Pierre Laval Meets Death By Execution

Attempt at Suicide By Former Premier Proves Unsuccessful

PARIS (AP)—The stormy political career of Pierre Laval, three-time premier of France, came to a dramatic end yesterday when he was shot as a traitor after trying unsuccessfully to take his own life.

Before he was led to the execution ground, Laval attempted to cheat the firing squad by taking poison, but in this, as in many other things, the swartzy chief of government in the Vichy regime failed.

Four hours later, in the courtyard of Fresnes prison, his life was ended by a pistol shot through the temple after he had been brought to his knees by a volley from an execution squad of 12 riflemen.

Laval's Last Words
Just before the volley was fired Laval, condemned for intelligence with the enemy and endangering the security of the state, turned to the judges of the high court of justice which had tried him.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I simply want to tell you that I'm sorry for you and for your having carried out such a piece of work." His last words were "vive la France." He fell forward dead at 12:32 p. m.

His body was immediately placed in a waiting coffin and loaded on a hearse. Accompanied by a few officials and newspapermen, the hearse drove directly to the cemetery where the recently executed Vichy Militia Chief, Joseph Darnand, was buried.

His dramatic suicide attempt occurred in his cell at the old Fresnes prison when Prosecutor Andre Morinet entered to inform him that clemency had been refused.

He quickly swallowed the contents of a phial of poison which he explained in a note he had been concealing a long time for such an emergency.

While physicians worked over him, using a stomach pump and giving him injections to keep him alive, a prison chaplain administered the last rites.

Officials had decided, meanwhile, not to take him to the Fort de Chantillon, two and a half miles away, where preparations for the execution had been made. Instead they shifted the firing squad to the Fresnes prison.

Police offered to carry him to the execution stake in a chair, but he refused. He walked between Baraduc and another of his attorneys, Albert Naud.

After the execution and burial, Baraduc said he and Albert Naud, another defense attorney, drove back to Paris to break the news to Madame Laval who was waiting in her daughter's apartment, behind the chamber of deputies.

Takes Poison
Baraduc, who was with Laval from the time he was discovered poisoned until the time he reached the execution stake, gave the graphic account of the former premier's last hour.

"As we entered the cell Morinet went in first. Laval was lying in bed facing the wall, with his hand to his forehead. We heard him hiccupping and suspected something serious. Apparently he had taken poison when he heard the footsteps of our large crowd in the corridors.

"A stomach pump was brought in and they worked on his unconscious form with that and with emetics until 10 o'clock. Several times they tried to make him vomit.

"At 10 o'clock he regained consciousness and recognized two of us.

"Then he asked for, and was given, the final rites.

"He refused to be helped going out. Two of us got into the police wagon with him, the prison chaplain and two mobile guards. We drove to an empty lot immediately behind the prison. The prison windows were crowded with inmates shouting at the guards. They were yelling 'murderers.'

Ed Sulek Determined To Live 100 Years

One hundred years of age is the goal of Ed Sulek, county auditor for the last 29 years, who wants to beat the record set by his great-grandfather who lived to be 99 years and eight months old.

Sulek, who at 71 still reads without glasses, attributes his good health to the fact that he started dancing at the age of 15 and still enjoys waltzes, polkas and square dances.

Sulek studied law at the University of Iowa from 1904 to 1906 and has been with the county auditor's office since 1915.

Airforce Requests 85 Bases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Air Forces has recommended the retention of 85 flying fields, depots, hospitals and other establishments.

Making public the list yesterday, the war department said the recommended plan is confined to stations housing combat tactical units and major depots, hospitals and establishments of the supporting services.

It does not, the department said, include: 1. Flying fields and subsidiary and auxiliary establishments of lesser magnitude which are now under consideration;

2. Flying fields for the organized reserve and national guard air units, or those included in the army airways system.

The recommendations for retention were made after more than two months of study by a board of senior commanders and staff officers.

"The publication of this list does not imply final war department action or that all other stations and facilities are instantly abandoned," a department statement said.

"The demobilization process will be a continuing and graduated one, as the army airforces cuts back from its overall wartime size of more than 2,300,000 men to its postwar size as later determined by the congress."

The stations recommended for retention, by type, include: Combat units: Rapid City (S. D.) army air base; Kearney, (Neb.) army air field.

Air transport and troop carrier units: Sedalia army air field, Knobnoster, Mo.

Britain's Dock Strike Expected to Break

LONDON (AP)—Britain's most widespread dock strike in 20 years will end before Thursday, a high union official predicted last night.

Yesterday, however, 4,000 troops were on duty at docks throughout the country, unloading badly needed food supplies and preparing military stores for shipment to the far east.

Quits in Argentina

AFTER RULING Argentina with an iron hand for more than two years, President Edelmir Farrell, nominal head of the dictatorship that ran the country, has surrendered his government to the people. He accepted an ultimatum given him by a group of army and navy officers.

Allies Sentence Nazi Murderers

WIESBADEN, Germany (AP)—An American military tribunal last night condemned three men to death and sentenced three others to long prison terms for the murder of more than 400 Russians and Poles at Hadamar insane asylum.

Condemned to die were Alfons Klein, former administrative head of the murder asylum and a former member of both the S. A. and Nazi party; Heinrich Ruoff and Karl Willig, asylum attendants who administered deadly doses of morphine to hundreds of victims.

Adolf Wahlmann, chief medical officer at the institution was sentenced to life imprisonment at hard labor. Adolf Merkle, who admitted falsifying death certificates to make it appear that the victims died of lung diseases, received a prison sentence of 39 years, and Philipp Blum, the institution's undertaker, got 30 years, both at hard labor.

Irmgard Huber, chief nurse at the asylum and only woman defendant, was sentenced to 25 years imprisonment.

In a final plea for the defendants, before the court retired to deliberate their fate, four German attorneys based their arguments on the premise that the six men and one woman were the innocent tools of the Hitler regime. They maintained the defendants had only been following orders in administering the fatal doses to the unfortunate inmates.

Schwellenbach Issues Report Of Failure to Settle Coal Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach said last night the government effort to settle the widespread soft coal strike had collapsed but government seizure of idle mines is not in immediate prospect.

Schwellenbach told reporters that he had adjourned the eight-day conference of John L. Lewis, representing the United Mine workers, and mine operators indefinitely. He said he had done this after the operators rejected five separate proposals for settlement. The way was left open, however, by the labor secretary to resume negotiations if disputing parties should find some common ground. Schwellenbach said he himself might think of another proposal to offer, and in that case would ask the parties to convene again.

Lewis' Demand
The controversy is over the demand of Lewis for recognition of between 28,000 and 50,000 foremen, supervisory employes in the mines. Lewis wants the companies to recognize his United Mine Workers as bargaining agent for these workers, whom the mine owners contend are part of their management force.

The effort to solve this point, long a stalemate in the industry, produced five separate offers in the negotiations over which secretary Schwellenbach has presided. Schwellenbach listed the five, which he said had been all rejected by the operators and all but two accepted by Lewis, as follows:

Five Offers
1. The original proposal of Lewis to get the miners back to work if the operators would agree to negotiate the foremen's issue.

2. The reservation of the operators to this proposal—the reservation being accepted by the operators of the plan would not constitute in itself a recognition of Lewis' foremen's union.

3. A proposal of Schwellenbach that instead of operators' reservation he write an "interpretive letter" specifying that negotiations would not constitute recognition.

4. Still another Schwellenbach proposal that none of the parties would sign any agreement but would abide by separate letters which the labor secretary would write asking them, at the behest of the government, to resolve their dispute by negotiation.

5. A third proposal by Schwellenbach providing for a written agreement between the United Mine workers foremen's union, which had figured in the other proposals and the mine operators. This was designed to keep the foremen's union out of the proposed written pacts.

Labor Government Receives Extension Of Wartime Controls

LONDON (AP)—The house of commons, beating off a vigorous attack by the Conservative opposition, last night voted 258 to 139 to extend the Labor government's wartime controls for five years.

Earlier the house had rejected 306 to 183 a Conservative party amendment limiting the wartime controls to a maximum of two years.

The controls give the government broad powers over the nation's economic life, even to the virtual drafting of labor.

Under its authority men were sent into the mines. Any person seeking work must register with the labor exchange and take whatever job is offered.

They extend to the regulation of prices of food, clothing, labor, building materials, cafe meals and other services and permit the government to requisition housing.

Authority also is provided to direct factories to certain kinds of work.

Former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who led the vigorous Conservative fight in the absence of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill who is ill, declared during the debate that the powers asked by the Labor government "are such as no government has ever before asked for in times of peace."

Lack of Transportation Slows Redeployment
PARIS (AP)—Lack of shipping space has retarded by nearly a month the army's redeployment program to remove from Europe all but occupation and liquidation troops, army headquarters said yesterday.

The announcement said that transportation for 221,900 men will be provided if the army's goal of only 707,000 to be left in Europe is to be reached by the previously announced date of Jan. 1.

'CONCHIE' GETS CHIEF'S CONGRATS

ONLY CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR ever to win the Congressional Medal of Honor, Cpl. Desmond T. Doss, Lynchburg, Va., smiles as he receives a handshake from Chief of Staff, Gen. George C. Marshall, in the capital. A medical corpsman, Doss was wounded twice while saving the lives of buddies on Guam, Leyte, and Okinawa.

Marines to Evacuate North China Soon

CHUNGKING (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek announced at his first postwar press conference yesterday that United States marines would be withdrawn from north China "very soon" and expatriate confidence Soviet forces in Manchuria would be withdrawn in accordance with provisions of the recently concluded Russo-Chinese treaty.

Chiang said he would leave it to Foreign Minister Wang Shih-Chieh to answer the question whether China and France would sign a treaty concerning northern Indo-China similar to the Anglo-French pact concerning southern Indo-China. He added, however:

"Conditions which face Britain in Indo-China are not exactly similar to those which face China."

Chiang said United States marines would leave north China, as soon as they were relieved by Chinese central government forces.

The marines were sent into north China recently to help Chinese authorities to disarm surrendering Japanese troops.

The generalissimo put a damper on persistent rumors that the government in Chungking soon would move north to the old capital of Peiping. He said his government is not considering such a shift, but it would be reestablished at Nanking when conditions become normal.

Alliance Has Milk Shortage

ALLIANCE, Neb. (AP)—Mayor Walter Jones yesterday issued a proclamation calling upon restaurateurs and soda fountains to stop serving milk to adults to assure an adequate supply for infants and the sick in this town of about 8,000.

The proclamation was issued after retail milk dealers met with the city council. The dealers pledged their cooperation.

The mayor said a central depot may be provided where mothers with babies can register for milk.

Alliance's milk shortage, a cause of concern for several weeks, was aggravated yesterday when the large dairy herd of Louis Powell, chief source of supply, went on the auction block. Powell said he was selling out because of lack of help and the low price of milk.

Jones said many farmers find it unprofitable to milk cows when other farm products pay much better, and that those who do sell milk sell the cream and feed the leftover skim milk to their calves and hogs.

Dealers said the harm was done three or four years ago when the cows were sold as farm help went to the army, and that no adequate relief will come for two or three years, when dairy herds can be built up again.

Senate Finance Committee Begins Work On Provisions of Tax Reduction Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sentiment for riddling from the tax reduction bill its provisions for a cut next July 1 in "luxury" taxes was evidenced yesterday as the senate finance committee began work on the house-approved measure.

The proposed drop from $9 to $6 a gallon in tax on liquor came under particular fire.

Senator Taft (R., Ohio) told his colleagues he could see no justification for it unless it was argued that the wartime rate was so high it could not be collected in peace.

This cut also was questioned by Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.). Senator Connally (D., Tex.) suggested it might be well to postpone action on all excise levies until next year when a broader tax bill is considered.

The exchange over the excise taxes was purely informal and it was evident there were few "firm conclusions" in the committee on that issue.

It came during a general explanation of the house bill by Colin Stam, congressional tax expert, after the committee earlier had heard Secretary Vinson hold

MacArthur Hails Event In Broadcast

Jap Demobilization Complete Six Weeks After Surrender

TOKYO, Tuesday (AP)—Proclaiming the formal completion of Japan's demobilization, General MacArthur said today it was unique in history and that Japan "no longer reckons as a world power, either large or small."

The dissolution of the once arrogant and victorious forces of the empire was accomplished without fanfare and right on its Oct. 15 schedule, only six weeks after the Japanese surrender in Tokyo bay. It was the end of a long and brutal cycle.

MacArthur, supreme Allied commander of the occupation forces, in a worldwide broadcast commemorating the event, hailed it as "extraordinarily difficult and dangerous," yet accomplished with unprecedented ease and speed and without the firing of a shot.

Ways Of Peace
"Henceforth, he said, Japan's path in the future, if it is to survive, must be confined to the ways of peace."

For the first time in their tumultuous history, these islands were without an armed combat force, and already political figures were moving to effect the democratic revolutionary changes in national life dictated by the conquering Allies.

Nearly 4,000,000 soldiers and sailors in Nippon have been quietly dismissed and sent home.

Some 3,800,000 others overseas have been mostly stripped of their weapons—except in a few cases where they are serving Allied purposes—and are being slowly brought back to Japan. The process will require an estimated three years, due to shortage of transportation.

Thirty-thousand navy men are remaining on duty to man the home-bound shipping.

A few thousand of the army and navy here will remain on active duty, serving the Allies.

The last equipment should be in American hands early in November.

Civilian Agencies
The once great and proud army and navy ministries as of today became civilian agencies, known merely as "ministries for demobilization." The officers and men who remain still wear their uniforms solely because they have no other clothing and can get none. They retain no insignia and are known only as "liaison officers for demobilization."

The anti-climatic end of a military machine which for years had made all Asia shudder came even as new evidence was disclosed of the bloodthirsty methods it employed.

This was the use of living Allied prisoners as bayonet practice targets—an atrocity often reported in the past, but now fully confirmed by General MacArthur's headquarters.

A report from the hitherto-secret Allied translation and interrogation section uncovered evidence of one such atrocity on Guadalcanal, where Allied officer prisoners were forced to stand for six and one-half hours and watch Japanese troops slash and stab the writhing bodies of two Europeans and one Eurasian.

Prisoners Paraded
The report said enlisted prisoners were paraded past the scene periodically.

The same report contained accounts of similar bayoneting of living prisoners in China between March, 1941, and October, 1943, along with swift Chinese reprisals which caused some Japanese officers to abolish the practice in terror.

A special five-day session of the diet (parliament) will open this week to study the MacArthur program for reform of the nation, the Domei agency said.

Another session in December will consider revision of the election laws, one of MacArthur's demands. Revision of the constitution already was being studied, and all political activities were increasing.

SEVERAL HUNDRED STUDENTS ATTEND ORIENTATION TEA

Editorials:

What Does Student Government Actually Mean?

Many challenges for achieving glorious goals lie ahead of a student body which has at the fore an effective student council, but these challenges are in such ill-defined terms that often they are misleading.

Self-government, for instance, doesn't mean that the university administration will be obliged to get the approval of the Student Council before it can put a new ruling concerning social activities into effect.

And democracy doesn't mean that in the event of an honest difference of opinion between the president of the university and the president of the Student Council the matter will be submitted to a vote of the student body and the faculty.

For those reasons, persons who expect to use the Student Council as an instrument for overriding an irksome administrative regulation are the greatest threat to the success of the student movement here.

We must not forget that the real purpose of a Student Council is to provide an organization through which students and the administration can work together for a better university.

To date the present Student Council personnel, solely through the commendable discretion of its own leaders, has been able to skirt the dangers of petty bickerings. But it may not always be able to do so.

In due time some individuals or organizations on the campus will be able to muster enough strength to apply pressure on the Student Council to make all or part of the Council take issue with the university on a matter which the Council knows is not within its jurisdiction.

That would be much like the government of the state of Iowa opposing, instead of cooperating with, the federal government. In the end, Iowa could hope to gain little, for federal regulations are supreme. And in the fight, Iowa would have wasted much effort that could have been spent elsewhere.

The Student Council, after all, is in a position where its relationship to the university is very similar to Iowa's relationship to the federal government.

The Council's powers are derived differently than a state's powers. But like a state, the Council's function is to attend to the welfare of a certain group of people under its jurisdiction.

Just as a state government is not organized to obtain concessions or to allow liberty without responsibility, the Council can not attempt to demand that the university administration suddenly revise its curriculum, abandon 8 o'clock classes, etc.

But that doesn't mean the Council isn't to make strong representation to the university administration on extra-curricular matters where there is a pre-dominant student interest.

The Council might ask that the system of planning all-university parties be revised. (This is only an example). Or it might request that the university make stronger efforts to solve the problem of housing married veterans.

The university administration, we believe, will readily acknowledge that students have every right to be heard on such matters and that students' suggestions often bring laudable benefits.

President Hancher already has shown the value he places on student ideas and participation by handing to them a large part of the Homecoming and Dad's day celebration plans. It is by working together on these little, but by no means unimportant, matters that the Council and the administration can later work together on larger matters.

Most students recognize that the purpose of the Council is to cooperate with the administration in making an even greater university.

There have been a few students—including one or two members of the Council—who have said, in private, that now that Iowa has a Student Council it can tell the administration where to "head in" if necessary. But by far the great majority of the students realize that that is not the Council's purpose. And that realization is a healthy sign of greater things to come.

From All Around The State

GRUNDY CENTER (AP)—Lieut. Col. Harvey Tschirgi, Grundy Center's highest ranking officer, has been awarded the legion of merit by President Truman, it was reported here yesterday. The award was for service with the marines in the Pacific. His wife and children live here; he is stationed in China.

DES MOINES (AP)—The state bureau of labor reported yesterday a decline of 4.1 percent in September from the previous month's employment in 412 Iowa firms. The decline was 9.6 percent, compared with the same month last year. Weekly payrolls of 388 firms last month totaled $2,782,062 the average weekly wage was $40.38, an increase of 4.3 percent over August.

MASON CITY (AP)—A stray bullet hit Jimmy Marker, 16, in the chest while he was playing golf last Sunday. Hospital attendants said yesterday his condition was good, and police were searching for the person who fired the shot.

SOUTH ENGLISH (AP)—The sounding of a burglar alarm foiled an attempted robbery early yesterday of the White State bank of South English. The burglars, who gained entrance to the building by cutting a hole in the back door, took nothing, Cashier H. M. Price said. Sheriff Earl Tremmel was investigating.

MARTENSDALE (AP)—The failure of an East Chicago, Ind., driver to stop his car at a stop sign, sent him and his two companions to a Des Moines hospital with severe injuries, Sheriff Lewis Johnson said yesterday. The car collided with a truck. Injured were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin E. Donnelly and Mrs. Paul Hubaray, also of East Chicago. Donald Newton of Winterset, driver of the truck, was not injured.

INDIANOLA (AP)—Mrs. E. L. Cain of Leon was killed yesterday and her husband suffered a skull fracture in the collision of their car and a truck on a bridge near here. Authorities said Paul Hohl, Des Moines, was driver of the truck. He escaped with bruises.

BURLINGTON (AP)—Burglars broke open a safe at the Western Union office here and escaped Sunday Night with $159. Entrance was gained by forcing a back window.

DES MOINES (AP)—The appointment of Allen R. Shepherd, Des Moines, as Iowa district OPA enforcement attorney was announced yesterday by Walter D. Kline, district director. He succeeds George O'Malley, resigned.

ELDORA (AP)—District Judge Paul McCoid of Mount Pleasant will rule before 10 a. m. tomorrow on a motion to set aside second degree murder indictments against Harold Nelson and Carl Klatt and an assault indictment against Nelson, Hardin County Attorney D. W. Dickinson said last night.

Arguments on the motion consumed most of a day-long court session.

Indictment of Nelson and Klatt, former guards at the Eldora state training school for boys, followed investigation of conditions at the school by a special Hardin county grand jury.

A motion by Jen Grothe, special assistant attorney general assigned to the Eldora cases, for a change of venue from Hardin county also was argued yesterday. Dickinson said whether it is granted would depend upon Judge McCoid's ruling in the motion to set aside the Nelson and Klatt indictments.

The former guards, along with Darrell T. Brown, former assistant school superintendent, and H. J. Martin, former dean of boys, also face conspiracy indictments, which are scheduled to be answered when the four men are arraigned today.

O. S. Von Kroeg, former superintendent, charged with conspiracy, pleaded innocent last week. He has been granted a separate trial, date of which has not been set.

DES MOINES (AP)—Attainment of one billion dollars worth of life insurance in force was announced yesterday by the Bankers Life company of Des Moines. Reached after 66 years of operations, the company said the one billion dollars represented protection for more than 300,000 policyholders. The company said further this meant the firm is the largest financial institution in Iowa and the largest insurance company west of the Mississippi river.

TRAER (AP)—The Rev. Fred C. Patterson, pastor of the Mesquac Indian congregation of Tama, was elected moderator at the 86th annual session of the United Presbyterian synod of Iowa, held here.

Republican Leaders Conduct Party Survey

MICHIGAN SENATOR Leading Possibility For Presidential Race

CHICAGO (AP)—The Republican party's official publication, "The Republican," said yesterday a survey of "grass roots" GOP leaders showed Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan as the party's leading possibility for the 1948 presidential race.

Based on replies from 4,249 Republican county chairmen, state committee members and other local Republicans throughout the country, the magazine's poll showed Vandenberg's popularity had increased 40 percent compared with a 1943 survey, mainly because of his stand on foreign policy.

Other GOP presidential possibilities who ranked high in the poll included John W. Bricker, former Ohio governor and 1944 presidential candidate; Navy Commander Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor; Senator Everett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Gov. Earl Warren of California.

Also mentioned as 1948 contenders for the GOP nomination were Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; Herbert Hoover, former president; Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio; Eric Johnston of Washington; Alfred M. Landon of Kansas, former GOP presidential candidate; Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire; Gov. Dwight Griswold of Nebraska; Justice Harold Burton of Ohio, and Gov. Dwight Green of Illinois.

Dewey Showed Loss

Of the 14 possible candidates offered local party leaders across the country, Governor Dewey showed the greatest loss of popularity since the previous poll, losing 13 percent in the proportion agreeing with his views on domestic issues.

Despite this loss, the magazine said, Dewey continues to be among the top five of the 14 leaders, ranking third on domestic issues and fourth on foreign policy.

Former President Hoover ranked fourth on domestic issues and third on foreign policy, the Republican said, adding that his position with the "rank and file" leadership of the party had remained more nearly constant than that of any other leader since previous polls.

The publication said its survey showed Bricker's position on domestic issues led in popularity in the current survey in all sections of the country excepting the east, where Stassen led. Vandenberg led in the popularity of his stand on foreign policy in all areas excepting the south, where Bricker was ahead.

American Municipal Association Reports Widespread Use of DDT in Disease Control

Widespread use of DDT insecticide by American cities for extermination of harmful insects and disease control was reported yesterday by the American Municipal Association.

Some city officials, the report said, termed results "marvelous." Most, however, hesitated to draw early conclusions about the effectiveness of DDT.

The medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has warned that spraying of Rockford, Ill.; Savannah, Ga.; Paterson, N. J.; and New Haven, Conn., in an attempt to prevent spread of polio epidemics was strictly an experiment.

The Boston, Mass., health commissioner reported on Sept. 26 that since the polio-infested Manhattan-Hyde park district of Boston was hand-sprayed with DDT on Aug. 29 not a single new case of the disease had been reported. He indicated hand-spraying may be the reason for the successful results. Other communities were sprayed from airplanes.

Both hand and airplane spraying have been used to combat a polio epidemic in Miami and Dade county, Fla. The mosquito control director reported results of aerial spraying under favorable weather conditions was 100 percent effective.

Disaccreditation Date For Correspondents Delayed One Month SHANGHAI (AP)—Lieut. Gen. George Stratmeyer, expressing regret at a misunderstanding with war correspondents, late yesterday extended the deadline for their disaccreditation until Nov. 15. It originally had been set for midnight last night. The acting commander of the China theater arrived here yesterday after transferring his headquarters from Chungking.

He met two dozen correspondents to discuss the situation which had led them to file vigorous protests over the "rush act" in discrediting them while there was still considerable army news to cover in this theater. Stratmeyer, noting that General MacArthur had set a disaccreditation date of Oct. 27 for Tokyo, extended his own deadline to Nov. 15.

A Lesson From London

The Big Five ministers who wanted to keep their London negotiations secret so that there wouldn't be any misleading, sensational stories in the press have found that the stories now coming to the public about the conference are worse than if some irresponsible press representatives had had access to all the information.

As usual such press secrecy is harmful to the public. And this time, it also has backfired on the men who thought they should protect themselves by keeping newspapermen out of the meetings. Now, the ministers wish they hadn't.

Jimmy Byrnes, for instance, has been making statements which newspapermen in London and Washington interpret as trying to place the blame for the press secrecy on anyone but himself. Whether or not he wanted the press excluded—and we think he didn't—he doesn't want anyone to believe he did.

Whoever was responsible for keeping the press out of the Big Five meetings must be able to see now that he was wrong in his judgment. We have seen the irresponsible press come out with all sorts of twisted, confusing stories of what happened behind those closed doors.

Here's what usually happens at important conferences from which the press is excluded: Unable to get information from the official sources, a newspaperman will corner one of his friends who is on the "inside" and ask for some details.

The friend naturally gives his own views on what is happening, with the result that the story has a "slant" which we in America deplore about the press of Europe. Moreover the friend probably doesn't have all the information, with the result that the story poses many questions which can not be answered. Thus the public gets only half the facts, and this sometimes is worse than getting none of them.

Now Americans are wondering—suspiciously—why Russia wants the concessions she asked for. And we wonder the same thing about Britain.

Perhaps there are justifiable reasons for the Russian and the British stands. But if there are, we don't know about them because the eyes and ears of our nation—the press—was kept out of the conference meetings.

Of course we don't believe that each of these peace negotiation meetings should be aired in detail, with minor disagreements publicized as major break-ups among the Big Five. But we do want to have a truthful account of what is happening—not a twisted "inside" story.

Maybe the Big Five learned a lesson in London. We hope they did, and we hope that from now on, the press will be permitted to serve its functions.

Covering The Capital

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—The Washington grapevine, that sprawling creeper that feeds mostly on the juice of its own sour grapes, has it that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower soon will make another trip home and at that time a group of Republican leaders will offer him the 1948 presidential nomination.

This in itself isn't earth-shaking. The possibility already has been kicked all over the place.

Coupled, however, with the haste with which senate Republicans rushed to the defense of Gen. Douglas MacArthur after the state department took him to task, the rumor takes on significance.

The significance is that GOP leaders aren't satisfied with any of the immediate prospects on the home front and are spreading the welcome mat for both of our greatest war heroes.

It's no secret that in spite of the length of time before the 1948 elections and the certainty that political winds will shift many times before then, Republican weathermen are plenty worried over the popularity of President Truman.

What the Republicans know they will need to do is to balance the other side of the ticket with a man whose popularity is as great or greater and whose ability as a leader is apparent.

Who could come closer to filling that bill than the hero of the western front or the top man on the march up the road to Tokyo?

Looking back down the years, the Republicans note that every war in our history except World War I has produced a hero president. Three of these, Washington, Jackson and William Henry Harrison, were before the time of the Republican party. Of the two since the Civil war, Grant was elected for two terms and talked strongly for a third; Theodore Roosevelt served almost four years of one term, was elected to a second, and still had enough power left in 1912 to tear the party to pieces when it went against his wishes.

Those are precedents that can't be overlooked, and the situation following World War I doesn't disprove the rule at all. In 1920, and in succeeding election years until 1932, the Republicans didn't need a hero and the Democrats couldn't find one.

Both MacArthur and Eisenhower have unequivocally denied any political aspirations, which is easy enough to do in answer to a press conference question and in no way dishonest. Having the nomination urged upon them with an appeal to their patriotic duty to serve their country further would be a horse of another color.

Observers here are positive that Republican leaders will concentrate on Eisenhower first as the more likely vote-getter of the two. In any event, on his next visit to the United States, the political pulse-takers will be at his heels constantly.

Liberated Philippine Missionary to Speak On War Experiences

The Rev. Leo G. McAfee, for 22 years a missionary in the Philippines, will speak Thursday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol at 8 p. m. Under the auspices of the school of religion, Father McAfee will talk on "The Philippines Under the Japanese."

During the war, Father McAfee was interned in a Japanese prison camp.

Father McAfee's work before the Japanese occupation was among the Tirurai tribe of Mindanao, and dates back to 1923. Numbering about 17 thousand, the Tirurais are one of the most promising pagan tribes of Mindanao. The Paganism clergyman's work centers at Upi and has seven outstations. Work is difficult, isolated, and done under most primitive conditions. There is no other American religious work done in the entire region.

A question period will follow Father McAfee's talk, to which the public is invited.

SUITS—COLLEGE CLASSICS

BRUSHING UP ON the "book learning" before class are Pauline Ellis, A2 of Park Ridge, N. J., and Ginger McDonald, A1 of Lima, Ohio. Pauline is wearing a teal blue and white plaid wool tailored suit. Her jacket is fashioned with large patch pockets over either hip, and the skirt has box pleats in front and back. Her outfit is completed with a white pique dickey with a high rounded neckline trimmed with a bow. Ginger favors a black and white checked wool suit, designed along dressmaker lines. The skirt is cut with a single kick pleat in front and back. Her outfit is set off with a tailored white rayon crepe blouse with a pointed collar which fastens with pearl buttons.

Campus or Date Wear—'Suit the Occasion'

Indian summer has lent itself as the keynote for suit selection by university women this fall. While many a coed chooses her suit with an eye to competition with the array exhibited by Mother Nature, others prefer the more subtle tones which blend softly with the vivid hues of autumn.

Sunlight through red-gold foliage subtly enhances the modish suit worn by Eleanor Gates, J4 of Kingsley. Her suit is of light grey flecked wool gabardine, fashioned with dolman sleeves merging into a broad-shouldered effect and accentuated in the back by V-shaped stitching from the shoulders to the middle. Rolled lapels may be folded back from the tapered neckline to the jacket hem. The jacket is completed with a rolled belt, attached from the inner seams, which ties loosely in front. The straight skirt with four gores has a single button at the middle-front belt band where the covered zipper placket blends into a single tucked pleat. A shell pink blouse, designed with short sleeves, a high round neckline, fine rows of tucking down the front, and tiny white buttons down the back, completes Eleanor's ensemble.

Jean Dawson, A2 of Des Moines, has chosen a brown and white checked wool for her sport outfit. The suit jacket is trimmed with brown piping and cut with a cardigan neckline. The skirt is fashioned with three box pleats in back and front. With her suit Jean wears a white silk blouse with lace trimmed neckline and small pearl buttons down the back.

Seeking to outdo the brilliant shades of fall is Pat Doran, A3 of Kingsley, who wears a dressmaker suit of fuchsia wool. The jacket is accentuated with stitching over either shoulder and above the hip pockets which are designed with inverted flaps. Three large black plastic buttons are its chief elaboration. The gored skirt is cut along straight lines with a single tucked pleat in front. With her suit Pat wears a black silk crepe blouse fashioned with cap sleeves, a high rounded neckline gathered in a bow. Large round pearl buttons adorn the front and gathers from the collar band give added fullness to the blouse.

A steel grey wool gabardine suit is the choice of June Macabee, A3 of Decatur, Ill. The straight skirt is cut with a single kick pleat in back and in front. The jacket is fashioned with slash hip pockets and imitation pockets below either shoulder. Three tiny grey buttons trim the sleeve cuffs. A rose colored V-necked blouse of silk crepe trimmed with pearl buttons sets off June's outfit.

Pat Hanson, A3 of Decorah, wears a dress suit of navy wool gabardine, designed with modified dolman sleeves, tapering to semi-fitted cuff bands. The jacket is bloused in back and fitted at the waistline. The bloused effect in front is produced by loose pleats over the shoulder. The jacket snaps at the waistline to be worn straight or the lapels can be rolled back to the hem. A tie belt extends from rolled gabardine buttons placed at the inner seams of the jacket, fashioned with a square neckline and roll-back lapels. The straight skirt has four gores. Pat wears a chartreuse blouse of silk crepe, cut with cap sleeves, high round neckline, and fastened with pearl buttons in the back.

Designed strictly to blend with Indian summer skies is the blue gabardine suit worn by Bette Jo Phelan, A3 of Mason City. The jacket is fashioned with dolman sleeves, cardigan neckline, turn-back lapels, and a double rolled tie belt set at either inner seam. She wears a straight, paneled suit skirt. An added attraction to her ensemble is the watermelon colored blouse of silk crepe, designed with a jabot and trimmed with pearl buttons down the front.

Marge Victor, A3 of Ackley, favors her egg shell suit of wool gabardine, cut along dressmaker lines and trimmed with matching buttons. The skirt is cut with a single box pleat in front and in back, stitched from the belt band and flaring to the hem. The subtle fall shade is set off by a black crepe blouse fashioned with long full sleeves, a bow at the high neckline, and trimmed with pearl buttons on either sleeve cuff and down the front of the blouse.

The stunning, strictly tailored suit worn by Virginia Harris, A3 of Downers Grove, Ill., is of grey wool with a rose pin stripe. The jacket is cut with a pointed collar and slit pockets. Stitching trims the collar and grey buttons line the front. A dusty rose blouse of rayon crepe blending with the suit, is fashioned with a high neckline trimmed with a bow.

Tommy Chapman, Hawk Star Forward, To Return

Expects Army Release Nov. 1

Rated High Scorer On Team in 1941-42; Placed 3rd in Big Ten

Tommy Chapman, once holder of Iowa's basketball scoring record, and co-captain of the 1942-43 team, will be discharged from the army by Nov. 1 and may play basketball this season, his wife said here yesterday.

In the 1941-42 campaign, Chapman, a firewagon forward, scored 245 points in 20 games for an individual record that has since been erased by Dick Ives, regular forward for the last two years.

During that season, Chapman placed third in the Big Ten with 187 points in 15 league games. He was elected Iowa's most valuable player in 1942.

Chapman has been in the army air corps in the China-Burma-India theater and is scheduled to arrive in the United States Oct. 25, his wife said.

A tricky and agile player with quick reactions, the six-foot one, 24-year-old Iowa cage star will be a powerful addition to the Hawkeyes' already veteran-studded basketball squad.

Swenson Outlines Plans for Intramural Football to Managers

Tentative plans for intramural touch football were drawn up yesterday evening at a meeting of the athletic managers of various houses on campus. Ted Swenson, intramural athletic director, presided over the meeting, and read to the 20 representatives a list of rules which will be followed during the coming season.

Swenson plans on starting play next Monday, providing schedules can be made by that time. The league will be divided into four sections—social fraternities, professional fraternities, veterans and cooperative dormitories. Play will be of the round-robin type, and play-offs will be held after the titles of the various groups have been decided.

No limit has been placed on the number of teams one house may enter, thereby giving more men a chance to participate. It was decided, however, that a man can play on only one team.

Contests will be held on the fields behind the reserve library, and on the practice field adjacent to the stadium. All games are scheduled to start at 4:15 p. m.

Trippi Back With Bulldogs

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Halfback Charlie Trippi came back to the University of Georgia yesterday after two and a half years in the air corps and the Bulldogs' hopes of receiving a bowl bid skyrocketed.

Trippi's discharge with 41 points last week created a stir in the south and brought statements from Georgia's Democratic Senators W. F. George and R. B. Russell that they had talked to Secretary of War Patterson about a release for him. Trippi was declared surplus by the war department.

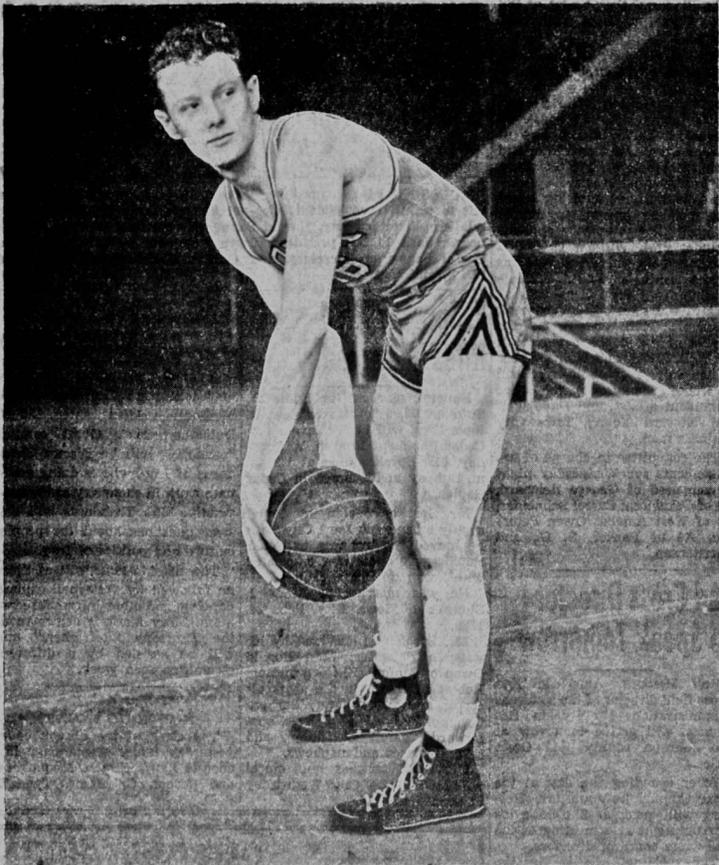

Coach Wallace Butts was on hand to greet his star and indicated that Trippi would play at left halfback in Georgia's game against Louisiana State university here Saturday.

Drake Tracksters To Meet Cornell

DES MOINES (AP)—The national championship Drake university cross-country team will open its schedule against Cornell college at Mt. Vernon next Saturday, Coach Bill Easton announced yesterday.

Nov. 3 Drake will go to East Lansing, Mich., to face Michigan State and Nov. 17, the Drake homecoming, Notre Dame will tackle the Bulldogs here. Drake will defend its national title Nov. 24 at East Lansing, Mich.

HEY, POPS! HERE'S ANOTHER FOR YOU

IF IOWA'S one-time high-point man, Tommy Chapman, returns to the hardwood this season, fans can expect to see a lot of fast playing from the flashy "monkey" forward who set a record for individual baskets under Rollie Williams in 1941. His discharge late this year will mean just one more cheerful addition to Harrison's championship team, and another dark cloud to enemy Big Ten basketball coaches.

Heavyweight Champ Joe Louis To Battle Billy Conn in June

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Louis signed on the dotted line yesterday for the champion's share of a $3,000,000 heavyweight title fight with Billy Conn next June and then hied himself home to pack for a golfing vacation in Los Angeles.

As unconcerned as though he had stopped in to change a dime for a subway ride to Harlem, the brown brawler calmly posed with promoter Mike Jacobs amidst a flurry of photographers' flash bulbs reminiscent of the "good old days."

Jacobs said Conn would be in town Wednesday when he hoped to sew up the other half of the contract that would set up the richest gate in the history of boxing.

"I expect it will do $3,000,000 at the gate and I wouldn't want to try to guess what the figure might be if you counted in movies, radio and television," stated Uncle Mike. "Those engineers tell me they may have television perfected enough by that time to pipe the fight right onto house screens. If that is so, your guess on the gate is as good as mine."

There will be no tuneup scrape

Pro Golfers Decide To Qualify Courses For Tourney Play

CHICAGO (AP)—The Professional Golfers association, in a move to protect scoring records set by its members, plans to qualify golf courses as to championship qualities, Fred Corcoran, tournament manager, said yesterday.

Corcoran said the plan was broached after Byron Nelson fired that sizzling 259 to win the Seattle open golf tournament, with the lowest figures ever compiled in a 72-hole PGA tournament.

Some courses are not as tough, nor as long, as others, and it would not be fair to have records now in the books erased because a golfer "got hot" on one of the easier layouts," Corcoran said.

"Just what the standard will be, we haven't decided yet. Our tentative plan is to look over a course before the tournament opens, and determine whether it is of championship quality.

"If it is, then any records set would be official. If not, records will not count. Par will be ignored in this analysis, par means little to the association members, anyway," Corcoran added.

for Louis before the Conn battle and there will be none for the popular Irish challenger from Pittsburgh if Jacobs has his way. That little matter will be attended to Wednesday in the office of the Twentieth Century sporting club.

Separate exhibition tours of Europe may be arranged by Lew Burston, Jacobs' overseas representative, but it is considered more likely that the champ will be booked through the best fight towns in the U.S.A. in a series of exhibition matches.

Out of the army only two weeks, Louis had just returned from watching his favorites, the Detroit Tigers, win the world series as he predicted. He hastened to put in a pitch for Briggs stadium as the site of the big bout.

New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Detroit had been mentioned by Jacobs as possibilities and he agreed with Louis that a Briggs stadium with an enlarged seating capacity of 80,000 was attractive. It is probable that considerable pressure will be brought to bear on the promoter to stage the fight in New York despite higher taxes on movie and radio rights.

According to the terms of the contract, Jacobs can wait until 40 days before the bout to announce where it will be held but he is not expected to wait that long as this extravaganza will be put on in the old pre-war style with separate training camps and the customary running details on the public and private lives of the two gladiators.

There's a little joker in the legal document calling for Louis to fight Conn "or any other suitable opponent designated by Jacobs." The promoter slyly explained that he had added that clause "just in case Conn doesn't sign or something goes wrong."

"Joe will be in camp from March on," Jacobs declared and Louis nodded assent. "The exhibition schedule all depends on how long he wants to play golf and rest in California. Everybody is asking for him but where he'll go and when is up to him."

Louis weighed 219 when he was discharged from the army and figured he needed at least four months to get ready for Conn.

"Will it take me 13 rounds to catch up with Conn next time?" echoed the champ. "Can't tell yet. I'll probably not be so fast but I'll hit just as hard and I figure Billy won't be quite so quick either."

Crisler Praises Play Of Blanchard, Davis, Army Backfield Stars

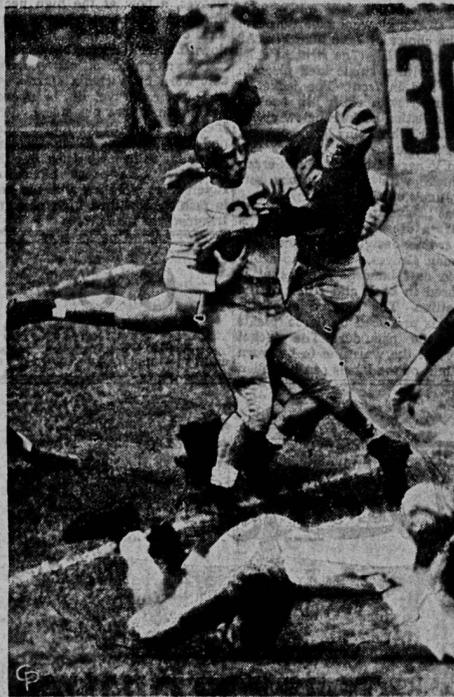

NEW YORK (AP)—Fritz Crisler, football coach and athletic director at the University of Michigan, praised Army's great football squad yesterday and classed all-America Felix (Doc) Blanchard and Bronco Nagurski of Minnesota and Chicago Bears fame.

It was Blanchard who led Army to a 28-7 victory over Crisler's Wolverines Saturday by scoring two touchdowns and playing a whale of a game on defense.

Asked how Blanchard and Glenn Davis compared with Ohio State's touchdown twins, Paul Sarringhaus and Dick Fisher, Crisler said:

"They (Sarringhaus and Fisher) are fine backs but I think Blanchard and Davis are better. They have blistering speed and it will be a long time before we see another pair like them in one backfield."

ARMY MARCHES OVER MICHIGAN

FELIX BLANCHARD (35) Army's All American back, who with his co-worker, Glenn Davis, led the Cadets to a 28-7 victory over the tough Michigan team is halted after making a first down by Wilkins of the Wolverines.

Europe Sports Boom Will Promote Peace

Gophers' McCormick Says Athletics Help Leadership, Health

CHICAGO (AP)—Lieut. Col. Frank McCormick, athletic director of the University of Minnesota, foresees a sports boom in Europe in the near future that will do much to eliminate Nazi teachings of racial superiority, and will, in the end, do much to promote permanent peace through better international understanding.

"Sports programs already are developing that do not carry the basic Nazi idea of training the youth athletically for war," he told the Quarterback club yesterday. "Their sports will be like our sports—an outlet for competitive spirit and a means of developing leadership and self-reliance, along with health."

McCormick developed the sports program for American troops in Germany after V-E day. He told of the thousands of persons attending baseball games, track meets and other sports in which American G-I's were the participants.

"We had 75,000 at Nuernburg on a rainy day for a track meet, and 35,000 more were turned away," he said.

"Germany already has plenty of outdoor stadiums for any type of sport, and as soon as our boys begin to move out, they'll move in to take over," he added.

Canfield Leads Western Loop Grid Scorers

CHICAGO (AP)—The Western conference has a new scoring leader this week, but otherwise, there are only minor changes in the individual records of the circuit's offensive stars.

Bill Canfield, Purdue halfback, scored three touchdowns against Iowa last Saturday to move into first place in total points scored with 24. 11 more than Indiana's end, Ted Kluszewski, official statistics showed yesterday. The figures include conference games only.

Ohio State's Harold Daugherty, who has carried the ball but five times in two games, remained at the top in average yardage from rushing. He carried it once against Wisconsin to raise his average to 12.6 yards per try, and his total to 63 yards.

That gave him 2.4 more yards per try than Northwestern's Dick Conners, in second place with a 10.2 mark. Conners, however, lead the circuit in total ground gained, with 244 yards in 24 attempts. Canfield is second in second in total yardage with 104, but has an average of only six yards.

In the passing department, George Tallaferro, Indiana halfback, still is tops in percentage of completions—six out of 11 for .750. Dick Fisher of Ohio State is second, with six of 11 for .545, and Bob DeMoss of Purdue is third, with a .526 average on 10 completions in 19 tosses.

Canfield heads the list of pass receivers. He has caught six in two games, good for a total of 92 yards. Mel Groomes, halfback, and Kluszewski each have caught five, with the former gaining 102 yards on his receptions.

Fagerlind, Skophammer Out as Hawks Practice

Crowe Praises Boda For Performance Against Boilermakers

Iowa's Hawkeyes, nursing injuries from their 40-0 trouncing by Purdue last Saturday, went through light signal drills and a dummy scrimmage yesterday, as Coach Clem Crowe began the huge task of preparing the Hawks for their first home conference game with Indiana Saturday.

Paul Fagerlind, who was unable to play in the Boilermaker game, is still confined to the hospital with a strep throat. Jim Skophammer became ill on the return trip from Lafayette and did not report for practice yesterday.

Nelson Smith has had a recurrence of an old back injury, and Wayne Spurbeck and Paul Golden both are nursing charley horses. Tackle Jack Hammond has a light hip bruise.

Dan Sheehan Reports Dan Sheehan, alternate end with Dave Danner on the Hawks' 1943 squad, reported for practice yesterday. Jim Harding also returned to the lineup.

Reserve fullback Herb Braun was shifted to left halfback in an attempt to get more depth in the backfield. Louis Boda, who was Iowa's leading ground gainer against Purdue, held down the left halfback post in yesterday's drills.

Crowe asserted that there is much to be done in this week's practices and no definite drill schedules could be given. The Iowa coach lauded the Hawkeyes' fight against such superior odds and had warm praise for the diminutive Boda's performance against the Boilermakers.

Indiana was described as "tough for any team to beat" by Maury Kent who scouted the Hoosiers last week.

Smith Leads Halfback Nelson Smith remained Iowa's leading ground gainer with a total of 117 yards in 21 attempts —Coach Bo McMillin wasted no time in getting his Indiana Hoosiers down to serious practice for Saturday's game to Iowa as he sent the entire squad through a brisk drill yesterday.

Hosmer Centers Hurt Bloomington, Ind. (AP)

McMillin said his chief concern of the week was the condition of John Cannady and Francis Oleksak, his two centers. Both are nursing injuries. Allan Horn, who held the fort most of the way against Nebraska, took over again yesterday.

from the line for an average of 5.5 yards per try. Lou Boda, on the basis of his performance against Purdue, moved his average up to 5.2 yards per try.

The Hawkeyes have an aggregate total of only 2.1 yards per trial from scrimmage while their opponents have averaged 4.3 yards in this same department. Iowa continues to lead its opponents in passing, completing 24 in 60 attempts for a total of 302 yards. The Hawks' three opponents have completed 14 in 36 trials for a total yardage of 213.

Iowa has averaged but 25.6 yards per punt while the opposition has averaged 36.2 yards. The Hawkeyes have had two punts blocked, both of which resulted in touchdowns for their rivals.

Brooklyn Franchise Has 3 New Heads

NEW YORK (AP)—William D. Cox, former owner of the Philadelphia national league club who was ousted from organized baseball by the late commissioner K. M. Landis, returned to the sports field yesterday as part owner of the Brooklyn franchise in the all America football conference.

Cox said he and two associates, Gerald Smith and Charles P. Grimes, had leased Ebbets field in Brooklyn for a 12-year period and would operate a team there in the new league, which plans to begin operations in 1946.

Dr. Mal Stevens, former Yale and New York U. coach who had been listed as holder of the New York franchise in the circuit, will coach the club.

The business manager will be Fred Fitzsimmons, former manager of the Phillies.

Rivermen Hold Long Practice; Expect Tough Schedule Ahead

By JERRY BLOOM
Daily Iowan Sports Writer

University high's gridlers went through one of the longest drills of the season yesterday afternoon as they worked until dusk on defensive and offensive plays to be used against Mt. Vernon this Friday. The game will be played at Mt. Vernon.

Fairly well pleased over his team's 32 to 0 homecoming victory over Monticello last week, Coach Don Barnhart nevertheless told his charges that they had everything to fear from Mt. Vernon. This week's opponent, a potentially strong team, has lost its first two Eastern Iowa conference games to Tipton, 13 to 0, and West Liberty, 14 to 7, and they will be gunning for a victory over this week's league leaders, the Blue Hawks from Iowa City, who are

Four Badger Regulars Out

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—With four regulars on the sidelines with injuries of long standing, Coach Harry Stuhldreher was on the hunt for replacements yesterday as the Badgers made plans for their game against Illinois Saturday.

The "outs" were ends Ray Mals and Jack Mead, guard Hank Pricke and quarterback George Fuchs. A long rest, Stuhldreher said, might make it possible for them to see some action Saturday.

IRISH IN GOOD SHAPE

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's Irish reported no serious injuries after Saturday's romp over Dartmouth, and so coach Hugh Devore sent his charges through a light signal drill.

Phil Colella, speedy freshman halfback, left for Rochester, Pa., to attend the funeral of his grandmother. He will not rejoin the squad until it arrives in Pittsburgh Friday night. The Irish meet Pitt Saturday.

ILLINI WORK

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Illinois got down to hard work again yesterday after comparatively light gridiron drills last week due to an open date, and Coach Ray Eliot immediately began shifting his undefeated both in conference and non-conference play this season.

During the first four games of the season, the Rivermen have held their opponents to 13 points while scoring exactly 100 markers themselves. This puts a stamp on the University high men as being both a strong defensive club and an equally powerful scoring team.

But the toughest games are yet to come, states Barnhart, as the Blue Hawks must face Mt. Vernon this Friday, West Branch next week and Tipton in the final game of the year and probably the toughest.

The psychological advantage will be all with Mt. Vernon when that school meets U high, since though they were counted to be one of this year's strong teams, they have been defeated twice and will be hot for this game with the possibly overconfident Rivermen.

Last week against Monticello the Rivermen had everything their own way as they overpowered the Panthers with line plays. Only one pass was thrown all afternoon by the winners, and again a ground game spelled the difference. The lightning attack of the Blue Hawks completely demoralized the Montis from the start.

The Rivermen are still in top shape with no injuries showing up from Friday's game.

players around a bit as he sought a hard-hitting backfield for the Saturday game at Wisconsin. Stan Stasica and Ed Kwasniewski were used as backfield replacements for Jack Pierce and Tom Zaborac. With the center situation desperate, Eliot moved the veteran Capt. Babe Serpico to the pivot post.

AT NEBRASKA

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The Nebraska Cornhuskers, with only two men on the injured list, got an outdoor workout yesterday in preparation for their second Big Six contest against Iowa State at Ames Saturday.

Duane Sack, 16, Plattsmouth, Neb., guard, the only casualty of last week's Indiana tilt, will be rested this week as will halfback Bill Kinnaman, who missed the Hoosier trip. Kinnaman jammed a knee in the Minnesota fray two weeks ago.

Emil Trott, Iowa City attorney who recently returned from the service, will be interviewed today by Gen Slemmons McLaughlin on WSUI's "GI's Come Marching Home" broadcast at 12:45. Trott is representative of the many veterans who are returning and have returned to their pre-war occupations.

Nick and Nora Charles, super-leuthing stars of "The Adventures of the Thin Man," will be Hildegard's guests at the "Raleigh Room" tonight at 9:30. This NBC show is going up and up in popularity and more than a little of its success is due to the charming Hildegard.

Dinah Shore, America's number one thrush, is now queen of feminine vocalists in Italy, too. She has been voted tops by the natives who listen to the American expatriation stations.

If all goes according to plan, an important contribution to musicology is about to be made by the girls of Phil Spitalny's orchestra. These musical maidens plan to write a book—each girl to pen a chapter on the study of her particular instrument. Several publishers have evinced interest in the project.

Just as a radio reminder, tonight's your night for Bob Hope and Fibber McGee. (One might think I was prejudiced—but these masters of mirth are worth it.)

Pierre Laval's Wife Claims 'They Had To Stifle His Voice'

PARIS (AP) — "They had to stifle his voice," Madame Pierre Laval said yesterday of her husband's execution.

The gray-haired woman was dry-eyed during an interview at her daughter's apartment after Laval today died before a firing squad at Fresnes prison.

She remained standing in the little drawing room with its overstuffed furniture, a stocky, forlorn figure with her hands in a beseeching position.

"This stigmatizes an epoch and a regime," she declared. "If there were a parliament this could not have happened. There will be one in a few days (when France elects a national assembly Oct. 21). Then he could have had a trial in the full light of day. But they had to stifle his voice before the elections."

Turning to me, the only reporter who had interviewed her before in her life, she asked: "Wasn't it beautiful the way he died, sir? He was brave, wasn't he? And those judges who were afraid to show their faces (Laval's magistrates, who were not conspicuous at the execution until he called for them)? People who have acted in good faith do not have to hide their faces."

She said she had not thought of any plans for the future except "I want to help clear my husband. He would have said things about certain politicians they did not want him to say. That's not the French way—to try a man without letting him speak. That's the way he always fought against—the German way."
