GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Generally fair and somewhat warmer is the weatherman's prophecy for today. Tomorrow will see increasing cloudiness.

Bank Robber Escapes With $79 Leaving Denmark in Confusion

Calm Manager Keeps $2,450 out of Sight In Cash Drawer, Safe

DENMARK (AP)—"It's just like a circus day," commented an old-timer.

Hundreds of persons poured into this little southeastern Iowa village of 150 population. Children were yelling, running up and down the street, playing bandit.

Town Swamped

The one grocery store and one confectionery were swamped with sandwich, ice cream and soda pop business.

And all because the bank was robbed yesterday morning.

The stranger—and strangers are spotted at once in towns like this—first visited the Everett Ivins grocery, bought a soft drink, ate an ice cream bar, and purchased some white cotton gloves and a sack of fruit.

Mrs. Caroline Lingefelter, the clerk, said he walked like he had a wooden leg. He wore a service man's discharge button.

Then the man—about 24 or 25 years old—ambled a half block along Main street to the bank office which also houses the post office. He asked Mrs. Lois C. Woodroffe, postmistress and manager of the Denmark branch of the Farmers Savings bank of Wever, to cash a check.

She said she couldn't cash a check for a stranger.

"Start filling it up, then," said the stranger, handing Mrs. Woodroffe a paper sack and threatening her with a nickel-plated revolver.

Puts $79 in Sack

Mrs. Woodroffe didn't fluster a bit. She put $79 from the cash drawer in the sack and said "That's all I have." The safe had a time lock, she told him. Actually there was another $450 in the cash drawer, $2,000 more in the open safe. The stranger rushed out, raced out of town in a black car.

Robbers Steal Body Of Benito Mussolini Official Says Theft Part of Underground Fascist Propaganda

MILAN (AP)—Swift, expert grave robbers dug the remains of Benito Mussolini from his unmarked grave in the dead of night, a municipal communique said yesterday, and officials disclosed finding a letter which said the body was taken by the "Democratic Fascist party."

The corpse was taken night before last, and the open coffin was left at the grave.

Again Among Us

The letter, signed by the party's "central directive committee," said "Il Duce is again among us. His mortal remains have been taken in custody by the Democratic Fascist party."

The party took the body, because it no longer could bear "the cannibal stunts made by human dregs organized in the Communist party," the letter declared, concluding:

Time Will Come

"The time will come in which Benito Mussolini in his coffin, kissed by our sun, will parade through the streets of Italy, and all the roses of the world and all the tears of our women will not be enough to give extreme greetings of the country to his great son."

For almost a year the bullet-riddled, savagely-beaten body of the once pompous Duce had lain in Maggore cemetery, its location known reportedly only to a few persons.

Milanese councilman Tullio Vallino said the theft "perhaps was connected" with what he described as stepped-up propaganda of underground Fascists in the Milan area.

The discovery of the theft was made by cemetery workmen.

Qavam Seeks Unity in Iran

Meeting to Discuss Return of Province To Central Control

TEHRAN (AP)—Premier Ahmed Qavam announced yesterday he had sent an emissary to Azerbaijan to invite representatives of that self-proclaimed autonomous government to discussions in Tehran on returning the province to central government control.

At the same time, Propaganda Minister Prince Mozaffar Firouz said the red army "rapidly" was quitting Azerbaijan as well as other parts of Iran. But foreign observers said there were no reports here that Soviet troops actually were leaving the province.

Qavam's emissary to Tabriz is F. Ipakchian, wealthy Persian merchant and a former member of the parliaments of both the central government and the Azerbaijan government. The prime minister emphasized that Ipakchian's mission simply was to invite representatives to Tehran, and not to open negotiations.

President Truman Sets 30-Day Period of Mourning for Stone

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation will go into official mourning for 30 days for its chief justice, Harlan Fiske Stone.

President Truman late yesterday directed that the flag be flown at half mast on the government's buildings everywhere for the period in recognition of Stone's "eminent and varied services as a public servant."

A hushed throng gathered in the pillared supreme court chamber in tribute to Chief Justice Stone while a sorrowful capital speculated on his successor—mentioning most often Associate Justices Robert H. Jackson and William O. Douglas.

Funeral Thursday

The funeral of the 73-year-old chief justice will be held at 1 p. m. (CST) Thursday in the Washington cathedral, and burial will be here, President Truman, who now must make his second appointment to the supreme court in less than a year, was expected by White House officials to interrupt his vacation and cruise and return for the ceremony. However, news dispatches from the presidential yacht said no change in the president's vacation plans had been announced.

Speculations

In the absence of the president and the White House entourage, speculation over Stone's successor was entirely unofficial.

While discussion of possible choices ranged also to Justices Hugo L. Black and Felix Frankfurter, the president could actually appoint any citizen as associate justice or chief justice. The appointee doesn't even have to be a lawyer. The senate must confirm both choices.

The supreme court met at noon yesterday and heard a eulogy of Stone from Black.

The court then recessed until next Monday.

Draped in Black

The high-backed swivel chair at the center of the bench, in which Stone faltered and was stricken during the opinion-day session Monday, was draped in black.

Five hours after Stone became ill, he died at his home at 5:45 p. m. (CST) of a massive cerebral hemorrhage—the same ailment to which President Roosevelt succumbed.

Reds Refuse To Discuss Question Again

French Compromise Proposal to Pocket Matter Voted Down

NEW YORK (AP)—Russia by an 8-to-3 vote lost a bitter battle yesterday to take the Iranian case off the United Nations security council agenda and Soviet Delegate Andrei Gromyko thereupon grimly served notice that he would not discuss Iran again at a council meeting.

Climaxing a two-hour session at which it was obvious to a packed chamber that the majority wanted a decision promptly, eight delegates kept their hands down when the chairman called for a vote on a French compromise proposal to turn the matter over to the U. N. secretary general for a report.

Only Delegates

Russia, who associated itself with the French proposal in the final confused action, Poland and France were the only delegates voting for the compromise.

Russia's original demand, contained in a letter dated April 6, for elimination of the Iranian question from the agenda immediately, was not voted upon.

Then, with members of his staff stuffing papers in their bags and observers wondering whether Gromyko would again walk-out as he did nearly a month ago, the Russian delegate made this statement:

Contrary to Charter

"In view of the agreement reached between the Soviet government and the Iranian government on all questions and in view of the withdrawal of its appeal to the security council by the Iranian government, the Soviet delegation considers that the decision of the security council to retain the Iranian question on its agenda is contrary to the charter of the United Nations.

Des Moines Man Barricades Home; Shoots Self When Policemen Fire Tear Gas in Window

DES MOINES (AP)—Defying more than an hour to give himself up.

Anderson appeared at a window only once. After a last warning, police sent four tear gas bombs cascading through the windows.

Police had been summoned Monday night by Anderson's brother, William, who said Daniel Anderson had threatened to kill his wife and five children. Mrs. Anderson went with the children to the home of her mother.

Unable to find Anderson Monday night, police returned yesterday to find him barricaded in the five-room unapainted house.

Anderson left several notes addressed to his children, his wife and his mother.

Union Rejects Request For Coal Production

Walkout of 65,000 Railway Employees Threatened Tomorrow

By the ASSOCIATED PRESS

A plea for coal to operate food trains in famine areas abroad failed to break the soft coal strike deadlock yesterday and a threatened nationwide strike of 65,000 railway express agency employees headed for possible White House action.

K. C. Adams, editor of the AFL United Mine Workers Journal, said the miners had no authority "legally, financially or otherwise" to order a resumption of production.

Ezra Van Horn, chairman of the operators negotiating committee, said the mines "have been and are now ready to produce coal when the men return to work."

In Washington, the national (railway) mediation board said it had received from Grand President George M. Harrison of the AFL Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship workers a formal notice that a strike for higher wages had been set to start a minute after midnight tomorrow.

Under railroad labor act procedure, the mediation board normally sends such situations to the White House with a request for presidential appointment of a fact-finding board to investigate and recommend settlements.

Chinese First Army Reaches Kungchuling

CHUNGKING (AP)—Vanguards of Chiang Kai-Shek's veteran First army were reported yesterday at Kungchuling, where 80,000 Communist troops had streamed out of the hills for a stand in defense of their hold on Changchun 36 miles to the north.

Unconfirmed Report

The report came in a Peiping dispatch to the People's Daily, a newspaper of the Democratic league. It was not confirmed from any other source, although earlier government advices had put the army in the vicinity of that railway city.

An incident on the road to Kungchuling—the aerial strafing at Szejingkai which Communists charged to United States warplanes—was apparently ready to be written off as a case of mistaken identity.

Chinese Planes

General Marshall's headquarters released a message from the American member of a truce team at Mukden saying that American-built planes of the Chinese air force were operating over Szejingkai on both April 17 and 19, the days of the alleged attack.

The Communists also alleged that an American pilot was at the controls of one plane shot down. The report to Marshall said one of the missing Chinese government pilots wore a United States flying suit.

Roxas Leads in Election

Sergio Osmena Drops Behind

Philippine Precincts In Unofficial Returns Seem to Want Change

MANILA, Wednesday (AP)—Manuel Roxas held a better than two-to-one lead over President Sergio Osmena for the presidency of the Philippines early today on the basis of unofficial returns from 61 of the more than 4,000 precincts voting in yesterday's general election.

The figures: Roxas—6,317. Osmena—2,794.

Apparent Trend

Early returns were largely from Manila, which indicated an apparent strong trend for the president of the senate over Osmena.

No figures were available for Hilario Camino Moncado, a perennial presidential candidate who sought election on the basis of a dominion status for the islands.

The dynamic Roxas awaited the outcome in seclusion, having scurried into hiding last night on reports that an attempt would be made to kidnap him.

Reports of Violence

There were some reports of violence, however, and a dispatch to the Manila Bulletin reported some trouble. Reported incidents had masked men grabbing ballot boxes, and 300 armed men seizing a precinct in Pias, a village in the municipality of Papaya, political hotbed in Nueva Exija province northeast of Manila. Military police guards in Pias were captured but later released.

No early returns were available on the various races for the upper and lower houses of the congress.

Police Fire on 2,500 Besieged Prisoners

MILAN (AP)—Milanese police opened fire again last night in a new outbreak of rioting among the 2,500 besieged prisoners of the San Vittore jail after the convicts threatened to hang all their 25 hostages unless their demands were met.

More than 1,000 policemen who have surrounded the prison kept searchlights trained on the walls and windows throughout the night, and returned sporadic fire from the prison.

Young Seaman Kills 9 Shipmates

SHANGHAI (AP)—A teen-age seaman went suddenly berserk on a navy LST on the Yangtze river yesterday, and in a brief and tragic rampage shot to death nine shipmates before stabbing himself.

One of his mortally wounded victims, the navy said, managed to leap from his bunk in the LST's sleeping compartment and disarm the young sailor before he, himself, fell to the deck.

A family source told the Asheville Times the seaman's name was "William V. Smith," rather than L. B. Smith.)

Smith was fighting for life to-night in the hospital ship Repose.

A navy announcement identified the youthful author of the carnage as L. B. Smith, 19, seaman second class, of Asheville, N. C. A silent, introspective youth, Smith was only two months out of the states.

(A family source told the Asheville Times the seaman's name was "William V. Smith," rather than L. B. Smith.)

Smith was fighting for life to-night in the hospital ship Repose.

He suffered three deep-self-inflicted knife stabs in the abdomen, and was given a 50-50 chance to recover.

Also on the Repose was a tenth victim of Smith's fusillade with carbine and pistol, which he turned without warning on 30 seamen asleep at 3 a. m. in the compartment of LST 172.

The wounded man was identified as George E. Simpson, 18, seaman second class, of Waterbury, Conn. He was struck on the left side of the chest by one of 20 rounds Smith fired before he was subdued.

The names of the victims were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Rear Adm. Bertram J. Rodgers, commander of the seventh fleet amphibious forces, ordered an immediate court of inquiry and himself made a flying trip to the LST for a personal investigation.

The navy said Smith had stood a two-hour watch just before midnight and sometime in the quiet hours before 3 a. m. obtained a carbine from the cabin of the gunnery officer, who was on watch.

18-Year-Old Airfield Clerk Relates Story Of Night of Horror in Boston Hotel Room

BOSTON (AP)—An 18-year-old girl clerk at Westover airfield told a district court judge yesterday that an airforce lieutenant slashed her with a razor blade, burned his initials on her body with cigarettes and raped her during a night of torture in a Boston hotel room.

She gave her name as Miss Helen Stavrau, although the court records listed her as Stavron. The accused officer was Thomas Farrell of Somerville.

The girl told Judge Jennie L. Barron she met the officer in the room by appointment and that, instead of going out for the evening as they had planned, he locked the door.

Then, she added, he used a razor blade to cut her on the legs and abdomen and the cigarettes to make the initials of her breasts.

She said she did not cry out because of his threats to kill her.

Farrell was charged with rape, assault and battery with a razor, assault and battery with cigarettes, committing an unnatural act, indecent assault and assault with a weapon with intent to deform.

The girl said she finally wrapped a sheet around her and fled.

Farrell, she added, collapsed after drinking two quarts of liquor.

California Jury Finds Alfred Cline Guilty On Forgery Charge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Alfred Leonard Cline, 56, was convicted today of forging papers in the estates of two of the four elderly women who died mysteriously while associating with the ex-convict and former choir singer.

After the swift verdict, the trial judge disclosed the white-haired defendant, during the course of the trial, had offered to plead guilty in order to get a shorter sentence. The offer was rejected.

Cline was convicted on all nine counts of forgery. A grand theft charge was dismissed earlier.

The jury returned the verdict less than two hours after taking it under deliberation. They had called for study exhibits which the prosecution contended were out and out forgeries of signatures of the two women.

Judge Herbert C. Kaufman set Saturday for sentence. The maximum term would be 126 years.

2 Die in Riot Led by Jews

JERUSALEM (AP)—At least two persons were killed and five were wounded in the Tel Aviv area at noon yesterday, a communique said, when a party of 20 to 30 armed Jews attacked the Ramat Gan police station and four explosions damaged the Tel Aviv railway station.

Police said the Jews attacking the police station were disguised as British soldiers and Arabs. The attackers blew open the door of an armory, removing a quantity of weapons and ammunition, and also mined nearby roads to prevent the arrival of reinforcements.

Forgetful Student Cuts Vacation Short

The woman university student who came back from Easter vacation Sunday night for Monday classes wasn't really eager—she just forgot.

It wasn't until she made the change of trains at West Liberty and noticed that the usual crowd of students wasn't aboard that she realized something was wrong. On arriving in Iowa City she received the illumination that classes wouldn't begin until Tuesday.

She left a fiance back home, too.

Mrs. Dorothy Worm Withdraws Innocent Plea; Given 45 Years

BEDFORD (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Worm, 41, last night withdrew a former plea of innocent and entered a written plea of guilty to the two and a half year old slaying of her husband Tommy Worm, 42.

Mrs. Worm pleaded guilty to second degree murder and was sentenced by District Judge George A. Johnson to 45 years at hard labor in the women's reformatory at Rockwell City.

Schmitt Sentenced

Henry Schmitt, 62, husky Lenox horse trader and admitted lover of Mrs. Worm was sentenced to 99 years at hard labor in the state penitentiary March 29 when he entered a surprise plea of guilty to second degree murder in connection with Worm's death.

Mrs. Worm nervously twisted her hands and did not look directly at the judge while she was in the court room. She sat slumped at the floor as the judge told her:

Does Not Believe Story

"The court does not believe your entire story. You did not withhold the story because of fear of Henry Schmitt. . . . it was your statement that brought Henry Schmitt to justice.

Mrs. Worm was accompanied by her attorneys, Homer Stevens and Kent Tornell. With the exception of Mrs. Worm's son, Carroll, and his wife and two other spectators, the court room was empty.

Sheriff J. T. Caskey quoted Mrs. Worm as saying, "I am pleading guilty to something I didn't do." Neither the sheriff nor Mrs. Worm explained the statement.

Marine Pilot Killed As Warplane Crashes Into Sassafras River

Philadelphia (AP)—A Marine pilot, Maj. William E. Peek, 27, Jenkintown, Pa., was killed yesterday when his plane nose-dived into Sassafras river near Fredericktown, Md., during an aerial demonstration, the navy reported.

The mishap occurred seconds after a PBV towing Maj. Peek's plane, an amphibious Widgeon, had taken off from Chesapeake bay.

Naval officers said that "due to the nature of the crash, it is impossible to say whether the towline snapped, or some other accident happened."

Two other passengers of the Widgeon, a small amphibious plane, were rescued unhurt by naval craft. They were Chief Aviation Machinists Mate Ralph Childs of Kansas City, Mo., and Ensign John Griannini of Charlottesville, Ga.

Cancer Drive Needs Strongest Support From Iowa City

The cancer drive, one of the least publicized but most deserving local campaigns, has been going on in Iowa City for the last three weeks. As yet no reports of the success or failure of the drive have been released, but whatever the amount of success, it will not be enough.

Cancer has been gaining ground steadily in Iowa for the last several years—despite campaigns, improved medical techniques and an increased public awareness of the deadliness of the disease.

The Iowa public health department in a recent report said that cancer is slowly increasing and in 1945 caused the deaths of about 10 Iowans a day. The report, which placed cancer second only to heart disease as a cause of death in Iowa, listed 3,700 fatalities in 1945. This figure was up nearly 100 from the 3,604 deaths reported in 1944.

It is obvious that the success or failure of the campaign is going to depend upon an enlightened public support—support in terms of money donated to help in research and treatment.

The best example of the need for this support is in the history of the tuberculosis campaigns. At one time tuberculosis was one of the most deadly diseases, but now it has declined until the death rate in Iowa last year was less than one a day.

Figures show that 338 persons died of tuberculosis in 1945, compared with 345 in 1944 and 380 in 1943. In 1935, there were 656 tuberculosis deaths, nearly double the 1945 rate. In 1920 the disease claimed the lives of 1,237 Iowans.

These figures show the extent to which a disease can be controlled with sufficient public support. It is up to us to contribute to the current campaign against cancer. And if we contribute even more than we did to the tuberculosis campaign, it may not take 25 years to cut the death rate in Iowa from 10 a day to less than one a day.

The national cancer death rate is even more appalling than Iowa's. During the war years, cancer killed nearly twice as many Americans as were killed by the Germans and Japanese.

Nearly 17,000,000 Americans now living will die of cancer. There are more than 500,000 cases of cancer in this country all the time.

The solution of the problem of cancer is no more impossible than the solution of the problem of making the atomic bomb. It requires only sufficient funds, sufficient manpower, every available expert and planned, coordinated research.

Iowa Citizens should put their full weight behind this drive. Contributions may be sent or taken to the drive headquarters in the Odd Fellows hall, 124 1/2 E. College street.

Need-News From Russia

One of the off and on hot issues that gets under the collars of American newspaper reporters and editors came up again a few days ago when a staff member of Izvestia, Russian newspaper, expressed his views on exchange of correspondents.

Ilya Ehrenburg told the American Society of Newspaper Editors he believed that if more American journalists came to Russia it would be "better for us."

His statement came in response to a question from a southern editor asking whether he could get into Russia, go where he pleased and write what he pleased. The Russian replied he did not issue visas, and "if I did, I would give them liberally, and that is probably the reason I don't give them out."

The Izvestia editor then said that when he returned to Russia he would raise the question of exchanging correspondents on a larger scale between the two countries.

To American newsmen this is a well received idea. American papers have long tried to gain a better basis for exchanging correspondents. They feel that the people of the United States should be permitted to know more about the true state of affairs in Russia.

In fact, Russia herself has long pleaded for us to try to gain a "true understanding" of the Soviet Union. And there have been frequent complaints from Moscow that we misrepresent Russian actions.

Yet, what other course is open to the American people when there is no factual basis for understanding. We hope Ehrenburg is successful in his presentation of the problem when he gets home. An arrangement to trade correspondents on a larger scale could be the basis for forming a better path to peace.

And Now—Circular Houses

Latest design to receive wide-spread publicity in the housing field is the recently developed circular house, which is being produced not only by manufacturers of prefabricated homes but by conventional contractors.

Though this type of house may seem radical to the ordinary citizen, it combines many structural features which make it worthy of investigation.

Of foremost note is the fact that it provides a maximum of interior space while covering a minimum of ground. There is much less "dead" unusable space than is found in the ordinary rectangular structure. Also, the circular walls appear less confining than those of the customary house.

For the person who is seeking the greatest strength and durability, the circular house is an ideal solution. Other conditions being equal, circular structures offer maximum strength by following proven scientific principles.

And the circular house is more resistant to attacks of the elements. High winds find no flat surfaces upon which to wreak damage.

The fact that few of these houses have been erected gives them a uniqueness that is too much lacking in the common residential districts.

They give full sway to the improvisations of the imaginative and even combine a certain classic beauty which adds greatly to their appeal.

Reader Writes Letter Deploing Lack of Encouragement for Young Artists—

Where Are Our Great Composers to Come From?

—America Must Assume Leadership, But How, and With Whom?

(Editor's Note: The Daily Iowan invites letters to the editor. They must bear the name and address of the writer, but the writer's name will not be published if so requested. No attention will be paid unsigned letters.)

TO THE EDITOR:

The presence of the Minneapolis symphony orchestra on the University of Iowa campus this week is indeed a very thrilling event for music minded students and townspeople. The purpose of this letter is not to extol the orchestra but to probe into the extremely vital problems which confront orchestras and their conductors, composers, artists in general, scientists and serious thinking laymen everywhere.

Deems Taylor, well known American composer-critic, has summed up the whole situation in his book "Of Men and Music." Mr. Taylor discovered after considerable research in 1937, the year his book was written, that there were 44 living European composers who could be classified as eminent or distinguished.

Creative Artists Old Among these 44 composers, only 10 were under 50 years of age.

This means that the bulk of all serious music must come from well into and past middle age, with no signs of any youth moving into the wings to take over the work.

A logical question to ask would concern the lack of youth in the field of European music, drama, science and art.

Quoting Mr. Taylor:

"Suppose we figure back a musically talented boy who was 18 years old in 1914 would normally have been in a conservatory of music. Today, in his 40's, he would just be emerging into his most fruitful period of creative activity."

"These boys weren't in the conservatory in 1914. They were in the army. They were at the front facing death and most of them died. Not many 18-year-olds lived through those four years."

Terrific Manpower Losses "The British lost nearly 1,000,000 men in the first World War, France, Germany and Italy lost an average of 1,500,000 each; Russia lost nearly 2,000,000; Austria-Hungary, Turkey, Yugoslavia and Roumania lost hundreds of thousands more. KILLED—NOT CASUALTIES."

"Now, do you think you know what became of a whole generation of potential composers, scientists, painters, architects, novelists, playwrights, sculptors and poets. Europe murdered them—a whole generation of them."

"If great men are to walk the earth again, we shall have to look for them, largely, I think, among a generation that is not yet ready, a generation that was too young to kill and be killed in World War I."

The world in 1937-38-39 did not cease to tread on the war road, and the ghastly result we all know occurred.

Did Europe murder another generation of its youth so that all spiritual and intellectual progress will be impaired past all aid? There can be but one answer to this, and it is terribly obvious—Yes.

Americans as Leaders

American scientists, musicians, poets, etc., are going to take the lead in all intellectual development for the next 50 years. Our scientists are prepared to move into the foreground but in the field of music the situation is far different.

Due to the apathy of the musical American public, the serious American composer must face the situation that he finds his compositions sadly underplayed in concert halls all over the United States. Some of what is written deserves to lie dormant, but much that is good is heard once or twice and then stored away in mothballs.

How will the American composer be able to fill the shoes of his rapidly vanishing brothers who are still left in Europe? All music should be given a fair hearing and the concert goers should demand that conductors, boards of directors or whatever you include a liberal variety of American music on all programs, and all compositions which show merit should be repeated the same season.

The problem of financial security for a composer is a very real one and detracts from his composing. Very few composers are financially able to restrict their activities to the arduous work of composing. They give concerts, conduct orchestras, write books and appear on foolish radio programs to help earn their bread and butter.

Composing is Secondary Composing becomes a lowly secondary function of the man who should be able to devote his full time to creative work.

Russia maintains her composers financially so they don't have to teach or appear on commercial radio programs. Something should be done in this country to enable the young and talented embryo composer to have complete freedom in his work, thereby eliminating financial worries.

Something must be done and soon if American music is to step in the foreground and continue where the European left off. Failure of the American public to aid such a program will mean that major musical compositions will cease to appear and music will date from Richard Strauss and Jan Sibelius backwards.

Brahms, Einstein, Copernicus, Beethoven, Fermi, Chopin, Pasteur, Prokofiev, Sibelius, Lincoln and Huxley attained an intellectual status called genius. Who do we have, and what are we doing to replace them? W. R. Y.

Russian Journalist Tells Editors Conference In Washington That Fascism 'Is Not Yet History'

Ilya Ehrenburg is a Russian journalist whose writing stands out in this way:

His tart phrases and figures of speech lose little or none of their punch when translated.

During the war he became Russia's best-known commentator abroad. His flaming scorn for Nazi German greed and cruelty could scarcely have been hotter in the original Russian than in the English version served up by the Soviet embassy information bulletin in Washington, D. C.

Whether you agree with what he says, Ehrenburg is one writer who seldom leaves you in any doubt about what he means.

Fascism Not Dead Now visiting this country, Ehrenburg hit his usual stride when he told the American society of newspaper editors meeting in Washington over the weekend that fascism "unfortunately is not yet history."

"There are different varieties of fascists. Some like beer, some like wine, some like Franco, some like the king of Greece. But you can always tell them if they bitterly hate the Soviet Union."

The question put to Ehrenburg and his two fellow visitors from the Soviet Union—and their answers—point up anew the difficult gaps between the two systems and the need for a bigger exchange of working journalists.

Criticize Stalin For example, a Virginia editor asked Ehrenburg if a Soviet journalist could criticize Premier Stalin and demand his removal.

After some consultation with his colleagues, Ehrenburg replied:

"Categorically no. Different people must understand the psychology of other people. We might accuse you of not being stable and you might accuse us of being too stable." Stalin, he said, is "in the heart" of every Russian as the savior of his country.

Here, the Soviet writer took a brief peek over into what must seem a chaotic world to a Communist doctrinaire. This is the world where a democratic citizen not only has the privilege—but has it guaranteed—of saying why he is "agin" his government if he feels that way.

At the same time Ehrenburg led his American listeners up to the edge of the world of Soviet ideas, in which no opposition to the government can be loyal—or can it?

Understand Psychology "Different people must understand the psychology of other people..." Ehrenburg said. He indicated that at least he understood this effort had to be a two-way street if Russians and Americans are ever to understand each other.

What many Americans would like to know is whether other Russians besides Mr. Ehrenburg realize this, and how much chance there is for them to realize it.

Ehrenburg is the first Soviet correspondent in this country to do much talking. His frank opinion is a timely reminder that the traffic in correspondents between the two most powerful nations in the world could be a lot heavier both ways.

Dodgers' Ed Head Hurls No-Hitter, 5-0

BROOKLYN (AP)—Ed Head, an ex-GI from Louisiana who hadn't pitched a big league ball game since July of 1944, yesterday tossed the first no-hit, no-run effort of the major league season as Brooklyn copped its sixth straight victory, 5-0, over Boston.

Another noisy weekday crowd of 26,787 fanatics cheered the lean righthander on the way to his greatest pitching feat and hundreds mobbed him as he walked off the hill after retiring the final Boston batter in the ninth frame.

The righthander walked three men, including the first man to face him in the ninth inning, but only one man reached as far as second base.

It was the first no-hitter of the infant season in the majors. Dick Fowler of the Philadelphia Athletics was the last to enter the hall of fame with a no-hit job against the St. Louis Browns last Sept. 9.

Double Play Helps

Head walked Connie Ryan leading off in the first frame but he was erased when Johnny Hopp bounced into a double play. Whitey Weitemann walked with one out in the third and Mort Cooper, his pitching foe, and Ryan hit into force plays.

Chuck Workman opened the ninth as a pinch hitter for Cooper and drew a pass. After Ryan struck out, Ferrell Anderson threw to Ed Stevens, picking Workman off first for a double play. Hopp grounded to second to end the game.

The only other Brave to reach base was Bama Rowell who was safe at first on Pee Wee Reese's error of his grounder opening the fifth. Phil Masi sacrificed him to second where he died.

The lean Louisiana native struck out two men in his bid for fame and only six balls were hit to the outfield.

Head had arm trouble while in service and there were reports he would not pitch again, but the righthander showed them differently yesterday. He is the younger brother who used to be a lefthander but broke his left arm in an auto accident and turned around to become a top flight righthanded hurler.

Born 26 years ago in Selma, La., Head broke into ball with Abbeville of the Evangeline league in 1939. He advanced through the Brooklyn farm system to Elmira in 1940, finishing the season with the Dodgers. After spending 1941 on the Montreal farm, Head was recalled to Ebbets field where he took his turn in 1942 and 1943. He had compiled a 4-3 win record in 1944 before he went into the army.

Five Hawk Pitchers Have Allowed Only 10 Runs, 42 Hits in 8 Games

Most effective weapon in Iowa's baseball arsenal appears to be a pitching corps that has been particularly poisonous to opposing batters in the eight games to date. Right now Coach Otto Vogel has his mound crew rehearsing their slants in preparation for defense of Iowa's early Big Ten lead when Minnesota hits town for a two game series Friday and Saturday.

The five chuckers who have fired so far have rationed Iowa's collective foes to just 42 safeties and only 10 runs—not all of which have been earned.

Jack Bruner, the former navy man who is the only portsider on the squad, boasts the best record with only one run and 10 hits chalked against him in 27 innings. He is expected to take the hilltop in Saturday's game, while Friday's assignment will go to "Moose" Faber, winner of two games in three starts. Jack has whiffed 30 with his southpaw hooks and 25 have gone down swinging at Faber's heaves.

JACK BRUNER
10 Hits in 3 Games

Bill Martin, bespectacled med student, is Iowa's chief relief choice. He has been credited with two wins, in which he has fanned 15, allowed no runs and granted only six hits.

In addition, big Jack (Red) Kenney, has returned from marine corps duty on Guam to become available to Vogel for mound duties in his last year of eligibility.

Following is the summary of Iowa's pitching, including innings pitched, hits and runs allowed and strikeouts.

11 Old-Time Stars Put in Hall of Fame

NEW YORK (AP)—Eleven former big league stars were voted into the Cooperstown (N. Y.) hall of fame yesterday at a meeting of the special committee on old-timers.

Six pitchers and five other players, including the famous Tinkers-to-Evers-to-Chance combination of the Chicago Cubs were admitted after a meeting held in the offices of the New York Yankees.

Ed Walsh of the Chicago White Sox, Clark Griffith of the New York Highlanders and Washington, Jack Chesbro of the Highlanders, Rube Waddell and Eddie Plank of the Philadelphia Athletics and Joe (Iron Man) McGinnity of the New York Giants were the hurlers.

Hawket Nine Loses, Plays Again Today

CEDAR RAPIDS (Special)—Roosevelt's Rough Riders piled up an early lead off Jim VanDeusen here yesterday afternoon and went on to top the Little Hawks of Iowa City, 5-10.

City high will play McKinley of Cedar Rapids on the Hawket diamond this afternoon at four o'clock. Gil Wilson announced that Jim VanDeusen would be his mound choice with the rest of the Little Hawk lineup remaining the same.

Frankie Sturm hurled three hit balls as he was ahead of the visitors all the way except in the fourth when they loaded the bases with none out. Sturm bore down then, got the next batter on strikes, gave up a run when Bob Barker squeezed Jim Sangster home and got his opponent on the mound, Jim VanDeusen to ground out on the infield.

VanDeusen started on the mound for the Hawkets and gave up a pair of runs in the opening inning, another in the third and had let in a run in the fourth and left the bases loaded with none out when he retired in favor of Sonny Dean.

Dean worked himself out of the predicament he inherited and gave up a run in the fifth when a bad throw from the outfield let Brown go to third after a double. Brown scored on an infield out.

City High, Washington In Track Meet Today

City high will resume an annual feud this afternoon on the Hawket track when the Little Hawks meet the Demons of Washington in a dual meet at four o'clock.

The meet will include all the individual events and the 440, 880, mile and mile medley relays.

City high's entire track squad will go into action as Schwank attempts to find out just what the squad can do under competition.

Most feared of the Demons' team will be the distance performers and Pauls in the high jump. Pauls has been over five ten this season.

Hawket strength will come through the efforts of the sprint relay teams that have placed first or second in all meets this year.

Dodgers Celebrate Head's No-Hit Victory

'Knew It All Along'—Head

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—"I knew I had it all the time—don't ask me how, but I knew it," declared Ed Head of the Dodgers as his mates swarmed over him in the clubhouse and congratulated him on his no-hit masterpiece against the Boston Braves yesterday.

"Boy, what a day," exulted the big righthander. "Here I've been handing out cigars all day because my second child, a boy, was born Monday, and now I pitch a no-hitter. And I knew I was going to do it all the time. That's really something."

"No, I don't think I had anything extra in the way of stuff today," Head said. "I just threw harder and harder as the game went on. All I used was my fast ball, curve, slider and change of pace. The slider is the only thing I didn't have before the war."

Cards Dip Reds, 3-2

CINCINNATI (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals sputtered for two runs in the eighth inning yesterday to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 3-2. Reportedly weak hitters, the Redlegs got both their runs by way of circuit clouts.

Nate Andrews, a hard luck pitcher, seemed to have the Cardinal attack solved until the eighth. Then, singles by Marty Marion, Del Rice and Lou Klein, an error by rookie second baseman Bobby Adams and a long fly, put the Cardinals in the lead to stay.

Phils Square Series

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—After manager Ben Chapman had been ejected in the first inning by umpire Tom Dunn, the Philadelphia Phillies knocked starter Harry Feldman out of the box and went on to score an 8-1 win over the New York Giants yesterday, squaring their two-game series.

20 Iowa Trackmen To Enter Drake Relays

Coach George Bresnahan plans to take about 20 athletes to Des Moines for the Drake Relays next Friday and Saturday. The Hawk-eyes will be competing against several of the same teams that were in the Kansas relays last week.

Iowa will be represented in the 440, 880, mile and two mile relays, and will have one or more contestants in the 100 yard dash, 120 yard high hurdles, pole vault, shot put, discus, javelin and high jump.

Among the Iowa individuals now drilling for the Drake Relays are Keith Gotthardt, shot put and discus; Herb Wilkinson, high jump; Walter Thorpe and Charles Mason, pole vault; Dan Sheehan, discus and high jump; Gene Freels, high hurdles, and Tom Thorson, 100 yard dash.

Greenberg Stretches out a Double

HANK GREENBERG, Tigers' firstbaseman, slides safely into second for a double in the fourth inning of yesterday's game with the White Sox. Luke Appling is the other active party and the umpire is Larry Rue. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Passeau Fans 7, Gives 5 Hits

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Billy Cox, rookie Pittsburgh shortstop, let a bouncer go through him in the eighth inning yesterday to break a 1-1 tie and help the Chicago Cubs to a 3-1 victory before 8,224 fans.

Cox bobbed Tommy Livingstone's infield tap with two men away, enabling Phil Cavarretta to tally from third.

The veteran Claude Passeau hurled five-hit ball and struck out seven.

Ed Albosta, of the Pirates, also gave up but five hits, but wildness kept him in hot water. Altogether, he walked 10 men and forced in the third Chicago run in the 9th.

Nats Win in 11th

BOSTON (AP)—The Washington Senators who had lost four games to the Red Sox so far this season, turned on the Bostonians yesterday and dynamited a 2-2 game by making six runs in the eleventh inning for an 8-2 victory. The big blow was a three run homer by Gerry Priddy.

Yanks' Gettel Wins

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Gettel earned his second decision of the season over the anemic Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, 3-0, hurling a brilliant four-hit shutout for the New York Yankees before 24,458 customers.

Cornell Post For Boeringer

Reports that Arthur (Bud) Boeringer, Iowa's football line coach last fall, has been appointed line coach at Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., were confirmed here yesterday by Clem Crowe. "Ed McKeever (Cornell's head coach) called me last week about

6 Games Start Iowa Softball Loop Today

Intramural softball starts off with a bang this afternoon as 12 clubs of the social fraternities begin play at 4:30 on the softball diamonds set up around the fieldhouse.

Lineups for the afternoon include Phi Kappa Psi-Sigma Alpha Epsilon playing on diamond 1; Sigma Chi-Sigma Phi Epsilon on 2; Sigma Nu-Theta Xi on 3; Alpha Tau Omega-Beta Theta Pi on 4; Delta Chi-Phi Gamma Delta on 5, and Delta Upsilon-Phi Epsilon Pi playing on 6.

Number 1 is the southernmost diamond west of the varsity baseball diamond; number 2 is just north of it, while number 3 is just west and north on the fieldhouse. Numbers 4, 5, and 6 are on the edge of the golf course, their numbers progressing from north to south.

Browns Buy Dahlgren

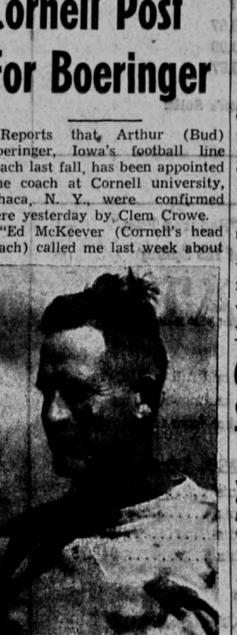

PITTSBURGH (AP)—President William Benswanger of the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday announced the outright sale of first baseman Ellsworth (Babe) Dahlgren to the St. Louis Browns. Terms were not disclosed.

Bill Dietrich Gives Tigers 5 Hits, 3-1

CHICAGO (AP)—Bill Dietrich, bespectacled White Sox veteran, yesterday gave the Detroit Tigers five safe hits and fashioned a 3-1 victory for Chicago over the world champions and Tiger pitcher Al Benton.

Only once was Dietrich in trouble in the tight game before 6,166 fans in Comiskey park. That was in the fourth inning when Hank Greenberg doubled to left with two out and Dick Wakefield followed with a double to the same spot, robbing Dietrich of a shutout.

Benton's wildness in the first inning, plus an error by shortstop Eddie Lake, gave the White Sox two unearned runs. Thurman Tucker led off with a double to left center for the Sox. Don Koloway was safe at first on Lake's error. Then Benton walked Luke Appling and Hal Trosky, forcing in Tucker with the first run. Koloway scored on Ralph Hodgkin's fly to left field.

'BUD' BOERINGER

Bud, the 1945 Iowa coach said, "and it appeared then that everything was about set. I'm sure Bud will get along fine at Cornell because McKeever is a great fellow to work with."

Boeringer has been at his home in Grand Rapids, Minn., since he left Iowa at the close of last season. Bud was an all-American center at Notre Dame in 1926.

Attendance at City Recreation Facilities Totals 56,873 for Year

Report Shows Program Cost 55c per Capita

Commission Presents Plans for Developing Other Play Activities

Attendance at Iowa City playground and recreation facilities was 56,873 during the year ending March 1, 1946, according to a report made yesterday by the Iowa City Playground and Recreation commission.

In their report the commission said, "It is our purpose and aim to organize, plan and promote the best possible recreation program under our present budget, facilities and equipment and to render these services to the best interests and welfare of the entire community."

Members of the commission are: H. S. Ivie, president; Irving Weber, vice-president; Dean Jones, secretary; LeRoy Spencer, warrent officer; Tom Kelley, and Mrs. Ned Ashton.

Ex officio members are John P. Kelley, school board; George Kanak, park board, and Mrs. George Petsel, P.T.A. organization.

In its first annual report, made to the mayor and the city council, the commission disclosed that attendance at the recreation center alone reached 40,845 during the past year.

Of the facilities at the center, the Paper Doll club was the most popular with an attendance of 26,379. Other activities of the recreation center are: craft and game rooms, gymnasium, business men's club, work-out room, handball court, dancing classes, girls' and women's classes, club meetings, chess club, Negro program, showers, City league basketball, junior league basketball and boxing club.

Registration in the playground division was 610, while total participation in the program was 14,655. The City and Junior Softball leagues in using these facilities played 92 games.

The Junior High school swimming pool program counted 1,373 participants.

All of the enterprises sponsored by the commission are under the direction of J. Edgar Frame, superintendent of recreation, and Walter A. Smith, center director. The office secretary is Betty McNamer and there are 44 part time employees.

Future Planning
In their report the commission announced plans for expansion of the program, which will enlarge existing facilities and it is hoped, develop new activities. Listed in the plans are: increased indoor swimming, and ice and roller skating facilities; development of playgrounds, multiple-use play areas, and sledding hills; expansion of recreation services to the public; additional community center facilities; improved equipment and storage, and issuance of a recreation bulletin service.

Budget Report
In the budget report submitted by the commission it was shown that the total cost of the program for the year, $9,942, was only 55c per capita.

The program is supported by city taxes, Community Chest funds and incidental sources. The city tax, 1/2 mill, contributes approximately two-thirds of the revenue and the Community Chest another third, while incidental receipts bear only a small fraction of the total cost.

Membership on the recreation commission is appointive, by the mayor, for a term of 3 years and is without pay. Only the recreation department staff are paid employees.

Commission Voices Appreciation
The commission expressed their appreciation, in the report, to many of the local organizations and individuals that contributed to the success of the program. The school board, Johnson county board of supervisors, all of the local organizations and service clubs, Mrs. Harriet Walsh, the volunteer leaders, and the Community Chest were all offered the special thanks of the commission for their individual efforts.

Air Lines Official Discusses Increased Schedules for Iowa

Air transportation facilities may be increased in smaller Iowa cities as a result of the marked increase in demand for equipment and service, M. A. Towne, Minneapolis district traffic manager for United Air Lines, said yesterday.

Towne, speaking at the Iowa City Kiwanis club, said expansion of equipment and service may be warranted in Iowa City as a result of the increased demand.

Lengthening of the local flying field runways would permit the inclusion of service of four-engine air craft to the present schedule, he added.

The recent reduction of travel rates by 24.5 percent of the former level, the innovation of air freight service to supplement air express and additional facilities to increase passenger comfort and convenience have been foremost in securing the new air transportation patronage, the air executive said.

Isaak Walton Officers Talk Here Tomorrow

Ries Tuttle of Des Moines, state Isaak Walton league president, and C. R. Hallowell of Dubuque, state executive secretary and national vice-president of the league, will be the featured speakers at the April meeting of the Johnson county chapter of the Isaak Walton league.

The meeting is scheduled Thursday at 8 p. m. in the American Legion rooms of the Community building.

Members of the Cedar Rapids, Washington and Davenport chapters have been invited to attend.

A Dutch lunch will be served after the meeting.

Acheson Report

The American public should see to it that congress and the state department use the Acheson report as a basis of atomic energy control, Prof. Lawrence A. Ware of the electrical engineering department declared yesterday.

"Although the report is not perfect in every single detail, one should not be too concerned nor too critical of the smaller details, but should try to develop the right kind of attitude toward the whole problem in general," Ware said.

The Acheson report proposes an international licensing system for control of fissionable raw materials and of the manufacturing of atomic power.

Ware acted as delegate from the Association of Eastern Iowa Scientists at the national meeting of the Federation of American Scientists in Pittsburgh last week-end.

He reported that the organization passed a resolution supporting the Acheson report and sent it to congress. He said the association as a whole is enthusiastic about the Acheson report, for they feel that it is probably the first attempt to set up a workable international control of atomic energy.

At the present time, Ware said, the Federation of American Scientists is unanimously in favor of following two procedures:

1. Active support of the Acheson report.

"Of course, it is well known among scientists that there is no fundamental secret to the atomic bomb, and there is no known defense," Ware said. "The most promising procedure is in the establishment of an international council or committee to control atomic energy."

Public Education

2. A wide educational program for the public so as to impress upon the people the essential points of the Acheson report and other important facts concerning atomic energy in general. As a part of this program the organization would sponsor films, radio programs and speakers on all phases of atomic control.

"Only by understanding something about the problems involved can the public treat the matter in an intelligent way," Ware concluded.

SUI Student Fined For Posting Handbills On Racial Prejudice

Handbills which declared "all barber shops in Iowa City refuse to cut Negroes' hair" and calling on students to "not patronize these shops until Iowa City's racial fascism is stamped out" were peddled in Iowa City yesterday.

Arrested while tacking handbills to trees on South Clinton street, Tom D. Olin, 115 E. Market street, A2 of Springfield, Ohio, was fined $10 and $1.50 costs by Police Judge John Knox for peddling handbills without a license.

The bills, which Olin said were printed in Cedar Rapids, carried the message: "Veterans! Students! Why did you fight? Was it to face racial fascism at home? All 16 barber shops in Iowa City refuse to cut Negroes' hair. Will you, the nation's new leaders, neglect this responsibility? You must act now!"

City law requires persons desiring to distribute handbills in Iowa City to file their intention with the city clerk five days prior to the day they will peddle. Information as to the section of the city where the handbills are to be distributed must be left with the same official.

Investigation of city files shows only three persons have filed the necessary notice of intention to distribute handbills since July 28, 1945.

H. I. Fontello-Nanton, a Negro graduate student and editor of "Eyes," national picture magazine, commented, "It will call attention to the situation and if interest is aroused it is of value, but I do not believe it will be effective."

"It does seem that some action is justified in the case of the shop on university property, since Negroes are part of the student body."

Novelty Corsages Contribute to Campus Chest at Ball

As a part of the Campus Chest drive, university men will present their dates with novelty corsages instead of flowers at the Senior Ball Friday night, Dorothy Kotteman, A3 of Burlington, special projects chairman for the campaign, said last night.

"A booth will be set up at the entrance to Iowa Union dance floor where men may contribute the $2 or $3 they would have spent on flowers to the Campus Chest and receive a special Campus Chest corsage to show that they have contributed," Miss Kotteman explained.

Similar corsage substitutions and contributions to previous drives have proved very successful, she said. The men will not be asked to make any special contributions, but may donate whatever amount a corsage would have cost.

Symphony Gives Audience—

Delightful Experience

By PROF. PHILIP G. CLAPP

It was a delightful experience, after more than 12 years, again to welcome the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra to Iowa City. For many years, under the leadership of Emil Oberholfer and later Henri Verbruggen, the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra annually presented an afternoon and evening concert as climax of the university concert series.

A review of symphony concerts should discuss music and not personalities, but as this is the first visit here of Dimitri Mitropoulos as conductor, it is appropriate to speak of his conducting and direction.

No Baton

Probably the public is first aware of the fact that he does not use a baton. This is, after all, of little if any importance: a century ago conductors were criticized for using batons rather than leading from a keyboard instrument, and the principle difference between the use or non-use of a baton is easier to indicate time; without it, it is easier to indicate shading.

Mr. Mitropoulos, whose knowledge of orchestral scores runs to thousands of compositions, is before all else, concerned faithfully to reproduce the individuality and style of the composer and the composition. His programs yesterday were very broadly chosen from among masterpieces of many styles and periods; and each was interpreted in terms of its own content and individuality.

Two Symphonies

The two symphonies, Brahms' "First" in the afternoon and Sibelius' "First" in the evening, are both of epic proportions, but are otherwise as different as the poles. Mr. Mitropoulos and the orchestra gave vivid and dramatic performances of these works, each one as though it shared its high place with no other conception.

Brilliant performances of French works as diverse as Debussy's "Iberia," and Bizet's "Benvenuto Cellini Overture," as well as a charming suite by Mahaud; "The Water Music" of Handel and the "Polovetzian Dances" from Borodin's "Prince Igor" rounded out programs of highly varied mood, period and musical profile.

Of particular interest was a novelty based upon American folk material, "Wilderness Road" by Elie Siegmeister, whose visit here as conductor of the American ballad singers will be remembered; his composition is finely conceived and treated.

Fine Balance

The orchestra, in spite of personal problems such as the war has imposed upon all performing ensembles, is in a fine state of responsiveness, balance, ensemble.

H. L. Carter Files $2,500 Damage Suit Against John Ryan

Harold L. Carter filed a $2,500 damage suit against John Ryan in district court yesterday, charging carelessness and neglect in an auto accident on April 7, 1945.

The plaintiff charged that the defendant's car was being driven at an excessive rate of speed and was on the left side of the road when the accident occurred.

Carter's petition states that he received cuts, bruises and a broken nose and was unable to go to work for one week. Damage to his car was estimated at $400.

D. C. Nolan is the attorney for the plaintiff.

McCloy to Discuss Japan at Luncheon

Old Capitol Design On Suggested Stamp

Prof. W. J. Petersen Gives Idea Showing Ten Iowa Landmarks

Displaying ten prominent state figures, the design for a state centennial stamp has been submitted to the Iowa centennial committee by Prof. William J. Petersen of the university history department.

The design, which is subject to revision, includes ten figures: Old Capitol at Iowa City, Ft. Des Moines, Ft. Atkinson, the shot tower at Dubuque, the first Mississippi river bridge at Davenport, old Zion church at Burlington, the Iowa frontier in 1846, the Mormon trail, the Potawatomi Indians, and a symbolic overturned basket of fruit and grain depicting Iowa's status as "Breadbasket of the Nation," enclosed within the state boundaries.

Conceived by Professor Petersen, lecturer on Iowa history and member of the centennial committee after studying many ideas submitted, the design was drawn by E. K. Larson Jr., A1 of Davenport. An art major, Larson entered the university at the beginning of the second semester after over two years of military service.
