'Imperialism Endangers Humanity'--Pope Pius XII Says Position Taken by Canada Harmful to Countries' Relations

Church Study To Model Man In Holy Form

Tells New Cardinals Present Circumstances Breed Ceaseless Fear

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII declared yesterday that modern imperialism "carries in it germs which endanger the very foundations of human intercourse" and called upon the Roman Catholic church to take a militant leadership in preparing a basis on which human society "can rest securely."

The pontiff, speaking in a world-wide broadcast after placing barettes on the heads of 29 of the 32 newly created cardinals in one of the church's most colorful ceremonies, expressed grave concern over the "unbridled tendency toward expansion" now evident in the world.

Church of Modern World

Defining the position of the church in the modern world, torn by strife and anxiety, he declared: "Her study is to form man, to model and perfect him in the divine image. Her work is done in the depth of each man's heart, extends throughout his life, in all his activities. Through men thus formed the church prepares for human society a basis on which it can rest securely."

"Modern imperialism, on the contrary, goes in just the opposite direction. It does not seek man out as such but the material things and forces to which it subjects man; that is why it carries in it germs which endanger the very foundations of human intercourse. "Under present circumstances, can one wonder at the present anxiety of peoples for their mutual security? It is an anxiety born of the unbridled tendency toward expansion, which has within it the gnawing of ceaseless unrest, and brings it about that to each demand made as needed for security, there follows another and another without end, the second perhaps more insistent than its brother."

Cardinal Procession

The Pope, preceded by 30 attendants, was borne into the hall by eight stalwart, red-clad throne bearers.

When his chair had been placed before the papal throne, the procession of the new cardinals began.

The cardinals moved in a long, compact procession down the aisle and in quick succession each knelt to receive his barette. Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit was sixth in the line. Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago was eighth and Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York was fourteenth.

Family and State

Speaking of the family and the state as "the two master columns of society," the Pope declared that both had "lost their center of gravity" and "been torn from their base."

"And what has been the result, except that the family has seen the decline of its vital and educative power, and the state, on its side, is on the point of abdicating its mission of defender of the law to transform itself into that levitation of the old testament, which dominates everything because it wants to draw almost everything to itself?"

"Certainly today, in the inextricable confusion in which the world is tossing, the state finds itself compelled to take over an immense weight of duties and offices; but does not this abnormal state of affairs threaten gravely to compromise its essential force and the efficiency of its authority?"

"The church cannot cut herself off, inert in the privacy of her churches, and thus desert her divinely providential mission of forming the complete man, and thereby collaborating without rest in the construction of the solid foundations of society. This mission is for her essential."

Olmsted Will Oppose Blue in June Primary

Promises to Stimulate Present Issue Debate By Vigorous Campaign

DES MOINES (AP)—A contest for the Republican nomination for governor in the June 3 primary was assured yesterday when Brig. Gen. George Olmsted, Des Moines insurance company executive, announced he would oppose Gov. Robert D. Blue.

Olmsted, 44, assistant chief of staff for 15 months to Lt. Gen.

GEORGE OLMSTED

Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of the American forces in China, said in a prepared statement addressed to the people of Iowa "after long and earnest consideration I have decided to become a candidate."

"I promise you to make a clean and vigorous campaign and to stimulate in every way a full and frank discussion of the issues before you," Olmsted said.

(At his news conference yesterday Governor Blue declined to comment on Olmsted's candidacy.)

The coming primary campaign will be the first since 1940 in which a sitting Republican governor has had to face opposition for a second term nomination.

Olmsted said he was going to open state campaign headquarters in Des Moines, as soon as he could find suitable space, and shortly will announce his campaign manager.

Pearl Harbor Probe Ended By Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pearl Harbor investigating committee wound up yesterday three months of open hearings preliminary to an attempt to fix responsibility for the success of Japan's Dec. 7, 1941, attack.

The 10-member senate-house group has until June 1 to assess the evidence it has received and prepare a report on what circumstances enabled Japanese air raiders to catch Hawaii's defenders napping and knock out 18 ships of the Pacific fleet.

System Held Wrong

Col. G. W. Bicknell said of the Pearl Harbor disaster: "It was not a question of personnel—the system was wrong."

He had testified that as an intelligence officer on the staff of Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, the Hawaiian army commander, he never received much information available to the naval forces in Hawaii.

If he had, Bicknell said, he might have "made a strong case" for an all-out alert by the army forces instead of an alert only against sabotage. And he was certain, he declared, that the Hawaiian forces would have been on an all-out alert if they had had all the information available in Washington.

Jap Planes Heard

The questioning about the Hawaiian radar operations was raised by Rep. Murphy (D., Pa.) with George E. Elliott Jr., Long Branch, N. J., in the witness chair.

Elliott had testified he and Joseph L. Lockard, both army privates practicing at the time with radar, picked up the main flight of Japanese planes at 7:02 a. m. and reported them to the aircraft information center about 7:08—nearly an hour before they smashed at Pearl Harbor.

Coal Miners Trapped

HERFORD, Germany (AP)—Several hundred miners—one unconfirmed report placed the total at 500 men—were feared trapped last night in an explosion in a coal mine at Unna, near Dortmund in the heart of the Ruhr coal producing section.

Union Officials Favor Delay of Phone Strike

Substantial Progress Reported in General Motors' Negotiations

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Threat of a nationwide tieup of telephone service was delayed, at least temporarily, yesterday and a federal mediator reported "substantial" progress toward settling the 92-day-old General Motors strike.

The National Federation of Telephone workers, conducting a strategy meeting in Memphis, Tenn., in support of demands for higher wages, called on government officials to intervene in the dispute and promised not to strike until "after we have talked with you."

'Best So Far'

In Detroit, Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said yesterday's negotiations session between the General Motors corporation and striking CIO United Auto workers was "the best so far" and that substantial progress had been made toward reaching agreement.

The call for federal intervention in the telephone wage dispute came after a union spokesman had predicted a definite strike date would be set.

Milk Delivery Stops

Meanwhile, some 400,000 families in Detroit were left without milk deliveries when an estimated 1,300 employees of four large dairies quit work in a wage dispute. The CIO United Dairy workers are demanding 10 cents an hour more wages, retroactive to Sept. 1, 1945, and an additional 10 cents hourly to be paid on approval by the wage stabilization board, providing such approval is forthcoming within 60 days.

Otherwise the labor picture remained without important change, with some 970,000 idle in continuing labor disputes. A survey showed at least 226,000 CIO steelworkers were still on strike, most of them employed by fabricating mills.

China Reveals Sacrifice Pact

CHUNGKING (AP)—The China Times declared yesterday Premier T. V. Soong had signed a treaty with Russia "sacrificing Manchuria" at a time when Japan was being crushed without Soviet help.

The Times joined the swelling criticism of Russian occupation of Manchuria as the government was reported drafting a reply to asserted Soviet demands for a share of Japanese industry in the former puppet state.

Reports of localized government-Communist clashes erupting in southern Manchuria added to the confusion. Gen. Chou En-Lai was aloofed at Yanan with other Communist leaders discussing the situation.

The Times said the Sino-Russian treaty of last August was negotiated when Japan's surrender was imminent and China had no reason to bow to the Big Three decisions in Yalta in Feb. 1945, which, it asserted, violated Chinese sovereignty and the Cairo agreement to restore Manchuria to China.

L. C. Crawford Heads Engineering Society

L. C. Crawford of Iowa City was elected president of the Iowa Engineering society, it was announced yesterday.

Crawford is associate director of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research and district engineer of the United States Geological survey.

Other officers elected included Frank Kereke of Ames, president-elect. The balloting was conducted by mail.

In its closing two-day meeting the society heard a report prepared by Fred White of Ames, chief engineer of the Iowa State Highway commission, concerning Iowa's postwar program.

Policy Protest Brings— Reductions in Rank

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., (AP)—Six marine non-commissioned officers have been reduced to the rank of private because of their participation in a protest against the marine corps discharge policy, headquarters of Lt. Gen. Roy S. Geiger announced yesterday.

Geiger, commander of the Pacific fleet marine force, identified the disciplined non-coms as T/Sgt. Jason P. Shaeffer, Harrisburg, Pa.; Sgt. George M. Darcy, New York City; Sgt. Harry H. Cooley, New

General Describes Army as Un-American To Military Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—A retired brigadier general who was a West Point classmate of Gen. Mark Clark yesterday described the army as "undemocratic and un-American—a feudalistic organization carried over into the atomic age."

The description, and others, was applied by former Brig. Gen. H. C. Holdridge in testimony before the house military committee.

Criticizing the army's advocacy of universal military training, the 53-year-old retired Washington general made these other references to the military branch: "Army has not looked at itself in the mirror for 150 years. Its most prominent characteristic is its medieval caste system which sets up unsurmountable barriers between the officer aristocracy and the enlisted man. . . . It promotes class consciousness and class cleavages."

On behalf of the Veterans League of America, which he said he represented, Holdridge suggested that any military policy adopted now be effective only temporarily; that warfare, as well as weapons of warfare be outlawed by international agreement.

Nelson, Former Eldora Training School Guard Gets 30-Day Sentence

FORT DODGE (AP)—Harold Nelson, former guard at the Eldora State Training school for boys, next Wednesday will begin serving a 30-day sentence in the Hardin county jail as a result of his conviction on a charge of assault and battery.

Judge Sherwood A. Clock, following an appeal by Attorney Thomas M. Healy, who said Nelson's mother was critically ill, allowed the defendant a week to arrange his affairs before beginning his sentence.

Addressing the jury on completion of its duty in the case, Judge Clock said "I wish every man, woman and child in Iowa could have heard the evidence in this case. Then, perhaps, they would appreciate the problem the state of Iowa has at Eldora."

No Septuplets

LONDON (AP)—Exchange Telegraph distributed and then killed last night a report that septuplets had been born to a woman in Paris. The agency said the erroneous report was based on a policeman's hoaxing of a Paris reporter.

Kwajalein Prepares For Atom-Bomb Test

Bomb Will Explode Near Bikini Atoll; Residents Leaving

LONDON (AP)—Russia acknowledged last night that Canadian citizens had given "insignificant secret data" to Soviet representatives in Canada, but declared that the position taken by the Canadian government was not "compatible with friendly relations between the two countries."

A Russian statement, broadcast by the Moscow radio and heard here by The Associated Press and the Soviet Monitor, said the Soviet military attache in Ottawa had been recalled because of the "inadmissibility" of the actions of members of his staff. But it expressed "amazement" that the Canadian government had published its statement on the leakage of information last Feb. 15 instead of previously asking an explanation from the Soviet government "as is expected between countries maintaining normal relations."

The radio said the statement was being handed to the Canadian charge d'affaires in Moscow.

The broadcast was the first word to come from Russia since Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced in Ottawa last Friday that highly secret information had been divulged to a foreign mission, later authoritatively identified as the Soviet embassy. A royal commission was appointed to investigate what was termed an espionage plot and some highly placed Canadian sources said atomic energy was involved.

The Moscow radio said that the Soviet military attache in Canada "received from acquaintances among Canadian citizens certain information of a secret character which, however, did not present a special interest to Soviet authorities. These matters had already been published."

(In Ottawa, it was reported that the Soviet military attache, Col. Nicolai Zabotin, left Ottawa with the Russian ambassador, George N. Zaroubin, some time ago for the Soviet Union and is presumed to be in Moscow.)

The statement called attention to what it said was a campaign "hostile to the Soviet Union, which had started in the Canadian press and radio simultaneously" with the MacKenzie King statement last Friday.

The statement said, however, that the information was "not required by the Soviet government in view of higher technical achievements in the USSR."

The information, the statement added, "could be found in the published works concerning radio location, etc., and also in the well-known American pamphlet 'atomic energy.'"

In Ottawa, Commissioner S. T. Wood of the Royal Canadian mounted police denied yesterday a published report that the alleged mastermind of the foreign spy ring operating in Canada had been caught.

Soviet Accusation Denied By Canadian Spokesman

OTTAWA (AP)—An official government spokesman who declined to permit further identification declared last night that the Russians were making "political capital" out of the Canadian espionage case.

Shortly after receipt of a Moscow broadcast charging that Canada in handling its "spy" investigation was encouraging an anti-Soviet campaign, the spokesman declared:

"The Soviet statement started out as an admission of guilt sufficient to cause the withdrawal of its military attache and then proceeded to minimize the whole matter and sought to make political capital by impugning motives to the Canadian government."

Prime Minister MacKenzie King, who also acts as the dominion's foreign minister, was understood to be in steady consultation with the British government last night.

Canada had no advance notice of the Soviet statement. Press accounts of the Moscow broadcast were read eagerly by officials of the external affairs department. The formal notification of the Soviet attitude, which Moscow said was handed to the Canadian charge d'affaires in Moscow, is expected to reach Ottawa today.

The spokesman said Canada would make a brief reply to the Soviet charge as soon as possible and then likely would await the outcome of an investigation now being conducted by a two-man royal commission.

After that a full reply will be made to Moscow "point by point," he said.

Anti-Truman Critics Scored

WASHINGTON (AP)—Major Gen. Ray E. Porter expressed "alarm" yesterday that "men of such prominence as to compel attention, boast of their readiness to denounce the integrity of the president of the United States."

He also deplored that the "character and ability of the men who so recently led our armed forces to victory are assailed without discrimination and with criminal distortion of the facts."

Iowa City Must Keep Pace With University or Suffer

"In the 50 years that I have known the town, Iowa City has never kept pace with the university."

The challenge was a call for Iowa City to meet the demands postwar expansion is placing on the city.

And the warning was a solemn reminder that if Iowa City doesn't keep pace with the university, it's benefits from the university's expansion will be reduced.

Iowa City must hurry to catch up on war-deferred building and improvement projects that have been needed for many years.

The final decision rests with the residents who will be going to the polls to vote on bond issues.

These are the issues which face the citizens: 1. The city needs improvements.

2. Expansion of the university and the establishment of the veterans hospital demand that all the present facilities of the city be expanded.

3. If the city's facilities can't meet the increased demands that will be placed on them, the growth of Iowa City will be stifled and its chances for greater prosperity diminished.

Most Iowa Citizens recognize, and do not dispute, these issues. The mayor, the city council, the school board, the Chamber of Commerce, practically every resident—all have declared that Iowa City must move ahead as rapidly as possible.

The time has come for action. And D. C. Nolan, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has taken the lead in getting action.

Violent Death

Recent figures published by the national safety council, showing more traffic fatalities and injuries in 1945 than war casualties in all of World War II, should be a shocking reminder to all motorists to take it easy on the highways.

The average car isn't what it used to be, and it won't stand much high-speed driving until it is equipped with new tires and new parts necessary for safe driving.

It was pleasant and relaxing after the Japanese surrender to get out on the highway and "pour on the gas" without having a kill-joy inner voice reminding: "This means you walk for the next three weeks—no gas."

We were tired of the 35 miles an hour speed limit and were glad to be free from it. But now the lack of normal production of cars and accessories have reimposed the 35 miles an hour limit. That speed is about all the old jalopy can stand.

It's hard to check the natural desire to speed. But speeding these days is a mistake. The sight of unsafe cars roaring down the highways on tires which are likely to blow out on the next sharp turn is a fearful one.

And unfortunately speed-happy motorists aren't the only victims of their own folly. Too often it is the careful or innocent driver or pedestrian who is injured or killed.

Speed has always been a dangerous thing on the highways. But now it's even doubly dangerous because our old cars are not as mechanically safe as they once were. Now is a good time to drive slowly.

British, India Discussions

Three ranking British cabinet officers are going to India to talk about "full self-government," it was announced in London Tuesday.

The mission includes Lord Pethick-Lawrence, secretary of state for India; A. V. Alexander, first lord of the admiralty; and Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the board of trade and author of the "Cripps Plan" of 1942 which the Indians turned down.

For this particular purpose the mission obviously is about as impressive as the British can make it.

The mission goes in fulfillment of the labor government's promise of last September to take "positive steps" after Indian elections to give India the long-discussed "full self-government."

These elections now largely have been held, and it is with the new representatives thus chosen that the British will explore the ways in which it can be agreed to frame an Indian constitution.

After that, the British propose to set up a constitution-making body. They would then create an executive council which presumably will act as an interim government, cooperating with Viceroy Wavel and his present Indian administration until the constitutional government itself can come into being later.

This course may take some time, but apparently it is clear in the minds of the British who, meanwhile, must carry the responsibility of keeping peace and order and at the same time satisfy growing Indian demands for independence.

It's likely to be complicated, partly because India itself is highly complicated, partly because of new trends there.

At Nolan's request, civic leaders met this week to discuss the problem of getting done what everyone wants done.

An eight-man committee was appointed to consider all the improvements that have been suggested and to establish an unofficial priority system.

The committee was not given any specific authority, but it is hoped that the organizations concerned with the city's expansion will follow the committee's recommendations.

Civic leaders have expressed confidence that the committee will get full cooperation.

Thus, Iowa City will be able to back solidly each civic improvement in its proper order, without friction and "jumping the gun" that would injure the city as a whole, as well as individuals.

The formation of the civic improvements committee is evidence of the kind of unity and cooperation that gets jobs done.

And it is the kind of unity and cooperation which will speed the improvements that Iowa City needs.

A new city hall is high on everyone's list of postwar projects. It will become a reality more quickly if the committee's leadership receives wholehearted support.

Better police and fire departments, school additions, a municipal swimming pool, etc., all will take shape far sooner if the city's efforts are coordinated than if they are scattered.

Iowa City can afford the improvements suggested by the Chamber of Commerce. As a matter of fact, the city can't afford not to make those improvements.

The projects can't be undertaken all at once. They must be placed in proper order. That is the job of the civic improvements committee.

Once away from pressure groups and conflicting factions, with the work done in logical sequence, Iowa City can bring itself up to date, and can reap the benefits of being modern.

create an executive council which presumably will act as an interim government, cooperating with Viceroy Wavel and his present Indian administration until the constitutional government itself can come into being later.

This course may take some time, but apparently it is clear in the minds of the British who, meanwhile, must carry the responsibility of keeping peace and order and at the same time satisfy growing Indian demands for independence.

It's likely to be complicated, partly because India itself is highly complicated, partly because of new trends there.

The recent elections were labeled by some Indians as "rich men's elections" because of the franchise limitations based partly on property.

Less than 500,000 had voted up to Jan. 5 out of India's 400,000,000 people.

The elections also disclosed surprising Moslem strength, and this means stronger Moslem demands for their projected separate state of "Pakistan" and therefore less internal Indian unity.

The more recent riots, in Bombay, follow talk of approaching famine (supposed to be worse than the 1943 famine) and more trials of former members of the Japanese puppet army, this time involving Moslems.

WASHINGTON — The once diminutive marine corps is the subject of some large and far reaching plans these days.

The corps itself has announced that it proposes to establish a force of reserves that will be larger than the entire unit at its peak strength during the war.

And within the same week bills were introduced in congress to raise the total of the men on active duty to 700,000 and use the marine corps exclusively for work as occupation forces in Europe and Asia and as the United States' contribution to the police forces of the United Nations.

For a military unit which comprised only 28,000 regulars and 22,786 reserves in 1940, the prospect should be a bit startling.

The two programs, according to their sponsors, have no relation to each other. In their plan for a large reserve, marine corps officers say their idea is only to avoid the mistake made after the first world war.

Then, for lack of appropriations, the marine corps reserve diminished, until in 1925 it consisted of only 679 personnel.

Now is the time, they say, when the veterans of many a historic Pacific battle still are deeply interested in their corps, to enroll them as reserves, keep about 28,000 of them trained and ready for immediate service and have about 540,000 attached to the organization in a less active reserve status—boosting the corps and ready when needed to provide what service they can.

Writer Applies Authentic Utterances by Lincoln to Today—

'Our Only Danger Must Spring Up Amongst Us'

'... We Must Live Through All Time, Or Die by Suicide'

The quotations from Abraham Lincoln in the following imaginary interview are from actual speeches and writings of the martyred president. They were applied to modern problems by Bernard Barshay in the Milwaukee Journal.

The tall, angular figure leaned back. "Yes, I agree with you," he said, stroking his beard, which, heavy and dark, nevertheless could not conceal the sunken cheeks.

"But if the great American people only keep their temper on both sides of the line, the troubles will come to an end, and the questions which now distract the country will be settled."

Asked if he thought this applied to present labor-management difficulties, Abraham Lincoln asserted:

"I am glad to see... a system of labor... under which laborers can strike when they want to, where they are not obliged to work under all circumstances... I like the system which lets a man quit when he wants to, and wish it might prevail everywhere... The strongest bond of human sympathy, outside of the family relation, should be one uniting all working people of all nations, and tongues, and kindreds."

"Nor should this lead to a war upon property, or the owners of property. Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; is a positive good in the world. That will give the greatest good to the greatest number... "I want every man to have a chance—and I believe a black man is entitled to it—in which he can better his condition—when he may look forward and hope to be a hired laborer this year and the next, work for himself afterward, and finally to hire men to work for him. That is the true system."

"All Created Equal" "With steady eye on the real issue, let us inaugurate the good old 'central ideas' of the republic... We shall again be able to declare that 'all states are equal,' nor yet that 'all citizens as citizens are equal,' but to renew the broader, better declaration, including both these and much more, that 'all men are created equal.'"

Quered about the danger of foreign "isms" getting a hold upon our government, as claimed by some Lincoln said:

"Whatever might be the wishes or dispositions of foreign states, the integrity of our country and the stability of our government mainly depend... on the loyalty, virtue, patriotism and intelligence of the American people."

In reply to a question regarding the Iranian-Russian dispute over the territory of Azerbaijan, the Indonesian nationalist movement and others such fermenting in the world today, Lincoln ran his fingers through his long, shaggy hair, knitted his heavy eyebrows for a moment, then answered:

"We should practice prudence and liberality toward foreign powers, averting causes of irritation, and with firmness maintaining our own rights and honor... Self-Determination of Nations "But any people, anywhere, being inclined and having the power, have the right to rise up and shake off the existing government, and form a new one that suits them better; this is a most valuable, a most sacred right—a right which we hope and believe is to liberate the world. Nor is this right confined to cases in which the whole people of an existing government may choose to exercise it."

"Any portion of such people that can revolutionize and make their own of so much of the territory as they inhabit. More than this, a majority of any portion of such people may revolutionize, putting down a minority, intermingled with or near about them, who may oppose this movement. Such minority was precisely the case of the Tories of our own revolution."

"Yet if I should claim your land by word of mouth, that certainly would not make it mine; and if I were to claim it by a deed which I had made myself, and with which you had nothing to do, the claim would be quite the same in substance—or rather in utter nothingness."

Possible Aggression "Asked what from his point of vantage he thought of the future of America and of possible future aggression, Lincoln declared:

"We find ourselves in the peaceful possession of the fairest portion of the earth as regards extent of territory, fertility of soil, and salubrity of climate. We find ourselves under the government of a system of political institutions conducting more essentially to the ends of civil and religious liberty than any of which the history of former times tells... "At what point shall we expect the approach of danger? By what means shall we fortify against it? Shall we expect some transatlantic military giant to step the ocean and crush at a blow? Never!"

Mr. Lincoln rose to his impressive height and pointed a long finger at the Potomac. He stepped forward resolutely.

"All the armies of Europe, Asia and Africa combined, with all the treasure of the earth... in their military chest, with a Bonaparte for a commander, could not by force take a drink from the Ohio or make a track on the Blue Ridge in a trial of 1,000 years."

Only Danger From Within "At what point, then, is the approach of danger to be expected? I answer: If it ever reach us, it must spring up amongst us; it cannot come from abroad. If destruction be our lot, we must ourselves be its author and finisher. As a nation of freemen we must live through all time, or die by suicide."

Mr. Lincoln had approached me as he spoke and, as he finished, he began shaking me. He shook me harder. Harder still. His voice said:

"Hey, Buddy, the memorial's closing for the night. You'd better wake up."

I blinked, stretched, yawned, and looked up at a grinning attendant of the Lincoln Memorial.

Dr. Robert Moyers To Discuss Greece

Former Army Officer To Tell Experiences At Old Capitol Today

In his Information First lecture, "Greece, the Keystone to Peace in Europe," Dr. Robert E. Moyers of the college of dentistry will base his discussion on his experiences in Greece where he served 18 months as a captain in the army. The lecture will take place at 4:10 this afternoon in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Dr. Moyers lived more than a year with the Greek underground and knew Premier Soufoulis, head of the coalition of the Popular, Liberal and Monarchist parties in power now, present cabinet members and leaders of the leftist EAM.

"I think Greece is the keystone to peace in Europe because, due to her geographical position, she is caught between two ideologies or two theories of government—represented by the democracies on one hand and the leftist countries on the other," Dr. Moyers declared.

Dr. Moyers has been decorated more than any other dentist in the history of the United States army. He has received two awards from Greece, one of them the Greek war cross, first class, equivalent to our Congressional Medal of Honor and the highest Greek award; two from Britain including the Order of the British Empire, and six from the United States, the Purple Heart, Bronze Star and Legion of Merit, each twice.

A 1942 graduate of the college of dentistry here, Dr. Moyers now is taking graduate work in orthodontics and is an instructor in that department. He will be introduced this afternoon by Lois Schoenfeld, A4 of Nashua.

Witold Malczuzynski Concert—

Satisfies Audience

By VIRGINIA LINN

Witold Malczuzynski, with his concert last night at Iowa Union, convinced his capacity audience that he was all they had hoped to hear, if not more. He invoked the listener's imagination immediately with the opening theme of the "Prelude," "Chorale" and "Fugue" by Cesar Franck.

This first statement was lightly but intently spoken, and as the music developed there was a constant feeling of forward-going motion that never let down. The audience received it with excited enthusiasm.

With a step backward chronologically, but with a logical progression of style and mood, Malczuzynski next presented the "Sonata, op. 57" (appassionata) by Beethoven. The rigorous control of rhythms and economical measurement of dynamic effects built up an increasingly intense passion. It was not an erratic emotion that spent itself in vain thrashing about, but one of great strength which culminated in an overwhelming climax.

Native Element

In the latter half of the program Malczuzynski was in his native element. First there were the "Three Mazurkas, op. 50" and a "Theme Varie op. 3" by Szymanowski, who, although of Russian origin, has been recognized as the leader of a modern movement to promulgate the Polish tradition in composition.

The mazurkas were a very fortunate choice to follow the Beethoven and the intermission. Cool, clear, impersonal, they helped relax tension and to restore emotional equilibrium. The "Theme Varie," more poetic in quality, was an excellent transition to the Chopin group which followed.

Powers Not Limited

One hesitates to brand Malczuzynski a Chopin "exponent" because his interpretive powers are by no means limited to that of his composer's work. However, his mastery of the elements of musical style seemed to rise to a new level with his playing of the "Nocturne in F-sharp Major" and the "Mazurka." The audience attested to this fact by its reluctance to break the mood with applause.

Included in this final group also were the "Etude, op. 10, No. 4," "Waltz in E Minor" and the imposing "Scherzo in B-flat Minor." It seemed that there would have been a gain in brilliance with a greater rise of dynamic contrast, especially in the "Etude."

Two Encores

After an exhausting concert, the pianist graciously gave two encores—"Waltz in C-sharp Minor" and THE "Polonaise," both by Chopin.

Malczuzynski presents his work in a sincere and unaffected manner. He pays his listeners the high compliment of seeming to do his best for them at all times; and his best is a thing to be remembered with gratitude.

400 Hear Gov. Blue Talk on Development Of Iowa Road System

Says Highways Provide Means for Increasing Farm Production

Gov. Robert D. Blue, speaking before 400 farmers, livestock shippers, and truckers in the Community building last night, declared Iowa's good roads provide the means for developing her tremendous farm resources.

"It wasn't until a transportation system came to Iowa that its wealth was tapped," Blue told the Iowa City audience attending the dinner-meeting sponsored by Eldon Miller, local trucker.

"This transportation system of ours," the governor added, "has done more to eliminate the difference in standard of living between the man in town and the man on the farm in Iowa, than anything else."

The governor cited an old plank highway between Burlington and Mt. Pleasant, constructed over a century ago and costing Burlington residents over $10,000, as an early attempt by Iowans to build good roads.

Blue revealed Iowa's highway commission was created in 1890 out of pressure for highways caused by the appearance of the bicycle. Not until 1920 did Iowa start building its present system of farm-to-market roads, however.

Preceding Governor Blue last night were J. J. Swamer of Iowa City, member of the state highway commission; Frank Flynn, assistant manager of the Chicago national stock yards; Ollie White, Iowa City, chief of police, and Dan J. Steele of the state department of public safety.

Emmett C. Gardner, county extension director, presented 4-H club boy Eddie Hunter, who raised the baby beef served at the dinner. Mayor Wilber J. Teeters gave the welcome speech, and Governor Blue was introduced by John Gillespie, manager of the Iowa motor truck association.

The governor will be interviewed over WSUI this morning at 10:45 by Robert Ray, G of Daventport. This afternoon he will award Selective Service medals in the Community building.

Mrs. Charles Beckman, president, will preside and initiation will be held. All members are asked to attend.

TO STEP UP WINTER COMFORT AND STEP DOWN FUEL COSTS...

- ★ Keep warm air registers and cold air grilles free from cobwebs and dirt.
- ★ Do not place furniture or rugs over registers or grilles.
- ★ When "airing" the house turn the thermostat down. Close doors in room where windows are open.
- ★ Avoid overheating your home.
- ★ Close fireplace damper tightly when fireplace is not in use.
- ★ Place rug at bottom of bedroom door, turn off register and cover cold air grille at night to keep cold air out of the rest of the house.

MILD WEATHER or cold—if you "follow through" on the practical heating suggestions listed above, you'll help cut fuel consumption and provide greater home comfort. Heat conservation also depends on such fundamentals as (1) adequate insulation, correctly fitted storm sash, weather stripping, etc. and (2) a heating plant in which the furnace, warm air pipes, cold air returns, registers and grilles are of the right size and placed to permit proper circulation of heat.

For complete information about equipping your home with these aids to heating economy—consult your lumber company, insulation dealer, heating contractor or this company.

'Boston Biggest Threat' -- O'Neill

Rates Indians, Yanks Below Tough Bosox

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Boston's returning sluggers, with pitching help from Tex Hughson, Dave Ferriss and Mickey Harris, look like the most serious threat to the Detroit Tigers, in the opinion of Manager Steve O'Neill of the 1945 world champions.

"The Yankees will have plenty of hitting but Joe McCarthy may have some trouble with his pitching," said the rugged Irishman from Monroka, Pa. "Cleveland will have the pitching with Bob Feller, Steve Gromek, Allie Reynolds and Red Embree but I think Boston is the team we have to beat.

"Why, that Hughson and Ferriss each ought to be good for 25 games and I like that boy Harris. He's probably learned a lot in that Panama league while pitching in the army."

O'Neill pointed out the obvious fact that the Red Sox will have power to burn with Ted Williams, Rudy York, Johnny Pesky and Bobby Doerr.

"Don't get the idea that the skipper was picking Boston to win the pennant.

"Remember we're going to have a darn good ball club, too," he reminded.

There was a merry twinkle in O'Neill's eyes as he greeted his discharged Tigers, tramping one by one into the office of Secretary Clair Berry to report.

Dick Wakefield, Barney McCosky and either Hoot Evers or Pat Mullin probably will patrol the outfield.

Hank Greenberg, who brought his new bride to camp, will return to first base after winning the flag for the Bengals as an outfielder last fall.

Oxford Shades Vets, 31-29, in Late Spurt; Sig Nu, Bremerers Win

Oxford eked out an overtime victory against University Vets in the evening final at the Recreation center last night, 31-29. In the preceding games Bremerers defeated Moss Boys, 33-27, and Sigma Nu nosed out Yellow Cab in a close, fast game, 29-27.

The Vets led, 15-14, at the half and increased their lead in the third quarter but in the final quarter the Oxford offense clicked just enough to tie the score with Freese's field goal in the final seconds. Paul scored the winning bucket on a drive-in shot and Oxford then concentrated on stalling the rest of the game.

Moss Boys got off to a hopeless start in the opening game, and even a last minute desperate rally failed to bring them close enough to challenge the lead that Kaye and Barbour had piled up for Bremerers.

Sigma Nu came from behind to gain the lead at half-time and then held a slim three-point advantage until the final horn, as Yellow Cab's Berry matched field goals with Sigma Nu's Marshall.

DR. EDDIE ANDERSON, the man who brought Iowa University out of the blue shadows in 1939, reportedly has the makings of a championship team . . . (Remember, the first game is seven months hence) . . . Others are that Eddie has a member of the ALABAMA ROSE BOWL TEAM on the campus . . . We quote again:

DR. EDDIE ANDERSON, the man who brought Iowa University out of the blue shadows in 1939, reportedly has the makings of a championship team . . . (Remember, the first game is seven months hence) . . . One report had it that the University fieldhouse is crowded with prospects living there in temporary quarters . . . Others are that Eddie has a member of the ALABAMA ROSE BOWL TEAM on the campus . . . We quote again:

Backfield Coach Frank Carideo is said to have snared a passing find from Arkansas . . . The Iowa City railroad station platform is beginning to feel the weight of many 200-pounders . . . A group of such prospects was entertained last Saturday at the Purdue basketball game . . . No one has seen them leave town.

WHAT COULD YOU do about that beside laugh? . . . Dr. Eddie got a pretty good chuckle out of it and started looking around for these "prospects from other schools" . . . "Well, they pinned one on us from the toughest team they could think of—Alabama," Eddie grinned, "and I'll be darned if I even knew there were any students here from Arkansas to say nothing of a football player." . . . But to cap the climax, the same news story finished up with this: "Dr. Anderson told a friend upon his return from the army last fall that he will stay at Iowa only as long as he can produce a winner" . . . I SURE HOPE THAT'S TRUE, because then Iowa can be assured of a winner until 1950 at least—Doc Eddie signed a contract until then.

SOME FOLKS just can't wait until a school gets some good prospects for a change before they start sniping . . . What Iowa has right now is a fair bunch of spring football candidates, 40 out of the 49 of whom are native Iowans, born and bred . . . What we'll have next September, I'm sure Dr. Anderson himself wouldn't bet on . . . Anyone who can read the papers in February and pick the winners for next fall—and get Iowa booted out of the Big Ten in the bargain—gets my vote . . . No, Mr. Olds, Iowa is not buying a football team for 1946—prices are too high what with the All-American conference paying such terrific salaries.

Iowa Stock Rises for Illinois Game; Herb, Ned Improved

Iowa's basketball stock took a sudden rise last night by the apparent improvement of the Hawk-eyes' two ailing guards, Herb Wilkinson and Ned Postels.

It seems as though Coach Pops Harrison's optimism during the past week may be well founded as evidenced by the performance of his squad in last night's drills. Dave Danner was in top form as the Hawks enjoyed one of their best practices of the year.

Entry of 90 athletes from eight Iowa high schools are the first to be received at the University of Iowa for the state interscholastic swimming championships in the fieldhouse pool Saturday morning and afternoon.

who holds the 100-yard back stroke mark; and Larry Larimore, also ex-Roosevelt swimmer now of Yale, whose 1:01.9 time in the 100-yard breast stroke is the national interscholastic record. Larimore is visiting in Iowa during Yale's recess.

They are headed by 33 nominees from Roosevelt of Des Moines, the defending champion. Others are Clinton, 18; Lincoln of Des Moines, 13; North Des Moines, 11; Boone, 9; East Des Moines, 4; and Keosauqua and Roosevelt of Cedar Rapids, each 1.

Freshman Swimming Star Aids Hawks

BOB DOSTER, who is a great track man in his own right, has decided to pass up a chance to compete in Illinois' annual big-gest dual meet of the year. All this adds to the poison that the Illini are preparing to dish out to Iowa Saturday night.

Last year, just when it appeared that the Hawkeyes would finish an unbeaten contender, the Illinois quintet rose up in the final seconds and hung a heart-breaking 42-41 defeat on Coach Harrison's squad.

In the Hawkeyes' initial Big Ten Western Conference individual scoring, can be expected to give Iowa guards their hands full. Another unpleasant note is the fact that Dike Edleman has decided to forsake his entrance in the Michigan-Illinois track meet so that he can provide more punch for Coach Doug Mills' squad.

Big Ten Teams Choose Stars

Two returned war veterans have been chosen by their teammates as the most valuable members of two Big Ten cage squads and have become eligible for the Chicago Daily Tribune's most valuable player in the conference award.

Purdue's Boilermakers chose Floyd (Rudy) Lawson regular guard on the squad, who played 476 out of a possible 480 minutes of Big Ten ball for the Indiana outfit. Lawson, former army air corps captain, is the defensive expert of the team.

The Michigan squad chose as its candidate for the honor Dave Strack who alternated at forward and guard for the Wolves and was the number two scorer of the Michigan squad.

At the same time it was announced that Paul Hoffman, Purdue forward, had been elected next year's Boilermaker captain while Pete Elliot was accorded the same position by his Wolverine teammates.

A-A Challenges National

CHICAGO (AP)—Jim Crowley, commissioner of the All-America football conference, said yesterday that his league is willing to challenge the rival National football league to a series of eight games before the beginning of the regular 1946 season.

GASSIN' with GUS

"WHEN EVERYONE else is shouting," so the old proverb goes, "it is the best time to keep still" . . . Well, it seems as though considerable shouting is being done in some quarters about Iowa's football prospects for 1946 . . . That seems funny with the first game still seven months away, but it's so and I'll show you what I mean if you hang around long enough to read this . . . Maybe the best way to quiet howling of this type is to ignore it, but that's just too doggone hard to do . . . You see, a few misguided souls have decided that Iowa is going to solve its football dilemma by hiring itself a team for next season . . . We quote from a sports column in the Omaha World-Herald by a guy named Floyd Olds:

" . . . IT BECOMES MORE OBVIOUS day by day that the gents in the athletic department at the University of Iowa are building themselves for AN AWFUL LETDOWN . . . Their current tactics might even LEAD TO SUSPENSION such as the Big Ten imposed upon Iowa back in 1930 . . . Press stories Friday admitted that the campus was becoming overrun with big football players, many of whom previously played at other schools . . ."

HOW DO YOU like them cookies? . . . I don't . . . But maybe I'm prejudiced because I'm positive that the joker doesn't know what he's talking about . . . Anyway we checked around to find out where Senior Olds got his information . . . We found it in a news dispatch which some dreamer had tacked an "Iowa City" dateline on . . . We quote again:

DR. EDDIE ANDERSON, the man who brought Iowa University out of the blue shadows in 1939, reportedly has the makings of a championship team . . . (Remember, the first game is seven months hence) . . . One report had it that the University fieldhouse is crowded with prospects living there in temporary quarters . . . Others are that Eddie has a member of the ALABAMA ROSE BOWL TEAM on the campus . . . We quote again:

Backfield Coach Frank Carideo is said to have snared a passing find from Arkansas . . . The Iowa City railroad station platform is beginning to feel the weight of many 200-pounders . . . A group of such prospects was entertained last Saturday at the Purdue basketball game . . . No one has seen them leave town.

WHAT COULD YOU do about that beside laugh? . . . Dr. Eddie got a pretty good chuckle out of it and started looking around for these "prospects from other schools" . . . "Well, they pinned one on us from the toughest team they could think of—Alabama," Eddie grinned, "and I'll be darned if I even knew there were any students here from Arkansas to say nothing of a football player." . . . But to cap the climax, the same news story finished up with this: "Dr. Anderson told a friend upon his return from the army last fall that he will stay at Iowa only as long as he can produce a winner" . . . I SURE HOPE THAT'S TRUE, because then Iowa can be assured of a winner until 1950 at least—Doc Eddie signed a contract until then.

SOME FOLKS just can't wait until a school gets some good prospects for a change before they start sniping . . . What Iowa has right now is a fair bunch of spring football candidates, 40 out of the 49 of whom are native Iowans, born and bred . . . What we'll have next September, I'm sure Dr. Anderson himself wouldn't bet on . . . Anyone who can read the papers in February and pick the winners for next fall—and get Iowa booted out of the Big Ten in the bargain—gets my vote . . . No, Mr. Olds, Iowa is not buying a football team for 1946—prices are too high what with the All-American conference paying such terrific salaries.

Seydell, McNally, Rossie Win in C. R.

CEDAR RAPIDS (Special)—Three of Iowa City's contenders in the Cedar Rapids Golden Gloves meet emerged victorious here last night with Lyle Seydell and Paul McNally winning by knockouts in the first round.

Seydell put away Sam Bly of Lenox in 47 in the 112-pound class. McNally had little trouble with Junior Bragg of Cedar Rapids by flattening the pugilist in 1:15.

Bob Rossie, representing Foxhead tavern of Cedar Rapids, defeated the Otumwa navy base in a close bout in the 147-pound bracket. Bill Belford in the 135-pound group won a decision and Howard Skjei dropped his bout in the 147-pound class. Both are from Otumwa navy.

Ramblers Cop 3rd in Series

Usually just another tough ball club to their home town rivals, St. Mary's perennially potent Ramblers took extra pains last night to smite St. Patrick's a third and convincing blow, 47-26, in the old City high gym.

This time the victory really stuck as the Ramblers weathered a dangerous Shamrock surge in the second quarter and rolled on to their 16th win in 18 regularly scheduled games. The margin of triumph further emphasized St. Mary's favorite role in the class B sectional tourney which starts at City high next week.

For St. Patrick's plucky Irish it was a heart-breaking third installment in their series with Coach Francis Suplepp's shifty gang. Scores of the other two games were mighty close—36-34 at St. Patrick's and 37-34 for the Davenport Diocese title.

The red-hot basket trajectory of Chucking Andy Chukkalas was the feature of the Ramblers' triumphant attack. The little forward banged in six field goals and four charity tosses to lead the scoring.

But it was the combined clockwork of St. Mary's Big Three—Bill Suplepp, Bart Toohy and Jack Shrader—that repelled the Shamrock counterthrusts sieved through the visitors' defense time and again. Merle Hoyer, St. Patrick's fast-firing forward, again led the Irish, but was far off his usual form in getting only eight points.

Propelled by the screams of the overflow bi-partisan crowd, the Ramblers skidded down the old gym's slippery floor to an early lead and were never headed. Toohy and Suplepp found their middle-distance hook shots effective and rang up an 18-6 lead at the quarter.

Then the Irish rallied to scare St. Mary's by closing the gap to 24-18 at half-time. Little Bob Brown helped Merle Hoyer with the scoring and the game took on the aspects of past intra-city feuds.

But Chukkalas and Suplepp started the bells of St. Mary's ringing again as the third period advanced and they held a 33-23 advantage as the action started down the last quarter. In this stint, three Ramblers and two Shamrocks left the game via the five-foot rule and Charlie Belger was expelled for roughness.

The St. Patrick's crew, never tired of battling back, managed only three free throws in the last quarter and eight points in the last two periods.

THE GAME LEFT the all-time series between the two rivals tied at 25 each, but St. Mary's holds the edge if tourney games are included, 28-25.

Nu Sigma Nu Lashes Phi Rho Sigma, 32-25

In the only intramural tilt last night, Nu Sigma Nu downed the last efforts of the Phi Rho Sigma quintet, winning the game, 32-25. High man for the Nu Sig's was Dick Goenne who hit for nine.

Bill Hoops led the losers for six markers, Cal Johnson making five. The Phi Rho's didn't warm up until the second half of the game but still weren't able to overcome the margin the Nu Sig's had chalked up.

The game between Alpha Kappa Kappa and Psi Omega, scheduled for last night was postponed and will be played later in the season.

Hawkeye Swimmers Meet Gophers Friday

Iowa's swimmers will be trying for their fourth straight win Friday night when they meet the Minnesota squad in the fieldhouse pool at 7:30. The swimmers, improving in every meet, have only the close loss to North-western in the season opener to mar their perfect record. Since then they have defeated Wisconsin 53-31, Nebraska 63-21 and Purdue 45-39.

The work of Kenny Marsh and Dick Maine has been outstanding for Iowa in the meets to date. Marsh is leading the Iowa squad in individual points scored and the presence of Maine has bolstered the team in the diving, medley relay, and backstroke events.

Other swimmers who can be expected to turn in capable performances in the meet are: Chester Cole, sprinter; Bernie Walters, diver and breast stroker; Arthur Van Haven, distance swimmer who proved his capability in the United Airlines Lists Schedule For Resumed Service March 1

The United Airlines will resume service to Iowa City Mar. 1, according to an official notice received from the Chicago office by R. V. Shrader, new station manager, yesterday. The airlines will resume air mail, passenger and express flights in and out of Iowa City.

Under the schedules, United's Mainliners will arrive here, east-bound, from the Pacific coast at 6:18 p. m. and will leave at 6:23 p. m. for Moline, Chicago, Cleveland, Philadelphia, Newark and New York.

Westbound Mainliners will arrive from the East coast at 3:31 p. m. and leave at 3:36 p. m. for Des Moines, Omaha, Denver, Salt Lake City, Reno, San Francisco and Los Angeles. The flights will be so fast that eastbound passengers leaving Iowa City at the dinner hour, will be in Chicago in the early evening and in east coast cities shortly after midnight. On the westbound leaving here in mid-afternoon, they will reach the Pacific coast early next morning.

The Mainliners to be used by United here are different from the old Boeing airplanes used before the war. The new Douglas DC3 Mainliner will hold 21 passengers, four more than the old plane.

Shrader formerly was station manager for United Airlines at Moline. He joined the company Jan. 1, 1942. Shrader said that he plans to make his home in Iowa City as soon as he can find a suitable place.

Police Hunt Bandit; Armed Man Gets $269 In Local Restaurant

No trace has yet been found of the armed bandit who robbed William T. Barnes, proprietor of Barney's Grill, 10 E. Washington street, of $269 in cash about 1:45 a. m. yesterday in the back room of the grill. It was the first armed robbery in Iowa City in seven years.

The thief forced Barnes into a closet before making his getaway with money the cafe man had given him at the point of a gun. Barnes made an immediate escape from the unlocked closet to notify police.

The man is believed to have entered the unlocked rear door sometime after the 10:30 p. m. closing hour. Barnes, who was in the cafe alone after 11:30 p. m., went into the back room to carry refuse to the alley about 1:30 a. m. He made one trip and was returning when the thief spoke from where he stood on the stairs just inside the door.

Barnes described the bandit as being a heavy-set, dark-complexioned man, about five feet nine inches tall and weighing 175 pounds. He was estimated as being between 38 and 45 years old. He was wearing a dark coat and hat and light gloves. The man was unshaven, had thick lips and spoke very brokenly.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Reds Say Collaboration Between U. S.-Russia Essential to Maintain World Peace—Johnson

"Since he has no confidence in the UNO, the average Russian believes that close collaboration between the United States and Russia is needed if peace is to be maintained," Prof. Jack Johnson, of the political science department of the university told members of the Lions club yesterday.

The captain of the Russian destroyer on which Johnson served as interpreter and translator, expressed to him the idea of emphasizing historical similarities rather than political and economic differences. According to the Russian, the U. S. and his country have never fought each other in spite of these differences, and suddenly people say they're not going to get along because they're different, Johnson said.

He stated that the trend among the great mass of Russian people is the hope for a large production of consumers' goods and Stalin is going to have to produce wrist-watches whether he wants to or not. They are envious, he said, of the amount of goods available to the average American and are interested chiefly in boosting their own standard of living.

"If asked what they expect in international affairs," Johnson said, "the Russian is always anxious that the 1920-40 episode doesn't repeat itself. During that time they were saturated with the idea that their country was surrounded by enemy nations." What they want now, he explained, is not control of governments or people of these countries, but the insurance that they will be friendly.

"The people," he said, "are young, vigorous, proud of any achievement and sensitive to anything that is critical. Since almost every Russian enjoys speaking English, they often ask why their language and literature isn't taught more extensively in our schools. They are always disarmed if they find you know anything that sounds like Russian."

Johnson has recently returned to the campus after spending two years in the navy. In 1944, he entered the Naval Oriental Language school in Boulder, Col., where he acquired the equivalent of four years of college Russian in eight months.

Trott, vice-commander; Nate Kendall, adjutant; Frank Lee, 1945 commander, and Al Geis, 1945 adjutant.
