Iran Clamps Strict Censor On Dispatches

Washington Officials To Consider Protest; Hint Reds Implicated

WASHINGTON (AP)—An iron censorship, which some American officials suspect originated in Moscow, was clamped by Iran yesterday upon all news dispatches by foreign correspondents in that country.

The United States state department, announcing the development as soon as word of it was received here from the embassy at Tehran, was considering tonight what action it should take in protest.

The censorship is of the "blind" type which denies to the authors of dispatches any information as to how their stories are being changed.

In response to questions about censorship conditions in Russia itself, the state department said that Moscow had exercised a blind censorship for a period beginning about March 1 and ending March 29.

The present censorship in Russia permits the writer of a news dispatch to see a copy of the censored story before it is telegraphed—but it makes no provision, so far as is known here, for the writer to seek changes in the censored portions of the story.

Rumania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Poland have had varying degrees of censorship, less rigid than that established in Iran.

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Democrats late last night named a special "harmony" committee to work with Democratic national headquarters.

The committee was chosen at a 90-minute long party caucus held behind closed doors.

Jose Iturbi's Daughter Kills Self; Depressed By Long Court Battle

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—The turbulent life of Maria Iturbi Hero, 28-year-old daughter of concert pianist Jose Iturbi, was ended early yesterday by a .38 calibre bullet fired following an evening of informal piano music played by her father for friends and relatives.

Her slender body, clad in green pajamas, was found by the Spanish maestro, lying on his bed, her black hair aflame from burning gunpowder.

Det. Sgt. Arthur H. McBain said the death of Mrs. Hero—depressed after a prolonged litigation with her father and her divorced husband, concert violinist Stephen Hero, over custody of her two children—was "clearly a case of suicide."

Police Lt. C. R. Marple said evidence indicated Mrs. Hero fired a "test" bullet into the bedroom wall before firing at herself.

Reconversion Dealt Setback By Coal Strike

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Civilian Production Administration
John D. Small reported yesterday that the soft coal strike had dealt reconversion a "serious setback."

In the automobile manufacturing industry, the Ford Motor company announced a week-end shutdown affecting some 45,000 production workers because of a parts and steel shortage.

Small said lack of fuel had forced the closing of "scores of plants" and that the coal strike was "increasing the injury done by the recent steel strike."

Small asserted a survey showed steel production was dropping steadily, that some railroads may be forced to curtail service in the next two weeks.

The Ford company said production was suspended indefinitely at its Lincoln plant, but most of its production workers probably would be recalled next Monday.

Government Troops Utilize Air Support

General G. Marshall Arrives in Peiping; May Demand Truce

CHUNGKING, Thursday (AP)—An official Central News dispatch from Changchun early today said Chinese Communist forces had seized the greater part of the Manchurian capital city after 12 hours of severe fighting with the Nationalist garrison.

Government forces were short of ammunition, the dispatch added, but they were receiving constant air support.

This was the first mention of the government's use of aircraft in the Manchurian fighting. Earlier dispatches had reported loss of Changchun's airfields to the Communists early in the battle for the city.

Gen. Marshall in Peiping
As Chinese battled Chinese from the streets, office buildings, and rooftops in Changchun, General Marshall arrived in Peiping by plane from Tokyo for a supreme effort to check the spreading flames of civil war.

(Chinese officials in Chungking speculated he carried a stern demand by the United States for an immediate truce in Manchuria.)

Associated Press correspondent Tom Masterson, caught in the cross-fire in Changchun, radioed an account of the conflict in which 4,000 Chinese government troops, bolstered by 3,000 local recruits, battled 40,000 Communist attackers.

State Board in Need Of Additional Funds

Pres. Virgil Hancher Requests $76,000 For University Hospital

DES MOINES (AP)—The legislative interim committee was told yesterday that the state board of control will need $229,000 in additional funds by June 30.

P. F. Hopkins, board chairman, told the committee that figure is the board's estimate of extra funds needed because of increased operating expenses at the 15 institutions it manages.

Dr. Virgil Hancher, president of the State University of Iowa at Iowa City, requested $76,000 for salaries and support at the University hospital.

Dr. Hancher and Dr. Charles E. Friley, president of Iowa State college at Ames, reported they would be able to live within their support funds to June 30, and still carry on the teaching of veterans enrolled under the GI bill of rights.

Iowa City and Ames are taking care of their heavy GI enrollment within faculty and support appropriations, Presidents Hancher and Friley said. The schools rely upon federal tuition payments to keep them even.

Iowa State has 3,160 GI students this quarter, and the State University of Iowa has 3,000. The Ames GI's constitute about half the total enrollment, and the Iowa City GI's about 40 percent of the University enrollment.

University hospital at Iowa City needs $67,000 more until June 30, Dr. Hancher explained, partly to increase some salaries by 7 1/2 percent and partly for rising medicine costs. The hospital last year, Hancher reported, spent $40,000 more for penicillin than it did the previous year for treatment of indigent patients.

FIRE FIGHTERS probe the wreckage of an army B-25 for the bodies of four crewmen killed when the bomber crashed in a wheat field near Forestville, Md., yesterday soon after taking off from nearby Andrews Field. Names of the victims were withheld pending identification.

Navy to Discuss Merger

Boost in Corn Ceilings Asked

President's Famine Committee Urges Food Conservation

WASHINGTON (AP)—A far-reaching program designed to conserve food and speed exports to famished peoples abroad was urged last night by President Truman's famine emergency committee which declared that the present voluntary wheat-saving program is not enough.

A boost in corn price ceilings to discourage the feeding of this grain to livestock and steps to end strikes hampering farm production were among the measures proposed.

The White House announced at the same time that the president will address the nation by radio at 6:15 p. m. CST Friday on the famine crisis.

The famine committee report was given to the president April 9. It was released last night by Chester Davis, committee chairman, following a White House conference and after Mr. Truman had told the reporters that the government is doing all it can.

The committee proposed that millers be required to set aside a specific portion of their flour for export. This was one of the steps urged by Herbert H. Lehman, resigned director-general of UNRRA, in criticizing the government's program two nights ago.

Generalissimo Francisco Franco, France and Mexico joined in Poland's effort to isolate Franco Spain from all the fifty-one members of the United Nations.

The French delegate, Henri Bonnet, asserted that "continuation of the existing situation in Spain constitutes a danger for international peace and security."

Lange, in an hour-long arrangement of the Franco government, told the council and observers that six uranium mines existed in Spain, and suggested that their output could be the basis of atomic research there.

Girl Weds Woman Masquerading as Man; Vows 'I'll Be More Careful Next Time'

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Marlys E. Converse, 18, who was the bride of a woman masquerading as a man, said yesterday she was neither angry nor worried, but "I'll be more careful when I marry again."

Marlys and her "husband," Margaret Hurst, 29, alias Jerome Hurst, met today in the office of Deputy Sheriff Sig Kittleson, who said Margaret admitted she married the Tacoma girl on March 4 at Vancouver, Wash.

Kittleson said Margaret told him she didn't know why she had duped Marlys—"It was just one of those things."

Marlys did not know her groom was a woman, Kittleson said, until Margaret was exposed after her arrest at Kelso and her return here as a violator of a 15-year suspended sentence on a larceny-forgery conviction. She was not arraigned yesterday as was expected earlier.

The deputy said Marlys confided she had thought it peculiar her spouse never had to shave during their honeymoon at Seaside, Ore. "My next suitor," she declared, "will have to grow a beard."

Zwingle Man Held On Murder Charge

MAQUOKETA (AP)—Sheriff W. Bert Morehead said last night that he had arrested Clayton Clark, 42, of Zwingle, on a charge of second degree murder in connection with the death of Clark's father, Richard D. Clark, 68, of Maquoketa.

The elder Clark died early yesterday in a Clinton hospital from injuries which Sheriff Morehead said were inflicted Sunday by the son. Morehead said the son struck his father during an argument and that the elder Clark hit his head on a cement block.

Jackson county authorities announced that an inquest was scheduled for 8 a. m. today in Maquoketa.

WHITE SANDS, N. M. (AP)—Tests of a German V-2 rocket at White Sands proving ground Tuesday were "perfectly satisfactory," Lt. Col. Harold R. Turner, commanding officer, asserted yesterday after a motorist stopped by a road block seven miles away had reported the test fizzled.

Turner said the rocket did not go 120 miles into the air as originally planned because army engineers and scientists brought it down.

Forrestal Calls For Testimony

Head Naval Officers Confer With Truman After Lobby Charge

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House conference on unification of the armed services broke up late yesterday with Secretary of the Navy Forrestal calling some form of merger desirable and saying navy officers now should give "testimony, not assertions" on the subject.

The conference with President Truman followed disclosure by the White House that the chief executive's blast at navy "lobbying" against unification was provoked by an interview statement of Rear Admiral A. S. Merrill, commandant of the eighth naval district at New Orleans.

Forrestal spent an hour and a half with the chief executive. Also in the huddle were John L. Sullivan, assistant navy secretary; Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, chief of naval operations, and Admiral William D. Leahy, personal chief of staff to the president.

Asked what the prospects were for agreement between the departments on the question, Forrestal told reporters:

"I think everybody is agreed on the desirability of using the lessons of this war to get a better mechanism—which means unification."

But he added quickly that the question of the form of it still had to be worked out.

Officer Asserts Tests Of German V-2 Rocket Prove Satisfactory

WHITE SANDS, N. M. (AP)—Tests of a German V-2 rocket at White Sands proving ground Tuesday were "perfectly satisfactory," Lt. Col. Harold R. Turner, commanding officer, asserted yesterday after a motorist stopped by a road block seven miles away had reported the test fizzled.

Turner said the rocket did not go 120 miles into the air as originally planned because army engineers and scientists brought it down.

"There were certain things we didn't like," Turner said. "We took it out of the air."

"If everything had gone according to the book, no doubt the rocket would have gone 120 miles high."

Virtual Repeal Of Price Lids Leaders Say

Amendments Restrict Controls; Puts End To Subsidy Payments

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rebellious house overthrew important phases of President Truman's stabilization program last night, pasting the price control act with restrictions and directing that subsidy payments shall stop.

"You have murdered the OPA," Rep. Sabath (D., Ill.) shouted to his colleagues at the stormy night session.

"Repeal of price control," was the judgment of Price Administrator Paul Porter.

Continue OPA
The restrictions were plastered on a bill to continue the OPA beyond its present June 30 expiration date—for nine months, instead of a year as the administration asked.

After voting the amendments on a series of record votes, however, the house put off until today the final roll-call which will send the bill to the senate.

Its future there is highly uncertain. Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) announced last night that he will introduce an amendment today to remove OPA controls on "everything but rents and alcoholic beverages." It would come up for action when the senate considers the OPA measure.

House Adjourns
The hitch on final passage occurred when Rep. Bradley (D., Pa.) demanded that the official final draft of the bill be read. This was not ready and the house quit for the night shortly before 10 p. m.

As one restrictive amendment after another went into the measure, rumors swept the capitol that Porter and Stabilization Director Chester Bowles would quit, but an aide of Porter and Bowles himself denied them.

Bowles took to the radio at 9:30 p. m. with a blast at what he called the "inflationary joyride" and a promise to "see this thing through to the finish." But he said he is "deeply, deeply worried." He asserted the elimination of subsidies would raise the food bill of an average family by $70 a year.

Only rent controls escaped the house's sledge-hammer. Every amendment to alter these controls was defeated while those dealing with other phases of the control program went through by heavy Republican votes, assisted by some Democrats.

3,000 Persons Sign Petition for Clemency In Rape-Killer Case

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Petitions asking executive clemency for condemned rape-killer Earl McFarland have been signed by more than 3,000 persons here, Attorney W. N. Albert said yesterday.

The 25-year-old former marine and Joseph D. Medley escaped from the Washington jail April 3. The petitions said that if McFarland is guilty, "of which we are not convinced, such guilt came about through circumstantial evidence."

Report Nazis Conducting Atomic Research in Spain

NEW YORK (AP)—Poland told the United Nations security council yesterday there were some indications of Nazi scientific efforts to carry on atomic research in Spain and suggested that weapons even more terrible than the atomic bomb might be under experimentation there.

Editorials:

Will Congress Be Bullied by the Black Market?

A senate investigating committee discovered Tuesday that the price controls on meat are fast being broken down by a gigantic black market. And, what is just as shocking, the public began to see hints in congress that meat dealers have a good chance of getting away with this open defiance of the government.

Nearly every section of the country reports dwindling supplies of meat in the butcher shops. Where meat is to be had, it is being sold at over-ceiling prices.

And what is congress' answer to the growing black market? Congress is talking about removing the controls to wipe out the black market—or, as Representative Mike Monroney put it, congress is being "bullied" on the meat question.

If congress does retreat, if it doesn't hold the line against the black market, the dangers of breaking down the OPA completely will increase many times. And that means the dangers of runaway inflation will come uncomfortably close.

It isn't time yet to relax price controls. In fact, OPA believes the stricter meat and cream controls must be put back on, and we believe the situation is such that these stern measures are definitely unavoidable.

Much as we dislike price controls, they do not hold the fear that inflation holds. Inflation can lead only to disaster, while price controls hold hopes of a longer, more stable prosperity.

But inflation is a natural force, and it is sometimes easier to let nature take its course rather than to try to avoid its consequences—especially for congressmen.

Congress is much to blame for the present meat situation. Its actions and its attitudes toward the OPA have led producers to do things they would not dare have done if strong controls had been assured in the future. And in situations where OPA should have acted more boldly, it has been deterred by the constant threat of death at congress' hands.

The only logical action for congress now—if it is to act in the best interests of the country—is to extend OPA's powers for another year. Uncertainly as to the country's control program can only increase the already extreme inflationary pressures and can only undermine the production progress we have so far made.

Men Drivers the Best

At last, the nation's women have finally admitted what we men knew all along. Men ARE better automobile drivers than women!

The point has long been debated, with a typical male maintaining that the trouble with women behind the wheel is that "they talk too much while driving; they signal in one direction and turn in another, and they're no good in emergencies—they can't fix flats!"

On the other hand, a good many women who stiek up for their own sex say: "Women are more careful and they don't drive when they're drunk!"

But when the question "Would you rather ride in a car driven by a man or a woman?" was put to the public in a coast-to-coast Gallup poll, the men won out.

The results of the poll showed that 58% of the women queried admitted that they preferred a man at the wheel, and only 18% said that they thought women are better drivers. The remaining 24% that ventured no opinion possibly kept quiet because they did not want to be traitors to their sex.

Of the men who voted, 74% preferred to ride with a driver of their own sex, and only 6% cared to venture forth with a woman at the wheel.

Now that the fair sex has admitted that their driving could be better, let us hope that they will strive to improve it.

It would be nice to see a woman signal for a left turn and then actually turn left!

Inspection Not Answer To Atomic Control

The first section of the "Lilienthal report" for the international control of atomic energy deals with the background of the problem, and it points up the indeed difficult task of intelligent action.

The paths which atomic energy controls are to follow were first set down in the "Agreed Declaration" of Nov. 15, 1945, issued by President Truman and the prime ministers of the United Kingdom and Canada. The declaration acknowledged that (1) there is no defense against the atomic bomb, (2) there can be no lasting monopoly on atomic weapons and (3) the United States, by virtue of its democratic institutions, is especially vulnerable in atomic armament races.

Obviously, some sort of control is needed for the tremendous power of the atomic bomb. Early proposals called for international inspection, but the consulting board appointed by the state department says that control only by inspection and similar police-like methods offers no security.

Atomic energy research is a fundamental science and can NOT be controlled by any one nation. And industrial and military applications of this research are so closely allied that separation is practically impossible.

One scientist has said that the only machine which can detect atomic bombs being brought into the United States is a screwdriver. Our democratic system of government with its almost unlimited freedoms would make us especially vulnerable in an atomic armament race.

So the "Agreed Declaration" asserts that "the only complete protection for the civilized world from the destructive use of scientific knowledge lies in the prevention of war." The five men who wrote the "Lilienthal Report" base their findings on this premise. They feel that it is an international problem, and thus belongs in the care of the United Nations. And the United Nations will not succeed until it can offer a solution and security to all nations.

The report, however, does not underestimate the need for inspection as one phase of international control. What the consultants are after is a system of control where inspection could be so limited and simplified that it would be practical and would aid in achieving security.

Add to this difficultly the human factors in inspection and you can begin to see the scope of the problem. One atomic power plant would need 300 inspectors—all of whom would be doing work of an essentially negative nature. No man's life would be his own and the effect of this situation on morale and loyalty would indeed be serious.

These, then, are some of the background problems encountered by the consultants in their search for a workable system of international control of atomic energy.

Party Fence Jumping Is Old Congressional Custom

WASHINGTON—Don't make any mistake about the importance of Secretary of Commerce Wallace's suggestion that the mugs—wumps—the party bolters—the Democrats who are blocking the administration legislative program—be read out of the party—"purged."

Don't make any mistake about it either that any such "purge" will be attempted by the party organization. It has been tried over and over and in nine cases out of ten has been more harmful than helpful to the party cause.

What Secretary Wallace did (I suspect, inadvertently, since his "purge" speech was purely impromptu before a small luncheon of the Women's Democratic club here, and there was only one newspaper reporter in the house) was to give dramatic point to the critical state of the administration's legislative program.

He suggested that both parties apply party discipline on major issues—the British loan, full employment, atomic energy and such. It isn't a new idea at all. The La Follette-Monroney congressional reorganization committee has suggested that the party caucus, very infrequently used these last 20 years or so, be reestablished to give some semblance of order to partisan views and partisan votes.

The committee doesn't suggest anything like a "purge" in the case of recalcitrants. Rep. A. S. "Mike" Monroney has jumped the party fence whenever his convictions dictated, and Sen. Robert M. La Follette Jr., is a second generation mugwump, just re-identified with the Republican party.

The late Sen. George W. Norris was an Independent in Republican Nebraska. As "father of the TVA" and long-time foe of the private power interests, he was closely identified with the New Deal in his later years.

Sen. "Young Bob" LaFollette tells the story today of how his father set out in a buckboard a half a century ago to upset the Republican party machine in Wisconsin. The La Follette party succeeded and from 1934 until the other day it sailed under its own banner as the Progressive party. It has gone back to the Republican party now, but it's a question who said: "Welcome home."

In California, party lines are so indistinguishable that there would constantly be a question of who should discipline whom. Many members of congress, including the late Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, long a stormy petrel, have held office on the nominations of both major parties in California.

The best known mugwump of our time certainly is the late Theodore Roosevelt. Reputated by the Republicans in the 1912 convention, he and his Bull Mooseers came close to winning the presidency, but more importantly they taught the politicians of both parties a terrific lesson—that you can't read important leaders out of the party without wrecking it. That year Democratic Woodrow Wilson took over the presidency.

The complaint today is against the Democratic insurgents, mostly from the south. Their leadership is scattered; their interests diverse; their views generally speaking, conservative, although there are some outstanding liberals among them.

News Behind the News...

Moscow Has Become More Tricky But Less Smart in Diplomatic Moves

WASHINGTON—The world diplomatic sources of great authority which have an answer to these questions:

Move Against Spain? This move to get Iran out of UN now was designed, I am informed, in preparation for the next Russian move which is Spain. Her plan was to get rid of her own embarrassment now in preparation for her attack through Poland and France, upon Spain. Otherwise we would have Iran hanging over her head, during consideration of Spain—and she is wholly without justification in Iran and subject to sound attack upon any phase of it.

And incidentally, if she succeeded in making UN drop the matter, it would be immaterial to all concerned whether she gets her troops out before May 6 as promised.

After Spain, in UN consideration, may come China, where Communist armies are fighting pitched battles with the government. Few authorities think real agreement possible there, because the Communists wish to run that government, the same as they wish to run Iran. Elimination of Iran by UN now would avoid comparisons embarrassing to Russia.

I would say events are exposing the futility of deception in Communist diplomacy to all the world. Things known formerly by the well informed, are now plain to all the world. Moscow has become more tricky, but less smart. She has become apparent.

Complaint was made to UN by the Iran ambassador here; another "agreement" giving Russia oil concessions and all others demanded, was announced from Moscow, but Iran said it had not been informed even of such negotiations, until the Russian ambassador arrived with the list of concessions imposed by Moscow.

Finally the ambassador arrived, and Qavam gave every indication of having accepted them under duress; Russia announced the complaint to UN would be withdrawn and later the Iran ambassador filed a notice that Qavam had come to have "every confidence" in the promise of Stalin to withdraw Red troops May 6—a withdrawal which Stalin had previously promised, in writing, to us and the British, to make two months earlier.

This was the comedy of diplomatic pretense as acted out practically in the full public gaze in daily dispatches.

Yet UN avoided all these matters in the debate and concerned itself primarily with the Russian claim that the United States and British did not want world peace, were up to something unfair or diabolical. It was all very polite—and partly insane; certainly irrelevant.

We are living in an age in which we have been accustomed to insincerity, devoutly maintained by nations and man. But in this case of Iran, the world has witnessed the zenith of all pretense.

The grim, unwitting comedy of the Russian position was indeed even more complete than the published facts, and can be seen in this following consideration:

Why would Russia so melodramatically press this question on April 15, when, in three weeks time, her troops are to come out anyway (she said), and she already had Qavam and the Iran government in camp? Why hurry the UN into washing its hands of the matter now? Why not wait three weeks and win anyway?

The big news would be the answer to this question and others from it; is Russia trying to scuttle the effectiveness of UN with technical embarrassments? Is she facetious? Has her diplomacy become a farce? Is her technique becoming elephantine and less smart? There are good international

Chiang Kai-Shek Has An Ace Up His Sleeve

Associated Press Staff Writer Up the long roomy sleeve of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek is a political ace which might come in handy to quiet things in Manchuria.

This ace is the person of "young" Marshall Chang Hsueh-Liang, former warlord of Manchuria, who has been in "retirement" in China's remote interior since early 1937.

The "young" marshal, now 47 and presumably still fond of golf and poker, has a fair record of going along with the generalissimo except for that business of kidnapping him late in 1936.

Yet the background to that kidnapping suggests one of the reasons which may enable him to reappear on China's national stage after more than nine years on political ice.

Before 1931, when the Japanese took Manchuria away from him, Chang had been of assistance to Chiang Kai-Shek at critical times. Chiang put him and his army to work containing the Chinese Communists. His troops mixed with the Communists and discovered that they too wanted to fight Japan. Chiang Kai-Shek, alarmed at the fraternizing, flew to Sianfu to see about it and was kidnapped. After 13 days of argument he was released, and a united front against Japan resulted.

The young marshal was tried, convicted, deprived of his posts, was later pardoned. However he went into a "retirement" from which he never has emerged. The 10 years will be up next winter.

Last week Chiang Kai-Shek, whose troubles with the Communists are largely in the north in Manchuria, flew south on an "inspection tour" where it was rumored he was to see young marshal.

What use, if any, might be made of the young marshal—or precisely when—is not clear. But in similar situations special commissions have been created to deal with regional problems.

the utility of deception in Communist diplomacy to all the world. Things known formerly by the well informed, are now plain to all the world. Moscow has become more tricky, but less smart. She has become apparent.

Reader Discusses South America

Celebrations like the Pan-American league's panel discussion Sunday are the kind of gatherings of great value for international friendship and understanding. However, one misunderstanding of the Peruvian speaker led a small part of the audience to misinterpret two points of the Brazilian speaker. Taking into consideration that the main objective of the meeting was to develop understanding and good will among the Pan-American citizens living in Iowa City, I thought that it will be useful to make clear the points which instead of being taken in their real meaning, as friendly and sympathetic statements, were wrongly taken as negative ones.

In the first place I was trying to show the error of many Europeans and North Americans who think that in Latin American countries we live in permanent revolutions and "coups-d'etat". I explained then, with historical data, that most of those revolutions were provoked by inter-imperialistic conflicts and were reflecting international difficulties like the post-Great War II and the 1929-30 international crisis. Therefore, I was stressing that it is not because we are trouble-lovers but because we are a part of the world and its international interdependence.

To illustrate this point I mentioned a saying used by historians which, translated literally from Portuguese, says: "More happy are the countries which have a more quiet history." With this saying they mean that the countries in which the political, economical and military conflicts are less bloody, less deep and with less enduring hatred and division, are more happy. That's why I said, as a joke, that the history of these

"Ride a Cock Horse" is a seriocomic fantasy relating the possibilities and perspective to become soon one of the most powerful countries of the world, we don't suffer any national paranoia. We like better to have internal and external peace and to develop more in the cultural and socio-economic level. To illustrate this statement I quoted a Brazilian congressman, who said recently in our parliament: "The world is divided among the influence of three big countries—the United States, Great Britain and Russia, and fortunately, we are under the influence of the United States." I am sure that he expressed the prevalent feeling of the people with that statement. E. Constantino Schneider

Cubs Rally, Win in 9th, 11-7

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Chicago Cubs made it two in a row over the Cincinnati Reds today, winning 11-7 in a free hitting contest which saw Phil Cavarretta, the 1945 National league batting champion, belt his first homer of the season in the ninth inning.

Going into the ninth, last year's pennant winners were on the short side of a 7-6 score. Cavarretta's fence buster also scored Peanuts Lowrey. Two walks and a pair of singles coupled with a force play accounted for three more Chicago runs in the final frame.

Johnny Vander Meer started for Cincinnati but was sent out of the game in a three-run burst the Cubs put on in the seventh. Hank Wyse, pitching for Chicago, met a similar fate in the fifth when Cincinnati got four runs.

Tribe Humbles White Sox, 7-1

The games which count in the championship race will open for the University Friday and Saturday in the two-game baseball series with Purdue.

It marks the first visit of a Boilermaker nine to Iowa City. Purdue likewise is opening its conference season, after playing two warmup games this week. Both games will be broadcast by WSUI at 2 p. m.

Iowa already has won five of six games and therefore will have an edge on the Boilermakers in playing experience this season. Hawkeyes have defeated Luther and Iowa Seabawks twice each and broken even with Bradley Tech. In the six games, Iowa scored 31 runs on 42 hits and made only six errors.

Faber at Pitch Coach Otto Vogel said that he would retain about the same lineup that whipped the Seabawks, 6-0, Tuesday, for the third shut-out victory. Pitching duties will be shared by Bob Faber and Jack Bruner, with Bill Martin as No. 1 relief man. Faber is the probable Friday hurler.

Bruner has won both his starts, hurling for 18 innings with foes collecting only five hits and no runs. He struck out 19 and issued only 7 bases on balls; Martin has allowed 6 hits and no runs in 12 innings, and has 15 strikeouts; while Faber, breaking even in two games, has been touched for 14 hits in 17 innings, but struck out 17.

Iowa Hitting, still not up to the hopes of Coach Vogel, nevertheless has produced a .261 average, as compared with opponents' .160.

Grinnell To Play Knox

GRINNELL (AP)—Grinnell college's six-man golf team will open a six-event schedule Friday with a meet here against Knox college of Galesburg, Ill., and continue Saturday with a match against Iowa State college at Ames.

Bosox Outslug Nats

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Old Bobo Newsom silenced the Yankee bats with three hits yesterday as his Philadelphia Athletic mates pounced on a trio of New York hurlers for nine safeties, five of them good for as many runs in the seventh inning, to defeat the Bronx Bombers 7-1 and even the series at one game apiece.

Trailing 1-0 since the first inning, the Yankees tied the score at 1-all on Aaron Robinson's home run in the top half of the seventh. Then the Athletics went to work on rookie Randy Gumpert.

Ted Williams had a perfect day at bat. He hit a single, and two doubles his first three times at bat and drew three walks.

Dave Ferriss, Boston's 21-game winner last year, failed to last four innings.

Giants Whip Phils, 5-2

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Joyce, 31-year-old righthander who won 31 games for the San Francisco club last year, held the Phillies to seven hits yesterday and struck out nine men as the New York Giants eased out a 5-2 victory.

Brooklyn Tops Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Rookie Hank Behrman, a 24-year-old righthander who was purchased from the Montreal farm club Monday, turned back the Boston Braves yesterday with nine scattered hits as Brooklyn evaded the opening series with a 4-2 victory.

Martin Gives Lowdown on New York Gambling

By WHITNEY MARTIN NEW YORK (AP)—Mr. Bright and Mr. Phog discuss current events:

Mr. Phog—I see here the New York cops picked up 24 guys for reading scratch sheets. How can they arrest anybody for reading?

Mr. Bright—Well, they can't just for reading, I guess.

Mr. Phog—But it says here they did.

Mr. Bright—It wasn't just for reading. It was reaching in bunches. They figure that if two or more guys are reading on a street corner, that's a congregation.

Mr. Phog—What about those crowds that stand around and read the news sign running around the building in Times Square?

Mr. Bright—That's different.

Mr. Phog—Why is it different? And suppose I meet a couple of pals on the street and want to show them something I seen in the paper. Can they pinch me for that, is that a congregation?

Mr. Bright—You're getting technical now. The idea is to stop gambling.

Mr. Phog—Is reading a scratch sheet gambling?

Mr. Bright—No-o-o, but it is the idea that if a guy is reading a scratch sheet he is thinking about gambling.

Mr. Phog—How does anybody know what anybody is thinking? If you see me reading a farmers' almanac that doesn't mean I'm thinking of going out and planting a mess of corn, does it, maybe I just want to know what time the sun rises.

Mr. Bright—Sure, that's true.

Simpson Takes Double Victory From Wartburg

INDIANOLA, Ia. (AP)—The Simpson college baseball team swept a twin bill from Wartburg, 4-3 and 7-4, here yesterday.

Both games were played over the seven inning route and in the opener Gerald Cory doubled to drive in Howard Mitchell in the seventh to decide the issue.

Hawks Leave For Kansas Relays Today

A squad of eight athletes to compete in three relays and three individual events leave today by car to represent the University of Iowa in the renewal of the Kansas relays at Lawrence Saturday.

Coach George Bresnahan, who has been appointed referee of the meet, named six runners and two field event men for the first out-door meet of the Hawkeye season.

Teams Not Yet Set Definite personnel of two of the relay teams has not yet been decided but the 440-yard squads will be Otis Finney, Ike Johnson, Rex Ploen and Dick Washington.

Ploen and Washington will run the 880-yard relay and the other two men will be picked from Johnson, Finney, and Eric Wilson, Jr.

In the mile relay, Ploen and Wilson are definite racers, and John Hunter, Finney, and Johnson are candidates for the other two spots. Hunter, who suffered a foot injury April 8, is returning to form.

Southeast Teams Strong Chief opposition for the Hawks in the 440 and 880 relays probably will come from Texas, Baylor and Oklahoma while in the mile event Texas A. & M., winner of the Texas relays event; Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Nebraska are among the entrants.

Iowa is the only Big Ten representative in these relays.

Paul Fagerlind, 1945 Drake relays champion and second in the National Collegiate meet, will throw the javelin for Iowa; while Keith Gotthardt will compete in the discus and shot put.

Ruth Gives Lesson To Cancer Victim

PARKERTOWN, N. J. (AP)—Eight-year-old Leonard (Buster) Roos got a lesson in how to swing a baseball bat from Babe Ruth himself yesterday. But the youngster, whose body is wasted by cancer, was almost too weak to hold the bat.

"I'm mighty glad to see you," he told the mighty Bambino with a broad smile.

It was fulfillment of a long-cherished ambition when he shook hands with Ruth, and the pair chatted about baseball and the current drive of the American cancer society of which Buster is honorary treasurer.

In Earnest had Jockey Doug Dodson in the saddle as he won to pay $2.80 and $2.60 with show money out. Army Cadet from the T. E. Bridger string was third.
