GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Easter day will be fair and mild, although showers can be expected tonight. Tomorrow will be generally fair and cooler.

CEILINGS ON NEW HOUSES REDUCED

Congressional 'Log Rolling' Worries OPA

LaFollette Believes Price Control Bill Has 'Fighting Chance'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Reports of back stage "bartering" over whether senators shall help lift price controls off each other's pet commodities had some friends of OPA worried yesterday.

These reports had it that some cotton state, livestock state, mineral state and other senators with particular interests are telling each other:

"You help take price control off my commodity and I'll help take it off yours."

Log Rolling

This mutual aid for mutual gain technique is usually defined as "log rollings."

Not many senators were willing to admit even anonymously that they had heard of it.

But Senator Ellender (D., La.), asked whether he knew of such a development, told a reporter:

"There is more log-rolling on this than there was when the tariff bills were before congress."

Meanwhile Senator La Follette (Prog., Wis.) expressed belief the office of price administration had a fighting chance for its life in the senate, but only if it corrects what he called its mistakes in swifter fashion.

Price Relief

Contending there were "hundreds of cases" where justifiable price relief had been unnecessarily delayed, La Follette added:

"I think the house vote can be explained by the fact that a great many members just decided that nothing could be done about it short of killing off the OPA and taking the headache that goes with it."

Biggest threat to OPA is among the senators who generally vote together for farm interest.

Senator Wherry (R., Neb.), one of these, has served notice he will fight to put over the principles of the house amendments, although planning some "clarifying changes."

Deeply Concerned

Bowles touched only briefly on the amendment-plastered price control bill passed by the house Thursday, in his weekly radio talk over ABC but said he was "concerned—deeply concerned" by it.

"Unless our authority is continued—and continued without weakening change—our fight against inflation will have been lost," the stabilizer said.

"But the drastic changes favored by the house of representatives are not yet law. I fervently hope for the sake of this country that they do not become law."

War Department Calls Criticism Of Army Justice 'Unjustified'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The war department yesterday called a house military subcommittee's criticism of army justice "unjustified."

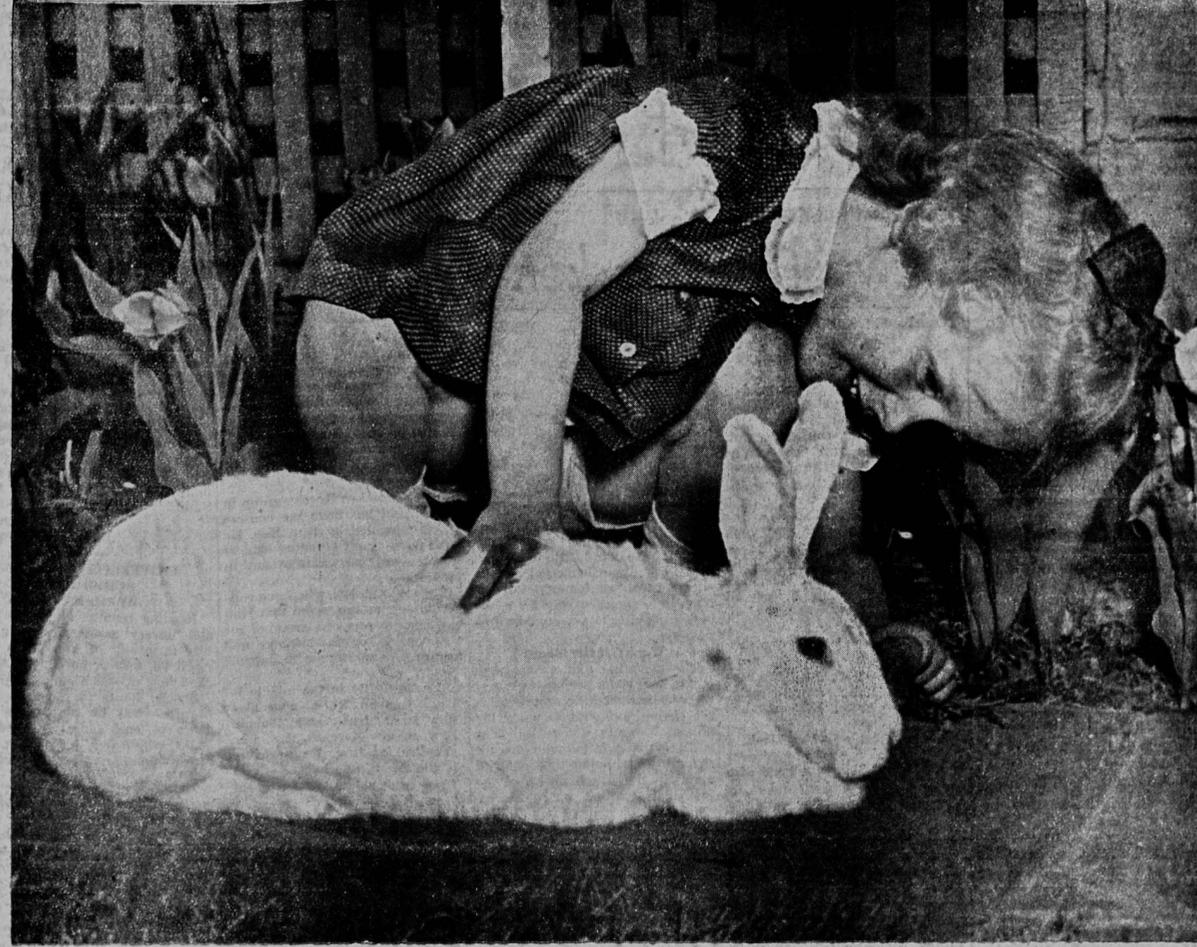

And drawing any conclusion from the committee's report, which mentioned that 142 soldiers were executed under court martial sentence, would be "grossly unfair," Undersecretary of War Kenneth C. Royall said.

Critical of System

In a 25,000 word analysis, the sub-committee headed by Rep. Carl Durham (D., N. C.), had been highly critical of what it called injustices, extreme severity of sentences and partially stemming from the present court martial system.

Although the sub-committee document was reported to have been temporarily put aside by the What's up, Doc? It's Easter Morning and Where Do I Put the Eggs?

A WHISPERED HINT on where to leave Easter eggs is given this reluctant rabbit by three-year-old Christina Snyder, daughter of Chief Warrant Officer and Mrs. Burton Snyder. While Warrant Officer Snyder is stationed in Chicago, Chris and her mother are living with Mrs. Snyder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Christensen, 313 Ronalds street. With a gleam in her eye and a carrot in her hand, Chris is evidence for the old fairy tale that says the rabbit is the only animal that children do not fear. For this reason the rabbit was selected by the fairies to tell children that spring had come to the door of each sleeping child. Easter and colored eggs have been synonymous since pagan times when they were exchanged during festivals honoring the pagan goddess of spring, Eostra. Early Christians who continued the custom of exchanging eggs on Easter dyed the eggs deep red to symbolize the blood of Christ. (Photo by Jim Showers, Daily Iowan staff photographer).

Government Orders One-Fourth Of Dwellings Be Built for Rental

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government last night ordered new, reduced cost ceilings for the bulk of new dwellings and directed that one-fourth of them be built for rental.

The national housing administration order will steer, by priority action, most of the country's residential building materials into homes well under the present $10,000 sales and $80 rental limit.

Chinese Communists Encircling Harbin Preparatory to Seige

Announced by housing expediter Wilson W. Wyatt, the order directs that:

One fourth of the dwellings henceforth authorized in any city must be built for rental; and of these, at least half must rent at or below ceilings which range from $40 monthly in New Orleans to $65 in New York.

Government Source Declares Manchurian Situation 'Very Grave'

CHUNGKING (AP) — Chinese Communists encircling Harbin declared yesterday they intended to lay siege to that north Manchurian metropolis, which the government indicated it would not even try to defend.

A government spokesman said the situation in central Manchuria was "very grave" now that Communist troops have taken Changchun, the capital, 150 miles southwest of Harbin.

A Communist spokesman warned that the encircling troops would seize Harbin when the Russian army pulls out next Thursday "if a status of civil war still prevails in Manchuria."

That would give General Marshall, special United States envoy to China, only five more days to work out a truce first between the warring factions.

Marshall was in almost continuous conferences with both government and Communist officials. He had not scheduled a meeting of his truce committee of three, which earlier this year worked out an armistice for the rest of China outside Manchuria.

A government spokesman charged that Communist irregulars already were infiltrating Harbin.

Veterans to Sail To European Hunger Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Immediate re-routing of grain ships now headed for British ports to more urgent European hunger spots was planned last night by UNRRA Director Fiorello H. La Guardia.

LA Guardia said a staff of UNRRA experts was checking the ships now at sea and planning new routes in anticipation that the grain will be replaced through the latest American procurement program.

U. N. Proposal Gains Support

NEW YORK (AP)—Australia's proposal for an investigation of Franco Spain by the United Nations security council appeared last night to be headed toward almost certain approval when the council resumes discussion of the Spanish question next week.

Strong support of the proposed inquiry was assured when it became apparent that advocates of an immediate world-wide diplomatic break with Spain were lining up behind it.

The first nation to announce publicly that it would support the motion of Australian delegate W. R. Hodson was Mexico, one of the most ardent backers of the Polish move for a diplomatic quarantine of the regime of Generalissimo Franco.

Forest Fire Rages

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Fire raged through 12,000 acres of New Jersey forests yesterday in what State Fire Warden William J. Seidel termed "the worst day in two years."

Restaurant Proprietor, Deputy Sheriff Killed In Exchange of Shots

WILLIAMSON, W. Va. (AP)—A deputy sheriff and a restaurant proprietor were killed in a gun battle at nearby Delbarton yesterday.

State Trooper C. R. Dawson said that Deputy Sheriff Flem Johnson, 33, and Stewart Floyd, 57, killed each other in an exchange of shots after the restaurant proprietor had warned the officer "not to return" to his place.

Dawson said Johnson and another deputy went into Floyd's place to arrest a man on a charge of drunkenness.

Truman, Lewis Discuss Strike

Secretary of Labor To Confer With Head Of Negotiating Group

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS President Truman discussed the soft coal strike yesterday with John L. Lewis and Secretary of Labor Schwelienbach but the White House said the conversations had "no conclusive result."

Lewis and Schwelienbach left the meeting in obvious good humor and the labor secretary arranged to confer today with Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the mine operators joint negotiating committee.

Schwelienbach said broken off negotiations between Lewis and the coal operators could not be revived before Tuesday at the earliest.

The UMW head walked out of a negotiating session April 10, asserting it was useless to continue the talks as long as the operators refused his demands for creation of a union-administered health and welfare fund. The 400,000 UMW members struck April 1.

At least 640,000 persons remained on strike throughout the nation with another 100,000 idle indirectly because of strikes. The latter figure included some 40,000 laid off temporarily at the Ford Motor company because of a shortage of steel and parts.

J. Harold Madden, director of industrial relations, said the American Brass company had offered an 18 1/2 cents hourly wage boost to some 10,000 striking CIO employes of its plants in three Connecticut cities, Buffalo, N. Y., and Detroit.

World Celebrates Peacetime Easter After 10 Years of War

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A world at peace for the first time in nearly a decade today celebrated the joyous Christian festival of Easter.

The feast fell on the same date in both eastern and western churches for the first time since 1943.

The celebration came to Russians for the first time since the Russian revolution more than 20 years ago.

Japanese filed into Christian churches in an atmosphere of peace for the first time since the Sino-Japanese war began nine years ago.

Americans and Europeans today marked the Easter holiday in complete peace for the first time since 1939.

German Sermons

German priests and ministers preached sermons and conducted services, free at last from the shadow of Hitler's gestapo.

Hundreds of thousands of Russians filled churches in Moscow as church bells called the faithful to worship. Churchmen said the celebration was reminiscent of the age-old Russian Easter ritual.

Pope Asks Courage

From Vatican City, Pope Pius XII called on leaders to be courageous and to fight "godless" political theories. He listed "divorce, godless schools and unbridled books and licentious entertainment" as threats to Christian morality.

Americans across the country held their services from sunrise through mid-day in many settings.

from cathedrals and mountain tops to simple country churches.

Sixteen states were represented at services in the amphitheater of Arlington National cemetery in Washington. More than 100,000 persons watched a sunrise pageant with a cast of 1,000 in the Holy City of the Wichita mountains, 15 miles northwest of Lawton, Okla.

At Winston-Salem, N. C., Moravians held their 73-year-old ritual, with church-goers proceeding from the church to the burying ground as a 300-piece band played Moravian chorals.

Lichfield Guard Sentenced to Six Months In Prison; Court Recommends Clemency

LONDON (AP)—Sgt. James M. Jones, former Lichfield detention camp guard, was convicted by a United States army court martial yesterday of assaulting soldier-prisoners and sentenced to six months imprisonment, but the court recommended that higher authorities grant him clemency.

Both prosecuting and defense attorneys had declared that prison camp officers instead of enlisted guards should be tried for what witnesses called the "get rough" policy against prisoners at Lichfield in 1944-45. Six officers are awaiting trial.

Car Dealer Surrenders

CAIRO, Ill. (AP)—Ben Fishel, 33, a Cairo automobile dealer, surrendered yesterday on a federal warrant charging conspiracy to violate OPA rules in what the OPA alleged was a "$3,000,000 used car black market."

Fire Destroys Three Buildings of Produce Plant at Lohrville

LOHRVILLE (AP)—Fire yesterday destroyed three buildings occupied by Priebke and Sons, Inc., produce plant here, causing an estimated loss of $75,000.

The fire apparently started in the electrical system and gained such headway before it was discovered that fire departments from Lohrville, Gowrie, Lake City and Rockwell City were unable to do more than save nearby buildings.

Editorials:

We Need Herbert Hoover's Report on Starvation

It would be well for Herbert Hoover to return home as quickly as possible to report on the food situation in Europe. We know that millions are starving, but it remains for Mr. Hoover to burn the fact into our consciences.

America has never known the ghastly ravages of real famine—men too weak to work, women wasted and invalidated by malnutrition, bony little children with distended bellies, their pitiful pleading eyes reflecting their awful gnawing hunger.

The picture that Herbert Hoover can and will paint ought to bring these sights nearer to us, and stimulate us to give all that we can so well afford.

We are the only nation which can prevent further starvation. And if we fail our task, the consequences will be highly distasteful.

Every high official has warned that we can not attain our peace aims unless we help feed Europe. It is time we act, and we hope Mr. Hoover will spur that action.

And, if on Easter morning the plight of the hungry millions in Europe and Asia hits you more forcibly, here's how the government suggests you can help them.

1. If you're a housewife— Never throw a piece of bread or a teaspoonful of fat away.

Make sure that garbage consists only of bones, eggshells and the inedible parts of fruits and vegetables.

Don't overeat.

Never over-serve a guest.

Don't fry meats, poultry, fish. Bake, boil or stew them.

Use fresh fruit for dessert, not pastries.

Serve homemade salad dressing, vinegar or lemon juice, not rich salad dressings.

Use meat drippings to flavor vegetables, dressings, sauces.

Store bread in moisture-proof wrapping in refrigerator. This retards mold.

Use dry, leftover bread in toast, puddings and stuffings.

Serve open-faced sandwiches. Or better still, serve a vegetable salad, such as potato or bean, in its place.

Give each person only one small slice of bread at a meal.

Cut out dry cereals as much as possible. Use potatoes (a fine breakfast dish) and oatmeal.

2. If you're a man— Don't overeat.

Eat all they serve you at a restaurant.

Stay away from pastries. Order fruit instead.

Plant a vegetable garden.

Be a one-man information bureau. Spread the word around that the world food situation is critical and will remain that way for at least three months.

3. Everybody—

Cut down on waste. The department of agriculture estimates that one slice of bread in every loaf is wasted. This alone would give 2,500,000 people in Europe three-fourths of a pound of bread a day.

Remember that people are starving, that many will die unless help comes soon.

And remember that that help can only come from you.

Sutan Sjahrir and H. J. Van Mook—

Java Peacemakers

By MARC PURDUE AP Newsfeatures

BATAVIA—Improved prospects in negotiations between Indonesians and the Dutch are a testimonial to the statesmanship of H. J. Van Mook and Sultan A. Sjahrir.

Neither leader can claim full support of his own people. Van Mook must deal with a bloc of Dutch ultraconservatives who fail to see the need for negotiating a settlement. Sjahrir, while working to achieve revision of the Dutch role in the Indies and make Indonesia independent is burdened by large blocs of ultranationalists who demand expulsion of all whites or at least withdrawal of all Dutch.

Some leaders of this group give strong indication of being more self-seeking demagogues, but unfortunately patriotic moderates they have a strong hold on much of the populace.

Sjahrir's Edge on Van Mook Sjahrir has the advantage over Van Mook of being the head of a cohesive, loyal and hardworking administration. Almost a dozen of the dissident leaders have been jailed on charges of endangering unity of the Indonesian people.

Van Mook, on the other hand, is only a government servant without power in the homeland.

Sjahrir, however, is handicapped by lawless armed bands of youths, comparable to the Hitler youth organizations, as well as bandit gangs terrorizing both Indonesians and Europeans.

The Moderate Attitude Moderate Indonesians recognize that wholesale expulsion of the Dutch from an area so vital to the Netherlands economy—which, in fact, provided a livelihood for a large segment of the Dutch population—would be impractical and undesirable, and are willing to have Dutch industrial directors, technicians and organizers remain, but insist that Indonesians be given a greater share of the control and that business life be reorganized to raise the national standard of living.

Economic rehabilitation is a grim task after war destruction and looting. And the world-wide lack of consumer goods that the islands formerly imported leaves Indonesians without a powerful incentive to produce more than enough for their own needs. Without political settlement, imports of needed capital goods for economic rehabilitation would be impossible.

Want Greater Share The moderate nationalists now in the saddle for Indonesia assert they do not want to improve the Netherlands, but they say the potential wealth of the Indies is still great enough to give a greater share to the Indonesians and still maintain the Dutch profit. They say their greatest grievance against Dutch control is a stunted intellectual and spiritual development. And they maintain a change in this situation is impossible unless the Indonesians are masters of their own destiny.

Interpreting The News...

Around the world this week Americans and Russia disagreed on many things.

They argued in New York over Iran and Spain. In Tokyo, General MacArthur replied sharply when a Russian general questioned his occupation policy. Russian and American diplomats got set to debate peace treaties in Paris, foreseeing little agreement.

But in Korea, Americans and Russians agreed on one thing. They rapped the knuckles of Korean politicians.

In order to keep on being politicians, the Russians and Americans agreed, Korean politicians must sign a pledge not to sabotage the four-power trusteeship decided on at Moscow last December.

This agreement was reached on the lowly level of a subcommittee, but was published in a communication of the joint military commission.

It said only "truly democratic" Korean political groups would be consulted in the formation of the provisional Korean government which the commission is assigned to promote.

To qualify as "truly democratic," such groups must sign a pledge to uphold the Moscow decisions. What Koreans have principally objected to in these decisions was the five-year trusteeship before Korea becomes independent.

Most outspoken Korean group in this respect has been the conservative wing led by Kim Koo. He must now lay off agitating against trusteeship if he wants to stay in politics.

The Communists, who have supported trusteeship, claim that Kim Koo is the center of a group of reactionaries, big landowners and former collaborators with Japan.

Theoretically in the middle is Dr. Syngman Rhee, who also now favors trusteeship, though, like many Koreans, he was skeptical at first. He probably is the American choice to head the provisional government when it is formed.

Right now he is stumping the eight American occupied provinces making himself known to a people who largely forgot him during his long years of exile.

San Francisco--Up From Ruin

40TH ANNIVERSARY OF QUAKE RECALLS HEROIC REBUILDING

On a soft spring night 40 years ago the people of San Francisco dined, went out driving, read the newspapers, bathed, and almost but not quite slept as usual.

At 5:15 the next morning—April 18, 1906—in less than a minute a billion dollars worth of damage was wrought.

As all the world was to find out later the crust of the earth ruptured at that moment and 730 miles of Pacific coastline (from Oregon to Los Angeles) quivered in the fissure. San Francisco in a 48-second convulsion was sprung from its moorings.

Dazed citizens in quest of a cup of coffee in the crisis then caused even more terrible trouble. Simultaneously all over the city as housewives lighted their stoves, fires shot through the houses. The chimneys had been ruined in the quake. The water mains had burst so the fire department was of no avail. The San Francisco fire was well under way three hours after the San Francisco earthquake walks an stove made of fallen bricks. The canneries and hotels gave away all the food they had.

498 Were Killed Loss in life was put at 498 persons; insurance companies were hit for 225 million dollars on the loss of 28,000 buildings that burned; 514 city blocks were mere charred squares when the fire subsided.

Maj. Gen. A. W. Greeley, one of the martial administrators, said in his official report: "It is safe to say that 200,000 people were brought to a state of complete destitution. Yet I never saw a woman in tears nor heard a man whine over his losses."

By evening people started to get out. They left for Oakland and Alameda across the bay. For two and a half days the city blazed and for a week it smoldered. Finally only half of the 500,000 population remained and they were under martial law.

Camping tents were pitched in the public parks and what food there was, was cooked on the side-

Coral Treasurers

(From the Christian Science Monitor)

It is one thing to lay grapnel hooks to fortune; another thing to get the illusive stuff aboard. The gold strike off Key West staked out by diver Irwin Williamson and his two Birmingham helpers sounds exceedingly promising. Is that coral-encrusted hulk, 25 fathoms down in the tropical sea, the wreck of the homeward-bound Spanish trader Santa Rosa? And was she really ballasted deep into her orlop with $30,000,000 in stolen Aztec treasure when she foundered in the strait?

Such expert salvagers as those men may well be able to tell whether this wreck has been the habitat of the grouper and the dolphin these four centuries or more. Fabulously rich hauls have been made by salvagers retracing the homeward tracks of the New Providence channel or the Mona passage. Ever since a venturesome shipbuilder from Woolwich, Maine, named William Phipps laid fast to an old Spanish wreck in the Bahamas and got himself knighted by George III, deep-sea treasure hunting has been a romantic sport.

Modern submarine salvage methods make this Key West undertaking seem fairly feasible. Still, no one knows better than Diver Williamson that the Florida strait is the second windiest water anywhere on the Atlantic seaboard. A rough, open seaway makes deep-sea diving extremely hazardous. At any rate, he's got his hooks into something!

Transition to International Atom Control Difficult

(Last of a Series)

The fourth and final section of the "Lilienthal Report" on the international control of atomic energy deals with the tangled problem of the transition from national to international control.

The state department consultants see two methods of putting teeth into an international authority—(1) by gradually disclosing the information available now only to the United States so the proposed authority could handle things step by step, or (2) by establishing a full-fledged authority capable of handling all phases of atomic energy as soon as United Nations can formulate a charter to govern the authority.

The first step seems to be the most reasonable. United Nations is still on pretty shaky legs and an international atomic development authority (ADM) would have its hands full taking care of even a limited amount of information. Under any plan for international control the United States will eventually lose its monopoly position, but one way is to lose it gradually to a supreme authority. Thus, should the ADA break down, we would still be in a superior position in regard to atomic weapons.

This gradual disclosure depends on the ability of the American people to realize that they hold the answer to one world or none.

A Mighty Man Is Gen. Smith, Our New Envoy to Moscow

WASHINGTON—While unsmiling, black-haired Russian Ambassador Andrei Gromyko was taking a walk at the United Nations security council meeting in New York, a waship-tongued United States general was telling Premier Stalin in the Kremlin just what the American people think about it all.

My timing may be a little off, but not far, because Lt. Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, our new ambassador to Russia, was just settling down in Moscow about that time. On the way he told newsmen that his only "mission to Moscow" was to make it clear to Premier Stalin that there is "a great feeling of doubt" in America as to just what Russia wants and just what her motives are.

"Beetle" Smith was General Eisenhower's chief of staff from North Africa until after the collapse of Germany.

General Eisenhower designated him to negotiate the surrender terms in Italy and again in Germany. The complexities of the first are well known, but in the end General Smith tied them up in a package that left only a few irreconcilable Fascists fighting with the Nazis.

In the second instance, he whipped out with his sharp tongue and cut through German efforts to delay the surrender.

According to Wes Gallagher, former Associated Press war correspondent and now chief of the AP bureau in Berlin, the Nazi representative, General Jodl, sought to stall the surrender, saying that he wished to consult Admiral Doenitz by telephone about some of the terms.

Caustic Chief of Staff Smith reportedly tapped the surrender documents and snapped:

"It doesn't make a damned bit of difference who you call or what you talk about. This is the document you are going to sign, just like it is."

Jodl signed. Gallagher tells another story illustrating that "being aide to General Smith—a human dynamo with a low fusing point—was a hazardous occupation with high casualties in wounded feelings."

On one trip along a portion of the Rhine front which was interlaced with a confusion of roads, Smith's aide became lost and sent the car down one road after another while his silent chief simmered. Finally snatching the map from his aide's trembling fingers, General Smith said acidly: "You be chief of staff and I'll be your aide."

Before the aide had had time to recover from those wilting words, Smith had the car on the right road.

WOMEN HAPPY TO TURN TOWN BACK TO MEN

AP Newsfeatures

GRUVER, Ia.—The women who governed this northwestern Iowa town for two years decided "it's a man's job" to run the government.

The town's stationery boasted "the only town in the United States with all women officials" until the men came back into office this year.

Electing public officials in Gruver, a town of 138 persons, is always an informal affair with no nominations and no campaigning. In 1944, when many of Gruver's men were in service and others going, the men stirred up pre-election talk favoring putting the women in office. On election day, the men turned out and elected the women officials.

They were Isabelle Ramsey, mayor; Mrs. Frank Barber, Mrs. Ed Harvey, Mrs. N. F. Andrews, Mrs. M. P. Graves and Mrs. Soren Sorenson, councilwomen; Mrs. J. E. Goldsberry, treasurer; Mrs. M. H. Chukker, city clerk, and Mrs. J. A. Hiles, assessor.

But this year the women turned the tables by showing up on election day to put the men back in office. Mrs. Sorenson was the only woman re-elected to the council and she decided not to qualify and to retire as had been agreed among the women officials. The vacancy she left is to be filled by appointment.

M. P. Graves, who formerly held the office, was returned as mayor. Council members are Elke Sampson, Don Kirchner, Floyd Nehring and Ed Harvey. Mrs. Goldsberry, however, continues as treasurer and Mrs. Hiles as assessor.

The retiring councilwomen said there had not been enough money available during war years to undertake any large projects and that even the problem of approving a beer permit solved itself when the owner of the pool hall and beer parlor entered the armed services and closed his place of business.

AAA Plan Formulated To Ease Farm Home Shortage in County

A new plan to ease the Johnson county farm home shortage was announced yesterday by AAA Chairman Ray E. Smalley.

Effective yesterday, applications for farm construction exceeding the limitations set March 26 by the civilian production administration will be accepted by the county AAA committee.

Applications will be sent by the AAA group to the state agriculture conservation committee where final action will be taken and notice sent to the applicant.

The March 26 order prohibited farm dwelling construction costing more than $400 and other types of farm building costing more than $1,000.

HH priority ratings for material needed in certain types of farm housing construction may now be issued by the state committee.

Applications for emergency construction exceeding $6,000 will be sent by telegram from the county committee to the state officials. A regular application must be filed later.

Applications will be considered by both the county and state committee on the basis of essentiality. Although all farmers are eligible, the primary purpose of the new program is the "providing of housing of veterans of World War II," state headquarters said.

Farmers may obtain applications and assistance from the Johnson county AAA committee in the Iowa City post office.

ONLY WRECKAGE LEFT AS FIRE DESTROYS BARN

THIS BARN WAS TOTALLY DESTROYED, with a loss estimated at $1,000, in a fire on the Paul Mottet farm two miles north of Iowa City yesterday afternoon. Mottet managed to get his car and two bicycles out of danger, but the fire spread too quickly for him to save other equipment in the barn. The fire also consumed a chicken house and a brooder house near the barn, but no chickens were lost. The barn contained miscellaneous farm equipment, such as tools, lawnmowers, etc., and some alfalfa. The cause of the fire is undetermined. The Iowa City fire department answered the call and were able to protect the house and surrounding building.

Expect Expansion of Local Airport to Begin This Summer as CAA Plans Are Okayed

Expansion of the Iowa City airport may get under way early this summer with slight modifications recommended Friday by civil aeronautics administration officials.

In order that the expansion program be started as soon as possible, the Iowa City airport commission yesterday advised the CAA of its approval of the modifications. The modifications recommended by the CAA are designed to keep the project within the limits of the $299,925 appropriated.

Reductions include the elimination of a proposed 200-foot extension on one runway and the elimination of two proposed taxiways. The modifications suggested by the CAA only slightly reduce the size of the total project. Extension of the northeast-southeast and the north-south runway as well as construction of several thousand feet of 50-foot concrete taxiways are still planned.

GASSIN' with GUS

By GUS SCHRADER

THE ZEAL of one of Iowa's swimmers turned out to be a big problem from the isolation ward in university hospital last week. Dick Maine, the Des Moines freshman who was Big Ten backstroke king this season, was interned there for a strep throat and glandular fever. Coach Dave Armbruster reports the patient nurses sighed with relief when Dick was able to leave. They wouldn't let him roam around his isolated room, and he almost drove 'em crazy by PRACTICING HIS BACKSTROKE WHILE LYING FLAT ON HIS BACK.

THE AMBITIOUS paddler is the cause of two other worries to Armbruster right now (1) that Maine may be drafted and become unavailable for next season; and (2) the swimmer's habit of CHEWING HIS FINGERNAILS. . . .

Frank Havlicek, athletic department instructor who assists Armbruster, hit upon the idea of having all the other tank squad members whack Dick's hand each time they caught him applying incisors to his nails. . . . The good-natured Maine weathered all the helpful swats and reported his weakness improved, but still not cured at the end of the season. . . . Armbruster predicts a bright future for him after going undefeated in dual meet competition, winning the Big Ten title and barely losing out in the national intercollegiate meet in his first year.

BILLY SUEPEL, St. Mary's leading scorer last season and son of the Ramblers' colorful coach, probably will be playing for St. Ambrose college next season. . . .

And he may find a teammate in Merle Hoge, star of rival St. Patrick's, because the Irish star plans to attend there also. . . . Billy will study for the priesthood at St. Ambrose. . . . Bart Tooney, Rambler center, will move to Oregon with his parents this summer, while Andy Chuckalas and Jack Shradler—the other seniors on the team—are undecided about future plans.

WARD (PIGGY) Lambert, Purdue's leathery baseball coach who bears a striking physical resemblance to Waddy Davis of the Iowa athletic staff, will carry long and loud his resentment against the decisions in yesterday's 5-1 Iowa victory. . . .

"I can stand getting beat," he growled after it was over, "but I'll be hanged if I like getting robbed on a couple of rotten base decisions like we got today. . . . Regardless of such alleged larceny, the game was the most exciting of the season. . . . Coach Otto Vogel has a well-trained team; but please, Hawkeyes, start hitting that ball longer and oftener so we can give Michigan a good go for the title this season."

By GUS SCHRADER

Daily Iowan Sports Editor
 In a game that lacked none of the arguments, daffiness, thrills and spectacular plays that accompany baseball in legendary Brooklyn, Iowa earned its second Big Ten victory over Purdue the hard way yesterday, 5-1.
 Almost everything happened in the big seventh inning. The Hawkeyes rose up with four-run explosion that relaxed a 1-1 pitchers' duel between two speedy southpaws, Jack Bruner and Ervil Noel, and very nearly broke up the ball game when the Boiler-makers stormed out en masse to protect a couple of umpire's decisions.

The victory—Iowa's seventh in eight starts—placed the Hawks in an early three-way tie for the Big Ten lead with Illinois and Wisconsin, both of whom have picked on poor Chicago for their wins.

Getting off to a shaky start by walking four in the first two frames, Bruner granted the vengeful Boiler-makers their only run in the first inning. Outfielder John Kestner reached first on a fielder's choice, went to second when John Galvin walked and scored on M. B. Sarge's single to center.

From then until the fifth, both sides threatened frequently but each time uprisings died with men on base. Purdue left 10 men stranded on the sacks during the game, a fact which bore up on the strength of Iowa's classy fielding.

The game was stretched skin-tight in the fifth as Jack Wishmier poked a single, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and raced in on Jack Bruner's blow to left. Bruner's two hits of the afternoon contributed largely to his third impressive victory. He has allowed one run and ten hits in 27 innings this year.

The fatal rally in the seventh dawned with the restless Wishmier getting another hit and going down to second on a passed ball. Close fielding held him up at third after Keith Kafer had singled, but a double steal sent him sliding in with Iowa's second run.

Then the fireworks really started with Bruner's second hit. Kafer trotted home as Dale Erickson was safe on a fielder's choice and Bruner and Erickson both rocketed in on a perfect squeeze

Chisox Finally Win One, 6-4

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Chicago White Sox defeated the St. Louis Browns 6-4 yesterday for their first American league victory of the season, with the veteran Wally Moses playing a standout role in their 13-hit offensive witnessed by 12,174 paying customers.

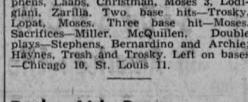

Moses tripled against the pavilion wall in right field in the fifth, later scoring on Don Kolloway's grounder, and then in the sixth, with the bases filled, he cleared the bases with a double down the right field line.

Relays Queen

JOYCE BEELER, 19, sophomore at the Dubuque university, has been chosen queen of next week's Drake relays in Des Moines. The pretty coed is a music major and her home is Bellevue, Iowa.

Drake Relays Power Packed; Entries High

DES MOINES (AP)—The 1946 Drake relays, April 26-27, promise to resemble the pre-war model of that midwestern track event.

Relays director Bill Easton announced yesterday that team entries had reached 95—five more than a year ago—and that a number of additional entries were expected before the books are closed tonight.

The 44 colleges and universities already entered include Chicago, Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Purdue, and Minnesota. The Big Six is sending Iowa State, Missouri, and Kansas. Teams from Virginia, Ohio, Utah, and Texas also are entered.

Key pole vault contestants are Bill Moore of Northwestern, the AAU king, and Bob Phelps of Illinois, a collegiate titleholder.

Back to defend their relays laurels are Bill Bangert, Purdue shotputter; Ray Tharp of Minnesota in the broad jump; Paul Fagerlind of Iowa in the javelin and Drake's Fred Felier, cross country specialist who will defend his two-mile mark.

Borowy Bows To Brecheen

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs raised their 1945 National league pennant before a capacity crowd of 40,887 at Wrigley field yesterday and then the St. Louis Cardinals promptly handed the champs their first setback in four starts, 2-0.

The Cards nicked Hank Borowy, their 1945 nemesis, for a first inning marker and that was the ball game, except for a pitching duel between Harry Brecheen and Fordham Hank.

Brecheen scattered six hits, was in real trouble only one inning, the fifth, when the Cubs filled the bases with one out, and had all the Bruins tamed with the exception of Don Johnson, who poked three straight singles.

Borowy, who last season accounted for three of only six Cub victories in 22 starts against the Cards, was touched for seven hits before he yielded for a pinch-hitter in the eighth.

He was extremely effective for six frames after singles by Lou Klein and Red Schoendienst and long flies by Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter plated the Cardinals marker in the first. In the eighth, however, the Cards picked up an unneeded tally when Musial singled, Harry Walker strolled and rookie Dick Sisker poked a one-bagger to left, scoring Musial.

Marty Marion at shortstop gave Brecheen all the help he needed for his shutout, figuring in the Card's sixth and seventh double plays in four games, handling five putouts and five assists and spearheading an inning-ending liner by Stan Hank when the Cubs had the paths clogged in the fifth.

Hawks Place Third, Fourth at Kansas

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — A .142 performance by Harrison Dillard of Baldwin-Wallace college in the 120-yard high hurdles, and the Baylor Bears' sensational 41 seconds flat in the quarter mile relay featured the 25-event Kansas University relays which returned to the nation's sports calendar here yesterday after a four-year wartime lapse.

Iowa's Hawkeyes grabbed two thirds and two fourths as they competed in the affair with an eight man team.

The Hawks sprint relay quarters picked up the thirds as they trailed the speedy Bears of Baylor and the Longhorns of Texas in the 440 yard relay and finished behind Missouri and Texas in the half mile race.

The Iowa mile relay team was fourth as they were beaten by Texas A & M, Drake and Texas. Paul Fagerlind took the other Iowa fourth as he threw the javelin 193-2. The event was won by Grote of Nebraska who threw the spear 197-6½. Naab of Michigan State and Ebel of Kansas finished second and third.

Braves Win, 6-3

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Boston Braves ruined the Philadelphia Phil's National league opener at Shibe park yesterday with a 6-3 victory over the Phils.

Rightfielder Tommy Holmes led the Boston attack with four hits in five trips to the plate, one in inside park home run in the first inning with two mates aboard. Holmes had two doubles and a single and scored three runs.

Newhouser Gives Two Singles as Detroit Scalps Indians, 7-0

CLEVELAND (AP)—Hal Newhouser throttled Cleveland's Indians with two singles yesterday, while Dick Wakefield provided the heavy strike work as the world champion Detroit Tigers notched a 7-0 triumph in Cleveland's home opener before 42,775.

Only two Indians advanced to second base and none reached third as the Tiger southpaw spaced singles to Pat Seery in the first inning and Steve Gromek in the fifth. Newhouser pitched to only 33 batters and retired the side in four of the nine stanzas. He fanned seven in winning his second straight.

Buc third-sacker Bob Elliott had a perfect day at bat, three for three including two doubles.

Sewell Stops Reds, 2-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Truett (Rip) Sewell held the Cincinnati Reds to four hits yesterday and gave the Pittsburgh Pirates their home opener by a 2-1 score.

A crowd of 27,891 saw opposing pitcher Bucky Walters, who was touched for seven safeties, steal home with two out in the sixth inning, but it was the Reds' only counter.

Buc third-sacker Bob Elliott had a perfect day at bat, three for three including two doubles.

Dr. Harry G. Barnes Resigns as Secretary Of Iowa Association

DES MOINES (AP)—Dr. Harry G. Barnes resigned yesterday as executive secretary of the Iowa State Education Association. Dr. Barnes resigned last Sept. 1 as registrar of the State University of Iowa to accept the appointment. He succeeded Agnes Samuelson. Differences between Dr. Barnes and the 10-member executive board led to his resignation, it was stated in a joint statement issued by Dr. Barnes and Carl T. Feelhaber, principal of Fort Dodge high school and association president. "The pattern of administrative leadership for the development of the association was not acceptable to all immediately concerned," it said. Feelhaber declined to specify the differences, but said they related only to administration of association affairs, and not to his policies for bettering the teaching profession. Dr. Barnes will remain with the association until July 1, Feelhaber said. The board, meeting yesterday to accept the resignation, took no action on a successor but made plans to meet again in May.
