GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Mindful of a wee slip in predicting good weather for yesterday, the weatherman crawls out on the limb again and says today will be fair and warmer.

Truman Offers Service Merger Plan

Program Provides for Single National Defense Department

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman proposed to congress yesterday a 12-point program for unification of the armed services which he said had his "unqualified endorsement" and the support of the army and navy.

In a move to compose army-navy differences, he sent identical letters to the senate and house military and naval committee chairmen proposing:

Creation of a single department of national defense headed by one secretary of cabinet rank; parity for the air forces under a non-cabinet "secretary" ranking alongside the civilian heads of the sea and land forces; creation of a council of national defense and of a national security resources board along with several other new defense agencies.

Lists Principles

As "twelve basic principles upon which the unification of the services can be based" the president listed:

1. A single department of national defense, headed by a civilian cabinet member. Under him would be secretaries for the army, for the navy and for air-navy cabinet members. They would serve, however, on the council of common defense.
2. The army, navy and air force to be on a parity and should coordinate services.
3. The air force to have responsibility for development, procurement, maintenance and operation of all military air resources except for specifically defined functions of the naval air arm.
4. The marine corps to be maintained as a constituent part of the naval service with its own supporting aircraft.
5. The council of national defense would "integrate our foreign and military policies and provide for more effective cooperation among government agencies on defense matters." Members would include the secretary of state, the civilian head of the military establishment, the civilian heads of the military services and the chairman of a proposed national security resources board.
6. The resources board would be under the council and include representatives of government agencies other than the military.
7. The joint chiefs of staff would formulate strategic plans, integrate military programs, recommend integration of military budgets and provide for strategic direction of all the military forces.
8. On the issue of a single military chief of staff, the president reported the war department was willing to omit the feature.
9. The central intelligence agency would operate under the defense council.
10. On procurement and supply, Mr. Truman said there should be an agency to prevent wasteful competition through joint planning and coordination.
11. An agency would coordinate scientific research and development of the military services.
12. A new agency was proposed to review periodically systems of education and training of personnel of the services and integrate them.

Case Bill Sponsors Quit Fight; To Back Truman's Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Backers of the vetoed Case labor disputes bill reported yesterday they have called off their fight to revive the controversial measure until probably next year.

They said they will work instead for passage of a modified version of President Truman's emergency strike control legislation, which would give him power to take over essential strike-bound industries.

Added to the presidential proposal, they said, will be only such sections of the Case plan as the chief executive indicates he will accept. At present they have no assurance he will agree to any such addition.

Opponents of the far-reaching Case measure held the decision of its sponsor to withhold their fight for a while as "a smashing victory" in congress for Mr. Truman in his fight over the hotly debated bill.

This interpretation of the move, which came from Rep. Bismiller (D., Wis.) and others who fought the case legislation, was promptly disputed by its backers.

Butter Prices Raised

WASHINGTON (AP)—An OPA official said last night that retail price increases of 11 cents a pound for butter and six cents a pound for cheddar cheese will become effective tomorrow.

The higher prices were authorized May 29 by Stabilization Director Chester Bowles, who attributed the dairy product price increases to higher grain costs and "apparent congressional determination to slash food subsidies."

Baruch Present Atomic Control Plan

BERNARD M. BARUCH (left) confers with United Nations Secretary-General Trygve Lie at the first session of the United Nations atomic energy commission in New York, where Baruch presented the United States' offer to destroy its own store of atomic bomb; and stop manufacturing them if adequate control of atomic energy is established.

Secretary Anderson Says Rationing Return Unnecessary to Save People From Famine

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Anderson declared last night he does not believe a return to consumer rationing will be necessary to save people in other lands from starvation in the year ahead.

He said the United States no longer has the machinery for enforcing rationing and he doubts "congress will wish to set it up again, at this point."

Flour Distribution Cut

The government is developing, the secretary said, "a simpler form of rationing nearer the source—rationing of wheat and other short supplies to processors and distributors." As an example, he cited an agriculture department order equipping millers to cut their distribution of flour for domestic consumption 25 percent from last year's level.

Anderson gave this view in a report prepared for a National Broadcasting company program entitled "Can famine be prevented?" Sir John Boyd Orr, director-general of the United Nations food and agriculture organization, also took part.

Limit Grain for Industries

Sir John, like Anderson, expressed belief that famine can be prevented during the year ahead.

Use of Fibre-Board Aided Spread of Fire

DES MOINES (AP)—The "flash" nature of the fire at Hotel Canfield, Dubuque, a week ago was caused by the use of fibre-board on walls and ceiling, John Strohm, state fire marshal, said yesterday.

Fibre-board has been used in the redecorating of "many other" Iowa hotels, theaters, bowling alleys, taverns, cocktail bars, dance halls "and other places of public assembly," Strohm added.

He said at such places fire danger of flames and loss of lives if fire gets started in them. Nineteen persons lost their lives in the Hotel Canfield blaze.

"If it had been a natural fire, all persons in the hotel could have gone into the halls and out the normal exits," said H. J. Corcoran, engineer for the Iowa insurance service bureau.

Instead, the flames swept across the walls and ceilings "like water dumped from a bucket spreads across the floor," he added.

Man Sets Booby Trap, Waits Several Months

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP)—A 52-year-old machinist admitted he rigged a dynamite booby trap at night in the electrical control room at a furniture factory and waited several months until J. Russel Smith, plant electrician, threw the switch that would blast him to death, commonwealth's attorney W. R. Broadus Jr. said yesterday.

A. J. Gusler admitted he set the trap that killed Smith, the prosecutor said, and asserted that Smith told him some months ago he "would either kill me or run me out of town." Gusler was charged with murder.

Hill Becomes NEA President

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP)—Delegates to the 1st annual convention of the Newspaper Editorial Association officially closed their meeting yesterday with election of officers.

Fred W. Hill of the Hamburg, Iowa, Reporter, was elected president. He had served during the past year as NEA vice president.

This latest honor is only one of several Hill has received in 40 years as a small town newspaperman. Thirty-nine of those years have been spent in Hamburg (population 2,187) where he came in 1907 as editor and publisher of the old Hamburg Democrat.

One of the high points in Hill's publishing career came in 1939 when he was awarded the National Editorial Association's national outstanding community service plaque.

Accomplishments on which the award was based included the creation of Hamburg's annual peony festival, leadership in conversion of a local swamp into a ball park and playground, and founding of the Hamburg fair and fairgrounds.

Uncover Gun Cache

PARIS (AP)—The ministry of the interior said last night in a communique that apparently an international traffic in arms crossing France had been uncovered with the finding of 40 tons of guns and ammunition in a chateau near Bordeaux.

Maritime Committee To Start Strike Fund

Plan to Accumulate $2-Million Before Next Negotiations Sept. 30

WASHINGTON (AP)—The CIO-supported committee for maritime unity, with one dock strike just averted, announced last night plans for a $2,000,000 "strike fund" and for world-wide meetings in preparation for new contract negotiations Sept. 30.

The CMU, headed by Harry Bridges and Joseph Curran as co-chairmen, disclosed plans for "joint conferences with the maritime unions of other nations."

This indication of future labor front difficulties came as peace was just returning to the nation's waterfronts. The labor department was viewing the strike outlook, with Friday night's maritime dispute settlement as background, as the best in months.

Give $5 Each

Louis Goldblatt, CMU secretary, announced that the CMU executive committee had voted—on the heels of the settlement—to build a $1,000,000 strike fund. The more than 200,000 seamen and dock worker members of CMU's seven component unions, he said, will contribute $5 for this fund.

CMU sources said an additional $1,000,000 would be raised from contributions from outside unions and from subscriptions from CMU unionists beyond their $5 apiece.

Situation Brighter

Before the CMU made its ominous announcement of future plans the capital had looked at the labor situation with fresh optimism.

There wasn't a single strike of any description still going on a nation-wide scale. But several of lesser scope still defied settlement.

Among them were:

- Long-standing strikes at nine midwestern plants of the Allis-Chalmers and J. I. Case farm equipment manufacturing concerns, the 45-day walkout of 1,500 workers at the Columbia Chemical division of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company at Barberton, Ohio, and the strike of 6,700 CIO Auto workers at three New Jersey and Pennsylvania plants of the Mack truck company.

All told, the latest labor department count showed 311 strikes still in progress and 143,000 people idle—low figures in comparison with those of some of the past turbulent weeks of 1946.

Colonel, WAC Ask Release

WASHINGTON (AP)—An army colonel and his WAC wife, held in the Kronberg castle jewels case, asserted yesterday that they had admitted nothing "which they considered criminal" and demanded that the war department release them or state its charges, "if any."

Held at an undisclosed army post not far from Washington, the couple, Col. Jack W. Durant and Capt. Kathleen E. Nash Durant, issued a statement through counsel assigned them by the military.

They were taken into custody a week ago at Chicago while on their honeymoon after the war department had begun an investigation into the disappearance of approximately $1,500,000 in jewels and other relics from a German castle at which the army said both had been stationed.

War department officials said part of the missing gems were located at Hudson, Wis., and that most of the rest were found in a Chicago railway station locker after Colonel Durant had furnished officers with the key.

Fred Rose Convicted Of Conspiracy Charge

MONTREAL (AP)—Fred Rose, only Communist member of the Canadian parliament, was convicted last night on a charge of conspiring to communicate wartime secrets to Russia through a Moscow-directed espionage network.

A king's bench jury deliberated only 31 minutes before reaching a verdict in the three-week case.

The court will sentence Rose next Thursday. He is liable to a maximum prison term of seven years.

Wallace Blasts Housing Lobby

By GENE GOODWIN
Editor, The Daily Iowan

DES MOINES (Special)—Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace last night pointed an accusing finger at the "lobbyists of greed" who are "distorting and undermining" the federal housing program.

Wallace spoke to some 1,500 delegates attending the first national convention of the American Veterans Committee.

As the secretary of commerce, concluded his speech here last night, the AVC delegates rose en masse to applaud and there many shouts of "Wallace for president in '48."

"You have seen these lobbyists heeding the beck and call of the real estate speculators . . . and how they have diverted critical building materials from a hospital or a housing project to build a race track," Wallace stated.

To critics who said that federal housing projects are bad business, that slums are inevitable or that such projects are communistic, Wallace answered, "The projects are paying off."

We find the benefits of simple things like gardens and playgrounds and plenty of sunlight. We find that the poor did not take their slums with them. And we find a decrease in juvenile delinquency, crime and disease in every area in which you find such housing projects."

Concerning the race problem, Wallace was strong in his denunciation of discrimination on the job and at the polls. "The one as much a part of our economic insecurity as the other is a part of our political insecurity," he said.

The Secretary of Commerce spoke on a forum with Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers union, and N. L. McCarthy, executive director of the New Council of American business.

Reuther told the AVC delegates that "to win the war we have to learn to kill people; now in order to win the peace we have to learn to live with people which is much more difficult."

Reuther too plugged for housing projects. "Something's wrong somewhere when a nation can afford to spend billions of dollars to blow up houses and almost nothing to build them," he said.

He suggested that idle war factories be utilized to turn out houses by the mass production process used in the automobile industry. "If free enterprise won't build houses," Reuther declared, "I'd like to see the veterans—the ones who need them most—start a producers cooperative and manufacture houses themselves."

Hits N. A. M.

McCarthy lashed out at the National Association of Manufacturers for falsely representing business in its fight to "massacre" price control. "The only people, it seems who paid any attention

Molotov Agrees to Add Austria To Foreign Ministers Agenda

PARIS (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov agreed yesterday to add Austria to the foreign ministers conference agenda, then insisted that the Italian political situation be watched to prevent a regrowth of fascism into full scale civil war, American and British informants said.

In a sudden and surprising concession as the ministers reopened their discussions on peace treaties with former enemy states, Molotov reversed Soviet policy as expressed throughout sessions last month and consented to study Austria as "a problem."

Molotov objected to confining the Austrian question to the American-sponsored draft treaty which Washington had circulated among the other powers—France, Russia and Britain.

Refuse to Let Yanks Appear for Mihailovic

BELGRADE (AP)—A defense request that American aviators be permitted to testify for Gen. Draja Mihailovic was refused by the military court yesterday after the bearded Chetnik leader himself declared he did not agree "in principle" with such a move.

Mihailovic also repudiated his testimony Friday admitting collaboration, telling the court yesterday "I never collaborated with the enemy." That means agreement with the enemy. That was never.

He said he was exhausted when he answered "yes" to questions put to him by the prosecutor the day before.

In an oral decision denying the request to summon the American witnesses, the president of the court trying Mihailovic on charges of treason and collaboration said: "We have many documents and witnesses from our country and witnesses are not needed from foreign lands."

The court president asserted that men who were in Yugoslavia only a short time would not be as valuable witnesses as those who knew the situation thoroughly.

The decision was not a surprise, since the Yugoslav government previously had turned down a request that Americans be permitted to testify as to the anti-Nazi attitude of Mihailovic.

Asks Time

Under court questioning Mihailovic said he would "like time to consider" the proposal, but the court replied "This is a matter which does not need reflection. Do you agree that these witnesses shall appear or not?"

"In principle I do not agree with the proposal," Mihailovic answered.

Later he declared that the prosecutor "used this opportunity to attack me. He should understand these men could bring much in my defense, but in principle I do not agree."

Yugoslav Repudiates Testimony Admitting To Collaboration

United States Secretary of State James F. Byrnes replied that the United States had no objection if events really justified such action, but added that official information available to the United States showed that the Italian government now had the situation in hand and was successfully upholding the republic, "American sources said."

The suggestion to place Austria on the agenda as a "simple problem" was made by the French, and Molotov concurred.

The ministers met for two and a half hours in their initial session, then adjourned until tomorrow.

Tension in Manchuria Eases; Communists Report New Truce

NANKING (AP)—Diminishing strife in Manchuria and further relaxation of tension in strategic Tsingtao were reported yesterday as Communists here announced the signing of a new truce—implementation agreement described as a "step toward a permanent cease-fire" in the northeast.

Communist headquarters said the new pact concerned establishment of the advance section of executive (Sino-American truce) headquarters in Changchun, Manchurian capital, and the assignment of field (truce) teams in various areas of the vast northeast territory. It was signed, the Communist spokesman said, by United States General Marshall, Communist Negotiator Chou En-Lai and Government Representative Gen. Hsu Yung-Chang.

Meanwhile, Associated Press Correspondent Tom Masterson, in a dispatch from Peiping, reported Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's Manchurian field commander as saying that serious clashes between government forces and Communists there had ceased.

New Luzon Clashes Claim Fifteen Deaths

CABANATUAN, Luzon (AP)—While President Manuel Roxas' newly-appointed agrarian commission met here yesterday in an attempt to discover the cause and remedy for central Luzon's prolonged civil unrest, new reports of armed clashes were received—with 15 more peasants dead and five wounded.

Battles between anti-Roxas Hukbalahap guerrillas, civil guards and rival Usafie guerrillas at the villages of San Felipe, Kabaulhan and Camadag—all within 25 miles of the provincial capital—were reported by Governor Isabelo Casteneda.

He said municipal authorities reported 11 Huks slain at San Felipe. Three were killed, Casteneda declared, in a four-hour clash after 150 Huks burned a number of houses.

Further subsidies and more government participation—then these things we must have," he declared.

Warning that lasting world peace cannot be achieved through such labels as "pro-British or pro-Russian," Secretary Wallace said that "Seeking security where it is to be found. We can only be proud nations."

"If we have any role to play, any destiny to fulfill, it is the role and the destiny of being a great people and a great nation without any axes to grind and without any coalitions to influence us," he asserted.

Asserting that "removal of price controls would inevitably bring the disastrous consequences of boom, bust and chaos," Wallace pointed to the terrifying effects of inflation in China, Greece and other countries.

He urged that the employment act of 1946, passed by the present congress and which "is only a basic declaration of policy" be implemented with the tools to carry out its purposes. In addition . . . must fight for better health and better education for all—and social security for all—just as we have fought for better housing for all. And we must fight for a minimum wage law just as hard as we fight for the conservation and development of all our natural resources."

Concerning the race problem, Wallace was strong in his denunciation of discrimination on the job and at the polls. "The one as much a part of our economic insecurity as the other is a part of our political insecurity," he said.

The Secretary of Commerce spoke on a forum with Walter Reuther, president of the CIO United Auto Workers union, and N. L. McCarthy, executive director to NAM's advertisements were our congressmen."

Meanwhile the youthful World War Two Veteran's Group, which now claims 60,000 members and wants a million, discussed and decided several critical issues yesterday:

Rejects Bonus

1. It unanimously rejected a resolution from one of the Brooklyn, N.Y., chapters proposing that AVC fight for a federal bonus for veterans of World War II. The AVC thus becomes the only veterans organization to publicly denounce a bonus.
2. It adopted its first constitution, limiting its membership to World War II veterans and American citizens who served with the merchant marine or the armed forces of any other United Nation.
3. It discussed and voted on a domestic affairs platform which includes: a minimum wage law of 75 cents an hour; opposition to any form of compulsory arbitration, the use of armed forces in labor disputes, and any procedures crippling the laws of protecting labor against injunctions; recommendation that union leaders exercise their responsibility by promoting efficiency and an ever-increasing production of goods to provide an adequate standard of living for all; opposition to "Jim Crow" laws, anti-Nisei restrictions and all other forms of racial discrimination; and a strong policy of price and rent control.

International Platform

It discussed and voted on an international affairs platform which includes: creation of a league of the Big Three is essential to a strong UN; UN control of atomic energy and all other armaments; creation of a world armed force; immediate restoration of rationing; immediate entry into Palestine.

Wallace Blasts Housing Lobby

SIoux CITY (AP)—A plea for unity among the nation's various veterans organizations was made here yesterday by Joseph M. Stack, national commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Speaking at the Iowa VFW's 25th anniversary convention banquet at the Shrine Temple, Commander Stack warned that "anti-veteran elements will make good use of the principle of 'divide and rule' in campaigns against groups of former servicemen."

"In the past elements hostile to veterans have succeeded in dividing veterans among themselves on important issues which affect either veteran welfare or the betterment of the country as a whole," Commander Stack said.

Recalling the prolonged battle over the bonus question after World War I, he declared: "For 12 long years, the question of cash payment of the bonus was brought before each session of congress and for 12 long years politicians and anti-veteran groups were able to put off the settlement of the question because the veteran groups were divided."

Editorial:

Now Housewives Want Collective Bargaining

Dr. Edith Summerskill is an English woman physician and member of parliament. She has a hatful of energetic and advanced ideas about the future position of women, at which some incautious souls are inclined to poke fun. It would be far safer to make a joke of the atomic bomb.

Dr. Summerskill says the housewife should be paid a regular government salary. While she speaks and agitates primarily for British housewifedom, the doctor has no doubt that her message has world-wide scope.

In establishing her housewives' movement, the intrepid Dr. Summerskill has organized and presides over the "Married Women's Association." This apparently harmless organization is really a powerful trade union of housewives, and unless counterchecks are put into immediate effect, it may make its stealthy influence felt in every country of the now civilized world.

The possibilities of such a union are terrifying. A railroad strike may paralyze industry, destroy trade and bring starvation; a coal strike may cause economic disaster, followed by hunger and disease. But a strike of women could bring on the twilight of civilization more quickly than anything except possibly an abrupt cutoff of the world's oxygen supply.

Imagine the entire nation of men going home one evening to find their wives on strike—dinner uncooked and the baby yelling for assistance. Within fifteen minutes, national morale would plunge to an unprecedented depth.

Many men would rush to the corner bar for solace, but the bartender would have abandoned his post. His wife would be picketing somewhere, and the barman would be vainly trying to attach a safty pin to his offspring's garments.

A second group of men would go promptly to hotels downtown. There they would find the nation's bachelors barricaded, scared to death and refusing to give aid to either side of the controversy.

Still other men would turn bravely to the tasks abandoned by their wives; getting dinner and attempting to supervise the children at the same time. On one hour and forty-seven minutes this group would be reduced to sobbing, pitiable wrecks. A wave of suicides would probably follow.

Capitulation by the nation's men would be rapid. Such a strike could not be allowed to continue for a day's time, or even overnight.

The result would be, of course, that women would obtain whatever terms they asked. A global matriarchy would develop, and history's final, destructive war would be declared within a few weeks, as the result of a quarrel over the official international skirt length.

Of Cabbages and Kings

By LAWRENCE DENNIS

(Notes on the AVC convention) "What we want at home is a workable way of security and abundance between all groups in our social-economic life."

They know Harold Stassen is right in his conviction that "national sovereignty is just as out of date as the divine right of kings." And they intend to heed Col. Evans Carlson's challenge "Let us liberate ourselves from the tyranny of words and be known by our deeds."

DENNIS

There are factions and groups, as there are at all conventions, and as there were in all the fox-holes and ship's quarters. The boys from California still think that the Garden of Eden was originally located halfway between L. A. and Frisco. Midwesterners still resent being thought of as a bit more conservative. And the east coast delegates get a big kick out of new stage hits and first-run movies. But the pledges, the ideals and objectives give them all an inspiring common denominator.

I've had a chance to meet some of the men who are respected, dynamic leaders in their various fields. Michael Straight, editor of the New Republic, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., the AVC's housing director; Cord Meyer Jr., the Harvard graduate student whose world government articles in the Atlantic and elsewhere have won him nationwide acclaim; Merle Miller, the former S. U. I. boy who used to tell us about the dangers of fascism when we thought it was just another crazy European mixup; Oren Root Jr., the young Indian who launched the Young Willkie clubs in 1940; Robert Nathan, the Washington economist who was largely responsible for the war production board's initial success.

America's Symbols Talking with these men, and hearing such outstanding liberal spokesmen as Wallace, Stassen, Walter Reuther, Congressman Mike Monroney (D., Okla.) and Senator Wayne Morse (R., Ore.), has given me the answer I sought. Independent organization throughout the nation, as well as the AVC, have dedicated themselves to elevating men of such stature to public office. They are the symbols of America's future.

Don't let the cynics or diehard fool you. When the barber's associations, the NAM, the Rankins, the Tafts and the big-name commencement speakers tell you that the status quo mustn't be upset; that, in order to be "safe from subversive influences," America must turn back the clock to its "traditional way of life," that there will always be wars because men are by nature greedy and lacking in respect for their fellows; that the "minority problem" is primarily a local affair—look them straight in the eye and tell them to peddle that stuff to Warren G. Harding.

Des Moines is quite surprised. There have been no water-filled sacks dropping from upper floor windows; no horseplay on the sidewalks; no missing forks and spoons. As one local newspaper vendor put it, "All these boys do is sit around and talk politics."

There is a serious quality, a sincerity of purpose, dominating the whole convention. "Talking politics" is only part of it; these boys want to build, as citizens, a national and international structure which will provide them peace, jobs and freedom.

One World or None They are all here because they believe, as Bishop Shiel of Chicago expressed it when he opened proceedings on Friday, that "we shall have one world or no world at all." They are convinced along with Henry Wallace that would have to report on safety rules and on airports. For the FAO they would have to report on food production and consumption.

United States trade experts make this guess: Russian isolationism will break first on trade.

Her reconstruction program is so great she will, for the first time under Soviet rule, have to buy more than she sells. That may force her into the bank and fund. As she gets accustomed to dealing with other nations, membership in the other agencies may come later.

State department experts are less optimistic. They say it will take 20 years at least for capitalist countries to convince the Russian government that no invasion of Russia is planned and for Russia to bring her living standards up to the point where Russians won't wince when foreigners come in to look around.

AVC— (Continued from page 1) time of 100,000 Jews; a break in relations with the present government of Spain, and independence for Puerto Rico if that island wants it.

Big issue before the AVC delegates today is the election of its national and regional officers. Some observers here feel that the result of these elections will tell the "true character" of the organization.

Relection Assured The reelection of Charles G. Bolte, the present national chairman, is a foregone conclusion. The real fight is in the race for the vice chairman's position and the control in "placing" members on the national planning committee which supposedly goes with that position.

Frederick Borden, 36-year-old New Yorker, who is being accused of leading the left-wing drive to dominate AVC, withdrew his candidacy for the vice chairmanship late last night in favor of Norris Helford of Los Angeles. Some say

Looking Ahead

By the World Staff of the Associated Press

WASHINGTON—Watch for the justice department to file a flood of suits charging diversion of critical materials from government-approved housing projects.

A member of the cabinet will make a special trip to Europe for President Truman this summer. Georgia's Governor Ellis Arnall is a good bet to become solicitor general when J. Howard McGrath resigns to run for the senate from Rhode Island.

The Red Army WASHINGTON—Those who read between the lines here say there's good proof that Russia's peace-time army will be well below its war-time strength.

Pointing to the wheat she has been sending France, Poland and Czechoslovakia, they saw the only place Russia could have gotten that wheat this spring was out of stocks that had been held for the army.

Argentine Notes WASHINGTON—The United States may decide shortly to accept unconditionally an invitation to the inter-American foreign ministers' conference. Brazil is likely to schedule the conference soon for late summer.

If the United States does accept, it would mean she now considers that Argentina has fulfilled enough of her international obligations to warrant including her in the hemisphere military defense pact to be signed at Rio.

Foreign Briefs RIO DE JANEIRO—Brazilian youths will be required to take one year of military training under the new constitution which probably will be promulgated early in September.

COPENHAGEN—Danish medical factories, with one exception, have contracted to establish a giant factory to produce nothing but penicillin.

CANBERRA—The United States forces are paying up to $5,500 a year to civilian technicians recruited in Australia for work in the Philippines. Motor mechanics get about three times what they would in Australia.

Capital Briefs WASHINGTON—Postoffice officials expect congress to approve five-cent air mail but say it will take at least a month after that to get new stamps printed.

The Pacific ocean areas which the Japanese once closed to outside investigators will be the subject of extensive studies.

Four States Hold Primaries— Politics This Week

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gubernatorial and United States house candidacies will attract more than statewide attention in primaries this coming week—with the soldiers' bonus a big issue in Maine. Unlike the past week, when three United States senators were challenged for renomination, voters will renominate three widely known colleagues—Vandenberg, Brewster and Walsh—without opposition.

The men who will oppose these three legislators in the elections also will win nomination without challenge.

James H. Lee, former Detroit corporation counsel, is the lone candidate for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Michigan. He has CIO endorsement.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., 44 next month, who left a senate seat to serve in the army, is unopposed for the Republican nomination for the senate in Massachusetts.

Unopposed for the Democratic senatorial nomination in Maine is Peter M. MacDonald, 58, who recently retired as his party's state chairman.

The gubernatorial races in Maine and Michigan and scattered house contests are the chief drawing cards next week. Maine has its primaries tomorrow, Massachusetts and Michigan Tuesday. North Carolina holds a Democratic run-off for congress Saturday.

A house contest which will be of interest to national politicians is the effort of Emil Hurja, former party official, to win a Republican nomination in Michigan's upper peninsula.

Briefly, here are the principal contests in each state: —MAINE—

Republican Gov. Horace A. Hildreth, 43, is seeking a second two-year term. He has announced he would call a special session of the legislature after the primaries to consider the bonus question.

Hildreth says he wants the veterans to select their own plan and that the bonus should be kept "out of politics."

His sole opponent, Roy L. Ferndal, 44-year-old lawyer, favors a $500 bonus. He was defeated by Hildreth two years ago in his third futile quest for the nomination.

F. Davis Clark, 30-year-old lawyer and former army captain, is one of the Democratic gubernatorial candidates. He advocates a bonus, but no set figure. His opponent, State Senator Leland B. Currier, Lewiston lumber dealer, wants veterans paid $10 for each month in service, plus $5 for each month spent overseas.

The three incumbent Republican house members from Maine have no primary opposition, nor

Sigrid Arne Reports Soviets Suffer From Inferiority Complex

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia so far has joined only one of the five world agencies set up to help keep the peace.

She belongs to the United Nations. But she has given the brush-off to four organizations attempting to lay down specific rules for nations to get along together in trade and finance.

The Box-Score This is the score on Russia's co-operation: 1. She is a member of the United Nations and she attends the Big Four foreign ministers' debates. Both outfits are engaged in political problems.

2. She has refused to join either the international bank or the international fund, both designed to make it easier for nations to buy what they need. She was down for contributions of $1.2 billions to each. Right now both are getting along without the money and without Russian counsel.

3. She refused even to attend the conference called to set up organization in Chicago in November, 1944.

4. Now the international food and agriculture organization has met in Washington to set up plans for better feeding of the world. Russia attended the meetings which set up FAO in May, 1943, but since then has ignored the agency.

5. The United States now has invitations and for a world trade conference that it hopes will ease the cut-throat methods the trading nations sometimes use against each other. Russia is the only major power that has not accepted the invitation.

The big reason, experts believe, for the failure to cooperate is that the Russians still dislike the presence of foreigners in their country. Several of the international agencies ask for international inspector missions.

The Russians suffer from an inferiority complex so serious, these experts believe, that they won't want foreigners reporting that their living standards are below those of the other major powers.

Some Russians think, too, that every foreigner on Russian soil is a military spy.

Another main reason the Russians are staying out of international agencies, the Washington analysis believe, is that they don't like to disclose information. For the aviation organization they

Big issue before the AVC delegates today is the election of its national and regional officers. Some observers here feel that the result of these elections will tell the "true character" of the organization.

Relection Assured The reelection of Charles G. Bolte, the present national chairman, is a foregone conclusion. The real fight is in the race for the vice chairman's position and the control in "placing" members on the national planning committee which supposedly goes with that position.

Frederick Borden, 36-year-old New Yorker, who is being accused of leading the left-wing drive to dominate AVC, withdrew his candidacy for the vice chairmanship late last night in favor of Norris Helford of Los Angeles. Some say

Adult Education Association Head Advocates Large-Scale State Contributions to Program

Financial Support, Personnel Lacking, Alice V. Myers Says

A drive for large-scale state contributions to the adult education program was advocated yesterday morning by Miss Alice V. Myers, president of the Iowa Association for Adult Education on the final day of the association conference here.

Miss Myers pointed out that the nation-wide enrollment in adult education programs shows the importance and popularity of the field. Two main problems facing its proponents, she said, are lack of sufficient financial support and a shortage of skillful leaders.

Fees for individual courses could supplement the contributions, according to the association president. To secure more leaders for the program she suggested a recruiting and training program.

After Miss Myers' informal speech Forrest B. Spaulding, vice-president of the association, led a discussion on the problems faced in making the adult education program a success.

W. H. Stacy of Iowa State college presided over the last session of the conference, a forum on effective adult education programs in Iowa. Topics discussed included adult drivers' courses, rural discussion groups, club programs, conferences on family life, county libraries, and community planning.

German Novelist— Handles Youth's Problems —In Symbolic Works

SHOWN ABOVE with her daughter, Dr. Millette Gerhard, who is teaching this summer in the German department, is Mrs. Adele Gerhard, German novelist.

The problems and questions of youth are always the subject of the writings of Mrs. Adele Gerhard, German novelist, who is spending the summer in Iowa City with her daughter, Dr. Millette Gerhard, a teacher in the German department.

Born in Cologne, Germany, she has written of that community's development from the days when it was surrounded with stone walls. In one of her first novels, "The Story of Antonie van Heese," she depicted Cologne's progress up to the years just before the first world war.

Her first works were written in a realistic style, but since World War I she has used symbolic ideas for her theme. Two of her most important works, "Pfluger" meaning a plowman who prepares the earth for seeds, and "The Hand of God," a volume of short stories, are examples of this symbolism. Mrs. Gerhard says that her best works are those written in this style. She has also written her memoirs. Seven of her short stories have been translated into English and will be published soon, but none of her novels has been translated.

Mrs. Gerhard has been working for many years on "Gaia," a novel in two parts, the first about Germany and Europe and the second part about America. "I am delighted with America. The landscape is so very inspiring," she said, when speaking of "Gaia" which she is completing here.

Though Mrs. Gerhard came to America in the 1930's, she has had experiences with the Nazis. When she returned to Germany in 1939 to visit her husband's grave, it was necessary for her to obtain permission from the Gestapo before entering that country. Mr. Gerhard, her husband, was a Berlin lawyer.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Gerhard has one son, a professor of history at Washington university in St. Louis, Mo.

Three-Way Tie For National Open Crown

Even the Champs Dig Divots

Penalty Stroke Forces Nelson Into Tie With Ghezzi, Mangrum

CLEVELAND (AP)—A penalty shot charged against him when his caddy accidentally kicked the ball on the 13th fairway during the third round cost Byron Nelson the United States Open golf championship yesterday and sent him into a three-way play-off with Vic Ghezzi and Lloyd Mangrum for the first postwar title.

The three tournament veterans wound up the 72 hole medal play test with totals of 284—four under par for the Canterbury Golf club's exacting 6,926-yard layout. They will play off at 18 holes today at 8:30 a. m. (Central Standard Time). Nelson won the championship on the play-off at Philadelphia in 1939 when three deadlocked at 284.

After Nelson, Ghezzi and Mangrum had posted their final scores, Ben Hogan and Herman Barron needed only to par the last three holes to take over the lead by a stroke. Instead, Hogan lost a stroke to par at the 16th and 18th, and Barron was two over par for the last two holes. Hogan's finish for a par 72 and Barron's sub par 69 left them in a fourth place tie at 285.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, who was knocked out of the playoff for the 1940 championship, also at Canterbury, when he was disqualified for starting ahead of schedule, and Jimmy Demaret wound up in a tie for sixth place with 286. Oliver had final rounds of 74 and 70, and Demaret 73 and 68. Demaret shot the last nine holes of his final round in 33, three under par, as he had an eagle and two birdies in succession on the 13th, 14th and 15th holes.

Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kan., and Melvin (Chick) Harbert of Detroit finished in a tie for eighth place with aggregates of 287. Harbert's last two rounds of 67 and 70 earned him low scoring honors for the day. Metz shot a par 72 yesterday morning and had a second round of 69.

Lawson Little, who won the 1940 championship here, and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison of Chicago, finished with 289 in a three-way tie for 10th place. Little started the day with a 36-hole total of 141—the same as he had in 1940—but he took 76 in the morning and rallied to a 71 on the final round. Harrison had impressive last day rounds of 72 and 70.

They were followed by Henry Picard, Canterbury professional, and Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., who had closing rounds of 71-74 and 74-69, respectively, for totals of 289. Two strokes behind them at 291 were Tony Penna of Cincinnati, who was co-leader with Sam Sneed of the first round; Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Steve Kovach of Pittsburgh.

The scoring in the championship was the lowest ever recorded in a major tournament at Canterbury. The 1940 National open and the 1932 Western open were won with scores of 287, and the 1937 Western open was won with par 288. Nine players in this championship broke par and two equalled it, compared with the 1940 championship when only two players got under regulation figures and one equalled them.

William T. (Ted) Swenson, former coach and dean of men at the University of Iowa, has been named manager of the veterans administration southwestern Iowa contact office in Council Bluffs, according to an announcement released yesterday.

For nearly 10 years before the war, Swenson was employed at Iowa, where he graduated in 1926. He enlisted in the navy soon after war was declared and attained the grade of lieutenant commander in the personnel division. He was discharged last October.

Ted was a part of Iowa's great hurdling trio of years past, and was captain of the Hawkeye net team in his undergraduate days. He started his coaching at Scotts Bluffs, Neb., where he turned out a state championship football team. At Iowa, he assisted track coach George Bresnahan.

Ferris Defeated As White Sox Pound Boston

CHICAGO (AP)—Dave (Boo) Ferris suffered his first pitching defeat in 11 starts yesterday as the Chicago White Sox edged Boston's Red Sox, 7-6, for the Red Sox' third straight setback and their longest losing streak of the season.

The White Sox, blasting Ferris from the mound with four runs in the third inning, benefited from some able relief work by Bill Dietrich in the ninth to grab their fifth straight win. The Red Sox drove starter Joe Haynes from the mound during a 13-hit attack which included Bobby Doerr's eighth homer, and chased Ralph Hammer to the showers in the ninth to pick up their sixth marker.

Ferris, who yielded six hits before he quit in the third, was victimized particularly by outfielder Whitey Platt, who belted across three runs to raise his RBI total in two days running to nine.

Heusser Halts Boston Braves

BOSTON (AP)—Ed Heusser limited the Braves to six hits yesterday as he pitched the Cincinnati Reds to a 3-2 victory over the Tribe for his sixth victory of the season.

Except for the fourth inning, when the warriors bunched three hits for their two runs, Heusser was in complete control. After the two Boston runs, the Cincinnati flinger got the next 13 batters in a row and allowed only two hits over the last five innings.

Illinois Track Team Rolls to Victory In Milwaukee Meet

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Illinois' power-laden squad rolled up 67½ points last night to win the twenty-first annual Central Collegiate conference track and field title, and embellished a brilliant performance by having a hand in all of the record-breaking.

The Illini, winner of the Big Nine championship two weeks ago took the lead at the opening event, the 440-yard relay, and raced away from the field. Wisconsin and Michigan State college tied for second place with 22 points, with Marquette university, the host school with 19½.

Two records fell, the 440-yard and one mile relays, and the Illini did both jobs. In the shorter team test, Bill Mathis, George Walker, Jack Pierce and Illinois' great Jamaican star, Herb McKenley established a new meet standard of 41.6 seconds, nine-tenths of a second faster than the former mark set by Marquette in 1942.

With a running start, McKenley ran the anchor lap of the mile relay in 46.3 seconds to lead his team to a record 3:13.5 performance. Carl Ockert, Marc Gonzalez and Bob Rehberg helped him erase the old mark of 3 minutes, 16.6 by the Pittsburg, Kas., State teachers in 1933.

Dodgers Tame Chicago Cubs By 6-3 Score

BROOKLYN (AP)—After taking four straight lickings from the Chicago Cubs, the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers turned the tables on the Bruins yesterday by taming them 6-3 before a paid attendance of 27,171.

The triumph enabled the Dodgers to increase their first place margin to two and a half games over the runner-up St. Louis Cardinals who were walloped by the New York Giants. In losing, the third place Cubs dropped four full games off the pace.

Joe Hatten became the seventh straight Dodger starter to fail to go the distance when he walked himself out of the game in the second inning by forcing across the first Cub run with a base on balls to Don Johnson.

The Dodgers got back the first run in their half of the second on Carl Furillo's triple and an infield out, and forged ahead in the next frame when Cookie Lavagetto doubled in Casey and Eddie Stanky who had reached base on a walk and two-bagger, respectively.

Louis-Conn Title Bout Will End Five Year Wait

BILLY CONN

Gate Receipts Should Reach $3-Million

By SID FEDER
NEW YORK, (AP) — Carried along on the greatest gold rush in sports history, a couple of ex-GI's will keep a date Wednesday night that they made five years ago to fight it out for the heavyweight championship of the world.

At 8 p. m. (CST), in a ring set just over second base in the spacious reaches of Yankee stadium, former Sergeant Joseph Louis Barrow of Detroit — Joe Louis of the ear-scrambling set — collides with former Corporal William David Conn — Billy the Pittsburgh Kid — over the customary "15 rounds or less" derby route as sports' postwar champagne and cavier era reaches its crest.

It is just one day more than five years since they tangled the first time, in the Polo grounds, just across the Harlem river from the stadium. Realizing he needed a knockout to keep his champion-

Facts and Figures

Essential facts and figures on the Joe Louis-Billy Conn bout:

Title at Stake	World heavyweight championship
Principals	Champion Joe Louis of Detroit; Challenger Billy Conn of Pittsburgh.
Length of Bout	15 rounds to a decision
Estimated Attendance	75,000
Estimated Gate Receipts	$3,000,000
Starting Time Main Event	Approximately 8 p. m. (CST)
Site of Bout	New York Yankee stadium
Date of Bout	Wednesday, June 19
Broadcast	American Broadcasting Company
Television	National Broadcasting Company
Principals' Payment	40 percent of gross gate receipts, less taxes, to Joe Louis; 20 percent of gross gate receipts, less taxes, to Billy Conn.

ship that night, Joe put the lights out for Billy in the 13th round, after Sweet William had piled up a commanding lead on his boxing skill and speed and supreme confidence that he can whip any man in the world using fists alone.

They have waited five years for this shot at the biggest bundle of cash ever. Promoter Mike Jacobs, who is practically irresistible at wheeling a buck from a fight fan's bankroll, has waited with them.

Mike set the ringside charge at an all-time high for a fight — $100 per copy. Yet nearly a million dollars worth of tickets were on order before they'd even been printed or the admission price announced.

The scale slides from $100 to $10 for the outer rims of the park, yet the customers have responded as if Mike were giving free dishes with each pasteboard. As a result, Jacobs predicted yesterday that a crowd of 75,000 would bulge the big Bronx ball yard at the seams by the time the preliminaries start at 6:30 p. m. (CST) Wednesday, and that the gate stands a very good chance of hitting the $3,000,000 mark.

If it does, Louis would get close to $1,000,000 as his slice of the net proceeds, plus a "cut" of the radio and motion picture take. Conn's end would be about $500,000, since they receive 40 percent and 20 percent shares of the net, respectively.

This will be the 22nd time Joe has put the beak-busting industry's richest bauble on the line since he hammered Cinderella man Jim Braddock into unconsciousness nine years ago next Saturday to start the longest reign of any champion from the point of view of title defenses.

Yet old pop time and a four-year layoff since he put his gloves in mothballs and went on Uncle Sam's payroll have left their mark on him. He misses his friends and trainer, the late Jack Blackburn. He still packs the punch of a blockbuster, but in his training he has been a slow-moving target, thumped surprisingly freely — and often — by his sparring partners, and still unable to "set" to punch when an opponent confuses him by sudden moves.

Conn, on the other hand, appears even faster than he was five years ago. He has sparred 260 training rounds, compared to Joe's 140. He's what Louis, himself, calls a "full-grown" heavyweight now, at over 180 pounds, compared to the 174 he carried the last time. This added avoirdupois, most of it in his shoulders and neck, makes him a better puncher, although he has no intentions of trying for a knockout over Louis.

JOE LOUIS

William Slugs Two Opponents

GREENWOOD LAKE, N. J. (AP) — Billy Conn tagged one of his sparring partners for keeps yesterday and got his Irish up against another as the Pittsburgh challenger went through five rounds of boxing that left him just two practice sessions away from the real thing against Joe Louis Wednesday night.

The man who got tagged was Irish Jimmy Smith. He ran into a hard right that caught him flush on the jaw midway of the first round. He appeared so shaken that Manager Johnny Ray called "time." Conn went another round with Smith, and then went on a single heat with Frank Poreda. They had been scheduled to go two, but Ray called a half at the end of the first.

The challenger is scheduled to box again today and tomorrow, but will do only calisthenics on Tuesday, his last day in camp.

22nd Title Defense

NEW YORK (AP) — When Joe Louis squares off against Billy Conn in the Yankee stadium ring next Wednesday night, it will be his 22nd defense of the title and the 23rd time he has fought for the heavyweight championship — counting the night of June 22, 1937, when he knocked out Jim Braddock at Chicago to take the crown.

Billy Conn, The Pittsburgh Kid, Has Grown Up in Five Years

NEW YORK — Those who would like to see Billy Conn as the new world's heavyweight champion might get their wish when he makes a second attempt to dethrone Joe Louis in Yankee stadium, Wednesday, June 19. For measurements show that the Pittsburgh hubba-hubba kid has grown up. He's a man now!

Five years ago, almost to the day, Conn was a mere light heavyweight when he fought Louis, one of the greatest hitters in fistiana. He was a 174-pounder of 23 then and the bout was fairly even for 12 rounds. Conn got careless in the 13th round and Louis flattened him. It was the first time Conn ever was knocked out.

Today Conn is 28 and 180 pounds. Billy sincerely thinks he can knock Joe kicking but he has orders to box the counter-punching Negro.

It would be going overboard to say that Conn could chill the former cotton picker but it must be remembered that Max Schmeling at 31 knocked out Louis in the 12th round in 1936 and that the light hitting Jim Braddock at 34 put him on the floor in 1937 although Louis ultimately won by a kayo in the eighth.

Louis claimed he wasn't in the best of shape for his first Schmeling bout 10 years ago. Joe was 22 then, now he's 32. He most certainly must have been a better fighter in those days than he is today. That is why speculation on a Conn conquest is running so high even though Louis is a 13 to 5 favorite to successfully defend his crown for the 22nd time.

But measurements don't lie! Some say Conn weighed much less than the official 174 in 1941. He wasn't supposed to have a chance against the 199½-pound champion.

Conn's reach in 1941 was 72½ inches, now it's an inch more. He also gained in the chest, biceps, wrist, fist and ankle. And it's not fat. His once 32½ waist is now 33½, but Louis' waist during a five-year layoff caused by the war went from 34 inches to 36.

Champ Looks 'Very Good'

POMPTON LAKES, N. J. (AP) — Joe Louis boxed seven fairly easy rounds against five of his human guinea pigs yesterday as he began the final three days of training for his title defense against Billy Conn on Wednesday night.

The consensus of several dozen newspapermen from all over the country was that the Bomber looked very good, fast as lightning with his fists when he wanted to be and a picture of confidence in his every move.

Joe didn't try to hurt anybody. When, by chance, he did belt one of his partners pretty good, he invariably called off his dogs until the stricken hireling had fully recovered.

Change in Curriculum Needed, Physicists Told

Lawrence Professor Predicts 'Tinkering' for Next Few Years

Prof. W. Paul Gilbert of Lawrence college told delegates at a round table discussion before the final session of the three-day physics colloquium yesterday that the time has come for reorganization and standardization of the physics curriculum in universities.

Explaining that the war focused attention on the need for basic training in physical sciences and that colleges were increasingly aware of the need for practical education, Professor Gilbert foresaw much "curriculum tinkering" within the next few years.

Standard Qualifications

Standardization, said Professor Gilbert, would raise the level of college instruction, assure the same qualifications in recipients of physics degrees and permit physics majors to begin advanced work on an equal footing.

Prof. Arthur Rouse of St. Louis university cited the policy of Pratt and Whitney and United Aircraft Co's. as an example in his lecture, "Industrial Experience for Physics Teachers."

Professor Rouse told how Pratt and Whitney hired university physics teachers for the summer. Industrial men profit by the contact with academically trained teachers who are especially fitted to work on technical industrial problems, he said.

Practical Application

Teachers also benefit, said Professor Rouse, by observing practical applications of processes, discovering weaknesses in present methods of training and performing research on special projects.

Postwar training of physicists for industry was discussed by Prof. Harold Q. Fuller of Albion college, who said, "industrial progress can be achieved only through research."

"The physicist has demonstrated he is not a theorist but that he can be as practical and hard-boiled as any engineer," declared Professor Fuller.

Defining qualifications of research men in industry as native ability and capacity for leadership, training and judgement, and the ability to give direction to his energy and experience, Professor Fuller urged more complete training in mathematics, chemistry and the English language for all physicists.

Prof. W. Noll, Berea college, traced some of the development of trades and sciences through the Middle Ages.

Physics Journals

Lecturing on problems in the publication of periodical literature in physics, Dr. Duane Roller, editor of the American Journal of Physics, told the final session of the colloquium that the big problem today is that of storage of the some 300 scientific physics journals and abstracts currently in publication.

Suggesting use of microphotography for recording important papers, Doctor Roller said a world abstract could be published, possibly written in basic English, that would cover every other physics journal.

Representatives of 50 colleges and universities in 14 states ended the three day colloquium with luncheon at the Iowa Union at noon yesterday, after a lively exchange of views on lectures presented by Doctor Roller and Professor Gilbert.

Melitta Gerhard Joins German Department Faculty for Summer

Dr. Melitta Gerhard, formerly of the University of Kiel, Germany, will conduct Prof. Wolfgang Paulson's classes in German during the summer session, Prof. Erich Funke, head of the German department, said yesterday. Professor Paulson is teaching this summer in the Rocky Mountain school of foreign languages, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Dr. Gerhard has taught German and German literature at Wellesley College, Wellesley, Mass., Rockford College, Rockford, Ill., and the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., where she was instructor in German under the army specialized training program.

She will be head of the German department at Wittenberg College, Springfield, Ohio, this fall. One of the few women professors in German universities, she taught modern literature for six years at the University of Kiel. She received her doctorate degree at the University of Berlin.

Two novels, both written in German, have been published by Dr. Gerhard, one about Schiller, the German poet, and the other an educational novel about Germany after Goethe and Wilhelm-meister. She has been writing a biography of Schiller which will be ready for publication in the near future.

When asked about the current status of education in Germany, Dr. Gerhard said that, according to letters from friends, an extensive movement has begun, reminiscent of the period immediately following World War I, towards educational and cultural pursuits.

Though Germany lost many of its foremost professors and numerous educational institutions were destroyed during the war, Dr. Gerhard said she hopes that the Germany of today will again reach the intellectual heights in poetry, theatrical and cultural fields it had attained in pre-Hitler days.

15th Annual Meeting On Physical Education Slated for Thursday

The 15th annual conference on problems in physical education will be held here Thursday and Friday under the joint sponsorship of the physical education department and extension division.

All sessions are scheduled to be held in the house chamber of Old Capital. The conferences are open to all persons interested in the teachings of health and physical education in schools and other social institutions.

With the exception of the summers of 1944 and 1945, the conference has been an annual event since 1930.

Each year leaders in the fields of physical education and related sciences, together with administrative officers and members of university staff discuss important subjects in this field. A feature of the conferences is the discussion of the subjects by those attending with the speakers contributing.

FBI Agents to Show Special Movie Here At Officers' Course

A movie, "Betty Grable Extortion Case," will be presented by an FBI agent as a feature of a special class in police photography, to be included in the peace officers' short course opening here Monday, according to Prof. Rollin Perkins of the college of law, director.

A moot court, based on a simulated crime, will be held Friday, the final day of the short course. The case will be prepared by four special agents of the FBI. Judge Charles Roe of the district court, Council Bluffs, will preside.

O. A. Stafford, county attorney from Chariton will prosecute, and the defense counsel will be L. M. Mason, county attorney from Mason City. Peace officers attending the conference will be called as witnesses.

Women in law enforcement will be offered special instruction at the course, Professor Perkins said. Police matrons, women probation officers and policewomen have attended the annual courses before, but this is the first year that special instruction has been offered to them.

Chief R. W. Nebergall of the Iowa bureau of criminal investigation will be in charge of the 16 short course laboratories. Fred M. Cooper, superintendent of the Eldora training school for boys, and B. F. Atherton, Iowa State sheriff's association, are among the specialists on the short course staff.

New Store Hours

Starting tomorrow, local stores will close daily including Saturday at 5 p. m. and will remain open until 9 p. m. Friday.

Stores formerly closed at 6 p. m. Monday through Friday and remained open until 9 p. m. Saturday.

Robert L. Gage, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said the new hours were well liked by retailers and would benefit the shopper. He added, "It breaks down the shopping peak of the week so retailers can offer better service to more people by spreading the peak period over two days instead of one."

Local stores have posted signs announcing the change.

Frayed Nerves Crack in Night Nylon Sale

AT A NIGHT SALE OF nylons in Pittsburgh, Pa., an armed soldier struggles to quell a minor riot shortly before the store closed after midnight. Some 30,000 women formed an 18-block line and the last customer, after sales passed 12,000 pairs, had waited more than seven hours. Mayor David L. Lawrence had urged the night sale because working girls complained that they couldn't attend daytime sales.

G. J. Mulherin To Ask Boost In Pension

G. J. (Danny) Mulherin, former Iowa City policeman, said last night his attorney D. C. Nolan would file mandamus action in district court to claim a pension increase of $5.

The announcement came after the police retirement board, which Mulherin asked to consider his request for increase by June 15, had taken no action.

Mulherin, an army veteran who claimed service-incurred disability after being wounded in the battle of Normandy, was granted a $35.17 pension recently.

The pension was allowed after a district court decision that his time in the army counted in figuring total time on the police force.

In order to be eligible for pension, a policeman must have five years service on the force.

The pension offered Mulherin is based on the five-year period preceding July 4, 1943, when he had completed five years on the force, counting army time.

Police salaries were raised while the former policeman was in service and he claims the pension should be based on the five-year period preceding No. 2, 1945, when he filed for retirement pension.

Based on the last five years before his retirement, the pension would amount to about $5 more than offered. Under law, Mulherin is entitled to one-fourth of his average annual compensation as a pension. Nolan said.

4200 Miles— Wedding Phoned

A phone call from the office of J. W. Kadlec, Iowa City justice of the peace, to a WAAC camp in Grantham, Lincolnshire county, England, at 9:30 yesterday morning completed the marriage of Frederick William Bloom and Sheila Rosaleen Murphy.

The couple were married by a written contract signed in England by the bride and completed by Bloom yesterday. The proxy marriage was held to avoid a state penalty for not having an official ceremony.

Approximately 3 minutes after Justice Kadlec started reading the ceremony over the phone the bride and groom, 4200 miles apart, were pronounced man and wife.

"Honey, have you got the ring on? You're married now!" were Bloom's first words.

Bloom, a Detroit draftsman, hopes to have his wife join him within the next 2 months.

The couple first met during the Christmas holidays in 1943, when Bloom was serving in England with the 865th air engineers. He returned to the states in March.

After applying for a marriage license Bloom had 20 days to get the blood test to England and back. This was satisfactorily complied with, according to R. Neilsen Miller, district court clerk.

Robert Zurnstein, a graduate student in sanitary engineering and life long friend of the groom, was best man. His wife, Nickie, was proxy bride.

Arthur O. Lefl, Bloom's attorney, arranged the wedding and phone calls.

Wise students would do well to follow this young porker's example—who, by the way, seems to have a bit of Scottish blood in his veins—for in YELLOW CAB two students can ride as cheaply as one. And Scotch or not, that's a good deal.
