Established 1868 Vol. 78, NO. 223 AP News and Wirephoto Iowa City, Iowa, Tuesday, June 11—Five Cents

GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Partly cloudy with scattered thundershowers today. The weatherman says the mercury will stay several degrees below yesterday's high of 91.

SPLIT APPEARS IN SUPREME COURT

Senate Okays Measure Reorganizing Congress

Would Grant Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate passed yesterday legislation to reorganize the machinery of congress, provide additional professional aides, and give the members a 50 percent pay boost to $15,000 a year.

The measure would permit congress members, at their discretion, to qualify for government pensions and would require registration of lobbyists.

Described by its backers as intended to "streamline" legislative machinery long out of date, the measure now goes to the house.

To clear the way for senate action on the bill, Senator La Follette (Prog., Wis.), its sponsor, had to drop a proposal to end the time-honored patronage system of dispensing capitol jobs and put in a civil service plan.

The bill would telescope the senate's present 33 committees into 16 major groups, with most senators limited to membership on only two committees instead of the six to 10 on which they now serve.

Special investigating committees would be banned in the future.

Each senator would be given an administrative assistant to do non-legislative work and each committee would hire four experts.

In a move to promote party responsibility, Democratic and Republican members of each house would appoint seven-member policy committees, who would form majority and minority legislative programs. The majority policy committees would be members of a joint legislative-executive council, charged with promoting teamwork between the White House and congress.

Open Hearings
The bill would direct open hearings on appropriations bills which have been considered in closed committee sessions for years. In peace-time, the appropriations and revenue committees would fix annual budget estimates, and only by record vote of both houses could expenditures exceed estimated income.

The reorganization bill also would provide that congress adjourn annually in July except in wartime or national emergency.

Congress to Receive President's Message On Case Labor Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman will send a message to congress today on the Case labor disputes bill—a veto message, according to most predictions.

The president told Speaker Rayburn and other congressional leaders yesterday that the message will be forthcoming but what it will say was not announced.

The predictions of a veto were just predictions. Rayburn and his colleagues who visited the White House said Mr. Truman did not disclose his intentions. Charles G. Ross, the president's secretary, and other White House officials reported they had not been told either.

The fact of the message, however, appeared to support the veto expectations.

A veto message would go to the house, which originated the measure. Rayburn said that in that event, the chamber will vote immediately on whether to sustain or override it. A two-thirds majority of those present would be necessary to override a veto, and the senate then would have to take similar action.

Representative Sparkman of Alabama, the Democratic whip, notified all members of his party to be on hand.

The predictions of a veto were made privately by many responsible Democrats in the house.

Harold Stassen Risks Presidential Hopes On Result of Nebraska Primary Elections

WASHINGTON (AP)—The presidential hopes of Harold E. Stassen can hinge on the outcome of the Nebraska senatorial primary today.

He has actively supported Gov. Dwight Griswold for the Republican senate seat now held by Hugh Butler. If Griswold wins, it appears likely that Stassen will

Arabs Charge Jewish Bands With Attacks On Passenger Trains

JERUSALEM (AP)—The Palestine government said last night that armed Jewish bands had stopped three passenger trains, blowing up the engines and firing the coaches after allowing the passengers and crews to alight.

During the incidents, two Arabs were wounded by gunfire and a third was beaten severely. The holdups occurred as Arab leaders met in Budan, Syria, to organize Arab opposition to further Jewish immigration to Palestine.

An official government statement said that "combined police and military operations to apprehend the attackers are now in progress."

It was reported unofficially that five Jews had been arrested.

International issues have highlighted the Nebraska pre-primary campaign. Stassen made six speeches in the state for Griswold with the problems of future foreign relations a dominant theme.

Griswold has supported the projected $3,750,000 loan to Great Britain while Butler has opposed it, and cited that attitude in his speeches.

A party convention vote favored Buler by a 228 to 163 vote.

A Butler victory it was felt by political forecasters her, may convince many Republican followers that the midwest is re-affirming that point of view which opponents label as "isolationism."

Fire Investigation Begins

STATE AND CITY fire officials inspect the inside of the Canfield hotel in Dubuque which burned early Sunday morning. Left to right: Perry Kirch, Dubuque fire chief; A. Lubberden and Zack Cook, assistant state fire marshals, and Senior Captain Harold Cosgrove of Dubuque.

During the day several persons previously listed as missing on the basis of entries in the water-soaked hotel register advised officials they had been unable to keep reservations at the hotel or had been away at the time of the fire.

Fourteen other fire victims remained in the city's hospitals, some in serious condition.

Meanwhile state and county officials moved forward with an investigation into the cause of the fire and Dr. F. S. Leonard, coroner, said an inquest would be held next week.

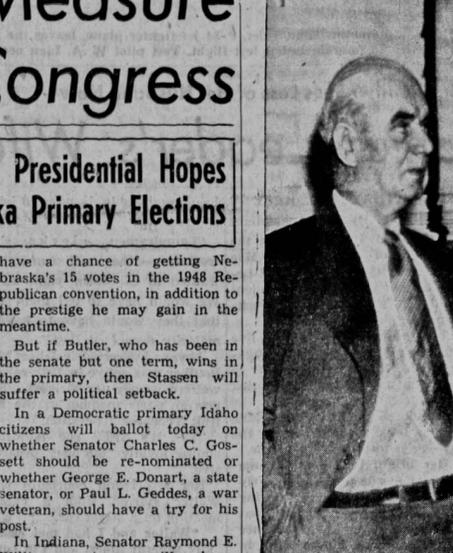

Dr. Leonard said the fire apparently started in the hotel basement under the cocktail room and fire escape but the cause was not yet known.

The indictment, relating what purported to be an account of McDowell's visit to Chetnik headquarters, said the American told Mihailovic on his arrival:

"We Americans are not interested in your fight with Germany. They must go out of Yugoslavia by action of the Allies. It is up to you to remain among the people. America is helping exclusively you and your movement in Yugoslavia."

The indictment said that in 1943, in what was called the fourth offensive of the Axis against Marshal Tito's Partisan National Army of Liberation, Mihailovic personally or through an aide "commanded all Chetnik units which were armed with Italian or German munitions, and took part with the Germans and Italians in operations aimed at the destruction of the forces of the National Liberation army."

Maritime Union Heads Confer With Murray

JOSEPH CURRAN (center), president of the National Maritime union, and Harry Bridges (right), president of the International Longshoremen's union, confer with CIO President Philip Murray in Washington. The union leaders have said "The 56-hour week has got to be cut out or we'll strike June 15th." Federal conciliators have replied by suggesting a cash substitute for the shorter work-week demanded.

Yugoslav Leader Goes on Trial

Mihailovic, U. S. Colonel Figure in Plot

BELGRADE (AP)—The Yugoslav government's indictment of Gen. Draja Mihailovic charged yesterday that the Chetnik leader was told by a British officer in 1943 to "liquidate the communists" in Yugoslavia, and that in 1944 an American officer took part in conferences between Mihailovic and a German commander.

Referring to another British message, purportedly sent from the British command in Cairo in 1941 and relayed by a British liaison officer, the indictment said Mihailovic was told "that Yugoslavs are to fight for Yugoslavia and not transform the fight into a rebellion of communists on behalf of Soviet Russia."

Drawn up by Marshal Tito's government, the indictment said that in August, 1944, an American colonel named McDowell, identified in the document as chief of an American mission to Mihailovic's headquarters, met the Chetnik chief and a German named Neubacher, identified as chief of the administration staff of the Nazi military commander in Serbia. It said a month later McDowell also attended a meeting with Mihailovic and Neubacher's deputy.

(In Washington the war department identified the United States officer as Col. Robert H. McDowell and said he was a teacher of Balkan history at the University of Michigan. The war department did not know his whereabouts, and was unable to say whether he is still in the service.)

The indictment, relating what purported to be an account of McDowell's visit to Chetnik headquarters, said the American told Mihailovic on his arrival:

Dubuque Fire Takes 17 Lives; Thirteen Persons Still Missing

DUBUQUE (AP)—The death toll in the Canfield hotel fire rose to 17 last night when searches uncovered another unidentified body in a fourth floor room of the charred structure. The list of persons unaccounted for meanwhile dropped to 13.

Fire Chief Perry Kirch said the badly burned body was found under debris in the corner of the room, and that a charred prayer book was in his hand.

This brought the total of unidentified dead to four.

American Red Cross officials held out hope that the missing persons were not in the hotel at the time of the fire early Sunday.

Firemen, however, continued their search for possible additional bodies in the rubble-strewn shell of the 200-room hostelry and Fire Chief Perry Kirch said he believed "a few more" might be found.

Jackson Makes Unprecedented Attack on Justice Hugo Black

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP)—In an unprecedented attack on a colleague of the United States supreme court, Justice Robert H. Jackson charged last night that Justice Hugo Black had participated in decisions affecting a former law partner, and that the practice, if continued, would bring America's highest court into "disrepute."

Jackson, now on leave from the supreme court to serve as chief American prosecutor at the war crimes trial here, said in a written statement issued at a news conference that a "feud" of longstanding existed between Black and him.

The feud, he said in the statement which was cabled to the house and senate judicial committees, "has been so long publicized that congress has a right to know the facts and issues involved."

Jewell-Ridge Decision Involved Coal Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—The supreme court's decision in the Jewell ridge coal case held that soft coal miners were entitled to portal to portal pay. It was a 5 to 4 decision handed down May 7, 1945, with Justice Murphy writing the majority opinion.

Justice Jackson wrote a dissenting opinion, in which he was joined by the late Chief Justice Stone, Justice Roberts, now retired, and Justice Frankfurter.

The case involved the Jewell Ridge coal corporation, operator of two Virginia bituminous mines, and a local of John L. Lewis' United Mine workers.

On June 1, 1945, the corporation petitioned for a re-hearing on the ground that "a question may exist" whether Justice Black, who was in the majority was "so situated as to be in a position to administer impartial justice." The petition cited two points:

1. That when Black was a senator he introduced a bill to establish fair labor standards and "was the most active sponsor" of it until his appointment to the court

2. That for a number of years Black associated with Crampton Harris, who had argued the case before the supreme court as chief counsel for the united mine workers.

On June 11 the court refused the hearing. No written opinions usually are handed down when such ordered are entered.

In this instance, however, Jackson issued a statement saying that he concurred in the refusal of a re-hearing but that he wanted "to disclose the limited grounds on which I concur."

These were, in substance, that while a justice might disqualify himself, the court as a whole has no authority to exclude a justice from sitting in any particular case.

The miners had won their case in the lower court. Thus even the Black had disqualified himself the court would have stood 4 to 4 and a tie vote automatically upholds the lower court's decision.

Paper Executive Slain

BOSTON (AP)—William A. Whitcomb, 73, wealthy president of the Great Northern Paper company, was slain yesterday in a downtown bank building by a well-dressed gunman who nonchalantly walked down eight flights with briefcase under arm to escape in busy street crowds.

Whitcomb was found lying face downward in his private office on the eighth floor of the Boston Safety Deposit and Trust company building in the heart of the business district with three bullets in his body.

Detectives, admittedly baffled in the absence of a motive, studied an unsigned contract involving $25,000 that lay on Whitcomb's desk in hope that it might lead to a clue to the killer, who posed as a government treasury agent.

A dozen secretaries and other company executives in an outer office saw the slayer calmly emerge from Whitcomb's office with gun still in hand and walk out. They were so stunned that before an alarm could be sounded he had disappeared.

Giving his name as "Mr. Homan from the treasury department," the gunman easily gained admittance to the paper manufacturer's private office and was there only about seven minutes.

The body of William A. Whitcomb, 73, president of the Great Northern Paper company, is carried from his office in Boston where he was shot to death by an unknown gunman yesterday.

Vinson Has Big Job Cut Out for Him on High Bench

President Truman's appointment of Fred M. Vinson to be chief justice of the supreme court looks like a good one from where we stand. Vinson has left a brilliant record behind him in the four high government posts he has held in the last 18 months.

Coming to congress from Kentucky in 1928, Vinson rose to prominence as a tax expert through his chairmanship of the taxation sub-committee of the house ways and means committee. He advocated pay-as-you-go income taxes, adopted in 1943, as early as 1937.

President Roosevelt recognized Vinson's ability and appointed him associate justice of the United States court of appeals from the District of Columbia in 1933. There he proved himself to be a fair-minded and intelligent judge.

President Roosevelt called on him again in 1943 when he named him director of economic stabilization, with the responsibility of holding prices in line against wartime inflationary pressures.

Early last year he became federal loan administrator and head of the reconstruction finance corporation, but a few months later was removed from this post to take over the directorship of the office of war mobilization and reconversion.

Then President Truman named him secretary of the treasury, where he has done an excellent job of heading the national economy back in the direction of financial stability.

Vinson's record is clean. About the best thing that can be said for him is that nobody can think of anything very bad to say against him.

Vinson has a big job cut out for him when he becomes the 13th chief justice of the United States. The present band of strong-willed associate supreme court justices has been the most badly divided group in the tribunal's 156-year history. The court has divided into two factions, more or less, over differences in philosophies of law, and it will be Vinson's task to bring the two groups together.

The late chief justice, Harlan F. Stone, encountered many troubles as a result of this split. He once remarked that his associates in their disagreement fought it out over such little details as the placing of a comma in an opinion.

President Truman believes that in Vinson he has the man who can make things go more smoothly on the big bench. We agree.

Atom Bomb 'Defeatable'

By ROBERT GEIGER WASHINGTON (AP)—Rear Adm. Albert C. Read Sr., commander of the first navy plane to fly the Atlantic, said yesterday that potential defenses against the atomic bomb already are in the outline stage.

Preparing to retire after 40 years of service, the 50-year-old pioneer flier and war-time commander of the fleet air command forces said A-bomb defense "won't be a passive one."

He hinted to a reporter of things that until recently appeared to be Jules Verne fantasies but which in some ways have been discussed. In this realm are the possibilities of changing ocean currents to alter the climate of an enemy nation, and bacterial warfare. But he preferred to stick to a discussion of atomic age actualities.

"The Bikini A-bomb test has been called, significantly, 'Operation Crossroads,'" Admiral Read said.

"That's what it is, the navy's crossroads of the future. As soon as we determine what damage the bomb does to ships, the navy will lose no time in applying this knowledge to defense tactics.

"Leaving all fantastic stuff out of it, the atom bomb isn't an undefeatable weapon.

"Many people have the idea you can toss a batch of them together in a bushel basket and take them out and throw them on your enemies. As simple as that. But it is much more complex. An aggressor must have a base from which to launch the attack and it is a terrifically expensive task to build just one atom bomb.

"Scientists have their theories, and they say thus and thus can be done. But don't ever overlook the capabilities of man. He can do great things and undoubtedly he can defend himself against the A-bomb, theories or no theories."

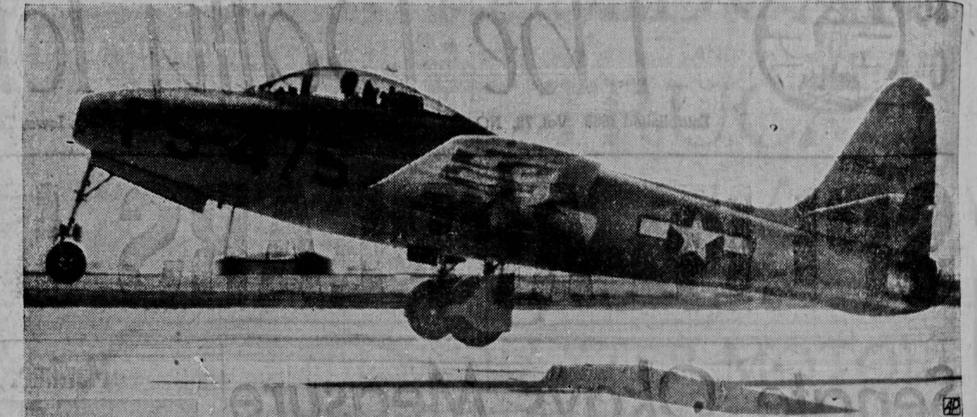

"Possibilities for air research are limitless," Admiral Read said. "Contrast the old NC-4, which he flew across the Atlantic in May, 1919, with jet plane. Look at the NC-4's struts and other clumsy designing. But it was the grandfather of the jet plane. All this improvement came within a few years."

It was 27 years ago May 31 that the NC-4 reached Plymouth, England, after a North Atlantic crossing from Newfoundland.

Read, who has sailed around the world several times, plans to "do a little traveling and play a lot of golf" after retirement.

As commander of the fleet air command at Norfolk, Va., he had charge of the "shakedown" training of all carrier crews, both for ships and planes. On the question of army-navy merger he said his opinion is "the same as those of a great many other navy men." He said the sea service must keep control of its own aviation, both land and carrier based.

Mrs. Reuther Sees Less of Her Husband Now— Union Leader's Wife

By KATHRYN UMPHREY DETROIT (AP)—With one slight qualification, life goes on in the household of Walter and Mae Reuther pretty much as it did before Reuther was elected president of the CIO's United Auto Workers union.

The red-haired Reuthers live with their three-year-old daughter, Linda, whose hair is closer to brown, in a sixroom, white brick home.

Interviewed in their home, Mrs. Reuther let everything go by the way—even to burning the stew. Her bright blue eyes became brighter as she tells of the early UAW organizing days during the 1936 sitdown strikes. That was when she gave up her school teacher's job to work in union headquarters at no salary.

"After the first sit down, 'quickness' we called them, people began pouring in, begging to join," she recalled. "Laundrymen, clerks, shop workers—they all came and wanted to 'sit down' right away. We would have to tell them 'no,' that they would have to have a majority organized first."

Always interested in labor, Mrs. Reuther was active in 1932 raising welfare money for strikers. She was an early member of the Detroit Teachers Federation.

"Yes, it's AFL," she admitted, adding loyally "but very progressive."

Her whirlwind courtship with Walter started from a chance meeting on a street car.

"Walter and I had met casually several times, and I'm sure the impression was equally negative on both sides. Then one afternoon we happened to get on the same street car. Ordinarily I wouldn't talk to anyone. But this time there was Walter and we talked and talked."

"You can see he works fast. Six months later we were married—and most of that time he was out of town."

Mrs. Reuther stopped working at union headquarters when Linda was born and since then has been mostly housewife.

James D. White's Interpreting The News...

The death of the King of Siam serves to focus attention on the only other sovereign nation in east Asia besides China.

Thus far no evidence has been reported of any political factor behind the king's death, which was declared accidental.

His younger brother succeeds him, and only two days before his death the Siamese parliament had reinstated the government of Premier Pridi Phanomyong which had resigned as a matter of form during the enforcement of a new constitution.

The course of this government is relatively stabilized by Siam's situation, which is that of Japan's only independent collaborator trying to live that down, and at the same time make the most of its post-war position.

Actually, Siam's chief contribution to Japan came before Pearl Harbor, when Premier Luang Pibul Songgram played sitting duck to divert attention from what Japan really was up to. Afterward Pibul Songgram became something of a puppet, but was thrown out by parliamentary vote during the war; when the war ended the chastened Siamese made peace quickly and sought admission to the United Nations.

For 300 years Siam remained independent through dickerings simultaneously with her two chief external threats, Britain and France. This traditional strategy has been strengthened since the war ended by the fact that Siam had accumulated a war-time rice surplus estimated at 1,500,000 tons. With both Britain and China wanting this rice for relief purposes, Siam recently discovered that France was being "aggressive" toward former Indo-Chinese territory which Siam had taken before the war with Japanese approval.

Tumbledown Shack Vet's Home Causes Civic Squabble

LEWISTOWN, Mont. (AP)—A tumbledown shack on the edge of an exclusive residential district is the center of a civic controversy in Lewistown.

On the front of the shack is this sign: "Being remodeled for a GI Joe. Five years' service. Two and one-half years in the South Pacific. Why shouldn't he have this home?"

That last question started the fuss, with promoters of fashionable real estate on one side and battlers for GI housing—fashionable or not—on the other.

The squabble began when Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dodge learned that their son, Capt. Edwards Dodge, was returning from army service. They determined to have a home ready for him.

No houses were available, of course, and no lumber to build. So Dodge bought the shack, set it up in one of the better residential blocks and scratched up some remodeling materials.

Home owners petitioned for a zoning law to prohibit moving dumps like that into the area.

Dodge asked them to wait and see how he could fix up the place. Veterans' organizations got behind him. Inflation, they said, has put homes beyond the pocketbook of the GI—and any kind of a shelter is better than none.

The city council, they added, refused to grant park land for a Vet housing project and made it impossible for the town to obtain government surplus houses.

Councilmen listened to both sides, then gave Dodge 60 days to see what he could do about making the shack more sightly. Home owners have ceased their protests, temporarily at least.

And other homeless GIs are scouting around for similar shacks.

Pan American Highway Nears Completion— Road Links Americas

By REGINALD L. WOOD MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Pan American highway is nearing completion after 20 years of dreams, planning and work. Within the next two and a half years, a tourist in Washington, Buenos Aires or San Francisco may be able to crank up his car and drive 11,200 miles over allweather roads linking the Americas.

The road is paved with tourist gold. The Mexican tourist department estimates that nation's tourist business alone at upwards of 250,000,000 pesos ($50,000,000) annually.

And business is picking up. Tourist automobiles now are crossing the international boundary at the rate of 3,000 a month. Construction of the Pan-American highway has helped governments realize that tourist business is good business and many of them have sent officials to Mexico City to learn how to get a portion of the gold that rides on rubber tires.

United States automobile manufacturers are allotting a portion of their production to Latin America to meet the strong bid of British manufacturers for the market, but a car in every Latin American garage must, of necessity, await the day when costs are in line with wages.

American-made cars sell for double to triple the United States market price and used cars bring prices comparable with new cars in the United States. The average daily wages range between five and 10 pesos ($1 to $2).

Looking at the highway south-bound, there are about 1,156 miles completed from the Mexican border at Nuevo Laredo through Mexico City to Oaxaca and some 50 miles beyond. From there to Guatemala it is hardly more than a trail.

Guatemala has a good road from border to border, but Mexico has 187 miles to finish, Honduras 60, El Salvador 20 and Panama 100. Completion of these stretches will give an all-weather highway from the United States border to Panama City, a distance of 3,250 miles.

Engineers believe it will be several years before Panama City is linked with Colombia—a distance of 200 miles through wild jungles.

Meat Institute Attacks 'Strangling Controls'

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Meat Institute, in a statement yesterday, said a published assertion by the office of economic stabilization that packers are withholding meat from the market is "pure fiction and reckless distortion of facts."

The facts are, the institute said: "Legitimate industry, because of strangling OPA controls, is having a difficult time getting any meat at all."

"The government is taking large quantities of legitimately produced meat from seasonably reduced receipts of livestock.

Dubuque Fire Here?

The recent hotel disasters in Chicago and Dubuque, costing the lives of more than 75 persons, again focus attention on Iowa City's inadequate fire-fighting equipment.

The toll in the hotel fires might have been greater had not many occupants, trapped on upper floors by the smoke and flames, escaped down ladders raised by firemen or by jumping into safety nets.

But the longest ladder Iowa City firemen can raise is but 48 feet, or approximately three stories high, and the department has no safety nets at all. If Iowa City should have a hotel fire, occupants trapped in their rooms and on upper floors where they couldn't reach external fire escapes would be out of luck.

Fire Chief J. J. Clark has recommended to the city council that a new fire truck with a 100-foot aerial ladder be purchased.

"One man could operate the truck I have in mind," Chief Clark says, "and reach nearly every window in any hotel in Iowa City." In addition, the truck is equipped with other ladders 50 feet long, and would also have safety nets.

Equipment of this type takes many months to deliver, and the longer the city government delays in taking steps to get it, the longer Iowa City will be avoiding the obligation of safety it owes its inhabitants.

Belgians Protest POW's Easy Life

BRUSSELS (AP)—The sight of German prisoners of war riding unguarded in American jeeps has caused great consternation in Belgium.

One newspaper stated, "If Allied soldiers are not going to see that German POWs are kept from riding around in jeeps and smoking American cigarettes in public, the people may take the matter into their own hands."

The fact that German prisoners are smoking American cigarettes when no one can buy them legally, probably has done more to create dissatisfaction than anything else. German prisoners are being used to man supply bases at Antwerp, port for the occupation troops in Germany and provide labor for demobilization activities. More than 50,000 are employed in Belgian coal mines.

But it is not an uncommon sight to see German soldiers, supposedly behind held in stockades surrounded by barbed wires, enjoying the scenery along a country roadside or parked beside the curb of a city street in some small village with no guards whatever in sight.

The army's answer is that use of prisoners in manual tasks has speeded redeployment.

Council to Hear Recent Dispute Over Election

The dispute raised by civil engineering students over the recent election of officers of the Associated Students of Engineering will be discussed at the first meeting of the summer Student Council tonight, according to Herb Olson, A3 of Winfield.

Declaring that only six percent of eligible students voted in the election, which they say was not sufficiently publicized, the Associated Students of Civil Engineering will present their case to the Council, requesting a new election next fall.

Summer organization of the Council is also on the agenda for tonight, and Olson urged that all members attending the summer session be present at the meeting so that an executive council may be chosen.

Local BPW to Hold Installation of Officers

The Federated Business and Professional Women's club will install officers tomorrow at a meeting at 7:30 p. m. in the University club's rooms in Iowa Union.

Reservations should be made by calling Fern Young, ext. 8385, by tomorrow noon. Prospective members may be guests at this meeting.

Cubs Blow Seven Run Margin

Borowy Fails For 9th Time In Ten Starts

CHICAGO (AP) — It took the lowly Philadelphia Phillies to crack the Chicago Cub's seven game winning streak, and they did it the hard way in gaining a 9-3 victory in the opener of a four game series here yesterday.

Held hitless by Hank Borowy for seven innings, the Phillies broke out with four run rallies in the eighth and ninth to win.

Borowy was chased for the ninth time in ten starts. Philadelphia scored its first run in the seventh. Borowy staggered through the eighth as the Phillies added four more to make the score 8-5.

With one out in the ninth, Emil Verban singled. Jimmy Wasdell's pinch grounder advanced him to second. Johnny Wyrostek walked and Roy Hughes' single counted Verban and sent Wyrostek to third.

Borowy was replaced by Russ Meers and Lou Novikoff batted for Ron Northey. The one-time Cub and famed Mad Russian beat out a slow dribbler to Hack for a single, scoring Wyrostek.

Hiram Bithorn then took over for Meers. Frank McCormick greeted him with what proved a game-winning double, scoring Hughes and Bill Burich, running for Novikoff.

Sox Increase Lead

BOSTON (AP)—The Red Sox increased their string of undefeated starts against western opposition to 18 straight by giving righthander Bill Butland his first pitching triumph of the season, a 6-3 decision over the Cleveland Indians, yesterday before a 16,988 washday crowd. It also was the 11th game without a setback during their current Fenway home stay.

And while so doing, Joe Cronin's pennant-rushing forces lengthened their first place lead to nine games as the Yankees bowed to the Detroit Tigers.

White Sox Win

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Chicago White Sox, in their first appearance at Shebe Park since Ted Lyons replaced Jimmy Dykes as manager, last night nipped the Philadelphia Athletics 3-1 before an estimated 12,000 arc-light fans.

Tigers Top Yanks

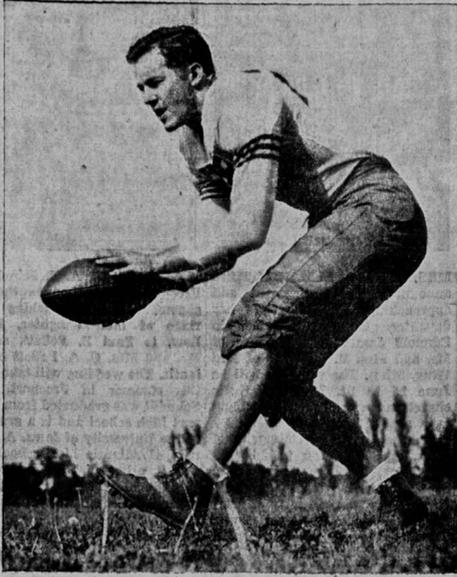

NEW YORK (AP)—Behind the five-hit tossing of Virgil Trucks and two-run homers by Hank Greenberg and Jimmy Bloodworth, the Detroit Tigers trounced the New York Yankees, 11-3, yesterday to score their first victory in five meetings over the Yanks.

Barron Wins Golf Tourney in Playoff

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Experience and the steady nerves gained in many a tough golfing grind paid off yesterday for Herman Barron, White Plains, N. Y., professional with a $2,500 first prize in the Philadelphia Inquirer Invitation Golf tournament.

The former Western open champ, outdriven from almost every tee by Lew Worsham, 28-year-old former navy physical instructor, nevertheless chipped and putted with deadly precision as he shot Llanerch Country club's 6,405-yard course in even par 70 to win the first-money playoff by three strokes.

Welcome Back to Iowa City Bob

BOB SMITH

Seahawk Gridders Return

Bob Smith, Phillips, King Enrolled Here; Played for Seahawks in 1944

Iowa's 1946 football hopes received a big shot in the arm yesterday when three former Seahawk gridgers, all members of the 1944 navy eleven, enrolled at the university and announced plans to start classes with the beginning of the summer session tomorrow.

The three, Bob Smith, Bob Phillips and Lou King, were members of the University of Tulsa's Oil bowl eleven last fall, following their discharge from the service, but have elected to return to the Iowa campus and a shot at Big Ten football during the coming season.

Smith, a right half back, was a regular in the 1944 Seahawk backfield and a top running back on the Tulsa team that lost to Georgia in January's post season classic.

Phillips, although weighing in at only 180 and an inch short of the six foot mark, was a star end on the same Oiler eleven; while King, who was an 180-pound reserve quarterback when he was here with the navy, spelled Tulsa's great Champ Wilson at a full-back spot last fall.

Smith has two more years of eligibility, while King and Phillips have three years each.

Ralph Beardsley Back

More promised help for the 1946 Hawkeyes turned up yesterday when Ralph Beardsley, 200-pound guard from Anamosa, came to Iowa City to complete registration for the fall term.

An outstanding high school lineman at Anamosa, Beardsley was used as a guard reserve on the 1942 Iowa eleven while a sophomore and was recently discharged after three years in the Pacific with the Sea Bees.

Murphy Claims Bucs Have Company Union

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Robert Murphy, labor relations director of the American Baseball guild, declared yesterday the Pittsburgh Pirates' management had, in effect, formed a company union in attempts to break his guild.

The husky baseball unionist filed a petition before the National Labor Relations board here, charging the club had:

1—"Urged employees to deal with management through a players' committee instead of through the guild."

2—"By oral statements attempted to persuade employees to cease their membership in and activities in behalf of the guild."

"This, in effect, is forming a company union," Murphy told a reporter.

Cards Nip Dodgers

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Pinchhitter Terry Moore's one-run single in the ninth inning broke up a tie ball game as the St. Louis Cardinals won the first game of an important three-game series from the Brooklyn Dodgers 3 to 2 before a crowd of 27,943 persons last night. The victory cut the Dodgers' lead to two games over the second-place Redbirds.

Jack Johnson, Former Champ, Killed in Crash

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — Jack Johnson, former heavyweight champion of the world, died at Saint Agnes hospital here of injuries he suffered in an automobile accident near Franklinton early yesterday afternoon.

Dr. W. D. Allison said that the 68-year-old Negro died from internal injuries and shock.

The accident occurred just south of the Franklinton city limits, about twenty miles north of Raleigh on United States highway No. 1.

Johnson was reported to have lost control of the big automobile he was driving, causing it to crash into a light pole and overturn.

Johnson won the heavyweight championship in 1908 at Sidney, Australia, when he scored a technical knockout over Tommy Burns of Canada in the 14th round. The Galveston, Tex., native who was christened John Arthur Johnson, thus became the first Negro heavyweight champion in history.

Galiher Announces Resignation In Department For 17 Years

After 17 years of handling some of the toughest and least publicized jobs in the University of Iowa athletic department, Charles S. Galiher yesterday announced his retirement as business manager of athletics.

Following the resignation, effective June 30, Galiher will enter the insurance business in Iowa City, representing the Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

Since joining the Iowa athletic staff early in the summer of 1929, Galiher has been in charge of ticket sales, travelled with the football team and acted as the chief financial advisor to all university athletics.

He advised Director E. G. Schroeder last November of his desire to be released from his present position when he could make suitable connections elsewhere.

"My desire to leave the department is in no way due to any dissatisfaction with the administration of athletics. I am sure that the director and the individual members of the board in control of athletics know that my association with each of you has been most pleasant and I cannot imagine a finer business relationship. My sole purpose in desiring a change is predicated on what I consider my own personal best interests," Galiher said in his letter of resignation addressed to Director Schroeder.

"Please be assured that the department of athletics and the University of Iowa always will have my wholehearted support and cooperation. I want to express my appreciation of that finest kind of cooperation and friendship which always has characterized our association throughout our years together," the letter concludes.

Galiher recalls the 1939 football "Iron Men" and the 1944-45 basketball conference champions as the most interesting teams during his association with Iowa athletics teams.

The 1939 gridiron season brought the biggest crowds in the stadium during Galiher's tenure of office.

CHARLES GALIHER is shown above at his desk in the University of Iowa fieldhouse where, for 17 years, he has served as business manager of university athletics. Yesterday, Galiher announced his retirement, effective June 30.

In the Illinois game here that year, approximately 47,000 fans jammed the stadium to "capacity", then, later in the season, an additional five thousand spectators, most of them members of the Knot Hole club, filled the north end of the field and brought about an all time attendance high of 52,000 fans.

"The 1939 gridiron season brought the biggest crowds in the stadium during Galiher's tenure of office.

30 Teachers of Handicapped Expected to Enroll for Course

Approximately 30 to 40 supervisors and teachers of pupils educationally or physically handicapped are expected to enroll in a special education course during the summer session, Prof. James B. Stroud of the education and psychology department said yesterday.

The special eight-week course in the education of handicapped children will be taught by four visiting lecturers. Each speaker will conduct the class for two weeks.

Florence Kelly, primary supervisor of Milwaukee public schools will lecture on the education of slow learning pupils, with emphasis on sight-saving classes for visually handicapped.

Nellie Cummins, principal of DeLano school, Kansas City, Mo., will lecture during the second two week period. She will discuss the physically handicapped child.

Special Education Ray Graham, director of education for exceptional children, Illinois state department of public instruction, will lecture on the organization and administration of special education classes.

The education of the mentally handicapped will be the topic of lectures by Dr. Brian Tomlinson, head of the department of educational psychology of New York University.

"The competence of these four outstanding lecturers will offer students the best opportunity in many years for study along these lines," Professor Stroud said.

The course, sponsored by the college of education and psychology department, may be taken for two or three hours credit in either department.

Concentrated Course In addition, a two-week concentrated course in eight fields of general education for high school superintendents and principals will be given July 8 to 19 by the college of education. The program will be sponsored jointly by education departments including home economics, sociology and child welfare.

Some 25 courses in these departments will be available, based on a research project dealing with the problems of the handicapped, which has been maintained at the university for 25 years.

The two-week laboratory course will give superintendents and principals a general educational background in the fields of secondary, elementary and special education, community libraries, speech and dramatic art, school building planning, physical education and audio-visual education.

High school administrative officers may register for two semester hours credit during the two-week course.

Recreation Playground Program Starts Monday

The Iowa City playground and recreation commission's 10-week general playground program will start next Monday with registration and organization of various team groups, J. Edgar Frame, recreation center director announced today.

Playground leadership will be under Tom Lind, Ralph Tucker, and Mrs. Ray Fitcher. Playgrounds will open at 1 p. m. Mondays through Fridays.

Regular weekly events will start Monday, June 24, including softball league schedules Tuesdays and Thursdays; social night with movies and dancing from 8:30 till 11 p. m. Wednesdays; and playground tournaments on Fridays. Other weekly events will be hiking trips, story telling for children, boat building and plans and training for future events.

Weekly main events include a pet and hobby show the second week of the program, with a doll show the following week.

A miniature aircraft show is scheduled the fourth week and a doll show for young girls the week of June 15 to 19.

Wading pool contest, sandbox modeling contest for young children, and boat sailing contest will follow weekly in that order.

The ninth week will have the completion of softball and other tournaments, plus a physical fitness contest.

During the last week of the program a playground track meet and award giving program will be featured.

Firemen Extinguish Three Blazes Sunday Local firemen extinguished three fires Sunday.

Trash paper was discovered burning near a cellar window on the east side of McNamara's furniture store about 8:30 p. m.

J. Jordan Receives School of Journalism Instructor's Position

James Jordan, university alumnus and former editor of the University News bulletin, has been appointed an instructor in the school of journalism, Prof. Wilbur Schramm, director of the school of journalism, said yesterday.

Taking over his position tomorrow the first day of the summer session, Jordan will specialize in law of the press and communication law, Professor Schramm said.

After receiving a B. A. degree at Iowa State Teachers college in 1939, Jordan came to the University of Iowa and was awarded a J. D. degree in 1943. While at the University, he was assistant to Prof. Mott, then director of the school of journalism, in a magazine writing class for one year.

Editor of the University News bulletin, 1942-43, he was staff correspondent to the Des Moines Register, 1939-43 and sports correspondent to the Chicago Sun, 1942-43.

Entering the army in May, 1943, Jordan served in the army security and counter intelligence division until his discharge in April.

Engineers to Inspect Hydraulics Laboratory

Research Conference Enters Second day; Papers to Be Read

An inspection of the Iowa Hydraulics laboratory and the reading of papers by seven engineers will highlight the second day of a three-day national conference of 250 engineers, sponsored by the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research, according to Prof. Hunter Rouse, institute director.

"Air-flow Phenomena in Hydraulics" will be the general subject of this morning's session at university theatre, Prof. H. O. Croft, head of the university mechanical engineering department, will preside.

Papers to be read at the session include: "Relationship of Meteorology to Engineering Hydrology" by Prof. C. G. Rossby of the University of Chicago; "The Use of Low Velocity Air Tunnel in Hydraulic Research" by Professor Rouse and "Problems of Aero Dynamic and Hydraulic Stability" by Dr. D. B. Steinman, consultant engineer of New York City.

Afternoon Session General title of the afternoon session will be "Advancements in the Study of Under Water Phenomena" with Dean K. E. Schoenherr of Notre Dame university department of engineering serving as chairman.

Speeches include "The Water Tunnel as a Tool in Hydraulic Design" by Dr. J. W. Daily of the California Institute of Technology and "Pressure Distribution and Cavitation on Submerged Boundaries" by Dr. J. S. McNown, research engineer of the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research.

From 4 to 6 p. m. today, the group will inspect the hydraulic laboratory.

"Hydraulic Transmission of Power" will be the title of the evening session, to be held at 7:30 in the River room of Iowa Union. Howard Fields Jr., engineering consultant of Los Angeles, Calif., will be the speaker, with Dr. McNown presiding.

Yesterday's Meetings B. A. Bakhmeteff of the University of Colorado was chairman of the opening session yesterday. After a welcome by Dean F. M. Dawson of the college of engineering, papers were presented by G. A. Hathaway, special assistant to the chief of engineering, U. S. army, and Capt. H. E. Saunders, technical director of the David Taylor Model basin of the U. S. navy.

Their keynote papers considered, "Peace-time Utilization of War Experience in Hydraulic Engineering."

The entire group of 250 was served lunch at Iowa Union. In the afternoon session, L. A. Jones of the soil conservation service presided. Papers were presented by H. S. Bell of the California Institute of Technology; S. W. Grinnell of Stanford university and J. C. Stevens, consulting engineer of Portland, Ore.

Wives Entertained Wives of conference guests attended a tea at the home of Professor and Mrs. Rouse yesterday afternoon. Assisting Mrs. Rouse were Mrs. F. M. Dawson, Mrs. J. W. Howe, Mrs. C. J. Posey, Mrs. J. S. McNown and Mrs. M. L. Albertson.

Senior members of the institute staff entertained speakers, session chairman and their wives at a dinner at the Iowa City Country club last night.

Dr. Rossby spoke on his experiences in Russia while on a meteorological expedition; Bell addressed the group on "Life among the Navajo Indians"; Captain Saunders spoke on his experiences in Washington in making maps for the first and second Byrd Antarctic expeditions, and Dr. W. E. Winther, director of the U. S. Geological survey, told of a trip to the Arabian oil fields.

VETERANS REGISTER

VETERANS JUST BACK from war service registered for classes in the university's first postwar summer session at Iowa Union yesterday. In the first of a two-day registration period for new students. Although registration was light yesterday, a larger enrollment is expected tomorrow, when new freshmen, who were scheduled for examinations all day yesterday and this morning, will be free to register.

Council, University Committees To Probe Parking Meter Plan

Petition for Electrical Sub-Station Referred To Adjustment Board

Mayor Wilbur J. Teeters last night assigned the city council parking committee to serve jointly with a special university engineering committee to determine the most reliable parking meter on the market.

In answer to a query by Dan Dutcher, chairman of the community parking committee, Mayor Teeters said the university engineering department will submit various kinds of meters to rigid tests.

Information will be obtained from cities with parking meters installed, he added, as to the performance given by the kinds they are using.

The report of a special investigation on parking meters being made in Newark, N. J., will also be studied.

Dutcher stressed the need for early installation of meters to provide funds for purchase of off-street parking space.

Petition for Sub-station A petition by the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company to install another electrical sub-station at 103 Woolf avenue was referred to the board of adjustment for investigation, as requested by the company.

Resolutions proposing installation of several sewers were adopted July 8 was established as the day objections should be filed with the city clerk.

The proposed sewers will be installed by the city.

Dr. Rossby spoke on his experiences in Russia while on a meteorological expedition; Bell addressed the group on "Life among the Navajo Indians"; Captain Saunders spoke on his experiences in Washington in making maps for the first and second Byrd Antarctic expeditions, and Dr. W. E. Winther, director of the U. S. Geological survey, told of a trip to the Arabian oil fields.

Ed Knoedel, fireman, reported on the 22nd Annual Iowa Fire school at Ames. Knoedel and William Vorbrich attended the school from May 21 to May 24.

Police Chief Ollie White reported the sale of the Chevrolet squad car to W. L. Schultz for $900. This amount was applied to the $1,468 purchase price of a 1946 Nash sedan squad car.

Now, if These Are Just the Right Size—

Someone's feet are feeling either better or worse as result of a robbery police reported to have occurred in Iowa City sometime last weekend.

A pair of shoes was taken from the Putnam Welding Machine shop, 319 S. Gilbert street, and a battered, worn pair left in exchange. A watch is also missing.

The glass of the door was broken to gain entrance.

Local Legion Post Nominates Officers For July Elections

Nominations of officers for the coming year were made at a meeting of the Roy L. Chopek post No. 17 of the American Legion last night. The election will be held July 8.

The following were nominated for the post of commander: Harry Graham, Carl Redenbaugh, William Bartley, Burnell Horrabinn, Herb Cormack and Clair Hamilton.

Nominations for first vice-commander included Harold Monk, Glen Helmer, Emil Trott and Henry Kadgihn.

The new second vice-commander will be chosen from the following: Ben E. Summerwill, Jim Lacinia, William Morrison and Loyd Howell.

Adjutant and assistant adjutant nominees are: George Dane, Lewis Bissell and Nate Kendall.

The choice of chaplain will be made between John Fielding and Dr. William Ward.

Four men were nominated to the finance officer post. They are: Bill Summerwill, Delmer Sample, Lester Bock and Roy Todd.

Gordon Dinsmore, Lou Clark and William Hart are nominees for the office of historian.

Two members of the following group will be elected to the executive committee: DeWayne Doerres, Henry Kadgihn, Clair Hamilton, Clem Shay, Bill Hughes, Floyd Howell, Fred Johnson and Ben Bender.

Miss Hutchinson Rites Scheduled for Today

Funeral services for Miss Ada F. Hutchinson, 78, will be held at 2:30 p. m. today at the Hohenschuh mortuary, Dr. M. Willard Lampe, head of the university's school of religion, officiating.

Miss Hutchinson died in her sleep at her home at 11 E. Davenport street Sunday morning, just a day after entertaining members of her university graduating class of 1891, in observance of the 55th reunion.

Miss Hutchinson was born in Iowa City May 19, 1868, and is the last surviving of the 12 children born to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hutchinson, pioneer Iowa Citizens.

There are no surviving relatives in this vicinity.

Burial will be in Oakland cemetery.

Summer Art Exhibit To Show 160 Works

Contemporary Display Selected by Longman Scheduled for Sunday

The summer exhibition of contemporary art, a major feature of the university annual Fine Arts festival, will open Sunday at Iowa Union and the art building and will continue through July 31. The exhibition will include 160 drawings, paintings and prints, drawn from private collections, artists' studios and 34 galleries.

Works to be exhibited were selected by Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the art department. A jury of critics and artists has again selected 12 paintings from which the university will make purchases according to its resources, according to Dr. Earl E. Harper, director of the school of fine arts.

The jury for this year included: Professor Longman; Prof. H. W. Janson of Washington university, St. Louis, Mo., and Paul Parker, director of the Des Moines art center.

Judges Selections Pictures selected by the judges are "Arch Hotel" by Stuart Davis, "Triptych-Carnival" by Max Beckmann, "The Feelings" by Matta Jittering, "Abundant Treasures" by Yasuo Kuniyoshi, "Black Wall" by James Lechay, "Time in Space" by Mauricio Lasansky, "Self Portrait" by Joseph De Martini.

"Dancers with Ropes" by Rusino Tamayo, "Les Ploujeurs, Rouge et Noir" by Fernand Leger, "Adoration of the Magi" by David Aronson, "Mother and Child" by Max Weber and "Mer Close, Monde Ouvert" by Yves Tanguy.

Ten university faculty members are represented in the exhibit.

Most of the pictures in the exhibition are for sale and price lists are available, Dr. Harper said. Educational institutions, art museums and private collectors will find the show a convenient occasion to make purchases from works of art carefully selected from a much larger number which were given critical consideration.

Progressive Painting "The Iowa Summer Show" presents each year a cross section of progressive American painting," Professor Longman explained.

"This time a few European artists and a section of prints and drawings are included. Sculpture will be shown as soon as the technical problems of transportation and installation can be solved."

In the 1945 show, 120 paintings were exhibited. Success of the 1945 exhibition prompted expansion for 1946.

Stroke Fatal To J. Lambert

Dr. John J. Lambert, 75, a former instructor in the college of medicine and a resident of Iowa City from 1897 to 1926, died at Santa Monica, Calif., Saturday following a stroke. He was the brother of Prof. Byron J. Lambert of the college of engineering.

Dr. Lambert received a B.S. degree from the university in 1899 and a M.S. degree in 1900. He was appointed an instructor in morphology and was awarded a medical degree at the university in 1904.

After serving as an instructor in histology and anatomy in the college of medicine from 1904 until 1925, he resigned to become resident physician at the private mental hospital in Katonah, N.Y., operated by his brother, Dr. Charles Lambert. He retired in 1937 and since then had lived in Santa Monica.

Dr. Lambert had requested that his body be cremated. Funeral services will be held today in Santa Monica, Calif.

Stover Funeral Rites To Be Held Today

Private funeral services for Jacob G. Stover, 80, 14 W. Harrison street, will be held in the Oathout funeral chapel at 2:30 p. m. today, with Dr. L. L. Dunnington officiating.

Mr. Stover died at his home at 6:30 p. m. Sunday after an extended illness.

He is survived by six daughters, three sons, two sisters and one brother. Eighteen grandchildren and eight great grandchildren are living.

Burial will be in the Groat cemetery.

Baptist Women to Sew Group I (Mrs. Blake) and group II (Mrs. Yoder) will meet jointly at the Baptist church tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. to sew for the White Cross. Members are to bring needles, thimbles and old sheets.

The station can be solved."

In the 1945 show, 120 paintings were exhibited. Success of the 1945 exhibition prompted expansion for 1946.
