Police Stage Hit, Run Accident

Iowa City Officers Plan Fatal Crash For Training School

By HARVEY INGHAM III
After 507 days without a traffic fatality, Iowa City policemen are investigating the hit and run death of Joe O'Toole, 16, route 10, who died in the twisted ruins of his bicycle at Davenport and Dodge streets about 8:15 last night.
But before the story goes any further, it should be explained that Joe O'Toole was only a dummy, and the whole accident was planned and staged by members of the police force as part of the Iowa City police force's in-service training school.
The members of the force are divided into two groups, the planners and the investigators.
The planners are Patrolmen Ed Ruppert, Fred Lewis, Cletus Stimel, Lawrence Ham, Jim Dalton and Mike Moore. They were advised by Police Chief Ollie White.
The investigators are Patrolmen George Brown, Jim Ryan, Emmet Potter, William Holland, Harland Sprinkle and Don Purvis. Richard Holcomb of the bureau of public affairs assisted them.
When the investigators arrived at the accident the body was lying under the bicycle near the northeast curb. It was identified by a note pinned to the body which said "Joe O'Toole, route 10. I am dead."
The investigators were aided by falling snow, which showed the wheel marks of both the bicycle and the car. The bicycle tire marks indicated that the boy was traveling south on Dodge street on the wrong side of the street. The bicycle did not have any lights.
A witness, Jim Dalton, 521 S. Linn street, told police that the car came from the west on Davenport street and turned north on Dodge street where it struck the bicycle. He was unable to describe the car.
Another witness, Fred Lewis, 608 E. Jefferson street, after lengthy questioning during which he repeatedly stated "I don't want to get involved in any trouble," told police that the car was "a two-seated dark car," and that after the accident "it weaved down the road as if the driver were drunk."
After more questioning Lewis said that the car stopped down the street after the accident and the driver, who appeared to be alone, got out and came back to look at the body. He then went back to the car and tossed something into the snow at the side of the road.
The police located this object, which was an empty wine bottle, and are investigating several good fingerprints which were obtained from it.
Several pieces of broken headlight glass were found near the body, and a few pieces were picked up where the car stopped down the street. After piecing together the headlight, police were able to identify the car tentatively as a '38 or '39 Nash or Dodge.
If and when the driver is apprehended he will be tried in a mock court presided over by District Judge Harold D. Evans, County Attorney Jack C. White will act as prosecutor, and Arthur O. Leff, attorney for the defense.

Chinese Move Into Capital Of Manchuria

CHUNGKING (AP)—Central government troops moved by road into Mukden and by air into Changchun yesterday in two giant strides toward restoring China's sovereignty over Manchuria, a Tientsin dispatch said.
Associated Press Correspondent Olen Clements, quoting Chinese military sources in Tientsin, said Lt. Gen. Tu Li-Ming's forces entered Mukden without incident after a 240-mile march across southern Manchuria that began last month.
Tientsin sources reported the moves were made in an agreement with Russia under which Chungking forces will occupy most strategic areas in the vast and partly industrialized territory seized by Japan when she began her fateful era of Asiatic conquest in 1931.
These sources declared Russian troops had cleared the way for the entry of Chungking's divisions whose possession of Manchuria has been contested by Chinese Communist forces.
While Tu's overland units entered Mukden, Manchuria's largest city, the fifth division of Chungking's 94th army began landing by plane at Changchun, the capital 170 miles to the northeast, Clements reported.
More Chinese army units were concentrating in Peiping, ready to begin the air movement to Changchun, Davis added.
The Chinese central daily news asserted the Russians had agreed to assume responsibility for clearing non-National troops out of Manchuria, but the report was received with skepticism here because that would entail a virtual Soviet campaign against the Communists.

Truman Asks Price Ceiling for Houses

President Announces All Building Material Under Priority Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman, acting to avert "further sky-rocketing of home prices," yesterday called for legislation to fix price ceilings on houses.
In a companion move aimed to relieve what he termed an acute housing shortage, the president announced at his news conference that building materials will be back under a priority system in a few days.
The priorities program also will set up preferences for veterans in the purchase or rental of such housing.
A third step in the new overall housing program calls for immediate release to states and local governments of any surplus federal property suitable for housing. Included under this plan, already put in operation by the surplus property administration, are army and navy barracks and dormitories.
A bill is pending in congress to put price ceilings on new and old houses. The president gave it his blessing by endorsing a statement by reconversion boss John W. Snyder that "such authority is essential if we are to avert further sky-rocketing of home prices."
The Patman bill now before the house banking committee provides that ceilings on new houses would be determined on the basis of actual construction costs, plus the fair market value of the land and the generally prevailing contractors' margin for comparable units in 1941.
On an existing home, the ceiling would be the price at which it is first sold after enactment of the bill.
Price control would be limited to those areas where a federal housing director found it necessary.

SUI Expects 100 Trailer Units For Veterans by Next Semester

The University of Iowa expects to have about 100 of its allotted 250 trailer homes ready for occupancy of its married veterans by the first of next semester, George Horner, university architect, disclosed last night.
Speaking at a meeting of the University Veterans association in Schaeffer hall, Horner unveiled plans for the construction of at least two trailer communities on the Iowa campus. The old Iowa athletic field, between Burlington and Iowa avenues and Iowa river and the interurban tracks is to be the site of a 175-unit community, Horner said. He also indicated that the area across from the Fine Arts building would serve as the site for a second trailer community.
Horner returned recently from Lima and Akron, Ohio, where he selected about 175 units to be used here. He explained that if the trailers are released by Lima and Akron authorities next week, they'll start rolling into Iowa City in two weeks at the rate of four to eight a day. "We are ready to set them up as fast as they arrive here," Horner added.

Three types of trailer will be included in the allocation: standard, two room trailer measuring 7 1/2 by 22 feet; expandable, three room trailer measuring 18 by 22 feet, and utility, 18 by 22 foot trailers for use as toilets, baths and laundries. Horner indicated that of the first allocation, about 140 would be of the standard type and 35 of the expandable type. There will be one toilet and shower trailer for every 25 living units and one laundry trailer for every 50 units.
The trailers will be heated by oil-fan stoves, and for the present there will be no running water. Wooden duck boards will serve as sidewalks until concrete can be laid. A gravel parking lot is also included in the plan as well as an area on the river side of the community for recreation.
"Our proposed trailer communities may sound a little dreary to (See VETERANS, Page 5)

Phone Tapping Halted at PH

Navy Stopped Check Of Jap Conversations After Row With FBI
WASHINGTON (AP)—Pearl Harbor investigators were told yesterday that the navy, after a row with the FBI, stopped listening in on Japanese telephone conversations in Hawaii five days before the Dec. 7, 1941 attack.
The FBI continued tapping one Japanese consulate line up to the moment of the assault, and in this way learned that the consul in Honolulu was destroying his codes. The tapped line led to the cook's quarters in the consulate.
Independent Inquiry
This evidence, placed before the joint congressional investigating committee, was included in a report by Lt. Col. Henry C. Clausen, assigned by Secretary of War Stimson to make an independent inquiry in 1942.
The committee also was informed of another long-time secret—the navy had reports in June, 1940, that the Japanese would try to sabotage the Panama canal if the fleet moved from its Hawaii base toward the Atlantic. The fleet feinted an approach to the canal, but the sabotage didn't occur.

President Expects Passage of Labor Law by Christmas

Truman Appoints Fact-Finding Board For GM Walkout
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman said confidently yesterday he expects congress to pass his labor law by Christmas despite current indications that committee hearings will be lengthy.
And just as confidently, the president appointed his fact-finding board for the General Motors strike and predicted both sides would cooperate with it.
The house meanwhile whooped through on a voice vote a bill by Rep. Hobbs (D., Ala.) to make the anti-racketeering act apply to labor unions. The measure now goes to the senate, which has previously refused to pass such a measure.
The General Motors board consists of Judge Walter P. Stacy, of the North Carolina supreme court, chairman of the recent labor-management conference; Lloyd K. Garrison, chairman of the war labor board; and Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Kansas State college and brother of the general. It will organize here next Wednesday.

Nazis Accused By Documents

Records Tell Story Of Inhuman Beating, Russian Slave Hunts
NEURNBERG (AP)—Six leading Nazis were accused yesterday by their own documents of engineering the brutal, sub-human enslavement of more than 6,500,000 foreign workers through ruthless manhunt, arson and murder.
So revolting was the testimony that even their fellow defendants among the 21 leaders facing the international military tribunal edged away from them as silver-haired Assistant United States Prosecutor Thomas J. Dodd produced document after damning document.
Fritz Sauckel, responsible only to Hitler as Reich plenipotentiary for labor allocation, was portrayed as the chief architect of the labor enslavement program which so disgusted even Nazi underlings that they dared complain of inhuman treatment.
The documents told of prisoners dying like flies from hunger; of whole villages burned to force laborers into the Reich; "limitless abuse of slave humanity" which had its "origins in the blackest periods of the slave trade."
They told of humans being hunted down in wild manhunt by the SS, without consideration for health or age, gathering humans into their net "like dog catchers catch dogs." They told of captive women being beaten until they no longer could march; of babies born on slave trains being thrown out of train windows.
Presiding Lord Justice Geoffrey Lawrence called special attention of the court to a line in an order to SS kidnapers from the security police in March, 1943, concerning the recruitment of workers from Poland and Russia.
"As a rule, no more children will be shot," the order said.
Also implicated were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, who initiated a Hitler order for use of slave labor on Atlantic wall fortifications.

It's 'Fantastic'

UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE Dean Acheson is shown above as he branded as "absolutely fantastic" accusations by Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley that Acheson favors imperialism and is against democracy. The undersecretary told the senate foreign relations committee that he had never interfered with or blocked "any policy ever put into effect by this government in any country."

Official Says Negotiations To Continue

Company Indicates Willingness to Talk Lesser Amount
DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor company yesterday reiterated its inability to grant a general 30 percent wage rate increase requested by the CIO United Auto workers but a union official said the firm "indicated it might be willing to talk to a lesser amount."
The company in a letter to the union earlier yesterday called on the UAW to approach the wage problem with "constructive thought" and Richard T. Leonard, UAW's Ford director, said, "I am certain this does not mean a break in wage negotiations."
Leonard said company officials told him yesterday that Ford feels it cannot pay the 30 percent. He quoted a Ford official as saying, "working from two extremes we may reach a middle ground on the issue."
Serious Consideration
The UAW official told newsmen the union would "give serious consideration" to scaling down its wage demands if the company offers an annual wage proposal.
The Ford company announced yesterday that it was giving "sincere and careful study" to a union proposal on company security. Leonard commented that he believed the proposal "will guarantee increased productivity."
"The company security proposal is contingent on other points in the contract," Leonard asserted. He added, "actually the maintenance of production is the sole responsibility of management, but we will be willing to cooperate."
"Not Happy"
Leonard said he was "not happy" with all details of the proposals outlined in the company's letter yesterday.
The company, in a statement issued yesterday afternoon after the negotiating sessions were adjourned until tomorrow, declared it was "willing to discuss the wage issue with you (the UAW) as long as it is necessary to reach a reasonable conclusion."
Resume Negotiations
Negotiations between General Motors and the union will resume today. The corporation has indicated a desire to reach an agreement over picketing practices at struck plants before going ahead to a solution on the wage issue.
An unofficial survey, by the Detroit News, brought forth evidence yesterday that the automobile industry has produced only one-tenth of the 500,000 passenger cars which it had intended to turn out this year.
The News said "every company" gave curtailment of the flow of essential parts as the reason for its inability to achieve volume production. The December figure had been set at 250,000 cars but the industry "will be lucky to attain 20,000" the paper said.

High Japs Surrender At Sugamo Prison As Criminal Suspects

TOKYO (AP)—Heavily laden with bedding and baggage, a prince of the imperial family and other top-rank Japanese trudged through the gates of grim Sugamo prison yesterday to surrender as war criminal suspects.
The surrendering notables, headed by aged Prince Morimasa Nashimoto—first of Emperor Hirohito's family to be named on a war crimes list—were part of a group of 59 given until midnight to submit themselves voluntarily.
Others on the list continued arriving at Sugamo at five-minute intervals during the day.
As the prince and a procession of several admirals, generals, industrialists and newspaper publishers checked in at the prison, Japan's diet heard Foreign Minister Sjigeru Yoshida make one of the strongest understatements of his career.
"Japan," he said, "at present lacks complete sovereignty."
Yoshida made the remark in connection with his disclosure that the government already had broached to Allied headquarters the question of resuming diplomatic relations with the rest of the world.
The war criminal suspects surrendering yesterday were on General MacArthur's Dec. 2 list of suspects. An additional 57, named on MacArthur's Dec. 6 list, have until midnight Sunday to surrender.

Snow Covers Entire State

DES MOINES (AP)—Snow was falling in all but a few eastern sections of Iowa with Council Bluffs reporting a fall of three inches early last night, the weather bureau said.
The state highway patrol reported that highways in all sections where snow was falling were slippery with visibility poor.
Other snowfall reports by the weather bureau were one to two inches at Sioux City; 1.3 inches at Des Moines; one inch at Burlington, Atlantic, Lamoni, and a trace at Iowa City, Montezuma, Spencer and Mason City.
Snow was still falling at all of these points.
Wind velocity was approximately nine miles an hour and no serious drifting was anticipated. Highways probably would be somewhat slippery, the weather bureau said.

Iowa Citizens Assured Of White Christmas

If you have been dreaming of a white Christmas, you can quit now because we have all the makings for a very white holiday season.
It started snowing about six o'clock last night and by 12:30 this morning, the weather officials at the airport reported two inches of that pretty white stuff. At that time the snow was still coming strong and it probably will keep on all day today. It is not likely that it will drift much because the wind will not be strong. The temperature will stay fairly warm.

LEAVES HANDWRITING ON THE WALL

"FOR HEAVEN'S SAKE catch me before I kill more I cannot control myself!" These words, scrawled in lipstick on the living room wall in the Chicago apartment of Miss Frances Brown, 33-year-old ex-WAVE, whose brutally slain body was found in the bathtub, has Chicago police alerted for a possible manic-murderer.

Dachau Concentration Camp Guards 'Guilty'

DACHAU (AP)—Forty officials and guards of the notorious Dachau concentration camp were convicted yesterday by a United States military court on charges of murder, torture and starvation, and will be sentenced today.
The court, deliberating 90 minutes, found Camp Commandant Martin Weiss and all the other defendants guilty of a regime of horror at the camp, overrun by American troops last April 30. Dachau then housed 32,000 men and 350 women.
Defendants sentenced to die will be hanged, which Germans consider an ignominious death. The trial lasted 24 days.
The accused took the verdict stoically, although a few flushed when their names were read.
The convicted included five camp doctors and three prisoners who had collaborated with the SS.

Editorials:

Remember What Happened Tuesday Night?

In 10 days the Big Ten basketball season opens, and in the tough campaign for another championship, Iowa will have to be at its peak in every minute of every game.

Just a "good" performance won't defeat the Hawkeyes' Big Ten opponents. The other teams will be inspired to seek what would be their greatest achievement—a victory over Iowa.

But what will happen if Iowa's coolness and poise are swept away by the crowd as they were Tuesday night?

Tempers flared Tuesday night in the field-house. They were touched off by an official's decision and were fanned by the prolonged boing of the crowd. And then those red-hot tempers upset the delicate balance of poise on which a team's basketball skill rests.

For three minutes the crowd boomed, and in those three minutes something happened to the Iowa team. When play was resumed, the five men on the floor weren't the smooth-functioning unit they had been before.

Something happened. The Hawkeyes' determination had been whipped into frustration and their bitterness seemed to have become anger. They had lost control of themselves and of the game. Something happened. It started with the crowd and affected the players.

That is the measurable effect a crowd has on a team. It can lift a team to heights, or it can push a team over the edge to downfall.

Suppose that the score had been close, or perhaps that the Hawkeyes had been trailing a few points. They would have needed all the skill and accuracy they could muster, and they would have needed to direct their skill with clear deliberativeness.

If their deliberativeness were snatched from them, as it was Tuesday night, they might well be headed for defeat.

The experts can tell you how easy it is to push a team off the pinnacle it reaches when hearts and minds, and nerves and bodies, have been whipped to an emotional climax.

A team may at one moment be magnificent, and in the next moment be terrible. It takes a whole chain of events to make the difference, but the chain can be started by one little incident.

Perhaps an official makes a disputable decision. The players protest and the crowd booes. That's part of basketball.

But there are some individuals in the crowd who aren't very smart. They boo because others boo, or because it is funny, or because they want to make noise. Maybe their emotions, too, are at a climax and they have to let off steam.

The booing continues, and it reaches the players and dims into their ears. The "chain of events" continues, and suddenly all the intensity in the players bursts.

The team is no longer a team. The cool determination has become reckless madness. The skill isn't controllable. And the "chain of events" continues. Defeat!

It's something for basketball fans to think about—this affect they can have on their team.

And they must think about that "chain of events," and they must be smart about it. They must know when the "chain" is pulling the Hawkeyes upwards, and when it is pulling them down.

The fans want Iowa to win again. And so they must be smart about their cheers—and their booes.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon Defeats Phi Beta Pi In Bridge Tourney

Sigma Alpha Epsilon team 1, Bill Voelckers, E1 of Iowa City, and Ned Willis, L3 of Perry, defeated Phi Beta Pi team 11, Peter Goplerud, M2 of Osage, and Wayne Sands, M3 of Clinton, in the final games of the contract bridge tournament this week.

The next two ranking teams in the tournament were Sigma Nu team 11, Ed Hicklin, A3 of Wapello, and Bill Martin, L1 of Shenandoah, and Delta Delta Delta team 1, Ellen Gams, A3 of Lakeview, Ohio, and Marion Toms, A2 of Cedar Rapids.

An all-university bridge tournament which individual teams may enter will be sponsored next semester by the Union board subcommittee on bridge. Martha Garrett, C4 of Des Moines, is chairman, and Gene Thompson, C3 of Cedar Rapids, co-chairman.

Special Christmas Programs in Union

Special Christmas programs to take place in Iowa Union at 4 p. m. daily during the first part of next week have been arranged by Dr. Earl E. Harper, director, in cooperation with the Union board.

The main lounge and entrance doors will be decorated by members of the sub-committee on house and library headed by Walter Peterson, C4 of Burlington. Although a Christmas tree has been set up in the southwest corner of the main lounge and lighted, its decoration will not be completed until later.

Musical ensembles will be heard from the balcony Monday and Wednesday afternoons in Christmas selections under the supervision of Prof. Hans Koelbel and Prof. Charles B. Riegler of the music department. Prof. Herald Stark, also of the music department, will lead group caroling in the main lounge Tuesday afternoon.

Army Man in City To Enlist Volunteers

Staff Sergt. Raymond B. Hite, representing the Davenport subdivision of the Des Moines Recruiting service arrived in Iowa City yesterday and will remain today until 5 p. m. for the purpose of enlisting volunteers in the regular army.

Enlistment in the regular army consists of 14, 2 and 3 year terms and offers to those choosing the three year period a choice of the branch of service and overseas assignment preferred.

Within 20 days of discharge and before Feb. 1, 1946, veterans may re-enlist with the rating they held at discharge as a permanent rank. Volunteers are used to replace soldiers in China, Europe, the Pacific, Alaska and Caribbean regions.

Exchange Roles Fair Sex Plays Host Tomorrow Night

By AUDREY ROSS

An age-old proverb of "Turn About Is Fair Play" will allow university women to reverse the etiquette rules of dating and escort their own "bachelors" to the all-university informal "Spinsters' Spree" from 9 to 12 o'clock tomorrow night.

So fellas, you're in for an evening of fun! As was the custom at previous "Sprees," the member of the fair sex calls for her date either early, on time or very late, according to her own discretion.

Every available mode of transportation from a hearse to a garbage truck is being used. Already taxi cabs have been reserved, motorcycles repaired, and roller skates sharpened for the conveyance of dates. Who knows? Maybe you might ride in a police car or on a fire truck—but at least you won't walk!

Naturally adding to the gaiety of the "Spree," the "bachelor" will receive a "corsage"—usually something contrived from perhaps a mousetrap, feathers or cigars.

These colorful decorations are worn by the men throughout the entire evening, so don't shudder if you receive a cactus plant adorned with gum or a gas balloon extending three feet in the air.

"Course you needn't give up hope yet about going to the dance. It's only the day before the "Spree" and who knows—you might even be called for a last minute blind date!

High Shot Percentage Makes Wier Top Scorer

As far as the much abused basketball rims in the Iowa fieldhouse are concerned, the hottest thing on the Hawkeye basketball team is red-headed Murray Wier. The fiery Muscatine forward, shortest cager on Pops Harrison's squad, has made 39 percent of his shots in four games and is the team's leading scorer.

Irish Seek Better Offense For Bear Tilt

St. Patrick's Shamrocks will attempt to hit the comeback trail Friday night when they meet the West Branch Bears on the south side floor.

Cliff Kritt spent last night correcting the mistakes that caused the Irish offense to fizzle out in the last half at Keokuk Tuesday night.

Kritt told the squad "You won't be able to make mistakes against the Bears if you want to win."

He praised the work of Merle Hoyer who led the squad in scoring for the fourth time this season and of Tom Hoyer, his brother, who received his share of the credit for the fact that he played more than half of game in spite of the severe elbow injury, suffered in the Cosgrove contest.

Marians Rack 50 Per Game

St. Mary's Ramblers have been taking it easy because of the illness of their coach, Francis Suplee. Devising new plays while he is away from practices, Coach Suplee is hoping he can go to Dubuque Friday where the Ramblers seek their fifth straight win against the Rams.

Hawkeye Highlights

Home Record Impressive: Catching up on the home court basketball record of the University of Iowa it's now 15 straight wins and victory in 25 of the past 26 games.

Rivermen Hold Defense Drills

Tomorrow night the University high Rivermen open the Eastern Iowa conference season with the Tipton Tigers there, and Coach Don Barnhart has been drilling his men furiously on fundamentals this week in the hope that last week's debacle will not be repeated.

Johnson To Get Award

Art Johnson this week will receive a miniature silver football, key-chain size, symbolic of his selection by his team mates as Iowa's most valuable player during the 1945 season.

Hawks Top Last Year's Mark

Here's a comparison of Iowa basketball scoring for the first four games of 1945-46 season with the first four of last season: Iowa, playing two of the same opponents as last December, has made 316 points to foes' 124 for a 79-31 average; a year ago it was 309 to 146 for 77-38 average.

Centers Average 6-6

The five-centers on the Iowa basketball squad average 6 feet 6-10 inches in height. In order of altitude they are Noble Jorgensen, 6-9; Ed Marsh, 6-8; Bob Graham, 6-5 1/2; Clayton Wilkinson, 6-4 1/2, and Dick Culbertson, 6-3 1/2.

Indiana Teachers Win

CHICAGO (AP)—Indiana State Teachers college, sparked by the 17-point performance of slim Bob Royer, defeated Hamline university, 54-43, in the opening round of the first annual DePaul university invitational basketball tournament last night. The Hoosier quintet tomorrow night meets the University of Oregon, which drew a first round bye.

Hawklets to Engage Tough Loop Opponent In Blue Devil Fray

City high's Hawklets meet the Danverport Blue Devils on the opponents' court Friday evening, and will try to continue their victory string which now stands at four straight. Coach Gil Wilson put his cagers through a hard practice yesterday in an evening drill, and later stressed the importance of this week's game with the Imps.

Redskin-Ram National Title Play-Off Sunday Rated Tossup

CHICAGO (AP)—Sammy Baugh may complete more passes than Bob Waterfield in Sunday's national football league title play-off between the Washington Redskins and the Cleveland Rams, but otherwise the battle at Cleveland stadium statistically rates as a standoff.

Baugh's phenomenal pitching, final league figures showed yesterday, enabled the Redskins to emerge the Eastern division winner with a record completions percentage of .640 on 146 successful tosses in 228 attempts.

The Rams took the Western crown with only a .497 percentage on 99 hits in 199 tries, but they can counter with the fact that Baugh specializes in short, shallow passing while Waterfield, their aerial ace, throws high, wide and handsome with more dangerous results.

Cleveland finished with 16 touchdowns passes, compared with Washington's 12, while the Rams trailed in total passing yardage by a scant 71-yard margin, 1,838 to 1,767, although the Redskins completed 47 more passes.

Although the Redskins had the league runner-up in ground gaining, fullback Frank Akins who rushed 797 yards, the Rams took the team championship in ball-carrying with a 10-game total of 1,714 yards, seven more than the second-spot Redskins.

Cleveland's "G-man" smashing trio of Gehrke, Gillette and Greenwood finished fourth, fifth and sixth in individual rushing.

In completing 64 percent of their passes, the Rams surpassed their own 1940 league record of 59 percent on 144 completions in 244 attempts.

Although the once-mighty Chicago Bears were outgained by only the two divisional champions and led in first downs with 164, their defense was the league's poorest, surrendering 4.3 yards per rush and 235 opponent points.

Big League Moguls, Chandler Make Peace As Winter Meet Ends

CHICAGO (AP)—Baseball's big leaguers and Commissioner A. D. (Happy) Chandler apparently agreed yesterday to bury the hatchet—and not in each other—and wound up their winter meetings by approving "unlimited" night baseball for 1946.

While the moguls were smoking the peace pipe with Chandler behind locked doors, the dullist ivory trading market in years perked up around the headquarters hotel lobby just about enough to keep the franchise. The Cleveland Indians traded temperamental Jim Bagby to the Boston Red Sox for slim Lefty Vic Johnson and $5,000 in cash, and it was generally reported that come next season, the 1943 St. Louis Cardinal field captain and infielder, Jimmy Brown, will be wearing a Pittsburgh uniform.

The Phillies closed the dealing by purchasing veteran shortstop Skeeter Newsome from the Red Sox for a reported $15,000.

Actually, the recently widening breach between Chandler and some baseball men closed so sharply, that the ex-senator was voted at least one "victory" during the final three-hour session, in which his vote decided the "sky is the limit" night baseball schedule for next year.

Chandler's "Victory" The "win" came in the controversial plans for baseball's farflung $50,000 postwar promotion program, aimed particularly at stimulating interest in amateur ball. The minors last week approved the recommendations of the promotion committee, whereby the promotion foundation would be directed apart from "any other office" in organized baseball, a proposal to which Chandler objected strenuously.

Yesterday, at the major league conclave, the committee agreed to withdraw its plan and continue working on the program with the commissioner and "interested amateur organizations." The group will meet with the commissioner at his office and will present new plans to the February meetings.

Prep Situation Cleared Most of the controversy of "the getaway" session centered around night baseball and what to do about the signing of high school players. The magnates, changing the proposal approved by the minors, decided no high school student, whether he is still in school or not, can be signed or negotiated with until after his class graduates from high school, unless he has been out of school a full year. In that case, if the player has the consent of his parents, he must apply to the commissioner for a spot in organized baseball, and the commissioner was given the power to investigate him and decide on his merits, and if he is "okayed," it will be "open season" for all clubs to do business with him.

The magnates also granted their annual $20,000 to the American Legion junior baseball program, tabled the minors' proposal for elimination of all player bonuses and extended the major-minor agreement for one year.

Redskin Again

DICK TODD, former Texas A&M all-American and later star of the 1943 Seahawk football team, is back with the Washington Redskins and will be in the starting lineup Sunday when his team plays Cleveland's Rams for the National football league title. Todd played several seasons with the Redskins before entering the navy in 1942.

Bruce Smith Wed

FAIRBAULT, Minn. (AP)—Bruce Smith, former Minnesota football player who was named fullback on the all-America team of 1941, and Gloria Bardeau of Telford, Pa., were married last night. Smith, recently discharged from the naval air corps, finished the 1945 pro football season with the Green Bay Packers. He said that after a wedding trip he would resume studies at Minnesota.

Advertisement for GASSIN with GUS: 'THIS COLUMN might have led off with useless rebuke about what happened in the fieldhouse Tuesday night as a sideshow to the 71-33 whipping the Hawks gave South Dakota State... But that won't be necessary... The crowd that booted and the players who lost their heads have had time to think about how foolish the whole thing was... You see, Iowa has the Big Ten's basketball champions, but there's a few things both team and crowd had to learn before the complete test of championship was passed... The boys who jumped off the bench learned that no matter how sore an unfair opponent makes you, it does not do any good to use tactics that would make the St. Louis Cardinal's old Gashouse Gang blush.'

Advertisement for THE FOLKS: 'THE FOLKS who booted meant all right... They're mighty proud of their team and can't stand to see the boys get what they think is a raw deal... It adds color and life to a game... Why, you oughta hear the lads in the press row condemn and outguess the officials... But a little of that stuff goes a long way... There was more than a little Tuesday night and it went too far... But it won't happen again, not if Iowa fans want their team to look like champions... Disagree with the white-shirted boys if you like, folks, but a little—enough to let 'em know you're hep to the game—call the refs blind so-and-so's, tell the folks in front how it should have been, but for gosh's sake don't ruin things by acting like a bunch of sheep.'

Advertisement for THE SEAHAWKS: 'THE SEAHAWKS fly again... Ottumwa's recently enlarged naval training station has taken over the nickname of Iowa pre-flight athletic teams and, according to early season scores, will do the handle no dishonor with a red-hot basketball team... The material is getting more plentiful, too, so watch out for future Seahawk teams... TOMMY CHAPMAN arrived in town last night according to schedule and is still in the dark about his chance of joining the Iowa basketball team... Chappie says he doesn't know whether or not he'll be eligible under the new rule, but that he's "going to see Pops" as soon as possible.'

Advertisement for BOB FREEMAN: 'BOB FREEMAN, whose 32 points against Washington recently is the best prep mark of the local season, holds a mighty fine shot record out at City high, according to Coach Gil Wilson... We thought he was just hot when he slipped in nine buckets in 18 attempts in the McKinley win the other night, but Wilson says he's been hitting about 49 percent right along... ROY STILLE and Red Kinney, great Iowa pitchers just before the war took 'em into the marines, will be back to stay before long and right now Coach Otto Vogel is digging through the records to see if they'll have another year of competition for his baseball team next spring.'

Advertisement for Kaderas, Sig Nu, Bremers Win: 'Bremers strong quintet maintained their undefeated record in the City Basketball league by tipping the University Veterans team, 47-28, last night at the recreation center. It didn't take Iowa City women long to buy 720 pairs of nylon hose and 350 pairs of 51 gauge rayon stockings from three downtown stores yesterday morning.

some of you," Horner said, "but if they're run right, are neatly kept and the proper community spirit is present, then I'm sure they can be nice places to live."

"We were all set to go on our apartment house last July," Horner asserted. The Iowa attorney general's office ruled, however, that SUI could not borrow money to construct such a building because it would not be self liquidating as are other dormitories. The university still owns two tracts of land on which it intends to construct its married student dormitories, Horner disclosed.

It was also revealed that the university had tried to construct a number of three-room pre-fabricated houses designed by Horner, but the lack of building materials, stoves and other furniture made this impossible.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a six-man committee representative of all colleges on campus was chosen to promote veterans attendance at the meeting to nominate candidates for the U. V. A. executive committee, which will meet Tuesday night at 7 o'clock in room 221A Schaeffer hall. The election will be conducted in Iowa Union next Wednesday from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Competent People Must Occupy Germany Says Sigrid Schultz

"We must leave people to occupy Germany who want to be there and who are willing to study the country and its people in order to discover what's best for Germany and the countries surrounding her," declared Sigrid Schultz, Chicago Daily Tribune war correspondent and former director for 16 years of the Tribune's central European news bureau in Berlin.

"These people who will occupy Germany must be volunteers," she continued. "They must be able to concentrate not on train schedules for home but on the future of Germany and on the work they are doing."

According to Miss Schultz the United States and its allies have "lost the first round of the battle for the reeducation of Germany." The reasons she advanced were that when we won we had not formulated a definite plan about what we wanted to do with Germany and the fact that the generosity and chivalrousness for which the United States is known led us to believe German propaganda to the effect that they were ready to take orders and rebuild their country. No orders came.

As a result, Miss Schultz said, the Germans have developed a form of passive resistance, a program of quiet sabotage. We are now in the transition period, she said, passing into the second stage of reeducation.

Germans tried to create a rift between the United States and Russia even before the war was over, Miss Schultz reported, citing as examples individuals who spread their conviction that we would go to war with Russia next.

Miss Schultz cautioned Americans against believing so-called "good" Germans who pretend they knew nothing of the torturing and atrocities which took place in Nazi concentration camps or that they did nothing to protest because of fear of the Gestapo. "We must not allow the Germans to put over false myths about Germany either in their country or ours if we expect to reeducate them," Miss Schultz warned.
