Debate Military Plan

Truman Urges Youth Training

Proposal Includes One Year's Service, Strong National Guard

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman recommended military training for all young Americans yesterday to show any future war maker that the United States intends to remain tough and strong.

"Peace must be built on power," the president told a joint session of house and senate in a half-hour speech urging adoption of a universal training law.

The president stuck his chin out. Congress has been generally cool to universal training and the mountains of letters from educators, church people and others strongly opposing it haven't diminished that feeling.

Martin Opposes Peacetime Conscription; Legislators Differ on Truman's Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—An international agreement to "abolish peacetime conscription as a policy among nations" was suggested by Rep. Martin (R., Mass.) last night in the wake of President Truman's request for universal training legislation.

The house Republican leader, whose views usually are shared by large numbers of Republicans, issued a statement saying:

"I believe such an agreement would be a mighty step toward the goal of permanent peace, would reduce the incentive to war

Interim Committee Asks Many Changes

Suggests Revamping Of State Hospitals, Penal Institutions

DES MOINES (AP)—The legislative interim committee yesterday suggested a special session of the Iowa legislature to revamp dealing with the 15 state hospitals, penal and correctional institutions managed by the state board of control.

Under the committee's suggestion a special session would meet in February, 1946.

The suggestion came at the close of an all-day session at which the committee heard reports of more escapes at the state training school for boys at Eldora and of a planned mass escape and generally reviewed state institutional matters.

Foreign Recognition Sought by Venezuela; Emergency Plan Set

CARACAS (AP)—Venezuela's revolutionary government bid for foreign recognition yesterday and announced a six-point emergency program designed to lift "this backward nation to a higher social and economic level."

Luis Valmore Rodriguez, one-time United States army sergeant, declared the rights of foreign oil companies in Venezuela would be respected.

The revolutionary Junta declared it planned to divorce the army from politics immediately.

Admiral King Objects To Proposed Merger Of Army and Navy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fleet Admiral Ernest J. King declared yesterday that if congress merged the war and navy departments it would break up the greatest winning team in history.

"We have an organization which we know will protect us and we should not be misled into discarding it because there are details in need of correction," he told the senate military affairs committee.

Officials Indifferent At Confab

DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther, CIO United Auto workers' vice-president, last night charged General Motors corporation officials with an "attitude of complete indifference" during yesterday's union-management wage conference.

Reuther said GM officials read newspapers and magazines while negotiations were in progress on the union's demand for a 30 percent wage rate increase.

Wholesale Sluggishness Renewed Yesterday at the Gates to Paramount Studios in Hollywood when a group of studio workers attempted to break through a mass picket line. Fifty persons were injured and six arrested as police were called in to break up the fighting.

WHOLESALE SLUGGISHNESS WERE RENEWED yesterday at the gates to Paramount studios in Hollywood when a group of studio workers attempted to break through a mass picket line. Fifty persons were injured and six arrested as police were called in to break up the fighting.

GI's Promised Shipment Home

TOKYO (AP)—More than 400,000 soldiers in the Pacific are eligible for shipment home by Nov. 1. General MacArthur announced yesterday.

The total is 421,640, or 35 percent of the 1,194,290 men on duty in the western Pacific, Far Eastern airforces, mid-Pacific and sixth army corps.

The mid-Pacific includes Hawaii and Okinawa.

Jap Industrial Chiefs Expect to Keep Jobs

Family Corporations To Lose Power, Says Mitsubishi Director

TOKYO (AP)—Executives who directed Japanese war industries expect to hang onto their key jobs through the partial dissolution of Nippon's multimillion dollar family corporations.

This was clearly indicated yesterday by Harunosuke Suzuki, managing director of Mitsubishi company, Ltd. As top administrative official for the giant holding company which dominates more than 70 corporations, Suzuki is pioneering the way for breaking up the monopolistic Zaibatsu's stranglehold on Japan's industrial life.

Three Forces Push Pincer's Movement Against Indonesians

SAIGON (AP)—British, French and Indian forces, including artillery and armored units, are developing a pincer's movement against the lightly-armed holdout annamite forces in northeast Saigon.

The British forces are using artillery and mortars and the 20th Indian division has moved in on one side of the annamite sniper's nest while armored car units of the French, second armored division have advanced against obstinate annamite resistance.

Two Men Injured In Car Crash Here

Paul Mouglin, a farmer living near Hills, suffered a broken collarbone and lacerations of the side and shoulder in an automobile accident at Benton street and Riverside drive shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. William Kron, from the same vicinity, was a passenger in Mouglin's car and suffered minor cuts.

Charges of reckless driving have been filed against Mouglin by police who investigated the accident.

Better Weather Conditions Ahead

Your local weatherman is working on a deal whereby the weather of Sunny California or Alabama can be transported to Iowa. Thereby Iowans will not be forced to move to those more blessed spots.

Police File Charges Against Paul Mouglin For Reckless Driving

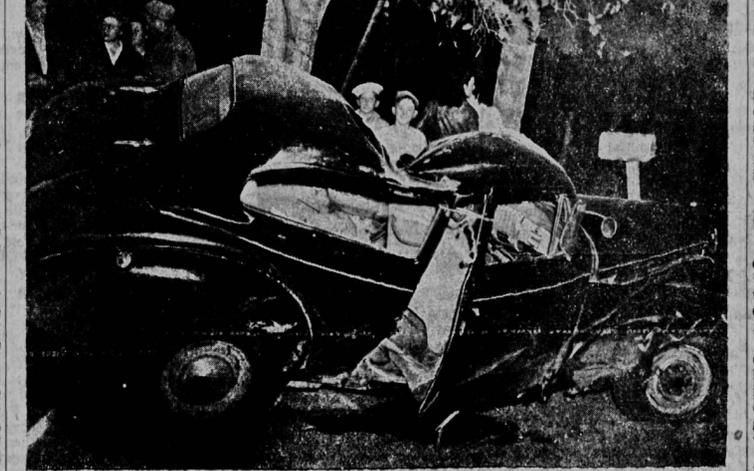

Paul Mouglin, a farmer living near Hills, suffered a broken collarbone and lacerations of the side and shoulder in an automobile accident at Benton street and Riverside drive shortly before 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. William Kron, from the same vicinity, was a passenger in Mouglin's car and suffered minor cuts.

Germans, Russians Work Together— Hunt for Atom Secret

BERLIN (AP)—Russians have been working diligently trying to discover the atomic bomb secret with the aid of equipment and data removed from German laboratories and with the help of German scientists, says Dr. Guenther Hillmann, acting director of the Berlin division, Kaiser Wilhelm institute.

Dr. Hillmann, in an interview, predicted that the Russians might develop their own atomic bomb "within two years—with the help of Germans. But without that help it likely would take many years."

CAR SMASHED IN ACCIDENT HERE

THIS IS WHAT WAS LEFT of the automobile belonging to Paul Mouglin, Hills farmer, after it collided with a tree yesterday afternoon. Mouglin was driving north on Riverside drive shortly after five o'clock when he hit the front end of another car and careened into the tree at Benton street and Riverside. Reckless driving charges have been filed against Mouglin, who suffered a broken collarbone and laceration of the side and shoulder.

GM Employees Set for Ballot

30 Percent Wage Increase at Stake In Nationwide Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The first big test of whether automobile industry workers are willing to strike for a 30 percent wage rate increase will be made by ballot today at 97 General Motors corporation plants.

Under supervision of the national labor relations board, acting under the Smith-Connally war labor disputes statute, a poll will be taken among more than 300,000 GM employees across the nation.

Other important developments in the labor field include:

- 1. United States Steel Corporation rejected a CIO demand for a general $2 a day wage increase and the union called a policy meeting for Friday.
- 2. A strike threat of a nationwide strike of AFL milk deliveries was described by the AFL teamsters' president as a possible result of failure to require 35,000 drivers returning from service.
- 3. The number of persons on strike or out of work because of labor disputes totaled 225,000, slightly less than on Monday.

Vote Next Month

If the petition is on order, the board said, the vote will be taken Nov. 22.

The prolonged strike at Kelsey-Hayes resulted from discharge of four union officers, along with nine other workmen later reinstated. The UAW high command repudiated the walkout in its closing days.

'Strike Is Answer'

Daniel J. Tobin, president of the AFL teamsters, said a "strike threat of a strike itself" might be the answer of AFL milk deliveries over the nation unless dairies found a way of reemploying 35,000 returning servicemen on a daily delivery schedule.

Gets Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)—Brig. Gen. Kenneth Claiborne Royall, 250-pound, six-foot-five former North Carolina lawyer and state senator, was nominated yesterday for undersecretary of war. President Truman chose him for the No. 2 spot in the department made vacant by promotion of Robert P. Patterson to secretary. Royall has been a special assistant to Patterson since April. He is 51, a native of Goldsboro, N. C.

Editorials:

There's Good News in the Headlines, Too

Somehow today's headlines all seem filled with bad news, but in our international moves which have been painted so black there are some bright spots, too.

It's strange how often the public forgets the good news and goes on bemoaning the bad. Maybe it's because a particular problem which has been the cause of days or weeks of bad news is given only one story when the good news of a solution comes. After the good news, the story is dropped because all we were interested in anyway was the solution.

Thus, for every international problem in which we become involved there may be from 10 to 100 "bad news" stories and only one "good news" story. And this fills our newspapers with worrisome reports.

Just to take our minds off our troubles, let's recall some of the good news that has been in the papers lately.

Russian troops, in accordance with Stalin's promise, are withdrawing from Manchuria, leaving that land to its rightful governors, the Chinese. The Soviets have assured Chiang Kai-shek that all of their forces soon will be out of Manchuria.

In the Near East the troublesome Iran (Persia) problem has been settled, and Russia and Britain are going to pull their troops out of that little country. The two nations have promised the evacuation will be complete by next spring, and the British half of the job may be completed before then.

There was little difficulty about getting the United Nations charter, which was drawn up in San Francisco, ratified by the required number of member nations. There have been some disputes in the executive committee meetings in London, but on the whole the conference is running smoothly. What differences of opinion have arisen have been natural and sincere, according to most reports.

The United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration, which has been credited with enough mistakes to fill volumes, is functioning to many good advantages. People who might have stayed aren't because of UNRRA.

The Allies have agreed on prosecution of war criminals, and the criminals who are now prisoners of various members of the Big Three are going to be brought into court.

Britain has declared that Burma will be free in two years. British forces in Burma have been instructed to operate on a program which will give the Burmese independence.

Even Europe isn't all political strife. The British and Russians had little trouble agreeing on a peace treaty for Finland. Of course we didn't have a hand in those proceedings because the United States didn't declare war on the Finns.

There are many other "good news" accomplishments on the international front, too, and perhaps it is regrettable that they don't get as much attention in the press now as when they were "bad news" problems.

But if we thought everything was running smoothly, we would only be kidding ourselves, so maybe it's to the best that we hear most about problems when they are "bad news." Then we are more inclined to go out and do something about those problems.

But let's remember that all is not going awry with the world. We may be stumbling now and then, but we're making headway.

Tributes to Students

The student body can take a bow. From everywhere come comments that the spirit at the university has seldom if ever been better than it is this year.

E. G. (Dad) Schroeder, director of athletics, declared that the crowd's support of the football team Saturday, even when the Hawkeyes were trailing by a big score, was one "of the finest acts I've ever seen here."

Karl Leib, chairman of the board of athletics, praised the Friday night pep meeting and Saturday's team support as "rarely any better at Iowa."

Dad Schroeder believes the upswing in school spirit will bring an upswing in Iowa's football fortunes within a few years. And when that happens, it is a safe bet that he will be one of the first to take his hat off to the student body.

There is no doubt now that this new-found spirit is not synthetic. It will continue to rise, and probably will hit a new peak in the basketball season when the Hawkeyes bring back another Big Ten championship.

France Changes

France Sunday became another of the nations which have closed the door on the road "back to normalcy." The French, who went to the polls in greater numbers than ever before in their history, voted overwhelmingly in favor of a new constitution.

Until the new constitution is drafted and approved, Gen. Charles De Gaulle will remain as head of the provisional government, but his authority will be restricted and he will be accountable to the assembly on major issues.

The French vote implies dissatisfaction with the old weak and easily changed executive department in the government. And the defeat of the so-called Radical-Socialist party, which economic legislation that might have been considered "radical" 20 years ago but wouldn't be now, indicates that the French people want certain economic reforms.

That leaves three groups, with almost equal seating in the assembly, to draw up the new constitution. The Communists have 142 seats, the Popular Republicans (De Gaulle's party), 144, and the Socialists, 133. There are 522 members of the assembly.

There is no doubt the French need a stronger executive department. The ever-changing cabinet of the Third Republic often was a handicap.

The importance of the new government, however, still will be in the national legislature. For better government, the French will have to make better choices to the legislature.

Perfectionists Do Harm

(Milwaukee Journal) It does not seem that the sincere men who met at Dublin, N. H., to advocate creation of world federal government, in place of the "outmoded" United Nations, are contributing much toward a practical solution of the problem of international peace and security.

If anything, they are doing a disservice, because they are creating a diversionary movement and trying to get the nation's eye off the ball.

The goal of the gentlemen at Dublin is praiseworthy enough, but the probability of attainment is so much less than the possibility of making the United Nations work that it would seem foolish to divide our efforts.

The United Nations charter was created by 50 countries conferring, disputing, debating, compromising, giving and taking through arduous weeks at San Francisco; after preliminary meetings had laid the ground work. The United Nations represents the limit toward which the countries of the world so far have shown a willingness to go.

It will be difficult enough to develop the United Nations to the point that the magnificent words of the charter have real meaning. Let us, and the other peace seeking nations of the world, concentrate on this attainment—before we disperse our energies, groping toward the world government advocated by the men at Dublin, N. H.

Covering The Capital

By ERNEST B. VACARRO (Substituting For Jack Stinnett)

WASHINGTON—It may come as something of a ploy to artists at the sport, but President Truman is strictly a "Missouri barnyard" horseshoe pitcher.

His recent participation in the horseshoe pitching at a Democratic rally at the Jefferson Island club near Annapolis, Md., stirred up a welter of speculation among devotees of the old game.

Their questions told volumes about the progress of the game since the days when the young Harry Truman went behind the barn at Grandview, Mo., to toss shoes with fellow farmers.

Eagerly they asked whether the president uses (a) a one-and-a-quarter, (b) a one-and-three-quarters or (c) an end-over-end pitch.

I put the question bluntly to the president through his press secretary, Charles G. Ross. The matter-of-fact Missourian puzzled a bit over such fancy names and sent back the reply:

"Tell Tony (Vacarro) I use the Missouri barnyard style of pitching."

Inquiry among some of those who pitched with the president at the Jefferson Islands club threw little more light on the matter. Like the president, most of them just pick up a shoe and let fly.

Senator Tydings (D., Md.) confessed he wouldn't know a "one-and-a-quarter" pitcher if he saw one.

"We use a free style," he confided. "We just pick up and let go."

The president, he said, showed lots of southpaw form, but, Tydings admitted, "he can improve."

Senator Fulbright (D., Ark.), teamed up with Tydings to beat the president and Senator Taylor (D., Idaho), 21 to 20, but he didn't help the research a great deal.

"All I know is that it is not a sissy game," Fulbright volunteered. "My legs still ache."

My painstaking inquiry finally led to Carter T. Barron, a Washington theater official and a Democrat with much party enthusiasm, was cited by all participants as the champion pitcher of Jefferson Islands.

But, alas, Mr. Barron unmasked himself as simply a man with a strong arm and a deadly eye.

"If you tell me what those styles mean," he said, "I'll tell you what kind the president used."

"I have my own style, but I don't know what you'd call it. The president is a southpaw, of course. He throws out the shoe so it falls flat. I think he might be called a slider, sliding the shoe toward the stake."

Practically all of the boys were recaptured, guard officials said.

S-Sgt. Penningroth Tells Experiences—

Admires Frenchmen

By ANNETTE AVERY

"But I have no story," protested S/Sgt. Philip Penningroth, former SUI student, when asked for a few details about his experiences overseas. "Nothing happened to me that would interest other people."

Sergeant Penningroth, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Louis Penningroth, 203 Melrose court, Iowa City, returned to his parent's home after 12 months of service overseas, where he flew 31 missions in B-26s as a toggler-bombardier with the 323 Bomb group, the "white-tailed Marauders" made famous by Ernie Pyle.

"I always attempted to take things in my stride—or I couldn't have gotten along," admitted the sergeant, who wears the air medal with a silver cluster, and the ETO ribbon with 3 battle stars, "and I was lucky to have met and been more or less adopted by a wonderful French family who really opened their home to me."

Learns French

After becoming disgusted with his inability to speak with the French people, Sergeant Penningroth determined to acquire a working knowledge of the language, and spent from one to two and a half hours nightly under the tutelage of his French friends. It was this practice of the language that opened the door to many of the rich experiences and stories he now treasures from his stay in France.

Immediately following the surrender of Germany, a leave enabled him to travel through France, Germany, Belgium and Holland. Whenever he wanted transportation he hitch-hiked rides in jeeps or trucks. "In Europe," said the sergeant, "no one owned anything permanently then."

The Germans, according to Sergeant Penningroth, vehemently hated the American airmen. They were willing to try their best to fraternize with the American troops, but they had no use for anyone in the air corps. They had been bombed, and they couldn't forgive or forget.

'Cest La Guerre'

The average Frenchman, who had undergone as thorough, if not more thorough, bombing attacks from both warring factions, upon seeing his home and country destroyed, his dearest killed, would shrug his shoulders and say "C'est la guerre," fervently praying that someone would stop the war, whereas the German thoroughly hated having the war end.

"The Germans are not poor, ignorant, misled people," stated the sergeant. "They knew why the war was being fought and supported it wholeheartedly. I was all right in Germany because I had grown a beard and spoke French to the people, who took me for a Russian, and so they more or less feared me. The Germans respect a good soldier. It's too bad, but that's the way it is."

On the other hand, the French people completely captured the sergeant's heart. They were hospitable, friendly, and wonderful cooks. There was one small out-of-the-way hotel which was supplied with government rations exclusively, but it had French chefs, a French head waiter, and Dutch waitresses, and they used a complete silver service. It was a combination that soon caused Americans anywhere in the vicinity to manage to stop there for all meals.

French Family

"My own family," said Sergeant Penningroth, speaking of his French friends, "was magnificent. I always tried to help them as much as I could, and I always brought them grease and salt, which were practically unobtainable." The father had been in a German concentration camp for months because of one pre-war ally business venture, and was finally released through the diligent efforts of his wife. He and his wife communicated during his interment by faintly marking one letter on certain pages of the books the prisoner was allowed. He was searched periodically, but the guards never found his one stub pencil, which he concealed in the back of his mouth.

"The French people did not hate their German conquerors, according to Sergeant Penningroth, because they recognized that they had been acting in the line of duty. But they turned all their hatred on the traitors. Sergeant Penningroth was visiting in the home of a French family one day when an angry mob of French citizens came down the street, and carried off a collaborator neighbor who had just returned to his home after a year of hiding. Men, women, and even small children, armed with knives, forks, spoons or any kind of a club they could find, beat him until his face was a bloody pulp, completely unrecognizable.

Revised Prisoner

When he lapsed into unconsciousness they revived him with a pitcher of water on his head and continued the attack. They carried their prisoner past the porch on which the sergeant was standing to the town square where he was shot after a short, "democratic" trial. The whole incident was finished in less than thirty minutes.

"I've often been criticized," said Sergeant Penningroth, "for my defense of the French people, by the boys who have had nothing but deceit and high prices from them, but you can't see any people who have endured so much, and not admire them."

"I want to take my wife and two sons back to France some day. I want my boys to see just how much they have in America."

"You see," said Sergeant Penningroth, "I have nothing to tell."

Christian Fellowship To Be Host at Annual Conference Saturday

The University of Iowa chapter of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship will be host to the delegates of four Iowa chapters here at the second annual conference Saturday and Sunday.

Attending the conference will be members from Coe college, Cedar Rapids; Iowa State college, Ames; Iowa State Teachers college, Cedar Falls, and Drake university, Des Moines.

The formal opening ceremony will be at 1:30 p. m. Saturday in the senate chamber of Old Capitol. The conference will be concluded with the Sunday morning worship service in the River room of Iowa Union.

The program Saturday afternoon will include the opening of the conference by Prof. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, and C. Stacy Woods of Chicago, national secretary of the fellowship; a group discussion led by Woods and Stanley Richardson, student of Bible archeology at Wheaton college; and vespers service.

The evening program, in the recreation room of the Congregational church, will include a buffet supper and fellowship; an open forum on Inter-Varsity activities led by D. J. L. Innes of Monona, former president of the Iowa State College chapter; and closing devotions by Woods.

A worship service is scheduled for 10:30 Sunday morning, with Woods speaking. Special singers from other chapters will be on the program.

The first convention last year at Ames was such a success that the fellowship decided to make it an annual meeting, according to Louise Burgess, A4 of Epps, La., program chairman.

"The purpose of the Inter-Varsity Christian fellowship," continues Miss Burgess, "is to promote Christian fellowship among students. It is an interdenominational organization."

Missionary to China To Address Nurses, Attend Conferences

Miss Harris will speak to the nurses and other interested persons during her stay here. Tentative plans include addresses to various young people's organizations on campus. Conferences will be held Sunday and Monday, details of which will be announced later.

Miss Harris received her training at the House of Mercy hospital, Pittsfield, Mass.; Gordon college, Boston; William and Mary college, Williamsburg, Va., and Simmons college, Boston.

She began her foreign service by assisting in the establishment of a nurse's training school in connection with the Hwa Mei hospital in Ningpo, near Shanghai.

During the constant threat of invasion, Miss Harris had to evacuate the school and all students and then return to Ningpo.

SUI Alumni to Begin Enrollment Campaign

Officers of the University of Iowa alumni association headed by President Walter L. Stewart of Des Moines are organizing an enrollment campaign to increase life memberships of the association to 10,000 by February, 1947.

The year 1947 was chosen for the membership goal because it will mark the 100th anniversary of the university. The campaign, in connection with the victory loan drive, will enroll an alumnus as a life member for $18.50. This amount will be used by the university to purchase a $25 government war bond.

President Stewart said that the university plans to spend some 10 million dollars in the next decade in capital improvements. In an open letter to the alumni in the University News Bulletin, he urged that the members be proud enough of the university to make the alumni association one of the biggest, strongest and most active groups of its kind in the country. Since last fall 322 new members joined the association.

Navy Lieutenant Tells Kiwanians 'Combat Men Keep Humor'

"In this age of go-getters we should be go-givers," Lt. Jerry J. Flynn told members of the Kiwanis at their luncheon meeting yesterday at Hotel Jefferson.

After 27 months in the Pacific aboard the aircraft carrier Enterprise, Lieutenant Flynn is now stationed at the local pre-flight school. He is an officer in public information.

With a combined ability at wit and seriousness, Lieutenant Flynn sparked his speech with anecdotes, confirming his statement that men in battle don't lose their sense of humor.

"It is hard for the people at home to see or understand a fleet operation. Against definite odds, in the Pacific we looked at things straight down the middle and gave it to them straight on," Lieutenant Flynn said.

The naval officer stressed that the important question facing us today is whether we can get back to stabilization. Popular opinion types returning servicemen as nervous cases.

"The veteran," continued Lieutenant Flynn, "can't help wondering if the people who are muddling conditions on the home front should not be classified as special cases themselves."

Emphasizing that the nation is bickering and arguing over too many relatively insignificant questions, Lieutenant Flynn urged that we settle down to business and keep our minds on the goal for which our men fought.

The navy man suggested that in peace as in war, we should aim unitedly for the end we seek, and the odds will vanish and victory will be ours.

Lieutenant Flynn spoke in place of the scheduled speaker, Charles H. Maruth, university administrative assistant.

Guests at the luncheon were Paul Bloomers, Roy Thornbury and Dr. A. J. Wendler.

How much does The Purple Heart cost?

It's not just the initial cost, you see. It's the upkeep.

It costs billions, first, to mobilize the sulfa, the morphine, the plasma that went to war... those ingredients of mercy that relaxed death's clutch on hundreds of thousands of wounded.

Your War Bonds helped provide them.

Now the army of the legless, the armless, the sightless is on the road back. They're one of war's bleakest heritages, and to a man they're our responsibility.

That's one reason our country is asking us—and for the last time!—to invest in extra Bonds. In Victory Bonds this time—not War Bonds.

Again it isn't a question of giving—but of lending. For your Victory Bonds will pay off exactly as your War Bonds will.

So buy extra Victory Bonds—and hold them!

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisons waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging headaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there's something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's gives happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Unbeaten Rivermen Seek Revenge Friday From West Branch

The Blue Hawks are out for revenge this week—Friday the University high footballers meet West Branch there. Last year the Bears handed the Rivermen their first defeat in more than three years, and revenge is on the way, say the U-high men.

Winners of five straight contests this year, the Blue Hawks are well on their way to the conference championship after losing out last year on a defeat by West Branch and a tie with Tipton, the final two opponents again this season.

Long workouts are being held this week in preparation for the always dangerous Bears, usually the most feared and most dangerous opponents of the Rivermen. Every year a feud has developed between the two schools to see who can develop the best athletic teams.

The team is still intact with no serious injuries. Well satisfied with the play of the Blue Hawks after a slow first half last Friday, Coach Barnhart has been spending a lot of time on play perfection and fundamentals.

A tough battle is still going on for the quarterback slot between Gus Helm, regular most of the season, and Dick Briceland, who has been improving all year and last week in the victory over Mt. Vernon showed promise of being a really good player.

Again this week the Rivermen will build their hopes on a strong ground attack, led by Steve Nusser, Bill Greenie and Craig Harper. A short-passing game has lately been added to the repertoire of plays, with Helm doing a lot of tossing and Nusser handling most of the long throws.

A strong defense which has held opponents to 20 points so far while the offense has garnered 128 is also counted on to play a big part in an anticipated defeat of the Bears.

Leading the Eastern Iowa conference with three wins and no losses, the Rivermen seem to be well ahead of the field, since West Branch and Tipton, the two closest competitors, have both lost two games. Last week the Tipton team lost to West Liberty while the Bears topped Monticello, both teams having been defeated by the Blue Hawks earlier in the season.

Badgers Prep For Iowa Tilt

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The University of Wisconsin football squad returned to regular drills yesterday to tune up for the Iowa game a week from Saturday.

Coach Harry Stuhldreher gave his Badgers a rest Monday and looked for substitutes for Ray Mals, Jack Mead and Hal Haberman, all ends on the injured list.

Bucks Work in Mud

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State university gridiron ground through mud for an hour and a half yesterday and then Coach Carroll Widdoes told sports scribes: "I'm not announcing any lineup for Saturday. You'll have to go on what you saw out there."

Fundamentals for Illini

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—The University of Illinois football team stressed fundamentals of the game in a long workout yesterday as Coach Ray Eliot attempted to snap his Illini out of the doldrums that forced them to settle for a 7-7 tie with Wisconsin last week because

Hawklets Drill Pass Defense For Franklin

Pass defense was the main issue again this week on the City high practice field as the Hawklets prepared for an anticipated aerial barrage from the Franklin Thunderbolts Friday evening. Weakness on the ground will force the Bolts to take to the air, Iowa City scouting reports say.

Set to give their Dads a good show this weekend, Coach Wally Schwank's boys are not taking the reportedly weak Cedar Rapids aggregation lightly, and checked signals on both Monday and Tuesday afternoons.

The Little Hawks retain their fifth place berth in Mississippi Valley conference standings, which they held last week. Marshalltown was not a league opponent and last week's victory had no bearing on the Hawklets' position in that column. A win over Franklin would give them three conference wins against one loss and a tie, and would raise their standing in the championship race.

Dads day, always a big occasion in Iowa City, is recognition day for the fathers of the whole squad, and is looked forward to by both the boys and their Dads with no little enthusiasm. All the Dads will be seated together and will be introduced to the audience at half time. They will be supplied with numbers corresponding to those of their sons on the gridiron.

All-Stater Reports For Iowa Cage Drills

Coach Pops Harrison again last night tried to figure out how he can possibly get all of his first string material on the traveling squad, as Dave Spencer, brother of last year's playing coach, Jack, reported to the head basketball mentor.

Spencer, an all-stater from Davenport in 1939, has recently been discharged from the service, where he played on Alameda Coast Guard quintet for the past two seasons. He stands six feet four inches, and is a stalwart on defense.

Although Spencer will not enter school until November, he should be in shape and ready for action by the time the season rolls around in early December.

Irish Review Pass Defense for Hawks

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—The Notre Dame football squad received a review of Iowa plays last night and engaged in a lengthy dummy scrimmage.

Coach Hugh Devore sent his men through pass defense maneuvers, specializing on ways to neutralize the pitches of Iowa's Jerry Niles, and concluded the session with an offensive passing drill. Frank Danczewicz, Irish star quarterback, and Joe Gasparella did the tossing.

Minor injuries suffered by Bill Fischer, Terry Brennan, Tom Potter and Bob Skoglund during the Pitt victory last Saturday are not expected to keep them from participating against Iowa Saturday.

First Reward to $25,000 Search by Branch Rickey—Dodgers Sign Negro Shortstop

'Do My Best,' Says Robinson

MONTREAL (AP)—Robinson, himself, had little to say about his part in the unprecedented event.

"Of course I can't begin to tell you how happy I am that I am the first member of my race in organized ball," declared the lean, quiet, six-foot 190-pounder. "I realize how much it means to me, to my race and to baseball. I can only say I'll do my very best to come through in every manner."

The word that for the second in his long career in baseball Rickey was taking an especially revolutionary step—25 years ago he founded the "chain store" system of player development—came as a complete surprise even to the few baseball writers and photographers summoned for the event.

With the writers and photographers assembled, young Rickey and Racine made the announcement. Rickey Jr. went on to explain that both he and his father—who was not present—realized the implications and possible reactions in other quarters of the diamond world.

More Comments Fall On Robinson Signing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
T. Y. Baird, co-owner of the Kansas City Monarchs—"I will appeal to Commissioner Chandler. We won't take it lying down. Robinson signed a contract with us last year and I feel he is our property. If Chandler lets Montreal and Brooklyn get by with this he's really starting a mess."

Horace Stoneham, president of the New York Giants—"That's really a fine way to start the program... we will scout the Negro leagues next year, looking for younger prospects. However, the primary responsibility we have is finding places for our returning servicemen numbering into the hundreds, and only if they prove incapable will new players be placed on our clubs."

Clark Griffith, president of the Washington Senators—"The only question that occurs to me is whether organized ball has the right to sign a player from the Negro league. That is a well-established league and organized baseball shouldn't take their players. The Negro league is entitled to full recognition as a full-fledged baseball organization."

William E. Benswanger, president of Pittsburgh Pirates—"It is an affair of the Brooklyn and Montreal clubs whom they may sign, whether white or colored."

baseball contract last night, represents the first fruit of a $25,000 search which has been conducted secretly by President Branch Rickey of the Brooklyn Dodgers for the past three years in this country, Mexico and Latin America.

Although Robinson is the first Negro to set his name to a contract in organized baseball, he is only one of some 25 Negroes who have been named by Rickey's scouts as potential big time or minor league performers and who are being lined up by the Brooklyn executive to play with the Dodgers or their farm clubs, of which Montreal is one.

Three Brooklyn scouts, operating independently and none aware of the others' activities, were said to have reported unanimously that Robinson was the ideal Negro star to lead the invasion of organized baseball after watching him play with the Kansas City Monarchs. He appeared at the Brooklyn office last Aug. 29 and agreed to sign a contract by Nov. 1.

"I have never meant to be a crusader," Rickey said, "and I hope I won't be regarded as one. My purpose is to be fair to all people, and my selfish objective is to win baseball games."

Hagberg Complains of Gripes About Middle Football Team

WASHINGTON (AP)—Everybody is shooting at the Navy and a lot of people want to know "what to hell is wrong" with the Middle football team.

Commander Oscar Hagberg, head coach, candidly said so yesterday before Washington's Touchdown club.

He plainly indicated displeasure over criticism directed at his team, and that he thinks it is a pretty fair combination—undefeated and scored on only once, in last week's 20-6 victory over Georgia Tech.

The Middies beat Tech by capitalizing on a blocked punt, an intercepted pass and a fumble on the 17-yard line.

"We ran into a wildcat... the best tackling team in years... and they knocked the hell out of us," Hagberg said. Then last night's announcement possibly came as no complete surprise at that time Rickey said.

"Most vital in considering the Negro and organized baseball is the question of maturity. Admitting that racial equality in all sports must be an eventual fact, is this the right time to proclaim it in baseball? Is it too soon? Would the Negro cause—and he has a cause—be thrown for a loss...?"

"It has been on my mind for forty years, ever since I coached football at my alma mater, Ohio Wesleyan. The West Virginia team refused to play us if our Negro backfield star, Charlie Thomas, was in the lineup. Later we went to South Bend for a game with Notre Dame, and Charlie was refused a room in a hotel. I finally prevailed upon the manager to put a cot in my room."

At the time of this talk, it now is clear, Rickey had long since had his ivory hunters coming from the Caribbean area, Panama, Mexico and the entire United States, evaluating thousands of Negro players. Ostensibly they were scouting talent for the Brooklyn Brown Dodgers, who were organized by Rickey and who played some games last season at Ebets field. Actually, they were stalking much bigger game.

Former Seahawk End Gets Navy Release; Joins Chicago Cards

Lieut. Jim Poole, outstanding end of the 1944 Seahawk football team, yesterday was released to inactive duty at the Great Lakes navy discharge center, according to pre-flight school officials.

A former Mississippi university player, Poole plans to finish out the football season with the Chicago Cards, who borrowed him this year from the New York Giants.

GRINNELL (AP)—The Grinnell college faculty committee yesterday voted to cancel the Grinnell-Central football game Nov. 3 because of squad injuries and the low grades of seven players.

The faculty committee will review the situation Nov. 5 to consider the advisability of going ahead with the Wartburg game Nov. 10.

Grinnell's 20-man squad lost to Carthage college last Saturday in its first game of the season.

First Contests Played In Intramural League; More Slated Today

The intramural touch football league successfully completed its first night of play last night, with close games and promise of fine future competition marking most of the eight contests played. "Polish" could not describe any of the squads, as early season ruggedness was predominant, but by the time next week rolls around, most teams should be up to pre-war intramural standards.

Scores of last night's games are as follows:

- Section 1
Phi Epsilon Pi 14, Sigma Chi 13 (overtime)
Delta Chi 31, Alpha Tau Omega 12
Sigma Nu 12, Sigma Phi Epsilon 0
 - Section 2
Beta Theta 7, Phi Delta Theta 6 (overtime)
Phi Gamma Delta 13, Sigma Alpha Epsilon 12
Phi Kappa Psi 25, Theta Xi 0
 - Section 3 (small dorms)
Delta Tau Delta 32, Byington 0
Pi Kappa Alpha 13, West Lambert 8
- Tomorrow marks the opening of the professional fraternities schedule, with three games on tap. All games will be played on the fields behind the reserve library.
- Nu Sigma Nu vs. Phi Beta Pi
 - Alpha Kappa Kappa vs. Phi Chi
 - Phi Rho Sigma vs. Psi Omega

Russia Gets Olympic Bid

CHICAGO (AP) The International Amateur Athletic federation has cleared the way for Russia's entry in the 1948 Olympic games—if that nation wishes to accept an unprecedented invitation to membership.

Avery Brundage, president of the United States Olympic committee, said yesterday the I.A.A.F. "extended the hand of friendship" to Russia through the invitation which was made by its council at a meeting in Stockholm last August.

Admitting the invitation was one of the most significant developments in international athletic competition, Brundage said two factors might bar Russia's acceptance.

"First Russia is an extremely proud nation," he declared, "and may decline to appear in international competition without confidence of victory. Secondly, such competition means fraternization with athletes of other nations, something Russia generally has not permitted."

He explained that Russia last competed in the Olympics at the Stockholm games in 1912. "Since the revolution, the country has kept its huge sports program strictly within its own borders."

Brundage, who attended the Stockholm meeting after conferring in London with the interna-

Johnson, Kelso Back in Good Form; Hand Captain Saturday

That day of rest Monday must have been more than a shot in the arm for the Iowa football squad. It seemed to convince them that they could upset Notre Dame Saturday, thereby keeping up the fine old Iowa tradition of surprising the Irish every time the two schools get together.

Spirit in the Iowa camp was like that last night and it came as a welcome change over the rigor mortis attitude that preceded the Indiana game. All the Hawks had new zip and talked it up plenty in the lengthy drill which continued on under lights.

Highlight of the evening's performance was the fine form of Art Johnson, 210-pound fullback, who returned to a first string backfield spot. Apparently recovered from the ankle injury that has been plaguing him so far, Art flashed his best form of the season. Crowe said he would be ready for full service Saturday.

But the condition of Nelson Smith and "Oz" Simons, wasn't so encouraging. Smith still has to take it easy with a bad back and Simons hasn't hit top shape since his illness last week.

Coach Clem Crowe was liberal with his experimental cocktails yesterday and juggled the backfield as he sent the Hawk first stringers through rapid-fire drills.

Jack Kelso, relegated to a third string spot the last two weeks with a strained thigh muscle, alternated with Simons at the first string left half spot. Kelso, too, looked in greatly improved shape and probably will see considerable action Saturday.

Both Lou Boda, starting left half last week, and Wendell Weller, sensational second string quarterback, worked with the second team, but Crowe gave no indication that they had been demoted. Paul Golden, Clay Colbert and Herb Braun all took a fling at the right half slot during the evening.

Most of the men who saw action Saturday were withheld from ning game last week, still suffered from a painful rib injury, but should be ready by Saturday.

Dan Sheehan, who joined the Hawks last week after getting his discharge, switched to his old end post from fullback, where the coaches tried him previously. He played end for Iowa in 1942.

Bob Knowlton, a former marine, showed up well in last night's scrimmage and probably will be at tackle, position he played for Iowa in 1941.

Eight ROTC Cadets Receive Promotions

Eight cadets in the reserve officers' training corps of the university have been promoted to the grade of cadet technical sergeant by order of Capt. Richard D. Coughlin, commanding officer. The announcement was released yesterday by First Lt. James McNabney, adjutant. They are: Robert Clawson, A1 of Council Bluffs; Melvin Foster, A1 of Davenport; Carl Grant, A1 of Omaha, Neb.; Stuart McConkie, A1 of Cedar Rapids; Harold Caudle, A2 of Blairsburg; William Graham, E1 of Baltimore, Md.; Douglas Spear, A2 of Oakdale, and Edward Stiles, E2 of Burlington.

Culbertson, Browne Speak On Russia

Agreeing that a war between the United States and Russia would be disastrous to civilization, Lewis Browne and Ely Culbertson outlined the forces in this country and the rest of the world which would make such a war inevitable. They spoke last night in Iowa Union to 1,400 university students and townspeople.

Their discussion opened this year's university lecture series. Dr. Earl E. Harper, chairman of the senate board on university lectures, introduced the speakers. Both Browne and Culbertson have lectured on the Iowa campus before.

Since Britain is allied to us too closely and is too weak to fight us—she has become a "lion of least resistance"—and France has become a third rate power, the only conceivable war would be one between the United States and Russia, according to Browne. Some elements consider war with Russia inevitable; some consider it desirable, he declared.

Threat to Business

First among these elements is the big business group, the "economic royalists," who see Russia as a threat to their invested rights. Russia is hazardous to them; therefore, they conclude she must be hazardous to the nation.

The "social fascists," people like Senators Rankin and Bilbo, see in Russia the opposite of all they like. They distrust the equality of minority groups existing in Russia, Browne pointed out.

The "religious devotees" form another element, according to Browne. Both Catholics and Protestants look with hostility at Russia and see her as a menace to all that is Christian. The "perfectionist liberals" think of Russia as an evil in the world, an opinion which is echoed by labor, particularly the A.F.L.

Another undefinable element consisting of military personnel who have never been to the front but retain all the prejudices of the rear lines. Red-baiting newspapers often color the news about the Soviet and blow up every item. Browne specifically named the Chicago Tribune and the Hearst papers.

"Although it might seem that we could defeat Russia because we apparently have all the materials," declared Browne, "that idea is false. Russia already has proven that she can fight even when it appears that she is losing."

Russia Too Vast

Another reason that we could not hope to defeat Russia, he continued, is that she is so vast that to wipe her out would be an impossibility. Though the atomic bomb might destroy a city here and there, a territory like the steppes or tundra could not be demolished by any number of bombs.

"The Russian people already have taken much more and still can take more than we ever could," Browne stated. He also pointed out that even if we did conquer Russia, we would be faced with the necessity of polic-

Social Life Survives—Central Party Committee Work

By HOLLY BAKER

If it were not for the central party committee which was set up as a wartime emergency, it probably would have been impossible to have maintained any sort of social life at the university during the war years, according to Dr. Earl E. Harper, director of Iowa Union and adviser to the committee.

In prewar years there were 14 all-university parties scheduled, each one sponsored by some campus organization and administered by a committee from within that organization.

Name Bands Scarce

"When war came it became apparent that many organizations would not be in a position to sponsor parties. It was becoming almost impossible to secure name bands," Dr. Harper said. Previously it had been understood that big name bands played at every all-university party. Local bands were used only for smaller private parties in Iowa Union.

In the summer sessions of 1941 and 1942 the Union director experimented with staging $1-per-couple dances with music provided by local bands. The dances were so successful that student leaders on campus suggested that provision for some such dances during the regular school year be made in connection with the wartime program of the university.

The university social committee, composed of both faculty members and students and headed by Dean E. M. MacEwen of the college of medicine, met in the summer of 1942 and appointed a sub-committee, also of faculty members and students, to work out plans for the development of such a program.

The following measures, subject to student approval, were adopted by the social committee: (1) suspension of the regular party schedule for the duration of the war and (2) substituting for frequent $1-per-couple dances with the understanding that local bands would be engaged or bands available within the same price range as a local band.

Shortly afterwards a group of 50 students representing a cross-section of the campus met and approved the program with the additional provision that "a few name bands be secured if and when possible to point up the party schedule." The social committee formally adopted the new program, effective for the duration of the war, and authorized the appointment of a student central ing the country. "The idea is preposterous," he said, "as we are already trying to police Japan and Germany and a number of other European and Asiatic countries."

We have good reason to be suspicious of the Soviet Union, according to Browne, as her government has behaved strangely; she has been ungentlemanly and secretive. The people of the United States naturally suspect a totalitarian government and a Communist state because of our contacts with Communism here. However, Browne declared, Russians have as much contempt for Communists in party committee of 16 members to take charge.

Dances Twice Monthly

Throughout 1942-43 $1-per-couple dances were scheduled every other week and proved very successful. A sufficient balance had been built up in the treasury to justify engaging a name band. However, the central party committee decided, entirely of its own volition, to make a bigger event than usual of a $1-per-couple dance and to spend $1,000 for the purchase of a jeep to give to the government.

In 1943 the committee decided it was impractical to give a dance as often as every two weeks. Although the number of dances was reduced, the project was continued throughout the year. Servicemen on campus, the A. S. T. P., meteorology students and the personnel of the Pre-Flight school were permitted to attend. If it were not for the patronage of these groups, it might have been impossible to keep the dances going. One by one local orchestras were disbanding and it was becoming increasingly difficult to obtain them.

As all bands for parties last year were not local organizations, the price tickets for the dances was raised to $1.50. For the first time since the beginning of the war, the university was able to engage a name band again for a university dance. Two well-known bands, Les Brown and Frankie Masters, were featured in dances the second semester. Higher prices were charged by special permission for these parties, both of which paid for themselves.

Postwar Schedule

After the surrender of Japan this summer, the university social committee appointed a special sub-committee to plan a postwar schedule. These resolutions, which are now being put into effect as fast as possible, were reported to and adopted by the social committee:

(1) A continuation of the development of the couple dance principle rather than returning to stag parties; (2) return of sponsorship of dances on the party schedule to their prewar sponsors; (3) reduction of the total number of all-university parties a year to 10, five each semester, and (4) four of the dances to be formal—the Junior Prom, Senior Ball, Military Ball and the Club Cabaret.

Members of the sub-committee were: Prof. Kirk H. Porter, head of the political science department, chairman; C. Woody Thompson, dean of students; Dr. Harper; Ann Mercer, A4 of Iowa City; Kathleen the United States as we have. The two Communist factions have little in common.

According to Culbertson, Russia is expanding rapidly beyond her agreed frontiers, and the only nation which can stop her is the United States. If this expansion is permitted to continue unchecked, in 15 years Russia's power will be irresistible.

Distrust

"Russia is distrustful of us," Culbertson believes. "She feels the Anglo-American will to crush her before she becomes too strong."

Culbertson advanced two principle causes of wars of aggression: the absence of central authority and the increase of military weapons. "Now we have our choice," he said. "We must either conquer the world or conquer war."

Culbertson outlined a plan for peace of his own creation which is based on the quota force system. Briefly, the plan includes three main provisions:

(1) A federative government consisting of a council of trustees and a high court. The United States, Great Britain and Russia each will have two members; France and China, one apiece, and two members to represent the remaining states collectively. The power of the council will be limited to suppression of armed aggression by or against member states, and control of the production of scientific weapons.

(2) World-wide quota limitation of the production of atomic and other scientific weapons.

(3) A world peace force, consisting of an international and five national contingents, to suppress aggression of illegal production of scientific weapons.

'University of Life' Groups to Conduct Forums Sunday

The University of Life will meet in groups Sunday to conduct forums. These forums will be under the leadership of Maud McBroom, Dr. H. J. Thornton, Ruth Gallaher and Dr. L. L. Dunnington.

Sponsors of the tribes are Mr. and Mrs. Elwin K. Shain, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Sutherland, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blake and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Buxton.

There will be a meeting Thursday at 7:30 p. m. at the Wesley Foundation annex, 213 E. Market street, of group leaders: Daryl Kobes, Margaret Marsh, Rox Shain, Harriett Woods, Wilber J. Teeters, Doris Figg, Dick Beck and Betty Vevera; also program and recreation chairmen, Paul Opstad, Joan Wicks, Bob Crum and Maxine Wilson.

O'Connor, C4 of Iowa City, and Jean Newland, A4 of Belle Plaine.

Since the abrupt end of the war has found some organizations which formerly sponsored parties still unable to take on the responsibility, the central party committee which functioned last year will assume the administration of those parties. The Dads' day dance, for example, previously planned by the A. F. I., will be administered by the central party committee. "Fall Flurry," the first all-university party of this year also is sponsored by the committee.

The 10 parties authorized on the new postwar schedule are: the Freshman Party, Sophomore Cotillion, Junior Prom and Senior Ball (the name has been changed from Senior Hop), to be sponsored by their classes; the Homecoming Party and Club Cabaret, under the sponsorship of the Union Board; the Military Ball, military department; Spinsters' Spree, University Women's association; "I" Blanket Hop (Dad's day), A. F. I., and May Frolic (Mother's day), Mortar Board.

Sponsorship

Although all these parties have been scheduled for postwar years, that does not necessarily mean that all will be sponsored by the above-mentioned organizations this year or that all the dances will be held this year. As the university would like to return to its traditional social functions as soon as possible, every attempt will be made by various campus organizations and the central party committee to stage the dances this year if it can be done.

Ten parties have been scheduled for future years instead of 14, but actually there will not be fewer dances since several dances have become "closed" parties. For example, when the engineering department first began sponsoring the Mecca Ball, it was necessary to make the dance an all-university one because the department was too small to support the dance alone. The growth of the engineering department, however, now permits the dance to be "closed" to students outside the department.

All profits made during the war years have been kept in the treasury by the central party committee except for that money used to pay for the jeep, to pay for parties which didn't pay for themselves and to guarantee the two name bands of last year. TWO BOYS, GIRL DIE IN FIRE

THE SIGMA ALPHA MU FRATERNITY HOUSE fire at New Brunswick, N. J., in which two Rutgers university students and a 19-year-old guest died and six others, including a second young woman, were injured, is under exhaustive investigation by the university. The fraternity has been placed on indefinite social probation for violation of a rule prohibiting unchaperoned entertaining of girls in campus fraternity houses. Started by sparks from a fireplace, the fire broke out at 3:30 a. m., according to a survivor, who said the boys retired to a third floor, while the two girls slept in a second-floor room, because their hosts were unable to find them overnight accommodations elsewhere in the town following the Rutgers-Rhode Island football game.
