Canada Lists More Names in Spy Case

Parliament Member, Scientist, Engineer Arrested as Spies

OTTAWA (AP)—A Communist member of the Canadian parliament, three scientists and an engineer were charged yesterday with working with a Moscow-directed "spy" network collecting atomic and other war-time secrets in Canada.

Nine persons in positions of trust in the government during the war now have been publicly identified, in the spy activities, with at least five others under detention uncommunicado still to be interrogated.

Heading the new list of accused were Fred Rose, Polish-born member of the house of commons, known as the first and only Communist member of the Canadian parliament, and Dr. Raymond Boyer, an assistant professor of chemistry at McGill university in Montreal, one of the country's top scientists and a man cited by the government for his "outstanding contribution to the Allied cause" during the war.

Rose, 35, was arrested by the Royal Canadian mounted police at his Ottawa home late Thursday night. He was booked yesterday in Montreal on a charge of violating the official secrets act of 1939.

Charged with turning over information to the Soviet Union, Rose entered no plea and was released on $10,000 bail pending a preliminary hearing March 22.

The three involved besides Dr. Boyer were:

Harold Samuel Gerson, employed successively in several government departments in a handling production of war materials, especially chemicals, explosives and ammunition;

Squadron Leader (Canadian airforce equivalent of major) Matt Simons Nightingale, 40, with an engineering degree earned at McGill university after attending a military school in Mobile, Ala., engaged in airport construction, and;

Dr. David Shugar, who has a Ph.D. degree in physics from McGill, employed in the navy on research on anti-submarine devices, in which work "he had to visit various naval establishments, including laboratories in Canada, the United States and the United Kingdom."

Senator Asks Shift in Demo Tradition

Stewart Advocates Splitting Chairman, Postmaster General

WASHINGTON (AP)—Contending that government business should be free of politics, Senator Stewart (D., Tenn.) introduced a bill yesterday which would require Robert E. Hannegan to resign either as postmaster general or as chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Stewart said in a statement that passage of the bill would eliminate a long-standing practice "which has never been calculated to be entirely proper."

"Naturally," he asserted, "the executive head of a government department is inclined, from time to time, to play favorite with certain political leaders throughout the country."

HANNEGAN and such a practice therefore involves his department in unnecessary political scrambling."

Prediction Friends of Hannegan predicted the legislation would not be enacted, especially in a campaign year. They recalled previous efforts over the years to divorce the two jobs, none of which has ever succeeded.

Stewart's bill was referred to the privileges and elections committee headed by Senator Green (D., R. L.), an administration stalwart.

4 Robbery Suspects Held for Jury Action

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Four members of an alleged postoffice robbery gang were held in city prison last night, with extra guards on duty, awaiting federal grand jury action.

The quartet, Robert Lee Robertson of St. Louis; his wife, Margaret; Felix W. Kargol and Edwin J. Burnett, were remanded to jail when they failed to post bond of $10,000.

They were arrested in a roundup in Chicago last week and were brought here to await grand jury action.

Foreign Policy Set by UNO Commitments

Vandenberg Requests Continuous Sessions Of Security Council

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was reported last night to have assured both Iran and Turkey that it will stand firm with them against any foreign aggressive actions which violate the principles of the United Nations charter.

American policy, as lately presented by Ambassador Wallace Murray at Tehran and as given some weeks ago to the Turks in a series of talks between Ankara and Washington representatives, is based entirely on United Nations charter commitments. It avoids any special assurances which might go beyond the limits of the charter.

Diplomatic officials who cannot be named disclosed this information. They declared that this government has exercised special care not to give any of the countries "blank check promises" which might encourage them to provoke Russian actions against them.

Murray's visit to Iranian government officials at Tehran came up at Secretary of State Byrnes' news conference yesterday and Byrnes declined to discuss the subject at this time.

Declined Statement He also declined to make any statement about the known decision of the United States government to bring the Iranian question again before the United Nations security council in New York late this month unless Iran itself takes such action.

In the senate, meanwhile, Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.) called for continuous sessions of the council "during these current hair trigger days" so that representatives of disputing governments can talk out their troubles man to man each morning.

He pointed out that the UNO charter provides for such continuous sessions.

The United States, still awaiting some answer from Russia to inquiries about what goes on in Iran and Manchuria, got a note from Moscow during the day about a loan the Soviets want.

Delivers Note Nikolai Novikov, in charge of the Soviet embassy here in the absence of the ambassador, spent just three minutes with Secretary of State Byrnes delivering a note which reporters thought might be a reply to the American inquiries on Iran or Manchuria.

But Michael J. McDermott, state department press officer, reported it had nothing whatever to do with those matters.

"It had 'a bearing,'" he said, on this country's offer to discuss a Soviet request for a $1,000,000,000 loan. The United States communication to which the note replied had dealt in detail with economic and commercial relations. Neither communication was made public.

Navy Releases Point Scores

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new series of reductions in navy point scores, effective May 15 through June 15 which will add about 307,000 enlisted personnel and 26,000 officers to the discharge eligible list, was announced last night.

The navy said the new schedule was in line with the previous announcement that all "exceptions" to the enlisted personnel point score system would be eliminated by June 2. On that date, all male enlisted personnel with 24 points and all WAVES with 18 points will be eligible for separation. Progressive reductions in scores will then follow.

Illinois Police Capture Five Eldora Escapees; Youths Abandon University Student's Auto

Boys Board Freight Train When Bearings Of Car Burn Out

A car stolen from Dorothy Ireland, A3 of Anamosa, Wednesday night was used by five Eldora training school escapees in a dash into Illinois where they were captured by police yesterday.

Two of the youths, who also admitted burglarizing the Grant Smith farm home north of Iowa City, were captured in Oak Park, Ill. The other three were arrested on a farm near Seneca, Ill., by police from La Salle, Ill. These three were taken to Ottawa, Ill., the county seat.

Abandoned Car The boys, five of the eight who escaped from the training school Tuesday night, abandoned the car 40 miles west of Joliet, Ill., at the junction of highways 6 and 34, according to a telephoned message from Oak Park received by Sheriff Preston Koser yesterday. They split up after the car bearings burned out and forced them to abandon it. The three boys being held at Ottawa said they boarded a Rock Island freight train and rode as far as Seneca. They will all be returned to Eldora for prosecution in district court, according to word received from Eldora authorities.

First Seen These five boys were first seen abandoning a car north of Iowa City which they had stolen from one of the boy's father in Eldora.

A search of the rural area by local, county and state officials proved fruitless. Three of the boys were reported seen Wednesday afternoon hitch-hiking between Coralville and Tiffin on highway 6.

Goering Tells Tribunal 1907 Hague Warfare Restrictions Outdated

NUERNBERG (AP)—Hermann Goering bluntly told the international military tribunal yesterday that he believed the 1907 Hague rules of warfare outmoded and argued that in modern total war everything in seized areas, even manpower, could be considered conquerors' booty.

With a sense of dramatic timing, Goering ended testifying in his own defense with a quotation he attributed to Winston Churchill—"in a struggle for life or death there is no legality."

Goering described Churchill as "one of our strongest and toughest opponents." Defense counsel said the quotation was obtained from a German white book, and was allegedly made by the former British prime minister to Scandinavian correspondents in 1940.

UAW President R. J. Thomas, who announced the conference decision in Detroit, said the settlement terms now will be submitted to the 92 individual union locals, each of which will make its own decision on the question of returning to work.

The strikers are expected to start returning next week and newly assembled units are expected to start rolling from GM assembly lines by April 1.

Police said blood was found in the car. Hospitals were checked but the driver or other occupants could not be located.

Former Prime Minister Raps Soviet Pressure on Dardanelles

NEW YORK (AP)—Winston Churchill last night called on the United Nations Security council to thrash out the failure of the Soviet Union to evacuate their troops from Iran and to take up the Dardanelles question "if Russia persists in putting pressure on Turkey."

"Thus early will come a very great test for the world organization on which so many hopes are founded," he said in an address prepared for a city dinner in his honor.

"We are told that the Soviet government, instead of leaving, are actually sending in more troops," Britain's former prime minister declared, adding: "The treaty to evacuate the country by a certain date was signed by the head of the Soviet government."

"This is one of those cases for which the United Nations Security council was especially devised," Churchill said. "By all means let the matter be thrashed out."

Discussing the Dardanelles, Churchill declared "at Potsdam the Americans and British offered to Russia a joint guarantee of the complete freedom of the straits in peace and war, whether for merchant ships or ships of war."

Gladly Subscribe "To this guarantee Turkey would gladly have subscribed," he added. "But we were told that was not enough. Russia must have a fortress inside the straits, from which she should dominate Constantinople (Istanbul)."

"But this is not to keep the straits open but to give power of closing them to a single nation. If Soviet Russia still persists in putting pressure on Turkey, the matter must in the first instance be pronounced upon by the United Nations Security council."

Discussing relations between the United States and Great Britain, the wartime leader said: "I have never asked for an Anglo-American military alliance or a treaty. I asked for fraternal association, free voluntary fraternal association. I have no doubt that it will come to pass, as surely as the sun will rise tomorrow. But you do not need a treaty to express the natural affinities and friendships which arise in a fraternal association. On the other hand, it would be wrong that the fact should be concealed or ignored."

Churchill declared "nothing can prevent our nations drawing ever closer to one another and nothing can obscure the fact in their harmonious companionship lies the main hope of a world instrument for maintaining peace on earth and goodwill to all men."

Churchill also said: "The only question which in my opinion is open is whether the necessary harmony of thought and action between the American and British people will be reached in a sufficiently plain and clear manner and in good time to prevent a new world struggle or whether it will come about, as it has come before, only in the course of that struggle."

Rules of Russia "I do not believe that war is inevitable or imminent. I do not believe that the rulers of Russia wish for war at the present time."

Speaking of the "widespread sympathy throughout the English-speaking world for the people of Russia," Churchill said: "If the Soviet government does not take advantage of this sentiment, if on the contrary they discourage it, the responsibility will be entirely theirs."

He added: "There is no reason why Soviet Russia should feel ill-rewarded for her efforts in the war. If her losses have been grievous, her gains have been magnificent. Her two tremendous antagonists, Germany and Japan, have been laid low."

Iran Reports Russians Moving Into Bukan

TEHRAN (AP)—A Russian column, swinging southward around Lake Urmia near the Turkish and Iraq borders, was reported yesterday to have moved advance units into Bukan, north of Kurdistan province and 60 miles southeast of Saoubulagh, seat of the semi-autonomous shiekdom of Kurdish Chief Ghazi Mohammed.

Supports Theory "The move apparently gave some support to a theory among many Iranian and foreign government officials that the Russians favor the establishment of an independent Kurdistan for the Kurds of Iran, Iraq and Turkey. The new development followed a declaration by the Iranian war minister Thursday that other Soviet troops concentrated at Karaj, 20 miles northwest of Tehran, were a "definite threat" to the capital and that Iran's army was "ready to fight to the last man" if the Russians moved toward Tehran.

Arriving Nightly The minister, Gen. Sepehroddin Amir Ahmedi, said trainloads of Soviet troops and ammunition were arriving nightly at Karaj and that all necessary steps were being taken to meet the "threat."

Conducted Government Ghazi Mohammed has conducted his semi-autonomous government in the tribal area around Saoubulagh since allied forces moved into Iran in 1941.

In November, 1945, when the Democratic Partisans in Azerbaijan province began their rebellion which cut most of that province from the rest of Iran, Ghazi Mohammed was reported by Iranian newspapers to have returned from a conference in Baku and to have proclaimed the "independence of all Kurdistan."

Makes Statement Ahmedi made his statement in an interview shortly after an audience with the Shah, who is supreme commander of the army.

"Iran has shown to the world," he said, "that it is a peaceful nation, but if Russia commits an overt not only every soldier but every boy and girl in the streets will fight to defend their capital."

He also said: "The Russian garrison at Karaj had 'increased fourfold.' Increase There were 'three times as many Russians in Azerbaijan as a month ago.' The Russians had 'only partially evacuated Samnan, Shahrud and Meshed,' northeastern Iran towns where they announced they had begun evacuation March 2. The Shah intended to ask the United Nations Security council to re-open the Iranian case."

Henry A. Wallace has undertaken the ambitious program of revitalizing the commerce department in an attempt to make it more useful to the government and to private business.

The idea isn't either ridiculous or sublime. According to the best authorities, the armed forces themselves, hundreds of thousands of dangerous souvenirs of war are already loose in the land and, in spite of all efforts to stop them, still are coming in.

Hawklets Dood It Again, Win 30-25

Results Last Night
A—Iowa City 30, Ottumwa 25
B—Preston 50, Springville 33

By CHAD BROOKS
 Iowa City 30, Ottumwa 25, and a goal that has been just a dream for the last 25 years reached reality last night when a City high basketball team qualified for the finals of the state cage tournament by eliminating the Little Six conference champions. Lacking the deadly shooting accuracy that featured their win over Davenport Wednesday night, the Little Hawks came up with an air-tight defense and near perfect defensive rebounding to nose Ottumwa.

ment for the first time since 1919. In last night's preliminary game, Preston had too much height and too much finesse for speedy little Springville as they moved away from an 8-7 first period to take their class B title by a 50-30 margin. It was a scrapping City high quintet that pulled their second big upset victory in the sub-state tourney by eliminating the Little Six conference champions. Lacking the deadly shooting accuracy that featured their win over Davenport Wednesday night, the Little Hawks came up with an air-tight defense and near perfect defensive rebounding to nose Ottumwa.

The torrid City high-Ottumwa game saw the lead change hands six times, with the Little Hawks going ahead to stay late in the second quarter, when they took a 17-16 advantage and increased it to 20-16 by the intermission. Don Ferguson, Ottumwa's all-state guard, paced the Bulldogs to a pair of second half spurts that cut the Little Hawks' lead to 22-21 and 26-25, before they fell off the pace in the closing minutes of the game. Charles (Zip) Clayvon, Ottumwa's sharp-shooting forward who tossed in 17 points against Keokuk in the Bulldogs' first round win, was held to one basket by City high's Sonny Dean in the last three quarters, after collecting five gift tosses at the expense of Jim Sangster in the first period.

Forward Bob Krall contributed ten points, six of them from the free throw stripe, to the Little Hawks' win to share scoring honors for the evening with Ferguson, while big Jim Van Deusen grabbed off the lion's share of the defensive rebounds for City high and added six points of his own.

GASSIN' with GUS

By GUS SCHRADER

Iowa City High—Team That Came Back—
 WOW! . . . If you wanna talk about comebacks, talk about this City high firewagon. . . Just another Mississippi Valley doormat team when the season was half over, the little Hawks bounced back to emerge as the deadly, poised ball club you saw upset favored Ottumwa, 30-25, last night. . . Even if they don't win a game in the state tourney next week, they've provided a Cinderella finish to a season that's gotten better as it rolled along. . . City high lost six games in the conference, finally finishing in a tie for third, helped by a five-game winning streak before tournament play started. . . Now they've seized four in district and sub-state play, the last two amazing upsets over Davenport and Ottumwa.

CONGRATULATIONS to Coach Gil Wilson in his first year as City high coach. . . His boys have put the Little Hawks in a state tourney for the first time since 1919. . . They're a good bunch, most of them showing evidence of vast improvement this season. . . Take Jim Van Deusen for example. . . The Hawklet center had a terrible early season. . . He began to pull out of it just before tourney time and is one big reason City high will be in the state next week. . . Although he didn't hit as consistently in the sub-state as he has, Bob Freeman is another improved ball player. . . Jimmy Sangster at guard and Bob Krall at forward are two mighty hands, aggressive scoring threats. . . Sonny Dean turns in a mean floor game, and Freshman Gene Hendrick and Bob Beals are invaluable reserves. . . Keep rolling in the state, fellas!

BENNY STEPHENS
 Another Comeback Try

Pass the Hash—
 ANOTHER COMEBACK, although not so successful was pulled by a former Hawkeye cage great, Benny Stephens. . . Although erroneously reported as Ben TRICKEY, another Iowa star of three years ago, it really was Stephens who played with Collins Radio team in the Cedar Rapids "Gold Ball" tourney last week. . . Ben left Iowa after the 1939 season—six years out of competition. . . THE STATE High School Athletic association should wipe up on the admission prices for these state title games. . . Next week folks will be charged $1.50 for a reserved seat at each of eight sessions. . . Reserved seats for the whole meet will cost a mean $10.50 and general admission $8. . . Gosh, you can buy an "I" book for $12.50 and see four football games, a dozen basketball games, 12 baseball games and Lord only knows how many contests of minor sport teams.

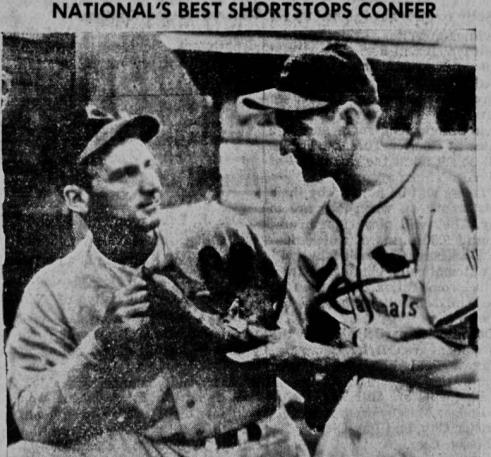

THERE'RE ALWAYS some wise guys who have to grumble, no matter how good the conditions. . . Thursday night the announcers who were broadcasting over station KBZ, Ottumwa, kept insisting that the fieldhouse floor "was so slippery that the players can't keep their feet". . . No one else noticed it, and the floor was in the same good condition as during Iowa's season. . . That's a poor mis-impression to give the radio audience. . . THE PA ANNOUNCER found trouble with the names of Ken Beamblossom and Cleo Cherryholmes, center and guard of Crawfordville. . . He ended up announcing a foul on "Cherryblossom".

NONE OF THE TEAMS in Iowa City's sub-state has made less than 22 percent of its shots, according to the reliable statistics kept by Bud Harper, graduate student-cage fan who is helping spot for radio broadcasts. . . POPS HARRISON saw his first girls' basketball game last year in the state tourney. . . "I've referred thousands of boys' games," said bachelor Pops, "but girls' games I've left strictly alone—I've heard about too many officials getting their faces slapped. . . JERRY FLYNN, navy lieutenant who handled Seahawk publicity before and after the pre-flight moved to Ottumwa, is being discharged this week following the successful close of the Seahawks' cage season. . . DID YOU SEE the big lug Larry (Moon) Mullins gave Iowa City via See Taylor's Des Moines Register column yesterday? . . . "I like Iowa City better than any place I've ever lived," he said, "and I could settle down and live comfortably there for the rest of my life!"

Crawfordsville Foe in Final; Clinton Plays

RATED BY MANY as the two best shortstops in the National league, Eddie Miller (left) of the Cincinnati Reds and Marty Marion of the Cardinals, discuss Miller's badly battered glove which has the center cut out. TONIGHT'S FINALS
 7:30 (B) St. Mary's vs. Crawfordville
 8:45 (A) Clinton vs. Cedar Rapids (Franklin)

Setting their sights on a berth in next week's state finals, St. Mary's Ramblers will risk their 17-game winning streak against smooth working Crawfordville tonight in a class B sub-state championship battle at the fieldhouse.

A win tonight would send the Ramblers into the state finals for the second time in the five years that parochial quintets have been included in the state association.

It Happened Before
 The Ramblers got their first crack at the crown back in 1941, and took full advantage of the chance to move into the final eight before losing their first round game to the eventual runners-up. This, by the way, was the last time that an Iowa City quintet reached the championship tournament.

Parochial schools were held out of tournament action again in 1942 but re-entered competition during the past four years.

The final game tonight will pit inexorable Clinton against Franklin of Cedar Rapids with the River Kings in their usual role of favorites. No team has even come close to knocking Clinton off its determined path to the state finals.

Franklin's Thunderbolts showed surprising strength in disposing of fast little Bloomfield Thursday night, but are expected to be out-classed by Clinton's Dean Burridge and his sharp shooting mates.

The high flying St. Mary's cagers have shown plenty of championship class in their six previous tournament wins this year, bowling over all opposition by scores ranging from a 13 point margin against Atkins in a district battle to a 39 point rout of Tiffin in their sectional opener.

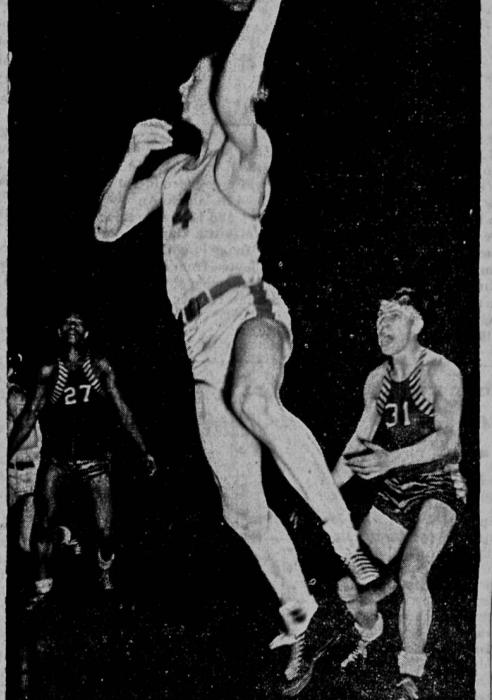

Crawfordsville Strong
 Crawfordville promises to be a much stronger opponent, however, presenting a potent attack built around a big, clever forward, Joe Martin, and a hard driving guard, Roger Davey. These two accounted for a total of 35 points as the Big Red cagers ran roughshod over a rangy Bussey quintet to qualify for tonight's finals.

St. Mary's victory hopes received a jolt yesterday when high scoring Billy Suplepp turned up with a minor hand sprain.

The injury isn't expected to hold Suplepp out of action tonight, but will probably limit his sharp shooting ability to some extent.

The 12 baskets and three gift tosses against Humeston left Suplepp with a total of 86 points in the six tournament games, just three points behind Bart Tooney, the Ramblers' leading scorer.

Ottumwa Couldn't Stop Van Deusen

JIM VANDEUSEN, City high's center, gets off the floor for this left handed try in the first quarter of last night's thriller in the fieldhouse. "Zip" Clayvon (27) and Bob Angle of Ottumwa are the interested witnesses. Yes, City high won, 30-25, to enter the state tourney next week.

They're in, Brother!

Big League Exhibition Baseball

Yanks Nip Sox, 6-4; A's Win

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—The New York Yankees continued their Florida winning streak, making it five in a row when they defeated the Boston Red Sox, 6-4, in an exhibition game yesterday.

Johnny Sturm, battling against Buddy Hassett and Nick Etten for the regular Yankee first base job, got four hits in five at bat, driving in three runs.

A'S 7; DODGERS 5
 SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP)—Playing before a crowd of about 4,500, including several officials of the treasury department and foreign delegates to the international monetary conference, the secondary forces of the Philadelphia Athletics defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 5, yesterday.

TONIGHT'S FINALS

winning gave the Cleveland Indians a 7 to 6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday after the Red Birds had sent the game into extra innings with a two-run rally in the ninth.

Outfielder Stan Musial of the Cardinals strained a lateral ligament in his left leg when he slipped during practice and trainer Harrison J. Weaver said he probably would be out of action several days.

TIGERS LOSE TO REDS
 LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Hal Newhouser and Eddy Trout struck out 15 men yesterday, but the Detroit Tigers lost to Cincinnati, 1 to 0 for their fifth consecutive exhibition defeat.

Newhouser fanned eight in five innings, but was reached for six of the Reds' eight hits and the only run. The score came in the first frame, although Newhouser struck out the side.

A'S FIRST TEAM LOSES
 WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Coming from behind with three runs in the seventh and single tallies in the eighth and ninth, the New York Giants defeated the Philadelphia Athletics 6-4 in an exhibition game today.

Van Mungo and Rube Fischer shared the pitching for the Giants and Russ Christopher and Porter Vaughan divided the hurling for the A's.

Iowa, Indiana Vie in Track

Hawkeye track interest will be focused on the University of Chicago fieldhouse today as Coach George Bresnahan's thinclads engage the Maroons and Indiana in a triangular meet.

It will be a battle of evenly classed squads as Iowa took ninth in the Big Ten indoor championships last week while Indiana was eighth, Chicago failed to score.

Danny Sheehan should be a sure Hawk point getter as he leaped six feet this season in the high jump and was the only Iowa man to score in the last week's meet.

Indiana had two individual placers with Deal getting fifth in the mile run and Groomes tying for third in the high jump.

It will be the last indoor meet of the season for the Hawkeyes.

New Providence Plays Coon Rapids for Title

Semi-Final Results
 Coon Rapids 47, Steamboat Rock 40
 New Providence 35, Guthrie Center 31

DES MOINES (AP)—Undeclared Coon Rapids rambled into a title game with New Providence by eliminating stubborn Steamboat Rock 47 to 40 last night in the semi-final round of the girls' state high school basketball tournament before a crowd estimated at 6,300.

New Providence, playing a flawless floor game, advanced to the championship round with a 35-31 victory over Guthrie Center.

Guthrie Center held a 16-12 lead early in the second quarter but New Providence rallied for a 22-21 halftime advantage and was ahead 29-26 at the three-quarters mark.

Anna Lawler handled her pivot post guarding assignment so capably that Marjorie Garloch, Guthrie Center's ace scorer, was held to five field goals, two from long range.

MILNAR SHACKLES CUBS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Al Milnar held the National league champion Chicago Cubs hitless for the first three innings yesterday and the American league Brownies went on to take an easy 7-2 exhibition game victory.

Irish Thinclads Win

Rosa Welch to Give Concert At Methodist Church March 24

Rosa Page Welch of Chicago, nationally known Negro soprano, will give a benefit concert in Iowa City Sunday, March 24, at 3 p. m. in the First Methodist church.

Mrs. Welch will be sponsored by the University of Life, the Wesley Foundation undergraduate and Young Adult Forum groups, the Christian Endeavor and the Hillel foundation. Proceeds from a free-will offering will go to the World Student Service Fund and to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mrs. Welch started her climb in the musical world by winning first place in the national vocal contest of the Chicago Music Festival at Soldiers field a number of years ago.

While in Chicago, Mrs. Welch has studied with Alexander Nakutin and is continuing her studies under B. Fred Wise at the American Conservatory of Music.

"I love to sing spirituals and always include a group of them in my concerts," Mrs. Welch says. "Some of my favorites are 'Sometimes I Feel Like a Motherless Child, Sweet Little Jesus Boy, I'm Going to Tell God All my Troubles.' In order to sing a spiritual well, the singer must have the feeling back of it."

Russian and Negro music have a common bond of disappointment and heartbreak, hope and aspiration, says Mrs. Welch. "I particularly like Russian music. I once had a Russian teacher who taught me a great deal about the life of the Russian peasant—a life of sadness and tribulation like the early life of the American Negro."

Although Mrs. Welch sings by profession, she considers the promotion of racial understanding her life work. She visits colleges and universities all over the United States, staying for two or three days to give concerts, meet students interested in interracial relations and lead group singing.

Mrs. Welch will meet informally with high school and college youth immediately after her concert. She will lead them in singing and will talk with them in Fellowship hall of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Welch's 17-year-old daughter, Linnie, will accompany her at the piano. Mrs. Welch also has a 15-year-old son, Gale, who plays the violin. He is a student at the Scattergood school near Iowa City. Mrs. Welch's husband sings, and sometimes the whole family appears in concert.

Plans are going ahead for the formal initiation of members into the local post, the commander said. Tentative plans are to hold the initiation in the main auditorium of the Community building, April 7. A top-notch initiation team from the Davenport post will perform the ceremony.
