Chinese Reds Lose Territory In Savage Mongolian Fighting

CHUNGKING (AP)—Crack Communist troops were thrown back in savage fighting as they hurled heavy attacks at two major Nationalist strongholds in inner Mongolia, an official dispatch said yesterday.

The battles still swirled about the railway terminal of Paotow and long besieged Kweisui, capital of Suiyuan province 80 miles to the east, where the Communists threw in 10,000 reinforcements, the dispatch added.

The attack on Paotow, western terminal of the now-severed Peiping-Suiyuan railroad, opened at 3 a.m. Tuesday and 3,000 Communist troops forced the western gate, this account claimed. Eleven hours later they were expelled.

Gen. Ho Lung, famed Communist commander, meanwhile was reported to have attacked Kweisui with five columns 10,000 strong.

The dispatch said the attackers inflicted "considerable casualties on civilians" in the southwestern section of the city before most of them were wiped out.

The situation remained obscure on the southern border of Manchuria, southeast of this battle zone, where neutral advices had reported Nationalist troops had captured the Communist fortress of Shanhaiwan (Linyu).

A Communist spokesman was unable to confirm Shanhaiwan's fall but said at last reports government troops were but two-thirds of a mile from the city.

He declared the government had landed four armies at the United States marine-occupied port of Chinwangtao for the sole purpose of seizing Shanhaiwan and pushing on into Manchuria.

Sakakida was captured by the Japanese at Corregidor, then later made a civilian interpreter in the judge advocate's office at Yamashita's headquarters in the Philippines.

Sakakida said he saw an American woman, Mrs. Blanche Juika, whose son is a major in the United States army, blindfolded and beheaded along with other victims at Manila north cemetery a year ago by soldiers of Yamashita's command. He said the victims first were informed of the sentence after arriving at the cemetery.

The witness told of seeing two American fliers, downed in Manila bay in August, 1944, questioned in the judge advocate's office. He saw them two months later at old Bilibid prison and hardly recognized the frail, thin, beaten bodies. The fliers later were executed, the witness added.

At the same time it was announced that a second war crimes tribunal headed by Philippine Maj. Gen. Basilio Valdes would hear evidence in the cases of Japanese officers and enlisted men directly charged with the murder of two Americans and five Filipinos in Cebu last spring.

How Japanese military police men streamlined their mass executions in the Philippines was told by Yamashita's Japanese interpreter, who formerly worked for the South Manila military police garrison. Called to the stand as a witness, he testified he saw Japanese MP's decapitate 26 Filipino men and women in 40 minutes at a North Manila cemetery.

Police Investigate Honolulu Riot Area; Navy Restricts Men

HONOLULU (AP)—Police patrols were doubled last night in the Damon housing district and detectives swarmed through the dim-lit area looking for hoodlums suspected of provoking Monday night's riot between 1,500 navy men and civilians.

Police Chief W. A. Gabrielson announced the redoubled police force would track down reports of trouble-making by civilian hoodlums.

Navy participants in the fighting had said they charged into the district looking for "local toughies" who had made repeated attacks on sailors. They claimed the police had done nothing to check the wave of unprovoked assaults and robbery.

The naval air station near the Damon district announced its male personnel would remain confined to the station until an inquiry was completed and steps taken to prevent a recurrence of disorders.

All was calm last night after the shore patrol called in police to help them break up crowds of sailors congregating at the gates of the station. The shore patrol said it had asked for police help in case the sailors tried to leave the station.

International Atomic Conference Near End

U. S. War Department Advocates Creation Of Domestic Control

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department called yesterday for quick creation of domestic controls over atomic energy, as American, British and Canadian leaders neared the end of their conference on international controls.

Secretary of War Patterson told a news conference that domestic legislation should be adopted promptly to clear the way for international action.

"My own view," he said, "is that international arrangements will require a domestic control in order for this government to make good on any agreement."

The war department's idea of legislation, he said, contemplates that a nine-man commission would control all atomic energy activities, including the construction of atomic bombs.

President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee of Britain and Prime Minister Mackenzie King of Canada met again at the White House.

Allied diplomats speculated if the leaders agree on any plan for control of atomic force through the United Nations, the plan would be immediately communicated to Generalissimo Stalin of Russia, and possibly to leaders of France and China as well.

These countries, with Britain and the United States, would have primary responsibility for carrying it out as permanent members of the United Nations security council.

Indications are that Attlee and Truman have concentrated almost exclusively on the atomic bomb problem and on related broad questions of foreign affairs, particularly the situation existing between Britain and the United States on one hand and Russia on the other.

The Communists have dominated this strategic coastal province since the end of the war, but unofficial reports recently indicated they were pulling out by sea for Manchuria.

American marines previously had secured Tsingtao, but the Nationalists themselves had no foothold here. Chinese Red troops hold all of Manchuria.

Thousands of United States-trained and equipped Nationalist troops began landing meanwhile at Tsingtao, Shantung province port 275 miles south of Chinwangtao.

"Negotiations are continuing but so far we have not overcome all the difficulties," he said.

Streamliner Derailed; 18 Persons Injured

HERSHEY, Neb. (AP)—Eighteen persons were injured, none seriously, and many others shaken up when nine cars of the Union Pacific's City of Denver were derailed a half mile west of here early yesterday.

None of the cars of the west-bound 14-car streamliner overturned although several were thrown off the rails to the edge of a five-foot ditch along the right way, the report said.

Drs. Manson Meads, M. Eugene Flipse Jr., Maxwell Finland and Mildred W. Barnes, with the collaboration of Ruth Drew and Alice Northrop, Boston, studied four groups of nine patients each who were admitted to the south department of the Boston City hospital between January and May, 1945.

Scarlet Fever Cure Seven Day Treatment With Penicillin

CHICAGO (AP)—A successful seven-day treatment of scarlet fever with penicillin was reported yesterday in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The treatment, consisting of injection of 10,000 units of penicillin into the muscles every three hours, is effective in rapidly eliminating the germ-causing infection (hemolytic streptococci) from the nose and throat within 48 hours, the report said.

"When we arrived here a crowd of 400 to 500 people were throwing stones heavily at the police. We gave the necessary warnings.

"We hoisted our banners with the words 'disperse or we fire' written in Hebrew, Arabic and English.

The crowd moved toward us and continued to throw stones. We had three chaps wounded, so I gave the order to fire. One man fired two rounds and wounded one of the attackers.

"When the crowd continued to charge I gave a second order to fire two more rounds in which another attacker was wounded."

Jury Convicts Giles Of Alcatraz Break

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A jury quickly convicted John K. Giles, 50, yesterday of having tried to escape from Alcatraz prison last July 31 by boarding a boat while posing as a soldier.

Giles, who said he has spent nearly 30 of his 50 years in prisons, had conducted his own defense in an erudite manner and took his conviction calmly.

He complimented Judge Michael J. Roche on the fair trial, and asked one brief favor—to remain in San Francisco long enough to complete an appeal from Judge Roche's three-year addition (which could have been five) to his long mail car robbery term.

"After all," Giles remarked, "I don't get over here every day."

Laughter rippled through the high-ceilinged courtroom as Judge Roche, his voice a bit husky, granted the request.

Five American Flyers Beheaded by Japanese

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Five American fliers were tortured and beheaded by the Japanese near Makassar, on Celebes island, Allied investigators said yesterday.

They reported that natives, who found the headless bodies, said the Japanese turned the executions into gala celebrations.

The bodies lay in unmarked graves. One was found bound tightly and crouched as if in position for the beheader's sword. A medical examiner said the victim was beheaded by numerous sword blows.

ARE THEY HAPPY? WELLLLL

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER and his wife couldn't possibly have looked any happier on their wedding day than they did at the city of Boston luncheon honoring the return of the supreme Allied commander. The general's hand is holding his wife's arm and the love-light shines in their smiling eyes as it did on July 1, 1916, when she married George Doud, married the ETO skipper, then a lieutenant. The general will appear before congressional groups to discuss the merger of the Army and Navy into one department of national defense.

Japan Proposes Trade Plan to United States

Purpose of System To Obtain Foodstuffs, Bolster Jap Economy

TOKYO (AP)—Leaden Japan, facing a cold and hungry winter and a war reparations bill, yesterday promised a system of barter with the United States and other countries.

Primary purpose of the plan, requested by Minister of Agriculture Sanukro Ogasawa, would be to obtain staple foods immediately and set up a long range program for reviving the nation's wobbly economy.

Allied headquarters, to which Ogasawa made his application, said it was not yet prepared to indicate its policy in the matter. It is known, however, that the economic and scientific section of headquarters is working on what Japan considers its foremost problem.

"Japanese trade is in a state of suspension but we want to start trade as soon as possible," Ogasawa said. He voiced the hope the United States again would become Nippon's best customer.

Specifically, Ogasawa asked permission for Japan to import 300,000 tons of foodstuffs, 1,000,000 tons of salt and sizeable tonnage of cotton, copra, coal, iron and non-ferrous metals.

Barter payments would be made in gold and other precious metals; diamonds; silk, cotton goods, chemical products, medical supplies, machinery, hardware, tin and other Japanese products.

While the Allied reparations commission conferred on the amount of the bill to be presented to Japan, the Kyodo news agency said it had learned that the government would set up its own reparations commission. It would be composed of experts from the various ministries, such as finance and agriculture.

In an apparent move to help meet the expected reparations bill, the government decided to encourage private production of gold in the home islands. This development also was reported by Kyodo, which said the government had obtained Allied permission to accelerate production of the precious metal. Only 155 gold mines now are working, with 333 idle, because of the labor shortage.

The crowd moved toward us and continued to throw stones. We had three chaps wounded, so I gave the order to fire. One man fired two rounds and wounded one of the attackers.

PRIZE STIRS HULL'S UNITY PLEA

FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE CORDELL HULL, shown above with his wife reading congratulatory messages on his receiving the Nobel peace prize, issued a plea to the world, in which he stated that "it is imperative that there be continued unity, friendly understanding and common effort among the people." The 74-year-old Tennesseean born "father of the United Nations" is the eighth American to win the coveted Nobel peace award.

Congress Asks General 'Ike'

Allied Prosecutors Ask Delay in Trial Of Top-Flight Nazis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress turned to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday for advice on a new $1,350,000,000 UNRRA appropriation request.

The house foreign affairs committee opened hearings on the legislation, became embroiled in an argument over the administration of UNRRA, and decided to ask the general just how badly Europe needs help.

The invitation was extended by Chairman Bloom (D., N.Y.) who said Eisenhower probably could testify Friday. He will be a witness tomorrow at military committee hearings on peacetime training.

State department officials and Director General Herbert H. Lehman appeared before Bloom's committee in behalf of the request for new funds for the United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration.

The United States has authorized a contribution of $1,350,000,000—or one percent of the national income—to UNRRA and Lehman says this will be exhausted by the end of the year. Other United Nations are also being asked to double their original contributions.

General Motors attributed the cutoff of production to a parts shortage arising from a two-week "work stoppage" by CIO United Automobile Workers in Cleveland, but the union denied this.

The shutdown in operations, affecting an estimated 5,000 workers, and continuing labor troubles elsewhere placed at 275,000 the number of persons away from their jobs over the nation.

GM said the "stoppage" at the Midland Steel Products company, Cleveland, had forced GM to halt Buick production for lack of chassis frames. In Cleveland the UAW replied there was no strike at Midland but that the company has discharged 200 workers two weeks ago because the company "didn't like the amount of production." The union said 1,000 men still were at work.

The Midland president, E. J. Kulans, asserted a "slowdown" began among employees when the company started reconversion and a wage increase Oct. 10 did not halt it.

A three-week strike in seven clay plants in the Brazil, Ind., area ended when 700 workers voted to accept a three-cent-an-hour increase, raising basic pay to 73 cents an hour.

In San Francisco, 22 independent bakers which had been shut down since Saturday by an AFL drivers' dispute resumed operations yesterday, alleviating the city's bread shortage.

AFL bakers, out in sympathy with the deliverymen, continued to observe picket lines at plants where drivers were striking. The independent bakers closed their shops when the delivery workers struck at the Langendorf bakery plants for a 17 percent wage increase.

Previously, Thoman was extradited to Wisconsin after the Iowa supreme court upheld the Dubuque county district court in denying him a writ of habeas corpus.

Editorials:

Stoddard's Disputed Book—'Meaning of Intelligence'

(Editor's Note: This analysis of Dr. George D. Stoddard's book is reprinted from the Chicago Daily News. Dr. Stoddard was dean of the graduate college here from 1936 to 1942.)

"The Meaning of Intelligence" by Dr. George D. Stoddard, president-elect of the University of Illinois, which started a religious controversy, is a study in child psychology.

The book, part of which was criticized by the Most Reverend James A. Griffin, Catholic bishop of Springfield, Ill., as hostile to the spirit of religion, is an attempt to bring into focus all of the data developed by child psychology in the broad study of intelligence.

Dr. Stoddard, 48, is now commissioner of education for the state of New York. He will assume his university post at Urbana next summer.

Dr. Stoddard declares that he considers the incident of Bishop Griffin's criticism closed. At the time he was criticized, the New York educator said that his book was "anti-Easter" and friendly to religion.

The board of trustees of the university since has upheld its choice of Dr. Stoddard as president, declaring him to be "fully committed" to keep the university free of religious controversy and prejudice.

After surveying in his book the findings of research workers in the field of intelligence, Dr. Stoddard discusses the implications of these findings for the science of education and for society.

In this discussion it is possible to find reference not only favorable to the religious spirit but pointing the way to a more efficient use of human resources in building a good and democratic society.

The passage cited by Bishop Griffin as evidence of Dr. Stoddard's hostility to religion says that "feeble in mind" are those persons who "have been so systematically drugged with the vapors of dogma, superstition and pseudo logic as to fail at the lowest attribute levels."

In this passage the author is discussing "intrusive emotional blockings or distortions" which effect the efficient use of intellectual faculties.

In the same passage, Dr. Stoddard says that "outworn religious theory, while a great sinner, does not stand alone." The author then points out that men of science suffer in their thinking from "emotional intrusion."

"Thus," Dr. Stoddard warns, "when a scientist seeks and obtains his satisfactions in the selection of the precise invertebrates, it is time for every student in the field to give heed to this danger signal."

Dr. Stoddard points out how the religious spirit may live and be helpful in a science-dominated world, quoting from Floyd Henry Allport's "Institutional Behavior," as follows:

"It is the function of religion, therefore, to assume the task where science must leave it. Hand in hand, the two must run their course; but science comes to an end and beyond its outposts stands faith."

On page 441, Dr. Stoddard says:

"In a world out of joint, I hesitate to speak of religion at all except along the lines of escape. Nevertheless, personal integration is consistent with (and for many dependent upon) the deeper permanent aspects of religious life."

On page 472, Dr. Stoddard pleads the oneness of mankind, declaring that hundreds of groups (he does not specify religious groups) exploit their private interrelationships "by raising high the barriers against the nonbelievers or the nonaccepted, regarding others (who are indeed friendly fellow citizens) as aliens, inferiors or barbarians."

He then adds:

"If every person, from birth upward, were to be regarded fundamentally as a member of a family, as a worker, and as a citizen, we should see the oneness of man in society; we should sense the meaning of home, of labor, government, education, science, art and religion."

Dr. Stoddard, the father of three boys and two girls, makes passing reference on page 454 to a highly controversial subject, in terms consistent with religious teaching, as follows:

"In the failure of large and privileged sectors of the population to have children, we have discovered the fastest and surest way in which the western world may spin to its predicted twilight."

In the same passage, Dr. Stoddard says

Laurels for Art Department

The University of Iowa art department this summer and this fall has achieved a series of remarkable successes which are gaining nationwide praise. In fact, to laymen who have always had the idea that art critics are hard-boiled, the praise is so flattering that it comes as a surprise.

As one liberal arts major exclaimed: "Gee, I didn't know the art department is that good!" But it is.

Probably too few of us realize how highly credited this art department is. That's why Bob Fawcett, Daily Iowan reporter, was sent out to discover some of the department's techniques, ideas and plans. His story yesterday brought more than one exclamation of wonder.

And after hearing what some of the eastern critics had to say, we believe Professor Longman was entirely correct when he said that "as far as the building, equipment and the teaching staff are concerned, we have the best art school in the country. For some things Yale, Harvard or Princeton may be better, but they cannot surpass Iowa in all-around art education."

Here's what some of the critics said:

Peyton Boswell, editor of the Art Digest—"This is serious, disciplined-like painting, surprisingly lacking in the immaturity that so often stamps student work."

Howard Devree, art critic of the New York Times—"The paintings are individual—not merely echoes of the instructors."

Words like those aren't often handed to art schools which are a part of the university. And when they are spoken about Iowa—well, it's something to write home about.

The art department's first recent outstanding success was its exhibition at the Iowa Union this summer. It was called the best summer exhibition in the nation and was comparable to shows in Philadelphia, Chicago, St. Louis and Washington.

The summer exhibition was made possible by the school of fine arts, and much of the credit should go to Dr. Earl E. Harper, director.

Then Emil Ganso, art instructor now on a year's leave of absence, won the Carnegie institute's first prize of $1,000. Besides honoring the painter, the Carnegie institute indirectly honored Iowa for retaining on its staff an artist of such outstanding qualities.

What the critics really went wild over were the paintings by former Iowa students which are being shown in the Weyhe gallery in New York. Their works were reflections of the training they received here, and the critics were unstinted in their praises.

Professor Longman and his staff are to be commended highly. His department certainly IS something to write home about.

The Capital

(Substituting for Jack Stinnett)

WASHINGTON—In the midst of mounting argument over consolidation of the armed services, a plan which may be the answer to the military aspects of the problem has been proceeding quietly here for more than two years.

The joint army-navy staff college was created by the joint chiefs of staff in April, 1943, to serve the precise purpose which is one of the major goals of advocates of consolidation—"to prepare student officers for the exercise of command and performance of staff duties in unified or coordinated army and navy commands."

Assuming his new assignment, Admiral Hill said he had an intimate knowledge of the school's usefulness from having had graduates on his own staff in the Pacific.

"The school has done a wonderful job," he said. "You can't legislate working together. You've got to know one another—your capabilities and limitations—and when you know them most of your problems are solved."

The last wartime class will graduate Dec. 8, bringing the college's "alumni" to about 400 officers.

Classes of which the current one is the 12th, were comprised of about 30 carefully chosen officers divided about as follows: 12 from army ground forces, six from army air forces, 10 naval line officers and two marines.

Each class lasted about six months. In the first half the officers spent a month each at the army air force school of applied tactics at Orlando, Fla., at the command and general staff school at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., and the naval war college at Newport, R. I.

The latter half of the course was spent in Washington, where subjects studied at the service schools were correlated and integrated into the modern military team.

The faculty was constantly changed to bring in men familiar with the latest experience in the war theaters. Students were limited to colonels and lieutenant colonels in the army and corresponding navy ranks.

There was nothing academic about the school's "textbooks." A total operational plans were studied, debated and criticized in advance and reviewed after the operations were completed.

In addition to the school's regular faculty, frequent lectures were given by experts in various fields from such agencies as the state department and the OSS.

If you have ever wondered who is responsible for the fine speakers who appear at Information First sessions, listen to WSUI today at 3 p. m. when Edna Herbst of the WSUI staff will interview the following members of the Information First committee: Eleanor Pownall, A3 of Iowa City, chairwoman; Betty Lou Schmidt, A2 of Davenport, and Jacqueline Carbary, A2 of Cedar Rapids. The usual policy of the program is to present the speaker of the day but Jack Shelley, WHO's foreign correspondent and News editor, is unable to be in Iowa City in time for the broadcast.

Dr. Wyland C. Hicks of Sioux City compiled today's Iowa State Medical Society talk. The paper, the subject of which is "Venerable Disease" will be read at 9:30 a. m. over WSUI by Stewart Miller.

To where did Fred Waring disappear? This is a common query these days and the answer is simply that he hasn't vanished. In fact, Mr. Waring and company are more in the spotlight than ever. Take a listen to any NBC station around 10 a. m. and you will hear Jane Wilson, Joan Wheatley, Gordon Goodman, Jimmy Atkins, Honey and the Bees, with Fred conducting the Glee Club and orchestra. It's a show that's guaranteed to give you that "this is going to be a perfect day" feeling. And don't forget that WSUI follows up with "After Breakfast Coffee" at 10:15 and "Yesterday's Musical Favorites" at 10:45.

New Calendar Lists Activities For Students

A student activities calendar, designed to prevent conflict in student events will be put in use tomorrow morning, according to announcement from the Student Council, sponsors of the project.

The calendar will be kept at the reception desk of the office of student affairs, room 9, Old Capitol. In order to eliminate conflicts between meetings of student groups, especially those involving large numbers of students, the calendar will list activities of sorority and fraternity groups, housing units, departmental organizations, special interest groups and church groups.

Listing activities on the calendar is not compulsory, but merely for the convenience of student groups that will benefit by the opportunity to check on free hours for their meetings. Preference will be given to all-university events and to groups which schedule regular meeting times for activities continuous throughout the year.

The calendar will be in the form of a notebook, with a separate page for each day. There will be space on each page for the name of the organization, time and place of meeting and the name of the person making the reservation.

The student activities calendar will not take the place of the calendar in the president's office, which schedules such events as concerts, lectures, plays and conferences. The two calendars will be coordinated, so that students may have the advantage of knowing dates for these events as well as other meetings.

Mary Osborne, A4 of Ottumwa, Council member in charge of the calendar, said yesterday, "Although the calendar cannot eliminate all conflicts in student activities, it will attempt to eliminate those involving the largest number of students."

New Designs Emphatic—

Fashions in Paris

Paris fashions as expressed by the fall collections are planned for the present living conditions in Paris and seem to be completely adaptable in our own country.

In 15 years of collections four times a year, these are the most wearable, interesting clothes, and clothes whose beauty gave no suggestion of the difficulties encountered either in designing or executing them and there were plenty of difficulties.

Silhouettes in the showings are especially slim-waisted with a molded torso look and the drapes or pockets that distend the line at the hipbone just serve to emphasize the slim smooth waist.

Lingerie Neckline Touches

Neckline interest is divided and there is a wide use of yokes, berths, cowls, collars and dickeys on almost everything and often going on into actual lingerie touches indicating a coming lavishness of soft feminine trimming, often separate from the basic suit or dress and suggesting the dual purpose in clothes.

Marni's Memos

Madam, why do you bend? . . . When you bend your waist (but not your knees) to touch the floor, are you strengthening your stomach muscles or limbering up your waist? What is happening to the backs of your legs, and to your shoulders? According to a young Russian expert on physical education, it's because too little is understood about the objectives of exercise, and of the counteractions of every action of the body, that so many exercises miscarry—developing muscular bulges where they are neither needed nor wanted, tightening up tendons where they should be flexible and accomplishing one thing at the expense of something else. Simply, the whole idea is to be certain that you've selected the proper exercise for your own needs. It's become a scientific matter to have a shapely body, so choose and conduct your exercises in that same scientific vein.

Here's a new taste thrill. Frankfurters have been stuffed and baked for years with a variety of fillings, but here's a bet you've never given them a "middle" of dill pickle stuffing. The franks and a savory dill dressing combine in a grand tasting way, as you'll see if you put them together like this.

To stuff six frankfurters make a bread dressing by mixing together one and one-half cups soft bread crumbs, one-quarter teaspoon salt, a dash of pepper, two tablespoons minced onion, lightly sauted in hot fat, two tablespoons finely chopped dill pickles, and one tablespoon minced parsley. Drizzle about three tablespoons melted butter or margarine over the crumbs and toss lightly with a fork. Cut a long split in each frankfurter and fill with dill dressing. Wrap with bacon or not, as desired, and bake in a shallow pan in a moderate oven for 25 to 30 minutes, or broil under the broiling unit until dressing is peaked with brown.

Magic in fabric . . . one of the most amazing new fabrics is velon, a plastic made from sea brine and petroleum, that looks like the most lustrous silk, but can be wiped off with a damp cloth like oilcloth . . . colors are clear and beautiful and are sunfast and fade-proof . . . just imagining spilling anything from raspberry jam to ink on your velon dress and simply wiping it off . . . to hit the jackpot . . . the dress fabric is also impervious to damage by moths or perspiration, sheds water and is noncombustible.

Carrier Enterprise
Sails for England

BOSTON (AP)—With her flight deck transformed into a football gridiron, and "enough food to go to Calcutta and back" the aircraft carrier Enterprise, fighting flagship of Admiral William F. "Bull" Halsey, sets out to sea today as a troop transport for 4,400 men.

The carrier, described as a "luxury trooper," will sail for Southampton, England.

Welsh Rarebit Rates Ace-High With New Secrets for Success

A good selection of cheese is available now, which means that popular Welsh Rarebit may again be served frequently.

Smooth, creamy cheese rarebit is a cook's triumph, yet it is not difficult to achieve if a few pointers are kept in mind.

Secret of Smoothness

Careful blending of ingredients and slow cooking from beginning to end are the secrets. It is best to use the double boiler, although the rarebit can be made over direct heat if it is kept below the boiling point at all times. Try this recipe, made with bottled beer which gives cheese rarebit an incomparable flavor.

For four servings, melt two tablespoons butter fat in top of double boiler, over hot (not boiling) water. Add one pound of grated American cheese and melt slowly.

Add Beer to Cheese

Measure out one cup of bottled beer and reserve two tablespoons of this. As soon as the cheese begins to melt, add the remaining beer, a little at a time, blending thoroughly after each addition with a wooden spoon.

Combine in a bowl one-tablespoon dry mustard, one-fourth teaspoon salt, a dash of cayenne pepper, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce and mix to a paste with the reserved beer. Add two eggs and beat well. Now stir this combination into the hot cheese mixture. Heat, stirring constantly, for three minutes more. Do not allow to bubble. Serve immediately on thin toast or crackers.

Air Service Starts

NEW YORK (AP)—The first, direct air passenger, mail and express service between Detroit and Miami will be established today when Eastern Air Lines, Inc., inaugurates flight schedules of slightly more than nine hours between the two cities.

SUIT COSTUME ACCENTS FUR

SIMPLICITY IS the trick, with a bit of fur for that so essential dash of chic . . . With its smart lines this basic suit will travel far and wide. Its somber grayness is brightened by the gay red coat which has lapels of gray lamb. The outfit goes high-hat with an encirclement of the lamb on the chapeau.

Page-Boy Hairstyle, a la 1945, Harmonizes With Transitional Clothes for Any Occasion

During this transition period of hairstyle that goes equally well fashion, while some clothes remain as slim as during the war years, and others are coming in with fuller, more elaborate lines, women everywhere are asking . . . must they change their hairdos to go with all the varying styles? Or is there some one

Sugarless Grapefruit Makes Festive Dessert

We may not have sugar to bake all the pies and cakes we'd like these days, but that doesn't mean desserts need be neglected.

Grapefruit halves, served with bottled light corn syrup, topped with a red cherry and served on a green galan leaf make a festive dessert. Or serve it in this manner as an appetizer, or at breakfast. You'll find the addition of syrup will bring out the flavor and goodness of the fruit and make it look plump and delicious.

which will be going to town too during tangy November days . . . and just as smart with long-jacketed suits. It looks right with tunic costumes or classics . . . or with soft dressmaker cardigans. This hairstyle is just as much at home on the campus or in the country as it is on the city streets. It goes trimly to the office and to dining . . . without having to be rearranged.

Ideal for Evening

It is an ideal hairstyle to wear with the new evening gowns. Since long styles have returned . . . more detailed in line . . . or richer in fabric and ornamentation . . . an elaborate hairdress would look fussy and overdone. Avoid that look by sticking to something simple like the page-boy, held close at the nape with only one jeweled clip to brighten it up. A sequin ornament might be worn instead of a clip, to give a sophisticated touch, or it might even be held in place by bracelets to match those on your wrist.

The beauty of this hairstyle depends largely on its sleekness, its every-hair-in-place look. It depends also on its luster, which can best be gained by frequent washings with a liquid shampoo with hair conditioning action. It depends on its smartness—it's being in complete accord with the fashion ensemble.

Hit With Hats

Oh, yes, of course it goes well with the new hats. With this hairstyle, it fit well on the head—giving you a chance to reveal your

Mincemeat Comes to Holiday Table

A most delectable way of celebrating the holiday season is to bake mincemeat to the family table. Persons who do on good things to eat scarcely think of holiday foods without dreaming of mincemeat delicacies.

At this time of year when mincemeat is especially popular with both young and old alike, this tasty food makes delicious filling for favorite coffee cakes and puddings. Not only do these elegant foods taste extravagant, but they actually are also extra-in the good food value. Mincemeat Coffee Braid, fresh from the oven, does nicely as pudding for dinner dessert. Serve a generous pitcher of top milk or velvety Lemon Sauce with slices of the braid and watch this delightful dessert win favor with the family and guests.

Mincemeat Coffee Braid

2 cups sifted enriched flour

3 teaspoons baking powder

1 teaspoon salt

2 tablespoons sugar

1/4 cup shortening

1 egg

1/2 cup milk

2 cups mincemeat

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut or rub in shortening. Beat egg and add milk. Add to flour mixture, mixing only enough to moisten flour. Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently 1/2 minute. Roll out into rectangle about 8 inches wide and 1/2 inch thick. Spread mincemeat on center third of dough, making a strip across the width of the rectangle. Slash the dough at both sides of the filling, cutting from outer edge toward the filling and forming inch wide strips. Lace ribbons, alternating sides, across the filling. Bake on ungreased baking sheet in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

Rickenbacker Sells Track At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The world-famous Indianapolis motor speedway, home of the annual 500-mile automobile race, was sold late yesterday by Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker to Anton Hulman Jr., Terre Haute, Ind., capitalist.

Hulman, who will be chairman of the board, announced that Willibur Shaw, three-time winner of the speedway classic, would be president and general manager. T. E. (Pop) Myers, a veteran official of the speedway, will remain as vice-president.

Shaw said preparations would begin immediately to resume the Memorial day race, suspended during the war, next May 30.

No official announcement of the purchase price was made but it was understood to have been approximately $750,000. Capt. Rickenbacker bought the speedway in 1927 for $700,000.

Hulman is head of the Clabber Girl Baking Powder company and interested in various real estate and utility properties in the Midwest. A sportsman and philanthropist, he has been interested in sports since he was a member of football, track and rowing teams at Yale university.

All of the new officers of the speedway are comparatively young men—in the forties.

Announcing the transaction after a meeting of the old board of directors, Rickenbacker, president of Eastern Airlines, said:

"It is fitting that Hoosier management and Hoosier capital should continue the most famous venture in mechanical competition."

"Wilbur Shaw is of the track, as I was, and brings to it not only sound ability to carry on the top tradition of racing in America but the sincere affection for automobile racing that is so necessary for the proper conduct of this international competition."

"Carl Fisher and Jim Allison, both Hoosiers, built the speedway in 1905 and in 1911 bricked it and inaugurated the 500-mile race. Allison retired and other interests in Florida attracted Mr. Fisher, and when the speedway was available for sale in 1927 I became interested because of my early association with automobile racing and, fortunately, was able to obtain financing in Detroit which enabled me to take over the operation."

Gene Tunney Favors Training for Youths

NEW YORK (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champion Gene Tunney, recently head of the navy's physical fitness program, asserted today America was as much in need of re-education as Germany or Japan, and that "our first step to this re-education is universal military training."

"We talk of re-educating the Germans and Japanese," he told the advertising club of New York, "but how about our own people? The opportunity of re-educating our people begins when

'BOUNDING BILL' VISITS HERE

Hey Iowa, Here's How Kinnick, Bill Green Beat Gophers in '39

By GUS SCHRADE
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

More than 52,000 fans elbowed into Iowa stadium six years ago, mostly out of curiosity to see how long Dr. Eddie Anderson's "lucky" Iron Men could stem the irresistible force of Minnesota's Golden tide. They were bored throughout the first three quarters as the Gophers punched across a touchdown and booted a field goal to lead, 9-0.

The fans showed respectful interest as Iowa's Nile Kinnick began throwing passes in the last desperate aerial attack which they knew was a customary for teams to use when they were behind in the last quarter.

Then Captain Erwin Prasse sped away from the Minnesota pass defense, hooked one of Kinnick's mightiest heaves and doped across the goal to cut the Gopher edge to 9-6.

Lucky . . . Nice goin', Iowa . . . But that won't happen again till the cows come home . . . And there's just two minutes left . . . These thoughts ran through the mind of the last quarter.

That was 1939. This is 1945. and Dr. Eddie Anderson's Iron Men are only great memories at Iowa.

But the sophomore halfback who caught that winning touchdown pass and later had two more years of greater stardom in a Hawkeye football uniform will be in the stands as Iowa is host to another Bierman-coached Minnesota eleven.

"Bounding Bill" Green, one of Iowa's greatest gridironers, came back to his alma mater yesterday to greet old friends. He was recently released from the Navy after three and a half years service as a naval aviator. His last service was aboard the USS Cabot, flat top which earned its share of Pacific glory.

Bill was one of the "Flying Hawkeyes," first group of cadets to enter naval aviation from this state.

We put a compulsory military program into effect. The world requires that we recognize and accept our responsibilities. And the peace of the world requires that we carry out our responsibilities.

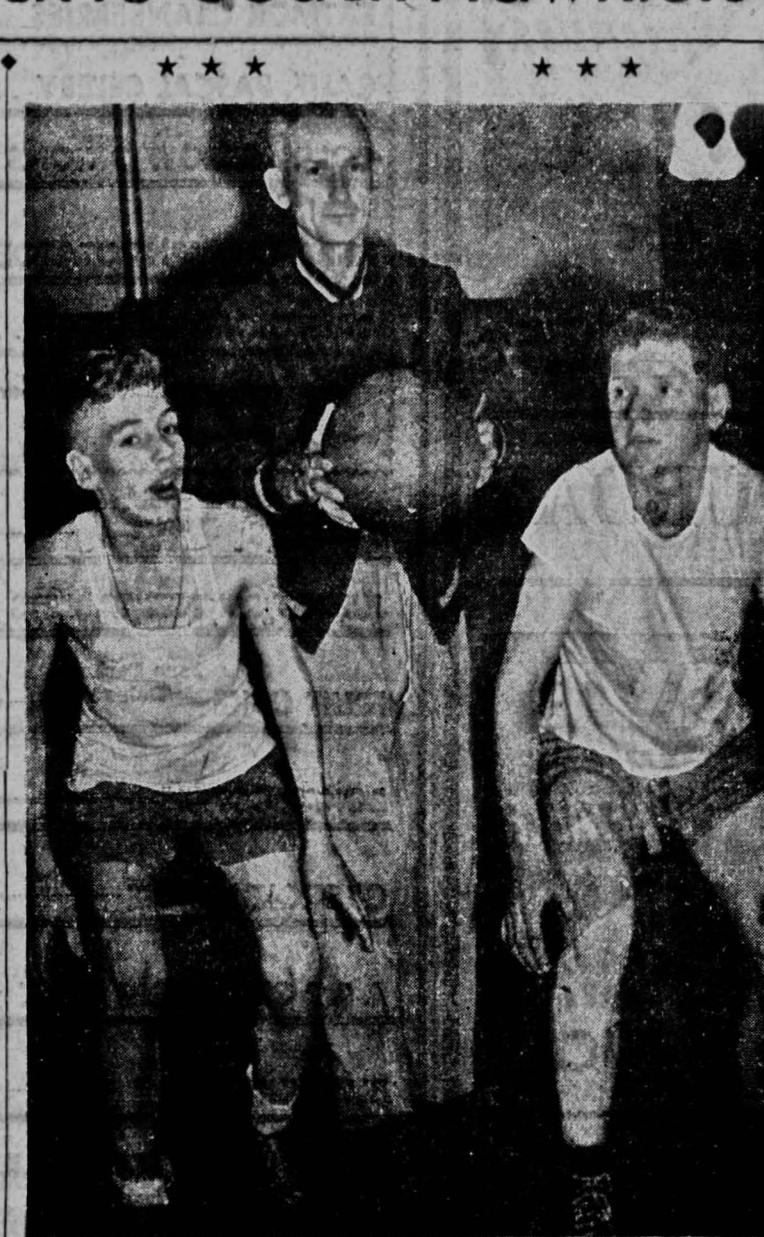

"It's sure good to be back," the tall Kansan grinned when he and Mrs. Cormack landed in Iowa City last week. Herb is a little leaner, a little browner and a little greyer but still the same affable, crafty coach of old.

Herb says he's willing to do "anything I can to help out during the basketball season." Right now he's showing future Hawklet material, the junior high school cage candidates, how to shoot, pivot and pass in practices in old City high gym.

During his 30 months with the navy, the former coach saw service with the pre-flight program at St. Mary's in California and at Chapel Hill, N. C.

Irish Fresh Stars

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Freshman halfback Bob Van Sumner looked so good in the Notre Dame football team's practice session yesterday that he probably will see considerable action against Northwestern Saturday at Evanston. He got away for two touchdowns in several other long gains.

HERB CORMACK, Iowa City high's football coach who has been on leave of absence to the navy the past 30 months, gets back in the swing of things by showing a couple of junior high youngsters the correct tip-off form. Bob Smith and Keith Fulton, returning veterans from last season's junior high team, are getting set for the jump.

Track Squad Drills Daily

The Iowa track squad is working out daily in the fieldhouse with intrasquad competition slated to start about the first of December. Last weekend four men from the squad won over Chicago, 17-19, in Chicago.

Cochrane Bresnahan emphasized that at the present stage of training very little could be stated definitely as to the prospects of the team. Several good candidates are engaged in other sports now and few of those present have been training long enough for their abilities to become known.

Iowa can be expected, however, to show a well balanced team with more than two dozen track and field men now on the squad and several more expected to report for practice in the next few weeks.

Cochrane Bresnahan announced that some distance runners may compete as individuals in the Central Amateur Athletic Union cross country meet to be held at the Waveland Park golf course on Thanksgiving day. Those expected to enter are Jack Copeland, Bernard Lewis, Jack Murray, and Sid Maiden.

Those now out for practice are: distance, Robert Bentz, Jack Cope-land, G. W. Howe, Leonard Jaworski, Bernard Lewis, Everett Morrow, Sid Maiden, and Jack Murray; sprints, Robert E. Hodges, I. J. Johnson, George Moore, E. W. Skinner, and Eric Wilson Jr.; middle distances, Robert Dunkin, Robert Hartsock, Paul Knowles, Melvin Pollard, John Rivedal, and Dick Watson; hurdles, Frank Elise; pole vault, P. K. Francescon; high jump, Louise Freese, J. I. Johnson, and George Moore; broad jump, Lewis B. Wilson, Eric Wilson Jr., and George Moore. Robert Rossie is also on the squad but it is not yet known in which events he will participate.

In tonight's other scheduled bat-tle, Nu Sigma Nu, professional fraternity winners, run into Pi Kappa Alpha, surprise victors over Gamma Phi Epsilon in the championship game of the small dormitory section.

In the play-off of section 2, drawings have been made, and Phi Gamma Delta will meet Delta Upsilon. The DU's will rate as favorites due to their 20 to 14 victory over the Phi Gams Tuesday. SAE drew a bye.

All games will be played on Old Iowa field behind reserve library.

30 Blue Hawks Out for First Cage Practices

Approximately 30 hopefuls have started working out this week to gain places on Coach Don Barnhart's University high school basketball squad. The Rivermen, defending Eastern Iowa conference champions, will open their season Nov. 30 against Williamsburg.

Barnhart has opened drills without the services of Co-captain Steve Nusser, who hasn't been to practice the first three days this week because of the death of his father. However, it is believed he may return to school later this week.

The first practices will be devoted entirely, said the Blue Hawk mentor, to drills in fundamentals — passing, shooting and dribbling, with work in more specialized phases of the game coming after squad members have rounded into shape for the long schedule.

It is too early to tell what boys may even have a chance of making the first five, but promising talent thus far has been shown by Co-Captain John Miller, Bill Greene, Ralph Donavan and several others of the newcomers to the squad.

The Rivermen may be in for a much tougher time this season than they had last year. In 1944-45 the Blue Hawks lost no league titles, but a group of strong clubs from West Branch, Tipton, West Liberty, Mt. Vernon and Monticello will be out for wins over the champs.

Barnhart has not appeared too optimistic this early in the season, but it is the coach's right to play down his prospects, and the Rivermen may surprise again this year with another tough ball club.

Nusser, one of the conference's high scorers last year, is set for his fourth year of competition, and Miller, one of the best defensive men in the league, will be the defensive mainstay of the Rivermen.

Cagers in Good Form; Ned Postels Better

Iowa's powerful basketball squad indicated what they have to offer in the way of offensive power last night as they literally tore apart a defense thrown up by the second and third string members.

Displaying unusual ability to hit the basket from any place on the floor, the Hawks' best asset was their own distribution of scoring. Rarely did a player make two consecutive baskets during the scrummage.

Coach Pop Harrison apparently can't decide just where he is going to place Dave Danner. The rugged Iowa cage star has been playing at both guard and forward posts.

Ned Postels, who sprained his ankle in Tuesday night's drill, was walking around yesterday but just when he will be able to play again depends entirely on how rapidly he heals.

Last night's scrimmage session, Harrison again used different combinations using in all nine players which composed the first string squad.

Top Jockey Injured

CHICAGO (AP) — Jockey Job Dean Jessop, 19, of Nibley, Utah, the nation's leading rider, suffered a back injury in a spill at Sportsman's park yesterday, and track officials said the injury would prevent Jessop from riding during the balance of the local season.

Poland to Maintain Standing Army Force Of Returning Troops

PARIS—Poland is building a new army and hopes to maintain a standing force of 500,000 men after she has brought back from western Europe the tens of thousands of Poles who fought alongside Allied forces, says Col. Marian Naszkowski, chief of the Polish military mission in France.

Liberated Warsaw

It was this army that participated in the liberation of Warsaw Jan. 17, 1945, and fought alongside the Russians into the ruins of Berlin.

Naszkowski estimated that there were about 1,500,000 Polish civilians and soldiers scattered throughout Europe. The job of repatriating the civilians was given to the Polish Red Cross in France, headed by Mme. Dr. Grena Dohanska.

The new Polish army's commander-in-chief is heavy-set, smiling Marshal Michal Rola-Zymierski, whose headquarters is in Warsaw.

Chicago GI Prefers New Home in Poland

PARIS, (AP)— Sgt. Boleslaw Krakowski, 30, of Chicago, is one GI who doesn't want to go home as soon as he is discharged. He would rather go to Poland.

Krakowski said he had not seen his father, mother and two sisters since 1935, but has just learned they are safe and well in the Polish village of Tarnow, near Cracow.

Naszkowski said that Poles now being incorporated into the new Polish army were trained by Polish officers and added that such equipment as planes, tanks and guns probably would have to come from the United States, England and Soviet Russia.

Had 600,000

Poland had an army of about 600,000 men when the Germans attacked in 1939.

Naszkowski said that Poles now

I'm trying to get discharged from service over here and go into Poland as a civilian," he asserted. "It takes a long time."

City Purchases All Equipment Of Local USO

The city of Iowa City has purchased all the equipment and furnishing of the U. S. O. center at the community building. This announcement was made yesterday afternoon by Mayor Wilber J. Teeters.

A committee, especially authorized to bid on the property, conferred with a representative of U. S. O. headquarters and arrived at a price of the property. The city's check has been sent to the U. S. O. headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., but as yet no bill of sale has been returned. Announcement of the price of the sale was not made.

Members of the special committee are Aldermen Carl S. Kringle, Roy A. Ewers, I. J. Baron and M. Dean Jones and LeRoy S. Spencer of the recreation commission. Their bid was based on Jay McNamara's appraisal of the property.

J. Edgar Frame, city recreation director, expressed his hope that the purchase will permit expansion of the city's recreational program at the community building. At the present time, both the social and recreational programs have conflicted because of the small space. It is suggested that all the social activity should be carried on in the upstairs rooms. This would allow more freedom for the physical recreation program downstairs.

The U. S. O. will leave Iowa City Nov. 25.

Methodist Students To Give Gay Nineties Party Saturday

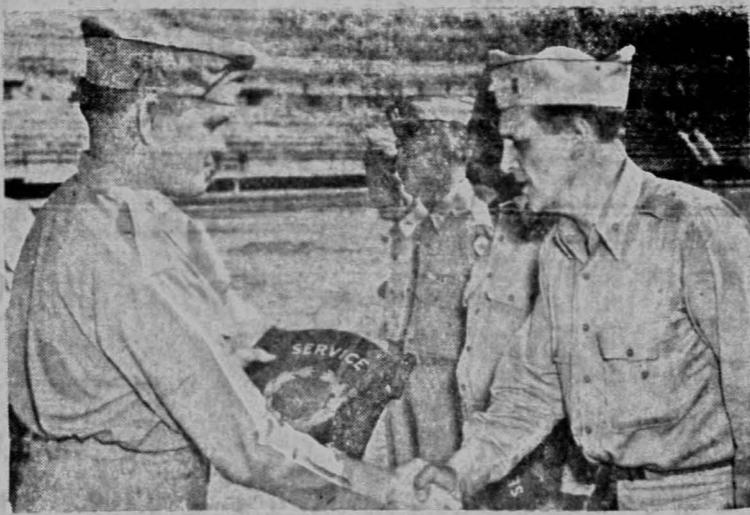

The freshman council of the Wesley foundation will entertain all Methodist students with a Gay Nineties party at the City park pavilion Saturday at 8 p.m.

Entertainment features will be the Phi Rho quartet, Joy Rankin's Flora Dora sextette, and a dramatization by Conrad Wurtz. Mrs. Lowell Boyer will coach the dramatic group. Bernard Woodke will direct the games and will be assisted by Betty Mellor and Harold Swartz, square dance callers.

Soapy Opstad is in charge of decorations which will include candle-dripped bottles on the refreshment tables. Madrene Black and Bob Martin are in charge of publicity and posters. Carolyn Ladd, chairman of the freshman council, is program coordinator. Refreshments will be provided by Pat Kinney, Margaret Kemp and Corky Douglas.

Students living on the west side of the river are asked to go directly to City park pavilion. Those wishing to take buses to the pavilion can take either University hospitals or Manville heights buses. Costs for the party will be 25 cents a person and may be paid at the pavilion.

Five species of sturgeon are found in Canadian waters.

Lt. LEO FRANCIS TORRENCE, son of Mrs. Jesse Torrence, 417 E. Benton, has been awarded the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque in behalf of his organization, the 587th Quartermaster Laundry Company. The plaque was awarded the unit for superior performance of duty in the Italian Theater. The ceremony took place recently in Bari, Italy.

The children to be confirmed are Rodmyn Bane, Dwynthia Edwards, Barbara Brown, Patricia Thomas, Mary Susan Hancher, George Coleman, Edward Alspach and Var Harter.

Music for the service will be provided by the senior choir of Trinity church. "Come Holy Ghost" by Thomas Attwood will be sung as the anthem. Bishop Haines will preach the sermon. This ceremony is open to the public.

Former SUI Student To Be in Red Cross Personnel Department

Ardon L. Cole, former SUI student, who returned recently from 16 months service as Red Cross field director overseas, has been appointed assistant director of personnel in charge of employee relations with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo. This announcement was made yesterday by H. F. Keisker, Red Cross area manager.

Formerly a resident of Des Moines, Cole taught and was a coach in the Des Moines school system. He received his B.S. degree from Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls and his M.A. from the University of Iowa in 1939.

Sailing into the Pacific in February, 1944, Cole became field director with the second marine division at Hilo on the island of Hawaii following the battle of Tarawa. He participated in the landing on Saipan and in the operations on Tinian.

Brazil Law Modifies Socialized Medicine

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—The Brazilian federal government has enacted a law requiring state governments to maintain doctors in municipalities (sub-divisions of the states) which do not have the permanent services of a doctor in private practice.

The law establishes that such medical services will be free to families of those who receive less than double the federally established minimum salary. Others will make payment according to set scales based on the cost of living in the areas.

Meyer Pleads 'Not Guilty'

Charles Meyers, owner of a tavern in Solon, has plead not guilty in district court to charges of illegal possession of gambling devices and liquor.

Court attorney's information was filed against Meyers after a raid by county and state officers on eight taverns in Solon and Hills, Oct. 28. The other tavern owners plead guilty and were fined by Judge James P. Gaffney. This is Meyer's second offense on illegal possession charges.

Judge Harold D. Evans will hear Meyer's case in the next term of district court. Swisher and Swisher are his attorneys.

LUCILLE STEVENS, 1943 graduate of the University of Iowa, has arrived in the Philippines, where she will serve as an American Red Cross staff assistant.

Bride-Elect Feted At Bridge Party

Honoring Mary Martin, November bride-elect, Mrs. Chris Yetter, Woodlawn apartments, entertained at a bridge party Tuesday night. Twelve guests shared the courtesy.

Also feting Miss Martin was a luncheon Monday noon in the private dining room of Iowa Union. Mrs. Harry Plum was hostess and guests included sorority sisters of the honoree.

Miss Martin, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Herbert Martin, 216 Melrose court, and recently discharged as a lieutenant in the WAVES, will become the bride of Richard Harvey Chambers, son of Mrs. William Rock Chambers and the late Judge Chambers of Tucson, Ariz., Nov. 24. Mr. Chambers was a major in the army air corps and is now on terminal leave.

Clubwomen to Speak Over WSU Today

Ruth C. Mueller, vice chairwoman of the Federated Women's club state radio program, will read "Religion in Iowa" this afternoon at 2 o'clock over station WSU on the program, "The Federated Clubwoman Is on the Air." The article was written by the religious emphasis committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. George E. Brown of Centerville.

This program is the second in a series of monthly presentations.

Vocational Conference Members Announced

Committee members for the annual vocational conference sponsored by the University Women's association have been announced by Barbara Moorhead, A4 of Moorhead, chairman.

They are: Jane Herftlein, C8 of Waverly; Phyllis Ottman, A2 of Oak Park, Ill., and Frances Marshall, A2 of Cedar Rapids.

The law establishes that such medical services will be free to families of those who receive less than double the federally established minimum salary. Others will make payment according to set scales based on the cost of living in the areas.
