General Electric Co., CIO Settle Strike

GM Deadlock Ends; Union Demands Met

Top Labor Leaders Acclaim CIO Victory In 113-Day Dispute

DETROIT (AP)—The General Motors strike, costliest and longest in automobile industry history, was settled yesterday as the CIO United Auto Workers union accepted a management offer of an 18 1/2 cents an hour wage increase plus adjustments of inequalities in wage rates in certain plants.

Hailing the settlement as a union victory, UAW-CIO top officials said "other economic clauses," including improved vacation pay, improved overtime rates and equal pay for women, "brings the total average hourly increase well above 19 1/2 cents" which the union had demanded.

General Motors issued no formal statement, but Vice President Harry W. Anderson held a 25-minute press conference during which he outlined the company's position.

Explains "Extra Penny" Referring to the union contention that wage inequalities to be remedied would equal the "extra penny" which the union had sought, he said:

"Well that's the union's interpretation. As a matter of fact, no one knows what the adjustments will amount to. They're to be dealt with on a local level and until they are, the amount cannot be determined."

General Motors said the contract to be signed would run for two years; that the flat increase of 18 1/2 cents hourly would apply to all wage classification rates effective with the date of ratification by the union and that all employees who worked between Nov. 7, 1945, two weeks before the strike was called and the date of ratification shall receive an increase of 13 1/2 cents an hour for all hours worked between those dates.

In Washington, Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach today described the General Motors strike settlement as the "most significant" of any reached during current labor disputes and said it pointed the way toward industrial peace.

He made the comment at a news conference at which he also said:

Big Reconversion Step "Settlement of the General Motors dispute provides an opportunity for the taking of long strides ahead in reconversion. Both management and labor, I am certain, are eager to speed their efforts, now that the various issues which have halted work have been resolved. It is the American spirit that, once the issues are resolved, management and labor work as a united whole to achieve new records, to gain the advances that only production can bring."

Yesterday's announcement of the strike settlement came at the time that lasted through Tuesday night and well into yesterday afternoon. It was followed by a news conference at which G. M. Vice President Harry W. Anderson said the corporation regarded the agreement as a "very good contract."

It might be possible, Anderson said, to recall some workers "some time next week," although he added, "I can't be sure."

Army Denies Alert Rumors

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's still untrue that the army has alerted or is calling its reserves to active duty.

A fresh crop of inquiries prompted war department officials today to point to a week-old statement which said categorically that "all such rumors are completely unfounded."

"That still stands," they added. The latest inquiries came from California, Iowa and Pennsylvania, among other states.

WITNESS DIES

FIELD Marshal Werner von Blomberg (above), minister of war in the first Hitler cabinet, died yesterday at Nuernberg where he was waiting to be called as a witness in the war crimes trials. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Goering Boasts Nazi Allegiance to Hitler

Reichsmarshal Openly Claims Responsibility In Fascist Party Rise

NUERNBERG (AP)—Hermann Goering boasted to the international military tribunal yesterday that "I personally, I alone and under all circumstances have done everything in my power to strengthen national socialism," in detailing the rise of the Nazi party.

Apparently more concerned with trying to establish himself as a German patriot and martyr than to counter the prosecution, the number one defendant in the war crimes trial of 22 Nazis took the witness stand for the first time before a jammed court.

Disciple of Hitler He portrayed himself as a loyal disciple of Adolf Hitler, chief proponent of Nazism, chief eliminator of all political opposition, creator of concentration camps and promoter of German rearmament.

The former reich marshal testified that Hitler seized power in 1933 "to make Germany free," and declared a putsch by some army officers against the Fuehrer was barely averted a few hours before the first Hitler cabinet took the oath of office 13 years ago.

Nazi Rise Explained Goehring gave the details of the Nazi climb to power, which he declared was possible largely through his own efforts.

Goehring blandly declared that after president Paul von Hindenburg's death, Hitler took over both the presidency and the chancellery because in America the "president is both political leader and executive." He added that the system of "those great democracies, Britain and the United States," had been installed in Germany.

Stalin Charges Churchill Asking for War on USSR

Says Former Associate Lied

Russian Head Calls Former British Prime Minister 'Warmonger'

LONDON (AP)—Marshal Stalin yesterday called Winston Churchill a "warmonger," charged him with asking for "war on the U.S.S.R." and accused his former associate in the Big Three of telling "lies" in his recent Fulton, Mo. address.

"Churchill now takes his stand among the warmongers," Stalin declared in a rare interview in Pravda, Communist party newspaper. "There can be no doubt that Churchill's position is a war position, a call for war on the U. S. S. R."

Interview Broadcast The interview was broadcast several times by Moscow radio and it was heard here by the Associated Press. An official text was distributed in London by the Soviet monitor.

Stalin declared further that Churchill and "his friends in England and the United States" are promoting a Hitlerite "race theory" of world domination by the English-speaking peoples under the threat of war.

Stalin said: "Mr. Churchill and his friends in England and the United States are submitting to the nations who do not speak the English language a sort of ultimatum: you recognize our superiority and everything will be all right. Otherwise war is inevitable."

Comment Published Stalin's comment on the address of the former British prime minister at Fulton, Mo. on March 5 was published in an interview in the Communist party newspaper Pravda, which began the series of Soviet replies to Churchill Monday with a front page editorial attacking Churchill. The interview was broadcast by the Moscow radio and recorded here.

NEW YORK (AP)—The Mutual Broadcasting system said last night that Winston Churchill Friday night would discuss "latest developments" in connection with the speech he made at Fulton, Mo., last week.

Monetary Conference Defeats Plan to Locate Bank in New York

Board Recommends Move to Ease Entry by Russia Into Fund

SAVANNAH (AP)—A British effort to have the world fund and bank located in New York and away from the "political atmosphere of Washington" was defeated at the international monetary conference yesterday.

A committee brought out a flat recommendation for the national capital as a permanent site. Chairman Fred M. Vinson of the American delegation, which led a drive in favor of Washington, said it was "hoped" the full board of governors would accept the committee report, possibly tomorrow.

No dissenting voices were reported, but one observer who was in the room asserted that some remained silent and did not say "aye."

This action topped a day filled with monetary developments, including a new maneuver intended to ease the possible entry of Russia into the bank and fund, and a decision by the governors to wind up their deliberations by Monday if possible.

The conference membership committee approved a move to make it easier for Russia and other nations to come in, by recommending extension until December 31, 1946, of the time in which signatories of the Bretton Woods agreements can join up. Earlier it had been recommended that a six months deadline be set.

Czechoslovakia, supported by Poland and the United States, was successful in blocking adoption of the six months time limit, at least temporarily.

Army Places Curfew On U. S. Compound

CPA Acts to Block Future Price Raising In Cotton Clothing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government acted last night to try to block further price increases in cotton clothing. It also ordered manufacturers to send scarce clothes to retail stores more rapidly.

Stabilization Director Chester Bowles, seeking to check rising prices, instructed OPA to require larger down payments from market traders who buy cotton for later delivery.

At the same time the civilian production administration acted to put more scarce clothing on store shelves by limiting manufacturers' inventories to a maximum 30-day supply.

The agency said it expects that "sizeable" stocks of men's and boys' clothing and women's hosiery will be released.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Leslie Groves, atom bomb chief, said yesterday that the B-29 superfortress is the only known existing plane that "can carry this bomb."

At the same time, Groves acknowledged to a news conference that the Bikini test can produce the world's first atomic bomb "dud."

Iran Protests Soviet Actions

Rumors Report Red Armor Units Moving Toward Turkey, Iran

TEHRAN (AP)—Declaring that he had heard rumors of Russian troop movements toward Tehran, Premier Ahmed Qavam Es Saltaneh said yesterday that he already had protested to Generalissimo Stalin against the continued presence of Soviet forces in Iran and that his top "priority problem" was to get them withdrawn.

The premier, who has just returned from 16 days of negotiations with the Russians, said, however, that he had received no official reports regarding Soviet troop movements and that he "must make further investigations."

Red Armor Moving? Highly reliable advices, meanwhile, said Red army combat troops were moving southwestward across northern Iran in the general direction of the Turkish and Iraq borders, and that the Russians had moved tanks and armored cars into Karaj, 20 miles from Tehran, reinforcing their garrison there.

It also was reported from Azerbaijan province that a new Russian cavalry column had passed through the border town of Astara, on the Caspian sea, and fanned out through the country, while combat troops with full equipment had been sent to the towns of Mianeh, Maragheh and Miyandab, near the borders of Turkey and Iran.

Explanation Asked (The reports caused both the United States and Great Britain to send new notes to Moscow for an explanation. In earlier notes, the two governments had asked why Russian troops were not being withdrawn from Iran as scheduled on March 2. No replies have been received.)

(A British foreign office spokesman declared the reported troop movements had created a "more grave" situation, and another highly qualified source in London said the British cabinet would meet tomorrow to discuss the whole Iranian problem.)

CANDIDATE FOR DRAKE RELAYS QUEEN

DOROTHEA DAVIDSON, A2 of Kirkwood, Mo., was elected university candidate for Drake Relay queen by men's housing units yesterday. Affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, Miss Davidson will compete with candidates from other Iowa colleges and universities which are entering teams in the 1946 Drake relays. Candidates will be judged by photographs and questionnaires on intelligence, beauty, personality and poise. Miss Davidson is sophomore Y. M. C. A. president, feature editor of Frivol, a member of the central hostess committee for Information First, a member of Delta Phi Alpha, national honorary languages fraternity, and Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic fraternity for freshman women.

Pres. Truman Rejects Pauley As Nominee

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman withdrew Edwin W. Pauley's nomination for under-secretary of the navy yesterday with a final vigorous defense of Pauley's "integrity and ability."

There was no mention of politics in an exchange of letters, both dated yesterday, which the White House made public, although Democratic senators urged the withdrawal to prevent a partisan political debate.

Pauley wrote that he believes all charges against him have been "shown to be false." But in view of "hysteria that has been engendered by these misrepresentations," he explained, he feels he could not render "the high order of service" required.

Mr. Truman, in a letter addressed "Dear Ed," consented to take the action—only, he said, on the basis of Pauley's "feeling that there is no immediate antidote to the tactics which have been employed." The president expressed faith in the California oil man's "integrity and ability."

Chairman Walsh (D., Mass.) of the senate naval committee issued a statement saying that the full committee "commends" Pauley "for his patriotic action."

Ickes Calls for Unity In Executive Office

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold L. Ickes called upon President Truman last night to give the nation leadership for a "moral and spiritual awakening."

Ickes, former secretary of the interior, said in a speech prepared for the Economic club of New York:

"More than anyone else, the president has it in his power to furnish moral leadership, not only with respect to legislation and social standards, but in the exercise of his vast appointive powers. He must realize, on the basis of his great experience, that even the best laws will not execute themselves, nor will the highest social standards be self-sustaining. They must be given effect by men of experience, probity and character."

Pauley, whose nomination was withdrawn at his own request yesterday by President Truman, was not mentioned by name in Ickes' prepared speech.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house military committee heard yesterday from Secretary of State Byrnes what some members called a "pessimistic" report on the international situation, and from Secretary of War Patterson a plea for extension of the draft law.

House Military Committee Hears Pessimistic Report by Byrnes on International Situation

However, other committee members said privately Byrnes gave a general presentation of the entire world situation, including an expression of hope that existing difficulties could be ironed out.

Disturbed by Discussion While the consensus of committee members was that Byrnes told them nothing "we didn't know already from reading the newspapers," several said they were disturbed by his discussion.

One member called the secretary's report "pessimistic." Another said it was "anything but reassuring."

While committee members said Byrnes did not express his views on extension of the draft law which is due to end May 15, Patterson told reporters he had urged that the draft be continued.

CAR ABANDONED BY ELDORA ESCAPEES

THE CAR BEING EXAMINED is one abandoned by five Eldora escapees in the mud of a lane three miles north of Iowa City yesterday morning. A nearby farmer saw the boys leave the car and start out on foot across the fields. A police dragnet thrown around the vicinity failed to find any of them. The boys seen leaving this car were members of a group of eight that escaped from the Eldora training school Tuesday night. (See story on page 6.)

Editorials:

Make the Most of What We Have at the University

The state of New York has evolved a plan to relieve the enrollment pressure on its colleges and universities, and that plan could be adapted by the University of Iowa if the pressure becomes too great in this state.

who are sponsoring the project wisely emphasize the shortage of facilities. They frankly warn that teaching staffs will not be of the best and that textbooks and other tools of study will be inadequate to fill the demand.

turned out, more grist is fed into the grinding machine. The University of Iowa is in the same position as the other universities, and therefore it is important that our officials be far-sighted enough to maintain our high standards even though others may let theirs fall.

The Stake in Manchuria

Could the United States exist without the industries of the east? Yes, it could, but it would be a far less prosperous country. That illustrates the importance of Manchuria to China and indicates the stake in the present controversy.

Before the war, two to three million tons of steel were produced annually in steel centers of Anshan and Pienhsin. Pig iron production from other plants was even greater.

When the war ended the withdrawal of the Japanese was so rapid that Manchurian industry was virtually intact. Weary after an eight-year war, the Chinese looked to Manchuria for a large part of their rehabilitation.

Yesterday and Today

A Humorous Look at Women's Humorous (?) Clothes

(Editor's Note: On an editorial page, a page of opinion, there could be nothing more controversial than women's clothes. And, on the comic page, there could be nothing funnier than women's clothes of a few years ago. Just for laughs, we're presenting a transition study of women's clothes, with the narrative by one of our newspaper-women and the comments in parenthesis by the Editor.)

In the spring, the ladies' fancy invariably turns to clothes (or men). And if you think vanity (that's the right word) is a product of this streamlined age, let's see what was on the girls' minds (?) a little over 100 years ago at this time of year.

By MEL KROGH (With Comments in Parenthesis by the Editor) so the lady could adorn a side-saddle without showing too much instep. That skirt, incidentally, was a well-lined affair of black serge, with enough material in it to reupholster the living room suite.

Covering The Capital

By Jack Stinnett U. S. Will Never Again Have to Depend on Natural Rubber WASHINGTON—One of the all-too-few "blessings" of the war is that the United States will never again be wholly dependent on the natural rubber monopoly as to quantity or price of that material so vital to our modern way of life.

rubber picture. Until 1943, the prices established at the beginning of the program were maintained: 50 cents a pound for GRS, 65 cents for Neoprene and 33 cents for Butyl.

Today's lady modestly swathed her wrists in long, wrinkled gloves (anything to hide 'em). Yesterday's lady contented herself with a little velvet bracelet.

News Behind the News...

Confusion Lies Behind Truman-Bowles Price Policy WASHINGTON—Now let me explain the latest Truman-Bowles wage price issue. Monday, Bars to wage increases are to be removed and patterns established with its, and butts. One of the ifs provides an 18 1/2 percent hour increase if the local pattern permits, but not necessarily.

It is to be changed to—I quote again—"increases in basic wages if hourly wages of the appropriate unit have not risen 33 percent since Jan. 1, 1944."

Upon this Mr. Bowles is firm. His OPA, however, simultaneously provided a but, if not a butt—no but. At the very moment of the Bowles announcement, it made a general increase in the prices of men's and boys' clothing in order to induce manufacturers to release their stores to the public.

Twenty-four hours earlier OPA authorized what it called "substantial rises in cotton textile prices" to spur production of shirts and dresses. Just before that, a general rise of 10 cents a barrel in the price of oil had been authorized by the same official agency under Mr. Bowles.

I can detect a ray of light behind the flimsy curtain of words, namely this:

The government tried to increase wages without increasing prices and found this could not be done. Goods were backed up in some lines because these could not be sold at a profit. These were being kept in storage.

Production Discouraged Production was discouraged in other lines because it could not be attempted profitably. A readjustment was necessary in order to get distribution as well as production. This was further advisable as a discouragement to black markets. Indeed some black markets had become bigger than the white.

From a political standpoint also the relaxations were advisable to encourage congress to renew presidential authority over economics in the war powers acts expiring June 30.

This maneuver is being covered by as confusing a curtain of "explanations" as ever emanated from a government mimeograph machine, and this is saying something as those machines have seldom been geared for frankness.

SUI Allotted 25 Quonset Huts

Units Accommodate 50 Married Couples

University Also Gets 4 Community Trailers in New FPMA Action

The university has been allotted 25 Quonset huts to house married students, according to word received from the federal public housing authority by Fred W. Ambrose, university business manager.

50 Families Accommodated

The huts, 20 feet by 48 feet, are divided into two apartments. Therefore, 50 families may be housed in the units.

Each apartment contains one living room, two bedrooms, one kitchenette and one bathroom.

George L. Horner, university architect, explained that the Quonset huts are half round and are covered with corrugated metal. The inside of the hut is covered with hardboard and is insulated.

Ambrose said that no definite date had been chosen for the community of huts, but that university property in the north end of Iowa City would probably be used. No rates have been announced for the units.

Trailers for Recreation

Horner also said that the university had been allotted four community-type trailers. They will be used for recreation and child welfare by residents of Bluekeye Village and Riverdale, university trailer camps.

Four types of trailers will be sent here—A, B, C and D. The A type community trailer is composed of four expandable trailer units attached together. The B type trailer has three units, C has four and D one unit.

Horner said the units will be brought here from Lima, Ohio, but that no definite date has been announced for the shipment.

SETTLING OF BUILDING HALTS REMODELING

REMODELING of the former Chinese Laundry building at 213 S. Clinton was temporarily halted yesterday when the building suddenly settled. The large crack, shown above, and one in the rear of the building appeared. Two of the three large windows in the front of the building were broken. Five workers remodeling the structure for use of the Morris Furniture Co., were not hurt when the building settled. Ralph Wildman, contractor, said the cause of the damage was not certain but that the foundation had been softened by the recent rain and melting snow. The building is between 70 and 80 years old.

Alspach's Symphony—Enthralls Audience

The university symphony orchestra under the direction of Dr. Philip G. Clapp presented a momentous evening in Iowa Union last night. The selections of Wagner and Dvorak coupled with the newly composed symphony of Dr. Addison Alspach of the music department, were gratefully received by the listeners.

Opening with "Eine Faust" by Wagner, the slow melodious well known themes of the overture were richly rewarded.

"Symphony in A Minor" was conducted by the composer, Dr. Alspach. A new symphony having very modern and undaunting passages with deep contrast between the high and low voices, held the audience in amazement. One could almost see the vivid description of the suffering and the agonies mingled with the victories and defeats that wars bring. The symphony was composed at the time of the final battles that ended in a great victory for the Allied forces in Europe. This masterpiece reflected these descriptions throughout.

"Prelude and Love Death" and "Siegfried Idyll" by Wagner, were both favorites of many. The beautiful themes have been heard throughout the world and have been considered of the finest by the German composer.

The lively Hungarian dance music in "Carneval Overture" by Dvorak told its story of love and laughter very well. The fascinating rhythms of the Hungarian people were well represented.

and a short business meeting will follow the luncheon. Mrs. Fred Cannon is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Five Eldora Escapees Elude Police Search

Report 3 Boys Seen Yesterday Afternoon

6-Man Posse Spends Day Combing Area Northwest of City

Five Eldora training school escapees seen near Iowa City yesterday morning were still at large last night after eluding a six-man police posse that searched a rural area north of here most of yesterday.

Eight boys escaped from the institution late Tuesday night.

The latest report received by police said three of the boys were seen between Coralville and Tiffin on highway 6 at 2 p. m. yesterday hitch-hiking west.

At 9:15 a. m. yesterday, local police received a call from Bert Martin, farmer on the Panzer farm three miles north of Iowa City, who reported seeing five boys start walking west across a field after abandoning a gray Plymouth sedan on a muddy lane about 100 yards off highway 218.

Assistant Police Chief Joe Dolezal sent a police car to Coralville in a move to cut off their escape. He notified Sheriff Preston Koser and Deputy Pat Murphy, who went out to the abandoned car and searched that vicinity. Two highway patrolmen assisted in the hunt.

Sheriff Koser reported finding three sets of footprints leading from the car to a barn at the end of the lane. Later yesterday, Highway Patrolman Snyder told of losing the trail after tracking three of the men to a quarry near Butler bridge.

The car used by the five boys seen north of Iowa City belonged to Harry Wunschel of Marcus and was stolen in Eldora. Patrolman Snyder commented that it was evidently left on the side road because two of its tires were flat. The gas tank was full.

The following eight boys are listed as missing from the training school:

Robert Ammons, 16, Cherokee; Daniel Yager, 17, Waterloo; Benjamin Rungen, 15, Davenport; Richard Wunschel, 17, Eldora; Earl Stewart, 17, Davenport; Alvin McCraney, 16, Waterloo; Robert Foelsko, 17, Waterloo; and Cecil Hamilton, 16, Des Moines.

Warnings were issued early yesterday to all farmers in the area to be on the alert for the five boys.

Traffic Charge Against Comfort Dismissed by Judge Yesterday

A defense motion to dismiss the city traffic charge against Frank B. Comfort, 630 N. Dubuque street, of driving through a stop sign was sustained by Police Judge John Knox in traffic court yesterday for lack of evidence. Witnesses testified that they were unable to identify the driver of the Comfort car.

Comfort had pleaded not guilty to charges of driving through a stop sign and leaving the scene of an accident without conferring with the other driver in a police court session Mar. 7.

The second charge was continued to the 5 p. m. session of traffic court scheduled for next Wednesday as requested by County Attorney Jack C. White.

According to witnesses, Comfort's car scraped the fender of a car owned by Bob Snook of Iowa City in front of the Hamburg Inn the night of Mar. 6. Capt. L. M. Ham of the local police department said the Comfort car was driven away from the scene without heeding his call to stop. He added that the car failed to stop at the stop sign at Dubuque street and Iowa avenue.

Comfort stated in last week's session that he had not been driving his car at the time of the incident and did not know who the driver may have been.

Comfort was represented by attorneys Ingalls Swisher and Edward L. O'Connor.

Russia—'A Challenge To U. S., Not Threat' Says Jack Johnson

"Russia is a challenge and not a threat to the United States," Dr. Jack Johnson of the political science department told 22 women at a meeting of the Federated Business and Professional Women's club last night at Iowa Union.

Dr. Johnson went on to say that Russia and the United States are competing for the reservoir of good feeling for the rest of the world. We have to become attractive to the world in order to keep them on our side.

"We should know something about their language and their basic attitudes in order to understand the Russians better," Dr. Johnson added.

He said that the Russian people were Oriental, not European, even though the Russians themselves refused to admit this. They have an Oriental attitude toward government and human life. In order to get along with Russia we should know more about these attitudes and try to understand them.

"What the Russian wants is secure borders and they are insisting they be surrounded by friendly governments," he stated further, "Russia is not interested in Iranian oil."

Speaking more on the Iranian dispute Dr. Johnson said Russia is suspicious of British influence in Iran. She is out to counter British influence not only in Iran but in all Middle and Far Eastern countries. She wants to do in the middle east as the United States is doing in the western hemisphere.

"Another thing Russia wants in the post war world is to boost her standard of living to match if not beat our standard."

Dr. Johnson, who spent much of his service in the navy in Russia, said in conclusion that the Russians admire American clothes, wrist watches and our achievements, but at the same time they say that some day theirs will be better than ours.
