HAWKEYES BASH BADGERS, 57-50

Police Discover Severed Head of Child

Parts of Six-Year-Old Kidnap Victim Found in Chicago Sewer

CHICAGO (AP)—The severed head and parts of the body of six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, who was kidnaped from her bed for $20,000 ransom early yesterday, were found last night in separate sewers near her home and a priest notified the parents of her death without telling the distraught mother of the decapitation.

The kidnaper had warned that harm would come to the pretty golden-haired girl if police were notified of the abduction, but Police Captain Sullivan said he was reasonably convinced a "sadistic fool—motivated by both lust and money" was the kidnap-slayer.

"It is my belief that the head was placed in the catch basin before daybreak, probably not long after the child was kidnaped," he said.

The head was found first and parts of the torso a short while later.

Sullivan based his belief on the fact the passageway containing the catch-basin in which the head was found is heavily traveled by milkmen, janitors and residents of the neighborhood in the daylight hours.

Coroners A. L. Brodie said a freshly laundered, heavy white muslin barracks bag, with the initials "U.S." faintly visible, had been found in the basement of an apartment building in the vicinity where the head was found and that it had been turned over to the police. Brodie said the bag was large enough not only to carry the head, but the entire body.

While police rounded up four persons for questioning, including three janitors of apartment buildings, Father George Kearney of St. Gertrude's parish notified the horrified and heartbroken parents their daughter was dead but did not tell the mother the mannor of death.

The priest, escorted into the Degnan home by a police detective, walked quietly over to James E. Dugnan and placed his arm around the man's shoulders. Dugnan nervously ran a hand through his hair. Mrs. Degnan, lying on a divan, rose to a sitting position.

"Do you have strong faith?" asked the priest.

"I have faith," sobbed the mother. Degnan nodded, his eyes filling with tears.

The priest said nothing, looking at both sadly.

"I understand," said Dugnan, his eyes filling with tears. He dropped to the divan and placed a comforting arm about his wife's shoulders. "We understand, won't we mom."

Both sobbed softly; then Mrs. Degnan looked at the priest and almost whispered:

"Was she disfigured, father?"

The priest appeared to slowly shake his head.

Degnan had requested that his wife not be told of the decapitation.

Police, making a routine canvass of the neighborhood, came across the parts of the body a few hours after the girl's father, a 36 year old OPA executive in Chicago, made a series of radio appeals to the kidnaper.

Police said they had found a leg in one catch basin and expressed belief the remaining parts of the body would be discovered in the neighborhood. They said absence of blood stains near the catch basin in which the head was found indicated the head had been drained of blood.

Later the second leg and thigh were found in a third catch basin in the neighborhood. Police said the members and head apparently were hacked off with a blunt instrument.

The blonde, curly-haired daughter of James Degnan, a metropolitan officer of price administration executive, was missing from her bed when her father went to awaken her at 7:30 yesterday morning. A note later was found in the bedroom asking for $20,000 ransom.

The head of the child was found this afternoon by two detectives of the Chicago police force during a routine canvass of a five-square-block area arpund the Degnan home. It was left in the basin on police order until arrival of a coroner's aide and city sewermen.

Cook County Coroner A. L. Brodie said "finding of the head would constitute establishing of a corpus delicti, but the body is needed to determine the cause of death and to find out also if the child was raped."

J. Byrnes Assures Congress Final Say Of Atomic Knowledge

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes gave detailed assurances last night that congress will have the final say on any move to turn over United States atomic energy knowledge to the projected United Nations atomic commisison.

The statement was issued at the state department just after Byrnes and top aides who will assist him at the United Nations assembly meeting opening in London Thursday left from the national airport. The party took off at 4:15 p. m. (C. S. T.) in the face of rainy weather in the "Sacred Cow," four-motored transport plane usually reserved for President Truman. Weather had held up their start since 10 a. m.

Obviously disturbed by reports from London that some United States delegates to the UNO assembly did not believe the Moscow plan provided adequate safeguards for America's knowledge of how to produce the atom bomb, Byrnes, during the day:

1. Announced creation of a five-man committee to study "controls and safeguards" necessary to protect American knowhow once the United Nations commission starts functioning.

2. Issued the 400-word statement, emphasizing that the commission, under the Moscow plan, will be concerned not with how atomic energy is produced "but how it shall be controlled in the interest of peace."

3. Said he will hold a meeting of the United States delegation to iron out possible misunderstandings on the atomic commission plan "as soon as I get to London."

American Soldiers Protest Slowdown In Demobilization

GI's in Pacific, U. S. Stage Mass Meetings; Demand Investigation

MANILA (AP)—American enlisted soldiers vociferously protested the new demobilization slowdown at a mass meeting Monday night and demanded a congressional investigation, but military police said they spent the remainder of the night in relative quiet.

Demonstrating servicemen predicted a renewal of their protests upon the arrival of a senate subcommittee investigating postwar bases and surpluses. The committee is expected Jan. 12.

The soldiers last night adopted a formal resolution demanding a congressional investigation of the demobilization slowdown.

To an accompaniment of boos, T/4 Harold Schiffrin of Rochester, N. Y., read a statement which he and a committee of four others obtained during the day from Gen. W. D. Styer, commanding army forces in the western Pacific, after a crowd of 3,000 had marched on Styer's headquarters this morning.

As he had explained orally to the committee, Styer's written statement said the army was doing its best to get men home and had reduced the strength in the western Pacific command by two-thirds in four months.

HONOLULU (AP)—The Navy News, service paper on Guam, said that a total of 18,000 enlisted men and officers attended two mass meetings on Guam last night (Guam time) protesting "inconsistencies" in the army demobilization program.

Russia's Atomic Bomb

LONDONDERRY (AP) — Dr. Raphael E. G. Armattoe, director of the Lomeshie research center for anthropology and human biology, said last night in an interview that Russia had developed an atom bomb "which renders the Anglo-American atom bomb obsolete."

He asserted that the purported Russian bomb could be manufactured on a "mass production scale."

Vet Enrollment To Be Doubled

More than 1,500 World War II veterans will be enrolled in the university during the second semester opening Feb. 4, according to William D. Coder, director of veterans' service.

Coder said that 800 veterans are already studying here, and that 700 more have been interviewed and have indicated their desire to enroll for the second semester.

About 40 percent of the veterans are married, thereby further complicating the already-crowded housing conditions. However, the setting up of the trailer houses will relieve the situation, somewhat.

Pre-commerce, pre-medicine, pre-dental, pre-law, journalism and physical education are some of the veterans' leading interests, while engineering attracts about 100, graduate work, 68, and commerce, 52.

Germans Proposed Death for 30,000,000 Slavs, Testifies Nazi

NUERNBERG (AP)—Hermann Goering growled curses yesterday at a prosecution witness who told the international military tribunal that the German purpose in attacking the Soviet Union was to exterminate 30,000,000 Slavs.

"Dirty dog! Damned traitor!" Goering snarled as Waffen S. S. Gen. Erich von dem Bach-Zelewski stepped from the stand.

Goering and others of the 21 high Nazi defendants facing the court were visibly perturbed by the testimony of the 46-year-old former ardent Nazi who was said by allied authorities to have witnessed personally or participated in more atrocities than any other German witness yet summoned.

Bach-Zelewski admitted frankly that he was in charge of the brutal campaign, and said that the German high command could not help but be aware of the methods employed.

The mass of documentary evidence brought out specific examples of captured, uniformed soldiers being shot in cold blood on Nazi commanders' orders.

CHUNGKING (AP)—Prospects of early peace in China brightened yesterday. General Marshall, emerging from a three-hour conference with government and Communist leaders on details for a truce, declared "we have made progress." He announced the parleys would be resumed today.

14,200 See Wilkinsons, Danner Lead Iowa to Loop Win

By GUS SCHRADER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa took another successful step toward defense of its Big Ten title last night.

The Hawkeyes shook off a scrappy first half rally by their Wisconsin visitors, turned on true championship form and finished with a 57-50 decision in their second conference start. A crowd of 14,200 delighted spectators watched the victory, Iowa's eighth in the fieldhouse this season.

Hurrying the Hawks along down the victory trail were the two towering Wilkinson brothers and Iowa City's brilliant one-hand shot expert, forward Dave Danner.

Clayton Wilkinson was the game's scoring star with 22 points; Herb played his typical all-American floor game; and Dave became the crowd's pet with a sparkling dead-eye Dick basket performance.

Iowa didn't enjoy its usual lead until last night's game was three minutes old. Then the scoring duet of Clayt and Danner started with two buckets by the tall center and another by Dave to give the Hawks an 8-6 edge after Dick Ives and Herb had dropped in opening free throws.

But Wisconsin's Badgers hung tightly on the heels of the Hawks and trailed only 13-10 with 5 minutes gone. Then the one-two basket punch of the Dave-Clayt machine hit steadily again and Iowa climbed to a 27-15 margin with six minutes left in the half. All the time the Badgers were being propelled along mainly on the strength of guard Tom Rippe's timely pokes.

But the dogged Badger pace quickened then and sensational Bobby Cook joined Rippe in a net-swishing parade that didn't stop till a pretty dangerous scare had been tossed into the Hawks and their 14,200 supporters.

Cook, who has averaged 15.4 points in eight Wisconsin games to date, hit three times from far out and the Badgers closed the gap to a mere 30-27 gap at halftime.

Cook and Rippe continued their valiant efforts in the second half, helped by accurate Exner Menzel. But by now the Hawks had grown ac customed to a championship stride and met each Badger bucket with at least one of their own.

Danner looped in a one-hander from the side, Clayt rang the bell from underneath and again from far out and over his head Ives laced in a two-pointer and Wisconsin found the pace too stiff. The Badgers, trying too hard to seize control of the ball from their tantalyzing hosts, were charged with copious fouls and three of their number, Rippe, Neimuth and Menzel, left the game with the maximum—five each.

The Hawks held a 40-35 lead with 15 minutes left, but hiked it to 53-38, the biggest margin of the evening, when only six minutes remained. The fast tempo of the game, however, demanded that Coach Pops Harrison keep his best five in the game until the end. Herb Wilkinson fouled out with five minutes left and Murray Wier spelled Danner long enough to get himself four points.

Cook led Wisconsin's scoring with 17 points, Rippe got 11 and Menzel 10.

Wier's four points and Dick Ives' five knotted the individual scoring lead for the season at 87 points apiece for the two forwards.

The victory left Iowa undefeated in the Big Ten with three other un-topped teams, Ohio State, Minnesota and Northwestern. These teams have three, two and one victories to their credit respectively. It was Iowa's 19th straight triumph in the fieldhouse and the 29th win in the last 30 games.

Kaiser-Frazer Sign With Union

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A contract with the new Kaiser-Frazer corporation calling for an "unprecedented" wage rate was anounced last (Monday) night and a union leader said he would recommend it as a basis for settlement of disputes in the entire automotive industry.

The company and the CIO United Auto workers jointly announced the agreement, which they termed "most satisfactory."

Other developments on the labor front:

1—Mayor William O'Dwyer of New York City announced failure of 11th hour efforts to avert a strike of 7,000 Western Union employes in New York and New Jersey scheduled for today (Tuesday).

2—The CIO United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers of America announced in Chicago that Monday, Jan. 21, had been set for a strike of an estimated 30,000 members in 11 plants of the International Harvester company. The union, demanding a 30 percent wage rate increase, voted 5 to 1 in favor of a strike last Nov. 16 in plants at Chicago, Rock Falls, Rock Island and East Moline, Ill.; Bettendorf, Ia.; Richmond, Ind., and Auburn, N. Y.

In Washington, the federal conciliation service announced a fact-findind panel would be named to investigate the dispute and asked the union to call off the strike pending a hearing.

3—OPA Administrator Chester Bowles was reported to have informed President Truman that full price increase demands of the steel industry could not be granted under present wage-price policies.

4—Coast-to-coast tleephone paralysis by Wednesday was threatened from two sources. Ernest Weaver, president of the Communications Equipment union, said a strike was scheduled for Wednesday that would mean "100 percent breakdown of toll telephone service. The other disruption hinged n results of a nationwide poll of the National Federation of Telephone Workers on whether they will stage a strie in sympathy with 17,000 striking Western Electric workers in New York and New Jersey.

5—The CIO United Auto Workers and General Motors held a conference on non-economic matters while top leaders stood by in Washington for a report of the General Motors fact-finding board. No new conferences were scheduled.

Mayor O'Dwyer of New York said the Western Union Employes Involved, members of the CIO American Communications association, agreed to accept his proposal for arbitration but the company had refused.

Continued steel production was assured, meanwhile, in the Easton, Pa., plant of the Lehigh Foundries, Inc., when company and union signed an interim agreement granting an immediate 12 cents an hour increase graduating to 21 cents maximum as production and tonnage increases.

Iowa Rivers Still Rising

DES MOINES (AP)—Scores of Iowa families had been evacuated from their homes last night in lowland areas because of flood waters from the Des Moines river which still were rising at several points.

The river rose four-tenths of a foot during the day at Ottumwa where 40 families have been evacuated. The river stage there last night was 14.2 feet, 5.2 feet above bankful.

The weather bureau said a crest of about 14.5 was expected to be reached during the night.

The state highway commission reported most of the state's highways were in fair condition last night.

The trend is expected to be downward at Ottumwa after last night the weather bureau said.

Editorials:

Laws of Warfare Started 3,000 Years Ago

Now that the novelty of the war crimes trials has passed, the public is raising some biting questions about them. Skepticism about the operational proceedings of the trials and about the principles on which they are based is mounting.

One of the most controversial questions is: Can a man acting under the orders of a superior officer be held accountable for the atrocities he committed?

Other questions: How can actions which were not considered crimes in 1939 be called crimes now? What do enemy nations think of the trials and how will they react to them? What will the coming generations think of the trials?

* * *

Actually, the law of warfare are not new, as Prof. Kirk H. Porter pointed out. Some of them can be traced back as far as 3,000 years ago.

Until about 25 years ago when they were incorporated in treaties, the rules of war developed as common law. They did not exist as formal, written agreements, but they were universally understood by military men.

The first rule to come into existence was against the torture of prisoners and civilians. Deliberate, systematic torture was prohibited, and it came to be understood that those who practiced torture could be tried and punished.

Then in the days of the Roman empire, opinion crystalized into a rule against enslavement of captured peoples. Enslavement had been a common practice in the days of the Greek power, but it also came to be looked on as a crime.

The next common law of war that appeared made the use of poisons or of weapons that caused undue anguish a crime. By the Middle Ages the use of poisoned spears and swords, for instance, had been stamped out almost entirely.

Then came a law against killing hostages. They could be placed on a bread and water diet, for instance, but they could not be killed. Wanton pillage of occupied territory also was made a crime.

About 25 years ago, most of the common law was embodied in treaties signed by practically all the nations at The Hague and Geneva. These treaties gave the rules of warfare a more formal status.

* * *

Application of the common law of war has been clearly understood for many years by military men. Each nation has been permitted to apply the law, both to its own soldiers and to the enemy, through its own tribunals.

The nation's own people were subject to courts martial, while the enemy—military and civilian, alike—was subject to military commissions established by the prosecuting nation.

In the case of the United States' prosecution of Japanese war criminals, this procedure means that General Yamashito has every right to appeal to our supreme court. It is in line with our democratic principles that we should grant him democratic rights since we have taken him under our jurisdiction.

* * *

However, questions of far-reaching effect have arisen in the current war trials, particularly about the soldier who is carrying out the orders of a superior officer. Should that soldier be held responsible for atrocities committed as a result of orders?

Yes, Professor Porter says. "There is no such thing as escaping the responsibility for acts in violation of the laws of war," he said.

Professor Porter said he made that statement without fear of contradiction from any authorities on the laws of war. And he admitted that such a rule "makes it tough" on the soldier.

If every man is to be responsible for his actions, then the private, or sergeant, or captain is in a position of either refusing to carry out orders or of committing a crime. It's a case of punishment if he does, or punishment if he doesn't.

* * *

Another new point is the position of Robert Jackson that the act of starting war is a crime. There was nothing in the common law or in treaties which made starting a war punishable.

The men accused as criminals as aggressors are likely to claim that a deed which was not a crime at the time it was committed can not be charged a crime now—ex post facto.

Jackson, however, contends that war aggression is a crime against the conscience of mankind, and to that extent is chargeable even though it did not appear in common law.

* * *

The war crimes trials have been based on international law more than most people have supposed. On some points the law is meager and not clear, but the present trials will do much to make the law better defined for future generations.

The Citrus Lesson

The sudden spiraling of prices of citrus fruits when the ceilings were removed is an example of what will happen if price controls are removed before it can be definitely established that supply will meet demand.

In some sections of the country, oranges went up to $1 a dozen. In one eastern city, tangerines were selling for 19 cents a dozen in a downtown store and for 59 cents a dozen in a store in a residential section.

The office of price administration reported that prices of citrus fruits rose as much as 70 percent after the ceilings had been removed.

Before the ceilings were taken off, the citrus fruit industry assured the OPA that the supply would meet demand. And the California Fruit Growers exchange reported that the 1944-45 harvest was the largest in history.

Yet with the supply as plentiful as it was, prices jumped immediately. It would take little imagination to vision what would happen if ceilings were lifted from scarce commodities.

On 'Lollygagging'

(From the Milwaukee Journal)

Lovemaking and "lollygagging" by personnel of the St. Albans naval hospital have been forbidden by an official order, and it has been necessary to explain to some of the younger generation that "lollygagging" means lingering in a hallway to spoon after bringing a girl home.

It would be a pity for such a term to pass into obsolescence so long as the situation and the action of which it is so descriptive continue to recur—the navy orders indicate they do, with some frequency. "Lollygagging" may be slang, but what synonym may be found? It is like "fuddyduddy," a precise and meaningful word for which there is no exact equivalent.

Let the professors of English raise their eyebrows if they will and berate such slang as slovenly speech. There are times when a man means "lollygag," and wants no approximates, just as there are times when a young man and a maid want to lollygag—just that and nothing more.

So it is encouraging to note that the naval officers at St. Albans tend to liberalism in the matter of picturesque speech, even though they want to adhere to the stricter proprieties in the matter of hospital discipline and etiquette.

Covering The Capital

By ALEXANDER R. GEORGE

(For Jack Stinnett)

WASHINGTON—Many people like to carry around a lot more money than they need. That tendency, combined with a substantial increase in income for millions of Americans during the war, is one reason why the volume of United States currency in circulation has soared to all-time peaks.

On Nov. 30 there was a total of $28,184,530,000 of currency in circulation, an average of about $201 for every person in the United States. That was more than three times the $8,732,000,000 in circulation five years ago and five times the $5,698,000,000 figure of 25 years ago.

As a result of the war production boom, several million families who had been on subsistence levels or even below, received adequate incomes for the first time in their lives. They naturally increased their money holdings.

Another reason for the increase in currency, of course, is that the level of business activity has been so much higher than before. It has been necessary all along the line to have more currency to carry on business transactions.

Still another reason is that banking has not always been convenient for many people either because of odd working hours or because of lack of nearby banking facilities. Black market operations and attempts at income tax evasion also boosted the amount of money in circulation.

At the same time that people were carrying around more money in their pockets, checking and savings accounts increased tremendously. Checking accounts owned by non-bank investors amounted to 31 billion dollars at the end of 1939. By June, 1945, they had risen to 73 billion dollars. Investment in commercial bank savings accounts increased from $15 billion in December, 1939, to $27 billion in June, 1945—all of the increase having taken place since the latter part of 1942.

However, the biggest amount of liquid assets held by investors is in federal securities such as the various defense, war and victory bonds. The total volume of these securities outstanding increased from 47 billion dollars at the end of 1939 to 257 billion dollars last June 30. Individuals owned 59 billion dollars of that amount.

The most colossal monetary figure of all is the 833 billion dollars spent during the five-year period—July 1, 1940 to June 30, 1945. Of this eight-tenths of a trillion dollars, federal government spending accounted for 323 billion dollars. Some $290 billion of this was directly for national defense and for war.

Tax receipts brought in to the federal government 133 billion dollars, leaving a deficit of 190 billion dollars. The government's share of total spending in this war reached a peak of almost 50 percent in the fiscal year 1945 when the government accounted for 100 billion dollars out of 211 billion dollars total spending.

KNOXVILLE (AP) — Charles Way, prominent farmer, waived to the grand jury yesterday on a manslaughter charge in connection with the death Dec. 19 of Mrs. George Godfrey, 53, Bussey, who was in Way's automobile when it and a coal truck collided.

Justice of the Peace Charles Bruce, before whom Way appeared for a preliminary hearing, set bond at $1,000, which was furnished.

SIDNEY (AP)—James A. Reed Jr., who said he'd traveled thousands of miles in search of his 8-year-old daughter, knew where she was last night. Mary Martha was in custody of the Fremont county sheriff.

Reed, 30, a discharged seabee of Salem, Mass., who said he hadn't seen the girl in five years, caught up with his former wife and daughter here yesterday, had the girl brought into court on a writ of habeas corpus. Then District Judge Vernon Johnson set Saturday for a hearing on Reed's petition for the girl's custody.

The mother has had custody of the youngster.

Reed claimed the girl was not being reared in a proper home and said he planned, if granted custody, to send her to a Catholic school.

Reed said he had made trips to six towns in Iowa, two to Kansas City and one to Omaha in his search. He obtained a writ of habeas corpus in Kansas City Saturday, but when officers went to serve it, they were told the former wife and daughter had left before Christmas. Reed trailed them here.

He said his former wife's legal name is Mrs. Anona Eloise Belthieu, but his petition here asserted she sometimes is known as Mrs. W. Thompson. She is staying here with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thompson.

MISSOURI VALLEY (AP) — Gerald L. Lance, 21, discharged marine en route from the Pacific coast to his home in Akron, Ohio, was brought to Missouri Valley early yesterday in a dazed condition after apparently having been beaten and robbed by three men who had given him a ride.

Police Chief William Jones said Lance was found wandering on highway 30 about five miles east of the Blair bridge, a long gash and a bump on his forehead. His wrist watch, a marine insignia ring and $300 mustering out pay was missing.

MISSOURI VALLEY (AP)—Jennen Skinner, 8, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Skinner, Missouri Valley farm couple, was seriously injured yesterday when struck by an automobile as she alighted from another vehicle.

Police Chief William Jones said Carl G. Dishman of Lincoln, Neb., told him he was driver of the vehicle which struck the girl after she left a car driven by Martin Lundeen.

Jones said Dishman told him the youngster darted around the rear of the Lundeen car and into his path.

Fewer Iowa College Students Than in '39

Although there seems to be an influx of students attending Iowa colleges this year, statistics show that the total enrollment in 15 Iowa colleges is below that of 1939.

There was a total of 11,274, full-time students this fall as compared to a total of 15,190 in 1939, according to information received by university officials from President Raymond Walters of the University of Cincinnati. Walters conducted an annual survey of enrollment.

At the University of Iowa, there were 4,628 full-time students and a total of 6,107 resident students. Iowa State had 4,468 full-time students, and 5,085 resident students, the report showed.

Full-time enrollment at other Iowa institutions was: Iowa State Teachers college, 1,219; Loras, 548; Cornell, 525; Grinnell, 509; Coe, 487; Morningside, 448; Dubuque, 428; Clarke, 386; Luther, 289; Simpson, 277; Central, 229; Iowa Wesleyan, 218, and Parsons, 125.

A "Look at the Books" or "A Finger in the Pie"?

Which is the UAW-CIO really after? Is it seeking facts—or new economic power? Does it want to know things—or run things?

These questions concern you as well as General Motors.

For years the facts about General Motors have been made public.

In spite of this, the UAW-CIO demands a chance to look at our books, with the hint that we could meet Union demands "if the truth were really known."

We have firmly declined to recognize this as a basis for bargaining.

1. The Full Facts are Published

How much General Motors takes in each year—how much it pays employes—how much it pays to stockholders—how much it pays in taxes—how much net profit we make—and many other facts are plainly stated in annual reports and quarterly reports.

These are broadcast to 425,000 stockholders from coast to coast—sent to newspapers and libraries. Additional copies are free for the asking.

2. All Figures are Thoroughly Checked

Every General Motors Annual Statement is audited by outside auditors. Similar figures are filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission.

Does the UAW-CIO honestly believe that General Motors would or could deceive these experts?

3. The Basis of Collective Bargaining is Defined

The Wagner Act lays down the rules for collective bargaining. These cover such areas as rates of pay, hours of work, working conditions.

No mention is made of earnings, prices, sales volume, taxes and the like. These are recognized as the problems of management.

4. Something New has been Added

The obvious fact is that the UAW-CIO has gone beyond its rights under the law—and is reaching not for information but for new power—not for a look at past figures, but for the power to sit in on forecasting and planning the future.

A "look at the books" is a clever catch phrase intended as an opening wedge whereby Unions hope to pry their way into the whole field of management.

It leads surely to the day when Union bosses, under threat of strike, will demand the right to tell what we can make, when we can make it, where we can make it, and how much we must charge you—all with an eye on what labor can take out of the business, rather than on the value that goes into the product.

5. This Threatens All Business

If the Union can do this in the case of General Motors, it can do it to every business in this land of ours.

Is this just imagination? Union spokesmen have said, "The Union has stated time after time that this issue is bigger than just an ordinary wage argument, that it is bigger than the Corporation and bigger than the Union."

For Labor Unions to use the monopolistic power of their vast membership to extend the scope of wage negotiations to include more than wages, hours and working conditions is the first step toward handing the management of business over to the Union bosses.

We therefore reject the idea of a "look at the books" not because we have anything to hide but because the idea itself hides a threat to GM, to all business, and to you, the public.

Nelson Wins Los Angeles Open by 5 Strokes

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Byron Nelson, golfing immortal from Toledo, Ohio, made a show of the field yesterday to win the 72-hole, 20th annual Los Angeles Open by five strokes. Nelson shot a 72 on the final round for a total of 284.

Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., was second with 289. Tied for the next money spots were Jim Demaret, Houston, Tex.; Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., and Jim Ferrier, Chicago, all with 290.

It was the first time Nelson had won the Los Angeles Open —one of the few major titles to escape his grasp—and his first major tourney victory of 1946. The Toledoan won 19 major tournaments in 1945 to outstrip all golfers in money earned.

His victory yesterday netted him the $2,666.67 top victory bond prize in the $13,333,33 tourney.

The issue was never in doubt after Nelson toured the outgoing nine in par 35, stretching his lead to three strokes as his nearest competitors wilted on he final round. Lord Byron calmly applied the heat for a 72 which, added to his 54-hole total of 212 gave him a comfortable 284.

Sammy Snead, defending champion, and Ferrier, who were only two strokes behind Nelson beginning the final 18, had nothing but trouble yesterday. Snead's 78 dropped him to tenth place; Ferrier took a 76.

Gophers Tip Indiana; 'Cats Win

Hoosiers Drop From Unbeaten List, 59-48

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Minnesota's Gophers found Indiana stone cold at the free throw throw line last night and handed the Hoosiers their first defeat of the basketball season, 59 to 48. It was Minnesota's second straight triumph in Big Ten competition and Indiana's first loss in three tries.

The Hoosiers were able to lead briefly early in the contest and were never out of the game until their free throw shooting went sour. In all, they missed 14 tries from the charity stripe.

Dave Mac Millan's Gophers were ahead, 32 to 22, at the half after staging a powerful rally to overcome a six-point deficit, and they turned back Indiana's one threat in the second half without too much difficulty.

Tony Jaros gave Minnesota first blood with a first-minute field goal, but Al Kralovansky evened it up quickly. The count went to 4-all and then Indiana splurged for six straight points.

Minnesota came back with ten in a row, however, to regain the lead at 14 to 10. From that point on the Gophers were in command, Indiana getting no closer than 44 to 41 midway in the second session.

Minnesota barged into the thick of the conference championship squabble mainly on the strength of big Jim McIntyre's 15 points and his tremendous height under the basket. The Gopher center towers 6 feet, 8 inches.

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Northwestern's undefeated Wildcats staged a whirlwind finish in the last 18 minutes of play to open their 1945-46 Western conference basketball season last night with a 52-to-44 victory over Ward Lambert's Purdue Boilermakers.

Purdue's lightning fast break and tight defense were too much for the Wildcats for the first 20 minutes, but the Boilermakers cracked up under their own pace after holding a 27-to-21 lead at the intermission.

The Wildcats wasted little time in erasing that deficit in the opening minutes of the second half. The two teams then exchanged baskets furiously for five minutes and then Northwestern broke the Purdue defense wide open to win going away.

Max Morris, Northwestern's and the Western conference's leading scorer last season, poured 14 points through the meshes to tie Purdue's Bob Miller for the individual scoring honors, but it was Chuck Lindgren and Bob MacTaggart who delivered the most telling points for Northwestern in the second half.

Lindgren looped two consecutive long shots through the nets to give Northwestern a 41-to-38 lead with but six minutes remaining, and MacTaggart spiked the Boilermakers counter offensive with two free throws and a field goal shortly after.

Purdue assumed command midway in the first period after the score was deadlocked at 12-all, and with Miller doing the most deadly sniping had little trouble in taking over its half time lead.

GASSIN' with GUS

By GUS SCHRADER

IOWA'S CHAMPIONSHIP form last night left little for us soothsayers and Tuesday morning quarterbacks to find fault with, so let's pick on the referees. . .Not especially the two who officiated last night's game—Johnny O'Donnell and Joe Riefe—but striped-shirt boys in general this year. . .I recall a Whitney Martin AP column of a couple weeks ago that criticized the access of whistle-tooting in basketball this season, and my observations of the game so far back this up. . . The constant tooting of those whistles last night cut a big amount of interest from the game by slowing down the action at unnecessary points. . .Why, if the rules continue to allow officials to call fouls so closely, it won't be long until the boys are playing an anemic game of tick-tack-toe instead of the fine, thrilling old game we all like to see. . .

* * *

THE THING that irks most fans is the way that no difference is drawn between the obvious, flagrant fouls and petty little shoves and body movements that just can't be helped. . .Last night, beautiful guarding performances by Herb Wilkinson were labelled two-shot fouls by the refs, and innumerable times the rebounding of both teams was handicapped by the fear of a whistle shrilling another foul when they bumped other players in jumping. . .The close-whistle wasn't only on Iowa; the Badgers lost three valuable men that would have meant a much more interesting game for the fans if the officials hadn't been so eager to break in their new tutors. . .I say keep the game well under control, but let's get the rule makers to remember it's a basketball game—not a taffy-pull.

PASS THE BASKETBALL HASH

SOME OTHER MISCELLANEOUS HASH

SO LONG, JOE. . .The boys in the backroom seldom break into print in the newspapers they sweat to produce. . .Today we take exception to that custom to say farewell and thanks to Joe (Hemaralshun) Byrne, lineotypist who has set this column many times in the past. . .Joe leaves this week for the army. . .We'll save your slugline for you, Joe. . .In NON-CONFERENCE GAMES, Iowa's game average is 11 points higher than Minnesota, the next high scoring competitor . . .The Hawks have averaged 71.3 points per game; the Gophers 60.1 . . .THE REV. Irish Seek Revenge Win Here Tonight

Starting Lineups

Revenge will be the motive of St. Patrick's Shamrocks when they take the floor here tonight at 8:00 against St. Peter's of Keokuk. The Irish will be out to avenge one of the two defeats suffered this season, a 34-28 reversal on the Keokuk floor.

Cliff Kritta, Irish coach, said yesterday that the team was mentally "set" for the fracas tonight. "They want to show that the disastrous loss of form the second half was a mistake that won't happen again."

This is the last appearance of the Irish on their home court till they play their cross-town rivals, St. Mary's, January 25.

Kritta was not certain about the Irish starting five. He was certain, however, that Merle Hoye, high scoring forward who has averaged over 16 points per game, will get one of the forward berths.

Bob Brown and Bob Sullivan are battling for the other starting post. Brown, starter in most of the games this season, is being pressed hard for his starting post by the taller, heavier Sullivan.

Bill Seemuth will get the starting nod at center while Charlie Belger and Tom Hoye will be at the backcourt posts.

Most dangerous of the riverfown invaders is Bartz, big 6-2 center, who is especially dangerous under the basket.

A preliminary game will precede the main event, starting at seven o'clock.

Wyoming Wins Tenth; Tops Valparaiso 51-49

GARY, Ind. (AP)—Wyoming's Cowboys captured their tenth successive basketball victory of the season and added Valparaiso to the string for the second time as they outlasted the Crusaders last night, 51 to 49.

Led by Little Ken Sailors, who collected a total of 17 points, the Cowboys led all through the first half and rested at the intermission on a 25-to-21 advantage.

Bernie Crimmins Joins Irish Coaching Staff

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Bernard A. (Bernie) Crimmins of Louisville, Ky., who starred at three positions in his three seasons with the Notre Dame football team, will serve as an assistant grid coach next season, Athletic Director Frank Leahy announced yesterday.

Wakefield Out of Navy

CHICAGO (AP)—Dick Wakefield, star outfielder of the Detroit Tigers, was discharged from the navy at Great Lakes station Saturday, the Naval Public Relations office announced yesterday.

The Tiger slugger left yesterday for Detroit to discuss 1946 terms, his family here said.

Red Rolfe Comes Back As Yankee Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert (Red) Rolfe returned to the New York Yankees as a coach yesterday, succeeding the ailing Art Fletcher, President Larry MacPhail announced.

Manager Joe McCarthy, who had asked for Rolfe's appointment, came down from his Buffalo igloo to map tentative plans for the two-pronged training camps at St. Petersburg and Bradenton, Fla.

Little Hawks Seek Polish

After two consecutive vacation setbacks, the Little Hawks of City high went to work in preparation for their second encounter with the Dubuque Rams here Friday.

In the first game with the Rams the Hawklets took it on the chin to the tune of 38-33 in the rival city. Last Friday the locals fell before an inspired Franklin quintet, 37-35. These two conference setbacks have hurt the Little Hawks' cage hopes and they are hard at work trying to remedy effects seen in recent games.

Coach Gil Wilson offered no comment on the narrow Franklin loss, but expressed dissatisfaction with the showing of his boys at Dubuque.

Jim VanDeusen and Evan Smith, casualties last week due to illness, are both back in shape and should be in top form for the Ram tussle this week.

Cabbies Take Fifth Straight Win, 38-26; Oxford Tips Moose

Yellow Cab maintained its undefeated record in the City league basketball league by downing a rejuvenated Moss team, 38-26. B. Nelson dropped in nine points for the winners.

O'Brien sparked the Oxford team to a 34-28 win over the Moose five in a close battle. He tallied 12 points in the hard fought tilt.

Anderson's Holy Cross Aide Named

Head Coach Eddie Anderson, who is lining up Iowa's football coaching staff for next fall, yesterday conferred with Joe Sheeketski, who was Anderson's assistana at Holy Cross.

Anderson would not say whether he had offered Sheeketski a job, but Sheeketski said he would "be back in Iowa City in about a week."

Frank Carideo, Anderson's backfield coach at Iowa before both went into service in 1943, also was back in Iowa City. He said he had been discharged from the navy and was planning to return here permanently soon.

Meanwhile, E. G. (Dad) Schroeder had no comment about the status of Clem Crowe, Iowa's head coach last fall, whose two year contract still has a year to run. Whether Crowe or "Bud" Boeringer, 1945 line coach, will be here next fall and in what capacity "is too far ahead to say," Schroeder said.

Sheeketski, head coach at Holy Cross for three years after Anderson left to come to Iowa, was line coach at Notre Dame last fall. From Jan., 1942, to Jan., 1945, he had been a special agent with the FBI, and then had been associated with a Detroit industrial concern until he returned to coaching last fall.

He was graduated from Notra Dame in 1933. From then until 1938 he tutored Anderson's backs at Holy Cross.

Marians Prep For Loras Tilt

Coach Frank Sueppel began last night to prepare the St. Mary's Ramblers for their "grudge" game with Loras academy of Dubuque here Wednesday night.

The Marians, defeated only once this season and that at the hands of the academy club, are anxious to avenge that loss.

In the first meeting of the two teams held at Dubuque the Ramblers came out on the short end of a 46-26 score.

Sueppel indicated that there would be no change in the lineup from the one that started in the squad's last outing when they triumphed over St. Patrick's of Cedar Rapids, 32-29.

This would place Eddie Rocca and Andy Chuckalas at the forwards. Bart Toohey would be at center and Bill Sueppel and Jack Shrader at the guards.

The Loras team is made up completely of veterans. Not one of the first 20 men on last year's team was lost via the graduation route.

Game Broadcast

Coach Francis Sueppel of St. Mary's announced last night that the game between the Ramblers and Loras academy of Dubuque to be played tomorrow night will be broadcast.

Station WKBB in Dubuque, which airs all the Saints' games will have an announcer at the game and he will send the play-by-play report over the Dubuque station by direct wire.

Hoosman Tips Savold

NEW YORK (AP)—Towering Al Hoosman, six-foot-five-inch Negro flailer from California, got even last night for the only defeat of his career by punching out a clear-cut ten-round decision over the veteran Lee Savold in Madison Square Garden. Hoosman scaled 193½; Savold 196.

MAURY KENT
Announces Cage Schedule

Maury Kent, Iowa's veteran football assistant coach and scout, will be the university's new intramural athletic supervisor, Athletic Director E. G. (Dad) Schroeder announced yesterday. He succeeds W. T. (Ted) Swenson who resigned last weekend to accept a position with the veterans administration in Des Moines.

Upon taking over his new duties yesterday, Kent's first announcement was that the university's intramural basketball schedule has been set. Play in the enlarged three-section league will start Monday, Jan. 14.

The intramural supervisor has been a member of the Iowa athletic staff since 1944, when he came here as assistant football, basketball and baseball coach from Northwestern university.

After winning three letters in football and baseball at Iowa between 1904 and 1908, Kent was head baseball and basketball coach and assistant in football from 1914 to 1918. He coached basketball and baseball teams at Northwestern before returning to his alma mater.

At one time Swenson was the Hawkeye's freshman football coach. Later he was an assistant track coach and taught physical education classes. Before coming here he coached and taught at Clarinda and Scottsbluff high schools.

Swenson's new post will be with the educational and personnel division of the vets administration. A member of the Iowa athletic staff since 1931, Swenson was released from the navy last fall after three and a half years service as a personel officer in the pre-flight program.

Maestro Al Goodman, musical conductor of the "Family Hour," has chosen the following ten songs as his selection of the best popular tunes released during 1945: "If I Loved You," "It Might as Well Be Spring," "It's Been a Long Long Time," "Atcheson, Topeka and the Santa Fe," "Laura," "'Til the End of Time," "I Wish I Knew," "Accentuate the Positive," "Dream," and "Candy."

Here's a new kind of a bobby-soxer. Elaine Meeks of New York City writes "Request Performance" that "For Most Women" my age (16), Frank Sinatra is that someone. But not for me." Her dream man? Ludwig von Beethoven. And she'd like Paul Muni to portray him on "Request Performance."

Meredith Willson may record, with Gracie Allen, the famous "Concerto for Index Finger," which was featured in a recent combined Burns and Allen-Dinah Shore program. Willson provided the musical accompaniment for Gracie's forefinger with an orchestra of 50 men.

Funny (peculiar) and funny (ha-ha) results develop when the Kingfish and Andy decide to go into the interior decoration business on the "Amos 'n' Andy" comedy broadcast tonight at 8. The queer complications set in when the Kingfish's wife, Sapphire, plans to have their apartment decorated by a prominent Harlem decorator. Between laughs, the Delta Rhythm Boys offer "Waiting for the Train to Come In."

Iowa River Will Rise Rapidly Today

Crest of 15 Feet Expected Tonight

Highway No. 218 Reopened After Cakes Of Ice Removed

The Iowa river is expected to continue rising rapidly today and reach a crest which may be as high as 15 feet here tonight.

After reaching a stage of 6.2 feet at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the river started rising again and at 10:30 p. m. yesterday was at the 7.5 feet level.

L. C. Crawford, associate director of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, said last night that the river would crest here at "at least 13 feet and possibly 15 feet."

Crawford said that the river crested at Belle Plaine Sunday noon and that that high water, combined with floods from Bear creek near Marengo, would produce the high stage here.

The river is filled with high water and loose ice that is jamming occasionally upstream. These occasional jams are likely to produce brief local floods.

The river reached a peak of 12.9 feet here at 10 p. m. Saturday. United States highway No. 218 was closed north of Park bridge because of water over the highway. This road was reopened Sunday morning but not until snow plows had pushed huge cakes of ice off the highway.

After the river reaches its high point tonight, it is expected to subside but not as rapidly as it rose. "There is no danger of serious widespread flooding," Crawford said.

Ralston creek, which went on a rampage in the southeastern part of the city Saturday, is now within its banks and not expected to rise again.

Wagner Renamed President of Union

Raymond Wagner was re-elected president of local No. 12, the university buildings and grounds employes union, at a meeting Friday night. Other new officers include Mac Miller, vice president succeeding Wes McGinnis, and Elmer Hay, trustee and executive board member.

James Van Soyoc was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Local No. 12, which is affiliated with the Iowa State Federation of Labor and the American Federation of Labor, is now fully affiliated with Council Five, state organization of public employes unions.

A class of candidates were initiated into membership of the local Friday and another large class will be initiated at the next meeting, Feb. 4.

Police Investigation

Iowa City police are investigating a break-in reported at the Oakes Bros. Coal Co. Sunday afternoon.

The intruder was frightened away by an automatic burglar alarm which went off when he attempted to open a window after breaking the glass with a lump of coal.

Nothing was taken the police said.

More Social Security Payments Reported

More widows and children and retired workers and their wives are receiving monthly payments under the Federal Old-Age and Survivors Insurance program of the Social Security Board than ever before, according to a survey made by John W. Donnelly, manager of the Cedar Rapids office.

Every month $31,300 is being paid to widows and children and retired workers and their wives in this field area.

Mr. Donnelly also stated that many persons do not realize payments are not made automatically upon the retirement or death of a worker. In order to get the benefits to which they are entitled, applicants must file a claim. This can be done by visiting or writing the field office so that the board may be advised of the death of the worker.

Restaurant Operators, City Council to Meet With Health Inspector

A representative of the state department of health will meet with the city council and Iowa City restaurant operators at the city hall tonight.

A proposed ordinance regulating sanitary conditions in eating places will be discussed. The ordinance would set up three classifications for restaurants based on 17 points of sanitation.

The purpose of the proposed ordinance is to put real power in the hands of the city restaurant inspector to enforce sanitary practices.

Milton E. Held, senior sanitarian of the milk and food unit of the state department of health, will be at the meeting in the city hall tonight to explain the proposed ordinance.

Local restaurant operators will have an opportunity to suggest changes in the ordinance before the city council takes formal action on it.

As the proposed ordinance now stands, the city inspector would grade each eating place in the city according to A, B and C ratings after he had made a thorough inspection.

The inspector would then post this grade in a conspicuous place at the entrance to the eating place.

This would enable prospective patrons to have some idea about the cleanliness of the eating place before they entered it.

The 17 points of sanitation on which all restaurants would be graded are: floors, walls and ceilings, doors and windows, lighting, ventilation, toilet facilities, water supply, lavatory facilities, constructon of utensils and equipment, disposal of wastes, refrigeration, wholesomeness of food and drink, storage disposal and serving of food and drink, cleanliness of employes and miscellaneous.

Reuben Curry Final Rites to Be Today

Funeral services for Reuben Curry, 65, will be at the Oathout funeral chapel today at 2 p. m. Mr. Curry was found dead by neighbors at 2 p. m. Sunday, according to County Coroner Frank L. Love.

Mr. Curry lived alone on a farm two and a half miles northwest of Tiffin. He was last seen alive Wednesday. A neighbor spoke to him and he seemed in perfect health and spirits.

He wasn't missed by the community until Sunday when neighbors went to his house. They found the door unlocked and Mr. Curry lying on the floor dead. He was frozen.

It is believed that Mr. Curry suffered a heart attack. His right arm was crooked over the arm of a rocking chair as though he had tried to keep himself from falling. Officials noted no signs of violence and his death seemed a natural one.

Mr. Curry was born in Virginia June 29, 1880, the son of Joseph and Mary Siders Curry. He came to Johnson county with his parents when he was 13 years old.

In 1904 he was married to Lydia Ackerman of Tiffin. They had always lived on a farm in that community.

He was preceded in death by his wife and one son. He is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. S. Goble and Mrs. Bonnie Wallace, both of Tyler, Texas; one son, Eldon of Iowa City; three sisters, Bertha Curry and Mrs. John Madden, both of Tiffin, and Mrs. Louis Melza of Tama; three brothers, Homer, George and Herbert, all of Iowa City.

The Rev. Mr. Brent of the Tiffin Methodist church will officiate at services. Burial will be in the Tiffin cemetery.

Two Hillel Members To Attend Forum

Two members of the Hillel Foundation, Herman Robin, A3 of Waterloo, and Sheldon Sitrick, E1 of Davenport, will attend a forum discussion at Marshalltown Sunday. Mountaineers to Hear Ava Hamilton Tonight

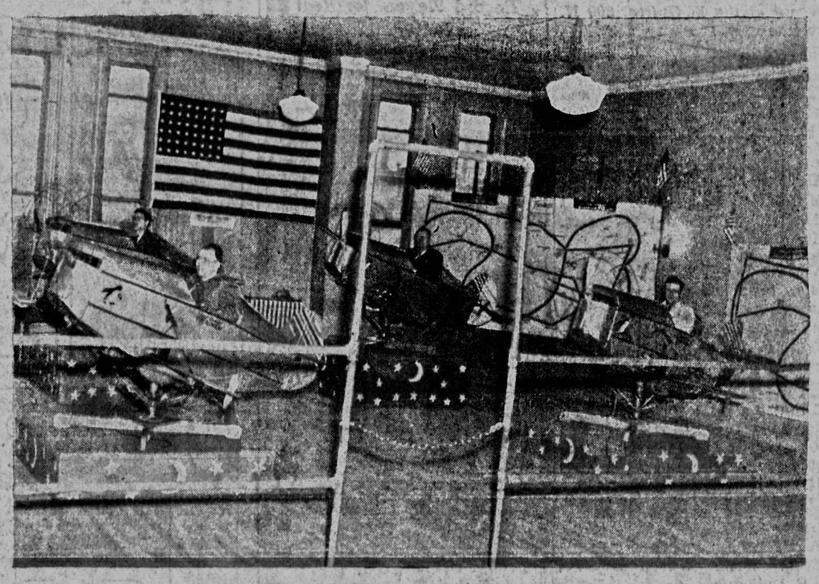
Sponsored by the Iowa Mountaineers, Ava Hamilton, an explorer, will present an illustrated lecture, "Dawn Over Africa" tonight at 8 o'clock in the chemistry auditorium.

Miss Hamilton recently returned from four years of exploration, traveling alone through interior Africa. It was on this trip that Miss Hamilton, at great personal risk, photographed in color for the first time the scenery and wild life of Africa.

Miss Hamilton's wide experience among indigenous races in many parts of the world and knowledge of native dialects have enabled her to depict the tribal life and wierd dances of primitive savage Africa. By means of an angle view finder, Miss Hamilton was able to procure pictures of tribal activities otherwise impossible to obtain as the savages believe that the "evil eye" is turned on them.

Spending almost her entire life abroad, Miss Hamilton has lived in 19 foreign countries and traveled extensively in all parts of the world. She speaks several languages.

Pre-Flight Trainer Offers Riders and Spectators Thrills, Chills, Screams and Laughs Without One Particle of Danger



County Attorney Jack White, Paul L. Carter of 522 N. Linn, J. J. McNamara and J. C. Moore of Western Auto Supplies, seem to be getting a big kick out of the Pre-Flight Trainer—the same kind of pilot trainer used by the United States to teach its pilots.

It Looks, Operates and Is Controlled Exactly the Same as a Regular Plane. It Climbs, Dives, Spins and Stalls, All Without Leaving the Ground. Open to the Public for Your Inspection Afternoon and Evenings.
