

Union Delays Communications Tieup

President Truman Offers Basis For Settlement of GM Walkout

NEW YORK (AP)—Ernest Weaver, president of the association of communications equipment workers, said last night that the union had postponed plans for picketing telephone exchanges in 44 states today, apparently temporarily removing the threat of a nationwide phone tieup.

Weaver said the picketing had been called off until Monday morning.

He made the announcement after talking with Labor Secretary Lewis Schwellenbach by telephone and accepting an invitation to confer with the labor head and officials of the Western Electric company in Washington today.

Schwellenbach entered the controversy as Weaver told reporters that negotiations were broken off.

Weaver said after the breakup of negotiations late last night that it would be "practically impossible" to call off all the picket lines at such a late hour. Picketing had been scheduled to start in Michigan and part of Indiana at 12:01 a. m. (EST).

Mr. Truman endorsed in full the report of his fact-finding committee in the General Motors dispute and urged its acceptance by the company and the CIO United Automobile Workers union, whose 175,000 members have been on strike for 50 days in 70 plants throughout the nation.

19 1/2 Cent Raise
The president said the fact-finders, headed by Lloyd K. Garrison, were satisfied GM could give production workers a 19 1/2 cent raise without increasing the price of cars.

Indicating strong optimism over the prospect of ultimate—though perhaps not immediate—acceptance of the plan, a White House adviser, whose name was withheld, said the proposed raise percentage was discussed in preliminary conversations with both GM and the union.

He said the talks produced no statement of rejection from either side, but he emphasized there had been no agreement to accept it.

Garrison said the hourly increase recommended would come to around 17 1/2 percent. The workers have demanded 30 percent.

End of Strike Seen
Meanwhile, a spokesman for striking Western Electric employees said yesterday the union had submitted to the company a proposal which — if accepted — might end the strike and avert a threatened nationwide telephone tieup.

The ACEW is an affiliate of the National Federation of Telephone workers (ind.), which has planned to observe picket lines in 44 states. Union officials said the lines would not be crossed by some 280,000 members of affiliated telephone unions.

John J. Moran, president of the federation of long line workers, declared earlier that 1,000 members of his union would leave their posts at the American Telephone and Telegraph company building at 7 a. m.

With Moran's announcement came word from J. R. Frydale, president of the installation workers local in Chicago, that picketing of telephone exchanges in Illinois and Wisconsin would begin at 6 a. m., today. West coast union officials said an estimated 17,000 communications workers in California and Nevada would be idle within a week.

However, the mountain states federation of telephone workers, representing virtually all employees of the Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph company operating in Colorado, Arizona, Idaho, New Mexico, Montana, Utah, Wyoming, and El Paso, Tex., declined yesterday to observe picket lines.

Nazis' War Economy Completed in 1937
NUERNBERG, GERMANY, (AP)—The whole structure for Nazi Germany's wartime economy was in the blueprint stage in amazing detail as early as 1937 and its architect was Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, one-time "wizard of German finances," the international tribunal trying Schacht and other leaders of Nazi Germany was told yesterday.

The prosecution said that Schacht's program for marshaling German industries, agriculture, power and finances for hostilities was comprehensive and practical, as was the case with other services he rendered the Nazis.

Aluminum Company Grants Patents Use
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Aluminum Company of America has agreed to grant to the government free use of all its aluminum production patents, the surplus property administration announced yesterday.

Surplus Property Administrator W. Stuart Symington, who made the announcement to a news conference, described the action as "clearing the way for competition in the aluminum industry."

Symington said it also opened the way for Alcoa's small competitor, Reynolds' Metal company, to lease and operate two government-owned plants in Arkansas.

Former Iowan Seeks Divorce From Prince
LOS ANGELES (AP)—The estranged wife of Emir Mahammed Al-Raschid, II, formerly Marcella Whiting of Marshalltown, charged yesterday in an affidavit to Superior Court that her husband had threatened to kill her.

Both Al-Raschid, son of the last Caliph of Islam and pretender to the throne of Turkey, and his wife are seeking a divorce. Disagreement has developed over custody and training of the couple's eight-months-old daughter, Hurbria.

GI Demonstrations Continue

Soldiers Want 'Ike' To Answer Pleas

'Home in February' Conference Assures 55 Point Men

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Approximately 1,000 GI's demonstrating again last night against the redeployment slow-down, booed and hissed the name of Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, American commander in Europe, and chanted "we want Ike."

The soldiers also booed the named of Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson, and one speaker declared "we are going to continue to hold meetings until we make ourselves heard by 'affable Ike.' — a reference to General Eisenhower, United States Chief of Staff and McNarney's predecessor.

Must Fulfill Commitments
The soldiers demonstrated as their representatives emerged from a conference in which they were told by high army officers that men must be kept in Europe until the United States fulfills its commitments there.

The conferees were assured, however, that men with 55 or more points would be en route home by the end of February, and that those with 50 and more points would be out of Europe by the end of March. Redeployment officers estimated there are now 230,000 men in Europe eligible for discharge with 50 points, or more than three and one-half years service.

Acting for McNarney, who is attending a four-power meeting in Berlin, Maj. Gen. Harold P. Bull, McNarney's Chief of Staff, summoned more than 100 representatives of United States army units for a question and answer meeting that lasted two and one-half hours.

He cited the tasks of rehabilitating displaced persons, dismantling German military plants and closing all but occupational installations to explain why all GI's could not go home at once.

Second Demonstration
Just as the conference ended, complaining veterans began the second night's demonstration outside the I. G. Farben building, where United States army headquarters in Europe are located. The number of participants was considerably less than at the previous protest meeting, and some speakers charged that many commanding officers had restricted their men to quarters so they could not attend.

Expect Jap Cabinet to Quit
TOKYO (AP)—Premier Kijuro Shidehara's cabinet met in regular session today, and a source at the premier's official residence—usually well informed—predicted it would resign en bloc.

This source said he expected the resignations would be announced today or tomorrow. He denied a Kyodo news agency story that Shidehara had decided to remain in office while dropping only a few ministers from his cabinet to comply with General MacArthur's political-purge decrees.

Kyodo said the general elections, scheduled tentatively for this month, would be delayed, possibly for two more months, in order to eliminate candidates affected by the purge orders.

The agency said Shidehara might try to hold on as premier until after the election.

Meanwhile the Allies' new far east commission to determine occupation policy met in Japan for the first time.

After a luncheon with General MacArthur, the 11-member commission consulted on undisclosed topics with MacArthur's economic and scientific chief, Maj. Gen. W. F. Marquat.

Chinese Reds Get Political Freedom

CHUNGKING (AP)—A truce in civil strife and a new era of political freedom for Communists and all other parties in China were announced yesterday after two dramatic, eleventh-hour conferences arranged by Gen. George C. Marshall, American mediator.

The former United States Army Chief of Staff—dispatched to China by President Truman as a special envoy—went into action when truce negotiations appeared to be breaking down Wednesday night.

Marshall hurried into conference with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, then called the government and Communist negotiators into an unheralded session yesterday morning nine hours ahead of schedule.

Before noon there were these swift developments:

Both sides ordered an immediate cessation of hostilities and a halt to all troop movements, except for transport of government forces in Manchuria and south of the Yangtze river.

Chou En-Lai, negotiator and head of the Communist delegation, praised Marshall's assistance and Chiang's determination for peace and said, "the cease-fire" orders were going out yesterday. Chou expressed hope the guns would all fall silent within three days, although it might take longer to reach some isolated spots.

Army Newspaper Not to Be Muzzled

President, Officers Cannot Be Criticized — Articles of War

HONOLULU (AP)—Lt. Gen. Robert C. Richardson Jr. cautioned the mid-Pacific Stars and Stripes yesterday not to speak disrespectfully of those in authority, but explained later he had no intention of muzzling the outspoken, soldier-edited newspaper in connection with the current demobilization controversy.

"Although men of my (mid-Pacific) command may disagree with policies of government and express themselves freely thereon, it is improper while we are in uniform to attack our leaders as individuals," Richardson said. He explained that such attacks "violate the articles of war which I am under oath to enforce."

GI Stories Excluded
Yesterday's edition, published after Richardson's directive, did not carry a single word written by G. I.'s but after the directive was clarified Stars and Stripes said it would resume with soldier-written news, letters and soldier cartoons and editorials today.

At a later press conference, Richardson explained his directive meant that there must be no derogatory remarks made against individuals in authority but that the paper was free to disagree with the policies of the government and express itself freely.

"He has given us back freedom of the press, for which we are thankful," commented M/Sgt. Charles Avedon of Los Angeles, editor-in-chief.

Avedon explained that he and his staff had interpreted the directive to mean that there could be no criticism of the army or its policies because such criticism would be derogatory to officers.

Soldiers' Letters 'Out'
The newspaper also was told not to publish soldiers' letters which could be construed as derogatory or discourteous to those in authority.

Some called the order military censorship. Others pointed out that General Richardson was merely calling attention to the 62nd and 63rd articles of war, under which soldiers expressing disrespect toward authority are subject to punishment "as a court-martial may direct."

Janitor Freed In Kidnaping
CHICAGO (AP)—Hector Verburgh, 65, janitor friend of "every kid in the block" was ordered released from custody late yesterday and the hunt for the kidnap-killer of pretty six-year-old Suzanne Degnan centered on suspected sex offenders.

Verburgh's wife, Mary, 64, and Desere Smet, 35, another janitor, all held for two days, also were released on writs of habeas corpus when the state's attorney's office told Chief Justice Harold Ward of the criminal court the state had no evidence to warrant filing charges against any of the three.

Meanwhile, the emphasis on suspected sex offenders—a theory expressed almost at the outset of the investigation despite presence of a $20,000 ransom note left in the victim's room—indicated the hunt had started all over from the beginning again.

The ladder the killer presumably used to enter the bedroom of the little victim was traced to a nearby nursery and police started a check of two suspected sex offenders who once stayed there.

Mrs. Margaret Perry, operator of the nursery home two blocks from the Degnan residence, told police the seven foot ladder found at the rear of the Degnan home had been left at the nursery two years ago by a roofing company.

She added that she had discharged a former employee of the nursery because of "questionable habits." Investigators said this man formerly was a mental patient at Mantena State hospital in Illinois but had been discharged as cured. They said he formerly was a practicing dentist on the north side.

'Dictate Peace in White House' Jap Hoax

MIAMI, Fla. (AU)—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz last night exploded as a propaganda hoax, perpetrated by Japan's militaristic hierarchy, the reported boast by Admiral Samamoto that he would dictate peace terms in the White House.

Speaking before some 300 members of The Associated Press Managing Editors association, the new chief of United States naval operations called upon the United States to maintain a mighty sea power "whose purpose transcends self-defense and self-protection and aims at fostering international security . . ."

Nimitz said the militaristic Japanese government lifted a single sentence from the context of a statement by the Jap naval chief warning of the consequences to be expected from war with the United States and "employed a prostituted Japanese press to twist Yamamoto's true assertion into an opposite meaning."

The admiral gave warm praise to the bravery of correspondents covering the war and "the vigor with which they battled the unfortunately necessary censorship."

Weidenbacher Trial Completes Third Day Of Case Hearings

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—The general court martial of Chief Specialist (A) Wilfred L. Weidenbacher, 33, moved into its third session yesterday.

A Dubuque, Iowa, resident, a Glencoe, Ill. couple and a marine sergeant testified yesterday concerning the charge against Weidenbacher of "scandalous conduct," which the navy said involved his alleged marital mixup, and six other specifications. Weidenbacher has pleaded innocent to all seven specifications.

Earlier, Karl S. Hall, Glencoe, Ill., testified that a marriage ceremony between Weidenbacher and Florence E. Mahle took place in his home in Glencoe Saturday, June 9, 1945, at 8 p. m. Hall said a Methodist minister performed the ceremony.

Sgt. Murray M. Bager, a marine, testified that he saw Weidenbacher on a train going to Great Lakes from Chicago last Aug. 2, and that the navy man was wearing a gray uniform with the insignia of a navy lieutenant. Two of the specifications against Weidenbacher are wearing the uniform of a commissioned officer.

Waters Continue To Recede in South
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Flood waters which caused 23 deaths in five southern states continued to recede yesterday, but property damage mounted and hundreds of persons were still homeless.

Damage appeared heaviest in the Cumberland river valley. Mayor W. C. Asher of Barbourville, Ky., estimated the property loss there at a million and a half dollars. Damage at Harlan, Pineville and Williamsburg ran into hundreds of thousands.

The Mississippi river, fed by the flood waters of its tributaries, was rising, but no serious damage was expected. At Memphis a 24-hour rise of 3.6 feet sent the river to 21.2 feet. The river is expected to reach 32 feet, two under flood stage by Monday.

At least 450 homeless in Tennessee, Georgia and Mississippi were reported by the Red Cross in Atlanta.

SOLDIERS HEAR PLANS FOR MANILA DEMONSTRATION

Editorials:

Fraternities Must Make Themselves Indispensable

(Last in a Series)

Fraternities for the next five or so years will enjoy an unassailable position at most universities. Regardless of whether universities deem the benefits of the fraternity system worthy, they can not afford to rob themselves of housing space by abolishing fraternities.

But the next five or so years also will be years of strain when the weaknesses of the fraternity system will become most apparent and probably will be broadcast most loudly.

If fraternities can contribute to the new world ahead—by contributing sufficiently to students—they will grow and hold an unchallenged position. Otherwise they are likely to be cast aside just as soon as a university can provide other housing space and can overcome the opposition of alumni or state legislators who are fraternity men.

Actually, the test is upon the men who are in fraternities today or will be fraternity members in the next year or two. Whether future generations of students are to have the benefits of the fraternity system, and in larger numbers, depends on today's fraternity men.

To be successful and to meet the test of the next five years, fraternities must do more than avoid scandals. They must point the way to higher scholastic achievements, prove that their social development is not undemocratic and contribute to the seriousness of student thinking.

Unless they do these things, they are apt to die of their own dead weight. The old "rah rah" spirit that kept many individual chapters alive through depressions, periods of scholastic deficiencies, scandals, etc., probably won't entirely return for many years.

A large proportion of the new members won't be youngsters easily incited to give their all for good old Alpha Alpha Alpha. There will be more and more matured, serious men who will have to be completely sold on the merits of the fraternity before they will go out and work to keep it functioning. So fraternities must work not only to prove themselves indispensable to universities but also for their own good.

The first goal of fraternities MUST be higher scholarship. Nothing can alter the fact that fraternities can only exist as long as they serve an educational purpose, and the chief educational purpose of a university is scholarship.

And this goal is probably the most easily attained. A program that would do nothing more than impress new members with the need for studying hard and learning well would be of inestimable value.

Such a program could be implemented without too much difficulty. All of the new fraternity men are going to be either veterans or young freshmen. The veterans—most of them—already realize the seriousness and necessity of study.

And the young freshmen could easily be impressed with the responsibility—especially by older men who undeniably are looked up to with a certain amount of respect and even awe.

Good grades—merely as representative of good learning, of course—come above all, should be the motto of every fraternity. And if that motto is repeated by men who have spent two or three years in a university, who apparently "know their way around and know the score," freshmen would be apt to accept it as a truth.

It is certain that if a man like Dean Paeker could live and work and play with a small group of freshmen, he could convert them to believing in serious study. Fraternity men have advantages in doing the same task, for they can give advice that is not looked on as fainted with prejudice as Dean Paeker's might be.

It is a great power, and responsibility, and privilege that the older men in a fraternity hold. They can lead the young man down the right road at the university, directing him to the good habits that make for success and helping him build a strong character.

The act, itself, of devising and carrying out a scholastic program will be a test for fraternities. The old methods of making pledges study by enforcing strict study hours and by hazing the men who falter in their studies are not acceptable any more.

Such methods never were adequate. Few leaders were ever developed through practices like those. And it was an unwelcome burden, not a stimulating responsibility, that such rules imposed on pledges.

But now hazing is not only inadequate—it is downright unacceptable. Few veterans will be fooled by the old line that "if you can take this (the hazing), you're a man. Or if you learn to take it, you'll become a man."

Leaders are needed now. Fraternity men must instill their ideas in pledges through the sheer force of personality of the fraternity men and the soundness and logic of the principles.

And the use of the leadership system will mean that fraternities in the future will produce a greater number of real leaders. They must do this, if they are to justify their existence.

Higher scholarship is most important to the fraternities' future because it is the area in which fraternities have made the least progress. But also they must look to their program of social development.

They must do what they can to break down the undemocratic and antisocial barriers that spring up. While fraternities can never achieve that goal alone, they can make valuable contributions.

It is undeniable that fraternities engage in certain undemocratic and antisocial practices—as do other organizations—that could be discontinued.

And they should be discontinued, not just for the strengthening of the fraternity system, but for the development of men who are individuals in a society that is far from perfect. Many fraternity men will some day be leaders in that society.

The course is laid out for fraternities. They must stimulate better scholarship, truer democracy and broader socialism. Otherwise, it might be written at Iowa as it has at the University of Chicago: "The two great symbols of triviality in American education—football and fraternities—have joined each other in the academic graveyard."

Fraternities need not be trivialities. They were not established as such. Their benefits are immensely important and could be made indispensable.

geon who is going to cut on them. I have never talked to or heard of one yet who wouldn't just as soon fly through trouble with Myers at the controls as be there themselves. There's no greater compliment one flier can pay another.

Myers is a Tifton, Ga., boy who, after Culver Military academy and the University of Georgia, earned his wings at Kelly field, Texas, in 1931. After a year with the First pursuit squadron, he went with American Airlines and was a pilot captain and veteran of the fleet when the air transport command called him into service early in the war.

Myers has logged more than 14,000 hours at the controls; flown more than 2,000,000 miles. He has circled the globe twice; flown the Atlantic 24 times and the Pacific seven. He flew President Roosevelt to the Yalta conference and President Truman to Potsdam. He has piloted Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Secretary of State Byrnes. He was picked to fly former Secretary of State Hull and former Secretary of War Stimson on historic missions.

When he flew the latter back from Europe, he just incidentally set a London to Washington time record that still stands.

He broke another record when he flew 3,200 miles over water into Australia with a group from the senate military affairs committee. That's when he took those VIPs (Very Important People) on a little 38,000 mile junket in the Liberator "Guess Where To II."

He was at the controls when Donald Nelson went to Chungking and back. He holds the distinguished flying cross, Asiatic, European and Philippine liberation ribbons and four battle stars.

Something else the avirmen know and the public generally doesn't is that when President Truman flies, he takes orders from Colonel Myers. If he says "no go," that's the way it is. That's one time at least that the commander-in-chief doesn't command.

Now that that's settled, how about us all joining the Society for Suppression of the Use of the Nickname "Sacred Cow" that somehow got itself tied to the nose of the official Presidential plane. That C54 Skymaster is too beautiful a piece of flying machinery to merit any such barnyard title. It's not official. It's not even unofficial. It's just a bit of hangar wit that's hung on too long. The president, the pilot and the Skymaster deserve better than that.

SUI to Build Up Research Resources—

Original Manuscripts Collected

As part of a program to build up research resources for literary scholars at the University of Iowa, the university libraries have begun a collection of manuscripts by Iowa writers, Director Ralph E. Ellsworth announced today.

Phil Stong, author of "State Fair" and numerous other novels, has contributed the original manuscripts of "Sacco and Vanzetti," "Missouri Canary" and "Censored: The Goat." Original illustrations by Kurt Weise which appeared in the latter book were also enclosed.

Paul Corey contributed Ellsworth recently received also a large box of manuscripts from Paul Corey containing the first, second, fourth and fifth drafts of his novel "Three Miles Square." The box also contained correspondence with the publisher.

"We are interested in obtaining as much material as possible from each author," commented Ellsworth. "In writing a book or magazine article many drafts are made before it is sent to the publisher. After the publisher makes corrections the manuscript is sent to the printer and it is again corrected. There is usually quite a bit of difference between the first draft and the printed story."

"We are trying to collect as many drafts of one story as possible to show how, for example, an author corrects such faults as wordiness and misuse of words. These manuscripts will be of great educational value in coming years."

Authors Are Willing "I have had some very interesting correspondence from many Iowa authors," continued Ellsworth. "They seem very willing to help, and I believe the project will be a success. Later on we might expand to include out-of-state autobiographical authors, but right now we are confining our interest to native Iowans."

Many authors have been asked for contributions to the collection, among them: Mrs. Elsworth Thane Beebe, author of "Riders of the Wind" and "Ever After"; Harry Butcher, whose narrative "My Three Years With Eisenhower" appeared in the Saturday Evening Post; Hartzell Spence, author of "One Foot in Heaven," and Ruth Suckow, author of "Country People" and "The Folks."

University Writers "We aren't going to forget the well-known writers here at the university either," stated Ellsworth. "Prof. Wilbur Schramm, director of the school of journalism, has many manuscripts that are of educational value. William Porter, of the school of journalism, has done a lot of writing. His latest work was "Hideout" which appeared as a four part serial in the Saturday Evening Post. Prof. Paul Engle of the English department has done some notable writing."

Ellsworth plans to turn the project over to a member of the library staff as soon as it is well-started. The manuscripts will be kept in the rare book room in Macbride hall until the new university library is built. At that time a special room will be designated in which to keep the manuscripts.

Out-of-State Tuition Raised

Out-of-state tuition for students in liberal arts, commerce, dentistry, education, engineering, law and pharmacy has been increased, according to the Iowa state board of education. The tuition rates will become effective Sept. 1, 1946.

Resident students at the university in dentistry, law, medicine and pharmacy will pay higher tuition also, although the difference is small. The rates for out-of-state students will be as follows: liberal arts, commerce, education and engineering, $110; dentistry, $150; law, $120, and pharmacy, $110.

Raised tuition rates for resident students include: dentistry and medicine, $115, law, $85, and pharmacy, $75.

Out-of-state tuition at Iowa State college, Ames, has been raised and will also become effective next fall.

Huber Croft Speaks To Rotary Members On Gas Turbine

"Harnessing of Hot Air" was the title of a talk given to the Rotarians yesterday by Huber O. Croft, head of the department of mechanical engineering at the university. In his address Croft stressed mainly the latest developments in heat engines, the gas turbine.

"Everyone harnesses hot air when he feeds his furnace or goes for a drive in his automobile," remarked Croft. "Until the invention of the gas turbine, the steam engine was the most efficient."

Croft pointed out that although these engines had only about 45 percent efficiency even in the commercial forms, higher efficiency could not be obtained without a great deal of expense.

Trace Turbine Development Tracing the improvement of turbines from a pre-historic invention to the development of a unit by the Swiss company, Brown-Boveri in 1936, Croft disclosed that the first real advance on gas turbines was made in 1938.

At this time he was connected with the Ship Research division of the United States navy. To increase the cruising range of American ships, four companies were enlisted to help with producing a new and efficient machine.

As a result of this work the United States navy has today the first efficient gas turbine. This 2500 HP unit is the most efficient in the world.

While problems of machining, designing and manufacturing still remain, it is very likely that the gas turbine will soon replace the small diesel and bulky steam turbine in the field of power generation. "I feel sure," stated Croft, "that any big company would be willing to order one or more today."

Although the new turbine might be very useful in the construction of locomotives, it is doubtful that it will be used in automobiles. In smaller sizes the turbine is inefficient and would not be an improvement over the present engine.

Jet planes are a new and as yet unexplored potential use of the gas turbine. At speeds one-sixth the velocity of sound the plane would be difficult to control and many flyers might be injured. However, the use of gas turbines up to 45,000 foot altitudes and 600 miles per hour may prove profitable.

"At any rate," said Croft, "the gas turbine is a new machine in which we should be vitally interested."

Shot Down Yanks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gunners on American warships in Pearl Harbor, jittery after the Japanese attack the morning of Dec. 7, 1941, shot down some American planes that night.

The incident was disclosed yesterday in publication of testimony by Admiral Husband E. Kimmel, 1941 Pacific fleet commander, to the Roberts investigating commission four years ago.

Basketball

Basketball, says the Encyclopaedia Britannica, was invented in 1891 to keep athletes physically fit and entertained between the football season and the baseball season. Here at Iowa it's the other way around.

Covering The Capital

By Jack Stinnett

WASHINGTON—When all that talk was going around about President Truman's "bad weather flights" to and from Independence, Mo., there was one group that just snorted the whole thing off. It was the professional pilots—in the armed services and out.

The reason was Lt. Col. Henry T. Myers, pilot of the president's plane. The almost-invariable argument-clincher they offered was: "If Hank said it was all right to fly, then it was all right to fly, so let's don't hear any more about it."

The way the professional pilots feel about 38-year-old Colonel Myers is just the reverse of the way most surgeons feel about the surgeon who is going to cut on them.

I have never talked to or heard of one yet who wouldn't just as soon fly through trouble with Myers at the controls as be there themselves. There's no greater compliment one flier can pay another.

Myers is a Tifton, Ga., boy who, after Culver Military academy and the University of Georgia, earned his wings at Kelly field, Texas, in 1931. After a year with the First pursuit squadron, he went with American Airlines and was a pilot captain and veteran of the fleet when the air transport command called him into service early in the war.

Myers has logged more than 14,000 hours at the controls; flown more than 2,000,000 miles. He has circled the globe twice; flown the Atlantic 24 times and the Pacific seven. He flew President Roosevelt to the Yalta conference and President Truman to Potsdam. He has piloted Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Secretary of State Byrnes. He was picked to fly former Secretary of State Hull and former Secretary of War Stimson on historic missions.

When he flew the latter back from Europe, he just incidentally set a London to Washington time record that still stands.

He broke another record when he flew 3,200 miles over water into Australia with a group from the senate military affairs committee. That's when he took those VIPs (Very Important People) on a little 38,000 mile junket in the Liberator "Guess Where To II."

He was at the controls when Donald Nelson went to Chungking and back. He holds the distinguished flying cross, Asiatic, European and Philippine liberation ribbons and four battle stars.

Something else the avirmen know and the public generally doesn't is that when President Truman flies, he takes orders from Colonel Myers. If he says "no go," that's the way it is. That's one time at least that the commander-in-chief doesn't command.

Now that that's settled, how about us all joining the Society for Suppression of the Use of the Nickname "Sacred Cow" that somehow got itself tied to the nose of the official Presidential plane. That C54 Skymaster is too beautiful a piece of flying machinery to merit any such barnyard title. It's not official. It's not even unofficial. It's just a bit of hangar wit that's hung on too long. The president, the pilot and the Skymaster deserve better than that.

Motor Vehicle Sales Show Biggest Gains In November Survey

For the first time since April, 1945, motor vehicle dealers moved up to first place in percentage of gains in sales for November, as compared with November, 1944. A report of the university bureau of business research showed a 52 percent increase for the car dealers.

The motor vehicle dealers jumped from seventh place with a 21 percent increase in the October survey among Iowa business lines.

Men's clothing and furnishing stores, the October leader, dropped to third place, showing a 31 percent gain, as compared with 51 percent in October. Moving up from fourth place to second place with a 36 percent gain were furniture stores, the report revealed.

Food, drug, jewelry and dry goods and general merchandise stores ranked well down the list below tenth place for the second month. The eight ranking lines in November showed marked percentage gains, however, with increases ranging from 20 percent to 52 percent.

The complete table is as follows: motor vehicle dealers, 52 percent; furniture, 36 percent; men's clothing and furnishings, 31 percent; filling stations, 27 percent; family clothing, 25 percent; shoes, 25 percent; lumber building materials dealers, 22 percent; hardware, 20 percent.

Irish Try Tonight To Repeat Victory Over West Branch

Starting Lineups
St. Patrick's Pos. West Branch
M. Hoye F. Lathrop
Sullivan F. Pedersen
Seemuth C. Eden
Belger G. B. Hoffman
T. Hoye G. A. Hoffman

With the hope of bagging their seventh victory in nine starts the Irish of St. Patrick's travel to West Branch tonight to play a return battle with the West Branch Bears. The Irish emerged a 52-19 victor over the Bears in a game held on the local court earlier in the season.

Cliff Kritt sent the Irish through another polishing session again last night in the final tuneup for the Bear tilt.

On the basis of the workout Kritt indicated that he would give Bob Sullivan the starting nod at forward in place of the smaller Bob Brown.

Sullivan, who is six feet tall, turned in a pair of fine performances in the last two games against St. Joseph's and St. Peter's.

Merle Hoye who is at the present time the city's leading scorer with 137 points in eight contests will team with Sullivan at the forwards; Bill Seemuth, the team's workhorse, will get the call at center.

The guard posts will be manned by Charlie Belger, the team's number two scorer and Tom Hoye, the defensive ace.

It will be a new and revitalized West Branch team that meets the Irish tonight. Since the disastrous early season lack of form the Bears have come back to win three games.

The return of Kenny Lathrop to the Bear lineup will provide them with plenty of added scoring punch.

A preliminary game between the reserves of the two schools will take place at seven o'clock. The main game starts at 8:15.

Harmony Restored, Drake Hits St. Louis

DES MOINES (AP)—With squad harmony apparently restored, Coach Vee Green and 11 Drake university basketball players left late yesterday for St. Louis where they will play St. Louis university and Washington university in Missouri Valley conference contests tonight and tomorrow night.

After a squad meeting, Green's boys raced through an early afternoon drill.

Center John Pritchard of Minneapolis, who quit drills Wednesday, claiming that Steve Bindas and Pete Stancevich, guards from Hammond, Ind., wouldn't pass to him, shook hands with the Hoosier lads to patch up the quarrel.

fight between the rival professional circuits into court.
At a news conference attended by Sinkwich, the Yankees announced they had signed the two-time All-America halfback from the University of Georgia to a three-year contract. President Dan Topping disclosed only that Sinkwich's salary ran into "five figures" but reliable estimates placed it at around $12,000 a year.

As soon as the news reached officials of the Detroit Lions, they declared the National league team was "prepared to go to court" to enforce its contract with Sinkwich, which they contended had one more year to run.

The Lions are interested in holding him only if he has recovered from a knee injury that curtailed his career in service football.

Sinkwich's contract with Detroit ran through 1945. The Lions contend that since he was in the service in 1945 he must play one more year at Detroit to fulfill his contract. The Yankees feel that he has fulfilled his obligations to Detroit.

Sinkwich had announced his "retirement" from the gridiron Dec. 18 after his discharge from the army but acknowledged yesterday he only said that "to keep other teams from bothering me" as he already had signed with Coach Ray Flaherty of the Yankees at Chicago Dec. 9.

"I feel O. K. now," he said yesterday, "and I'm sure I'll be as good as ever in pro-ball."

Revamped Little Hawk Lineup Faces Dubuque Here Tonight

Iowa City Pos. Dubuque
Carson F. Holbrook
Dean F. Herzog
Freeman C. Converse
Sangster G. Ferguson
Beals G. Johnson

Iowa City's Little Hawks tackle the Dubuque Rams this evening at eight o'clock in the local gym.

Coach Gil Wilson yesterday named a starting lineup that was revised from the one that has started most of the games this season. Kirk Carson, who has turned in fine performances the last two games will get the starting call at one forward and Bob Beals, who was relegated to the sophomore squad after starting the opener with the Little Hawks, will be at a guard post.

Carson has been a valuable reserve for the locals all season, while Beals was promoted from the sophomore squad only this week. Wilson feels the new men are what the team need, and said spirit ran high in recent practice sessions.

NCAA Reelects Prexy, Wants Sound Sports

ST. LOUIS, (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association finished off its 40th annual convention yesterday by reelecting President Dr. Wilbur C. Smith of Louisiana State.

Results of the secret balloting silenced reports that the anti-bowl, anti-big money faction might assert itself against Dr. Smith because of his affiliation with a school belonging to the money-minded Southeastern conference.

Kenneth L. "Tug" Wilson, commissioner of the Western conference (Big 10), was reelected secretary-treasurer of the association.

Pops Sets Defense for Hoosiers, Takes 12 Men to Bloomington

After giving the Hawkeyes one last defensive drill last night against Indiana's fast break, Coach Pops Harrison chose an even dozen of his Big Ten champions as a traveling squad and prepared to board the east-bound Rocket this morning for Bloomington, Indiana.

Pops added worries about the first Iowa road trip of the season were heightened last night when Herb Wilkinson sprained an ankle in practice. Taken to University hospital immediately for an X-ray, Herb emerged last night under his own power and with the doctor's report that no bones were broken.

Just how much the high-scoring guard can be used against the Hurryin' Hoosiers will not be known until game time tomorrow night. It is probable that he will play—he might even start—but the sprain undoubtedly will hinder him.

The Hawks will spend tonight in Indianapolis and arrive in Bloomington tomorrow morning by chartered bus. The game tomorrow night will begin at 7:30 p. m. (Iowa time) and WILL BE BROADCAST OVER WSUI BEGINNING AT 7:25.

Pops experienced considerable difficulty picking his traveling squad. In fact, by last night he had chosen only 11 of the 12 players.

Danner Will Start
It seemed definite, however, that Dave Danner has taken over the starting forward slot opposite Dick Ives. Impressive in scoring 17 points against Wisconsin Monday night, Dave will get the call ahead of Murray Wier, co-holder of the best Iowa individual scoring mark. Wier will be used as a spot player against the Hoosiers.

If Herb Wilkinson is unable to start, Tony Guzowski will get the starting nod in the backcourt. Reliable Ned Postels at the other guard and Clayton Wilkinson, who hit his old stride against the Badgers by bucketing 22 points, will play at center. Last night's drills emphasized more ways to stop the Indiana fast break, which has earned the Hoosiers two conference wins this season against the lone defeat by Minnesota, 59-48, last Monday.

Home Odds to Hoosiers
The Iowans face a tough job at Bloomington. In the past 20 seasons, Iowa has won only four of 15 games there, three of them in succession. Hawks won in 1944, 43-42, when Dave Danner potted a field goal in the last 10 seconds; and 52-40; and in 1945 fought through to a 54-40 win after the score had been tied with five minutes left.

Players named for the trip include: Forwards—Dick Ives, Dave Danner, Murray Wier, Charlie Mason, Jack Wischmier; centers—Clayton Wilkinson, Noble Jorgensen; guards—Herb Wilkinson, Ned Postels, Tony Guzowski, Theron Thomsen. The 12th man will be either center Bob Graham or guard Bob Wischmier.

Prep Group Favors Expanded Insurance

CHICAGO, (AP)—Expansion of student accident insurance from athletic competition to all phases of school hazards was approved yesterday by the National Federation of High School Athletic Associations.

H. V. Porter, secretary of the association which opened a three-day meeting with 33 states represented, said Wisconsin, California, Oregon and New York among the member associations favored the expanded insurance program.

Wally Schwank Named Davenport Grid Coach

Wally Schwank, City high football coach for the last two years, has been appointed head coach at Davenport high school, succeeding Jesse Day. The announcement was made yesterday by the board of education at Davenport.

In addition to his duties as grid mentor, Schwank will head secondary school physical education and will serve as director of inter-scholastic sports.

Schwank will take over his new coaching duties in August. He succeeds his old high school coach, Jesse Day, who retires this year after 20 years as football coach of the Imps.

Officials at Iowa City high school announced last fall when Herb Cormack was released from the navy that Herb would re-assume his post as head football coach of the Little Hawks with the 1946 season.

The choice of the board of education of some 50 applicants, Schwank returns to his home town after nearly 15 years. Graduating from Davenport high school, he attended Coe college in Cedar Rapids and graduated in 1934. He played on Coe teams for four

CAPT. DICK WITTENBRAKER, 6-foot, 2-inch Indiana guard, will lead the Hoosiers tomorrow night when they seek to spoil Iowa's Big Ten title defense in the head-line battle of the conference at Bloomington.

Kadera's, Cabbies Top Loop

With the first half of the City league basketball schedule already played the cagers are looking ahead and laying plans to produce some startling upsets in the standings.

Kadera's and Yellow Cab boast perfect records with five straight wins. The tall Oxford and Bremer quintets are close behind with 4-1 records. Bremers was knocked out of the leadership by Kadera's in an overtime fray and Oxford fell before the Cabbies in a heartbreaker, 29-28.

Both of the undefeated teams are expected to maintain their positions for the next two weeks, since during that time they will be meeting teams far down in the standings. After that time they are scheduled against some of the tougher teams and an upset can be expected at any time.

Every squad in the 12 team league plays one game each week, games being scheduled at 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 Monday and Wednesday evenings. The games are played on the basketball court at the recreation center.

Next Monday night's play will be featured by the tussle between Bremers and Franks Service. The two high scoring combinations are scheduled to clash in the 9:30 tilt. Scoring leaders in the league are: Player-Team Games Points Ave. O'Brien (Oxford) 4 46 11.5 Kennedy (Kadera's) 5 44 8.8 Howard (Bremers) 4 42 10.5 Reeve (Franks Service) 4 40 10.0 C. Colbert (Kadera's) 5 39 7.8 Farnsworth (Kadera's) 4 37 9.2 Lehman (Moose) 4 37 9.2 Schr (Kadera's) 5 36 7.2 Macias (Sigma Nu) 5 36 7.2 Marshall (Sigma Nu) 5 34 6.8

U-High Seeks Second Loop Win Tonight

University high's Blue Hawks will travel to Monticello tonight to meet the Panthers in an Eastern Iowa conference double-header which promises to be one of the toughest of the young league season.

Monticello, while it has won but three of ten contests thus far, has never been defeated more than five points. Tuesday the Montis lost to Manchester by four markers, and last Friday Anamosa topped the Panthers by three. Since both schools are much bigger than Monticello high, and since the host club defeated Tipton in a conference fray, 38-17, while U high was able to win by 38-27, there is a strong belief that the Rivermen will go into the contest as underdogs.

Coach Don Barnhart, however, has been readying his men all week for this important game, which will mark the second step on the road to a second straight league championship. He indicated last night that the probable starters will remain the same, with one spot still undecided.

Either Jack Hady or Gus Helm will hold down one forward post, with Nick Anderson taking the other. Steve Nusser, the team's high scorer for the past three years, will play center, and John Miller and Bill Green are slated to start at guards.

Also likely to see a lot of action during the contest are Ralph Donovan, Dick Briceland, Joe Carlstrom and Chuck Lenthe.

Barnhart, while remaining pessimistic about the outcome, stated that his men are again rounding into form which they reached before Christmas vacation.

U. S., Russian Sports May Better Relations; More Games Expected

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The way apparently is opening for athletic competition between Russia and the United States to help effect a wider understanding between these countries.

The Russian embassy and the U. S. State Department indicated full support when a reporter brought a move in that direction to their attention.

A recent Associated Press dispatch from Moscow disclosed that American sports promoters had asked for permission to take teams to Russia. The promoters were referred to the embassy here.

Nikolai I. Mollakov, a secretary in the embassy, said that he saw no reason why American teams should not go to Russia to compete with Soviet athletes or stage exhibitions.

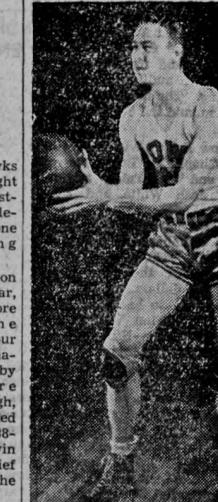

He also discussed the possibility of Russian athletes coming to this country.

He suggested that such a start might well open a broad field of international relationship in cultural and popular affairs.

Russia would like to see Bing Crosby, Frank Sinatra and other stars of stage and screen while a Russian opera presented in this country might prove highly popular, he added.

He brought out, however, that Russians do not play such leading American games as baseball and our brand of football but were adept at soccer, basketball, volleyball, swimming, tennis, wrestling and other sports.

CHICAGO (AP)—In addition to Iowa's invasion of Indiana this Saturday night, four other games are on tap that will have bearing on the Big Ten standings.

The weekend program opens tonight when Michigan (1-2) invades Chicago (0-1) in the first of two road battles for the Wolverines.

The other three games are Saturday night:

Illinois (1-3) at Ohio State (3-0).

Michigan at Northwestern (1-0).

Purdue (0-2) at Wisconsin (0-3).

Ohio State should keep ahead of the conference pack with its fourth straight victory at the expense of the Illini whom the Buckeyes whipped 50-46 a month ago at Champaign. Minnesota (2-0) marks conference time until Monday night when the Gophers entertain feebly Chicago.

Midwest non-conference games this weekend include: Notre Dame at Great Lakes and Beloit at Western Michigan Friday, and Kentucky at Michigan State, DePaul at Western Kentucky and Great Lakes at Marquette Saturday.

Mary Holms Speaks On Art to Honorary Languages Fraternity

"I don't think it's very easy to talk about the art of a country unless you know something about the country that lies behind it," said Miss Mary Holms of the art department when she spoke on French and Spanish art at the meeting of Phi Sigma Iota, honorary Romance languages fraternity, last night.

"Art, like the national sport of a country, is an expression of the psychological needs of a country," explained Miss Holms. "The aesthetic tastes of a country that has chosen bull fighting as its national game, must naturally differ greatly from those of a country that has chosen, for instance, baseball," she continued. "In the bull fight is an extreme example of the combination of elegance and gore that is very dear to the Spanish heart. And this is reflected very clearly in Spanish art. Typically Spanish is the sharp kind of realism combined with a feeling of mysticism which overcomes the feeling of classical formality found in French art. This is a combination found almost nowhere else."

French art, according to Miss Holms, while drawn from the same source as Spanish, never allows the sense of emotionalism so predominant in Spanish art to overcome the sense of elegance, charm and formality characteristic of the French culture. The highest period of French art was during the 18th century, the most feminine period of French society. It was during this "Golden Age" that interest in formality and pattern become supreme, and this influence can still be felt in French painting. Here, too, remains the feminine feeling.

"But art is international already," concluded Miss Holms. The national differences in style of painting now are very slight, chiefly due to a general feeling of internationalism. As the increased speed of communication is doing away with provincialism in language, so the trend of art is rapidly away from national differences toward expression of internationalism."

Red Cross to Meet Tuesday Night at 7:30 In Elks Dining Room

The Johnson county chapter of the American Red Cross will have its annual meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the dining room of the Elks home, 325 E. Washington street, according to Harold E. Saunders, chairman of the Johnson county chapter.

Mr. Chalm G. Houghton, assistant director of public information for the midwestern area of the Red Cross with headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., will speak at the meeting. There will be an election of officers and board members.

ANNOUNCEMENT

This is to inform the many persons with whom I have had the pleasure of doing business during the past nine months, that I have purchased the Warner-Medlin Studio which I have managed in Iowa City.

Previously, this was one of a chain of mid-western states studios. Now, of course, it is a home-owned enterprise.

To the thousands who have their negatives on file here we wish to point out that they may still order from them as they remain with the studio. We have a special offer for those of you who have these negatives here and invite you to drop in in order that we may explain. We are doing this to acquaint you with our higher quality work.

We invite each of you to use this announcement as an introductory offer. With it we will take four proofs of you and make one 8x10 enlargement and one billfold size print for $1.50 from the proof of your choice.

We hope to serve our many former customers and many new ones this new year.

Oh, what they'd give to be in YOUR shoes!

Oh, what most of the human race would give to be in your shoes!

Clothing that you may consider old can bring new life to some suffering person to whom war brought despair and destitution. Goal of the Victory Clothing Collection is 100,000,000 garments, plus shoes and bedding. If your contribution seems negligible, bear this in mind: Every garment you give means one more human being saved from cold or sickness or possibly death.

About 25,000,000 people overseas received clothing collected from Americans last spring. But for every person clothed so far, a dozen more remain virtually threadbare. Your spare clothing will be distributed free, without discrimination, to victims of Nazi and Jap oppression in Europe, the Philippines, and the Far East.

Dig into your attics, trunks, and closets today... dig out all the serviceable clothing you can possibly spare... take it to your local collection depot now. If you doubt the need for it overseas, ask the boys who've been there!
