GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

It will be mostly cloudy, considerably colder and windy with snow flurries today. Tomorrow will be partly cloudy.

RALLY FAILS: HAWKS LOSE, 49-46

By GUS SCHRADER
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

The guts and undying fight that have pulled them through similar crises in the past, weren't quite enough last night to save Iowa's Hawkeyes a final chance to retrieve a share of their Big Ten title. They lost a heart-breaker to Indiana's cool and deadly Hoosiers, 49-46, only after another of their truly great rallies was thwarted 35 seconds before the gun.

The 14,400 frenzied fans thought they were seeing a re-enactment of the superb spurt that won the Minnesota game when Dick Ives rocketed in to tie the score at 46-46 as the fieldhouse clock struck its last minute.

It had been darkest just before that dawn. The Hoosiers had hurried off to a 43-37 lead and were starting to coast when Iowa's nine-point explosion ignited with six minutes remaining.

Free throws—two of them by Dave Danner and one each by Theron Thomsen and Tony Guzowski—narrowed the gap to 45-41 while Schwartz was nicking another field goal for the Hoosiers. Then Herb Wilkinson loped in to score and Indiana's Wallace and Iowa's Jorgensen exchanged free throws to leave the count 46-44 with the Hawkeyes trailing.

Ives, always helpful in the clutches, pitched in his tying shot and the battle of nerves began.

Finally, Jorgensen fouled Walker. The Hoosier missed his free throw, but alert Tom Schwartz boomed in a rebound with 35 seconds to go. Indiana's stalling and Iowa's frantic efforts finished out the game. The final score of 49-46 was attained when Schwartz potted a free throw after the gun.

The defeat did more than break the stout hearts of the Hawks and their proud backers. It eclipsed all chance of retaining a slice of the championship medal and left only the possibility of sharing second place honors with the Hoosiers, which Iowa can do by topping Minnesota at Minneapolis Saturday night.

Another proudful record ended. Iowa's home victory string was snapped at 22 straight. Indiana became the only team to beat the Hawkeyes on their own "heart-break alley" floor in two seasons. Iowa has lost two games in the last 34 at home.

The final reckoning of shot percentages told the sad story of defeat and its causes. The Hawkeyes made only 17 field goals in 94 attempts for a .181 mark. Even at that, however, the Hawks equalled their conquerors from the field.

The Hoosiers made their 17 goals in just 70 shots for a .243 percentage. Three free throws spelled the actual difference between the two teams.

Ned Postels, playing his last game in the fieldhouse, came up as high point man for the first time in this season by scoring nine points. Herb Wilkinson, Dave Danner and towering Noble Jorgensen each scored eight.

Indiana's scoring was divided just as equally. Forward Al Kralovansky led with 12, Walker scored 11, and Wallace and the game-breaking Schwartz each were credited with nine.

The first half started off in a spectacular fashion that was typical of many an Iowa opening this season. The Hawks grabbed a 6-2 lead before the Hoosiers scored from the field, Jorgensen rolled one in from underneath and Danner poked home two of his one-handed specialties.

Then the see-saw action began that finished out the first 20 minutes. Iowa kept the upper hand, but its defense lapsed as the half waned and the hurlyin' Hoosiers sieved through to lead at the intermission, 33-27.

The Hawkeyes' play varied from stupendous on occasions to shabby at other times. Herb Wilkinson seemed bothered by his recent shoulder injury, making his performance below its customary all-American style. Try as they might, the Hawks threw too many passes away and leaked too often on defense to expect their guests not to take advantage of the shortcomings.

Jorgensen handled under-the-bucket scoring for Iowa in the first half, but it was the far away shots of Postels, Herb and Danner that kept them out in front until less than two minutes before the gun.

The second half began with an Iowa rally. Jorgy again whacked in a rebound, Ned sneaked in for a quickie and Murray Wier potted a free throw before the Hoosiers shook loose to score. But the Indiana bucket brigade started in earnest then and built up the 43-37 lead that stood just before Iowa launched its all-out rally that came so close to ending in victory.

The victory left Indiana in sole possession of second place behind the Ohio State Buckeyes for the moment. Both have finished their conference seasons. Indiana with 9-3 and Ohio State with 10-2. Iowa can end its season with a 9-3 mark next Saturday night by beating the Gophers again. Iowa's total season record to date is 14 wins in 17 starts.

Indiana's victory last night was its 32nd in a 50-game series with Iowa.

Labor Protests Truman Order On Wage-Price

President Reinstates Stabilization Board On Wartime Basis

WASHINGTON (AP)—Organized labor balked at wage control features of President Truman's new wage-price policy yesterday while funds for enforcement were threatened and congress heard living costs may soar another 10 percent.

These developments came thick and fast:

1. The CIO told Economic Stabilization Director Chester Bowles it "could not commit itself" to the order calling for approval of wage increases by the wage stabilization board. It proposed that the board remove this requirement by a resolution.

2. The AFL foresaw new strikes among its unions which had settled for less than the patterns which might be set by the board.

3. The senate appropriations committee cut by half the funds the house had voted to operate the OPA and the civilian production administration for the next four months.

4. Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board told the house banking committee there is "some possibility" of a further rise of 10 percent in the cost of living as a result of the new presidential wage-price policy. He said that "labor must be made to understand that future increases in wages, after the adjustment now in progress, must come only from increased production and profits."

Mr. Truman took an essential step in carrying out his policy by issuing an executive order reestablishing the office of economic stabilization as it had existed during wartime. Bowles was given the job of director. Former Stabilization Administrator John C. Collet will return Wednesday to the federal court seat he left in Missouri when he came to Washington.

The CIO stated its position in a letter to Bowles, climaxing a day of conferences between Murray and his top union associates, except those directly involved in negotiations in Detroit and New York.

AFL officials made their position known in talks with a reporter.

A high government official, in close touch with the labor situation, declared the labor opposition indicated a "build-up" to withdrawal of labor members from the WSB. The wage board has two public members, two from management and two from labor—one each from AFL and CIO.

Should the labor members pull out, this official said, administrators of the wage-policy would be forced to by-pass the wage board entirely, throwing all wage-price cases direct to OPA, or continue the board as a public body without labor representation.

Attorney Suspended In Buchanan County

INDEPENDENCE (AP)—Robert R. Melrose, Buchanan county attorney since 1943, was suspended from office by the district court yesterday and a hearing set for March 8 on his removal after his indictment on a charge of "corruptly influencing an official." Melrose issued a flat denial of the charges.

FATAL BLAST AT CHURCH REUNION

STANDING AMID WRECKAGE in the basement of the First Christian church, Washington, Pa., a police officer looks over the debris remaining after the church's heating plant exploded killing Mrs. Kay F. Molinauer, Washington, Pa., and injuring over forty others. Over 200 were attending a "Father and Son" banquet that was being held in the basement of the church when the explosion occurred.

Supreme Court Orders Release Of Honolulu Broker, Shipfitter

WASHINGTON (AP)—Civil Justice Burton wrote a dissent in which Justice Frankfurter concurred.

In other decisions the court ruled that:

1.—A Nevada bookkeeper who embezzled $13,000 from his employer and lost most of it in Reno gambling establishments does not have to pay income taxes of $2,978 on the embezzled money.

2.—Richmond, Va., may not levy an annual license tax of $50 on persons soliciting orders in interstate commerce, and

3.—When a workman receives a back pay award he should be given wage credits under the social security act.

The court agreed to review a case involving efforts of three Illinois residents to force a remapping of the state's congressional districts.

Naval Commander Denies—

Nazi Prisoners Had Gala Party

NEW YORK (AP)—Nine German naval officers and 267 crew members who the Philadelphia Record said took part in a "gala farewell party" aboard the German heavy cruiser Prinz Eugen Sunday, sailed yesterday for Europe on the naval transport Gen. A. E. Anderson under marine guard.

The Germans arrived yesterday by train, while the Philadelphia naval base investigated what the record said was "as fitting a farewell party as any prewar bon voyage party in the United States."

A crowd of 500 persons were at Pennsylvania station to see the Germans as they were unloaded, one car at a time, under supervi-

British Troops Patrol Streets; Bombay Quiet

BOMBAY (AP)—Bombay was quiet last night after a week of violence and disorder, but British troops by the thousands continued to patrol the debris-littered streets in armored cars and British warships, ready for action, rode at anchor in the inner harbor.

Heavy police details, weary from a week of fighting, were held on the alert. The city cleared its streets, repaired its damage and gradually restored its disrupted services.

After a day in which threatened student demonstrations failed to materialize and striking seamen of the royal Indian navy returned to their duties, a British communique said, "The situation is completely quiet and public confidence is returning."

The latest official figures on civilian casualties were 228 dead and 1,047 injured. Total casual-

Pasha Blames Riots On British Trucks

CAIRO (AP)—Premier Ismail Sidki Pasha last night blamed the violent Cairo riots of last Thursday on four British army trucks which he asserted smashed through a crowd of demonstrators, killing one and injuring eight.

In a speech before the Egyptian senate he expressed "astonishment" that the British had made representations before any investigation could be made determining responsibility, and said he had made a reply which included "certain demands resulting from recent events."

He did not disclose the "demands," but demonstrators during the anti-British outbursts called for withdrawal of British troops from Egypt and incorporation by Egypt of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Peron Refuses to— Abandon Politics

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Col. Juan Peron, labor party candidate for president, yesterday issued a post-election statement indicating that "whatever may be the result" of Sunday's balloting he had no intention of abandoning politics or dissolving his party.

Peron failed to claim victory, although his followers insisted that he had won easily. His opponent, Jose P. Tamborini, in a statement Sunday night expressed confidence that he had defeated Peron.

Peron's statement was published in his newspaper El Laborista as electoral boards in the capitals of 14 provinces, in conjunction with the armed forces, began the arduous task of computing more than 3,000,000 votes to determine whether Peron or Tamborini, candidate of the Democratic union, had been elected.

Official returns probably will not be known for at least 30 or 40 days, although in the event of a landslide for one of the candidates unofficial results may be known long before that time.

Peron's statement, addressed to his followers, exhorted them not to abandon their cause and urged "each one to remain firm in the fight because there is a final goal which must be achieved with perseverance and sacrifice."

Housing Shortage Soldier Carries Baby On Journey

LONDON (AP)—Pvt. Francis O. Tilley of Burlington, Vt., his baby daughter under one arm and a barracks bag under the other, came back to London last night and blamed the local housing shortage for his four-day flight to the continent with a 17-month-old child.

In a new explanation of his trip, Tilley said he had searched for three months with his Scottish wife, Helen, in an unavailing attempt to find a home before his reenlistment furlough ended. When his 90 days were up last Friday, he said, all he could do was leave Mrs. Tilley with friends and take the baby with him.

The weary looking private, who said the past four days had been "tiring but fun," was met at Victoria station by his 28-year-old wife. Arrangements had been made for them, he said, at a friends house in nearby Surrey.

Tilley said he had no trouble feeding the baby and washing diapers in the Paris GI billet, where the army found him, before ordering him to return the infant to his mother. He was given five days, he said, to straighten out his difficulties before reporting to the Belgium depot for reassignment.

Chiang Rejects Red Demands

CHUNGKING (AP)—China restated her sovereignty over Manchuria and in effect rejected new concessions to Russia last night.

Her position was coupled with a declaration by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek that he hoped the Manchurian problem would be solved, because world peace depended on Chinese-Soviet cooperation.

The first official Chinese statement of Manchurian policy said simply that Chiang had instructed his headquarters in Manchuria to base negotiations with Russia on these three principles:

1. They must be in accord with Chinese law. 2. The Chinese-Soviet treaty of last Aug. 14 must be respected. 3. There must be no conflict with international treaties to which China is a signatory.

There have been unofficial reports that the Russians—who occupy Manchuria—have been demanding broad new concessions far beyond the treaty terms, which gave them Port Arthur as a naval base and provided for joint operation of some railways and joint use of Dairen as a free port.

To 'Share' Guilt

FRANKFURT (AP)—In a secret speech to die-hard Nazis confined in the American Seventh army internment camp, Pastor Martin Niemoeller said the German people must share the "mountain of guilt" for the war and not try to lay all the blame on the Nazis or war criminals.

Discarded Fact Finding Report

Reuther Reports 'No Agreement Reached, None Yet in Sight'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO United Auto workers, charged yesterday in Detroit that "President Truman let us down by not seeing that the report of his fact finding committee (in the General Motors strike) was carried out."

The GM finding panel proposed more than a month ago that a 19 1/2 cent (17.5 percent) wage increase be granted to settle the walkout of 175,000 production workers at GM plants in 20 states.

The strike went into its 38th day today and UAW Vice-President Walter P. Reuther declared "thus far no agreement has been reached and none is presently in sight."

The union has agreed to accept the 19 1/2 cent fact finding proposal but GM's highest offer has been 18 1/2 cents. The union, however, also has asked reinstatement of the old contract and a UAW spokesman said before yesterday's negotiations that a long list of issues, including seniority and vacation pay, still were in dispute.

Meanwhile, the UAW's 200-man GM council was summoned to Detroit to hear a report Friday on the status of the strike.

Elsewhere throughout the nation a transit strike loomed in New York, a power strike threatened again in Pittsburgh and in Philadelphia a solid line of pickets before the General Electric plant, struck as part of a nationwide walkout of 175,000 CIO electrical workers, defying an injunction against mass picketing.

The situation by cities: Detroit—Negotiators for the CIO United Dairy workers and the Michigan Milk Producers association met to consider proposals for settlement of a five-day strike which reduced the city's milk supply by more than half.

Coatesville, Pa.—A strike of 4,000 Lukens Steel company workers continued for the 37th consecutive day after negotiations to end the wage dispute collapsed.

Portland, Ore.—A CIO union reported a strike over a wage dispute at 18 plants of the American Smelting and Refining company, which began yesterday was 100 percent effective.

In Ft. Worth, Tex., picket lines were thrown around the big Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation plant as 4,000 production workers struck in support of demands for a 30 percent wage increase. The company had offered 15 percent.

Tangled Surplus Property Disposal Machinery Hurts Vets

Veterans are currently having inexcusable difficulties acquiring war surplus property. Unsatisfactory organization in the various agencies handling the property apparently is one of the causes of the confusion.

Take, for example, the case of DeWitt Bolton, a discharged navy man from Hannibal, Mo. Bolton sought a crane for himself and his partner in the sand and gravel business. He turned to government agencies in his search.

Bolton began his quest Oct. 9, and he is about to give up the task as unsuccessful after four and a half months of fruitless attempts to obtain the crane.

Letters seeking a purchase priority were sent to the reconstruction finance corporation, the department of commerce, the smaller war plants corporation, the surplus property administration and the war assets corporation. His inquiries went to offices in Chicago, Washington, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Three months later Bolton received his priority permit from Kansas City. Then he found just the crane he'd been looking for, but the Kansas City office informed him the place of purchase was outside its jurisdiction. So he made his request through the Chicago office.

The Chicago answer was almost the last straw for Bolton. It suggested, in part: "Contact a dealer of your choice and have him act on your behalf." This answer was a mistake, as was explained in a subsequent letter.

But today, however, Bolton still hasn't obtained that crane. He is seriously considering "throwing in the towel."

Another unsatisfactory phase in the surplus property procedure is the unfair methods of rationing purchases. A veteran, for instance, desires to buy a jeep and succeeds in acquiring a priority for the purchase. The discharge in most cases will be a person with only a small amount of capital.

When the veteran reaches the location of exchange, he will often be informed that jeeps (in this example) are not now being sold as units of one, but in lots of five or ten or even more. Being a man with limited assets, he probably will not be able to make the purchase of an entire lot.

In the meantime, the representative of a large business firm appears on the scene. Since the veteran cannot use his priority, the sale is made to the prosperous civilian buyer who proceeds to make a clean sweep of the entire stock at a minimum cost. As a result, another deserving service man has been a victim of an unfair practice, and a non-veteran buyer has made an economical barter.

As the situation now stands, the old navy adage is appropriate: "There will be shore liberty tonight—but no liberty boats." It is time G. I. benefits actually became benefits.

Nazi 'Blame' Allies for War Guilt—Chuckle, Chuckle

Something new was injected into the Nuremberg war crimes trials last Saturday when the attorneys for Joachim von Ribbentrop and Hermann Goering asked the court's permission to introduce "evidence" of Allied "war guilt."

The bit of strategy closely rivals—and perhaps even out-ranks—the best produced by Propaganda Minister Goebbels during the years that he twisted facts, mixed in lies and showed the doctrine down the throats of the German people. Herr Goebbels set an all-time high for telling the tallest tales, but even he, had he not hanged himself, would probably be bowing his head in reverence to this latest expression of Nazi paranoiae thinking.

Concerning Churchill, Herr Horn, one of the defense attorneys, declared that "the witness can testify that on the occasion of his visit in the German embassy, Von Ribbentrop talked with him about the necessity of creating friendly relations between Germany and England, and that he mainly told him a strong Germany, which was not about to become a reality, represented the strongest support for the British empire."

"At that time, Churchill replied to these statements that England was intelligent and experienced enough to get other powers on England's side if Germany became too strong," Horn said.

Of course the German foreign office was sincere in saying, if it did, that "a strong Germany represented the strongest support for the British empire." Just as sincere as the other "friendly" declarations the Nazis made. And it couldn't be considered a crime for Great Britain to unite with other nations against international gangsterism.

For his contribution to this latest Nazi epistle, Herr Stahmer, one of the defense attorneys, maintained that the "evidence" might indicate the defendants (Von Ribbentrop and Goering) acted for "revenge or retaliation." Revenge or retaliation against millions of German Jews, Poles, Netherlands, Norwegians and all the others, Mr. Stahmer? Evidently the counsels for the defense had better reread their copies of "Mein Kampf."

We in America certainly won't deny the Nazis the right to defend themselves. We will extend to them "the same democratic privileges which we enjoy. But if their latest tactic seems to us a bit ridiculous, you'll pardon us while we chuckle.

shortest possible time—at least 2,700,000 units in the next two years.

Almost everybody says that's impossible. But there are a few who say the impossible is just what the Kentucky tornado will achieve if he doesn't blast himself, his staff and others into utter exhaustion first.

"From the day Wyatt hit Washington, he has out-conferred his boss, President Truman, who is just about the champion conferrer of all times. Having only a mayor's localized knowledge of housing problems, the new expediter set out to pass his national housing post-graduate tests in about five weeks.

Starting his office work around 9 or 9:30 a. m., the genial ex-mayor of Louisville has been working until midnight or even 5 a. m., exclusive of homework. There is the record of one conference that started at 2 p. m. and went through until five the next morning, with only time out to munch food that was laid on the conference table. Less than five hours later, the Kentuckian was back at his desk, as fresh as a new-plucked sprig of mint.

Until he announced his program, Wyatt, ordinarily a fairly talkative fellow, didn't do much but study and listen. If there's any governmental agency or industrial group having anything to do with housing or the materials or labor that go into construction that Wyatt hasn't listened to, it's because it hasn't had any representative in Washington.

In 1941, Wyatt, then 37 years old, tossed aside his prosperous corporation law practice to take over the mayor's office in the city of bourbon, fine horses and good, easy-going living.

What happened to Louisville is what happened to a lot of important industrial cities during the war years. It threatened weekly to burst out at the seams. The boys from Louisville here tell me it would have, too, if it hadn't been for Mayor W. W. W.

G. J. claims the best filibusterer he ever heard was old Sen. Silvanus Silo, the sage of Sauerkraut Center. There was a windbag who made the Graf Zeppelin look like a dime store balloon!

The senator from Sauerkraut Center once talked from Friday evening straight through to Monday morning. A film story of his life could have been titled "The Loud Week-End."

After a long career the old senator suddenly resigned in mid-term, broken-hearted. It seems that at the finish of his final filibuster he suddenly discovered he had successfully filibustered against his own bill.

Grandpap says he can remember when a filibustering senator didn't get his tonsils in good working order until he was half way through the encyclopedia.

Maybe our larynxes have become softies because of the advent of radio we have become a nation of listeners and not talkers.

Interpreting The News...

Chinese Criticize Yalta Pact; Ignore Background

Many Americans sympathize with China's resentment over the Yalta agreement, which—without consulting China—promised Soviet Russia concessions in Manchuria.

The Chinese complain increasingly that the agreement was secret, and that the Russians now are going beyond it to demand further concessions, although they don't elaborate this latter charge.

What no Chinese has done thus far—publicly, at any rate—is to balance the present situation against what it might be if there had been no Yalta agreement. What that might be none can say with certainty, but it may be doubted if China would like it any better.

At the same time the Chinese complain about Yalta they say officially they fully intended to live up to their treaties with Russia. As these are based on the Yalta agreement and do not, as published, go beyond it, the Chinese really are complaining not about the scope of the Yalta agreement but only the manner in which it was reached.

This was secret. It had to be to avoid inviting a Japanese invasion of eastern Siberia and a blockade of Russia's Pacific coast, both of which very well could have come off at the time and would have made Japan still harder to beat.

No Chinese argument thus far has dealt publicly with this background of the agreement.

One apparently legitimate Chinese complaint is that the Russians are oversteering their leave in Manchuria. But in making this complaint, the Chinese don't mention that they twice asked the Russians to stay on beyond the agreed-upon date of departure.

Comes now the ticklish question—have the Russians been carrying off industrial and other equipment from Manchuria? The Chinese hint strongly that they have, but until they make official charges their hints can have no more force than hints.

People have been thinking for many times more than 18 years, but a radio discussion series which has been on the air consistently for that period of time, as has the "American Forum of the Air," calls attention to itself as more than a passing stimulus to public consideration of current affairs. Upholds FEPC Death

In an editorial published in The Daily Iowan several days ago, the editor expressed his opinion that the action of the United States senate regarding the fair employment practices commission bill was regrettable, an opinion with which I would like to take issue. If the senate had taken a definite stand against action designed to eliminate unfair discrimination from employment practices, I should strongly join in reprimanding them. The fact remains, however, that the senate actually returned an unsatisfactory measure to the committee on education and labor for further study and revision.

The press and radio have unfortunately dealt with the FEPC bill almost exclusively in terms of the filibuster which was waged against it by a bipartisan group. I believe you will concur with me in my belief that if the senators had honestly held the FEPC bill presented before them to be good, vital legislation, they would have passed it over all obstacles. The filibustering element consisted of a decided minority of the senate who alone could never have defeated the measure once the issue had been brought to a vote. The Iowan's editorial expressed question as to the reason, then, for no positive action on the part of the majority.

In the first place, a matter of legislative principle was involved.

We have been accustomed, during the several crises we have weathered in the past 14 years, to solving all problems with sudden, powerful and binding laws and directives. We have been able to see that often such laws do accomplish the task for which they were designed. In as large a quantity, however, we have observed that consideration for the individual and honest justice have been compromised with such action. Good government should always undertake to prevent such compromises. In that the situation to be remedied by an FEPC is not an emergency, we are offered here an opportunity to return to fine legislative practices in the solving of the discrimination problem fairly and permanently.

I say that because the FEPC bill sponsored by Mr. Chavez is a sweeping bill which gives a commission of five manifold and great power which are inconsistent with times of peace. Many of the strongest supporters of the bill also took that view. Those who allowed it to be sent back to committee were not showing a lack of interest, as The Iowan editor has suggested. To the direct contact, they were showing a very commendable degree of interest. They wanted the bill amended, to make it a bill to accomplish the noble purpose for which it is intended. Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, one of the foremost liberal Republicans and chief advocates of an FEPC, admitted to the senate that the bill as it said needed amendment.

Netherlander Writes

TO THE EDITOR: Some days ago I saw a talkie, a very nice film of your Iowa. One picture showed a close-up of your paper. I wrote down the name and here is a letter from me, as I would like to have some correspondence with one or some of your citizens. It doesn't matter which it is, a director, or his typist, lady, student or one of your employees.

The reason why I want to correspond? There are some. First: I want to write English letters and that, if possible without mistakes. Second: What is America? What are Americans doing? What is going on there, circumstances, labor, recreation, opinions about my country and so on. And especially your town is a very interesting subject. So answer these and other questions. Third: To tell and give reality about my country and especially my town, Amsterdam. Particulars about life, sports, work, industry, dikes, occupation, etc. I am unmarried, male about 30 years live with my sister in a broad street, first school. Studied at a sort of high school and got certificates of bookkeeping, Engagements. Was employed with a banking house, labor office, funeral company, bonds registration. My sports were baseball, fencing, fishing, hockey, korfbal. If you can find somebody who will correspond with me, I'll be very grateful.

On Paul Mallon

TO THE EDITOR: I see from reading the paper that The Daily Iowan is once more starting to feature the column of Paul Mallon. This makes me feel rather sorry, for I had thought that it had died a natural death a couple of years ago. It is beyond my understanding why... (you) feature a column written and designed for the Hearst papers. There is scarcely a day when one does not find in it some atrocious distortion of the truth. Only yesterday a Daily Iowan editorial called attention to such a distortion. Today Mallon presents, for "political" reasons of his own, a "trustworthy" labor leader who "might be able to establish union responsibility." His name is John L. Lewis. This is exactly the man who did not stand to the no-strike pledge during the war which all other labor leaders observed, the man who created a "catch-all" union purely for the purpose to increase his personal power.

These are two regular samples of the writings of Paul Mallon. Would it be possible to replace his writings by the work of some more responsible columnist? G. H. Wannier

(Paul Mallon's column was returned to The Daily Iowan at the request of many readers. His opinions are stimulating to many, sometimes prompting rebuttal as in Mr. Wannier's case and sometimes prompting affirmation. Recognizing that he has long been considered one of Washington's top columnists. The Iowan is presenting selected columns of his.)

Wilson W. Wyatt, the Kentucky Hurricane, Is Creating a Gale

(First of Two Articles)

WASHINGTON—There'll be one less tornado in Kentucky this year. Wilson W. Wyatt, former mayor of Louisville, is in Washington.

President Truman has handed him the double-barreled job of housing expediter and national housing administrator. One way or another, the breeze from those appointments still will be blowing when the 1948 elections come around.

The nation's capital got used to southerners kicking up dust a long time ago—as a matter of fact, about as long ago as when the colonies were trying to put 13 eggs in one basket. But for the most part, these southerners took it kind of slow and easy. There always was enough huffing and puffing before the big breeze to give fair warning.

Wilson Wyatt isn't like that. He blew into town a month or so ago and he's still blowing a gale which has his staff and a score of committee gasping—and already has blown the roof off a lot of controversies.

That doesn't bother Wyatt a bit. What he's trying to do is put a few million roofs over the heads of America's houseless in the

Trailer Units to Open Saturday for Students

University students and their families are expected to occupy trailer units this weekend in Hawkeye Village, according to R. J. Phillips, superintendent of the division of university maintenance and operation.

"We hope to have at least 10 or 12 units ready for occupancy by Saturday," Phillips said. "It is difficult to say when the other units will be ready since the work depends on weather conditions."

The trailers expected to be ready this weekend are along the north side of the trailer site, just south of Iowa avenue.

Fred W. Ambrose, university business manager, said, "We are primarily concerned now with repairing and making the interiors as attractive as possible. We are making plans to improve the appearance of the site, too. This will probably be done by painting all the units and the possible installation of recreational facilities for children."

Ambrose said a fence will be constructed along the bank of the river west of Hawkeye Village and also between the trailer site and the railroad tracks to the west.

Meanwhile additional trailer units are arriving by truck from Akron, Ohio, and Centerline, Mich., to be set up in Riverdale, trailer camp 200 yards north of university theater along the west bank of Iowa river.

Dorothy Wiarda Wed To Michael Matava Feb. 15 in Baltimore

In a simple ceremony, Dorothy Wiarda, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Wiarda of Rock Rapids, became the bride of Michael Matava, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Matava of New York City, Feb. 15 at 8 p. m. in the parsonage of St. Mark's Methodist church in Baltimore, Md. Dr. J. Milton Rogers read the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Matava was graduated from Rock Rapids high school and attended the University of Iowa. Mr. Matava was graduated from the University of Cincinnati in Cincinnati, Ohio, and was discharged from the army in November after serving in the Pacific theater. He is now teaching in the Baltimore public school system.

LeClair Man Fined $100 in Police Court For Reckless Driving

Charged with reckless driving, Ora Jenkins of LeClair had his driver's license suspended for 60 days and was fined $100 and costs by Police Judge John Knox yesterday following an accident about 7:45 p. m. Sunday on Dearborn street.

Jenkins' car received $30 damage when it struck a parked car belonging to Richard L. Holcomb, 605 Dearborn street, in front of that address. Damage to the Holcomb car was estimated at $35.

Jenkins received first aid at the police station for a cut lip.

A fine of $15 and costs was paid by each of the following persons for speeding: Kenneth Tyler, 319 S. Clinton street; Ronald Burkett, 1312 Kirkwood avenue, and R. L. Pulliam, 1217 Friendly avenue.

Charged with driving through a stop sign, Bernard Diamond, 727 E. Jefferson street, was fined $3 and costs. Daryl Swails, 401 Garden street, paid a $1 fine for double parking.

Hancher Discusses University Changes In Anniversary Talk

"Registration for the second semester indicates that the university now has 6,581 on-campus students, only 86 below the pre-war peak of 6,667," President Virgil M. Hancher said last night at the 99th anniversary program broadcast over WSUI.

Welcoming new appointees and members of the staff who have been on leave, President Hancher discussed changes in personnel.

"It is contemplated that one or perhaps two theoretical physicists and one experimental physicist will be added to our present staff in the department and that research in nuclear physics, which was interrupted by the war, will rapidly be resumed," he said.

Discussing the campus planning committee, President Hancher said, "The university has received legislative appropriations in excess of $2,600,000 for a building program to be launched as soon as materials and labor are available."

"We have also planned permanent additions to our dormitory system, which are not dependent upon legislative appropriations."

The half-hour program reviewed the past year of the university, curricular changes, the veterans service and the housing situation.

Joseph Strahle Bid Low on Sewer Project

The lowest of four bids for the Rundell street sewer improvement in east Iowa City opened in City hall at 2 p. m. yesterday was that of Joseph Strahle of Iowa City. His bid was $7,699.45.

Other bids were: Gjellafeld Const. Co. of Fairfield, $8,796.50; Peter Kruse of Spencer, $11,160.85, and the W. R. Horrabin Const. Co. of Iowa City, $10,598.25.

The choice of the council committee composed of I. J. Barron, Charles T. Smith, M. Dean Jones and Vernon I. Capen will be reported to the city council Tuesday night.

Patricia Rowley Marries Robert McCarten In Double Ring Ceremony at Catholic Center

In a ceremony in the Catholic student center Saturday afternoon, Patricia Rowley, daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Taylor Rowley, 331 Johnson street, became the bride of Robert A. McCarten, son of Mrs. W. C. McCarten of Omaha, Nebr. The Rev. Leonard Brugman officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Attending the couple were Grace Jean Hicks as maid of honor, and Edward McCarten of Iowa City as best man. Jack Grant of Omaha served as usher.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Dr. Thomas O. Rowley, wore a gown of white satin, styled with an organza yoke and white satin epaulets. The skirt extended into a junior train. She wore a single strand of pearls, a fingertip veil and carried a bouquet of white tulips.

Miss Hicks wore a pale blue net gown and a short veil of blue, and carried pale pink tulips.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rowley selected a two-piece dress of gray wool trimmed with silver nailheads. Her corsage was shell pink carnations and her accessories were black. Mrs. McCarten wore a gown of black printed silk, with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held at Hotel Jefferson following the ceremony. Yellow and white spring flowers and yellow tapers decorated the table.

The couple left for a wedding trip to Memphis, Tenn. For traveling Mrs. McCarten wore a three-piece gray suit with brown accessories, and a corsage of white flowers.

The bride attended the University of Texas and the University of Iowa. Mr. McCarten attended Creighton preparatory school and the University of Omaha, where he was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta social fraternity. He is now a student pilot in the navy, stationed in Memphis.

Out of town guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. F. Swank of Ames; Mr. and Mrs. O. Thusen and daughter, Joanne, of Marshalltown; Dorothy Oliver of Chicago, and Mrs. T. E. Taylor of Waterloo.

Courtesy Revived Tommie Bendi Changes Her Mind

Tommie Bendi, A2 of Clear Lake, whose challenge to Iowa men to "snap out of it" and brush up their prewar manners started a battle by pen over courtesy on campus, has received material results in her campaign for gallantry.

A freshman football player carried her two blocks to a waiting taxi Saturday night so that she wouldn't have to walk on her sprained ankle.

Miss Bendi's comment: "I can't understand it. He just picked me up and started off. The men are getting better—hadn't you noticed? They even open doors now."

St. Mary's Ramblers will be the first of the local teams to play, tangling with Tiffin in tonight's 9:30 feature game. St. Patrick's plays Cosgrove at 8:15 p. m. tomorrow and U-high will meet West Liberty Saturday night at 9:30 in one of the two class A battles.

The Ramblers boast the best record among the Iowa City teams, winning 19 of 21 starts, including eleven straight since they lost to Loras High of Dubuque Jan. 9th. Forward Bill Saeppel and center Bart Toohy have shown the way during this victory streak, forming a high powered offensive combination. The Tiffin quintet they meet tonight was runner-up in the Johnson county tournament this year, knocking off a highly regarded Oxford team in the semi-finals before losing the championship game to Solon, the team that is favored to meet the Ramblers in the bracket finals Saturday.

The only other class A game will match Kalona and Tipton at 8:15 tonight, with Nichols and Lone Tree rounding out the evening's program with their class B match at 7.

Coach Frank Saeppel's Ramblers, seeded number one in class B play, are matched with Tiffin, Springdale, Solon and Riverside in upper bracket play and are expected to move through the bracket with little trouble.

In the lower bracket, however, second seeded West Branch and St. Patrick's Irish promise to put on the feature battle of the tournament, if they get past first round opposition, in what will be their rubber meeting of the year. The Irish took the first match between the two schools last in December, rolling to a startling 53-19 win, but then lost, 21-20, at West Branch later in the season.

Other lower bracket quintets include Oxford, Nichols, Lone Tree, Cosgrove and Atalissa.

Elsewhere in the state, interest will turn to the southwest corner where Harlan, number one in the area and one of the favorites to lift Ames' crown, open in the Avoca tournament.

Tournament squads announced last night include: St. Mary's: Andy Chuekalas, Bill Saeppel, Bart Toohy, Jack Schrader, Ed Rocca, John Saeppel, Charley Motte, Paul Flannery, Bernard Brogla, Charles Boyd, Peter Lenech and Ted Rittenmeyer.

St. Patrick's: Meryl Hoyer, Bob Sullivan, Bob Brown, Jerry Megan, Bill Seemuth, Bill McMahon, Charley Belger, Tom Hoyer, Mert Herdiska and John Meade.

The first round pairings:

CLASS A
U-high vs. West Liberty, Saturday 9:30
Kalona vs. Tipton, tonight 8:15

CLASS B
St. Mary's vs. Tiffin, tonight 9:30
Springdale, bye

Nichols vs. Lone Tree, tonight 7

St. Patrick's vs. Cosgrove, Wednesday, 8:15
Atalissa vs. West Branch, Wednesday 7

St. Patrick's Irish prepared to enter sectional play in the Iowa City tourney here tomorrow night after ending their season with a 43-27 loss to Immaculate Conception of Cedar Rapids in a rough and tumble contest on the south side floor Sunday afternoon.

Ending up with two men on the floor, the rest fouling out or chased to the sidelines for fighting, St. Patrick's was no match for the big aggressive Greyhounds. The invaders moved into a 15-8 halftime advantage and except for one spurt that pulled the Irish into within three points, controlled the scoring in the second half.

Exodus of players started after one minute of the second quarter was gone. Merle Hoyer, for the first time in 21 games, received his fifth foul and the Irish sparking sat the rest of the game on the bench.

From then on it was a continual parade to the foul line with St. Patrick's 17 free throws the only factor that kept them in the tilt. They garnered only five field goals to the visitor's 13.

Coach Cliff Kritt's Irish, through with regular season play, engage Cosgrove tomorrow night in the state sectional tourney at City high gym.

Morris Short Of 200 Mark

CHICAGO (AP)—Northwestern's Max Morris failed by two points to reach the coveted 200 mark in Big Ten basketball scoring and there is a remote chance that his final 198 total will not be enough for his second straight conference championship.

Blazing away for 26 points against Indiana Saturday night, sharp-shooting Tony Jaros of Minnesota with a 10-game bag of 155 has a mathematical chance of passing Morris in his final two games. Jaros needs 44 points against Iowa and Wisconsin, an average of 22 points per game, to edge the Northwestern star, who tallied only eight points in his finale against Ohio State Saturday night.

Bill Reed, Big Ten publicist, said a re-check of scoring gave him an official 12-game total of 198. It was reported Morris lost a basket in a scoring mix-up earlier at Michigan, but Wolverine officials reviewed their books and said his original total of five points was correct.

Thus, Morris lost a chance to become the fourth player in conference history to score 200 points in one season, and the third to do the trick in 12 games.

Squad Too Dejected to Talk; Perfect Home Record Smashed

By JACK SCHROEDER Assistant Sports Editor

Tasting the bitter tonic of defeat on the home floor for the first time since Mar. 4, 1944, Iowa's Hawkeyes were a downcast lot immediately after their heartbreaking defeat by Indiana.

Even the usually volatile Pops Harrison was too depressed to speak much of anything to anyone in the wake of the Hawks' two-game losing streak.

Their perfect home record smashed, their chances of sharing the Western conference crown, which they won last year, smashed, the Hawks could hardly accept the fact that a second-place share with Indiana was the best they could salvage from their once-blossoming Big Ten season.

As Murray Wier put it, "When you go out there and play your heads off and give everything you got, and still lose . . ." Such was the attitude that the Hawks took. There were no alibis.

Dick Ives, who tied the count at 46-all, notched only five points in the Hoosier encounter, which means that the former Diagonal star will have to collect 15 markers against Minnesota to pass Jewell Young of Purdue for second place in the all-time high in Big Ten scoring.

When Herb Wilkinson left the game late in the second half on five personal fouls, he received the biggest ovation accorded an Iowa player this season.

The first fans to enter the fieldhouse came at 2 o'clock from Cherokee. The party consisted of Milo McWilliams, Glen Barnett, I. R. Anderson, Nels Phipps, and Spec Collins. They were closely followed by Mrs. E. E. Patterson and Mrs. E. E. Madden of Cedar Rapids.

Murray Wier's parents, who now reside at 613 E. College street, were dejected at the outcome of the game but added that they hoped the Hawks would take the measure of Minnesota Saturday.

Ned Postels, who played his last game for Iowa on its home court, injured his shoulder to add to his already injured leg. The Hawkeye guard played a bang-up defensive game and notched nine points in the scoring column.

Tom Schwartz, the Hoosier center who baited in the winning basket, commented that Minnesota's offense fell apart in their second half battle Saturday in much the same way that

Ray Mangrum Wins Tourney

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Smooth stroking Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles shot a 68-four under par—to win the Pensacola open golf tournament yesterday in an 18-hole playoff with Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who had a 71.

Mangrum got the jump on Hogan on the second hole with a par, as Hogan went one over, and was never headed.

He picked up another strong by paring the third as Hogan went one over again, and kept that margin through the first nine.

Hogan won only two holes on the 6,100 yard country club course, one with an eagle three on the par five, 508-yard holes and the other when Mangrum took a four on the par three 16th.

Mangrum won five holes and they halved the other 11. For the Los Angeles pro it was his first major victory since winning the Tucson open in January last year and netted him first prize of $1,500. Hogan received $1,000 for second place.

4 Iowa Teams Active Saturday

For the second time this indoor season, all four of the University of Iowa's sports teams will be active on a single day, two of them at home Saturday.

The basketball team will end its season against Minnesota at Minneapolis, swimmers meet Illinois at Champaign, wrestlers take on Chicago at home, and the track team meets Wisconsin and Minnesota in a triangular meet Saturday afternoon.

Swimmers will go after their fifth straight dual meet win, for they have beaten Wisconsin, Nebraska, Purdue, and Minnesota in succession. The Illinois meet will end the dual meet season.

Winner over Chicago in a dual meet and second in a three-way affair with Minnesota and Chicago last weekend, the track team faces Badgers and Gophers Saturday at 2 p. m. in the fieldhouse. At 3:30 p. m., the wrestling team, winner over Nebraska, Northwestern and Minnesota in succession, grapples with Chicago. These home events are the last of the indoor season in the fieldhouse.

GASSIN' with GUS
By GUS SCHRADER

EVERYBODY LOVES a champion, but did you notice how quick those same folks were to jump off the bandwagon when defeat, as it must to all champions, came to Iowa last Saturday night? . . . The reports that followed in the wake of Illinois' 57-51 victory ranged all the way from accounts of Pops Harrison's alleged berating of his team's performance to wild campus rumors that some team members were quitting the squad . . . Nothing of the kind happened, let me assure you . . . Furthermore, it is absolutely false that Pops bawled his players out by saying "You can't piddle around and win in this league" . . . What the Iowa coach did, and what the Champaign newspapermen overheard outside the Old Gold dressing room, was advise the Hawks to get plenty of rest so they'd be ready for Indiana last night.

AND THEY SAY Iowa's playing was lousy during that fatal last half . . . Who's to say whether Iowa was bad or Illinois was hot? . . . We didn't see the game, but it won't be news to say that Iowa has been outplayed before and we didn't hear the wolves howling about "players not being in shape for 40 minutes of basketball" or "giving the game to Illinois" . . . The Hawks could have had plenty of alibis if they had needed them . . . They don't . . . We expected them to lose some games when the season started . . . They've been the defending champions and top leaders most of the way and the strain has always been on them with each foe trying its doggedness to knock them off.

"THEY CRY A LOT, especially when they're behind," one newspaper quoted former "Whiz Kid" Jack Smiley of saying after the game . . . He didn't mean to, but Smiley couldn't have handed the Iowans a better tribute . . . Sure they "cry a lot," because they try so blame hard to win . . . Anyone who knows the Iowa team members know they'll try till the very end, partly because they love the game so much and partly because they know they're the defending champs and their backers expect it of them . . . So they "quit when they're behind," like another Illini was supposed to have said? . . . Yes, I guess they quit when they were behind Minnesota, 54-46, with only minutes left to play . . . They "quit" in a style that overtook the Gophers in one of the best games of their season . . . No, the Hawkeyes are not quitters; they aren't a step from death's door as far as physical condition goes; and their coach does not bowl them out after they lose their second game of the season.

SOME SAY the referees beat Iowa; some pin the blame on the Hawks' own miscues . . . I heard a lot of spectators say "Iowa just didn't get the breaks" . . . That all may be so, but Iowa's last chance at a slice of the Big Ten title went flying because they met a very good Indiana team last night . . . It was the Hoosiers who consistently played better ball when it counted and who were cooler at the end, despite the opposition of a fieldhouse full of victory bent fans . . . Both teams have played better games in their seasons, but Indiana seemed to take more advantage of the breaks in their two meetings and thus became the only school to hold two victories over us in the last four seasons.

THERE'S LITTLE consolation left by a try for a victory over Minnesota Saturday night to share second place honors with Indiana . . . It was almost unthinkable this season for a team to repeat as champions with the heat turned on all the way in a slappy title race that saw everybody except Chicago up and down at one time or other . . . The pressure is off now—way off until next year's team starts bidding again for the title . . . Iowa is not ashamed of—and needs no excuses for—a team which played as valiantly as the Hawkeyes did last night . . . Their final rally was fully as great as the one which overtook Minnesota in the season's classic . . . They're fighters, everyone of 'em . . . We're proud, proud . . . And they'll be back next year.

Hawk Riflemen Take Four Point Victory

The University of Iowa Rifle team won its first intercollegiate meet since 1943 yesterday when scores with the University of Chicago squad were received here. The Hawks won by five points, 1848-1843.

High man for the Hawkeye team was Bill Voelkers, who hit 380. Other Iowa scorers were: Kenneth Smith, 375; Harold Moore, 375; Gerald Eckhardt, 362, and Charles Rogler, 362.

Red Cross Quotas Announced For Johnson County This Year

Campaign Handled As Separate Fund In 1946 Activities

The quotas for the 1946 Johnson county Red Cross fund campaign which will start March 5, were announced yesterday by Elwin Shain and Lynn DeReu, co-chairmen for the campaign.

The quotas are: residential, $7,500; rural, $6,850; professional, $835; business, $4,715; public schools, $300; university, $2,850; University hospital, $1,750; small towns, $1,795; men's organizations, $890; women's organizations, $635; and theater collections, $2,230.

The total quota is $30,350, which is $12,400 less than the 1945 quota. Seventy-two percent of the money raised will be retained in Johnson county, and 28 percent will be sent to national Red Cross headquarters.

In view of its quasi-governmental status, its obligations under international treaties, its charter, its official services to armed forces of the United States, and its responsibilities for disaster relief in emergencies at home and abroad, the Red Cross must maintain its essential membership character and complete freedom of action. For this reason, the Red Cross appeals for funds and memberships must be conducted independently of all other fund-raising efforts.

This policy has been confirmed by the president of the United States to the chairman of the American Red Cross. By ruling of the central committee of the Red Cross, all affiliations with community chests and other joint fund-raising organizations have been terminated and no new affiliations may be undertaken. The Red Cross, therefore, cannot be included in the Campus Chest campaign to be conducted later this semester at the University of Iowa.

Board of Education Requests Allowance For SUI Department

Two requests including one for an allowance of $3,500 for the visual education departments of the University of Iowa and Iowa State college have been made by the finance committee of the state board of education. The board met yesterday in Old Capitol with the interim committee of the state legislature.

Since a quorum of the interim committee was not present, the requests were not acted upon.

The board also requested an allowance of $2,500 for repairs to Squaw creek bridge at Iowa State college. They asked approval for the board of education to enter into a contract with the Brown Engineering company for consultation about designing the remodeling and repairing of the power plant at Iowa State college.

The interim committee will be in Clinton today to inspect Schick General hospital.

SUI Indian Student Discusses Hinduism At Canterbury Club

"Life on earth is a punishment," said Mehandrah Verma, a graduate student from India, in describing the Hindu religion to the Canterbury club Sunday evening.

According to the concept of transmigration in the Hindu religion, Verma said, life on earth is a series of re-births. If the soul has lived a good life it will be reborn into a higher, more intelligent form of life, until the soul finally merges into that of God.

"That is why the man of the East, and the man of the West look at life so differently," Mr. Verma said. "For us, life on earth is a trial to be passed; for you it is an enjoyment."

This theory of transmigration explains many of the Hindu social customs, pointed out Mr. Verma.

"We have free will in each life to determine how near we shall come to God in the next life," Verma said. "Thus it is natural that we center our life around our religion."

M. Kertzer to Speak At Chicago, Madison

Prof. Morris Kertzer of the school of religion will speak at the Fine Arts institute at the University of Chicago today. The topic of his speech will be "Transformation of Our Culture."

Tomorrow Professor Kertzer will speak on "A Faith for Our Times" at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

A Message from President Truman

It is of the utmost importance that the American people understand the status and significance of our new Regular Army. It will be the duty of this volunteer Army to help protect the freedoms and maintain the peace we have won at so great a cost.

Atomic power has increased rather than decreased the necessity for our preparation, both in manpower and material. In the coming atomic age, the United States must maintain its military strength—to insure our national security and to promote world order.

Such grave responsibilities obviously cannot be met by anything less than the highest caliber of men. For this reason, I asked Congress for legislation to increase the opportunities of the soldier in the Regular Army. This legislation has been passed and signed by me, and is now in effect.

In serving his country, a man can now get good pay, education, travel and security—with family allowances for his dependents and a new 20-year retirement plan that compares with or excels anything in American industry. These, and the many other advantages of the new Regular Army, should be made known to all our service men and their families.

The Army has embarked upon a worldwide campaign to enlist enough men so that, in demobilizing, we shall not strip our services below the peacetime need. It is imperative that public support be given to this program. We must replace as soon as possible men who have served long and arduously, and who wish to return to civil life. We must also build an Army of volunteers adequate to all our requirements—at home and abroad—until the long-range peace terms and military policies are worked out.

I hope that every individual and group will give earnest and enthusiastic co-operation to this great effort to rebuild our Regular Army. The success of this campaign is vital to the performance of our tremendous task of securing the peace.

Harry Truman
PRESIDENT

Congress authorizes most attractive Enlistment Opportunities in our History

- Enlistments for 1½, 2 or 3 years. (One-year enlistments permitted for men who have been in the Army six months.)
- Enlistment age from 17 to 34 years inclusive, except for men now in Army, who may reenlist at any age, and former service men depending on length of service.
- The best pay scale, medical care, food, quarters and clothing in Army history.
- An increase in the reenlistment bonus to $50 for each year of active service since such bonus was last paid, or since last entry into service.
- Up to 90 days' paid furlough, depending on length of service, with furlough paid to home and return, for men now in the Army who reenlist.
- A 30-day furlough every year at full pay.
- Mustering-out pay (based upon length of service) to all men who are discharged or reenlist.
- Option to retire at half pay for the rest of your life after 20 years' service—increasing to three-quarters pay after 30 years' service. (Retirement income in grade of Master or First Sergeant up to $155.25 per month for life.) All previous active federal military service counts toward retirement.
- Benefits under the GI Bill of Rights.
- Family allowances for the term of enlistment for dependents of men who enlist or reenlist before July 1, 1946.
- Opportunity to learn one or more of 200 skills and trades taught in Army schools in U. S. or occupied countries.
- Choice of branch of service and overseas theater in the Air, Ground or Service Forces on 3-year enlistments.
- Reserve and A.U.S. commissioned officers released from active duty may be enlisted in Grade 1 (Master Sergeant) and still retain their reserve commissions.
