Fire Guts 3-Story House, $5,000 Loss

Second Floor, Attic Razed; Antiques Burn

Eight Persons Left Homeless; Cause Of Blaze Unknown

Fire last night destroyed the attic and second floor of the home of Mrs. Charles S. Grant, Summit and Burlington streets, with a loss estimated at $5,000.

The first floor and basement were badly damaged by fire, smoke and water. A considerable part of the contents, including many antiques, were lost.

Hundreds of spectators, attracted by leaping flames which could be seen a quarter of a mile away, watched Iowa City firemen battle the blaze from 9:30 p. m. until after midnight.

8 Persons Homeless
The fire apparently started in the basement, leaving eight persons homeless. The second floor apartment was occupied by Mrs. Grant's daughter, Mrs. Gertrude G. Funk, and her two daughters, Joan, 19, and Susan, 16. Living on the first floor were Mrs. Forbes and her four children, two boys and two girls.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Forbes while she was in the first floor kitchen. She said she heard a rumbling and a roar in the basement. When firemen arrived, the blaze had spread through the walls to the second floor and attic. The fire apparently started in the basement, Fire Chief J. J. Clark said, and then spread through the walls. The cause was not known.

Contents Lost
Most of the first floor and basement furniture was carried out with only smoke damage, according to Mrs. Funk, but nothing was saved from the second floor or the attic.

Five hoses were used to quell the fire, with both shifts of the fire department called out to man the equipment. Both fire engines had to be used as pumps to supply enough pressure to get water up to the roof.

Ice covered the firemen as they worked in the nine degrees above zero weather, and water from the hoses covered the area with ice.

The house, approximately 50 years old, was bought in 1909 by the late Dr. Charles S. and Mrs. Grant. An insurance man estimated the loss on the house would be more than $5,000. The house, and part of the contents, were insured, Mrs. Grant said.

Valuable Antiques
The furniture consisted mainly of valuable antiques, Mrs. Grant said. Some of it was three generations old. Also lost were several oriental rugs and collections and mementos belonging to the late Dr. Grant. Some things such as silverware may be recovered, firemen said, but the house was not safe for search last night because of damaged flooring and supports.

A dog, "Candy," owned by Joan and Susan Funk was missing after the fire. It was on the second floor when the flames broke out, and it is not known whether it escaped or not.

At Basketball Game
Mrs. Funk and her two daughters were at a City high basketball game when the fire broke out. Mrs. Grant was notified at the Phi Kappa Psi house where she is housemother. Mrs. Forbes and her family were the only persons in the house when the fire broke out. The fire reached its peak about 10:30 p. m. when the roof collapsed, sending flames, smoke and sparks shooting into the air. Firemen were forced to work mainly from outside the building in combating the flames.

SHORTLY AFTER THIS PICTURE was taken last night the roof of this house at Summit and Burlington streets collapsed, throwing flame, smoke and sparks upward. The house is owned by Mrs. C. S. Grant, housemother at the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house, and was occupied by Mrs. G. G. Funk, daughter of Mrs. Grant, her two daughters, Joan, 19, and Susan, 16, and Mrs. Forbes and her four children. The roof and top floor were destroyed, and the rest of the house badly damaged. The fire, discovered by Mrs. Forbes, apparently started in the basement and spread through the walls to the other floors. Iowa City firemen fought the blaze from 9:30 p. m. until after midnight last night before bringing it under control in the nine degree above zero weather. (Another picture on Page 6.)

Call Conference In Steel Dispute; Anti-Strike Bill Certain to Pass

Truman Has Proposal For Ending Walkout

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Separate moves designed to break the log-jam of strikes went ahead yesterday at the White House and in congress. President Truman summoned the steel fact-finding board and Price Administrator Chester Bowles to a White House conference amid reports the administration was getting ready to move in again with some new plan for settling the vast steel strike.

In the house, a strike control bill won support of the American Farm Bureau federation and house leaders predicted passage of the measure—or of similar legislation—despite a split among Republicans on how rigid it should be.

Plan for Ending Strike
The new plan for ending the 12-day strike of 750,000 CIO steelworkers was reported in the hands of White House advisers, with federal seizure not yet in prospect.

The summoning of Bowles suggested that steel prices figured in the plan. Bowles has been reported holding out for a steel price increase not exceeding $2.50 a ton, although other government officials are said to have argued for a $4 boost. The United States Steel corporation has said an increase well above $6.50 was needed to meet the 18½ cents an hour wage boost advocated by President Truman and acceptable to the union.

Farm Bureau Support
The American Farm Bureau federation's support of the strike bill offered by Representative Case (R., S. D.) came with a demand from AFL President William Green for its defeat.

Green, in a telegram read to the house, charged the bill would bring "chaos, confusion and injustice" and would "disrupt industrial relations."

Meanwhile, little apparent progress was reported in settling the General Motors strike or other labor disputes which have left about 1,380,000 idle in the country.

CAPT. L. F. SAFFORD testified he had been ordered to destroy all personal notes concerning the Pearl Harbor attack. (AP WIREPHOTO)

'Ordered to Destroy Notes on Jap Attack'

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
WASHINGTON (AP)—A naval officer testified yesterday that orders went through the navy department after Pearl Harbor for all personnel to destroy any personal notes concerning events preceding the attack.

The officer, Capt. L. F. Safford, also declared the war and navy departments got "72 hours advance notification of the attack on England and the United States" through interception of a Japanese "winds" code message on Dec. 4, 1941.

"It meant war—and we knew it meant war," he told a senate-house committee investigating the Japanese attack.

Safford gave this story of the "note destroying" order: "Whispering Campaign
All section heads were told there was a 'whispering campaign' against Adm. Husband E. Kimmel, Pacific fleet commander, and Adm. Claude C. Bloch, commander of the 14th (Hawaiian) naval district.

They were told that the 'whispering campaign' must be stopped, admonished against 'loose talk' and instructed to destroy personal notes and to pass the word along to their subordinates.

Safford said he had a clear understanding that the orders came down from Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations. "It seemed a perfectly logical and fair order at the time," Safford said. He said he understood the order regarding destruction of notes was based on the thought that the notes might fall into hands of persons who would indulge in "loose talk."

Thought It Proper
"There was nothing said about destruction of official papers," Richardson asked. "No sir."

"You had no idea, did you, that you were being asked to do anything improper?" "Absolutely not, or I would not have done it."

British, Soviets In Bitter Row Over Greece

Bevin Charges Reds Endangering Peace Through Propaganda

LONDON (AP)—Ernest Bevin openly accused Russia last night of endangering world peace by "incessant propaganda" and demanded a straight yes or no verdict from the world security council on Soviet charges that Britain was jeopardizing peace by "intervention" in Greece.

In a gloves-off, cards-on-the-table session of the 11-nation peace council, the British foreign secretary declared: "The real danger to peace is the incessant propaganda, the incessant attacks on Britain by the Moscow radio and the communists, as though there were no friendship with the British people."

Bevin, saying such attacks lead to suspicion, remarked he had difficulty in understanding why Russia made the complaint about Greece, and added: "I can't help feeling there is a deeper reason, known only to the Soviet government."

Bevin spoke bluntly after Soviet foreign vice-commissar Andrei Vishinsky told the council Russia insisted upon "quick and unconditional" withdrawal of British forces from Greece. Vishinsky charged the troops were "contributing to disorder" in an already "terrorized country."

Thanassis Agnides, the Greek delegate, declared: "I state categorically that the British have not intervened in the internal affairs of Greece at any time."

He said the Greek government regards the presence of British troops as "indispensable to keep order and obtain political stability."

Bevin's criticism of Russian and Communist party propaganda, many statesmen said, came as a "plain shock" to assembly delegates and demonstrated for the second time within two days the new "gloves off" policies of top level diplomats.

More Ford Plants Suspend Production Because of Strikes

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The shutting of the steel mills, slowly throttling metal-using industries, caused the closing of several Ford Motor Co., assembly lines last night, increasing the number of idled in allied businesses across the country to more than 66,000.

Bradley Cites Record As Vets Administrator In Answer to Legion

'Scrap' Over Hospital Site Preceded Charges Of Neglect, He Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, faced with an American Legion demand for his removal as veterans administrator, fired back last night a heavy barrage of figures to show progress in his "short six months of stewardship."

(Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, army chief of staff, said that if Bradley needs support, he will support him. Eisenhower told reporters that he thought Bradley was one of the greatest living Americans, and added: "If General Bradley needs any support, here is one who will fly anywhere, anytime, to support him.")

Answering a news conference question, Bradley said a "scrap" last week over a hospital site preceded the blast cut loose at him by John Stelle, national commander of the American Legion.

Hospital Scrap
The question of a hospital site at Decatur, Ill., in Stelle's home state, also came up in a telephone conversation Wednesday, Bradley said. But he added that he did not think that this talk with Stelle had "much to do with this attack."

Other veterans organizations and congressmen were hounding on the free-for-all row that broke out when Stelle demanded yesterday that congress investigate what he termed "neglect" of veterans and a "tragic breakdown" in the handling of their problems in the veterans administration.

Three congressmen took a position that something is wrong in the VA. But other lawmakers and various veterans organizations urged that Bradley be given a chance to show what he can do.

'Smear' Bradley
The American Veterans of World War 2 accused the Legion of trying to "smear" the general to "regain their lost control" over VA. Stelle sent a letter to all members of congress yesterday, listing reasons why he said congress should investigate VA operations under Bradley.

Bradley told reporters he suspected the letter gave the views of Stelle and "doesn't represent the majority view of the American Legion."

Citing a "tremendous" increase in the load on the veterans administration, the general declared: "Frankly I think we have made as much progress with that job as we could."

Asserting he would welcome any sort of investigation, the VA chief read a lengthy account of what the agency had done since he took over last August.

For instance, he said, Stelle noted that VA had 287,000 unassigned pieces of mail Jan. 1. The mail averages 125,000 pieces a day, Bradley said, but VA has caught up by bringing in extra help from regional offices.

Sugar Prices To Rise

WASHINGTON (AP)—Retail prices for sugar will go up about six-tenths of a cent a pound within "the next few days," OPA said yesterday.

The effective date will be announced shortly, a spokesman for the agency said, following authorization of a one-half cent a pound hike in the refinery price of sugar. Retail prices will increase slightly more because wholesale and retail markups are on a percentage basis.

Stabilization Director John C. Collet said the increases are a direct result of the higher cost of Cuban sugar.

See Possibility Of Restoring Meat Rationing

Cabinet to Discuss Plans for Maintaining Sufficient Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—A grain shortage so threatening that some officials are talking of the possible necessity of a return to rationing of meat and other animal foods will come up for full-scale cabinet discussion next Tuesday.

This was disclosed by Secretary of Agriculture Anderson yesterday. He talked with a reporter just after a preliminary discussion with President Truman at the White House yesterday. He met with Secretary of Commerce Wallace and representatives of Secretary of State Byrnes on the matter Thursday.

The situation is such that an unfavorable spring and summer crop season could reduce production of meats, fats and oils, and butter to a level where a return of rationing would be necessary to assure equitable distribution at home and to meet minimum export requirements. There are no indications so far of a bad season in this country, but severe drought is sharply curtailing grain production in southern hemisphere countries.

Must Feed Europe
Just back from London where he discussed Europe's food shortages with officials, Secretary Byrnes has reported that failure of this country to meet its export quota may condemn millions to die hunger before the winter is over.

Some agriculture department grain authorities believe there is not enough wheat left to meet export promises unless steps are taken to restrict use of this grain in livestock feeding, the manufacture of alcohol, and perhaps in the manufacture of flour.

The livestock feed situation is causing Anderson as much worry as that of wheat. Conditions are somewhat similar to those which developed in 1944, when a shortage of corn forced farmers to liquidate much livestock and to cut down sharply on the production of hogs.

Poor Feeder Corn
While the corn crop harvested last fall was of bumper proportions, it was unusually low in feeding quality because early frosts kept much of it from maturing.

It may become necessary for the government to take action to force a reduction in livestock feeding. Under consideration is a proposal to reduce the ceiling price on heavy weight hogs from $14.75 to about $4 per hundred pounds, Chicago basis. Such action would be designed to encourage marketing of hogs at light and medium weight.

Lower prices for heavy hogs would, of course, result in less pork and in considerably less lard.

21 Die in Transport Plane— Find Bodies in Mountain Crash

By RICHARD K. O'MALLEY

ELK MOUNTAIN, Wyo. (AP)—Bodies of persons aboard a Seattle-to-New York United Airlines plane were found by a searching party late yesterday on Elk mountain where the plane had crashed early Thursday.

"The bodies were widely scattered over a slope of the mountain about 1,150 feet from the top and the plane appears to have disintegrated," said Stewart England, a civil aeronautics authority official from Cheyenne, who was a member of the searching party.

"The bodies were only slightly singed and there were no indications that the plane burned," England said. No count was made of the bodies, but England said there was no possibility that any of the 18 passengers and three crew members escaped death.

Officials of United Airlines began making plans for removal of the bodies. A truck load of sled dogs from Ft. Robinson, Neb., was en route to Elk mountain.

Army Relaxes Rules On Families Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department announced last night that dependents of all ranks of army personnel will be permitted to join them overseas, contingent upon the necessary housing, food and medical care being available for them.

The soldiers who want to have their families with them must agree to remain overseas for at least a year after their dependents join them.

The department previously had announced that families of officers and non-commissioned officers would be permitted to join them soon, with the families of enlisted men not to be permitted to go at present due to a housing shortage.

This action immediately resulted in criticism being voiced in congress.

Favor Wage Boost

DES MOINES (AP)—Fifty-nine percent of the Iowa farmers contacted believe the country's striking industrial workers should be granted a wage increase, a survey by Wallace's Farmer showed yesterday.

Of the farmers queried, 45 percent favored a 15 percent increase, 14 percent approved an increase of 30 percent an hour in wages and 28 percent objected to any increase of any type.

Editorials:

The Senate Wastes Valuable Time on Unimportant Measures

It is hard to understand why the senate ever bothered to convene if it planned to do no more than it has done up to date. And what it has accomplished since the holiday recess adds up to practically nothing—at least the results of its actions are negative.

Two of the best examples of the way the senate is getting nowhere fast are the filibuster on the fair employment practices bill and the demobilization investigation committee.

Senator Bilbo and his cohorts are preventing any constructive action by the upper house with their stalling tactics on the FEPC measure, and it is hard to see what the demobilization committee will have to offer after investigating a demobilization program that is the best the world has ever seen.

Bilbo's tirades in the senate are humorous to some because of their absurdity, but his spectacle is neither amusing nor entertaining. At a time when the whole nation should be moving ahead as rapidly as possible, he is standing still.

The Mississippi senator—who once told the people that if he were elected he would put an end to the stealing of Gideon Bibles from hotel rooms—has even gone so far as to insist that the previous day's proceedings be read at the opening of each senate session. Reading those proceedings requires several hours time. Bilbo says he is looking for a misplaced comma.

Is that the kind of leadership that will take us out of the reconversion wilderness? Is it the kind of statesmanship that made this nation a great democracy?

The appointment of a committee to investigate the army's demobilization program is almost as absurd. The committee was set up on grounds the army wasn't getting the men back home fast enough.

But the truth is that the army is demobilizing faster than any army ever did in history. Secretary Patterson disclosed that by June 30, the army will have discharged 7,750,000 of the 8,300,000 men in uniform on V-E day. That remarkable rate doesn't need any explaining.

And compared to the demobilization rate of our Allies, our own program is almost astounding. The British have released only 1,511,000 men in the same period, and it is estimated that the Russians plan to discharge only half of the 12,000,000 men in the army at the end of the war.

Most of the nation realizes we are discharging our men fast enough. The great concern is that we are going too fast—but so far the senate has done nothing about that.

The real tragedy of the time-wasting senate is even if it had been working at top speed, it would have been crowded to dispose of the more vital measures.

It has an immense amount of work to do on the labor problem. It must study price controls carefully and be prepared to act by June 30. It must decide certain policies in regard to occupation before May 15 when the selective service law expires. It must look into housing.

The senate has no time to waste. This is the "year of decision," and one-twelfth of the year has passed already without any decisions.

No Guesswork

And now Senator Lucas of Illinois protests the use of the 96 navy warships in the atomic bomb experiment. He says they should be saved for future use. What kind of use and against what?

These are the questions that we want answered. And finding the answers is so important that it justifies the sacrifice of some of the navy's best ships. We are determined, this time, not to rely on guesswork in our national security. We want to know what we will be up against, instead of groping in the dark as Senator Lucas would have us do.

Raise Morale?

The army's plan to improve morale by permitting families to go overseas to live with the men in uniform may backfire. The plan provides that the army will pay transportation for dependents of officers, warrant officers and the four top ranks of non-commissioned officers (master, first, technical and staff sergeants). But families of enlisted men below staff sergeant rank will have to pay their own way.

This obvious discrimination won't make the lower grade enlisted men feel any happier. To them it will be only another evidence of undemocratic practices which they charge are widespread in the military forces.

It's hard to understand why the army would pay the expenses of the men who are drawing the highest pay. More than that, it's hard to understand why the army didn't adopt some other, and better plan, like raising the men's pay.

Strike Attitude Changes

Here and there in the news of the big strikes you keep picking up some phrases that add up to something a shade brighter than the headlines: "The walkout was orderly. . . . No violence is reported so far. . . . The company opened an office waiting room to the shivering pickets," and so on.

Why has there been so little violence, with a few sharp exceptions, in proportion to the hugeness of the strikes? Why are so many picket lines of little more than token strength? Well, partly because violence in the past hurt both sides, and both sides know it. But that is not all.

Why are some companies, which have denounced the unions' demands in blistering terms, keeping group insurance in force, serving sandwiches, providing open-air stoves, and furnishing warm rooms to pickets who besiege their plants? Some union leaders may say these gestures are plotted to weaken striker morale. They may be plotted, but they are more obvious and natural than deep and dark. Nor has the millennium quietly arrived by way of the picket lines.

Perhaps the best explanation lies in the fact that something has finally changed in the general attitude toward strikes since the sitdowns in 1937. It is this: just about everyone now takes for granted that a striker has neither quit his job nor been fired from it. It's his own job he is picketing—guarding it against the chance that someone might be induced to grab it. From management's standpoint—why not keep the boys warm? They are the same boys who will be back working with us after a while, and working a lot longer than they are striking. Is there an element of what might be called benevolent self-interest here?

This is a small but bright gleam through some pretty dark clouds. It is progress. And it is worth recording right now with a few italics and underlines, together with some fervent hopes.

Covering The Capital

WASHINGTON—Incidental prognostications. . . . The president, in his annual message, urged "a greater measure of local self-government" and at least national ticket votes for the voteless citizens of the District of Columbia.

Don't expect anything more out of it than a renewed outburst of agitation by the poor, misgoverned residents of your national capital, who are the best civic example in the country today of hope springing eternal. The president, the district's committee chairman (our "mayors") in congress, committee members, all publicly declare for votes for district residents. Both parties even write a plank to that effect into their platforms every four years. But the right hand of action never seems to get around to knowing what the left of promises is up to.

There are complications in the whole business but one factor regarding greater "local self government" is simply that the congressmen, most of whom live here a large part of their political lives, can't stand the idea of relinquishing this little smidgen of power.

Note: Unless congress does something about it some of these years, there won't be any more citizens in the district to govern. The privately owned area of the district is shrinking. In the last 10 years, the government has purchased outright or otherwise taken over nearly 2,000,000 acres of district land. The voteless citizens now own only a little more than half the D. C. The rest of it is all government buildings, parks, etc.

Any day now look for an administration speech campaign to get the public behind the $4.4 billion British loan, with addresses by Treasury Secretary Vinson, Commerce Secretary Wallace, Assistant Secretary of State Will Clayton and others explaining why the loan is a world economic necessity.

The administration isn't much afraid of opposition to the loan in the senate (although there's going to be some) but the house fight may be a bitter one. Administrative pulse takers on capitol hill are privately reporting a noticeable slowdown in heart-beat for the British loan since congressmen came back from talking to the folks at home.

That same visit with the voters has reportedly increased considerably the congressional heartbeat in favor of holding prices down. It's considered possible now that when the question of extending price controls comes up, Administrator Chester Bowles' OPA will receive quite a few less bricks than it would have a couple of months ago.

This doesn't mean smooth-sailing for OPA by any means. The resistance of business and merchants to government controls isn't any less. Their general argument is that the law of supply and demand will take care of prices without any interference from government. The housewives and salaried workers aren't so sure any more. What happened when the lid was taken off citrus fruit prices is being put forward as a strong argument for necessary extension of controls over the h.c.l.

Where Jobs Are Really Soaring

Airlines Will Need Hostesses by the Thousands in Next Few Years — And You Might Say It's Light Work

NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's airlines will need stewardesses by the thousands in the next decade to staff domestic and international passenger planes.

Expansion of service, introduction of larger planes and use of stewardesses for the first time on international flights all have contributed to the need for three times as many hostesses by the end of this year as in 1941.

When the war began the entire industry employed 1,024 hostesses. By this year-end United Airlines expects to have 1,000, Transcontinental & Western Air, Inc., 500 to 600, and Pennsylvania Central Airlines 500.

American Airlines has announced it will need 1,000 stewardesses a year for the next five years, and its long-range program calls for 20,000 by 1955. The rate of job turnover in this field is fairly high.

A made-to-order field for the air-minded miss with a yen for travel, a stewardess has a better chance than ever before to see the world. TWA said some of its hostesses eventually may be based in Paris, Rome, Cairo or Asiatic capitals.

Pan American Airways has 100 girls on its Latin American runs and has just installed 18 stewardesses on its trans-Atlantic planes. It expects to add more as its service expands in all directions.

"Cupid is the greatest headache to those in charge of hostess personnel," said a TWA spokesman, and other lines agreed.

The average stewardess stays with her job from 18 months to two and a half years—then gets married.

Airlines currently are encouraging girls to enter the field, but they stress adherence to the highest standards. American said it averages one stewardess for each 2 1/2 girls interviewed.

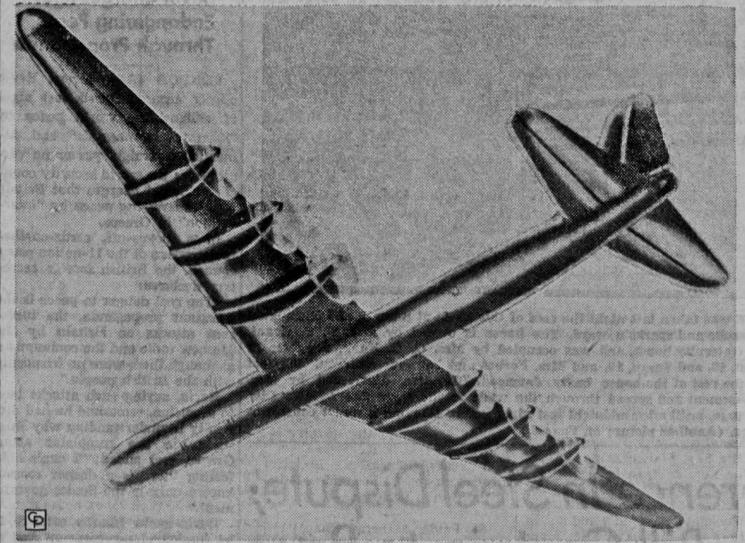

Most airlines have strict specifications as to the age, weight and height ranges of applicants. Stewardesses generally must be between 21 and 26 years of age—28 at most, between 5 feet 2 and 5 feet 6, and from 100 to 130 pounds. Pan American is the only major airline which said it has no strict height and weight rules.

Current educational requirements of airlines call for two years of college with some business experience preferred, or nursing. Most lines lean towards army and navy nurses with air evacuation experience.

Pan American has a language requirement for its world service. A girl must speak one language other than English fluently and have knowledge of a second.

Salaries for domestic service range from $120 to $140 a month for beginners to as high as $250 for experienced stewardesses on international runs.

2-3 HOSTESSES WILL BE NEEDED ON THIS PLANE

IF AIRLINE COMPANIES put giant ships like this mighty, six-engine pusher type plane into service, they will need more than one hostess on each ship. But large planes or small, the airline companies foresee such a great expansion in air travel that they are in the market for thousands of stewardesses in the next few years.

Does the Machine Age Require Government Control of Industry?

As Debated by: KERMIT EBY, Department of Education and Research, C. I. O.

MR. EBY OPENS: It is an established fact that 20 percent of the American people possess nearly all our national wealth, 80 percent nothing. Concentration of economic power, according to Berle and Means, has placed more than one-half the corporate wealth of the nation in the control of 200 corporations and over 40 percent of the business wealth. Two thousand persons control these companies; that is, 2,000 out of 130 millions of people are in a position to control the wealth of our nation. Lewis Corey has estimated that 167 persons alone in the Morgan combination control over one-fourth of our national wealth. Similar facts have been confirmed by other economists. The late President Roosevelt took cognizance of them in a message to congress one year before the outbreak of the war when he said that one-tenth of 1 percent of all corporations reporting from every part of the nation owned 52 percent of the assets of all of them. Combined with similar corporations in Germany, these great cartels have defied the government of the United States. We have become a plutocracy. Ours is no longer a society of freeholders, as dreamed by Jefferson, but a nation of wage-workers dependent on the great corporations for a chance to earn our daily bread. The continuation of such a condition is intolerable. The people, not the corporations, are sovereign. If we are to be free, we must exercise our sovereign control, take over industry, and operate our economy in the interest of the needy many, not the privileged few.

MR. POLLOCK CHALLENGES: Mr. Eby's figures are as familiar and as bogus as a showgirl's. Dr. Robert Rutherford Deane tells us that net incomes over $5,000 account for only 10 percent of national income, and that 91 percent of our adult population possess property. In 1932, 14 million out of 26 million heads of families owned their homes; there were 67 million life insurance policies, 44 million savings bank accounts, and 24 million registered security holders. I cannot agree with Mr. Eby that "the continuation of such a condition is intolerable." The "needy many" and the "privileged few" exist chiefly in states that have taken over industry and exercise that "sovereign control" which is really bureaucratic control and/or dictatorship.

MR. EBY REPLIES: More figures: 60 to 65 percent of the Americans arriving at 60 were dependent on friends, relations or institutions, before Social Security—these are life insurance quotations. Perhaps we should shoot the 60-65? In 1932, the same year Mr. Pollock uses for reference, we had a national income of 50 to 60 billion; 11 million unemployed. In 1932, 70 percent of all American families lived on $1,500 per year or less; in 1932, $2,500 per year was considered the absolute minimum for a decent living standard for a family of five. It took a war to lift our national income to 200 billion dollars a year and to erase unemployment. Mr. Pollock may believe private industry can keep our economy operating at full capacity and everyone working, that it can overcome the failure of 1932. I do not.

CHANNING POLLOCK, Lecturer and Playwright

MR. POLLOCK OPENS: Does the machine age require federal control over doctors? Does it require federal control over our farms, our schools, food, clothing, beauty shops and rat-catching? I include the last two enterprises because, not long ago, Washington was providing free facial treatments to female inmates of correctional institutions, and spent $599,854 of our money on rodent extermination in New Orleans. A new, and I think dangerous, school of thought proposes government control of everything because of anything, and is rapidly changing us from a nation of free men to a herd of cattle to be driven to pasture and stabled at night. Whence comes the conviction of federal omniscience and desire for federal omnipotence; the idea that the men who have made our industry an example for the world are to turn over the helm to those who, having failed at everything else, landed in politics? What is government? Is it a mysterious cosmic godhead, or is it Harry Hopkins and Professor Tugwell? Herbert Spencer thought government processes "invariably low, stupid, extravagant, unadaptive, corrupt and obstructive," and Thomas Jefferson, so constantly quoted by the new school, asked, "What has destroyed liberty. . . in every government which has ever existed?" and answered, "The generalizing and concentrating all cares and powers into one body." From Hammurabi to Hitler, government control of industry has never produced anything but misery, slavery and collapse, and it never will.

MR. EBY CHALLENGES: Mr. Pollock is concerned about money spent for facial treatments for inmates of correctional institutions. Does he deny the relation between appearance, morale and health? Typhus and cholera-carrying rats do not have the same respect for state lines as he does. Only the federal government can coordinate an effective program of plague control, with the cooperation of international organization. It is no accident that plagues such as typhus spread in wartime and controls break down. A government that is more interested in states' rights than in rat control is no government at all for it respects rats more than people. Democratic government is the exercise of the people of their sovereign rights through their elected officials, and as long as they exercise sovereign rights through their elected officials, and as long as they exercise sovereign rights through their elected officials, I have no fear of their collective judgments.

MR. POLLOCK REPLIES: For most of us, I think Mr. Eby's challenge answers itself. Regard for "appearance, morale and health" as an excuse for beauty treatments in prisons is as absurd as justifying federal extermination of rats at approximately $60 a rat. As to the people's "sovereign rights through elected officials," there can be no dispute. It is only when these sovereign rights are exercised by administrative bureaus—by men nobody elected—and when elections are controlled by vast expenditures for beautifying convicts and killing rats; by pressure groups of minorities; by millions of government employees; huge outlays for demagogic propaganda and the suppression of contrary opinion, that I fear "sovereign rights" on as vital an issue as that of the complete shelving of our economic system.

Army Cuts Discharge Points for Medics

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department cut discharge points yesterday to permit the progressive release of an additional 7,000 doctors and dentists from the army by mid-summer.

Their place will be taken largely by more than 5,000 young medical reserve officers who were called to active duty last month from hospital service as internes and resident physicians.

Secretary of War Patterson said the move was due partly to "the public necessity for the return of doctors and dentists to their communities."

The new order cuts five points from the requisite score for discharge and three months from the length of service previously required. It provides for the release of all physicians and dentists, aside from 800 scarce medical specialists, who have 60 points and have reached 45 years of age, or have had 39 months' active duty.

LIBERAL ARTS FACULTY MEMBERS The Executive Committee of the Faculty of the College of Liberal Arts at its meeting Wednesday, Jan. 30, passed the following motion: "That the rule as to inseparable year courses be rescinded except with respect to core courses." By this action the Executive Committee has made it possible for students to discontinue a course at the end of the first term (except core courses). The Executive Committee does not wish to encourage students to divide their courses up into smaller units. Under normal circumstances most students would wish to complete both semesters of a year course. This action of the Executive Committee, however, makes possible desirable or necessary adjustments in a student's program. EARL J. McGRATH

ROGER WILLIAMS FELLOWSHIP Immediately following the basketball game Saturday evening the Rogers Williams fellowship, Baptist student group, will have an open house at the student center, 230 N. Clinton street. Ping-pong, dancing, card games, singing around the fireplace and refreshments will be the informal activity. All Baptist students and friends are invited to meet at the R. W. House at 6:45 to go to the game together or come there after the game. VALORIE DIERKS Secretary

Prof. G. W. Stewart, Physics Head, To Retire In June

Prof. L. A. Turner, Princeton Physicist, Will Fill Position

Prof. George W. Stewart, head of the physics department at the university for 35 years, will retire in June, and his position will be filled by Prof. Louis A. Turner, formerly of Princeton university. Announcement of the change was made yesterday by President Virgil M. Hancher.

Professor Turner will assume his duties in September. He has been on the Princeton faculty in the physics department since 1925 and is one of the starred physicists in "American Men of Science."

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1898, Professor Turner was awarded B.A. and M.A. degrees at Cornell university in 1920. He received his Ph.D. degree at Princeton in 1923. He spent part of 1924 and 1925 at Harvard, as a national research fellow in physics before joining the Princeton faculty as assistant professor. In 1929 he was made an associate professor.

In Germany Professor Turner was a Guggenheim memorial foundation fellow at Göttingen, Germany, from 1929 to 1930. During the war he was on leave of absence to do government research at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology where he was head of a section in the radiation laboratory division.

Professor Turner is married and has one son.

Professor Stewart came to the university in 1909 from the University of North Dakota where he had been professor of physics for five years. Part of that period he served as head of the department.

He received his B.A. from De Pauw university in 1898 and his Ph.D. from Cornell in 1901. An honorary Sc.D. degree was awarded him at De Pauw in 1928 and at the University of Pittsburgh in 1931.

Professor Stewart has been head of the physics department here since 1909. He served as acting dean of the graduate college from 1921 to 1922.

A fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, Professor Stewart is a member of the Iowa Academy of Science, the American Physical Society, the American Acoustic Society, the American Association of Physics Teachers and the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education.

The Orsted medal was awarded to him in 1942 by the American Association of Physics Teachers. This medal is awarded each year to one who has won notable distinction as a college teacher of physics.

Professor Stewart served as national president of Sigma Xi, honorary society for scientific research, from 1929 to 1931. He is also a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi, honor societies, and Phi Kappa Psi, social fraternity.

Author of "Introductory Acoustics and Theoretical Acoustics," Professor Stewart has made many contributions to scientific publications.

'ONE-MAN ARMY' BREATHES SIGH OF RELIEF

MAJOR ARTHUR WERMUTH, famed "One-man Army" in the defense of Bataan, is shown in Chicago with his wife, Jean, reading reports that the Manila woman who claimed to be his wife, had admitted her annulment suit was based on a "mock wedding" she said was performed in Manila. The woman had asked 200 pesos (almost $2) a month and attorney's fees in settlement of her claim.

C. H. McCloy Edits High School Manual

Prof. C. H. McCloy of the physical education department has edited a teaching manual, "The Iowa Program of Physical Education for Boys Secondary Schools."

The manual has been distributed to high schools by the state department of public instruction. It presents a wide variety of physical activities, suggestions for organizing and administering the program, corrective and special purpose activities, testing, home and community physical exercises, health examinations and mental health.

Some eighty physical education personnel assisted in writing the manual.

Pink Ribbons, Rice Greet Married Dent

You never know what will happen where dents are concerned. Ronald Curnes, D3 of Osceola was married Saturday, came back to class yesterday morning. There, for everyone to see, was a huge pink crepe paper bow tied up at the balcony with graceful streamers floating down to glorify, of all things, his dental chair.

A huge "Doctor Is Out" sign explained he was getting married, and a series of question marks filled in the blank for his expected return.

Grinning as he scooped handfuls of rice out of his equipment cabinet, Curnes said, "They must have worked hard to rig this up. I've been cleaning up all morning!"

1,200 Students Register at Union Yesterday; Plan to Complete Enrollments by Noon Today

Long lines of waiting students were steered through the process of registration so quickly yesterday in Iowa Union that Registrar Paul E. Blommers declared, "We're going to register students Saturday morning only instead of all day as was originally planned."

One thousand entering freshmen, veterans and transfer students registered yesterday at the Union and 200 at the office of the registrar.

Students registered according to number. Faculty members from all departments recommended courses of study and checked schedules.

Registration assistants, chosen through the office of the registrar, helped simplify the process for each student. A staff of student schedule makers assisted in setting up individual schedules.

Arrangements had been made to register as many as 3,000 students yesterday and today, Blommers said, but it was not anticipated that the number registering would actually reach that total.

"At the time the plans were made, however, it seemed wiser under the circumstances to set up plans which would take care of the most extreme situation," Blommers commented.

Will Wear Satin

The bride will be attired in a floor-length gown of white satin, designed with a sweetheart neckline and bridal point sleeves. The fitted bodice extends into a gathered skirt styled with a slight bustle effect. Her fingertip veil will fall from a tiara of white gladioli, and her only jewelry will be a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bridal bouquet will be of white gladioli, centered with a white orchid.

The maid of honor will wear a salmon pastel colored gown of net and taffeta, fashioned with a square neckline and elbow length sleeves. The fitted bodice is trimmed with a row of buttons

Little Hawks Falter in Final Half, River Kings Win, 37-31

By PAT McPARTLAND

The Iowa City Little Hawks fell six points short of beating Clinton's powerful River Kings here last night as the visitors clamped a 37-31 decision on the locals for their eighth conference win.

The Hawks kept the pace all the way, and led the Kings for the first half. Starting fast, the Little Hawks held a three point lead at the end of the first period, and the teams were tied at 16 all at half time. The Clinton fast break, along with the scoring of Burridge and Peterson, proved too much for the fighting City High boys, but they made a real game of it all the way.

Bob Krall, scrappy Little Hawk forward, opened the scoring with a pretty one-handed push shot from way out to put the locals in the lead two points. The Hawks then pushed their lead to 7-2 when Clinton came to life and tied the score at 8 apiece. Iowa City held an 11-8 first quarter lead which vanished near the end of the first half when Burridge and Piper put the visitors ahead, 16-14. Sonny Dean was fouled as the half ended, and was given two free throws, and tied the count at 16 all as he made both tries.

The rejuvenated River Kings came back looking almost like a new team, jumped into the lead with Peterson's field goal, and were never headed. The Rivermen were in the lead by a 26-21 score at the three quarter mark, and managed to hold the driving locals for the remainder of the tussle.

The Little Hawks stayed in the game every minute, and had they been able to score on more of their shots, the outcome may have been different. Dependable Bob Freeman again was high scorer for the Hawks with 10 points. Freeman's rebounding and general floor play was outstanding for the losers, as was the inspired rebounding of Sonny Dean.

Jay Watts, Clinton reserve guard, played a fine defensive game, breaking up several Hawk scoring opportunities. Dean Burridge led the winners in scoring with 14 markers, followed by Peterson with 13.

The game was a sharp contrast to the last meeting of the teams in Clinton two weeks ago when the rivals rolled to an amazing 64-32 victory over the boys from City High. The fit was undoubtedly of some well deserved satisfaction to the Red and White shirted boys in that respect.

Wally Schwank's City High freshman - sophomores again whipped the Clinton B team, 40-32. High scoring youngster Gene Hetrick swished the hoop for 20 points in that game.

Major Loops Discuss Bonus

NEW YORK (AP)—Player deals remained in the conversational stage yesterday as major league moguls, here for their annual schedule meeting, threshed out the ticklish bonus problem behind closed doors preparatory to today's joint session with Commissioner A. B. (Humpy) Chandler.

Manager Mel Ott of the New York Giants was in a huddle with Manager Eddie Dyer of the St. Louis Cardinals, trying to talk the Red Birds out of a couple of surplus pool flight pitchers. Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Boston had the same thing in mind but hadn't reached the check signing stage.

Although owner Sam Breadon had listed Max Lanier, Johnny Beazley, Harry Brecheen, Howie Pollet and George Munger as "not for sale," Ottie expressed an interest in some of the other names on the roster — fellows like Ernie White, Fred Martin and Al Brazle.

Husker Track Opener

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska will take the wraps off a strong indoor track team tonight, when it opens its Big Six season in a dual meet against the University of Oklahoma.

Returning servicemen, naval ROTC students, lettermen from wartime squads and some of Nebraska's outstanding high school stars of last year are all scheduled to compete for the Cornhuskers.

Rivermen Topple West Branch, 38-21, to Seize Loop Lead

WEST BRANCH (Special) — University high of Iowa City gained undisputed control of the top place in the Eastern Iowa conference here last night as they swamped the West Branch Bears, 38-21.

Jumping away to an early lead the Rivermen set the pace over the entire route of the game as they racked up their fifth straight win in the conference and the sixth victory in seven outings this season.

The Blue Hawks were led in their smashing triumph by the deadly eye of Steve Nusser, top scorer in the conference last year, and by his rebound work under the baskets.

Defensive standouts for the team were the guards, Bill Greene and Johnnie Miller who were mainly responsible for bottling up the offensive thrusts of the Bears.

Top men for the losers were Alan Eden, giant center who was the chief contender for the rebounds, and Paul Beeler at forward, who was a constant thorn in the side of the loop leaders.

Next week University high leaves conference play and entertains Teachers high of Cedar Falls on the local court Saturday night. The Blue Hawks will play an earlier, 45-33, win over the Tutors in a frays played at Cedar Falls.

The Rivermen return to conference competition Feb. 12 when they travel to West Liberty for a return engagement.

NEW YORK (AP) — Marty Servo, a baby-faced bull in a boxing ring, won the world's welter-weight championship last night by knocking out Freddie (The Red) Cochrane in the fourth round of a scheduled 15 round bout in Madison Square Garden. Servo weighed 143; Cochrane, 145.

Carrying the fight to the defending champion from start to finish, the 26-year-old Schenectady (N. Y.) slugger, finally caught up with Cochrane for keeps late in the fourth round and beat him to the floor in Servo's corner with a blasting barrage of blows. There, Referee Eddie Josephs counted the full ten over the fallen Freddie at 2 minutes, 54 seconds of the round.

Up to then, it was all Servo, as he charged after Freddie from ball to bell.

He staggered Cochrane with a left hook in the first round, connected with a series of Sunday shots in the second and had blood dripping from Red's nose in the third before finally putting the lights out for Freddie.

Assured of victory No. 6 in the congested Big Ten basketball scramble, Iowa's Hawkeyes encounter much beaten Chicago tonight in the Iowa fieldhouse in what should be a breeze for the fast stepping Hawks. Approximately 14,000 fans will view the Western conference battle.

Probably the least confident individual about tonight's encounter with the hapless Maroons is Hawkeye Coach Pops Harrison. The Iowa mentor who is in the habit of worrying, and justly so over Minnesota, is afraid the Chicago boys will have a good night and catch the Hawks off-balance.

The Iowa squad seems to have caught its collective breath after their hair-raising encounter with the fast breaking Gopher aggregation. Harrison has been drilling his reserves with as much care and caution as he ordinarily takes with the regular first stringers.

It hardly seems feasible that the Chicago team, which possesses a record of more consecutive losses in the Big Ten than Iowa has successive wins on its home floor, can turn the tables and upset the Hawkeyes. The Maroons haven't won a conference tilt in their last 54 tries.

The contest tonight will be reminiscent of the Iowa-Chicago duel in 1944 when Dick Ives established the present conference individual scoring record of 43 points. However, Dave Danner and Murray Wier, the Hawks red-haired game saver, are not to be overlooked and they will take advantage of the opportunity to fatten up their scoring average in the Big Ten.

Coach Harrison hopes he can rest his first stringers as much as possible for the rough schedule that lies ahead with such teams as Purdue, Indiana, Illinois and Minnesota in the Hawkeyes' path. Probably the Iowa reserves will play a goodly portion of the battle if the first stringers pile up a big lead.

However, Harrison is taking no chances. The Hawkeyes need this victory and he'll leave his starting lineup in until the game is iced.

In their last encounter, the Maroons made life miserable for Iowa in the first half and the Hawks had to stage a second half rush to tuck the game away. Chicago is led by Fred DeGraw, a 6-foot forward who handles most of their scoring and Ray Freeark a 6-foot guard who takes care of the backcourt problems.

Sailors Stop DePaul Rally to Win, 69-67

CHICAGO (AP)—Great Lakes, despite a 30-point performance by lanky George Mikan, last night nipped DePaul, 69-67, in a scorching basketball game in which the lead changed hands 17 times.

In the opener of a Chicago Stadium doubleheader attended by 11,344 fans, Northwestern scored a 69-54 Big Ten triumph over Purdue.

The Blue Jackets, paced by Mel Riebe, former Cleveland professional player, who tallied 21 points, led at half time 39-38, and successfully stalled the closing seconds to hand DePaul its fourth setback in 16 starts.

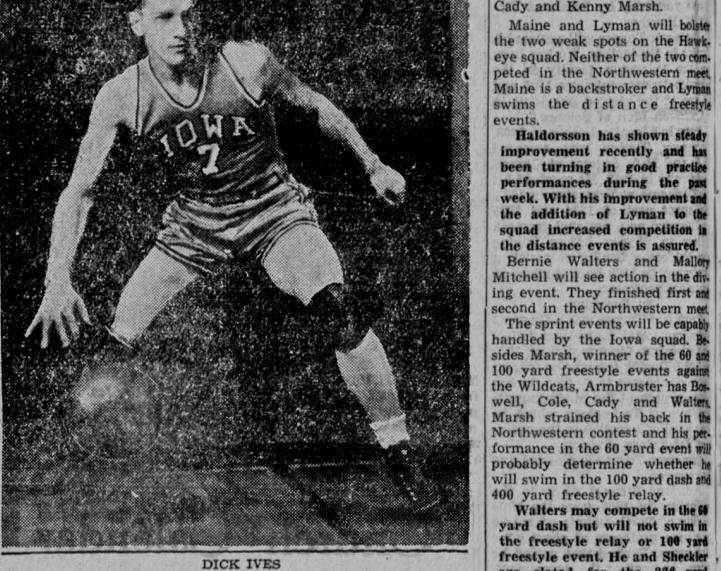

In the first half, the score changed hands 12 times and was tied seven times.

Wildcats Outlast Purdue, 63-54

CHICAGO (AP) — Northwestern, hard-pressed after building up a 21-point lead, defeated Purdue, 63-54, for its fifth Big Ten basketball victory in eight starts at the Chicago Stadium last night.

The Wildcats zoomed to a 33-12 advantage at half time, but nearly folded in the second half as the Boilermakers uncorked a sizzling drive that shaved Northwestern's margin to 45-41 with 10 minutes left.

It was the sixth conference setback in nine starts for the Boilermakers, whose ranga Bob Miller and Paul Hoffman, scoring 16 and 15 points respectively, almost single-handedly spilled the Purple quiver.

Northwestern was paced by six-foot, seven inch Leroy King, who tallied 17 points. Max Morris, the Wildcats' 1945 league scoring champion, was held to a single field goal in the first half, but finished with a 15-point total.

The Wildcats were unerring in their first half shooting and were in front 11-1 before Purdue scored its first field goal after seven minutes elapsed. King consistently tipped in rebound shots to shove the Wildcats ahead to their one-sided intermission bulge.

The Boilermakers came to life at the outset of the second half and within a few minutes shaved Northwestern's lead to 33-23. Charley Haag, who tallied all of his nine points in the second half, sparked Purdue's comeback.

Buzz Wheeler, Northwestern guard, scored three field goals and Morris sank a fourth to shove Northwestern into a comfortable 51-43 lead. Purdue narrowed the gap to 55-50 with three minutes left, but sub Tom Worthington clinched it for the Wildcats with a pair of field goals.

Behind the Mikes...

By Helen Huber

be some thrills for, according to sportsmen, Chicago usually plays one great game a year and this might be it!

For your best bets in music tonight, it's "The Dick Haymes Show" over CBS at 7. Dick and Helen Forrest are having words but the words come with music. The baritone has chosen "My Baby Said Yes" for his opening song, "Black Magic" as his featured ballad and in a nostalgic vein sings "Penthouse Serenade" as his memory song. On the tune list for Dick's singing partner, Helen, is "We'll Be Together Again," and another in the series of Haymes-Forrest duets, "Ain't Misbehavin'." For the show's production number maestro Gordon Jenkins has whipped up a roundelay of tunes except "McNamera's Band."

Newest fued in the offing: Orson Welles vs. Dunninger. In one of his recent Sunday broadcasts over the American network, Welles stated that Dunninger was not a mind reader. Millions who heard the famed "Master Mentalist" over another network this summer are going to disagree with the speaker on Orson Welles' Almanac... and another fued may brew.

Songwriters have fashioned ditties based on practically every conceivable subject, and the housing shortage is no exception. First to lyricize the apartment scarcity is Matty Malneck, the band leader, whose tune is titled "A House, A House." It will be recorded by the Andrews Sisters and you'll probably be hearing it over CBS Wednesday nights.

WSUI will broadcast the Iowa-Chicago game tonight at 7:55. There should be an adequate number of seats, but just in case you can't make it, tune in to 910 and share the fun. Who knows? There might even

Students to Attend Religion Conference

A delegation of students from the University Christian Endeavor of the local Christian church will attend a Religious Education Conference at the West Liberty Christian church Sunday afternoon.

Dr. J. Kenneth Baird, state director of the Religious Education of the Christian Churches of Iowa, will be the guest speaker. Christian churches from Davenport, Muscatine, Iowa City, West Liberty, Atalissa and Nichols will be represented at the conference.

The Rev. Ben H. Cleaver will open the conference at 3 p. m. with a devotional service. The conference will then be divided into groups of children, university age young people, and adult workers. The children's group will be led by Gordon Smith, the adult group by the Rev. Cleaver. Dr. Baird will speak to each group for twenty minutes.

After a recess for supper at the Crystal Cafe there will be an informal program, a Singpiration, and a youth meeting. Dr. Baird will make the address at the evening union worship service.

Wesley Student Center Plans To Be Discussed Here Sunday

Committee to Study Architect's Drawings For New Building

Plans for a building fund of $250,000 for the Wesley Foundation in Iowa City will be made Sunday afternoon at the Methodist church, when a committee of 25 will meet with Bishop Charles W. Brashares.

The new student center will be built directly north of the Methodist church and will include the property on which the present Wesley Foundation stands and also the west half of the former Geiger property on Market street. Architectural studies have been made and will be presented at the Sunday meeting.

The committee will be entertained at a dinner following the Sunday morning church service and will hold its business meeting after the dinner. Out of town guests will include A. C. Wahl of Des Moines, state treasurer of Wesley Foundation; Dr. Ray Shipman of Muscatine, and Dr. Claude Cooper of Boone.

Iowa City committee members are Prof. Homer Cherrington, Mr. Irving Weber, Mrs. L. G. Lawyer, A. Klaffenbach, Mrs. George Hunter, James Stronks, Prof. C. J. Lapp, Mrs. Iver Opstad, Prof. C. Woody Thompson, Prof. Richard Holcomb, Dr. J. A. Swisher, Mrs. Lowell Boyer, Dr. L. L. Dunnington, the Rev. V. V. Goff, Conrad Wurtz, Dick Mitchell, Buren Krahling and Dale Dilts.

Riverside Building Destroyed by Fire After 5 Hour Battle

A fire that left only the exterior walls standing on the two story brick Wilkinson building in Riverside was brought under control yesterday after a five-hour battle by Riverside, Kalona, Hills and Iowa City firemen.

The entire stock of the Wilkinson drugstore was destroyed along with the contents of a second floor apartment occupied by Mrs. Ivan Shradel.

The fire, first noticed at 7 a. m., took nearly the entire 35,000 gallon water supply of Riverside to extinguish, and fire trucks pumped water from the basement of the building and reused it.

Soon after the blaze was discovered the Riverside fire department called for help from adjoining towns. Three Iowa City firemen in the No. 2 pumper left for the fire about 9 o'clock.

It was believed that the fire started in the basement of the drugstore where firemen were hampered by dense smoke and exploding cans of lined oil and paint. Adjoining buildings suffered broken windows and charred window frames.

English Secretary To Join Husband

Mrs. Jean Kurtz Seydel, secretary in the English department for more than a year, will leave Monday to join her husband, Lt. Frank Seydel, in New York. Lieutenant Seydel has just returned to the United States after serving overseas 20 months with the Second armored division.

Both Lieutenant and Mrs. Seydel were awarded their B. A. degrees at the university in December, 1943.

Bishop to Speak

Bishop Charles W. Brashares of Des Moines, and Dr. Heil D. Bolinger of Nashville, Tenn., guests of the Wesley foundation of the Methodist church this weekend, will speak at the Sunday Five O'Clock Forum on "If Christians Would."

Hosts and hostesses will be Cecil and Alice Kemp and Bruce and Gladys Damron.

Preliminary Hearing Waived on Charge Of Drunken Driving

Martin McGriff of Coralville yesterday waived preliminary hearing in police court on a drunken driving charge and posted a $500 bond. The case will go to the 1946 grand jury.

Charges were filed against McGriff after an accident yesterday morning which caused two people to be taken to Mercy hospital. McGriff's car collided with one driven by W. G. Schrag of Ainsworth on highway 6 a half mile west of Iowa City. Schrag and a passenger, Marion Richardson of Milwaukee, were released from Mercy hospital after observation.

Collection Nets 36,000 Items

Over 36,000 garments, shoes, bedding and miscellaneous items, accompanied by 3,000 goodwill letters from Iowa City residents, will leave tomorrow in a box car for Kansas City, Kan., where they will be prepared for overseas shipment.

The collection from the Victory Clothing Collection drive which ended Thursday represents an average donation of two items per resident of Iowa City. The good will notes enclosed with the clothing were written by school children as well as older residents.

Emil G. Troit was chairman of the drive. On the clothing collection committee were A. J. Larew, O. D. Bartholow, G. W. Buxton, Mrs. M. E. Taylor, Mrs. Clarence E. Beck and Claire Mosely.

Dewey Not to Run For Renomination

A member of the Johnson county board of supervisors for the past six years, Elmer E. Dewey of Iowa City yesterday said that he would not be a candidate for nomination to the post in the June primaries.

With the other two members of the board, J. E. Pechman and Marvin Stable, his present term expires Dec. 31, 1946.

Article by Iowan Appears in Hygeia

"The Women's Club Learns About Rheumatic Fever," by Mrs. Cecelia Healy Rohret, medical social worker of the state service for crippled children at Children's hospital, was published in the January issue of Hygeia, a publication of the American Medical association.

The article is a discussion of the symptoms and cures for rheumatic fever. It was written originally for parents all over the state according to Mrs. Rohret, who has been at the university since 1939.

Three Men Fined In Police Court

Donald Hanrahan of Iowa City was fined $17.50 for improper passing by Police Judge John Knox yesterday.

C. J. Erb of Davenport and D. Anderson of Houston, Tex., were fined $1 for parking in a bus stop. James Meade of Oxford paid $1 for alley parking.

Missionary to Talk

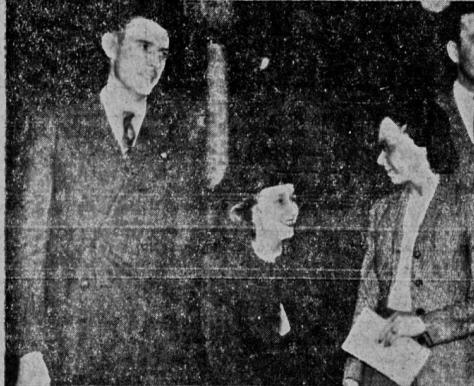

A lay missionary from New Guinea, Mr. William Siemers of Bellevue, will speak to the Lutheran Student Association tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. at the Zion Lutheran church. Mr. Siemers, who escaped from a Japanese prison camp, will tell of his experiences and show slides of New Guinea.

Team captains in charge of the program are Pat Fox and Jim Jorgenrud. Supper will be served before the talk at 5:30 p. m.

IOWA CITY FIREMEN are shown attacking a fire which last night gutted a house at Summit and Burlington streets owned by Mrs. Charles C. Grant, housemother at the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity house, and made eight persons homeless. Firemen fought the blaze for three hours in nine degrees above weather before bringing it under control. The fire started in the basement of the building and spread through the walls to the second floor and the attic. Only furniture from the downstairs was saved, and it was damaged by smoke and water. Many antiques and valuable rugs were lost in the blaze. Insurance was carried on the house and furniture, Mrs. Grant said.

CITY HIGH TEACHERS AT CONVENTION

GILBERT WILSON, City high basketball coach, and Mrs. Wilma Smith, physical education instructor for girls at City high, both standing, are shown with Miss Mary Bruce of Knoxville at the 91st annual convention of the Iowa State Education association in Des Moines. Others from Iowa City attending the three day convention include Iver Opstad, superintendent of the city schools, Miss Lola Hughes, drama instructor at City high, and R. D. Selhorn, manual arts instructor.

Announce Weddings, Engagements of Three Former SUI Students

Word has been received here of the wedding or engagement of three former students and graduates.

Thomas-Hutchison

In St. John's Episcopal church in Keokuk, Virginia Dawn Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Faulkner Thomas of Keokuk, became the bride of Lt. John W. Hutchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hutchison, also of Keokuk, Jan. 14 at 4 p. m. The Rev. Gerald E. Graham performed the single ring service.

The bride is a graduate of Monticello Preparatory school and Monticello college in Godfrey, Ill. Lieutenant Hutchison was graduated from Keokuk high school and attended the University of Iowa, where he was affiliated with Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity. He recently returned to the states after service in the south Pacific.

Thoma-Reynolds

In a twilight ceremony New Year's day, Mabel Thoma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Thoma of Ainsworth, became the bride of Verne L. Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Reynolds of Lenox, in the Ainsworth Methodist church. The Rev. John Nye of College Springs read the vows of the single ring ceremony, assisted by The Rev. John Nye of College Springs.

The bride is a graduate of Ainsworth high school and attended the University of Iowa, where she was a member of the Scottish Highlanders, university band and chorus. Recently she has been employed as bookkeeper of the Eclipse Lumber company in Washington, Iowa.

Mr. Reynolds was graduated from Lenox high school and attended an electrician's school prior to entering the service.

The couple is residing at 403 N. Iowa avenue in Washington.

Crawford-Grimes

Word has been received here of the engagement of Mary Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Crawford of Des Moines, to Barnett Mansfield Grimes of Louisville, Ky.

Miss Crawford attended the University of Iowa, and is now employed by United Airlines in Chicago. Mr. Grimes is a graduate of the University of Louisville, and recently received his discharge from the navy air corps.

Red Cross Home Service Cases in Johnson County on Upswing; Rise Attributed to War

Government Benefit Claims of Veterans Handled by Chapter

A sharp increase has been noted in the number of home service cases and an even greater upswing in the service will be evident in the next few months, according to Mrs. Loran L. Mathes, executive secretary of the Johnson County Red Cross chapter.

"Although much of the Johnson county chapter's current home service case load originated during the war," Mrs. Mathes said, "final work will carry the actual time spent on each case well into the future."

In what she termed a "new year report" to residents of the Johnson county chapter area, Mrs. Mathes said that the home service department of the chapter has handled 7,905 cases from July, 1942, until Dec. 31, 1945. The chapter now has an average of 250 cases per month engaging the attention of three home service workers.

"This figure can be expected to increase," Mrs. Mathes stated, "if the experience of the American Red Cross in home service work during and after the first World War can be taken as a guide. In one war year alone—1942 to 1943—Red Cross handled 1,410,204 active service cases and 135,488 ex-service cases. In the following year, both figures more than doubled."

In addition to the personal matters in which the Johnson county chapter can be of assistance, the organization also is handling an average of 40 claims from veterans for government benefits per month, the executive said.

"This specialized work which Red Cross pioneered cannot be expected to reach its peak until about 1970," the executive secretary continued, "an estimate based upon statistical knowledge gathered from claim work during and after the first World War."

Observe Candlemas Day

There will be a Candlemas Day blessing of the candles today for the coming year after the 7 a. m. mass at the Catholic student center.

Sunday, St. Blaise' Day, there will be a blessing of the throats after each of the masses.

Mrs. E. F. Mason To Give Illustrated Art Demonstration

"Beauty and the Beast and You," a demonstration art lecture, will be given by Mrs. Edward F. Mason at the Westminster Fellowship vesper service tomorrow at 4:30 p. m. in the Presbyterian church. During her program incidental piano music will be played by Mrs. B. N. Covert.

For her art demonstration, Mrs. Mason chooses a subject from her audience, illustrating her points as she models the head in clay. She has modeled more than 350 such portraits before more than 500 audiences in the last five years.

Betty Jane Sherman, 21 of Detroit, Mich., will be student chairman. A special musical number will be sung by a trio consisting of Shirley Berner, A2 of LeMars, Shirley Rowe, C4 of LeMars, and Collen Brobeli, A2 of Lytton.

After the program the regular student supper will be served with Martha Burney, A3 of Iowa City, as chairman. "First Nighter" will be non-paying guests for the supper. The evening will close with round-the-table singing and recreation.

W. H. Bartley to Run On Democratic Ticket

William H. Bartley, Iowa City attorney associated with the firm of Messer, Hamilton and Cahill, yesterday announced his candidacy for the office of state representative on the democratic ticket.

Bartley, navy veteran and graduate of the University of Iowa in 1937, will oppose Frank J. Krall, former democratic member of the Johnson county board of supervisors.

Congregational Service

The University of Life will meet at 7 p. m. at the Congregational church for the evening worship service. In charge are Esther Nimbain and Doug Dierks.

At 8:15 a recreation hour directed by two university students from the physical education department, Martha Noland and Julianne Freund, will be held.
