GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Livestock Evacuated From Sale Yard

Turbulent Rivers Flood Southern Iowa Homes

By the Associated Press

Turbulent southern Iowa rivers and creeks, flooded by cloud bursts ranging up to 8.3 inches at Bloomfield, boomed over their banks yesterday inundating homes and farm lands and blocking highways.

An electrical storm accompanied by rain and a 48-mile-an-hour gale brought Baltimore .6 of an inch of precipitation in 13 minutes, felled trees, stalled traffic and blew in windows. Two women were cut by flying glass.

Temperature Drops

A similar storm lowered the temperature 16 degrees to 70 in 15 minutes at Philadelphia, interrupting electric service and transportation. Lightning struck several homes, an electric transformer, a tug moored in the Delaware river, a hospital, and a trolley. No persons were injured, but the trolley was disabled.

The Skunk river in southeast Iowa also was flooding in the vicinity of Augusta.

Much of the flooding was on small streams and creeks which were unable to carry off the 3 and 4-inch rains that were common throughout much of south central portions of the state.

Congress Told Radar Reports Sold to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress learned yesterday that the Russia has bought a complete list of commerce department reports on radar and other military developments which the armed forces have removed from the secret lists, but that she still withholds most of her own scientific war discoveries.

John C. Green, director of the department's office of declassification, told the senate appropriations committee of the Soviet purchases. The committee made the testimony public in connection with its approval of the $447,285,000 state-commerce-justice money bill.

The same testimony disclosed an assertion by Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) that a witness had told a judiciary subcommittee of which Wherry is a member that this country had brought Russia "up to date with everything we knew about radar."

Wherry pressed Green as to whether Russia had bought scientific descriptions of military equipment developed by this country and released to business men by army and navy boards which decided they need no longer remain secret.

Green said Russian representatives here had put in eight orders, ranging from $1.10 to $1,387 in costs, for reports that average $2 in price. He testified these included a complete bibliography, which he said described the various mechanisms.

Foreign Affairs Committeemen Say Stalin, Truman Should Hold Personal Discussion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Truman and Generalissimo Stalin should meet soon in a "frank, across-the-table" attack on problems dividing Russia and the United States, four members of the house foreign affairs committee said yesterday.

Reporting on a tour of Europe, Representatives Gordon (D., Ill.), Ryter (D., Conn.), Mundt (R., S.D.) and Bolton (R., Ohio) also urged "immediate abandonment of any semblance of appeasement" of Russia.

Asserting that some members of the powerful Soviet politbureau "are more favorable than others to the United States," the report added:

Probe Tornado Debris In Search for Victims

DETROIT (AP) — Authorities moved swiftly yesterday to cope with widespread destruction and suffering left by a tornado which swept through the outskirts of Detroit and Windsor, Ont., Monday night, killing 14 persons and injuring more than 200 others.

Police and volunteers continued to probe miles of wreckage to determine if there were additional victims. All the dead were in Canada. Overnight reports that four died on the American side proved unfounded.

Hundreds were made homeless and property damage was estimated in the hundreds of thousands.

to argue that talking tough to America is demonstrated to be the most productive policy.

"Thus by our unwise appeasement methods we alienate those who are most friendly toward us within the government group in the Kremlin."

Tired of War

In its section on Russia, visited late last summer, the report said that "the great bulk of the citizenry is tired of war and yearns for peace" and added the congressmen found "no antipathy among the average citizens toward the United States."

It also said that "in a military sense Russia lacks many of the modern weapons and mechanical devices essential in modern warfare," including "the atom bomb, a sizable navy, a home-equipped mechanized army" and a "substantial machine-tool industry."

"Potentially Russia is a mighty military force," the subcommittee said, "but it would seem unlikely that she would be inclined to launch an unprovoked war against the United States or any well-established country of substantial size for many years to come."

The report asserted, however, that "the military outlay of the Russian government continues on a huge scale," with expansion of heavy industries being undertaken "to the neglect" of production of consumer goods.

The subcommittee said the United States "acted too hastily" in granting conditional recognition to the Polish provisional government and urged "an unyielding attitude" toward fulfillment of the pledge "for free and unfettered elections."

DETROIT, Wednesday (AP) — A four-sided battle for the Michigan gubernatorial nomination narrowed down early today to a ding-dong contest between Kim Sigler, former special prosecutor for the Ingham county grand jury, and Lieut. Gov. Vernon J. Brown.

With 1,493 precincts reported of the state's 3,550, Sigler had a 61,556 to 57,398 lead. Raymond J. Kelly, former national commander of the American Legion, was third with 38,531 and Mayor Edward J. Jeffries of Detroit fourth with 20,710.

BOSTON (AP) — Gov. Maurice J. Tobin easily won re-nomination on the Democratic ticket in yesterday's Massachusetts primary but his token opposition presented a surprising show of strength.

In 878 of the state's 1,807 precincts, Tobin's opponent, Francis D. Harrigan, Boston lawyer, piled up 39,803 votes to the governor's tally of 87,332. The Boston city vote in 280 out of 395 precincts gave Tobin 64,979 and Harrigan 35,296.

Molotov, a British source said, also rejected a proposal by Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin that Britain was "not prepared" to place another army division in Palestine, which he said would be necessary if the British-American inquiry committee recommendation for immigration of 100,000 refugee Jews was carried out immediately.

JERUSALEM (AP) — British troops scoured through Tel Aviv last night, searching for members of an armed gang which kidnapped five British officers, while elsewhere in the Holy Land the Palestine government sought to break up a wave of violence which has taken a two day toll of 18 dead and scores injured.

Palestine seethed with armed Jewish anger as the British patrols, some of which used armored cars, moved through the streets of Tel Aviv.

The apparently organized outbreaks began with the dynamiting of six bridges across the Jordan in action costing the lives of six Jews and three British soldiers.

Beginning at 5 a.m. today a strict curfew will be clamped on the predominantly Jewish seacoast city, the British army announced, and unauthorized persons will not be permitted outside their own doors while the curfew is in force. The army did not set a time limit for its termination.

about a dozen men armed with tommyguns raided the officers' club in the Hotel Yarkon, seized and blindfolded the five officers and forced them into the waiting taxis. Four of the officers were army men, the fifth a member of the RAF.

Jews under sentence of death for raiding a British army camp.

The kidnapping in Tel Aviv followed violent attacks on River Jordan bridges and on railway workshops in the port city of Haifa.

Thousands of Jews marched through Jerusalem's streets in a mourning procession for one of the nine Jews slain Monday night in the pitched battle near Haifa's bomb-blasted railway station.

The outbreak followed an announcement last week by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin that Britain was "not prepared" to place another army division in Palestine, which he said would be necessary if the British-American inquiry committee recommendation for immigration of 100,000 refugee Jews was carried out immediately.

REGARDS PLAN AGAINST SPAIN AS TOO WEAK

SUB-COMMITTEE FACTS WERE TO BE GIVEN TO GENERAL ASSEMBLY

NEW YORK (AP) — Soviet Russia yesterday vetoed a compromise plan supported by a nine-member majority of the United Nations security council which would have sent the Spanish question to the United Nations general assembly for decision by the entire 51 nations.

The Russians regarded the measure as too soft a blow against the Franco regime.

It was the second veto in the short United Nations history. Russia has invoked the ban in both cases. The first veto was in London in the Levant case.

Nine members raised their hands when the question was called on the compromise plan worked out by Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, of Australia, and Herschel V. Johnson, of the United States.

Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, grimly raised his hand when the negative vote was asked and the chairman announced the resolution had been vetoed. The Netherlands abstained from voting.

Poland promptly demanded that the council vote on its motion submitted in April for a complete and immediate break with Franco Spain. But the chairman ruled that the council was not prepared to discuss that proposition now and adjourned the meeting until next Monday.

The Evatt resolution killed by Russia provided that the security council submit the findings of a sub-committee, which investigated the case for a month, to the general assembly in September, along with recommendations for the assembly to call for a rupture in relations with Spain or to take such action as it might deem desirable.

Gromyko told newsmen later that the veto was not harmful to the United Nations but that inaction was.

Dr. Evatt, long a vociferous opponent of the veto power which allows the five big powers the right to block action on questions of substance, said he did not think the use of the veto here was particularly harmful "because it is free discussion that helps and we have that."

Before the decisive vote was taken, the council rejected proposal by Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain, to put the Spanish case before the general assembly without any recommendation.

War Begins in Cradle, Blatz Warns Delegates At Child Development, Parent Education Meet

Psychologist Deplores 'Fruitless' Competition In Today's Society

Prof. Dewey B. Stuit Returns to University After Naval Service

War begins in the cradle when the parent looks down at his child and says, "This child is going to beat everyone," according to Prof. W. E. Blatz of the University of Toronto. Professor Blatz spoke last night before the 19th Iowa Conference on Child Development and Parent Education.

Decrying the highly competitive spirit fostered by society today, Professor Blatz rapped chambers of commerce, Miss America contests, the Olympic games, religious denominational competition for membership and the radio program "Information Please" as examples of fruitless competition.

"The use of records in school to record rank is one of the most vicious things that has ever been introduced into education," Professor Blatz said. He advocated the elimination of all awards, including academic distinctions and military commendations.

Conceding that competition has a legitimate place as a form of the individual's emotional pleasure, the Canadian psychologist would limit it to games. But he cautioned that the pleasure should be obtained from "beating your opponent, not from having beaten him."

President Virgil M. Hancher welcomed the members of the conference at the opening of the morning session. Dr. Lee Forrest Hill, Des Moines pediatrician, addressed the group on "Health Care for the Young Child."

The time-honored rocking chair method of quieting a crying infant was advocated by Dr. Hill. To lessen further the "colic" of crying in the first three months of an infant's life, Dr. Hill suggested allowing the baby to spend more time with its mother in the hospital and feeding the child to meet his particular needs.

The assistant superintendent of the Minneapolis schools, Prudence Cutright, spoke in the afternoon. She proposed incorporating nursery schools into the public school systems. A change of the Iowa adoption laws to eliminate too hasty adoptions was advocated in the following address by Alice Whipple, secretary of the council of social agencies of Eds Moines community chest.

Dr. Blatz will participate in the conference again tomorrow morning on a round table, "What is this Security that Everybody Is Talking About?" The final session will be an address, "Our Child Culture," by Prof. John Dollard of the Institute of Human Relations, Yale university.

Stookey, Donald McGinnes, Paul Koepke, Mrs. Nadine Knolton and Margaret Alton in the music department and Jean Harris and Malcolm Meyers in the art department.

Thomas Collins whose appointment as a graduate assistant in the music department was previously announced, has resigned.

Cannon, Dean Co-Favored In Collegiate Track Meet at Minneapolis

AMES (AP)—Iowa City will be represented by Gerri Cannon and Sonny Dean in the first round competition of the Western Junior Amateur golf tournament here today.

Dean, playing the upper bracket and is matched with Ed McEligott of Omaha. In the lower bracket, Cannon meets Bob Bartlett of Moline.

Cannon was one of the top golfers on the Iowa City high golf team while this is Dean's first appearance as a golfer this year. He was the number one pitcher on Gil Wilson's baseball team this spring.

Meanwhile, rangy Robert Olson of Gross Pointe, Mich., defying miserable playing conditions, won medalist honors, a 76 over the rugged Iowa State college course.

The 16-year-old runner-up for the Michigan Interscholastic championship, playing a waterlogged 5,935 yard course swept by an unseasonably cold wind, put together two 38s for the par 71 layout.

Olson's closest foes among the 60 contenders for 32 match play positions were Mac Hunter, the California high school title holder from Santa Monica, and Roger Kessler of Ann Arbor, a member of the University of Michigan squad.

Grouped in a three way tie for fourth place with 78s, were Dick Knight of Omaha; Dick Stevenson of Centerville, Iowa, and Charles Lindgren of Rockford, Ill. Stevenson and Lindgren teamed with Bob Abrahams of La Grange, Ill., who had an 81, to win the Arthur Wood trophy for Northwestern university with a 239 total. Second in the battle for the three man title was Santa Monica high school represented by Hunter, Benton Alyea and John Finney. The latter pair had 86s to go with Hunter's 78 for a 250 total.

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK (AP)—In what is easily the most ballyhooed event in sports history—and possibly the richest—Joe Louis collides with Billy Conn in Yankee stadium tonight in the toughest test of his nine-year reign as king of the ring.

Five years and one day after they met the first time, the greatest fighter of his generation takes on the Pittsburgh boxing ace at 9 p.m. (CDT) over the 15-round

Radio station WSUI will broadcast a review of the Louis-Connn fight at 9 p.m. (CST) or at the end of the bout, which ever is later, according to an announcement made last night by Bob Brooks, WSUI sports announcer.

"derby route" in the 22nd defense of his all-time record run as head man of the nose-mashing industry.

And Promoter Mike Jacobs was still hopeful tonight that all previous gate receipt "highs" would be wiped out by the gold rush accompanying this first heavyweight title tussle since 1942, for which he is demanding a record $100 for each ringside seat.

Despite the onrush of fistic faithful from virtually all over the world, it appeared tonight, however, that the gate would just miss the record $2,658,000 lured into Soldier field, Chicago, by Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney for their return match exactly 19 years ago, come Saturday.

This brawl between the Negro dynamiter from Detroit and the boxing Will o' the Wisp has been the classic most talked of for five years—the event generally regarded as heralding the return of sports to a peace-time basis.

Both have been in the army most of the time since their last match. Yet, despite their long layoff, both put in rugged, tough training grinds—Conn for nearly 11 weeks, Louis for seven—and labored back to fighting shape.

Developing late, like many Irish athletes, Conn, at 28, now is a full-sized heavyweight at 182 pounds, compared to the 174 he scaled for the first fess. Yet, he appears to have retained all the old zip in his legs, all his boxing McKenley, long-striding swift from Jamaica who streaked over the 440 route in :46.2 to better the world record in the Big Ten meet, should give the Illini at least one first.

Coach Leo Johnson held McKenley out of the 440 in the Central Collegiate meet last Saturday to rest him for the National, in which he also will be clocked at 400 meters as he tries to better the world mark of 46 seconds flat, shared by Rudolf Harbig of Germany and Grover Klemmer of California.

McKenley also holds the best 220 time of the season, :20.6, but he'll get stiff argument in that event at Minneapolis from Southern California's Mel Patton, Stonie Cotton of Baylor and another Jamaican, Lloyd LaBeach of Wisconsin.

Oatmeal Wins Feature In Rain at Aqueduct

NEW YORK (AP)—Isidore Bieber's Oatmeal splashed from behind to take the $5,000 Howard Beach handicap at Aqueduct yesterday before a racing crowd of 20,888 fans who wagered a total of $1,919,433.

Oatmeal scored by a neck over J. M. Jerkins' Crack Time, completing the mile and one-sixteenth on a track made sloppy by a short but heavy rain in 1:49.

Vera S. Bragg's favored Proof Coil, missed the place by a head. The winner, carrying 114 pounds, returned $8.20 for $2.

Slumping Red Sox Bow to Browns, 1-0

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Bob Muncrief pitched the St. Louis Browns to a 1 to 0 victory over the slumping first-place Boston Red Sox last night, besting 10-game-winner David (Boo) Ferriss in a pitching contest that saw an aggregate of only 10 hits by the two teams.

It was the first victory of the season for Muncrief who suffered a broken foot bone in spring training and has lost the only two games in which he was previously entered in the won or lost column.

It was only the second loss of the year for Ferriss, whose winning streak was snapped at Chicago last Saturday.

The game, delayed 59 minutes by rain, was protested at the start by the Browns because Umpire Joe Paparella allowed Ferriss 12 minutes to warm up between halves of the first inning.

Third inning triple by Mark Christman, followed by Hank Helf's single produced the game's only tally.

The loss, six in the last seven games for the league leaders cut their lead to a still wide seven games over the idle New York Yankees, rained out at Chicago.

Five Zoologists Join Faculty For Summer

Five additions to the summer session faculty of the zoology department were announced yesterday by Prof. J. H. Bodine, department head.

They were Prof. Leslie Remley of the administrative staff at Proviso high school, Chicago, Ill.; Prof. Willis Boss of Oshkosh college, Oshkosh, Wis.; Prof. Carolyn Trowbridge of Vassar college, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., and Stanley Stolpe, G. of DeKalb, Ill. They will teach general zoology.

Prof. Beatrice Mintz of New York City, who received a doctorate degree here in the June convocation, is teaching vertebrate embryology.

Prof. T. L. Jahn and Prof. R. L. King, both of the zoology department, are doing research at the university-sponsored Iowa Lakeside laboratory at Lake Okoboji.

At the Marine Biological Laboratory, Woods Hole, Mass., Prof. Eleanor Slifer is spending the summer on research work. Prof. Luther O. Nolf is directing research at the Wisconsin conservation commission research station at Woodruff, Wis.

Part-Time Jobs Still Available for Students

Many positions are still open for student board jobs and other part-time work, Robert J. Ballantyne, director of student employment, said yesterday.

He reported that more than 900 positions have been filled since the beginning of the summer session, approximately half of these board jobs.

Positions such as student janitors will be available Monday. The work is done after 4 p. m. in class room offices in buildings on the campus.

Most clerical jobs have been filled except for a few requiring efficiency and skill in stenographic work.

Ballantyne indicated that students interested in obtaining part-time employment should fill out application and information cards in the office of student employment in the basement of the Old Capitol. These cards are filed in the office, and applicants will be notified when positions are available.

Apartments Found 17 Veterans Organize For Homes

Seventeen veterans found a solution to their housing problems Monday night with the formation of the Summit Apartment cooperative group.

Members of the organization have negotiated to purchase the Summit Apartment house, 228 S. Summit street, from Charles Hicks. There are 18 apartments in the building.

The organization was formed primarily to provide for maintenance of the building and grounds after its members have taken possession. Under the plan a council of the co-operative will supervise care and repair of the property and administrate heat and utilities.

The cooperative plan, used in the east and in Kansas City, is new in this section of the country. It was adopted by Hicks who believes it to be the most effective plan in helping to alleviate the acute dwelling shortage.

"The plan will do the most direct good in giving the veterans a home," he said.

Seven of the purchasers will take possession immediately. The remaining 10 will occupy their units in September, when the required three months' notice to the present occupants will have expired. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks will continue to live in one of the apartments.

At Monday night's meeting a temporary cooperative council was formed, with S. D. Kreig elected secretary and treasurer.

Arlyn Marks Opens New Personnel Office

Arlyn C. Marks, director of the university's new non-academic personnel office, is establishing his office in the old dental building in preparation for full operation by July 1. He arrived in Iowa City Monday.

It is expected that eventually all calls for non-academic jobs will come through this office. Marks said. Centralized recruiting and the determination of qualifications of applicants will be primary functions of the office.

Police Academy Head Tells Riot Methods

Peace Officers See Firing Demonstration

Dispersal of Unlawful Assemblies Is Duty Of Officer, Says Engle

Placing responsibility for mob violence squarely on the shoulders of peace officers, Capt. Byron Engle, head of the Kansas City, Mo., police academy, told officers at yesterday afternoon's session of the 10th annual short course that the best measures for preventing riots were a plan for preparedness and "some reliable sources of information on potential sources of trouble."

"Riots and disorderly crowds are outward expressions of inward tensions and emotions built up over a long period of time," said Captain Engle, explaining that dispersal of an unlawful assembly is a duty of an officer.

Also at yesterday's session, Prof. Rollin M. Perkins of the college of law lectured on arrest, search and seizure; Prof. Richard L. Holcomb of the department of public affairs exposed some of the tricks used by confidence men to prey on unsuspecting victims, and Dean Emeritus Wilber J. Teeters of the college of pharmacy told officers what to do in cases of suspected poisoning.

Additional enrollments brought the number of officers attending the course to 172 yesterday afternoon. Professor Perkins announced. Included were 61 officers from police departments, 35 sheriffs and deputies and 14 Iowa highway patrolmen.

Professor Perkins emphasized necessity for adequate legal procedure in arresting a person or seizing his property.

Suggesting that a little publicity would go a long way in helping people spot confidence men, Professor Holcomb listed the "general rules" of confidence games:

The operator will always be a stranger, he'll have plenty of identification, he'll be in character and his story will be unusual, but apparently justified. Most "con games" have a similar approach—a quick profit or a great bargain or occasionally a sob story.

Dean Emeritus Teeters of the college of pharmacy emphasized the need of promptness and completeness in sending specimens to the laboratory in all cases of suspected poisoning.

Today's speakers will include Professor Perkins, R. C. Byrus, fire protection engineer at Iowa State college, A. R. Laufer, director of the driving research laboratory at Iowa State college, Professor Holcomb, and George Yates, photographer from the Des Moines Register and Tribune.

A panel discussion is scheduled for 7:30 p. m.

Noted Indian Author, Lecturer to Speak

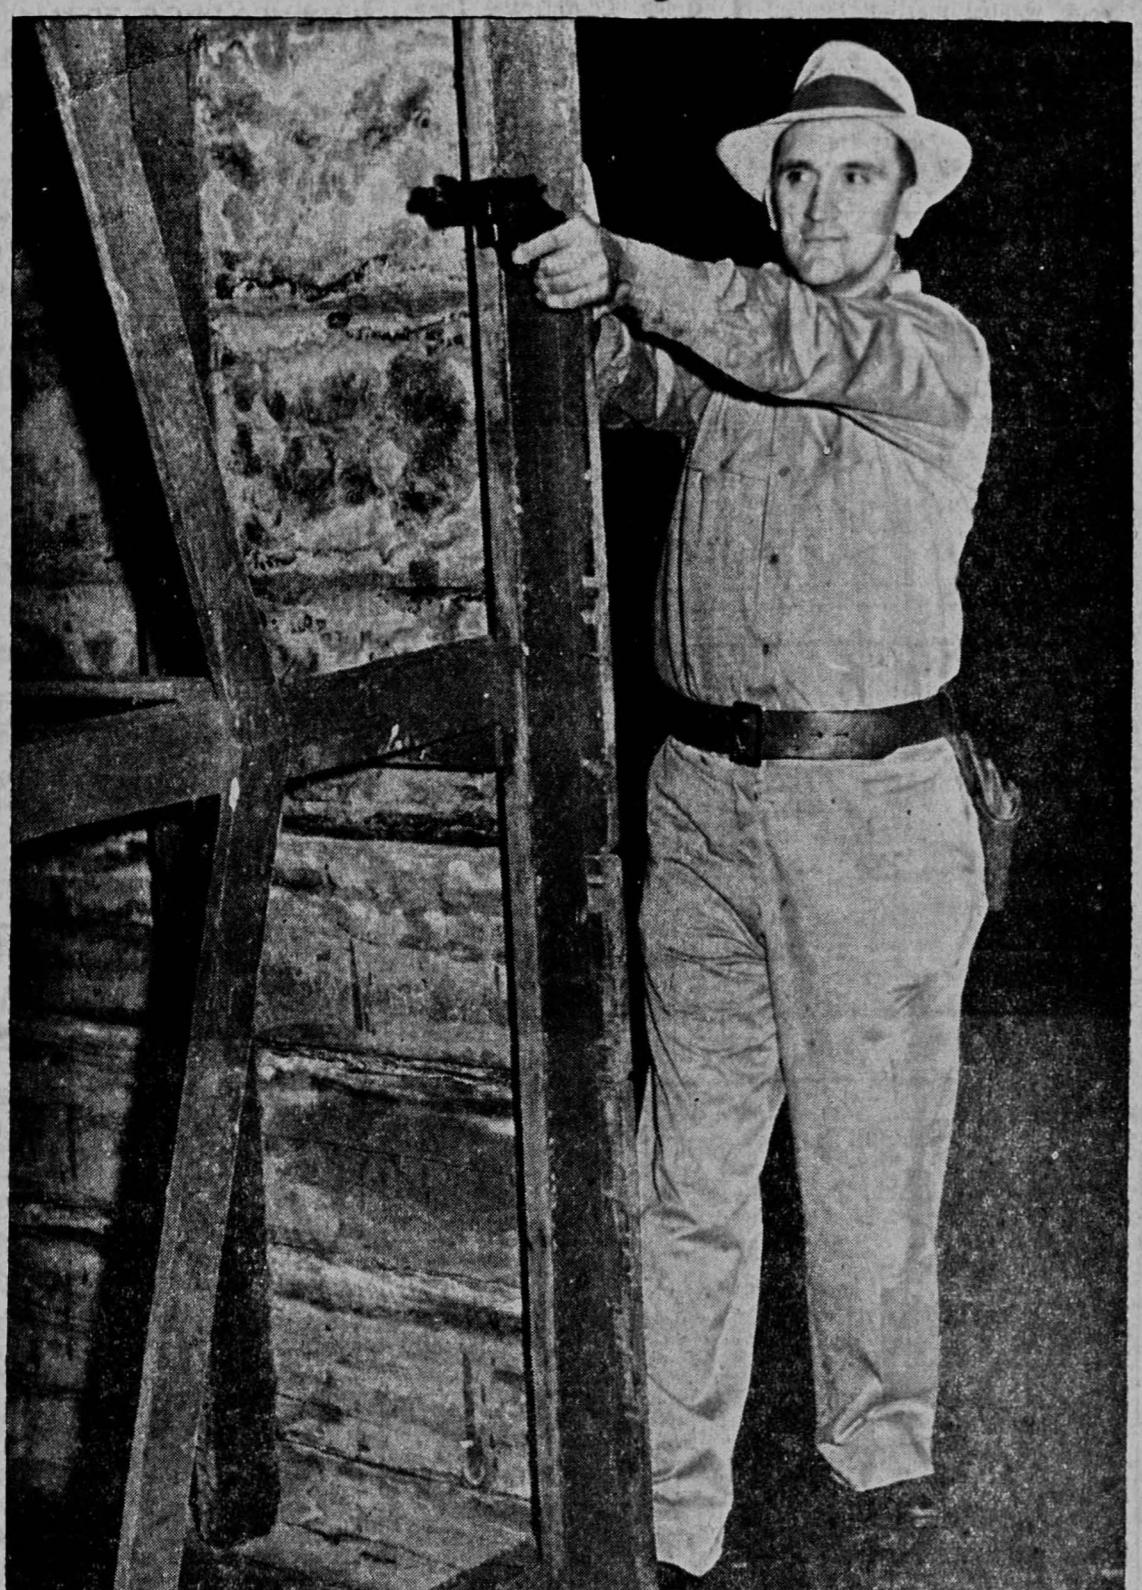

"What About India" will be the topic of Kumar Goshal, noted Indian author and lecturer, at the second of the university summer series lectures, to be presented on the west approach of Old Capitol at 8 p. m. Friday, according to Dr. M. Willard Lampe, lecture series director.

Goshal will bring to the university a timely analysis of the problems of the Orient as an integral part of the world peace problem.

Born in Calcutta, a Hindu of the highest caste, Goshal attended the University of Calcutta and studied at the Sangit Parishad (academy of music). He has spent half his life in the United States and speaks English fluently.

During his first years in this country, Goshal worked as an actor and director in Hollywood and in the theater, as a radio commentator and as a writer of magazine articles.

Goshal's book, "20th Century India" written in collaboration with Kate Mitchell, has sold over 50,000 copies. Another of his works, "The People of India" was recommended reading in the Oriental politics class taught by the late Dr. Sudhindra Bose of the University of Iowa.

CAPT. BYRON ENGLE of the Kansas City, Mo., police academy last night demonstrated methods of handling weapons to police officers attending the five-day 10th annual peace officers short course here. Emphasizing the necessity of officers' protecting themselves by staying under cover when engaged in a gun battle, Captain Engle showed different methods of unloading a gun when firing. He demonstrated the FBI firing tests for shooting accuracy at various distances.

All sessions are open to students, faculty and the public.

SUI to Accept Bids On Generator Friday

Bids for the work on a generator addition to the university power plant will be received at 1 p. m. Friday in the office of the university physical plant planning and construction department in the old dental building.

The bids will be opened and read publicly at 2 p. m., the same day in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Other work in addition to the 5,000 horse power generator will include switchboards, pumping equipment, transformers and building additions to house the equipment.

The work was planned during the war. Present equipment is 20 years old.

The new equipment, which will be added to the present facilities on Burlington street, is planned to handle the electrical needs of university expansion for three or four years in the future.

Prof. E. T. Peterson To Head Laboratory On School Planning

Prof. E. T. Peterson of the college of education will be in charge of a school building planning laboratory to be held at the University of Iowa July 8 to 19.

The course will provide school executives with a chance to review and analyze school plant problems at a period when many physical plants are in need of rehabilitation.

Emphasis will be placed on individual building projects and participants will bring data, reports and other materials to facilitate an intensive attack on their specific issues.

tee announced the conference schedule yesterday. The program has been scheduled as a university contribution toward better understanding of Latin-American neighbors.
