FIRING SQUAD EXECUTES HOMMA

General Dies For Ordering Death March

Japanese Conqueror Of Bataan, Corregidor Killed Near Manila

MANILA, Wednesday (AP)—Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, conqueror of Bataan and Corregidor and originator of the death march which killed 17,200 American and Filipino captives, was executed before dawn at Los Banos, 20 miles south of Manila, by a United States army firing squad.

The execution took place about 1 a. m., Manila time Tuesday (a. m. Central Standard Time), in the same area in which Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita was hanged in disgrace.

The army's official announcement was not made until several hours after the former Japanese Philippines commandant's death.

No Final Statement
Calm and stoical, Homma declined to make any final statement.

Executed by hanging within a half-hour after Homma's death was Lt. Gen. Hikotaro Tajima, convicted of the atrocity slaying of three American naval fliers on Bataan Island, off the northern tip of Luzon, in May, 1944.

Like Homma, Tajima made no final statement.

Homma, convicted Feb. 11 of ordering the Bataan death march and condoning other atrocities in the Philippines, died bound to a post.

A black hood covered his head, and over his heart was a four-inch round white target at which the 12 rifles were aimed.

Rifles Contained Blanks
At least one of the rifles and perhaps as many as four contained blanks. The men who fired will never know which of their shots had been harmless.

Army precision marked the grim, nearly-silent drama.

The firing squad stood 15 paces from the post as the guard marched up in double ranks, escorting Homma. He strode erect, his arms bound behind him. A chaplain walked nearby.

Not far away, the crew of an ambulance stood quietly waiting to receive the body.

The voice of the officer in command broke the stillness. He was reading the charge, finding and sentence.

Then Homma was tied to the post and the hood placed over his head. A moment later, the medical officer put the target over the heart of the stocky Japanese.

The officer in charge raised his right arm. Twelve men unlocked their rifles.

They took aim as the arm dropped to a horizontal position. The arm snapped to the officer's side as he barked, "Fire!"

There was a sharp crack of rifles.

Homma was dead.

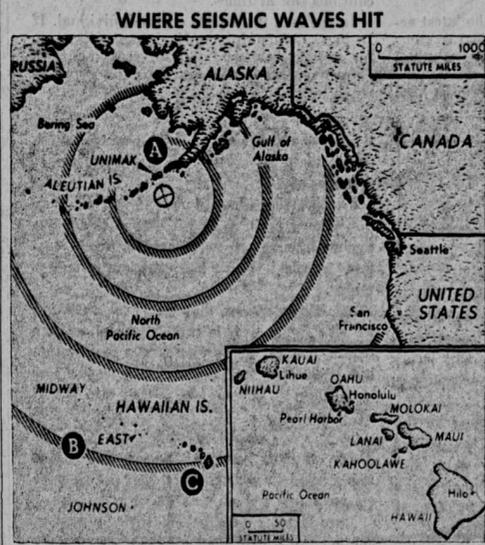

The conqueror of Bataan and Corregidor surrendered to American occupation forces in Tokyo shortly after General MacArthur ordered his arrest as a suspected war criminal.

Went on Trial
Homma went on trial in Manila Jan. 3, was convicted and sentenced to be shot. Soon after his conviction the U. S. supreme court turned down an appeal from the death sentence.

While on trial, Homma sent a message to Wataru Narahashi, chief Japanese cabinet secretary, a friend of long standing, saying: "I know I cannot escape the death sentence. I have failed to fulfill my task with justice and charity. Now I do not blame anybody. What I think now is I want to go—the earlier the better—in the place where Japanese soldiers fell and where American soldiers sleep."

"I must apologize to God for all my sins."

MacArthur refused to intervene in Homma's case, just as he had done when the case of Japanese Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita came before him. Yamashita, who succeeded Homma in the Philippines, was hanged.

2 File Student Council Petitions

Herb Olson, Doris Goldman Seek Offices

Greek Organizations To Determine Policy At Monday Meetings

At least two students were to file their nomination petitions for the Student Council elections this morning and half a dozen other students loomed as probable candidates as interest in the campaign accelerated yesterday.

Herb Olson, A2 of Winfield, and Doris Goldman, A3 of Madison, S. D., said last night they will file today in the office of student affairs. Olson is running for one of the four delegate-at-large positions, and Miss Goldman is running for representative of town women.

Draft Petition
Olson, a war veteran who was a prisoner of the Germans, said his campaign manager will be Richard Yoakam, G of Pittsburgh, Pa. Olson and Yoakam yesterday drafted a two-page petition which contained a multi-point platform and carried the 20 signatures necessary for nomination.

Last night Yoakam resigned as Olson's manager after the Student Council appointed Yoakam chairman of a pre-election caucus set for the night of April 15.

Miss Goldman was endorsed Monday night by Tau Gamma, town women's sorority. She met last night with her principal backers to draft a platform and choose a campaign manager.

Meanwhile, names of several other students were being mentioned as likely candidates.

Quadrangle Candidates
It was reported that possibly three men from the Quadrangle would have their names placed on the ballot, while a group of fraternities were talking about endorsing a joint list of candidates.

Several fraternities and sororities considered endorsing candidates—either individually or in conjunction with other Greek organizations—at their meetings Monday night. At least two are expected to make campaign statements later this week.

Despite the recent wave of Greek-independent discussion on the campus and in The Daily Iowan's "Readers Forum" column, it was still too early to tell whether the student body would split on those lines in this election.

Greek-Independent
The combination of Olson, an independent, and Yoakam, a Greek, made it appear that the old lines might be dropped and that several small Greek-independent coalitions would appear.

There also was a movement afoot among town women yesterday to place at least one more student's name on the ballot for representative of town women.

The movement, still early in the planning stage, might bring a split between Tau Gamma and independent town women. Leaders of the proposed new party said they will work for the votes of all town women who are not members of Tau Gamma.

Interest Spreading
Although interest in the election was gradually spreading, there still were many students—both among the Greeks and the independents—who were paying little heed to the April 16 election.

Backers of the students who probably will become candidates said they will make definite bids to stir up interest for their candidates after their nominations have been announced.

Deadline for filing nomination petitions is 5 p. m. April 9. They may be filed in the office of student affairs.

Taft Interrupts Hearing of Bill

Senator, Congressman Murray in Argument Over Health Program

WASHINGTON (AP)—A shouting row between Senator Taft (R., Ohio) and Chairman Murray (D., Mont.) of the senate labor committee ended yesterday in Taft striding out of a committee hearing.

Quarrel Arose
The quarrel arose during a public hearing on a compulsory health insurance program.

The committee continued its hearing after Taft's departure. The bill sponsored by Murray, Senator Wagner (D., N. Y.) and Rep. Dingell (R., Mich.) would provide a comprehensive government hospitalization program and other health measures.

Argument Begins
The row started as Murray was reading his statement in support of the bill. He had praised an editorial in the Washington Post, which criticized what the paper said was "the habit of attributing to the communists everything that is progressive."

Taft broke in to assert that the health bill was "the most socialist" measure Congress ever had considered.

Council Plans Caucus For Student Election

An all-party caucus where candidates for election to Student Council may speak and present programs in behalf of their candidacies will be held in Macbride auditorium at 8 p. m. Monday, April 15, the night before the all-university elections, it was decided at a Council meeting last night.

Dick Yoakam, G of Pittsburgh, Pa., who suggested the caucus to the Council, will serve as all-party caucus manager. Candidates or their campaign managers will work with Yoakam to plan the continuity and timing of the meeting, with each candidate being allotted an equal length of time to present his views and program.

The student travel bureau, sponsored by the Council to provide a means for students to arrange sharing expenses for rides to and from the university, will start functioning Friday morning.

Students seeking a means of transportation can contact by phone persons who have offered rides in the book. Bill Platt, A2 of Tama, is chairman of the travel bureau committee.

Sheriff Plans to Continue Hunt— Search for Body Proves Futile

An eight hour search of the Iowa river bed yesterday for the body of John Rothlisberger, 23 year-old university student from Washington, Iowa, who is believed to have drowned Monday night, ended in failure yesterday evening.

Rothlisberger, a sophomore in the college of liberal arts, disappeared after the canoe in which he and Joan Swanson, 18 year-old freshman from Chicago, overturned when caught in a swift current.

Employing steel grappling hooks, city firemen in power-boats dragged the bottom of the river for 1,000 yards above and below the scene of the accident in an attempt to recover the body. The canoe is believed to have overturned just above the bend in the river north of the city park bridge.

Preston Koser, Johnson county sheriff in charge of the search, stated last night that it was undecided whether the dragging operations would be resumed today. He added, however, that some means would be employed to find the body.

Yesterday's efforts, as those of the two hour search following the accident, were seriously hindered by the current and rocks and roots on the bottom in which the sharply-pointed hooks became entangled.

An account of the accident was furnished by Miss Swanson, who estimated the time to have been between 8:15 and 8:30 o'clock.

She related that the boat upset as the couple attempted to turn around and head down the river. The two clung to the opposite sides of the righted canoe until Rothlisberger instructed her to swim around to his side. Becoming panicky after starting, however, she swam back to her previous position.

Miss Swanson related that the next thing she knew Rothlisberger was swimming toward the middle of the river. She continued to cling to the canoe and called to him to see if he were all right. He answered by asking if she were all right, and then started to swim back toward the canoe.

"I kept screaming 'John' to him," she continued, "and he answered once or twice. Then I became awfully scared. I kept yelling to see if he were o.k. and he didn't answer."

"Then I heard splashes and he called 'Joanie' to me. I heard him scream 'help' and it sounded as if he had water in his voice," Miss Swanson said.

She was rescued by two couples who were canoeing farther down the river.

Rothlisberger served 29 months in the army airforces, including duty in Italy with the 15th airforce, before entering the university in February of this year.

Russian Troops Reported Busily Preparing To Leave Iranian Soil at Caspian Seaport

TEHRAN (AP)—Thousands of Soviet troops concentrated at the Caspian port of Bandar Shah, 160 miles northeast of Tehran, appeared yesterday to be making busy preparations to leave Iranian soil.

A view of the Asterabad province area from a plane showed much activity on crowded wharves, in temporary bivouacs and in a regular Soviet army camp.

Farther west, a small Russian garrison at Sari, however, showed no apparent signs of preparation for evacuation.

A Kurdish chieftain arrived in Tehran two days ago from Saubulugh, seat of the government of Kurd leader Ghazi Mohammed's "independent Republic of Kurdistan." The chieftain said Russian troops were withdrawing from the Miyandaub area of western Iran and "returning to Tabriz" in Iranian Azerbaijan, where Soviet-supported separatists have proclaimed an autonomous state.

UVA to Vote Tonight On New Constitution; Urge Vet Attendance

Veterans on campus will vote on the proposed new constitution of the University Veterans' association tonight at 7 o'clock in auditorium 221A, Schaeffer hall.

Officially adopted, the new constitution will eliminate a "committee on admissions" and reduce the annual membership fee to $1. Bill Henke, Lt of Charles City, vice-president, said last night. Under the new laws of the organization, members this school year who were assessed more than $1 to join will have their memberships extended in proportion to the excess, he added.

Reece Predicts GOP Gains

WASHINGTON (AP)—Carroll Reece declared yesterday that as the new Republican national chairman he is nobody's man and that he expects to "elect and not select" party candidates.

At this first news conference since the national committee elected him chairman Monday, the congressman from Tennessee steered clear of comments on special items of party policy.

But he predicted Republican gains in senate and house—with control of the house, at least, switching to the GOP—in the election this fall. He said the Republican party could not beat President Truman in 1948 with just any man.

Reece had not previously seen a statement by Senator Morse (R., Ore.) terming a Republican national committee gathering last night a "grand flop." Morse said in a statement that if the program its leaders announced constituted Republican policy in the next two years "The Republican national committee will reelect Harry Truman in spite of everything he is doing to defeat himself."

Reece tilted-back in a chair to read a reporter's copy of the senator's statement. He tilted forward to assert: "That's just one man's opinion."

He dealt at greater length, however, with questions resulting from Harold E. Stassen's statement that it was "well known that I (Stassen) do not approve of Chairman Reece's stand on many issues in the past."

U. S., British—Members Confer

NEW YORK (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes last night held a last minute conference with Sir Alexander Cadogan the British delegate to the United Nations security council, in preparation for today's meeting called to hear Russia and Iranian replies to Iran's charges of delayed withdrawal of Soviet troops from her territory.

Officially there was no report of their conference but diplomatic observers said the two statesmen agreed to keep the Iranian question to the fore of council proceedings whether or not Iran's and the Soviet reply had been received by the 10 a. m. EST opening time set for the council today.

At 8:55 p. m. CST the United Nations secretariat announced that Secretary General Trygve Lie had been informed by the Iranian delegation there would be no Iranian reply to the council's questionnaire last night.

At the same time the spokesman said no word one way or the other had been received from the Russian delegation.

Secretary of State Byrnes returned from Washington last night ready to resume his leadership in finding a solution of the Iranian question regardless of whether Russia sends the United Nations security council a satisfactory statement before today's crucial meeting.

Soviet ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko continued to maintain silence on Russia's plans. Asked if he would attend today's session, he said "I don't know."

152 Die In Tidal Waves

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Immense tidal waves that crashed down on Pacific shores from Hawaii to the Aleutians and as far South as Chile took the lives of possibly 152 persons, late reports showed Tuesday night, and left property damage running into the millions.

Hawaii suffered the greatest casualties. The latest compilation placed the dead at 70, the missing at a minimum of 71. Ten were presumed lost in the Aleutians and one in California.

New 40 Foot Wave
The heaving ocean floor off the Aleutians, where the spectacular seismic turbulence originated, churned a new 40-foot tidal wave that moved slowly through the Gulf of Alaska Tuesday.

Twelve coast guardsmen and two civilians were taken from Middleton island in the gulf, and women and children were removed from Naknek on the Alaskan peninsula as the new tide surged toward Alaska.

Air-Sea Rescue
Meanwhile, one of the greatest air-sea rescue operations in the peacetime history of the mid-Pacific was in full swing in the stricken Hawaiian islands, hardest hit by the sea disaster.

Planes and ships put out to sea looking for any who might still be clinging to the wreckage of their homes, torn from their foundations when three waves struck Monday.

Shock after shock, radiating from the southeastern Aleutians, was recorded on the University of Washington seismographs. But seismic observers said the new tidal wave probably would cause little damage when it finally reached southeastern Alaska.

Seismologists said the shocks and the new wave were the normal backwash from Monday's earth-shaking disturbance, which took a known toll of at least 94 lives and damaged millions of dollars of property from California to Midway.

Planes Continue Search
Army and navy rescue planes continued to search the seacoast around the Hawaiian islands for persons swept out to sea.

Doctors, nurses and Red Cross disaster workers converged on the island of Hawaii, largest of the Hawaiian group, which caught the full fury of waves that thundered in without warning. Hilo, a city of 25,000 population on the exposed northeast coast, was battered and its streets piled high with water-swept debris.

Losses in Hilo
Navy officials had expressed fears that as many as 300 persons might have lost their lives in Hilo, but many of those first reported missing had turned up safe.

There still was no report of the fate of ten men carried away and presumed drowned when the north-bound tidal wave engulfed Scotch cap lighthouse on Unimak, an Aleutian island only 70 miles from the calculated center of the submarine earthquake.

Nearby Dutch harbor escaped major damage.

The navy reported damage to installations, however, at Midway, 1,140 miles northwest of Pearl Harbor, and at Johnston island.

As twice the normal volume of automobile traffic jammed the city's main thoroughfares in rush hours yesterday, Mayor Edward J. Jeffries left his office to confer with local heads of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees of America (AFL).

Emerging from the second meeting, Jeffries was asked if he were optimistic. "Let's put it this way," he said, "I'm not any more discouraged than I was."

Optimism of city officials apparently was based on hopes that the union membership would reconside the city's previous offer of a 15 cent an hour raise, 40 hour week and contract changes doing away with mandatory overtime. Jeffries steadfastly has said the city will not negotiate while the strike is on. As an alternative the city has offered to put the whole union contract up for arbitration.

Covering The Capital

WASHINGTON — It's a paradox, but if some recommendations of the LaFollette-Monroey committee for streamlining congress are ever to become law, it will be as result of a fight between pressure groups—lobbies.

these pressure groups to register and set forth their sources of income and expenditures. Some of the strictly legitimate lobbies don't like this idea either. Even if they don't have a thing to hide, they don't like prying into private matters. It's a new custom to which old Americans are unaccustomed.

High School Pupils Mislead by Educators

The results of the poll taken among the delegates to the Iowa high school forensic tournament here seem to me to reveal considerable inconsistency. I was particularly shocked to read that 92 percent of the high school delegates favored a United States-British alliance as advocated by Mr. Winston Churchill.

tors in particular because I do not believe that the general public would be inclined to agree with this view of favoring the alliance. A recent Gallup poll showed that of the 66 percent of the persons interviewed who had either heard or read Mr. Churchill's Fulton, Mo., speech, only 18 percent approved his suggestion of an alliance. Forty percent strongly disapproved, four percent believed the United States and Britain should stick together, but without a military alliance, and six percent expressed no opinion.

There are hundreds, and I do mean hundreds, of others that prance around in the congressional muck, convincing those who contribute to their upkeep and some members of congress that they wield tremendous power.

Brotherhood of Mankind?

Recently the statement was made that in spite of the teachings of many religions, wars are still being fought. The person making that statement interpreted the two world wars as a significant sign that men are not yet ready to believe in the brotherhood of mankind.

Professor Takes Optimistic View of Security Council Action—

Johnson Sees 'Good Chance for Success' of UNO

A generally optimistic word-picture of last week's tense meeting of the UNO security council was drawn yesterday by Prof. Jack Johnson.

Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was visibly perturbed as the Russian delegate, Andrei Gromyko, accompanied by his four advisors, "stomped childishly" from the chamber during Wednesday afternoon's hectic session, according to Johnson.

concerned chiefly with discussions of what matters would be placed on the agenda. Pointing out that our own congress has a long and involved set of rules governing this procedure, Johnson said that it is "unfortunate" that as yet no rules have been worked out along these lines for the security council.

In translating Gromyko's statements into the official languages, French and English, the generally excellent interpreters made one quite serious but understandable mistake, declared the political scientist, who speaks Russian himself.

date Byrnes' request that Russian and Iranian governments present their cases to the council in writing is exactly what was proposed during the last Tuesday's deadlocked session by Lt. Col. W. R. Hodgson of Australia.

He pointed out that as of to

Shirley Austin Weds Dr. H. Marshall Jr. In Double Ring Ceremony at Des Moines

Shirley Mae Austin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Austin of Des Moines, and Dr. Harry J. Marshall Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Harry Marshall of La Crosse, Wis., were married at 2 p. m. March 31 at the First Methodist church in Des Moines. The Rev. C. Clifford Bacon officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with white snapdragons, gladioli and carnations.

Beverly Austin attended her sister as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Louise Johnston of Marshalltown and Marge Herick of Des Moines. Bill Hunt of La Crosse served as best man and ushers were Dean Jenks, Ray Sundet and Arnie Swartz, all of La Crosse, and Dr. Perry Haist of Burlington.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long bridal point sleeves and a full skirt extending into a junior train. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion net fell from a headdress of white flowers and she carried a bridal bouquet centered with a white orchid.

The maid of honor chose a floor-length gown of yellow taffeta styled with a sweetheart neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Johnston and Miss Herick wore identical gowns of aqua taffeta and carried bouquets of yellow roses.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Austin was attired in a floor-length gown of aqua crepe and wore elbow-length gloves of rose and a black hat with rose flower trimmings. Her corsage was of roses.

Mrs. Marshall selected a pale blue crepe floor-length gown and her corsage was of violets and roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Hotel Commodore. Hostesses included Audrey Ross and Joan Hawkinson, both of Des Moines, and Jo Bean of Pella, all sorority sisters of the bride.

Mrs. Marshall is a graduate of Roosevelt high school in Des Moines and attended the University of Iowa where she was affiliated with Delta Delta Delta social sorority.

Dr. Marshall was graduated from Central high school in La Crosse and attended Lawrence college in Appleton, Wis. He received his B.S. and D.D.S. degrees at the University of Iowa, where he served as grand master of Delta Sigma Delta dental fraternity.

The couple will be at home April 10 in La Crosse.

Kiwanis Club Speaker Attacks Recent Article Of Major de Seversky

Former naval officers A. R. Parker, speaking at the weekly meeting of the Iowa City Kiwanis club, called the recent article by Major Alexander de Seversky a misleading account of the destructive power of the atomic bomb as compared with conventional explosives. He warned Kiwanis members against being misled by articles underestimating the power of the bomb.

Parker was one of 10 naval officers permitted to inspect the atom-bombed cities. He called Hiroshima and Nagasaki "the most devastated scenes I have ever witnessed."

The speaker said that one B-29 with an atomic bomb had much more chance to reach its objective than the 200 planes required to carry its equal in ordinary demolition bombs. He added that the primary effects of the atomic bombs were not incendiary. Accompanying the speech were a group of slides taken at the scene.

Conn Fast, Fit in Early Drill

BILLY CONN
No Hands Laid on Him

GREENWOOD LAKES, N. J. (AP)—Challenger Billy Conn of Pittsburgh, showed his oldtime speed yesterday as he opened his permanent training camp for his coming heavyweight title bout with Champion Joe Louis in New York's Yankee Stadium June 19.

Looking fit at 190 pounds and huskier than ever before, after a month's workout in Hot Springs, Ark., Conn boxed two fast rounds with lightweight Sammy Shipani, also of Pittsburgh.

With lightweight Sammy Schipani, who was picked for his speed, said "Billy never has been faster. His legs are in great shape. I wasn't able to lay a hand on him."

Conn will take his first road work today and will box four or five days a week during the next month. "It depends on how he goes," said Manager Johnny Ray. "If he gets too fine I'll let him take a day or two off."

Sigma Nus Cop Title

By MARY ANN TROEGER

Playing a sparkling and fast game, the Sigma Nu's stepped over the Teeloxes quintet last night to win the championship in the intramural basketball tournament, 49-32.

Lead by big Bob Marshall, who hit for 16 points, the winners had no trouble keeping their end of the scoring up and were not seriously threatened at any time by the Teeloxes who made a vain but futile attempt in the third quarter to overcome a nine point lead. They held the Sigma Nu's scoreless in the first five minutes of the second half of the game until Chuck Uknes headed down the floor with the ball for an undisputed basket.

Brilliant shooting by Bob Knarr accounted for 12 more points for the victors while George Cebuhar ran up four field goals. Chuck Uknes was in there fighting for the ball and played his usual excellent game as guard throughout the entire game. Bob Wayland and Bob Watson went in as substitutes in the second half each managed to rack up four points apiece in the time they played.

Footballer Bill Kay was high scorer for the Teeloxes, running up six field goals and one free throw, while fast Larry Gernuska hit for 10 points. Bob Gustafson and Bob Gillis, guards racked up four apiece as well as doing an excellent job in their positions.

The height advantage which each team has used to their advantage throughout the season was nearly forgotten as Bill Kay and Bob Marshall battled on even terms. The Sigma Nu's consistently played excellent ball in their last game, and there was little question of the outcome to the small crowd who attended the tournament.

In the early spring drills, Gustafson, Kane, Kay, Hammond and Kelso seem to have the first call on their line positions, with Gallagher and Bartels working out claims on backfield spots.

Benda, who was a 160-pound back in 1942, has returned from the army as a 190-pound guard and one of Anderson's most promising line candidates.

Top individual duel so far, has been between Gallagher and big Russ Fichter for the fullback spot, with both of them casting anxious glances toward Dubuque, where Dick Hoerner, the Hawks' 1942 star at that spot, is working out in preparation for returning to school next fall.

Montreal Tops Dodgers

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers were beaten by their Montreal farmhands from the International League, 6-1, yesterday, going runless until the ninth inning when Carl Furillo, a Montreal player on loan to the parent club, belted a home run.

Among winners of a minor "W" at the University of Wisconsin for basketball competition was Robert Strotman of Waverly. An all-state cage player in 1944, Strotman is stationed on the Wisconsin campus with a navy unit.

Rare Air May Aid Mexican Jumping Beans

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP)—The baseball players who think they are hitting the jackpot in going to Mexico may not know it, but they also may be hitting a baseball farther than they ever thought possible.

In fact, we may soon be hearing of athletes who had trouble getting the ball out of the infield in this 'country suddenly blossoming into lethal wallopers who will be asking, "WHO WAS THIS GUY BABE RUTH, ANYWAY?"

Responsible for this abrupt development from a popgun into a cannon will be the fact the hitters will have that air about them. That thin air, that is, which offers comparatively little resistance to a baseball, permitting what would normally be a pop fly to the shortstop to sail out over the left fielder's head.

A fellow who returned recently from Mexico City reports he saw Luis Olmo, the former Dodger, hit a home run that must have carried close to 500 feet, and Olmo, although he hit a long ball on occasion certainly was no Ruth or Hank Greenberg or Jimmy Foxx in this country.

Pitchers Affected, Too
The rarefied air also has its effect on the pitching, the observer reports. Fast ball pitchers can breeze the ball up to the plate like a rocket, but curve ball pitchers have one heck of a time making the ball do anything but bend a little wearily in its flight. There isn't enough atmospheric resistance to make the ball do its stuff.

We recall that during the war we seldom received an unfavorable report of a major leaguer performing on a service team. All the pitchers seemed to be pitching no-hit games and the batters averaging about .500, and you wondered how such a situation could exist as it's too much like a man keeping quiet and shouting at the top of his voice at the same time.

Anyway, for the batters who don't like curves and can hit fast ball pitching the Mexico City conditions would seem to be made to order and they should wind up with high averages. About 7,500 feet high, in fact.

5-Year Suspension
What the future holds for these border-jumping athletes remains to be seen. They must be convinced of the durability of the Mexican league or they would not brave the five-year suspension imposed automatically.

Should the league blow up, or should they tire of life in the land of jumping beans, as matters now stand they can not expect to receive "come home, all is forgiven"

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians hammered Charley (Red) Barrett for 10 hits and five runs in five innings yesterday and defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-3 in the Red-Birds' last spring training camp game.

Cleveland's 15 hits off Barrett, Max Lanier and Fred Schmidt included home runs by Bob Lemon and Dutch Meyer. Meyer, Ed Robinson and the Cards' Enos Slaughter had three hits apiece.

Charley (Red) Embree allowed the Cardinals but four hits and one run in six innings, including pinchhitter Walt Sessa's triple which scored Del Rice in the fifth.

Torres Quits Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—The memory of an eight-year-old son killed playing baseball has caused Gil Torres, Cuban infielder, to leave the Washington Senators, perhaps permanently.

Torres' son died last fall of injuries sustained in a corner-lot game. Torres had hoped that the boy would follow his footsteps and those of his father, who also played with the Senators.

Torres told friends that he had been saddened by the sight of youngsters playing ball in this country, where his son once had had so much fun. He couldn't concentrate on the game himself.

Torres returned to Cuba yesterday from the Senators' training camp in Orlando, Fla., to be with his expectant wife. HE INDICATED THAT HE MIGHT PLAY LATER IN THE MEXICAN LEAGUE.

University high's Blue Hawks place their Eastern Iowa indoor track crown on the block tonight in the Iowa fieldhouse at 7:30. Mt. Vernon who fell only one half point short of topping the Rivermen in the state class B indoor meet in the fieldhouse last Saturday will present the toughest obstacle in the path of University high's winning their eighth indoor title in 10 years.

West Liberty and Tipton are rated as the dark horses of the meet. The Comets are especially tough with a pair of fast 880 men in Charles Steen and Charles Jehle. Wilson, the West Liberty weight man, is expected to annex the conference shot put title.

Mt. Vernon will be paced by Caraway who was one of the individual stars of the class B meets last week. He is a sprinter, broad jumper and a member of the sprint relay teams.

U. High will place its hopes on a balanced squad that is paced by good relay teams.

Early Lead, Homers Let Tigers Win, 9-6

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Piling up a 7-run lead back of the one-hit pitching of lefthander Frank (Stubby) Overmire, who worked five innings, the Detroit Tigers defeated the Boston Braves 9 to 6 here yesterday for the third straight time in an exhibition baseball game.

Hank Greenberg and Pinky Higgins of the Tigers and Chuck Workman of the Braves hit homers while Carlisle (Bama) Rowell, Boston lefthander, had a single, double and triple for the day's best individual work at bat.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Be-spectacled Bill Dietrich held the Pittsburgh Pirates hitless for five innings yesterday, gave up a run on Bob Elliott's homer in the sixth, and yielded to Bill Eckhardt in the eighth, who coasted to give the Chicago White Sox a 3-1 victory in an exhibition game.

Wally Moses started the White Sox scoring when he hammered Ken Heintzelman's first pitch for a home run. With one out in the sixth he doubled off Jim Hopper and scored on Don Kolloway's single.
