relief on the United States and on UNRRA, the group said.

The statement said it is time for "a stiffening" of America's attitude. It was urged that the state department negotiate for "at least partial payment" of lend-lease in the form of tangible assets.

Colmer said Europe is clogged with artificial obstacles to expanded world trade which can be removed only "by a give-and-take attitude."

ETO Replacements
PARIS (AP)—United States army headquarters announced yesterday that 135,000 troops now stationed in the United States would start moving into the European theater this month, relieving occupation veterans with more than 44 points.

In Washington, the national labor relations board voted 2 to 1 to count the ballots of both strikers and non-strikers in the film industry's collective bargaining election last spring. The question of which voters should be counted touched off the eight month old jurisdictional controversy between two AFL unions over representation of 77 set decorators.

The return from abroad of "thousands of troops" was being delayed by the New York longshoremen's strike, a war shipping administration official said. He added 17 liberty ships had been ordered to sail empty, leaving behind 85,000 tons of cargo.

More than 60 locals with from 35,000 to 60,000 members are involved in a strike against the New York shipping association. They demand that a new contract, replacing one that expired Sept. 20, provide a standardized weight load for cargo nets and other benefits.

Back to Work
One of the largest strikes ended with 42,000 CIO textile print and dye workers in three states returning to work at wage increases of 10 cents and hour for men and five cents for women.

The stoppage began in Paterson, N. J., on Sept. 27 and spread throughout New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania, affecting 284 shops. The union scaled down its wage increase demand from 15 cents to 10 cents and the wage question cannot be reopened until Nov. 1, 1946, under a union-management agreement.

The Wright Aeronautical corporation granted a 22 cents an hour wage increase on all basic rates for hourly paid employes in its plants in the Paterson, N. J., area. About 6,000 CIO United Automobile workers are affected now and more may be included when reconversion to peacetime is completed. The previous basic rates ranged from 81 cents to $1.41 an hour.

Union, Industry Men Unable to Agree On Compromise Plan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soft coal industry and labor representatives decided in Washington last night to extend for another day their talks seeking a compromise plan for ending a six-state strike.

Their agreement to meet again came after futile sessions throughout the day and into the night, after which Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach said the conferees were "about in the same position" as Tuesday night.

The coal walkout, involving 188,000 miners and nearly half of the country's soft coal production, is the biggest of scores of labor disputes keeping 451,000 workers off the job.

Other developments of the day:

1. Armed sheriff's deputies broke up mass picketing in the Hollywood motion picture studio strike and arrested several hundred unresisting pickets without violence.

2. The New York longshoremen's strike tied up more than 350 ships and the army said soldiers might be used as stevedores to prepare the big liner Queen Elizabeth for sailing.

3. Some 42,000 CIO textile workers resumed work at 284 shops in three eastern states after compromising on wage increase demands.

John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine workers and soft coal operators conferred for three hours without results yesterday morning but agreed to renew talks with Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach in the afternoon.

Before the morning meeting Schwelmbach reported the disputants were "not far apart." He sought to compose differences which arose over wording of the peace proposal to negotiate the dispute on recognition of a foreman's union affiliated with Lewis' United Mine workers.

Chokes Coal Supply
The miners' dispute which has choked off production of almost a million tons of coal daily and restricted steel production involves the following numbers of miners: 79,400 in West Virginia; 60,475 in Pennsylvania; 27,200 in Kentucky; 8,000 in Ohio; 8,000 in Tennessee; and 5,000 in Indiana.

Mrs. Whitehand Gets Husband's Decorations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Robert E. Whitehand of Iowa City yesterday received the Legion of Merit and the Air Medal for her husband, Captain Whitehand, who was killed in a flight over France last March 27. The posthumous presentation was made in Des Moines yesterday by an army officer.

Captain Whitehand earned his M.A. and M.F.A. degrees at the University of Iowa. During the war he served both as a navigator and an historian for the eighth airforce.

Mrs. Whitehand and her two daughters, Terry and Linda, reside at 1024 E. Burlington street.

Use of Atomic Power For Planes Proposed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators juggling the hottest scientific potato in history—atomic energy—heard yesterday that the new power will give the airplane the future a virtually unlimited range.

Reason: it won't be burdened with the heavy fuel loads carried by present day aircraft.

The prediction came from J. Carlton Ward Jr., president of Fairchild Engine and Airplane corporation.

Another Problem
Just how scientific research in general is to be aided and stimulated in the atomic era was a problem for another congressional committee.

Budget Director Harold D. Smith, disagreeing with the views of some scientists, urged that complete authority over a proposed national science foundation be placed in the hands of a single administrator.

Smith, called before a joint senate commerce-military subcommittee as an expert on federal administrative agencies, said a budget for research would be "subject to much unwarranted suspicion unless it is presented by a fully responsible administrator who has no connection whatever with the institutions receiving support."

Secret Sessions
The house military committee began a series of secret sessions on President Truman's request that congress set up a nine member commission to handle all domestic phases of atomic research and development.

The vision of atomic-powered aircraft was outlined by Ward before a special subcommittee on light metal aircraft which is carrying on a part of the senate's overall investigation of national defense.

U. S. Intends To Maintain Dominant Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—Creation of an Allied commission to advise on Japanese control policies was announced by Secretary of State Byrnes yesterday but he emphasized the United States intends to maintain its dominant role.

The status of Gen. Douglas MacArthur as supreme Allied commander in Japan is to remain unchanged, Byrnes said, and any time the victor nations fail to agree on policy United States policy will prevail.

Russia has proposed setting up a control commission at Tokyo, Byrnes reported, and while this is yet to be taken up with President Truman and the army and navy, the secretary left no doubt that he favors rejecting the proposal.

Headquarters of the advisory commission are to be in Washington, with meetings in Tokyo when necessary. Invitations for the first session here Oct. 23 went out to nine other nations Tuesday.

Developments discussed by Byrnes at a news conference were:

1. He has appointed Maj. Gen. Frank R. McCoy, retired army officer and president of the Foreign Policy association, to be United States representative on the far eastern advisory commission.

2. He has appointed Mark Ethridge, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times, to investigate political conditions in the Russian-dominated Balkans as the next step in American consideration of whether to recognize the governments of Romania and Bulgaria.

3. The United States, Russia and Britain agreed at the big three meeting at Berlin to take up separately with Turkey the question of revising international control of the Dardanelles, the straits through which Russian commerce and naval forces must move from the Black sea to the Mediterranean.

4. Byrnes said he hopes that the resignation of Vice President Juan Peron, strong man of the Argentine government, may mean better days for the Argentine people.

80 Natives Killed In Clash as Saigon Negotiations Fail

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Eighty Indo-Chinese were killed and 150 wounded in a new outbreak of fighting between Nationalists and Japanese troops yesterday as negotiations between Annamese leaders and French officials were reported deadlocked.

Fifteen Japanese were reported killed and 20 wounded.

The clash took place at Dalat Hill Station near Saigon following what Field Marshal Count Juichi Terauchi, Japanese commander in southeast Asia, described as an "unlawful challenge" to Japanese sentries.

The fighting, an Allied spokesman said, resulted from "a more marked inclination" on the part of the Japanese to obey Allied instructions and maintain law and order. The Japanese are required by the Allies to disarm all persons carrying unauthorized weapons, but only in the course of "defensive" action.

Chinese Welcome Arrival of Marines

TSINGTAO, China (AP)—Elements of the Sixth marine division landed yesterday from the United States Seventh fleet to the wild cheers of the populace already groggy from Tuesday's celebration of China's "Double Tenth" holiday.

The gleeful Chinese, welcoming the return of Americans to this beautiful port and resort city, forgot for the moment that trouble may be brewing to the north between Chinese Communist and Nationalist forces.

NIMITZ GETS TUMULTUOUS NEW YORK WELCOME

IN THE FIRST "OFFICIAL" welcome to a Naval hero since Admiral George Dewey's return from Manila Bay, Admiral of the Fleet Chester W. Nimitz waves acknowledgement to the cheers of New York City's millions. The gigantic parade in his honor is shown as, accompanied by Mayor La Guardia, he rode down famed Fifth Avenue.

Editorials:

Senior Women Will Have to Decide for Themselves

Senior women who are in a quandry over what constitutes an "abuse" of their new privileges will have to find the answer in their own judgment.

The University Women's association's new regulations for undergraduate women states that "if reports to the senior representative (on the judiciary board) indicate that a senior woman is abusing her privilege, she shall report to the judiciary board of review and for such action as the case warrants.

But the regulations do not explain what constitutes "abuse" of senior privileges. Despite the lack of frankness of the ruling, it has the benefits of (1) not opening the "floodgates" by saying that senior women may stay out until, say, 2 a. m. which would tend to encourage many to not come in until that hour, and (2) of letting senior women exercise their own discretion instead of having someone exercise it for them.

It is obvious that the ruling could not say, in effect, "senior women may stay out as late as they desire, but they should be in by 2 a. m." The real result would be establishment of a new closing hours of 2 a. m.

This would give senior women the additional liberty they want, but it would be liberty without ensuring responsibility.

To suggest 1 a. m.—again only as an example—as a reasonable hour for senior women to be in, would tend to set a precedent, and senior women would be more apt to stay out that late even if their own judgment was that for their own health and scholastic welfare they should be in at an earlier hour.

How, if there is no prescribed closing hour, is a woman to decide when she should be home? She will have to arrive at some established hour for herself in order not to "abuse" her privilege and thus be disciplined and in order not to slight her educational duties.

It appears to us that the UWA's ruling is only new terminology for an old phrase that university women have heard many, many times from their parents—"Don't stay out too late."

That admonition of a parent doesn't set an hour at which the door will be locked. Yet in nearly all cases girls know what it means, and they will exercise good judgment so that they won't "stay out too late."

Parents usually don't say to be in at a specific hour because they know different occasions give rise to different hours of coming home, and that in any event the hour will be reasonable. The university and the UWA has adopted the same attitude.

The judiciary board might suggest, as an "unwritten law," at what hour women should be in, but this would be unwise for the same reasons that it would have been unwise for UWA to suggest an hour in the first place, and it would be highly difficult to arrive at a reasonable hour for all senior women to observe.

How late a senior woman will stay out will vary among individuals. And each individual's own decision will vary from night to night.

There are other abuses of senior privileges which are pretty well defined. If a woman's grades drop below a 2.0 average or if she is guilty of social misconduct, action may be taken against her.

The first offense might result in suspension of the senior privilege or in social probation. A second offense might have more serious consequences.

In time, rulings of the judiciary board—particularly in matters involving late hours—will shape up as a guide for senior women. And, in that connection, this senior class and members of the present judiciary board have the tremendous responsibility of setting a precedent for their successors.

Part of the judiciary board's unwritten law will begin taking form this year. Then those women who shirk from making their own decisions will have a crutch to lean their feeble minds on.

But for the present the only guidance out of senior women's present dilemma must come from their own good judgment. It is hard to believe that the judiciary board, having now invited a senior woman to make new decisions for herself, would very severely penalize a woman who makes a sincere effort at regulating herself.

the university, whether master or apprentice, must be respected and evaluated on its own merits.

Covering The Capital

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—The footnote writers of contemporary political history are noting that the "silver spoon" brigade is disappearing from the upper brackets of government appointees.

Apparently, President Truman prefers "log cabin boys" as members of his official family.

The president's No. 2 man is James F. "Little Jimmy" Byrnes and that selection was made before Senator Harry S. Truman had even a glimmer that he might be No. 1. "Little Jimmy" won his nickname and the affection that attends it when he was a court stenographer in his native Spartanburg, S. C. But by that time the name of E. R. Stettinius (whose son the court stenographer from South Carolina succeeded as secretary of state) was already well known in high financial circles.

Known to the whole country then too was John D. Rockefeller whose grandson, Nelson, even more recently relinquished his agency to Byrnes.

Definitely in the Rockefeller-Stettinius tradition was Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., whose family estate is almost next door to that of the Hudson river Roosevelts. The Truman administration has seen Morgenthau also return to his heritage and Judge Fred M. Vinson, another southerner who beat his way up from very little, succeed him.

Attorney General Francis Biddle, whose family name is almost as well known in Philadelphia as William Penn's and Ben Franklin's, has been succeeded by just plain Tom Clark, of Dallas, Tex.

The recently retired Secretary of War Henry Stimson also was a New York aristocrat whose family history closely paralleled that of the president he served under in World War II.

There's no hint from the footnote writers that President Truman has banished any one from his official family just because he was born with that proverbial silver spoon.

Stimson's resignation, for example, had been written out in thought, if not in ink, before the change in administrations. Biddle and Stettinius have been given assignments which won't pull the same headlines as being cabinet members but which are jobs of grave responsibility.

Getting back to the new appointees, however, you can make out a real case for the "log cabin boys." After Byrnes, there's the No. 3 man in authority (though not in succession) in this period of reconversion—John W. Snyder, formerly a smalltown Arkansas banker. The new secretary of agriculture, Clinton P. Anderson owns farms and ranches all over the place now, but he was just a Centerville, S. D., boy to start with.

From All Around The State

DES MOINES (AP)—Paul B. Norris, supervisor of rural education in the state department of public instruction, has been appointed director of transportation for the department, Superintendent Jessie M. Parker announced yesterday. He will be succeeded as rural education supervisor by Ivah Green, who has held a similar position at the St. Cloud, Minn., State Teachers college. Lt. Frederick E. Mueller, former superintendent at Independence, was appointed high school supervisor for the department, succeeding Chesney Prehm, resigned.

GRINELL (AP)—Grinnell college, which reentered football competition after most other colleges had completed their schedules, will play a two-game schedule, it was announced yesterday, subject to faculty approval, the Grinnell opponents will be Wartburg college, Waverly, Nov. 10, and Coe, Cedar Rapids, Nov. 17. Sites of the games are yet to be determined.

DES MOINES (AP)—Return of the state fairgrounds to the state by the army air corps "in time for a 1946 fair" was asked yesterday by Gov. Robert D. Blue in a letter to the commanding general of the air technical service command at Wright field, Dayton, Ohio. The grounds have been used as a storage depot since shortly after Pearl Harbor.

DES MOINES (AP)—The weather bureau reported yesterday that moisture content of corn and soybeans was reduced materially as favorable drying weather prevailed during the week ended Tuesday. The bureau said estimates of corn safe from frost vary from 60 to 90 percent.

DIERSVILLE (AP)—Anthony Konzen, 55, Dyersville, was killed Tuesday when his car collided with a railroad engine pulling a caboose, on a Dyersville crossing.

TIPTON (AP)—Notice of the state's appeal from a ruling of the Cherokee county district court which found Mrs. Ruth Madsen sane and ordered her release from the Cherokee state hospital has been served on Mrs. Madsen in the Cedar county jail. She is held pending hearing on a three year old charge in connection with the death of her husband, Harry Madsen, West Branch farmer.

DES MOINES (AP)—The United States employment service said yesterday a survey indicated that probably 500 Iowans are drifting back to their home state each week from wartime jobs in other states.

DES MOINES (AP)—The Iowa liquor commission reported yesterday it has sold 338,707 liquor permits so far this fiscal year, compared with 311,921 for the same period of the last fiscal year.

DES MOINES (AP)—Chief R. W. Nebergall of the state bureau of criminal investigation said yesterday an investigation of claimed abuses of inmates of the state training school for girls at Mitchellville was underway. The probe started following the apprehension by police here of three girls who had escaped from the school or from parole.

DES MOINES (AP)—An Iowa corn crop of 529,296,000 bushels with an average yield per acre of 48 bushels was predicted yesterday by Iowa crop and livestock reporting service.

The predictions, based on conditions as of Oct. 1, were the same as for last month. Taken into consideration were reports from all parts of Iowa between Sept. 29 and Oct. 2, which indicated a probable 75 to 80 percent of the crop safe from frost damage, the service said.

The amount of frost damage would continue, it said, to be speculative until harvesting is underway.

Iowa's record corn harvest of 607,608,000 bushels was established in 1944. The yield per acre that year was 54 bushels.

DES MOINES (AP)—In a test of soldiers' preference and civil service laws, District Judge Tom K. Murrow yesterday upheld the appointment of John W. Rider as a Des Moines police department sergeant.

His decision denied three other candidates for the job their request for preference on the grounds that they were veterans of World War I and that Rider had served only in the navy during peacetime.

Judge Murrow declared that the three policemen—Stanger Geyer, Louis J. Volz and E. W. Ervin—had the right to be on the eligible

CINCINNATI (AP)—Those little key ring tags, which you may have received and which bear a plastic duplicate of your automobile license, are intended to go a long way toward financing disputed compensation claims for many a disabled veteran.

That, at least, is the plan of the Disabled American Veterans with national headquarters here.

"This year," said Vivian D. Corby, national adjutant, the DAV has blanketed the nation with the request that the recipient send back a 25 cent piece.

And, although only 6,779,000 persons have sent in their quarters, a profit of $173,600 from July 1, to June 30, this year, has been recorded in the books, making the key tags the DAV's principal source of income.

Corby asserted that already 500,000 World War veterans have applied for disability compensation and that more than three million would be eligible to file when the armed forces are reduced to peacetime basis.

Wake Island Post Of American Legion Survives Jap Prison

By KATHRYNE IRVIN HONOLULU, T. H. (AP)—To anyone not knowing the full circumstances, it would appear from the records that one American legion post affiliated with the department of Hawaii holds the dubious distinction of being the most lackadaisical and least interested post of any in the organization.

Of the 51 members who received their charter in July, 1941, not one ever has attended a district or national convention. Yet, at every convention throughout the war, the post has kept on the roll and membership was kept alive by both department and national headquarters, with all members in "good standing."

Wake Island post No. 23, was only five months old when the Japanese captured the little piece of ground in the middle of the Pacific on Dec. 23, 1941. Two legionnaires had returned home before that fateful day and about 45 of the original 51 are believed to be alive and liberated recently by American troops.

Gus Raspe, who held onto his membership card and legionnaire cap all during his imprisonment, preserved the membership roll and even the last minutes of the last meeting, which was held May 23, 1942, in a Japanese prison, just before he and his buddies were separated and sent to different camps.

list for appointment but contended they had no preference over Rider.

As veterans of World War I, the court ruled, Geyer, Volz and Ervin had no prior rights over the discharged sailor who served in peacetime.

The three policemen, protesting Rider's appointment last June, filed a mandamus action against Charles F. Triplett, city superintendent of public safety, to make the district court test.

That action was dismissed by Judge Murrow in his findings.

DES MOINES (AP)—R. W. Nebergall, chief of the state bureau of criminal investigation, said yesterday that agents from his office would visit the state school for girls at Mitchellville within the next few days to check allegations by three former inmates of abusive treatment there. The girls, out on parole when arrested here Tuesday, made their charges before the police juvenile bureau.

Now it is officially explained that the death was an accident, just one of those things. The story is that Li's automobile hit a soldier on a dark road, the soldier's comrades fired after it when their order to halt went unheeded, and a bullet killed Li, who was riding in the back seat.

Li's chauffeur, who drove him to the hospital, disappeared and is said to be still missing.

Are the Men Happy?

One night there was a guy who got into a really wild poker game (the sucker). They were playing "baseball" poker, low man wins if you can imagine such a bunch of nuts.

Well, this guy was sailing along with a pretty fair hand, until he got an extra card. Face down, that card sure looked good. But when he turned up a corner, he moaned. It paired his seven-spot and beat him out of a good-sized pot.

And that's just about how men on the campus are looking at the new hours for senior women. They're waiting until all the cards are dealt before they start jumping up and down with joy.

After all, there have been many times when a fellow has been glad to see 12:30 p. m. or 10:30 p. m. roll around so that he can get rid of a not-so-hot date. Of course women sometimes are just as glad to get rid of their dates, but a dull date is more a matter of pride with men.

But if a man has a dull date, and she is a senior and doesn't have to be in until the wee hours, gosh, it's going to be difficult easing her homeward!

But then, of course, most men won't be bothered that way because there aren't any boring gals among the Iowa co-eds.

A Great University

(H. C. Witherington, Bowling Green State University)—A university should be one institution in which there is complete liberty to investigate and to express one's ideas.

It is a community of scholars only in the sense that all seek what they think is true, and all respect one another in the common search for knowledge. A great university is impossible in an atmosphere which forbids or cramps free speech and free investigation.

The right of members to speak must be respected and defended, even though other members of the faculties and governing board do not agree with what is said.

The only "authority" to be recognized is the truth. If a university is a place to think and to investigate, then differences of opinion must be normally expected.

Nor should opinions be evaluated according to the rank or priority status of the persons offering them. The idea of any member of

Style Show to Be at Macbride Today

UWA Plans Annual Event For 4 O'Clock

Through Mademoiselle's Key-hole is the theme of this year's style show to be presented at 4 p. m. today in Macbride auditorium. The style show is sponsored annually by the University Women's association as a part of the orientation program.

Louise Hillman, A4 of Bettendorf, member of the freshman orientation council, is directing the showing. Commenting on the fashions will be Jane Randolph, A4 of Marion, Ind., who spent last summer in New York City as a member of the Mademoiselle college board.

Musical Background
A background of recorded music will be played as the 15 models walk into the spotlight from a keyhole-shaped entrance draped from stage curtains.

The models have been selected to represent the various housing units on campus. Many will wear clothes of their own design. Eleanor Pownall, A3 of Iowa City, will model an original dress which won second prize in a nationwide contest for designers sponsored by Mademoiselle last year. The magazine had the dress made up and presented to Miss Pownall.

Style Preview
The purpose of the fashion show is to give freshmen and transfer women a preview of the costumes they may expect to find on the University of Iowa campus. The what, when and where of college clothes etiquette will be shown in the modeling of campus wear, "after hours" costumes, such as slacks, housecoats, pajamas and nightgowns, classic dresses and suits for Friday evenings, date dresses and formal evening wear.

Models are: Rose Mary Harrier, A2 of Iowa City; Elaine Lenney, A2 of Cleveland, Ohio; Bernadine Mackorosky, A4 of Keosauqua, Ill.; Miss Pownall; Louise Slosky, A2 of Sioux City; Eileen Smith, A2 of Cedar Rapids; Judy Mitchell, A3 of Rock Island, Ill.; Jeff Freund, A3 of Cedar Rapids; and Jean Prentis, A2 of Mt. Airy.

Kary Thalmann, A1 of Los Angeles; Georgianne Wallen, A3 of Burlington; Georgia Carol Roth, A4 of Evanston; Jean Clark, A3 of Ft. Dodge; Myrna Ament, A1 of Marion; and Barbara Flood, A1 of Crystal Lake, Ill.

Ruth Louise McLeran Weds W. A. Ruhnke In Tuesday Ceremony

Before an altar banked with candelabra and autumn flowers, Ruth Louise McLeran, daughter of Mrs. Charles McLeran of Mt. Pleasant, became the bride of Walter August Ruhnke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Ruhnke of Eldora, Tuesday at 4 p. m. in the Little Chapel of the Congregational church. The Rev. Donovan G. Hart read the vows of the single ring ceremony.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Lester Norton of Iowa City, niece of the bridegroom. Best man was Lester Norton of Iowa City.

The bride selected for the ceremony a street-length dress of royal blue crepe fashioned with a V-neckline and long sleeves. She wore black accessories and her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. Her corsage was of blue cornflowers and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Norton wore a two-piece dress of aqua wool, styled with a round neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her accessories were black and she wore a corsage of blue cornflowers and Tallman roses.

A wedding supper was served at 6 o'clock at the Melody Mill. Centering the table was a wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Ruhnke was graduated from Mt. Pleasant high school, received her B. A. degree from Iowa Wesleyan college at Mt. Pleasant and her M. A. from the University of Iowa. She has recently been teaching in West Liberty and Hampton.

Mr. Ruhnke was graduated from Eldora high school and is in business in Eldora.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Charles E. McLeran, Mrs. William F. Kopp, Mr. and Mrs. Harold McLeran and son, Robert, and Mr. and Mrs. Thornton McLeran, all of Mt. Pleasant.

Attends Meeting

The Rev. Elmer E. Dierks left yesterday afternoon for Marshalltown, where he will attend the Iowa Baptist state convention. He will return Friday night or Saturday.

KARLY THALMANN, A1 of Los Angeles, left, admires the hand knit sweater and matching mittens worn by Eileen Smith, A2 of Cedar Rapids. The sweater has a white back and sleeves with an Indian design of forest green, red and black down the front. Miss Thalmann wears a black and white checked suit which features a blouse jacket. Her accessories include a black cloche and black pumps and purse.

Vets Nominate 19 Candidates

At a nominating committee meeting yesterday afternoon the University Veterans' association named candidates for election of officers.

They are: Donald Pierce, G of Iowa City; George W. Phetteplace, L3 of Iowa City; and Carl Kugel, L3 of Sioux City, for president; Bill Leaming, G of Newton, and Don Hall, E3 of Iowa City, vice-president; Edward Hicklin, A3 of Wapello, and Carl Schnorr, L1 of Perry, secretary; Eugene Jesse, E2 of Davenport, and Hugh Ames, E3 of Muscatine, treasurer.

Members nominated for executive council positions are: George Cebuhar, A2 of Centerville; Bill Boswell, A2 of Marshalltown; Arnold Pedersen, A1 of Topeka, Kan.; Bob Fawcett, A2 of Burlington; Clete Burke, A2 of Iowa City; Martin O'Connor, L1 of Iowa City; Bobette Merrick, U of Des Moines; Gordon Christensen, L3 of Iowa City; Eldon Schonaman, E2 of Parkersburg, and Chuck Schorr, A2 of Davenport.

Nominations from the floor and voting will take place Wednesday, Oct. 17, at a time and place to be announced.

'Church and State Both Serve Man'

"Catholics do not want a union of the church and state," said the Rev. J. Ryan Beiser of the school of religion and director of Newman club in his talk on "Church and State" at a meeting of the Lions club yesterday noon.

"The church warns when the state steps out of line, but it is not interested in the type of government as long as it is a good government," he stated.

"Society is a means to the end that man achieves his destiny here on earth, while the church is a means for man to achieve heaven, his destiny in after life," Father Beiser continued.

The church has set up a moral code to help man achieve his ultimate destiny—heaven—and this code is unchangeable, the speaker said.

When the state removes men's rights or breaks the moral code, then the church has a right to speak, Father Beiser explained, adding that in the late 1920's the Vatican protested Mussolini's activities, and in 1934 Hitler's climb to power.

"The church and the state both serve man," he concluded, "and conflict arises only when there is disorder."

W. J. Saunders of Oskaloosa, father of Prof. Harold Saunders of the college of commerce, was a guest at the luncheon.

Gasoline Truck, Sedan Damaged in Collision

A gasoline transport driven by W. G. McCall and a sedan driven by Emerson E. Morgan of Webster Grove, Mo., were damaged in an accident on highway No. 218, four miles north of Iowa City, at 1:15 yesterday morning.

The left rear of the transport and the left front of Morgan's car were damaged.

Women Still Needed To Sign for Work As Hospital Co-Aides

Although approximately 75 women registered with the University Women's association yesterday as hospital co-aides; even more are needed for war work, Eileen Doerres, A4 of Lone Tree, chairman of co-aides, reported at the U. W. A. council meeting yesterday afternoon.

As both the Information First committees and the alumni office workers group were filled early in U. W. A. council meeting yesterday, activities closed before 4 o'clock, according to Eleanor Pownall, A3 of Iowa City, Information First chairman, and Nancy Green, A2 of Cedar Rapids, head of office workers.

A paper will be left on the U. W. A. desk in the basement of Old Capitol especially for those women who are still interested in signing up for co-aides but were unable to register yesterday.

The university calendar, which is put out yearly by U. W. A., will be distributed to all university women this week. Drawings and verses for this year's calendar were done by Nancy Schmidt, A4 of Davenport.

The possibility of a sequel to "Charm School" sponsored by a leading fashion magazine with emphasis placed upon clothes rather than make-up was discussed at the meeting. Early spring was suggested as a suitable time with "Easter Parade" as a theme.

Holly Baker, A3 of Highland Park, Ill., will replace Joan Overholser, A4 of Red Oak, on the U. W. A. council in charge of publicity.

Iowa Mountaineers To Sponsor Lectures By Outstanding Men

Iowa Mountaineers, student and faculty outing club will sponsor a new type of indoor programs consisting of 10 formal lectures by outstanding explorers, naturalists and world travelers and several informal programs.

The first of the series of formal programs scheduled for this fall and winter will be by Aloha Baker Nov. 15 at 8 p. m. She will speak on "Explorers of the Purple Sage" in the chemistry auditorium.

"Hawaiian Paradise" will be the subject of the lecture by Gertrude Gromer Dec. 2, and at the next formal program Dec. 18, the club members will relate their experiences of the 1945 annual summer outing to Grand Teton park, Wyo.

Other lecturers to appear include Frederick and Sylvia Christian, who will discuss "River of No Return" Jan. 20; Capt. Bob Bartlett will speak on "The Arctic in Color" Feb. 24, and talks by Count Byron de Provo, Dr. C. J. Albrecht, Dr. Alfred M. Bailey and Eva Hamilton on dates to be announced.

Color Movies
Several of these lectures will be illustrated with natural color movies, slides and feature length adventure films.

The annual Iowa Mountaineers "Kodachrome Salon" will be presented again this year March 14 and 15. The first day slides from

Harold Read, SUJ Graduate, Dies Tuesday

Harold D. Read, 43, graduate of the State University of Iowa and former editor of The Daily Iowan, died at Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Read was vice-president of Opinion Research corporation in New York at the time of his death.

He joined Opinion Research as vice-president soon after it was founded in 1938 and directed many nationally important research projects.

His work for the Association of American Railroads, the national physicians committee, the electric industry administration committee and many other organizations in the electrical utility, food processing and beverage fields won for him nationwide recognition.

Harold D. Read was born in Des Moines April 27, 1902, the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Read. He attended the Des Moines public schools and was graduated from West high school there.

He received his A.B. degree from the State University of Iowa in 1923 after majoring in journalism and business administration. He was a classmate of Dr. George Gallup, also a public opinion expert.

Mr. Read is survived by his wife, the former Marian Brown of Des Moines, and one sister, Mrs. Frank A. Pettit of Kenosha, Wis.

His home was in Palmer square, Princeton, N. J. He was a member of the Union League club in Chicago and the Nassau club in Princeton.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Princeton and burial will be there.

Police Forum Features Talks

At the first University of Iowa police administration forum Oct. 18-20, daily problems will be completely discussed, according to Prof. Rollin Perkins of the college of law.

Consisting largely of discussions rather than formal lectures, the program will be related to all phases of administration. The talks will be directed by the 17 men on the staff.

Prof. W. D. Coder of veterans service at the university, and Capt. J. H. Clift of the Cedar Rapids police department, will handle "Problems of Reconversion" featuring "The Veteran and the Policeman" and "The Veteran Policeman."

The section on "Police Reporting and Recording Systems" will be directed by R. T. Harbo of Washington, D. C., one of the three FBI men on the staff. "Administrative Responsibilities of the Police Executive in Juvenile Control" discussions will be headed by L. A. Hince, another FBI man from Washington.

Chief R. W. Nebergall of the criminal investigation division, Iowa department of public safety, will lead discussion on "Mutual Administration Problems—State and Local." Chief Oliver White of Iowa City has charge of the topic on "Budgets."

The conference will be closed by Gov. Robert D. Blue who will give a summary and conclusions. Attorney General John Rankin, Commissioner Fred Wilkins of the department of public safety and E. E. Kuhnle, FBI man from Des Moines, will participate in the introduction of the course.

the nation's leading camera clubs will be submitted. Slides from the country's mountaineering and outdoor clubs and from local persons will be entered in the competition the second day.

The informal indoor programs will interest chiefly the active and associate members of the club. Talks, movies and demonstrations will be given in studio E of the engineering building.

Membership Plan
A guest membership plan has been installed to admit a limited number of interested persons to the programs who could not otherwise be considered active members of the club.

Previously the indoor programs of the club were showings of amateur motion pictures. Although the films were popular, S. J. Ebert, president of the club, said it was impossible to determine the quality of the pictures in advance and often they interested only active club members.

Adams Talks On Thoreau

"It might be a good thing if each 100 years some seven-year graduate, like Thoreau, would go to 'Walden' said Prof. Raymond Adams in a graduate college lecture in the senate chamber of Old Capitol last night.

Professor Adams, professor of English at the University of North Carolina, has done much research into the life and works of Henry David Thoreau, which gives him a particular ability to treat the subject of "Thoreau's Going to Walden" at this centennial anniversary.

"One reason for Thoreau's retirement to Walden pond," Professor Adams said, "was the death of his brother three years before." There is no other record of close love as Henry and John Thoreau experienced, and when the careers they had planned together were made impossible, Henry decided his mind might become more settled with writing.

He wanted to see if he could "live deeply, deliberately, missing none of life." Two years later he left the woods because he felt he had several more lives to live.

"Most pioneers went as far as they could, carried with them as much as possible and anticipated acquiring as much wealth as they could," said Professor Adams. Thoreau went only a mile west from Concord to establish himself on Walden pond. There he could "push prejudices aside, could strive for naturalness and his values, could 'simplify.'" He sought contemplation, thought, insight. He conducted this experiment to find out what values pioneering had, and proved that one need not be a slave of humanity.

"At Walden, Thoreau fed his soul on his wild surroundings," Professor Adams said; "he did not cut through the wilderness only to miss the wildness."

Sigma Delta Chi Elects Joe Mather As New President

Joe Mather, A4 of Lakeview, was elected president of Sigma Delta Chi, men's professional journalism fraternity, at a meeting yesterday noon at the D/L grill.

Bob Krause, A4 of Staten Island, N. Y., was named vice president, and Don Jones, A4 of Donnellson, was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Plans were made for pledging ceremonies Wednesday, Oct. 17, at 5:30 p. m. at the D/L.

Student Intrigued By Lecture to Point Of Losing 3 Shoes!

The want ad read "Lost: One pair red lizard shoes and one loafer in room 203 Schaeffer . . ."

The 'one loafer' led to much speculation. Where was the other loafer?

Curiosity overcame caution, and a phone call was made. It seems that young lady with the loafer picked up her shoes from a repair shop and took them to her government class. Under the spell of a lecture, she forgot such inconsequential things as shoes.

Betty Elkema to Wed Thomas O'Leary In St. Patrick's Church Wednesday

Before an altar banked with palms and white chrysanthemums, Betty Elkema, daughter of Mrs. Georgia Elkema, 714 E. College street, became the bride of Thomas O'Leary, son of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Leary, Lower Muscatine road, yesterday morning at 9 o'clock. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. George P. Snell in St. Patrick's church.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. William Condon, organist, and William Holland, soloist.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Betty Cole of Iowa City and best man was William Rohner also of Iowa City. Ushers were M. C. Sewell and James Schneberger of Iowa City.

White Wool Dress
Given in marriage by her uncle, L. L. Stoehr of Cedar Rapids, the bride was attired in a white wool street-length dress. Fashioned with a high round neckline, the dress had a pencil skirt topped by a peplum and long sleeves. The bride chose a small white feather pill-box hat and wore a gold jeweled cross which belonged to her great-grandmother. She carried white orchids on a white prayer-book and a sterling silver rosary, a gift of the bridegroom.

Miss Cole selected a lime green wool dress, styled with a high round neckline and fitted bodice. The pencil skirt was accented with a front drape. She wore a necklace of pearls and chose a brown feather pill-box hat. Bronze, yellow and lavender button chrysanthemums formed her bouquet.

The bride's mother was attired in a brown dress complemented with brown accessories. Mrs. O'Leary chose a powder blue dress and black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of Johanna Hill roses.

Reception at Hotel
Following the ceremony a reception was held at Hotel Jefferson. Decorations centered around a three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom. Hostesses were Eula Van Meter, Marguerite Gatens and Mrs. R. W. Eilers.

For her wedding trip the bride selected a brown suit and aqua blouse and wore a corsage of orchids.

The bride was graduated from Elgin high school in Elgin and attended the University of Iowa.

A graduate of St. Patrick's high school, Mr. O'Leary is engaged in farming.

The couple will reside at 714 E. College street.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Stoehr, Mrs. Nelle Schori, Bertha Abbey, and Mrs. Gladys Sarber, all of Cedar Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. John R. O'Leary of Peoria, Ill.; Mrs. Mayme Scherer, Mrs. Irene Kimball and Mrs. Helen Duffy, all of Los Angeles.

'University of Life' High School Students Plan Outdoor Meeting

The University of Life, an inter-denominational organization for high school students, will have its first meeting Sunday. The sponsors, leaders and students will meet at the First Congregational church at 6:15 p. m.

Plans have been made for an outdoor meeting on the "Island" north of City park. This will be a ritualistic meeting and will carry out the year's plan to divide the group into four Indian tribes.

If weather conditions do not permit an outdoor meeting, the activities will take place in the Congregational church, which has been selected as the meeting place for the year.

The program for the year consists of four topics which were chosen by the young people's cabinet and the pastors of the five cooperating churches. The discussion will be led by Maude McBroome; "That Strange Man," a story of Jesus, is in charge of Prof. H. J. Thornton; "Christianity Building One World" will be led by Ruth Gallaher, and "Why I Am a Protestant" will be led by Dr. L. L. Dunnington.

The leaders will move on to a new group each eight weeks. From time to time guests speakers will be invited. First among these will be Dr. Andrew H. Woods.

Recreation and parties are also being scheduled.

The members of the cabinet are: Harriet Woods, Charlene Blake, Jim Van Deusen and Dick Beck representing the First Baptist church; Doris Figg, Rex Shain, Caryl Kobes and Kirk Carson—First Christian church; Jim

Party Tickets Ready Monday

Tickets will go on sale Monday at 7 a. m. at the Union desk for "Fall Flurry," first all-university party of the year, which will be held in the main lounge of Iowa Union Oct. 20 from 9 p. m. to 12 m.

Decorations will feature autumn hues of yellow and brown. The backdrop for the informal dance is being made by Joan and Joyce Womelsdorf, A2 of Freeport, Ill. On the dance programs will be a typical college couple.

Ronnie Stevens and his orchestra, which is composed of 12 men who are students at Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill., will provide music for the dance.

During the intermission, a tea will be given for the central party committee and guests of honor. This prewar practice is being resumed this year, and will be given in the private dining room adjoining the lounge.

Guests of honor at the dance will be Prof. and Mrs. Wendell Johnson, Prof. and Mrs. William Coder and Prof. and Mrs. Herald Stark.

Dance committee members include Bette Jo Phelan, A3 of Mason City, chairman; Wanda Siebels, A4 of Amber; Gloria Huenger, A4 of Whiting, Ind.; Abbie Morrison, A4 of Onawa, and Louise Johnston, A4 of Marshalltown.

U High Plans Rally Tonight

Plans for University high school's Homecoming festivities were announced yesterday by Barbara Baird, chairman of the publicity committee.

A bonfire pep rally and "stunt night" will start the celebration at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Each class will present a stunt to be judged by senior advisers. A cash prize will be awarded to the class winning the contest. Senior members of the football team will give speeches.

The Homecoming football game will be played at 3:15 p. m. tomorrow when University high meets Monticello. There will be a dance in the gymnasium from 8 to 11 p. m. The Homecoming queen and her attendants will be presented during intermission.

Westminster Tea Hour

The regular Friday tea hour of the Westminster fellowship will meet from 4 to 5:30 o'clock in the social rooms of the First Presbyterian church. Hostesses are Lois Ann Schaller, A3 of Cedar Falls, and Colleen Brobeil, A2 of Lytton.

Waery, Carol Shoquist, Cromwell Jones Jr. and Shirley Buxton—First Congregational church; Betty Crowe, Paul Opstad, Bonnie Wanamaker and Billie Teeters—First Methodist church, and Maxine Warson, Betty Vevera, Joan Wicks and Bob Crum—First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Ruth L. Boyer, director, and sponsors chosen from among parents and other interested adults will assist in carrying out the program.

BIG QUESTION MARK in Iowa athletics this fall is an army major, an overseas veteran name of "Doc Eddie" Anderson. The coach of the 1939 Iron Men and of Hawkeye football teams in 40, 41 and 42 is back from Europe, as most folks know, but what his plans for the future are no one is sure. I returned home from the Iowa-Ohio State game Sunday to learn that Doc Eddie had arrived in Iowa City last Friday, but had left again Sunday—for Indianapolis. Word is out that he plans to be released from active duty soon.

BUT EVEN "DAD" Schroeder, Iowa athletic director, says he doesn't know what Eddie's plans are. It's evident that his old job is open for him, but what then becomes of Clem Crowe, present Hawkeye coach? He's got a two-year contract here, you know. Well, why not a combination staff with Anderson, Crowe, Bud Beringer and Chuck Jaskwich all included? Sounds like an all-star cast to me and right along with our ambition of seeing gridiron glory—a bird that's been as dead as the proverbial dodo since 1939—come home to a Hawkeye roost again.

EDDIE ANDERSON

Returning From Army to Iowa?

"Ted is always being asked the pair in their aerial sports coverage. "Ted is always being asked by somebody if he remembers when the guy helped him 'spot' such-and-such a game," grins Jimmy, "and right then we know he's a phoney because nobody helps Ted spot games but your old Jimmy."

JIMMY SAYS the pair actually missed a touchdown a couple of years ago at an Army-Notre Dame game. "There was a heck of a big mob there and most of the folks were standing in front of our booth when an Army back took off on a long run," Jimmy continued. "The last I saw of the guy—over some bird's derby—it looked like he was tossed out of bounds. . . . It wasn't until they were lining up for the extra point try a minute later that we realized that he'd actually scored a touchdown. . . . Of course, Husing covered up over the mike, but it seems that the two really take their work seriously. . . . We went up town that night and ordered steaks," the Husing helper finished, "but neither of us could eat a bite we were so upset about missing that score. . . . It's the first and only time anything like that ever happened to us."

PASS THE HASH

OUR INNER SANCTUM spies tell us how Jack Spencer, the all-arms-and-legs guard who has starred in Iowa basketball the last two years, definitely won't be with Pops Harrison and title defending mates this season. Jack isn't even registered in the university. . . . And he took off for Wyoming about a week ago. . . . IF YOU'VE GOT a craving for football this weekend and can't get to Lafayette, go out to the Iowa practice field tomorrow afternoon and watch University High protect its unbeaten string against Monticello with all the hepped up hysteria of a high school homecoming thrown in.

THE BUDDIES of Jack Hammond always stick close to the beefy Iowa tackle during his classes, we hear. . . . Jack never comes to class without a bag full of assorted candy, peanuts, gum and other confectionaries. . . . Recently he made friends with half his Spanish class by passing a generous sack of popcorn. . . . DAN SHEEHAN, brilliant Iowa back in 1943, is back in town from the army air corps. . . . He probably won't join the football team, however. . . . DID YOU READ where $62,000 was the difference between winning and losing for the Cubs and Tigers in yesterday's series finale? . . . No wonder those Tigers teed off on poor Hank Borowy in the first inning.

Armbruster Instructs At Water Institute

David A. Armbruster, Iowa swimming coach, Thursday began a three-day position as one of the chief instructors at the Water Safety Instruction institute in Detroit, Mich.

The Hawkeye coach will appear at the institute through Saturday. The Detroit chapter of the American Red Cross is sponsoring the affair, with "Better Swimming for America" as the theme.

Intramural Director Calls Monday Meeting

Ted Swenson, in his new position as Iowa's intramural athletic director, yesterday issued a call for the athletic managers of all university male organizations to meet with him Monday afternoon. The meeting, to be held in athletic offices next to the big dressing room in the fieldhouse basement, will begin at 4 p. m.

Recently returned to the university from the navy, Swenson said he plans to rebuild and enlarge the Iowa intramural sports program. Lack of manpower during the war years greatly retarded intramural athletics.

Social and professional fraternities, cooperative dormitories, townmen, veterans organizations and any other male groups are urged to send their athletic representatives to the Monday meeting.

Prep Milers Meet Here October 20

Entries within the next week are expected from more than 20 high schools in the one mile championship team race at the University of Iowa Oct. 20.

Sponsored by the Iowa High School Athletic association, the race will determine team and individual champions in classes A, B, and C according to enrollment. The events will occur in the morning and the athletes will attend the Indiana-Iowa football game in the afternoon.

East Des Moines probably will defend its class A title in the race on the Iowa cinder track, with Paul Sloan seeking his second individual championship. Other 1944 team winners were University High of Iowa City in class B and Mechanicsville in class C.

Judd Ringer Returns

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Judd Ringer, right end on Minnesota's undefeated national championship team in 1941, was back for Gopher football practice yesterday. Ringer is the second member of the 1941 team to join the Gopher squad in 10 days. The other is Bob Fitch, who played left end with the national champions and is a tackle on the present team.

Iowa-Purdue Tilt May Be Aerial Show

Iowa's practice session last night gave indication that the Hawks' second attempt to win a Big Ten game may turn into a collision of two aerial juggernauts. Coach Clem Crowe again stressed pass defense, fearing the Boiler-maker attack which features freshman Bobby DeMoss in its star pitching role.

Meanwhile, Iowa's own passing game got a slight grooving, but attention was focused on the establishment of an effective ground gaining machine. A hearty scrimmage wound up the drills.

Crowe said the starting lineup probably will be unchanged from last week's game. Louis Ginsberg resumed his left guard post after missing one night's session with a cold.

In the backfield, Freshman Carl Bowen still held down his varsity fullback spot and Nelson Smith, right half, O'Brien Simons, left half, and Jerry Niles, quarter, still were the coaches' No. 1 choices.

Andy Novosad, reserve tackle, again missed practice with an attack of flu.

All hands got a thorough shot of dummy blocking and tackling before the scrimmage started. Later the coaches ordered play drills against "passive" opposition. Tommy Hand, newly arrived center, played with the second string behind bulky Ira Lund, regular pivot man.

Jack Kelso still worked with team backfield that included Wendell Weller at quarter, Paul Golden at right half and Herb Braun at fullback.

New Purdue Players

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Coach Cecil Isbell indicated yesterday that new faces will appear in his Purdue lineup when the Boiler-makers try for their fourth straight victory against Iowa Saturday.

Gordon Logan and Marvin Crowe, V-12 trainees, took over the guard spots in yesterday's defensive drill, and Ernie Dobrzykowski was at fullback. Isbell said all three might draw starting assignments.

Prep Hurls No-Hitter

HUBBARD (AP)—Gerald Gallagher turned in a no-hit pitching performance yesterday, as Eddyville dumped Ogden, 5 to 1, in a first round game in the state high school fall baseball tournament.

U High Stakes Long Record in Homecoming

University high's Rivermen will be shooting for their fourth straight victory of the season and their 25th win in 27 starts Friday afternoon when they meet Monticello on the practice field south of the Iowa stadium at 3:15. This enviable record has been compiled over a period of five years.

Starting with the final two contests in 1941, under the tutelage of Paul Breecher, the Blue Hawks went through two completely undefeated seasons in 1942 and 1943 and won their first five contests in 1944 to compile a 21-game winning streak.

'Waited 36 Years for Title,' Pants Happy Tiger Manager

WRIGLEY FIELD, Chicago (AP)—The greatest thrill in the life of Stephen Francis O'Neill of Minooka, Pa., proud and happy manager of the conquering Detroit Tigers, came to him at 4:01 yesterday at the age of 54.

At that moment, his victorious Tigers had presented O'Neill, up

Navy Center Selected Lineman of the Week

NEW YORK (AP)—A sophomore who lives on Army's doorstep but plays his football for the Navy is the lineman-of-the-week, selected in an Associated Press poll of sports writers across the nation.

He is Dick Scott, 21-year-old Middle center, who distinguished himself in Navy's 21-0, triumph over Duke last Saturday to win the acclaim of the experts, the praise of the coaches and the respect of his opponents.

Others who pressed Scott for top honors among the usually unending workhorses of the line included Warren Arling, Ohio State guard; Mac Wenskunas, Illinois center; Bob Fitch, Minnesota tackle; and Jim Kekeris, Missouri tackle.

Stark, Miller Work For Left Half Slot In City High Drills

Bob Devine, son of assistant coach Glenn Devine of the Iowa Hawkeyes was chosen to lead the Little Hawks in their conference battle with McKinley of Cedar Rapids Saturday. The veteran center is slated to captain City high in the Bear tilt since he has seen much service for the past three years, and has always been one of the squads best team men.

Coach Wally Schwank said yesterday the Hawkeyes would definitely make the Cedar Rapids trip without Bob Krall whose bruised arm is going to take some time to heal. Bill Condon, sub guard, also will not be available due to an attack of flu.

After the last ball was thrown, O'Neill first trotted over to the box occupied by Walter Briggs, owner of the Tigers, and his family near the Detroit dugout to congratulate him. Then he clattered up the concrete steps to the Tiger dressing room to join in the bedlam.

He found the tall blond New-houser quiet, as usual, but happy—particularly over the five runs his mates scored for him in the first inning.

"That was a great time to get them for me, wasn't it?" the lanky left-hander grinned.

Newhouser Sets Mark; Detroit Chases Borowy in First Inning

By GAYLE TALBOT

CHICAGO (AP)—Finishing like true champions, the Detroit Tigers slammed Hank Borowy from the mound before he could retire a batter in the seventh and deciding game of the 1945 world series at Wrigley field yesterday and went on to win from the Chicago Cubs, as they pleased, 9 to 3, behind Hal Newhouser's magnificent pitching.

Newhouser, chalking up his second victory of the record-breaking playoffs, fanned 10 batters and broke an all-time world series mark for seven games by running his total of strikeouts in the series to 22 against the previous best of 20 held by three other flingers.

Although the Cubs got to the tall left-hander for 10 hits, one more than the triumphant Tigers could manage off six assorted Chicago throwers, Newhouser stifled them in the clutches with his sweeping curve and fast ball and never permitted them to get in the ball game.

In fighting through to their first world title in 10 years the Tigers supplied a sad ending to Borowy's heroic efforts to pitch the Cubs to what would have been their maiden victory in the classic since 1908. The slim righthander, working in his third straight game with only a single day's rest, never had a chance to still the Bengal bats.

Sharing honors with Newhouser and helping him chill the hopes of 41,590 fans packed in the park was his battery mate, skinny Paul Richards of Waxahatchie, Tex., who drove across three runs with a mighty double in the champions' big five-run first inning and hammered another in with a two-bagger in the seventh.

In the final game the Tigers were dominant from the moment that Skeeter Webb, their lead-off man and Manager Steve O'Neill's son-in-law, drove a single to right in the first inning until Newhouser throttled the last Chicago gasp in the ninth.

Eddie Mayo followed Webb with a single into the same field, and when Doc Cramer dropped a single into left to score Webb with none out, Manager Charlie Grimm realized that he had called upon Borowy for a little more than the human frame would stand and brought in the veteran Paul Derringer from the bullpen.

Hank Greenberg, first batter to face Derringer, sacrificed the runners along, and then Rudy Cullenbine was passed purposely, filling the bases. When Rudy York popped to Stan Hack it looked like the Cubs might escape serious damage, but it was not to be. Jimmy Outlaw worked Derringer for a walk, forcing Mayo across and leaving the sacks loaded, and Richards came through with a tremendous clout into the left field corner to bring everybody home.

Newhouser, ninth Detroit to bat, finally ended the shambles with an infield out, but by that time the game was wrapped up. The Cubs got the first of their three runs in their half of the first on Don Johnson's double and Phil Cavarretta's single, but the Tigers came right back to match it in the second when Derringer went completely wild and walked three straight batters after Cramer had produced his second hit of the day, a single into right field.

Derringer was derailed after his walking spree in the second and for the next three and one-third innings Hy Vandenberg pitched excellent ball, allowing the Tigers only one hit and whiffing three men before he gave way to a pinchhitter in the Cubs' fifth.

Chicago reduced its deficit to 6-2 with a run in the fourth on Cavarretta's single through the box and Andy Parko's triple over Cramer's head in centerfield.

The Tigers made it 7-2 in the seventh off Paul Erickson, fourth Cubs' hurler, when Cullenbine drew a walk and scored all the way from first on Richard's clout.

to the wall in right. They made it 9-2 in the eighth when Claude Passeau yielded a walk and a double by Eddie Mayo and Hank Greenberg produced a long fly to left on which Mayo scored.

Greenberg, around whom the big argument swirled after Monday's game, could contribute no more than a sacrifice and a couple of walks to the final Tiger victory. It was learned that he had injured his right wrist late in the Monday conflict.

Newhouser's record-tying 20th strikeout and his 21st, the record-break for a seven-game series, helped pull him out of a mild jam in the eighth, when the Bruins scored their final run. With one down, Lowrey and Cavarretta ranged successive singles to bring the great crowd hopefully to its feet.

In the end, as he had figured to do, Newhouser proved the outstanding player of the series. Lefty Hal was knocked from the box in the opening game, but came back to pitch two superb victories where they were most needed, in the fifth game on Sunday and again yesterday.

You know, there is a revised student government on campus and this year it has adopted an entirely new constitution. This concerns each and everyone of you so it is up to you to know all there is to know about it. You will have this opportunity today at 12:45 when Gordon Christiansen, president of the Student Council, will be interviewed over WSUI on the "Views and Interviews" broadcast.

"America's Town Meeting" has scheduled its discussion topics for mid-November. Questions slated for debate include "Should We Agree to Russia's Demands on the Settlement of Territorial Questions?" "Should Control of the Atomic Bomb Be Turned Over to the United Nations?" "Are Local Party Organizations an Asset to Democracy?" "Can We Find a Substitute for Strikes?" and "Do We Need a Large Peacetime Army and Navy?" The first subject on the list will be discussed tonight over NBC via KXEL to us at 7:30.

At 7:45 tonight E. E. Kline, area director for the United States Employment service will discuss "Disabled Employees" with local businessmen. This is a special interview presented by WSUI. WSUI also introduces a new series of programs presented by the American Legion auxiliary at 2 p. m. on Thursdays. Today's drama is "He's Coming Home."

strychnine to get rid of some rats or mice which had been making noise at night and keeping her awake.

He added that after giving the bottle of poison to his wife, he did not see it again until the day after its suspension. In her testimony, Mrs. Lewis said that Fred gave her the poison and after mixing some dough containing strychnine, he put the bottle on a ledge in the basement. "Fred did not know where it was," she said.

She continued that she baked the dough and put pieces of it under the unexcavated part of the house. No dead rats or mice were found by either Mr. or Mrs. Lewis.

When the Lewises had learned of his suspension, Mrs. Lewis got the bottle and went to the city hall to talk to Mayor Teeters. Later Lewis talked with the mayor.

Describes Scene
Lewis described the scene when Police Chief White notified him of his suspension. "When he showed me the paper, I said that I had expected it; that it was not a surprise to me." He explained that he had heard rumors about his being accused of poisoning Mrs. Dalton's dog only a short time before Police Chief White notified him.

relations between him and Mrs. Dalton had always been neighborly except for the dog. He said that he had complained about the dog's activities in running about his yard, making dirt, upsetting the garbage can, digging holes and barking "but it just didn't seem to do any good," he remarked.

He admitted that he had told her that the dog would get in trouble if he continued bothering Lewis and his property. "I told her that I would shoot the dog just to frighten her into keeping the dog inside," he said.

"kill," "destroy," "poison" or "get rid of"

in connection with the dog," Lewis asserted. "I did say 'shoot' and that one morning when I was angry I would have shot the dog but I would never have done anything that the law would not protect me on."

Other persons testifying at last night's session of the hearing were Police Judge Knox and Aaron Marpel, 610 E. Jefferson street. Marpel said that the Dalton dog had annoyed him by digging in his garden and upsetting his garbage can.

The commissioners will resume the hearing at 7:30 p. m. today.

City High to Present 'Sweethearts'-Victor Herbert Comic Opera

The City high school music department will present "Sweethearts," a Victor Herbert comic opera, on Nov. 15 and 16 at the high school auditorium.

The opera, the second Victor Herbert production given by the school is sponsored by the Iowa City high school music auxiliary, of which Mrs. Robert Mott is president.

Ansel C. Martin, head of the vocal music department, will be in charge of the dramatic and vocal direction, and William Gower will direct the instrumental music. The cast and committees of the two act opera will be announced soon.

The book and lyrics of "Sweethearts" are by Harry B. Smith and Fred de Gresac. The music is by Herbert.
