Bus Driver, 15 Children Die in Wreck

School Bus Plunges 50 Feet Into Lake; Six People Survive

CHELAN, Wash. (AP)—Lunch baskets, bits of children's clothing and school supplies bobbed in an oil slick last night on Lake Chelan, marking the spot where a school bus submerged with its driver and 15 children dead inside, after plunging from a road into the lake early yesterday.

Six persons survived when the bus hit a rock during a blinding snowstorm and careened down a 50-foot embankment into the water. One was Mrs. Ted Brown, who was riding to town on the bus. The others were children.

Townspersons said they learned Donnie Mack, 13, made his way to shore and got word of the tragedy to Chelan from a nearby forest service telephone. Six families lost two children each in the accident.

Boatmen managed to get a line hooked to the bus and were standing by, awaiting the arrival of divers from Seattle and Grand Coulee dam. They said the vehicle was in 62 feet of water and about 40 feet offshore.

The bus driver, Jack Randle, 26, was described by a friend as an expert driver, a man who had spent 20 months on Attu driving army trucks. He is survived by his widow and a small child.

Bundled into blankets with hot water bottles, and lying in bed, Mrs. Brown related that the last she could remember between the time the bus slid into the lake and she recovered consciousness was breaking through one of the submerging bus's windows.

Brown said all the bus occupants come from the same farm community in the 25-mile creek district 10 to 20 miles above Chelan.

Featuring audience participation, the university forum of the air will broadcast this evening from 7:30 to 8:30 from studio E of the engineering building according to Bob Ray, G of Davenport, assisting Prof. A. Craig Baird of the speech department.

Designed not merely as a question and answer forum, but more as a medium for expression of student opinion, the forum will discuss the question, "Shall congress adopt the Truman plan for compulsory military training?"

Jake Bennison, A3 of Kewanee, Ill., and Merrill Baker, U of Davenport, will support the affirmative. Herman Robin, A3 of Waterloo, and Gordon Christensen, L3 of Iowa City, will present the negative case. Ray will act as moderator. Dick Baxter, G of Mt. Pleasant, will handle the traveling microphone to allow audience comment and discussion. John Highlander, G of Galesburg, Ill., will be technical adviser.

Student Forum To Discuss Army Training

WASHINGTON (AP)—Representative Cole (R., N. Y.) yesterday demanded an investigation of a report that the navy was sponsoring a large house of prostitution for enlisted men in the Yokosuka area of Japan.

Cole requested the investigation in a letter to Chairman Vinson (D., Ga.) of the house naval committee. His report was based on a letter which a navy chaplain, Lawrence L. Lacour, wrote from Tokyo and which was published in several newspapers.

The situation was discussed on the house floor last week. At that time Representative O'Hara (R., Minn.) inserted in the Congressional Record a letter from Lacour as published Nov. 14 in the Minneapolis Star-Journal. It read in part:

"As a policy of venereal disease control, the navy is permitting unrestricted access, by all men on liberty in the Yokosuka area, to houses of prostitution where the venereal incidence is considered 100 percent. The control is the prophylaxis administered by naval corpsmen on duty in the houses."

"At a meeting of the fleet medical officers, Sept. 26, it was proposed that one large 'house' be opened, that it be operated with the understanding that all the women were diseased, and that a voluntary system of prophylaxis be available by placing a navy-operated treatment station within the house."

PARIS (AP)—The United States army said yesterday that troops in the European theater having 65 discharge points could expect to be home by Christmas.

The announcement said delays forecast in October and early November because of a shipping shortage had been more than made up.

GM Refuses To Negotiate

Corporation Declares Workers' Picketing Creating Lawlessness

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
General Motors corporation last night refused to resume wage negotiations with the United Auto Workers (CIO) and declared that the union's strike picketing was "creating a situation of lawlessness."

The corporation's statement, latest development in the labor dispute which has halted General Motors automobile production and idled some 225,000 workers, was issued in reply to the union's new proposal for renewed discussions on its demand for a 30 percent wage increase.

"Unless you are prepared to modify your unreasonable wage demand we do not think that anything can be gained by further discussions," General Motors said. The union immediately replied that it knew of no "illegal picketing," accused GM of "further violations of the national labor relations act" and said it was still prepared to negotiate a settlement "any time and at any place."

Neither the company nor the union had yet received an invitation from Secretary of Labor Schwelb to confer in Washington this week.

Another labor development yesterday was the beginning of "demonstration" work stoppages affecting operations of Montgomery Ward & Company in six cities.

A union estimate said more than 12,000 CIO workers at Wards left their jobs for a week-long work stoppage, but the company asserted 92 percent of Wards' 75,000 employees were working.

Samuel Wolchok, president of the CIO United, Retail Wholesale and Department Store Employees of America, said the stoppage was designed to "impress the average man with Mr. (Sewell) Avery's labor policy." A very, Ward's board chairman, has rejected the union's proposal for arbitration of the wage demands and other issues.

Wolchok said the work stoppage was 85 to 90 percent effective in Chicago, Kansas City, Denver, Albany, N. Y., Trenton, N. J., and Barre, Vt. Similar stoppages are scheduled, he said, for today at Wards' stores in Detroit, Dearborn and Royal Oak, Mich.

Utah Polygamists
Freed From Prison

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Eleven men who married 55 women were promised their freedom from prison yesterday on the condition they live only with their legal wives and make every effort to support the others and their 287 children.

The Utah state board of pardons ordered release of the 11 "fundamentalists," Dec. 15, about six months after their imprisonment for illegal cohabitation.

Besides residing only with their legal families, the men are required to conform rigidly to their pledge to refrain from advocating or practicing polygamy.

FORT DODGE (AP)—Douglas Clifton, former inmate of the Eldora state training school for boys, testified in district court yesterday that Carl Klatt, 33, former institution guard, struck Ronald Miller 55 times with a metal-headed harness tug and 10 or 12 times with an over-sized billy club about 27 hours before the 17-year-old inmate's death.

Klatt, on trial on a second degree murder charge, also threatened twice to kill Miller, the 18-year-old witness from Cedar Rapids declared.

Jap Witnesses Testify Ample Food Given American Prisoners

Cabanatuan POW Camp, Bilibid Prison Places of Starvation

MANILA (AP)—Two Japanese defense witnesses testified yesterday at the war crimes trial of Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita that there was ample food at Cabanatuan internment camp and Bilibid prison, which prosecution witnesses have pictured as places of slow starvation.

American military investigators have described Cabanatuan as a place of famine but the defense witnesses said the inmates were fed a diet of "meat, eggs, fruits and vegetables."

There was "sufficient amount of food" at Bilibid prison in Manila, the Japanese testified. Survivors, previously related stories of barbarous torture and of being driven by hunger to eat cats, dogs and Japanese garbage.

The Japanese prison ship Oroku Maru, the same defense witnesses said, was "well and comfortably equipped." It was in the sinking, suffocating holds of that vessel that many of 1,300 captured Americans went insane or died.

The military commission trying Yamashita was so impressed by such statements from Lt. Gen. Shizuo Koh, one of the defense witnesses, that it ordered a special investigation of Koh's administration of prisoner-of-war and internment camps in Yamashita's 14th army group area.

John Shizuo Ohashi, a Japanese civilian formerly belonging to the Santo Tomas internment camp staff, assured the commission that not only did Japanese guards eat the same rations as civilian internees but that the guards sometimes were beaten in the commandant's office for mistreating prisoners.

U. S. Proposal Pleases Iran

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States lined up openly beside little Iran yesterday in proposing that all American, Russian and British troops evacuate that oil-rich country by Jan. 1.

Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala, who had been working toward that end in state department conversations for the last week, termed the proposal "most satisfactory." He expressed confidence Britain would fall in with it promptly.

There was no official reaction from London immediately on that point but it was announced there that the British had urged the Russians not to impede movement of Iranian troops in Iran. The Iranians complained that Red army officers had prevented them from sending reinforcements to Azerbaijan province where an uprising has been reported.

U. S. Reveals German Plots

Nazi Account Includes Plan to Feed Army By Starving Russians

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—The American prosecution, seeking to establish coldblooded Nazi premeditation of aggressive war, yesterday laid bare at the international war crimes trial the black story of Nazi plotting from the rape of Austria to the Hitler-approved Japanese attack on the United States.

The detailed account, constructed from the written words of the Nazis themselves, revealed that Hitler had planned to assassinate the German ambassador to Prague, if necessary, to justify his attack on Czechoslovakia. It disclosed that he had deliberately planned to starve millions of Russians to get food for the Wehrmacht.

Documents Produced
Rarely in history have so many high state secrets been given to the world at one time as were produced in the ten captured documents which were placed before the international war crimes tribunal during the day as evidence against the 20 high Nazis on trial.

Major revelations made by Assistant Prosecutor Sidney S. Alderman were:
The secret appointment of high-collared Hjalmar Schacht, one of the defendants, as plenipotentiary general for war economy in 1935, four years before the war actually began.

Expulsion of 3,000,000
Hitler's secret announcement in November, 1937, that he envisaged the expulsion of 3,000,000 persons from Austria and Czechoslovakia after seizing the two countries at an opportune moment.

"Case Green," Hitler's plan for conquering Czechoslovakia in four days, which was outlined in April, 1938, with a proviso for the assassination of the German ambassador as a provocation, if necessary.

Hitler's plan in May, 1939, to invade Holland and Belgium in the event of war with France and Britain.

Hitler's promise to Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka in April, 1941, that Germany would fight alongside Japan if the latter became involved in war with the United States.

University Veterans To Meet Tonight at 7

All veterans on the campus are urged to take part in the University Veterans' association meeting tonight at 7 o'clock in room 221 A, Schaeffer hall. The association's steering committee has announced that the future of the organization will be determined at this meeting.

The committee states that if the need of the organization is substantiated by interest, officers will be elected and policies outlined. Each veteran is permitted to vote at the meeting.

THREE PARTIES QUIT HIM, HE QUILTS

Chinese Army Nears Mukden

CHUNGKING, Tuesday (AP)—Nationalist troops striking along the Peiping-Mukden railroad, advanced today 40 miles from Chinghsien to reach Kowangtze and come within 90 miles of Mukden, press dispatches reported.

At the same time, an unconfirmed Chinese press report said the Russians had agreed to turn over their garrison duties in Manchuria to Chinese Nationalists. It asserted the Russian withdrawal from Manchuria would be postponed until January. The withdrawal had been scheduled for Dec. 3.

The Russians also were reported to have guaranteed the safety of any Nationalist troops flown to Changchun, the Manchurian capital, and to Mukden, in both of which Chinese Communists have been active.

This agreement was reported as a result of a better understanding between the two countries. Unconfirmed reports state that Russia has expressed her readiness to abide by the spirit of the Sino-Soviet treaty of friendship and alliance.

The generalissimo promised yesterday to go all out to whip the Chinese Communists into orderly line as part of a new long range program to unify and reconstruct China under the Nationalist regime.

Announcing creation of a supreme council to cope with China's manifold economic woes, Chiang did not mention the Communists by name, but made his position concerning them clear with these words:

"Some people in China have placed their partisan and personal interests above national interests and have gone so far as to interfere violently with the government's efforts to establish order in liberated areas. The government is acting to correct this condition. We shall spare no effort to bring internal order and security to the nation."

Support for his statement came quickly in a nationalist army dispatch announcing that government troops had marched into the Manchurian railroad city of Chinghsien, 100 miles beyond the Great Wall, and were now less than 125 miles southwest of the vital city of Mukden.

British Troops Leave Jewish Fighting Area

JERUSALEM (AP)—British troops withdrew last night from the troubled area north of Tel Aviv after day-long disturbances which unofficial reports said left seven Jews dead and about 75 injured.

Tank-supported British troops armed with mortars and machine-guns had entered six Jewish villages searching for persons responsible for attacks on coast guard stations.

An official communique said troops fired on Jewish settlers who attacked police trying to remove 137 suspects from the villages of Givath Haim and Hoglea and declared an "unknown" number had been killed and wounded.

The cordon was lifted last night from around all villages in the affected area and tension subsided somewhat. The Jewish National Council said there would be a 30-minute work stoppage today when yesterday's dead are buried.

Testimonies Deny Proposal An Ultimatum

Japanese Offered All That They Ostensibly Wanted, Says Diplomat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew told congressional investigators yesterday that the state department, in its efforts to maintain peace in 1941, offered the Japanese "everything they ostensibly were fighting for."

Grew depicted Japan of late 1941 as under control of a military government which had prepared it militarily and psychologically for war and was unwilling to listen to reason.

Grew took a stand alongside Hull, in contending that the American proposals of Nov. 26, 1941, which the Japanese later called an "ultimatum," were nothing of the kind.

Grew, Hull Give Opinions
Both Grew and Hull gave it as their opinions that:

1. Keeping the fleet in Pearl Harbor in 1941 was a deterrent to Japanese aggression elsewhere in the Pacific. Grew said Japanese officials had even suggested to him that the fleet be removed to the Atlantic.

2. If a modus vivendi—a temporary sort of agreement—had been presented to Japan in an effort to keep peace conversations going it likely would have had no actual effect on the developments.

In an hour in the witness chair, the aged and ailing Hull upheld in pungent language the course and actions he and President Roosevelt took in the critical months before the sneak raid Dec. 7, 1941, plunged this country into war.

Present Counter-Proposals
With irritation in his voice, he declared that his 10-point note of Nov. 26, presenting counter-proposals to Japan's demands, was not an "ultimatum" and had been subjected to "misrepresentation" and "ignorant interpretation."

"There was nothing in there that any peaceful nation would not have been delighted to accept," he declared.

"The only trouble was that the Japanese were bent—if I did not see the ladies present, Mr. Chairman, I would say hell bent—on their military policy. They had their guns drawn."

Grew, relating to the last hours of peace, said he was listening to the San Francisco radio the evening of Dec. 7, 1941 (Dec. 6, United States time) when he heard the president had sent a message to the emperor.

He got in touch with aides and finally, at 10:30 p. m., they received a coded message from the Japanese post office.

"They had held it up throughout the day," he said.

Decoding the Message
Decoding the message consumed some time and it was shortly after midnight when he saw Foreign Minister Togo and told him he wished to deliver the message personally to the emperor.

Togo haggled a bit but finally said he would present the request to the throne.

"Togo walked in. He had a document in his hand, slapped it on the table and said this is the emperor's reply."

Togo pointed to the last paragraph, he related, which said the diplomatic conversations were being called off, then made him a little speech, but said nothing of war.

He went on back to the embassy and later heard newboys calling "extra." They had papers telling of the attack and that was how he learned of it. It had occurred at 3:30 a. m. Japanese time.

Grew denied he had told an army board investigating Pearl Harbor that Hull's note of Nov. 26, 1941 "touched the button that started the war."

He asserted the note was "in no respect an ultimatum, either in tone or substance."

Grew said he wondered how the army group reached the conclusion which he himself never held. He said his actual remark to the board was that the "button" was touched off about the time the note was delivered.

Hull missed few hard words in denouncing the Japanese. He called them "dangerous and unpredictable."

University Veterans Face Important Task

University of Iowa veterans should not, must not, underestimate the task that lies before them today. If they act to strengthen their organization, and we sincerely hope they do, they must not make light of the responsibilities which they automatically assume and which later will be thrust upon them.

The experiences of veterans organizations in other Big Ten universities might be well to keep in mind. At nearly all those institutions, there has been repeated urging for the veterans to take a hand in the solution of some problem or the carrying out of some program.

Veterans groups which have been more active—vocally, at least—than the one here at Iowa have discovered that the more they do, the more they are asked to do. They've found that requests for their time, efforts and abilities have come all more frequently than they had expected.

And we believe this is good. On other campuses, as on our own, the veterans are more matured than the average university student normally is. And because of his maturity, the veteran is increasingly looked to as a student leader.

We would venture to suppose that next year, and the year after, there will be a proportionately high percentage of veterans in campus leadership positions—not only in the veterans association, but in the Student Council, the inter-fraternity council, the student university and church organization, and housing associations.

At the outset, the veterans probably will be asked to do more than they can. It takes time for them to become adjusted to the campus and be able to see the whole picture. Even the men who were here before they entered service have found many changes, some of which they do not yet understand.

There is no doubt that the veteran will be valuable as a leader. He is being looked to by all the world to help solve the many problems which have led to international friction, unrest and war.

And it holds true that if his leadership can be beneficial to the world, it also can be beneficial to the University of Iowa campus. That is why we are so deeply anxious to see a strong, vibrant veterans association grow here.

Of course, with or without a veterans association, the Iowa campus will get the benefit of leadership from veterans. They are rapidly returning to the normal civilian groups which they left, and the men who would have been the leaders if they hadn't been at war are returning with the same kind of leadership qualities. Only now, their capabilities are even greater.

It is one of the purposes of a veterans association to help its members either resume their role in normal civilian groups, or if the veterans are new at the university, to help them find the proper role.

Even before the war, it was important for a man to have an organization behind him—for support and for advice—when he undertook the responsibilities that went with the service groups to which he belonged.

There is no doubt that the veterans association at Iowa will be able to discharge any of its responsibilities in an able manner. It has in its ranks men

Two Enter Pleas, One Receives Delay In Court Arraignment

Three persons were arraigned in the district court yesterday.

Thomas Dawson appeared before Judge Harold D. Evans to answer to a charge of assault with intent to commit felony, namely: manslaughter. The indictment against Dawson states that he swung a stove poker at Mrs. Dorothy Corder of Lone Tree. The defendant was granted until 2 p. m., Nov. 30 to enter a plea.

Joe Barry was arraigned on an indictment charging him with operating a motor vehicle while intoxicated. He pleaded not guilty to the charge, his second offense. The defendant was represented by W. J. Jackson.

Religion Class to Hear Rev. B. McBee Today

The Rev. Basil McBee, pastor of the Associate Presbyterian church in Washington, Iowa, will be interviewed today at 11 a. m. in Prof. Marcus Bach's class, Little Known Religious Groups.

The Associate Presbyterian church is a conservative church which doesn't believe in the use of musical instruments. In the church services the members sing psalms exclusively. The Reverend McBee will bring a group of singers with him.

"This is in keeping with the practice of bringing representatives of lesser known religious groups to the class," Professor Bach said.

Religion Class to Hear Rev. B. McBee Today

The Rev. Basil McBee, pastor of the Associate Presbyterian church in Washington, Iowa, will be interviewed today at 11 a. m. in Prof. Marcus Bach's class, Little Known Religious Groups.

The Associate Presbyterian church is a conservative church which doesn't believe in the use of musical instruments. In the church services the members sing psalms exclusively. The Reverend McBee will bring a group of singers with him.

"This is in keeping with the practice of bringing representatives of lesser known religious groups to the class," Professor Bach said.

Behind the Mikes...

By Helen Huber

Alan Young, striving to hypso his small sign-shop business into the upper brackets, submits a bid on a $5,000 job during the Alan Young Show tonight at 7:30. (It comes to us over ABC via KXEL.) Figuring that a big front will help put over the deal, the pallid painter sets up shop in the Uptide mansion. But when rival Hubert Uptide and girl friend, Better Ditteneffer, pitch in to help, the strange goings on turn a dubious deal into an economic disaster. The Four Chicks and Chuck will offer their version of a current jive favorite, with the orchestra under the direction of Peter Van Steeden.

Van Johnson (yes, the Van) is due in New York in the near future and many a girl will be envious Paula Stone when he arrives. When Paula was in Hollywood this summer where she conducted her MBS program, she ran into the movie idol nightly at the homes of mutual friends. At Shirley Temple's wedding he promised the vivacious commentator he'd appear on her radio show when he vacationed in Manhattan.

Robert Walker, the screen star, will be doing double duty on the air tonight. He'll have the lead in "Penny Serenade" on "Theatre of Romance" over CBS at 7:30 p. m., and at 8:30, he'll be back on the same network to portray the stellar role with Keenan Wynn in Mark Hellinger's "The Perfect Plan" on "This is My Best."

Just as an afterthought for a chuckle—Milton Lewis, author of some of those CBS "Inner Sanctum" mysteries, has a four-year-old son, Erik, whose latest quirk is going about the house proclaiming, "Eek-ek, I'm a creaking door!"

Margaret Turner Weds Donald Graham in Double Ring Ceremony in Pocahontas

In a double ring ceremony, Margaret Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Turner of Pocahontas, became the bride of Lt. (j. g.) Donald A. Graham, U. S. N. R., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Graham, 493 N. Gilbert street, at 4 p. m. Sunday at the Methodist Episcopal church in Pocahontas. The vows were read by the Rev. J. R. Kirby.

Wears White Satin

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a gown of white satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, bridal point sleeves and a train. Her only jewelry was a gold bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom. Her fingertip veil fell from a Juliet cap, and her corsage was of white roses centered with an orchid.

The matron of honor also chose a gown of white satin, with which she wore a headdress of turquoise net and plumes. Her corsage was of pale yellow chrysanthemums.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Turner chose a two-piece black silk crepe dress trimmed with sequins. Mrs. Graham also chose a black dress.

Reception Afterwards

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held for 70 guests at the Claude Van Gundy home in West View. The serving table was centered with white tapers and white chrysanthemums. Hostesses at the reception were Lois Vogel, Susan Hudson and Alice Kirby.

The couple later left for a two-week wedding trip in Wisconsin. For traveling, the bride chose a two-piece grey suit with a three-quarter length coat and black accessories.

The bride was graduated from Pocahontas high school and the University of Iowa, where she majored in English. She has been working on the community chest and war fund in Charleston, W. Va.

"Honey, I've got the best retirement plan on earth!"

"THIS new Army Retirement Plan doesn't cost me a penny, and yet I can retire after 20 years of service with a good monthly income as long as I live. And remember—I'll still be under 40!"

"Why, if I wanted to PAY for a plan that would give me the same retirement income that I will get as a Master Sergeant, it would take just about $84 out of my pay envelope every month."

"And think what it will mean to us. We'll be able to do the things most people can never afford to do. Travel. Go places. Do things. But most important, we'll have financial security."

"In the meantime, I'll have a good job in the Army that will pay me well. I'll be getting fine training in a good trade. You'll get a family allowance, too.

"Not a bad proposition, is it, honey? Aren't you glad you're the wife of an Army man?"

IOWA-ILLINOIS GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

GASSIN' with GUS

By GUS SCHRADER

I'M NOT SURE whether Iowa's football team or I had worse luck over the weekend. . . Both come under the general heading of missed opportunities. . . The Hawks bobbled three or four handsome chances to end their season by whipping Nebraska. . . I played hookey from the press box to spend a three-day vacation hunting pheasants in northern Iowa and ended up just as frustrated in my search as Iowa fans were when the radio told them their team couldn't gain three yards in four plays to tie the score—at least. . . I've got some wonderful excuses. . . So has Iowa. I've learned since talking with a lot of folks who played in or saw Saturday's final disaster.

It's like this; I didn't so much as knock a feather out of a pheasant in three days of crawling through fences, stumbling up and down endless corn rows, scuffling into weed patches, drying wet feet by the fire and picking a wide assortment of burrs out of my clothes. . . I could take that, but the salt was rubbed into my wound when everybody else in the party bagged at least one bird in each day's hunt. . . Why even our dog, an untrained but awfully eager mongrel, held me up to ridicule by grabbing off a foolish rooster pheasant before it could get into the air on the first day's tragedy. . . The excuses: a very obstinate safety catch on an unfamiliar gun, a touch of buck fever after three years' absence and the doggone persistence of the birds to fly the wrong way.

IOWA'S EXCUSES are a little more substantial. . . Most of you folks (if you're still reading this) have carefully laid the blame of Iowa's defeat at the door of Jerry Niles for some questionable quarterbacking Saturday. . . On every street corner and campus cross-road yesterday I heard mutterings of "I don't know much about football, but I wouldn't pass on first down on the three-yard line!" . . . Well, I don't think I would either, not with a fullback like Art Johnson ready to buck the line. . . At least, I don't believe Art could lose 14 yards in one try.

This was the set-up: sensational runs by Hunter and Johnson had placed the ball on the three; Niles called a pass play and was dumped back on the 17; Hunter got seven and Golden made it fourth and goal on the Husker two-yard-line; then Iowa's last dangerous threat died when a Husker sneaked through and nailed Hunter for a six-yard loss on a lateral-end run play. . . Those are the facts and you've already made up your minds that Niles bungled the deal with some faulty quarterbacking.

IN THE FIRST PLACE, he was there in the game and you weren't, so your Monday quarterbacking is just second guessing. . . There were 10 other men on Iowa's side in the game, too. . . If he'd been connected with that pass and scored, every last one of his critics would be talking about how Niles outsmarted the seven-man-line-defense with an unexpected pass. . . And according to Tait Cummins, barrel-shaped sports editor of the Cedar Rapids Gazette, it almost worked. . . He swears there were two Hawk receivers open in the end zone when Niles was smashed down on the 17. . . Isn't that a case of poor blocking as well as dumb quarterbacking? . . . As Bob Zupke used to say when he was coaching great Illinois teams, "A football is an elliptical spheroid that can bounce in any one of a number of unpredictable directions". . . Saturday it bounced (figuratively) in the wrong direction for the Hawks, and Iowa ended the season by being tipped by one of the two teams it was supposed to lick this year.

Biff Jones Won't Return to Nebraska As Football Coach

OMAHA (AP)—The World Herald said in a copyrighted article yesterday that Col. Lawrence M. (Biff) Jones had decided not to return as University of Nebraska coach.

The newspaper said that by long distance from West Point, N. Y., where the "Biffer" is athletic director, he had said he made the decision Sunday morning.

At West Point Jones said he had "no comment."

Colonel Jones added, the newspaper said, that he would release the university from its obligations to him.

Welcome, Gophers, to Our Cellar

For the first time in three years, Iowa has a full-fledged bed fellow in the cozy little basement of the Big Ten.

Last Saturday a humble horde of Gophers, chastened by the 26-12 Wisconsin punishment, crept meekly in and snuggled up beside the Hawks, who have made things comfortable for themselves during their three-year lease. Both teams have won one, lost five in encounters with conference foes.

In 1943, Northwestern's Wildcats moved in on a conditional basis; they hadn't lost quite as many games as the Hawks but still had a .000 percentage. Last year no one even argued with Iowa about the cellar privilege.

Meanwhile, Indiana's haughty Hoosiers climbed to the Big Ten's penthouse apartment to begin their first year occupancy of the loop championship. After clipping Purdue, 26-0, the Hoosiers laid claim to a couple of individual offensive titles in the conference.

The sportswriters are hailing George Taliaferro, fleet freshman back as the all-around offensive star of the season. He was the only player to average more than 100 yards per game by rushing, passing and pass receiving and he tied for second in the air-tight scoring race with 30 points.

Iowa's Jerry Niles gained more ground—528 yards in six games—than any other Big Ten chucker.

League statistics disclosed a three-way tie for individual scoring honors between Ollie Cline of Ohio State, Bill Canfield of Purdue and Don Kindt of Wisconsin with 36 points, one of the lowest in conference history.

Little Hawks Meet West Branch Tonight; Van Deusen Still Sick

Iowa City's Little Hawks meet the West Branch Bears in a non-conference game this evening at 8 o'clock in the local gymnasium. Jim Van Deusen, star forward, is still confined to his home with the flu, and will not see action tonight. Sonny Dean, center on the first five, was also out of school yesterday with a severe head cold, and will see little action against the Bears.

The remainder of the squad is in shape, according to Coach Gil Wilson, and will be out to put themselves on the victory trail. Yesterday afternoon the team worked to smooth out the raggedness displayed at times in their loss to Muscatine last Friday.

Wilson offered little comment on his team after their thriller with the Muskies, but hoped for more coordination. He expressed some concern over the showing of the veterans, as they did not come up to expectations Friday, while the newcomers gave good account of themselves.

Jerry Cannon and Evan Smith were named by Wilson as possible replacements for the ailing Dean. Cannon and Smith both looked good in Friday's contest and will probably see considerable action. Freeman and Krall at forward with Sangster and Beals at guard round out the five.

Little is known about the West Branch outfit. Lathrope, a member of last year's Bear team, is said to be their chief threat. A fine shot, Lathrope made a name for himself last season with his ability to hit the basket with great regularity.

Bowl Lineup New Year's Schedule Almost Complete

NEW YORK (AP)—The year end football picture took this shape today:

- ROSE BOWL (Pasadena)—Alabama vs. Southern Cal or Washington State.
 - SUGAR BOWL (New Orleans)—Oklahoma A & M vs. St. Mary's.
 - ORANGE BOWL (Miami)—Holy Cross vs. Miami, LSU, Tennessee or Georgia.
 - SUN BOWL (El Paso)—New Mexico vs. Denver, Wake Forest, SMU or Virginia.
 - COTTON BOWL (Dallas)—Southwest champion (probably Texas) vs. opponent still to be named.
 - SHRINE BOWL (San Francisco)—East all-stars vs. West all-stars.
 - OIL BOWL (Houston)—Teams still to be named.
- Nothing yet has been heard about the North-South game, the Vulcan Bowl at Birmingham, the Flower Bowl at Jacksonville, the Lily Bowl in Bermuda, the Pineapple Bowl at Honolulu, the Spaghetti Bowl at Florence, the Riviera Bowl in Marseilles, or the Tea Bowl in London.

Irish Ready For First Tilt With Oxford

St. Patrick's Shamrocks will be depending on reserve power to carry them safely through their first contest of the season tonight when they tangle with Oxford on the Pirates' floor.

Two of the Irish, Bob Sullivan and Bill McMahon, who were slated for center and forward posts, are ill with flu which has struck 11 of Coach Cliff Kritt's 23-man squad. Of tonight's starting five, only Merle Hoyer, forward, and Charlie Belger, guard, saw action regularly last season.

But Coach Kritt is far from pessimistic about his Irish quintet's chances of repeating last year's 41-21 trouncing of the Pirates. "We're confident of making a good showing because our reserves are very capable. They should fill the positions easily since both have been close behind Sullivan and McMahon for the regular spots," he said.

Jerry Megan, six-footer who is taking over McMahon's job, will team up with Hoyer in the Shamrock forward wall. Bill Seemuth, whom Kritt termed as "the most promising man on the squad," has been switched from guard to Sullivan's pivot post. Belger and Tom Hoyer, a reserve last year, will be in the backcourt.

Kritt indicated that Bob Brown will be ready to step in at forward, Mert Herdaska at guard, Vince Dalton at center and Sam Elberts at both forward and guard positions.

All-American Ives Comes Back To Play in Iowa's Front Line

By BOB FAWCETT

A basketball team, like an army, needs strength at the forward positions and Iowa will have just that this year in a Hawkeye cager named Dick Ives, twice All-American.

Dick has played a lot of basketball in his two years at the university and honors have been coming his way ever since he made his first appearance on the Hawkeye hardwood.

Coming to the university just after the ruling forbidding freshmen to play varsity ball was waived, the former Diagonal all-star set forth in a scoring campaign that netted him the honor of being high point man in the Big Ten. He was selected that year for the second Big Ten team and named by Chuck Taylor as an All-American.

Ives repeated his performance again last year with the Big Ten champions and was picked once more on the second all-conference team. That year, however, he was labeled an All-American by many more sports critics—among them Argosy and Pic magazines.

Chosen for the college All-Star basketball squad, the 19-year-old forward left the university for a few days last December to combine his hoop efforts with other college stars in a game with the Ft. Wayne "Zollners," professional cage champs. The All Stars lost but, as Dick says, "It was good experience."

Though Dick played four years of basketball in Diagonal high school before coming here, he doesn't confine his interest to that sport alone. Baseball holds a popular place in his list of activities, too. He pitched two years for his high school team and continued his participation on the diamond in his freshman year here, but then the hoop sport took over and he's been concentrating his efforts there ever since.

The Iowan who wears a black number seven on his gold jersey, commented, "We should have a fine team this year. There is a lot of competition on the squad but it's all friendly. The squad works well together."

"We went through some tight ones last year," Ives went on, "and we learned a lot. I think there was a little too much suspense in some of those games—especially the second one with Illinois."

Ives adds more height to the team—his 6' 1" and weighs 175. When he graduates in '47, the Hawkeye will have had eight years of basketball from which to draw knowledge to coach up-and-coming cagers—that's the career he has outlined.

Gopher Upset Only Bright Spot of Bad Season for Hawkeyes

Coach Clem Crowe, who returned from Nebraska's 13-6 upset of his Iowa football team with a mild case of flu, yesterday read over the season's statistics and decided that the Hawkeyes looked about as bad on paper as they had on the gridiron this fall.

In fact, the only bright spot came with the 20-19 upset of Minnesota. The Nebraska loss left Iowa's season record at seven losses against the two one-point victories over Bergstrom and Minnesota. The Gopher game was the first triumph since Nov. 7, 1942, after 17 defeats and one tie in Big Ten play.

Out of the gloom of a dismal season, two Hawkeyes stood out with individual offensive records that were commendable even when compared with those of players on winning teams. Both of the men—Art Johnson and Jerry Niles—are returned war veterans and are among the oldest on the squad.

Johnson, veteran E-2 navigator in the ETO, came back from a four-year lay-off to top the rushers with a 4.4 average—290 yards on 65 trials. He was also high scorer with 18 points, including two touchdowns against Minnesota.

Niles, who last played for Iowa as a center in 1938, was one of the nation's leading passers in yards gained. The 26-year-old quarterback completed 63 of 180 passes, with 16 interceptions, for 889 yards and 35 percent.

Best target of Niles was Harold Loehlein, freshman end, who grabbed 11 for 165 yards. Nelson Smith, right halfback, took 9 for 163, and Paul Golden, halfback, nabbed 10 for 105. Smith was second-best yard-gainer with 203 in 50, for a 4-yard average.

Ned Postels, Danner May Miss Opener

Coach Pops Harrison may be without the services of two of his top-flight cagers when the Hawkeyes open their basketball schedule against Augustana Saturday.

This became evident yesterday when it was learned that Dave Danner, all-Big Ten forward of the 1944-44 season, is still out with influenza and Ned Postels, last season's regular guard, has not fully recovered from a sprained ankle.

The Iowa cage mentor has not announced a starting lineup for the Augustana tilt and he indicated yesterday that no such announcement would come until later in the week.

Marshall Honored for War Achievements

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman pinned another decoration on erect 64-year-old George C. Marshall yesterday and 20,000 cheered this tribute to the retired chief of staff for his war achievements.

The citation credited Marshall with giving his country victory—also:
1. "The vision that brought into being the greatest military force in history."
2. "Greater influence than any other man on the strategy of victory" because he could make the Allies understand this country's true potentiality in personnel and materiel.
3. Being the first to recognize that victory would depend on our capacity to ring the earth with supply lines, to arm-willing Al-

Service Secretary Tells Campus Leaders About Student Relief

"The World Student Service distributed last year by students in Iowa and eight other states making up the Geneva region. A goal of $100,000 is set for this year. Miss Freed urges students to invest generously and nobly in the future of foreign students," for she believes their future is also our future.

"When other people are subject to cold and hunger, and malnutrition, they are subject to poor leadership," she said. "When their freedom is insecure, so is ours."

"We aren't the only ones bearing the brunt of this great relief undertaking," Miss Freed explained. "There are counter parts to the W.S.S.F. in all countries untouched by war."

The W.S.S.F. was created by the National Intercollegiate Christian council, the student division of the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A. It is inter-faith, inter-racial, and non-political, giving as much aid to non-Christian students as to Christian students.

Miss Freed was graduated from the University of Kentucky in 1945 with a B.A. degree in romance languages. She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, the national honorary scholastic fraternity. While in col-

The Tri-Delt committee on awards will be sole judge of respective merits of the applicants.

County Bond Sale Reaches 44% of Total

Johnson county's Victory Loan campaign has reached the 44 percent mark with only 11 days to go. A reported total of $600,335 in bond investments have been sold in the past 25 days, but the bond quota is $1,348,000.

The campaign in Iowa City has drifted along for the past few days and only $14,588 in "E" bonds have been sold. The total "E" bond sales for Iowa City are $175,799 while the total bond purchases amount to $375,694.

Series "E" bond totals which are included in the $600,335 figure have reached the 49 percent mark. The county has purchased $294,201 of its $591,000 quota.

Series "E" bond buying was boosted in the remainder of the county during the past few days. Lone Tree raised its "E" total by $12,169 while Solon ran its "E" bond total up another $5,325 and Oxford added another $4,238.

Swisher's "E" bonds were raised another $1,893 and Hills added $1,557 more.

The all-over bond campaign went up $73,888 during the past three days but the amount fell short of the campaign's quota.

"As soon as the time comes when students no longer need aid, we'll drop the whole thing and say gladly, 'We're on our feet,'" said Miss Freed.

Sorority Scholarship Cup to Be Presented in Iowa Union Tonight

The presentation of the sorority scholarship cup will take place at an informal gathering of sorority members at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the lounge of Iowa Union. This cup is given annually to the group with the highest scholarship average for the previous year.

Zeta Tau Alpha originated the award in 1932 in an effort to promote higher scholarship among Pan-Hellenic members. The winning sorority was to keep the cup and pass it on to the top group the following year. In the event that any sorority should take the scholarship honors for three consecutive years, they would then be allowed to keep the cup.

Pi Beta Phi has been the only sorority to keep the award, having had the highest scholarship record from 1940 to 1943. They presented a new cup to Kappa Kappa Gamma last year.

Other sororities to win the cup are: Alpha Chi Omega, 1932; Alpha Xi Delta, 1933; Gamma Phi Beta, 1934 and '35; Kappa Kappa Gamma, 1936 and '37, and Delta Gamma, 1938 and '39. The winning average has increased, last year's 2.7 being the highest in the past four years.

Six hostesses will take charge of seating sorority members and housemothers and serving refreshments after the presentation. They are: Eileen Schenken, A4 of Marion; Helen Kuttler, A4 of Daventport; Margaret Walk, A4 of Grafton; Jayne Livingston, A4 of Fort Dodge; Phyllis Hedges, A4 of Iowa City, and Louise Hilfman, A4 of Bettendorf.
