Truman Advocates Wage Increases

OPA Ends Shoe Rationing

Administrator Bowles Foresees No Hardship, Cites Increased Output

WASHINGTON (AP)—The end of shoe rationing was ordered yesterday, effective at 12:01 a. m. (local time) today.

Terminating a program which began on February 8, 1943, OPA Administrator Chester Bowles said rationing can be lifted because shoe production has increased substantially since V-J day.

Some trouble spots can be expected for a while, Bowles said, adding that customers may not always be able to buy the styles they want.

"But both the war production board and the OPA have agreed that no general hardship should result from the discontinuance of shoe rationing."

The OPA chief reported that shoe output climbed from 20,000,000 pairs in August to around 28,000,000 pairs this month.

Bowles said the outlook for November and December is for 29 to 30 million pairs of shoes each month. This, he added, would be equal to demand before the war.

OPA called on shoe merchants to give preferential treatment to returning servicemen and women.

Penalties Advocated For Strike Violations

House Military Group Favors Strict Action In Handling Unions

Penalties for unions that violate no-strike contracts and abolition of government strike vote procedure were recommended yesterday by the house military committee.

Other prime developments in the labor picture were:

1. The San Francisco bay AFL-CIO machinists strike spread and kept 50,000 persons away from work.

2. Motion picture strike leaders ordered picketing to be resumed today unless a final settlement of the AFL dispute is forthcoming.

3. American Airlines restored normal flight operations as CIO workers ended a week-old strike.

4. The CIO packinghouse workers sought a strike vote among 200,000 members for a 25 cent an hour pay increase.

5. New and continuing strikes kept 275,000 persons inactive.

The house military committee voted 15 to 9 to approve a provision that any unions striking in violation of no-strike agreements with employers would lose their collective bargaining rights for a year.

The spread of a strike of 12,000 AFL and CIO machinists over demands of a 30 percent wage increase put 50,000 persons off the job in 186 San Francisco bay area plants.

As union craftsmen in other fields refused to cross picket lines, shipyard, manufacturing plants, warehouses, machine shops, refineries and foundries closed.

Max F. Lowe, spokesman for San Francisco shop employers, declared management was ready to negotiate but both unions insisted their demands were not subject to collective bargaining. He termed "exorbitant" the demands for wage boosts from $1.28 to $1.65 an hour.

Parent unions have not sanctioned the walkout and the California Metal Trades association, representing most of the employers, said the wage demand coupled with other demands would bring total increases up to 35 to 40 percent.

Picketing in the prolonged Hollywood motion picture dispute was ordered to be resumed today if the issues remained unsettled.

To Remain Open

DES MOINES (AP)—The Des Moines war production board (WPB) office will remain open until the end of the year, S. J. Campbell of Chicago, regional WPB director, announced yesterday. He said the Davenport office will be closed Nov. 30.

Agree On Jap Council

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Russia were believed near agreement last night on a plan to create a four-power council for Japan which would not abridge the supreme authority of General MacArthur.

High United States officials indicated this government would accept such a council in return for Russia's participation in the Allied Far Eastern advisory commission which met for the first time in Washington yesterday without a Soviet representative.

Russia long has contended that the four-power council—composed of United States, Russian, British and Chinese representatives—should be established in Tokyo in advance of the Washington advisory commission. The commission adjourned yesterday for a week with the hope that Russia would be on hand for the second meeting.

American officials, who asked not to be identified, said the United States, Britain and China had been "doing everything possible" to get Russia to "sit in on the Japanese situation."

The four powers were carrying on uninterrupted conversations upon the matter through diplomatic channels in Moscow, officials said. They disclosed that three possible solutions had been discussed:

1. Expansion of the advisory commission's powers.

2. Establishment of a four-power council in Tokyo to work in close cooperation with MacArthur.

3. A combination of the first two—a change in the commission's regulations so that it would send its advice direct to MacArthur rather than to the member governments, but also the setting up of a modified Tokyo council to assist the supreme commander.

The American officials admitted that any solution now would have to be a "face-saving" device for all concerned.

The four major Pacific Allies were discussing functional changes in the Far Eastern advisory commission before that body ever assembled, it was disclosed.

New Brazil President Will 'Rule as Jurist'

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Chief Justice Jose Linhares, sworn in yesterday as Brazil's 15th president, said that elections would be held as scheduled Dec. 2 and "I will govern the country as a jurist" until the elected president takes office.

Getulio Vargas, the "strong man" who ruled Brazil for 15 years, will fly today to his home in southern Brazil, Linhares announced. Vargas resigned Monday night after the army, navy and airforce withdrew their support. Linhares automatically became president under the 1937 constitution.

Truman to Meet With Attlee, King to Discuss Atomic Energy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Great Britain, Canada and the United States, creators of the atomic bomb, have decided on a meeting here around Nov. 11 to talk about the future of atomic energy.

Announcement was made simultaneously in London and Washington yesterday that British Prime Minister Clement Attlee and Canada's Mackenzie King will meet with President Truman on

Triange Club Plans Homecoming Party

Wrestling, Boxing, Tumbling Exhibitions Features of Program

Two wrestling exhibitions will be among the features of the Triange club's athletic program at its annual Homecoming party this year, according to William J. Petersen of the history department, chairman. The party will be given on the third floor of Iowa Union shortly after the pep rally Friday evening.

Loy Julius, Big Ten champion in 1940 and 1941, will meet Dick Barker of Osage, second place winner in the Iowa state high school meet. An army air corps pilot during the war, Julius flew 60 missions over Germany.

A wrestling coach for 24 years, H. M. (Mike) Howard of the physical education department will referee the wrestling exhibitions. Howard has trained 21 Big Ten champions.

In the second exhibition will be Romeo G. Macias, A2 of Davenport, Big Ten champion in 1943 and 1944, and Bill Quinlan, A1 of Clinton, a new member of the university wrestling team.

After a welcome by Petersen, master of ceremonies, President Virgil M. Hancher will present a brief pep talk.

Also on the program is Catherine A. Yerkes, A2 of Toledo, a baton twirler, who will be accompanied by Leo Cortimiglia, C4 of Iowa City, on the accordion. She won the Hawkeye music festival baton twirling contest in 1939 and 1940 and the central Iowa twirling contest in 1941.

A boxing exhibition between Lt. DeWitt A. Portal, head coach at Iowa pre-flight, and Mazofer Gokbora, A4, amateur welterweight champion of Turkey, will be presented during the program.

Performers for a tumbling exhibition on the trampoline will be Lt. Joseph Gialombardo, national nastic coach at U. C. L. A. and now head coach at Iowa pre-flight, and Lt. Joseph Gialombardo, national A. A. U. tumbling champion. Lieutenant Griffin was on the United States Olympic team for 1936.

All alumni and faculty members are invited to attend the Triange club reception, Petersen said.

Refreshments of coffee, doughnuts, sandwiches, chocolate and apples will be served.

this greatest issue of modern times.

There was no sign that any of the other Allies, including Russia, had been invited to the parley.

Also the house military committee approved, 17 to 10, a bill establishing a nine-man commission with vast power over all sources of atomic energy and research.

The commission would serve part time and be paid by the day, but would appoint a full-time, $15,000 a year director and a $12,000 deputy. It could acquire all available mineral deposits used in atomic development and would supervise, as well as "encourage," further scientific research in the subject.

The bill provides 30 years in jail and $300,000 fine for anyone who wilfully jeopardizes the interests of the United States by imparting any atomic energy secrets to a foreign power.

The commission would not be permitted to pass on to any foreign power any atomic energy secret without the approval of the president. The committee rejected a provision that would have given congress a veto on this subject.

In London, former Prime Minister Winston Churchill expressed hope yesterday that the British-American-Canadian talks in Washington early next month would cover a much wider field of international problems than the question of atomic energy alone.

Churchill said he would like to see the conversations "range over everything which will lead to good relations between ourselves and the United States."

Attlee's announcement immediately stirred speculation that Generalissimo Stalin also may have been invited.

100,000 Chinese Reds Attack Near Chining

CHUNGKING, Wednesday (AP)—A central government military dispatch today reported 100,000 Chinese Communist troops attacked government forces around Chining on the Peiping Suiyuan railroad in the inner Mongolian province of Suiyuan.

The dispatch acknowledged that Chining had been captured by the Communists.

American marines, "Walking a tightrope" to maintain order in some Japanese-surrendered sectors until the government can assume control, cannot keep it up forever without serious trouble, one high American army officer at Shanghai asserted yesterday. The central government, he declared, had better send troops quickly to such potentially-explosive spots as the Chingwangtao area of northwest Hopeh province.

In Chungking, both sides bargain back and forth without noticeable headway as the struggle for supremacy in north China and inner Mongolia goes on.

Military Merger Unveiled

WASHINGTON (AP)—Amid praise from sympathetic senators, the army yesterday unveiled its detailed charts for a single cabinet department with authority over land, sea and air forces.

Sensitive to strong navy opposition to any "merger" of the navy and war departments, the army spokesman quickly assured legislators "this is not a proposal to merge the army, navy and air force into a single service."

Instead, Lieut. General J. Lawton Collins described the proposal as one that would "guarantee adequate autonomy" for the navy, the marines and navy air units, as well as the air forces and the army. All would be placed under a single civilian "secretary of the armed forces."

Senator Hill (D., Ala.), who presided at the senate military affairs committee hearing, said the unification proposal would "carry on the team play" that won the war.

Senator Austin (R., Vt.), asked General Collins, chief of staff of the ground forces, how the army plan differed from one presented by secretary of the navy James Forrestal at earlier hearings.

"The navy study reached the very strange conclusion there should be additional diversion into three cabinet departments instead of one," Collins replied.

He referred to proposals for cabinet members in charge of air, land and sea forces.

Collins suggested congress could find some "very excellent material for a single department" in the recent navy report. He said it clearly depicted "waste, duplication and overlapping" under separate army and navy departments.

Collins said "the war department plan leaves all military control squarely in the hands of the President," as commander-in-chief. There would be a chief of staff for all the armed forces; and separate chiefs of staff for air, army and navy.

The plan suggested a special military director for "common supply and hospitalization."

On the civilian side aiding the "secretary of the armed forces" would be an undersecretary and four assistant secretaries.

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY Fred Vinson sells President Truman one of the first "Victory Loan Bonds" at the White House, inaugurating the drive which is expected to top eleven billion dollars.

Truck Fire Leaves Omelet, Fried Chicken

Fried chicken and egg omelet was all that was left of a truckload of frozen chickens and eggs that were destroyed by fire yesterday at 1:15 a. m.

H. L. Harvey, driver of the Des Moines Transportation Co. truck, reported to officials that he went to sleep at the wheel, causing his truck to leave the road.

Harvey suffered a head wound, and the truck was badly damaged by fire, the sheriff's report said. The accident occurred two miles west of Coralville on highway 6.

HALLOWEEN! Spooks Are Prepared

"Wait until you see our atomic ectoplasm! Boy is that something!"

The ghost leaned forward. "And we've got a new proximity fuse scream that will send such chills up your back that it will knock every vertebra out of joint!"

"This is going to be a wonderful Halloween!" the spirit said with a cracked laugh. "Even the witches have rocket powered broomsticks!"

The ghost leaned back on the tombstone and expelled a large blast of cigar smoke. "Our new plan is to combine science with superstition."

"You see, during the war things were really tough for us legitimate spooks. How could you expect us to compete with air raids, rockets and atomic bombs?"

"And those damned Germans with their concentration camps! How could we match that sort of horror? But now we have most of those Gestapo guys on OUR side!"

The ghost waved his cigar and sent a mad stream of laughter down the valleys of Oakland cemetery.

"The pines moaned as a cold wind tore at them. Dry leaves scratched hollowly at the ground and the white tombstones.

"Yep, this is sure going to be a wonderful Halloween," the spirit said, drawing on his cigar.

AP Calls Meeting To Vote Applications For New Members

NEW YORK (AP)—A special meeting of members of The Associated Press has been called for Nov. 28 in New York City to amend the organization's bylaws to conform with a supreme court decree concerning admission of new members.

Five applications for A. P. membership will be voted upon at the meeting. They are:

Marshall Field, Chicago Sun, night report; Hearst Publications, incorporated, Oakland (Calif.) Post-Enquirer, day report; Times Publishing company, Detroit; Times, day report, and Eleanor Medill Patterson, Washington (D. C.) Times Herald, day and night reports.

The supreme court ruled that the A. P. membership, in voting on applications for membership, must disregard possible competitive effects on existing members. The court's 5 to 3 decision upheld a lower court ruling which so declared.

Authorizes Higher Prices

President Says Cuts In Earnings 'Road To Unemployment'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman last night backed higher wages for American workers generally and in some cases authorized price increases to make them possible.

In a broadcast to the nation, he said most of industry could grant its employees more pay without getting higher ceilings on the goods produced.

But in industries considered by the government to be "essential to reconversion," wage boosts necessary to attract needed manpower will be permitted, even if prices rise.

Other Retreats

He authorized, also, some other retreats from the stern hold-the-line price policy he laid down immediately after Japanese surrender.

Declaring that peacetime cuts in earnings are a "sure road to wide unemployment" if not corrected, he named three classes of workers entitled to wage boosts although they mean rise in prices of the goods they produce.

"I wonder how many of you know that many war workers have already had to take, or will soon have to take, a cut in their wartime pay by one-quarter or more," he said in his long-awaited wage-price broadcast.

"... If nothing is done to help the workers in this situation, millions of families will have to tighten their belts by several notches."

But the president stated the nation must "above all else hold the line on prices" in general and told labor it has a "stern responsibility" to see that demands for pay increases are reasonable.

Without mentioning any percentage of wage increases, the president issued simultaneously an executive order authorizing stabilization administrator John C. Collet to approve wage increases under three classifications in which the war labor board has found increases necessary to correct "maladjustment" or "inequity."

Raises Permitted

This would permit raises (a) Where the percentage increase in average straight time hourly earnings since January, 1941, has not equalled the increase in the cost of living between January, 1941, and September, 1945.

(b) Where necessary to correct inequities in wage rates among plants in the same industry or locality, "with due regard to normal competitive relationships."

(c) Where necessary to insure full production in an industry designated by the stabilization director, as essential to reconversion "and in which existing wage rates or salaries are inadequate to the recruitment of needed manpower."

The president, in his radio address, put squarely up to the house ways and means committee responsibility for failure to enact his proposal for unemployment compensation up to a nationwide maximum of $25 a week for 26 weeks.

"I hope that this committee will fulfill its obligation to the people of the nation, and will give the members of the house an early chance to vote on this important legislation," he said.

Workers Concerned

The president declared the workers of the nation also "feel a deep concern about full employment legislation" which he recommended and which has been stalemated in congress.

"The American people are entitled to know now that this government stands for prosperity and jobs—not depression and relief," he declared.

"Passage of a full employment bill will give the American people this assurance."

Criticizing also a pending legislative provision turning the employment service back to the states, he said he was sure the workers of the nation "feel the same way" about what is happening to the United States employment service in the two houses.

The president declared that wage increases are imperative "to cushion the shock to our workers, to sustain adequate purchasing power and to raise the national income."

STUDENTS OPEN CAB BUSINESS ON CAMPUS

TWO ENTERPRISING STUDENTS, Carl Gross and Luther Myser, are getting ready to start in business in Iowa City as the Campus Cab company. Shown above, they are watching a painter finish the signs on their two cabs. Monday night the city council voted to issue them cab licenses and to permit them to have a cab stand on Clinton street across from the campus. "We plan to cater to students and keep our rates as low as possible," the two former air corps men declare. If business expands, they plan to employ other student-veterans as part time drivers. Gross and Myser will start operating this weekend.

Campus Cabs Students to Operate Taxi Company

Iowa City and the University of Iowa will have a taxi service owned and operated by students, according to Carl R. (Jim) Gross and Luther R. Myser, who received permission Monday night from the city council to operate the Campus Cab Co.

Gross, who is enrolled in the university as a pre-law student, and Myser, a former student who plans to reenter in February, are veterans of the army airforce.

At present the company has two cabs, a 1942 Plymouth and a 1938 Plymouth. Gross and Myser intend to do the driving now, they said yesterday, and any additional drivers hired will be university students hired on a part-time basis.

The city council allotted the cab company a stand on Clinton street, in front of Kadera's cafe, and Myser said that a two-way telephone will be installed from there to the company's office. Customers will be able to call from there to the office to get a cab, he added.

The rates, which are about the same as those of other cab companies operating in Iowa City, will be 25 cents for one person, 20 cents apiece for two, 15 cents apiece for three, and 10 cents apiece for four or more, for the first mile and one-half, Myser said.

The new cab company is designed to be run for university students by university students, Gross and Myser said, and they expect to use their earnings to defray the expense of their education.

The company will begin operations this weekend, according to Myser.

Editorials:

'It is the Duty of the Athletic Board, Its Director and the Alumni'

TO THE EDITOR:

This is prompted by the sincere feelings of a few loyal S. U. I. students who deem it someone's responsibility to try and bring to light a thoroughly bad situation. Said situation has reached the point where rationalization can no longer save the conscience of the average S. U. I. backer. Here are the circumstances, as seen by our particular group. Iowa is one of the wealthiest states in the union. It is a state of which we should all be able to be justly proud. Our particular concern, as students, is with the State University of Iowa. We have always been proud to claim ourselves a part of it. We hope that those who read this, and who are still able to claim a part with us, will feel as we do, and that thus something might come of our concerted effort.

We have backed our football team for many long years with much patience, which has rarely been rewarded (as in THE example: our famous but column-worn Iron Men of 1939). This year we are again backing our team to the utmost of our student ability, and the fellows on the team deserve it. They have tried bravely, competing time after time against overwhelming odds. They do not lack in school spirit, nor does their student support. However, in every major game, they have been very hopelessly outclassed, outplayed, and, above all, hopelessly outscored. We do not believe this to be the fault of the players, and we don't think it's the fault of the coaching staff. Then why have we a team unfit for Big Ten competition?

There is nothing more pathetic than the frantic efforts of local and state publications to make futile excuses for a team that is mercilessly ridiculed nationally. Nor is there anything more pathetic than the many students who believe implicitly that this is just a bad year—that we are having tough luck. We say that it is NOT because of tough luck. It is NOT an unfortunate coincidence that our late teams have been such consistent losers. It is bad policy. It is lack of material for our team. WHY IS THIS SO?

Could it be that the athletic board, backed by the Greek gods who run this "Athens of the middle west," is not performing its duty?

Criminals' Deaths

The deaths of the Axis master-men, who once held the lives of millions within their grasp, are strange and final repudiations of their evilness.

Dead Nazi war criminals are buried secretly in unmarked graves. The ashes of Vidkun Quisling are being held by police because no one wants them.

The little Norwegian village where Quisling was born has refused to permit his ashes to be buried in its cemetery. Those people could not help that he was born in their village, but they could and did—make the last decision. His remains are not to contaminate their beloved ground.

Allied military leaders in Germany, fearful either that the graves of Nazi officials might one day become shrines—we must see that they don't—or that the German people would demonstrate, are burying dead Nazis in secrecy.

Dr. Robert Ley's body lies in a spot known only to a few American officers. The feared chieftain of Hitler's bund committed suicide rather than face justice.

The man who ruled Germany's labor unions by whip and told the laborers to "find strength through joy" ended a flabby, drunken, fearful hulk. It was not even the end of a man who honestly believed in a sincere, though mistaken, cause. It was the end of a coward.

Something for Everybody

(Chicago Sun) As feared beforehand, the conferees on the tax bill could not resist the temptation to curry favor with corporations at the risk of reducing federal revenues too heavily during the transition to peace.

The senate wanted repeal of the excess profits tax, a step backed by sound economic considerations, and the house wanted to cut the normal rate. The conferees' brilliant solution was to give the corporations both.

So nearly one billion dollars extra will be whacked off tax revenues next year. The next time you hear an oration on the public debt, remember that congress, under pressure from business, helped to increase the debt by cutting tax revenues too sharply and too fast.

It will also be well to remember how tenderly this congress regarded corporation taxes at a time when it was steadfastly refusing to make adequate provision for the human side of reconversion.

The course of the bill emphasizes once more the gross inadequacy of "a little something for everybody" as the rule governing tax legislation. If basic overhauling of the tax structure to meet postwar needs is to proceed on a higher level of statesmanship, congress must begin now to develop the principles of such reform.

Could it be that the alumni are not doing their part in making S. U. I. attractive enough to the many outstanding Iowa athletes who year after year head for Minnesota, Notre Dame, Northwestern, Illinois, and so on? It most certainly could.

It is completely understood by this group (we who are writing this) that Iowa university is primarily and foremost an educational institution. However, it is likewise the understanding of this opinionated few that the youth of today must be attracted to volumes of Shakespeare and Chaucer here at Iowa U. by methods other than the Baconian lectures.

May we remind you of our basketball team, one of the nation's best. May we remind you that it draws not only the top Iowa players, but many from out of state as well. May we infer that with such a basketball team at the same school, there is no logical reason why our football team is a thorn in the side of every SUI'N—of every Iowan?

We feel that it is the duty and the obligation of the board of athletics and its director, and the alumni of Iowa university to do something about the present state of affairs.

It is not our right to select the procedure. It is our right to say factually that there should be no reason why a good Iowa sportsman who is living in Indiana has to sneak home after the game in utter disgrace, whether he happens to be in Lafayette, Bloomington, or South Bend. Why can't loyal Iowans within the state, as well as the university students, see to it that the record of the '39 team be the rule instead of the exception? Don't you think it is time that optimistic preseason write-ups, to which we so valiantly cling, turn out to be something other than sacred cows?

We, as students of the State University of Iowa, agree with the statements set forth in this letter, and wish to see it printed in The Daily Iowan.

(Signed by 18 students, names withheld on request.)

(Editor's Note: Letters to the editor must bear the name and address of the writer. The writer's name will not be printed if so requested, however.)

Covering The Capital

WASHINGTON — President Truman's policy of generally back-slapping congress so far hasn't gotten his legislative program a good nod.

It is well over a month since the president sent his famous 21-point message to congress, setting forth, in more wordage than any president but one ever before had used in a message, just what legislation he felt this country needed.

Since that time—especially since congress was just back from a vacation and should have been fresh and eager to make the legislative fur fly—the boys on the hill haven't passed one piece of major legislation that the president asked for.

Not only that, but the two top drawer measures on the administration program—the full employment bill and the reconversion unemployment pay bill—are either bogged down completely or threatened with amendments and riders that would leave much to be desired by the administration should they become public laws.

It is a fact that the White House is showing no visible signs of concern over the matter yet, but if congress continues to let the whole administration program sink out of sight in a legislative bog, Mr. Truman will have to try some other method than glad-handing.

Therein lies the speculation that almost every one here who has anything to do with government is indulging in these autumn days.

President Roosevelt, who, for most of his 12 years, was at odds with congress and had to fight for almost every major issue until the war and the laws pertaining to the winning of it came along, had one club he wielded for all it was worth—public opinion.

President Roosevelt's "fireside chats" were far more than a report to the nation. They were an appeal for support of his legislative program—a presentation of his case—a stirring of the public mind.

President Roosevelt wasn't always successful, of course, but the number of reform measures that were put through congress over strong opposition by this method were impressive, even if the survey is confined only to one of his terms.

President Truman tossed the Roosevelt technique out the window. New presidents and their congresses nearly always traipse off on a honeymoon but the Truman-79th congress honeymoon was one that will be long remembered. From little informal luncheons to big Democratic picnics, sweetness and light was all over the place.

It still is. Congress apparently enjoys being wooed as much as the president does wooing it. But there the honeymoon ends. When it comes to arranging the furniture the way the president wants it, congress is just smiling dutifully and going about its other business.

On one thing the government sidewalk superintendents are agreed: the next move is up to President Truman.

U. S. Employment Service Advises Returning Veterans—

Maintains Job Information Center

By BOB FAWCETT

With more than 100 veterans returning each month to the Iowa City area, employers are at last getting their choice of men who are ready and willing to go to work.

The United States employment service in Iowa City, under the direction of E. E. Kline, serves as an information center for these returning veterans and, with a technical system of study and observation, places men in jobs for which they are best suited.

A notice of separation is sent to the employment office whenever an Iowa City serviceman receives his discharge from the service. From that time on all the facilities of the employment office and the veteran's benefits are available to the returning serviceman.

A letter is sent to the returnee advising him of the facilities offered by the employment service and offering him help in obtaining a job.

Study All Occupations When the veteran visits the office a war department form listing his civilian and army occupations is carefully studied. From this it is decided what employment will best suit the applicant.

Many veterans do not enter jobs immediately. They take time in "shopping around" and deciding what type of job they're interested in. Then, too, the first few weeks are full of that new experience called "civilian life."

After the summary of his former jobs is studied, the veteran fills out a form describing his educational experience, interest and experience.

Making Most of Army Training

The serviceman's readjustment allowance is paid by the government to any veteran with other than a dishonorable discharge for whom no suitable job exists. This allowance gives the veteran $20 a week not to exceed 52 weeks. This depends on the length of his service. Credit for 24 weeks is given for the first 90 days of service and four weeks is given for each month or major fraction thereof until the 52 week maximum is reached.

From All Around The State

DES MOINES (AP)—United States Senator Alben W. Barkley (D, Ky.) said last night that the United Nations charter will fail "if the peoples of the world permit it to be used for narrow and selfish purposes."

Many charter supporters are convinced it will prove ineffective, the senate majority leader said, if the political systems of Germany and Japan are allowed to survive as a "cohesive element of their war potential."

"Influential voices in Great Britain have already been raised in protest against another move to destroy the political union of the German people," Barkley declared in a speech prepared for the Iowa State Bankers association.

"In the United States there is a segment of opinion which insists that it would be unwise to dismember the Japanese empire."

Barkley said he disagreed completely with the contention that development of the atomic bomb has outmoded the charter.

"It is more important than ever that the nations of the world bind themselves together to prevent war and to preserve peace," he said.

Barkley said the charter is "the best effort at world organization for peace yet undertaken" and "marks an abrupt ending of the traditional American policies and the beginning of a new era in foreign relations."

DES MOINES (AP)—Six Iowa cities are on the tentative schedule for the tour of Hitler's personal automobile in connection with the victory war bond campaign, the Iowa War Finance committee said yesterday. They are Cedar Rapids, Waterloo, Mason City, Spencer, Estherville and Cherokee, starting Dec. 2, with one day in each city in the order named.

OMAHA (AP)—Lt. Col. George W. Ball, former commander of the prisoner of war camp at Clarinda, has been transferred to command the prisoner camp at Atlanta, Neb., seventh service command headquarters announced yesterday.

The camp at Clarinda was closed recently following transfer of its Japanese prisoners to a west coast area.

MARSHALLTOWN (AP)—Tons of freight, some of it perishable, piled up here yesterday as some 65 employees of the BGS truck lines continued idle as the result of a labor dispute. The men quit work Sunday in a dispute over back wages.

DES MOINES (AP)—Sgt. Ralph G. Neppel of Glidden, who lost both his legs below the knees in a successful battle against the Germans, said yesterday he wants to get a job as a rural mail carrier in Iowa as soon as he gets artificial limbs.

Neppel, who was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, was here for a war bond campaign parade last night. He killed 20 Germans and forced the retreat of a 40-ton tank in the battle in which he lost his legs.

A book which relates civilian jobs with those in the army is also available for study. For instance, a storekeeper in the army has experience toward a job as a stock clerk or sales clerk. A radio operator in the air force might find that he is suited for a job as a radio technician in civilian life.

Iowa City employers, many of whom are veterans themselves, realize the need for placing veterans and they are cooperating to the greatest extent.

The selective service board is an enforcing agency to see that each veteran is allowed to return to his old job if that job was not temporary. There are two stipulations in this, however: the former job must still exist and the veteran must be physically capable of fulfilling the job.

No trouble has been had with veterans returning to their jobs in the Iowa City area. However, if any trouble should occur the selective service board can call in a United States attorney to fight the case.

Helping to Choose Jobs Veterans who enlisted in the army while they were still in school or before they had steady employment find it somewhat difficult to choose an occupation. Their service experience might offer a solution as to what they might do.

For example, army and navy pilots have called at the employment office asking for jobs as flying instructors or airlines pilots. Few of these positions are open, but these men were placed. As more veterans return the situation as to these jobs will become more difficult.

The serviceman's readjustment allowance is paid by the government to any veteran with other than a dishonorable discharge for whom no suitable job exists. This allowance gives the veteran $20 a week not to exceed 52 weeks. This depends on the length of his service. Credit for 24 weeks is given for the first 90 days of service and four weeks is given for each month or major fraction thereof until the 52 week maximum is reached.

However, the veteran must have served 90 days or been discharged because of a service-connected disability. He must also be able and available for employment and accept a suitable job if one is offered. If he does not follow these regulations he is disqualified.

Application for this benefit may be made anytime within two years after his discharge or the legal termination of the war, whichever is later.

Unemployment Compensation Unemployment compensation benefits are also available to the returning serviceman. This includes $18 a week for 18 weeks but the amount payable depends on his former salaries. This varies from state to state. This condition also stipulates that he must have been employed by a "covered" employer—in business with more than eight employees.

Many veterans are asking for civil service jobs. Any able-bodied, honorably discharged veteran receives five points of preference in civil service registers. Disabled veterans receive 10 points of preference. They, however, must make application for civil service jobs. This rule applies only where openings actually exist and cannot be used to remove present incumbents from their jobs.

40 Percent Are Vets Kline states that 35 or 40 percent of all male placements are veterans. Many of these returnees ask for such jobs as truck drivers. Most of the interstate trucking companies have filled their quota of employees but some coal and lumber yards in the city still need drivers.

Many veterans going to the university have been criticized because there are so many jobs available in Iowa City and they are not working. It must be realized that these men have been away from school, in the most part, for quite a while and they feel that classes and a high grade point are full-time jobs.

With these many benefits and various agencies such as the United States employment service pulling for them, veterans need not worry about jobs in civilian life because they have good recommendations from a job well done "over there."

Local Drives Hit 90% Mark

Inching slowly toward the $45,950 goal in the War Relief-Community Chest campaign, totals yesterday crept past the 90 percent mark with $41,856 turned in for Iowa City and Johnson county.

Thirteen townships have ended their drives, while eight have not yet completed their work. Those who have finished are Big Grove, Cedar, Clear Creek, East Lucas, Graham, Jefferson, Lincoln, Madison, Monroe, Newport, Scott, Sharon and West Lucas.

Reports are not complete from Liberty, Oxford, Penn, Pleasant Valley, Union and Washington townships and no report has been made by Hardin and Fremont.

Sharon township went over its $1,100 goal this week with a figure of $1,421, second largest amount reported so far from any township.

D. C. Nolan and Emil G. Trott yesterday urged those townships that have not finished their drives to complete them this week, and asked that each town and rural campaign be ended as soon as possible.

Portraits of Former Faculty on Display

Among the former faculty members whose portraits have been hung in the women's lounge and main lobby of Iowa Union for Homecoming weekend are Robert E. Riemow, former dean of men; Prof. Charles Heald Weller, 1906-27; Dean George F. Kay; Dean William Galt Raymond, 1909-27; William O. Finkling; Prof. Charles Cleveland Nutting, 1886-1927; Charles Bundy Wilson, and Dr. Lee Wallace Dean, former head of the college of medicine.

Other portraits include those of Prof. Eugene A. Gilmore of the college of law, former president of the university; Dr. Arthur Steindler, head of orthopedic surgery; Paul F. Harris, founder of Rotary International; Dr. Arthur Carleton Knowbridge, head of the geology department; William E. Boyd, chairman of the finance committee of the state board of education; and George T. Baker, former president of the state board of education.

Request Child, $100 Aid In Divorce Petition

Custody of a minor child, and $100 per month for support was asked for in a petition for divorce filed in district court yesterday by Margaret C. Shaw against Ralph E. Shaw. The couple were married in Iowa City in February, 1938.

Mrs. Shaw, represented by Edward F. Rate, charges cruel and inhuman treatment.

Consumers' Co-Op Expands to Include Oil, Feed Business

The Consumers' Cooperative society of Iowa City expanded its services at their annual business meeting Monday night at the C. S. A. hall by unanimously endorsing plans for engaging in the oil and feed business.

The society adopted an amendment to its articles of incorporation which increased the amount of loan capital any member may invest.

Officers and new members of the board of directors were elected for the coming year. Prof. Jacob Van der Zee is the new president; Emery Hemingway, vice-president, and Mrs. Emery Lane, secretary. Those elected to the board of directors are Mrs. Emery Lane; Alma Hovey; the Rev. Evans A. Worthingly and Professor Van der Zee. Other members of the board are Fred Johnson, Emery Hemingway and James A. Meade.

The financial reports made by the officers showed that the gross sales during the past year have increased by more than $1,000 a month over the monthly sales of the preceding year. The society's current ratio of assets to liabilities is seven to one.

A cooperative movie, "Up From the Earth," illustrating the various processes of pumping and refining oil and the progress of the cooperative movement in this industry, was shown.

A committee of women under the chairmanship of Mrs. Emil Ruppert served a pot luck dinner. Three prizes of food baskets were won by Scattergood school of West Branch, the Wesley foundation and Maurice Albertson.

GASSIN' with GUS

By GUS SCHRADER

CHARLEY GALIHER, who's been around ticket offices long enough to know, says that the general angles on this football attendance business don't change much from year to year. "Things fall pretty much in the same pattern," says Iowa's canny business manager of athletics, although we had to make allowances for the war's effect on crowds, we never missed it far in predicting just how many people will come to a game on Saturdays. . . . He points out that Iowa, situated in a smaller town than many schools, lost a lot of war-time gridiron attendance because of gas and tire rationing. . . . And obviously, the pinch still isn't over.

CHARLEY HAS BEEN ticket sales manager since 1928 and has seen the ebb and flow of the tide of folks who come to the stadium on Saturday afternoons. . . . He confides that it's a ticket salesman's technique never to reveal an estimate on a Saturday crowd too far in advance. . . . "If there's a lot of people coming," Charley says, "then everybody who reads the estimate will be afraid they can't get a seat; and if we say only a few are coming, then folks will think the game isn't going to be any good and will stay home and hear it on the radio. . . . So we just don't put out any crowd estimates until the day before the game."

BUT CHARLEY did say that this campus rumor that the stadium was all sold out for Saturday's homecoming wasn't so, darn it. . . . Seems as though some folks tried to get seats on the west side and found nothing but east side ducats available. . . . But the tickets are going faster than was expected, doing away with the possibility that we might have to hold banknight to draw a crowd to see another Iowa game.

PASS THE HASH

THE PRE-FLIGHT SCHOOL will lose another popular publicity man tomorrow when Lt. (jg) Mark Cox, who did a great job of beating the pub drums for the 1944 Seahawks, is transferred to Washington, D. S. . . . His job will be taken by Lt. Jerry Flynn, a veteran of flatfoot duty in the Pacific. . . . MINNESOTA HAD WON 21 consecutive football victories under Bernie Bierman before Ohio State handed them that 20-7 bad news. . . . THIS YEAR'S IOWA corn monument ranks as the finest annual creation I've seen erected at an Iowa Homecoming. . . . Hats off to the guys who designed it and put the complicated thing together.

TO SHOW YOU what Iowa coaches are expected to do with the kind of material we get here, I present the case of plucky Lou Boda, the Hawks' 17-year-old, 150-pound halfback. . . . Last year as a prep at Reilly high school in South Bend, Ind., Lou played on the second string backfield. . . . This fall he came to Iowa and rated high enough above the rest of the material to start one game and play in a couple of others. . . . And that's nothing but a tribute to Boda's ample supply of guts. . . . BRUCE (RED) HAMMAN, now an Iowa sub guard, played first string guard on the same prep team. . . . Now he's third string at Iowa while Lou makes the varsity. . . . We predict a bright future for these two "Diz Kids" in a year or so, when they're bigger and more experienced.

CRACK OF THE WEEK: A witness of the Notre Dame massacre of Iowa last Saturday was asked, "Well, what did you think of Notre Dame's team?" . . . "We didn't see much of Notre Dame's first team, but its fifth team looked darn good," he answered. . . . WE NOTICE THAT a lot of people still insist on calling the Western conference the "Big Nine" because they don't count Chicago. . . . That's funny. . . . SPEAKING OF HOCKEY, Michigan will have the best rink team in the Midwest this winter. . . . NEW RECORD for penalties in the National pro football league was set by Green Bay when they were fined 184 yards in a 38-14 victory over the Yanks Oct. 21. . . .

ILLINOIS AND MINNESOTA are doing a little early boasting about basketball predictions in the weekly publicity releases from their news services. . . . The Illini have only one regular—Jack Burmaster, sophomore guard—back from last season, but the Gophers, who started practice Oct. 8, have two lettermen, three discharged regulars of ancient years and a flock of good newcomers. . . . Wait till they see what Popsy Harrison insists is "fair material" this season. . . . IOWA BASEBALL COACH, Otto Vogel, has accepted the chairmanship of the American Legion junior baseball program in Iowa for next year.

H. S. Cross Country Race Here Saturday

The three defending team champions and individual winners of 1944 will return Saturday for the annual state high school championship cross country run at the university.

Early entries, totalling seven teams, yesterday contained the names of North Des Moines, class A winner; University high of Iowa City, class B; and Mechanicsville, class C. The Iowa high school athletic association sponsors the race.

Paul Sloan, of East Des Moines, who won the state mile track title last spring and the first place in the one mile team race this fall, will try for his second straight cross country title over the 1.9-mile course. Dick Terrell of University high and Calvin Robinson of Mechanicsville are the other defending individual champions. Other teams now entered are East Des Moines, McKinley and Franklin of Cedar Rapids, and Dayton. The race is scheduled for 11 a. m. and the runners will attend the Iowa-Wisconsin homecoming football game in the afternoon.

Huskers Take Hope In Showing of New Backfield Man

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska football hopes brightened yesterday with the showing of Cletus Fischer, who yesterday was moved up to the first string backfield. Coach George (Potsy) Clark hoped Fischer would add zip to Nebraska's offense against Kansas in Saturday's homecoming game here.

Nebraska also was looking forward to a possible game with the University of South Dakota here Nov. 17. Clark has approved the game to avoid an open date, and formal announcement is expected soon.

Gopher End Hurt

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Minnesota's Golden Gophers, their lustre dimmed somewhat by last Saturday's 20-7 licking by Ohio State, settled down yesterday to some serious work to overcome their shortcomings in time for the Michigan game.

Coach Bernie Bierman cast about for a suitable replacement for end Judd Ringer, who showed up with a severely sprained ankle after Saturday's game.

2 Illini Injured

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Coach Ray Eliot of the University of Illinois, trying to get some scoring punch into his Illini backfield, yesterday experimented with second-string fullback Joe Saban and left halfback Stan Stasica in the quarterback slot. The Illini, strong on defense all season have been woefully weak on offense since the loss of Eddie Bray and Eddie McGovern, halfbacks, early in the season. Lou Agase, tackle, and Les Bingaman, guard, missed the drill because of injuries suffered in last week's loss to Michigan.

Iowa Coach Father to Tenth Child Crowe Crows; Has .600 Average

Iowa's 56-0 loss to his alma mater Saturday didn't give Coach Clem F. Crowe anything to brag about.

But Monday afternoon his wife did.

On that auspicious day a tenth addition to the Crowe clan arrived in the form of a seven-and-a-half pound boy. It was the Iowa football coach's sixth boy and left the score: boys 6, girls 4, percentage .600.

"Yes, we've got another quarterback," Crowe crowed in announcing the blessed event. "I don't know for sure what we'll call him yet, but the rest of the children want to call him 'Mike.' Our first boy is named Pat, so I guess then it would be appropriate if the little fellow is called Mike."

The eldest Crowe son, Pat, is 19 and now serves with the navy.

CLEM F. CROWE "Got Another Quarterback"

The rest of the family recount runs something like this: Mary Rita, 18, freshman at Iowa; Bob, 17; Joan, 16, and Katy, 15, all at City high school; Jim, 13, Dickie, 11, Annie, 10 and Johnnie, 5, at St. Patrick's grade school.

Crowe has been a football coach almost the same length of time he's been a family man. After being graduated from Notre Dame in 1926, he started tutoring football players at St. Vincent's college of Latrobe, Pa., and then went to Xavier university in Cincinnati in 1932. He established a record there of 45 victories, 26 defeats and two ties.

In 1942, when Xavier abandoned athletics for the duration, Crowe came back to Notre Dame as head basketball coach and football line coach. His 1944-45 Irish basketball team won 15 of 20 games and broke numerous all-time Irish scoring records. He came here last spring as head football coach.

Clem comes from a family of six brothers himself. He was the first of the bunch that starred for the Irish from 1923 to 1939.

Badgers Lose Two Regulars

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The University of Wisconsin's hopes for a football victory over Iowa Saturday were set back yesterday when Coach Harry Stuhldreher announced the loss of two regulars—End Ray Mals and Guard Henry Fricke, naval trainees, who have been transferred.

Ben Bendrick, freshman fullback, was named game captain to lead the Badgers to Iowa's homecoming celebration.

Iowa Starts Heavy Cage Drills Monday

Coach Lawrence (Pops) Harrison and his new assistant, Tom Lind, looked up from their coaching of Iowa's basketball prospects long enough last night to announce that regular intensive drills would be launched next week.

"We're going to start working out every night," Pops said. "Right now it looks as though we may have to cut the squad a little, but some of the boys may quit before then."

Iowa's defending Big Ten championship squad now numbers more than 50.

Iowa Spirit Improves in Long Practice

BADGER TACKLE

CLARENCE ESSER, right tackle, ranks as one of the most veteran Badgers who will face Iowa Saturday in the homecoming clash of the two rivals. A first string reserve in 1942 and a regular in 1943, Esser returned this year to bolster Wisconsin's sagging prospects.

Army Still Nation's Top Team; Irish, Navy in 2nd, 3rd Spots

NEW YORK (AP)—For the ninth straight week over a two-year span, Army's unbeaten and untied Cadets have been ranked the No. 1 football team in the country.

Participating in The Associated Press weekly poll, 106 sports writers throughout the nation yesterday gave the West Pointers a total of 1,040 points on the basis of 10 for first, nine for second, etc.

Unbeaten and untied Alabama vaulted into fourth place at 706 points while undefeated, but tied Indiana took over fifth at 457.

Ohio State which dropped out of the first 10 a week ago by losing to Purdue climbed back to sixth place at 317 by upsetting Minnesota, Pennsylvania at 254, St. Mary's at 233, Oklahoma Aggies at 189 and Michigan at 154 round the top 10.

Holy Cross, Columbia, Purdue, Oklahoma, Mississippi State, Minnesota, Louisiana State, Washington, Duke and Northwestern make up the second 10 elevens.

Virginia, Texas, Southern California, UCLA, Tulsa, Georgia Tech, Arkansas, Georgia, North Carolina and Wake Forest received honorable mention.

Players Criticized For Bad Showing; Lineup Shift Expected

Whether they liked it or not, Iowa's football players got a thorough dose of football yesterday as the Hawks resumed practice for the Wisconsin game here Saturday. Coach Clem Crowe ordered a long practice session that ended up under the lights, and then took the boys down to suffer again by watching the movies of the 56-0 clubbing handed them by Notre Dame Saturday.

But Iowa spirit didn't seem too bad in practice. Some of the players lagged a little at assignments but there was enough yelling by a few of the more enthusiastic to shed a little light through the gloom.

The coaches were hoping that the spur of homecoming and the fact that Iowa will be meeting a team which does not outrank it by too wide a margin would make an improvement in the attitude of the players. The Badgers haven't won a Big Ten game either.

The University of Iowa News service, edited by Eric C. Wilson, was a little less tolerant of the performance of the Hawkeyes after the Notre Dame defeat.

"Coach Clem Crowe and his aides are at work attempting to instill some determination and will-to-win into the lethargic Iowans, some of whom have not

WALTER THORPE, flashy Hawkeye reserve fullback, missed drills with the Iowa squad last night and probably won't be available for Saturday's game. He injured a cartilage in his ribs in the Indiana game here two weeks ago. Thorpe is the second leading Iowa ground gainer so far this season with a 5.1 yards-per-try average in rushing.

STILL INJURED

WALTER THORPE, flashy Hawkeye reserve fullback, missed drills with the Iowa squad last night and probably won't be available for Saturday's game. He injured a cartilage in his ribs in the Indiana game here two weeks ago. Thorpe is the second leading Iowa ground gainer so far this season with a 5.1 yards-per-try average in rushing.

Navy in Dark About Irish

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Like the Notre Dame herds of Knute Rockne's day, the undefeated fighting Irish of Hugh Devore will wade into Navy at Cleveland Saturday bristling with battle-tested shock-troops.

As a matter of fact, Notre Dame reserves have carried the load against all except one of five Irish victims. In 300 game minutes to date, the varsity has played fewer than 140 minutes as a unit. It was the second, third, fourth, and even fifth stringers who mauled Georgia Tech, Pittsburgh, Dartmouth and Iowa.

After Notre Dame's bruising opener against Illinois when the Irish had to go all out to win 7-0, enemy scouts spent more time looking at their player programs than their work charts as Devore systematically emptied his bench.

That means, theoretically, unbeaten Navy will know a lot less concerning the Irish attack than Devore has learned about the Midshipmen, who haven't been able to spare the horses in getting by Duke, Georgia Tech and Penn.

Hawkleys Drill For Burlington

Burlington high plays host to the Iowa City Little Hawks this week in as tough a game either team has played all year. Both teams have lost only one contest this season. Burlington lost to a rugged Ottumwa outfit last Friday, 21-0 in a hard fought battle, while City high has bowed only to Clinton and was tied by McKinley of Cedar Rapids.

Coach Wally Schwank seemed pleased with the performance of his charges against Franklin, and particularly with the work of the line. Plenty of drill is in store this week in preparation for the trip to Burlington, however, with emphasis on defense.

The Greyhounds have proved their ability to score through the current campaign. The Hounds are also noted for their ability to hold opponents to a minimum of scoring.

Always a tough team, the Greyhounds lost their first battle in two years last Friday. A year ago the Hawkleys tied Burlington, 6-6, a game the Hounds will be out to avenge this Friday.

"This will be a tough one," Schwank said, as he pointed to the Greyhounds' impressive record. The Little Hawks are hard at work this week on all assignments and are out to keep up their enviable record.

Bowl Decision Rests With Academy Heads

WASHINGTON (AP)—Whether Army's powerful football team plays in the Rose Bowl this New Year's day is strictly a decision for West Point officials to make.

The war department made that clear yesterday when asked about reports from Los Angeles that participation in the west coast contest has been sanctioned — if Army is invited.

Since no one in the war department said the Cadets would not be allowed to make the trip, this attitude was seen as adding to its possibility.

Fagerlind Captain
Paul Fagerlind, veteran right guard, has been named captain for the Wisconsin game Saturday. Coach Clem Crowe announced yesterday. This is the second time Fagerlind has captained the Hawks. He led them in the conference against Ohio State four weeks ago.

seemed too interested in playing all the football of which they are capable," said the daily publicity release.

"Even past the halfway mark of the season, the coaches still are trying to drill assignments into some players, who persist in forgetting their duties on certain plays," Wilson wrote. "When they don't carry out their assignments, they gum up other players and the result is on the chaotic side."

Picking a lineup which might start against the Badgers here Saturday was almost impossible in last night's practice. Even the quarterback slot, usually occupied by Jerry Niles, seemed to come in for experimentation. Wendell Weller and Jim Harding traded off barking signals while Niles stayed in a passive defense position with a second team. Crowe did not say whether or not this was because Niles still was troubled by a bad knee, however.

It was apparent, though, that the coaches intend using Leon George and the newly arrived Bob Knowlton for more varsity work at the tackles. At the ends, it still seemed a toss-up between veteran Bob Gustafson and Dan Sheehan for the right wing post opposite Hal Loehelein at left. Sheehan is valuable to the Hawks as a punter, while Gustafson weekly turns in one of the better defensive games.

Nelson Smith, Iowa's leading ground gainer despite his ailing back injury, reported for practice in full uniform but Walt Thorpe, who trails Smith by a tenth of a point in ground gaining average, was still out with an injured cartilage in his ribs.

Oz Simons bumped his knee in practice and it was not known last night just how serious the injury would be. Paul Golden, Clayton Colbert and Johnny Hunter each took a flogging at one or the other of the halfback posts and Art Johnson seemed set at fullback.

Penn Guard Best Lineman By AP Poll

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Dickerson, 25-year-old guard for the University of Pennsylvania, won this week's Associated Press poll as the "lineman of the week" for his outstanding play against Navy on Saturday.

Thus for the third straight week a guard has been named for this honor. Last week it was Tom Hughes, of Purdue, and the week before Warren Amling, of Ohio State.

Dickerson, who lives within a trolley ride of Franklin field, recovered four of Navy's seven fumbles and was the player mainly responsible for stalling Navy's running attack. The Midwestern had to take to the air to win in the last 25 seconds.

Grant Darnell, guard for the Texas Aggies, received a rare thrill for a lineman. He grabbed the ball out of the hands of Bill Kimbrough, Baylor back, and raced 65 yards for a touchdown.

Buster McClure, 220-pound tackle for Nevada, played a superb game against California.

Max Morris, Northwestern end, was praised by sportswriters for his play in helping to upset Purdue while Vaughn Mancha, Alabama center, again received plaudits for his line backing performance against Georgia.

The list of midwest linemen nominated this week:
Ends—Bob Rovensburg, Indiana; Bill Ford, Michigan; Max Morris, Northwestern; Gorski, Northwestern.

Tackles—Hansen, Northwestern; Guards—Warren Amling, Ohio State; J. C. Colhouser, Oklahoma Aggies; Jim Lecture, Northwestern.

Pass Offense Tactics Stressed by Wildcats

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Coach Lynn (Pappy) Waldorf of the Northwestern Wildcats sent his football squad through a long workout on pass offense yesterday, with quarterback Jim Farrar doing most of the pitching from the quarterback spot. Left halfback Bruce Bairstow, a Navy V-12 trainee, was absent yesterday. He was at the Great Lakes naval training center being processed for a discharge, but will be back for the game Saturday.

IT'S OFFICIAL

THE APPOINTMENT of Charles Jaskwich as Iowa backfield coach became official yesterday when Athletic Director E. G. (Dad) Schroeder announced that "Jaskwich is on the payroll now and will be with us for the rest of the season." Shown here in his navy lieutenant's uniform, the former officer has helped coach the Hawks since early this fall.

Paul Sarringhaus Returns to Practice; Two Regulars Ill

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Coach Carroll Widopes put his Ohio State gridgers through a snappy 90-minute practice drill yesterday stressing both offense and defense.

Guard Warren Amling and tackle Russ Thomas, both were ill and did not take part. Widopes reported the two would be ready to go against Northwestern here Saturday, however.

Violist Likes University Audiences

Scottish-born William Primrose, who will present a viola concert tonight in Iowa Union, enthusiastically expressed his appreciation of university audiences by saying that they seem eager to hear new things and therefore are very stimulating.

During an interview last night, the man who popularized the viola as a solo instrument in this country, explained that with the viola he could best present his musical expression.

"Many people are unaware of the fact that the viola is a very important instrument in the orchestra," he stated. "In the 16th and 17th centuries the viola was a vital part of the orchestra and Brahms being very fond of this instrument wrote his 'serenade opus no. 16' including no violins. Nevertheless, the rising popularity of violins overshadowed the prominence of the viola."

Primrose began his musical career with the violin but later changed to the viola and received most of his instruction through private instruction. "In this way," he said, "I could specialize but in many ways this was a disadvantage. A liberal background education in music is very helpful and most of this I have had to acquire by myself."

In addition to music he expressed a sincere interest in American history saying that he was surprised to learn how little the general public knew of United States history.

He believed that becoming a citizen of this country was an important step, warranting a thorough knowledge of its background. Primrose particularly likes the period of the American story between 1760 and 1860 because during that time the policies of the country were being formed. The concert tonight will include the "Elegy" written by Arthur Benjamin especially for Primrose in 1942. This piece was described by Primrose as revealing the futility felt by the composer who had fought during the first world war for a lasting peace.

Other selections to be played are "Komm, süsser Tod" (Bach); "Adagio and Allegro" (Boccherini); "Sonata" (Brahms); "Litanies" (Schubert); "Cancion de Santo Domingo" (Benjamin); "Jamaican Folk Songs" (Benjamin); and "Caprice No. 24" (Paganini).

Union Board Selects Danner, Updegraff

Dave Danner, A3 of Iowa City, and Charles Updegraff, A3 of Boone, have accepted membership on the Union board to replace Bill Anderson and Lenke Isaacson, who did not return to school this year.

Chairmen and co-chairmen of Union Board sub-committees were appointed at the meeting last night, although the members have not yet been chosen. Chairmen are: Lew Carter, D4 of Riceville, and Marybeth Hartman, P4 of Vinton, games committee; Don Lowe, G of Sac City, and La Verne Grams, M4, fine arts; Walter Peterson, C4, and Margaret Allen, N3 of Cedar Rapids, house and library; Bob MacDonald, E3 of Jefferson, and Updegraff, tea dances; Wanda Siebels, A4 of Amber, and Dave Danner, matinee dances, and Martha Garrett, C4, and Gene Thompson, A3 of Cedar Rapids, bridge.

A member of the executive committee has been appointed to oversee each sub-committee: Jayne Livingston, A4 of Fort Dodge, vice-president, games and bridge committees; Donald Emery, G of

University High Play Director Announces Production Crews

He is survived by his wife; two sons, Gilbert of Adair and Jess, 202 Highland drive; a daughter, Mrs. Alma Otto, 824 N. Gilbert street; two grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Iowa City treasurer, fine arts and library; Bette Jo Phelan, A3, of Mason City, secretary, tea dance and matinee dance committees.

Editor Speaks Tomorrow

Erwin D. Canham, editor of the Christian Science Monitor, will speak on "Political Personalities" at the Information First program at 4:10 p. m. tomorrow in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Canham will discuss national problems of the present and near future and the men and women figuring in the current political picture. He was head of the Monitor's Washington news bureau from 1932 to 1939.

In 1941 Canham became managing editor and was named editor in January of this year. He has been with the Christian Science Monitor 20 years.

Tomorrow's lecture will be the third in this year's Information First series.

Rev. J. W. McEleney Attends Jubilee Event

U. S. Public Debt Distributed, Upham Tells Kiwanis Club

"The public debt has one good feature," Cyril B. Upham, deputy comptroller of the currency, Washington, D. C., told Kiwanians at their luncheon meeting yesterday at Hotel Jefferson.

Upham explained that the public debt contracted in this war is not concentrated in the hands of a few people. It is a distributed debt.

"After the last war," said Upham, ten percent of "the liquid wealth of the country was in the hands of 90 percent of the people. Forty percent of the wealth is now distributed among 90 percent of the nation's citizens."

"From 1941 until the present time," Upham continued, "$314 billion has been spent by the United States treasury."

He pointed out that government bonds held by individuals have contributed 49 billion dollars to the national revenue. That amount is half the money saved by individuals.

"It is just as important," urged the comptroller, "that the Victory bond drive go over the top just as previous war loan drives have done. We need the money to bring the boys home, to rehabilitate and hospitalize the veterans and to maintain an adequate army and navy."

Upham is attending the 59th annual Iowa Bankers association conference in Des Moines.

Prof. Herman H. Trachsel of the political science department and Prof. F. E. Haynes of the sociology department were luncheon guests of Prof. John E. Briggs.

Prof. H. Clay Harshbarger, president of the Kiwanis club, announced that nominations for new officers will be made at next week's meeting.

Major in Marriage Group to Feature 'Personality Matching'

Prof. C. E. Buxton of the psychology department will speak on "Personality Matching" in the second of the series on Major in Marriage lectures this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chemistry auditorium.

Helen Kuttler, A4 of Davenport, is chairman of this Y. W. C. A. discussion group.

A. S. T. P. Commander Leaves for Discharge

Capt. Richard D. Coughlin, commandant of the A. S. T. unit and professor of military science and tactics for the ROTC at the State University of Iowa has left Iowa City to receive his discharge. Captain Coughlin departed Monday for the separation center at Schick General hospital at Clinton.

After receiving his discharge, he will proceed to his home in Portland, Ore. Before entering the army, Coughlin was an insurance man.

Coughlin came to Iowa City in August of this year. It has not been announced who will succeed Captain Coughlin.

Girl Scouts Stage Investure Services

Investure service for troop seven of the local Girl Scouts took place Monday evening in University high school as part of the activities planned for Girl Scout week.

The troop, organized last year as Brownies, is under the leadership of Mrs. Dwight Edwards, with Mrs. Harold Saunders assisting.

Three patrols were formed, followed by an election of leaders. Rose Ann Back will be patrol leader for group one. Assisting will be Irene Livingston, assistant leader; Joan Ewalt, scribe; Dwight Edwards, treasurer. Group two officers will be Janet Hoffman, leader; Diana Prentis, assistant leader, and Donna Sue Bane, treasurer. Gwendolyn Gates will lead group three, with Lynn Cullen, assistant leader, and Janet Saunders, treasurer.

Additional Girl Scout activities include folding Christmas seals for mailing. The girls work during the week from 4 to 5 p. m. and Saturday mornings from 10 to 12.

Brownie troop 16 celebrated Halloween with a party following Christmas seal work Monday. Mrs. Fredrick Ralston is troop leader, with Mrs. C. J. Michel, assistant leader.

Gambling kept him poor!

Canada Bill Jones was known as the cleverest three-card monte operator on the river, back in the heyday of the Mississippi's floating palaces. But he stayed poor, because his passion for gambling was too great.

Marooned in a Louisiana village, Canada Bill found a faro game in a barber shop. After a few plays, his partner warned him the game was crooked. "I know it," Canada Bill replied, "but it's the only game in town."

Like Canada Bill Jones, you'll find the cards stacked against you, too, if you gamble your car against the weather. When the temperature drops suddenly, driving even a few miles without proper winter-conditioning can cause costly damage.

Right now is none too soon to prepare your car for cold weather. Your Standard Oil Dealer is trained to do the job right. Drive in now, for your Standard Oil Dealer's 10 Star Fall Tune-up.

They are business concerns operated by Consumers who own the Capital Stock.

Iowa City people and farm people in this vicinity have financed and own the CO-OP FOOD STORE at 210 S. Clinton St.

The annual savings made possible to consumers, by cooperation, go back into the pockets of these local people, who thus have that much more money to spend in Iowa City.

CO-OPS pay all the taxes (local, state and federal) paid by any other business—in spite of the wide spread smear campaign carried on by a certain Committee of Iowa business men. In a series of recent ads, the accusation is made that CO-OPS pay no federal income tax on earnings. This gem of misrepresentation is belied by the facts as they exist in Iowa City. Last year our taxes in all forms totalled $1044.44, and more than half of this sum went for tax payments, both federal and state.

Our CO-OP is a non-profit business corporation whose stock-holders are consumers who wish to buy needed supplies at cost and so reduce the cost of living.

It is American free enterprise and American private initiative to the highest degree. It neither asks nor receives special privileges from any governmental agency, federal, state or local.

You can help thwart misrepresentation of CO-OPS and at the same time help yourself by joining and patronizing
