GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

Perfect for picnic plans. Weatherman asserts today will be fair and a little warmer.

Iowa Schools Face Shortage Of Teachers

DES MOINES (AP)—Asserting that Iowa was "face to face with an educational crisis," Charles F. Martin, executive secretary of the Iowa State Education Association, said yesterday that superintendents of 80 counties had reported a teacher shortage of 1,591 persons.

"This crisis must receive the serious consideration of the public at large and of the Iowa legislators as they move into the 52nd general assembly," Martin said in releasing the teacher survey conducted by Kenneth Jonson, director of teacher placement and professional relations for the association.

Only 134 Available

At the same time, Martin said, 16 of Iowa's 25 college placement bureaus and the placement service of the ISEA reported only 134 candidates available for appointment to teaching jobs as of Aug. 6.

Jonson's survey indicated that 856 vacancies existed in rural schools and 735 in town and city schools. The latter was composed of 297 elementary vacancies and 438 high school vacancies.

Housing Wages

School superintendents replying to Jonson's survey, made by mail, indicated the chief reasons for the shortage were the housing shortage and the wage rates.

Martin said the housing situation was so critical in Dickinson county that County Superintendent Clarence L. Hall must commute 20 miles each day between his home and the county seat of Spirit Lake.

Taylor county reported that "housing seems to be the major cause for vacancies," and Tama county wrote, Martin said, that teachers would not consider employment unless housing was provided. However, a report from Howard county said housing was not having any noticeable effect on filling vacancies while a note from Audubon county said it was "more difficult to locate teachers than places for them to live."

Substantial Pay Increase

C. A. Morris, Grundy county superintendent, wrote that "by giving the teachers a substantial increase in salary, Grundy county will have a sufficient number of teachers by Sept. 1."

One teacher wrote the ISEA placement office, Martin said, to take her name from the active files as she was returning to teach at Fort Angeles, Wash. "Salaries in Iowa are not comparable to those in Washington," she wrote.

W. K. Price, Monona county superintendent, said boards were "being forced to employ teachers who should be weeded out for the good of the children and the teaching profession."

Schools Closing

At least 10 Warren county rural schools will have to be closed, Charles N. Elmore, county school superintendent, wrote, and E. P. Schindler, Story county superintendent, said he was short "about one out of every 12 teachers." Eight or nine rural schools will be closed probably in Wright county, Superintendent C. W. Sankley said.

"Living and working conditions will have to be improved before people will be interested in teaching," Ralph C. Norris, Polk county superintendent declared.

Marie Sorum, Emmet county superintendent, suggested that, "if city superintendents would encourage their best students for teaching, we would not have such a shortage."

"If teaching conditions are to be improved," Martin observed, "to the point of attracting into the teaching profession personnel adequate in quality and numbers to meet the demand, the state of Iowa must substantially increase the amount of state support and give favorable consideration to other legislation essential to better teaching conditions."

79th Congress Gave Veterans $12-Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 79th congress provided $12,609,802,005 for war veterans, or nearly $1,000 for every soldier discharged since V-E Day.

Almost a third of this was included in a batch of bills that reached President Truman in the closing days of the congress, which he signed yesterday, Friday and Thursday.

Largest single item was the $2,431,708,000 to pay for the terminal pay bill.

World War II veterans received by far the greatest share of the cash and other benefits but some money went to veterans of other wars.

As the bills were being signed, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, veterans administrator, said America, in dollars and cents, had provided for its war veterans more generously than any other nation.

But he added it "scandalous conditions" are to be avoided, the time now has come to shift emphasis from quantity to quality of opportunities being provided the American ex-warriors.

This represents a major change in policy of the veterans administration, which was forced to expand itself many times to take care of the more than 13,000,000 new war veterans turned out by the armed services since fighting halted.

Last week in Milwaukee, at a convention of Spanish war veterans, General Bradley said that signs of "scandalous conditions" already have begun to appear in the subsistence allotment program under the GI bill of rights.

These monthly allotments—$65 for single veterans and $90 for married—are paid to ex-servicemen going to school or college or taking on-the-job training.

"I believe that the new law which congress has passed and President Truman signed this week will cure most of the evils."

"This law sets up standards for the courses and the training the veterans are to receive. It specifies the federal government may supply the states funds to enforce these standards."

The law also set a ceiling of $110 a month on the amount of outside salary veterans may receive and still participate in the subsistence program. If they earn more than that their subsistence allowance is reduced accordingly.

Find Evidence Linking Treasury Employees To Profits Scandals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate war investigating committee has unearthed evidence indicating former treasury employees received favors for steering to brokers lend-lease contracts on which excessive profits were made, Council George Meader said yesterday.

Meader told a reporter that high on the committee's list for future action are reports that gross profits ranging as high as 955 percent had been made on contracts obtained by "desk and chair" brokers who reportedly gave weekend parties for government employees.

Claim Bumper Crop Will Control Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Foes of grain price ceilings last night gained strength from official predictions of bumper crops, as they prepared to open hearings tomorrow morning before the price decontrol board.

On paper the battle was already joined. Written statements submitted in advance showed major grain and meat interests claiming that bountiful harvests ahead would keep prices down without OPA control.

The three-man board announced its schedule for hearing 43 spokesmen for industry, farm, labor and consumer groups who will come to grips Monday and Tuesday in showdown arguments.

Twenty will appear in rapid-fire order Monday on grains and feeds, 23 Tuesday on livestock, meat and their products. Arguments on cottonseed, soybeans, milk and their products will be heard Wednesday and Thursday.

The price lid is off, by act of congress, until Aug. 21 on all five commodity groups. It is the board's job to decide by then whether price ceilings go back on.

POLICE DISCOVER 'HOUSE OF HORROR'

POLICE RAIDERS YESTERDAY found this 26-year-old woman, a mental patient, chained and strapped to this board in an Indianapolis, Ind., nursing home. Prosecutor Sherwood Blue, who led the raid, said some of the 29 patients were chained to their beds. Many of them were mental cases, he said, and some were recipients of old age assistance from the department of public welfare. Terming the place a "House of Horror," Blue filed charges of assault and battery, malicious mayhem and operating a nursing home without a license against Mrs. Margaret Colvin, 50, who operated the house. The raid resulted from a four-year surveillance of the place and the recent "planting" of a welfare investigator in the house to obtain information for affidavits.

Around The State

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa's statewide centennial exposition at the state fair Aug. 23-30 will be doubled in size as a result of the cancellation of the state poultry show, Fair Secretary L.B. Cunningham announced today.

The major Centennial features—exhibitions of old-time farm machinery and vehicles, as well as other pioneer relics—will occupy the poultry industries building, which has 30,000 square feet of floor space.

Originally, the main centennial exhibits were scheduled to be on display in a big tent.

The poultry show was cancelled because of a state ban on poultry exhibitions as a precaution against the spread of the Newcastle disease.

With 12 days remaining before the opening of Iowa's first state fair in five years, preparations had reached the cleanup stage.

The fair's 370 acres of ground, 15 major buildings and dozens lesser structures already were assuming a festive appearance. Cunningham also announced the addition of an army war exhibition to the fair's list of attractions.

An army air forces caravan will be here from Lowry field with a P-51 Mustang fighter-bomber, mounted on a trailer; the gun turret of a B-17 heavy bomber, air-sea rescue equipment, a photo darkroom of the type used by the air forces, and an exhibit of army pilots' uniforms.

Train-Auto Crash Kills 3

DE KALB, Ill. (AP)—Two men and a woman were killed near here yesterday in a collision between their automobile and a Chicago, Burlington and Quincy passenger train.

Relatives identified them as Hagle Mendenhall of Chicago; his wife, Helen, and Mrs. Mendenhall's brother, Edgar Mahoney of Chicago.

They were en route home after a vacation trip to Burlington, Iowa, where they visited a nephew, Ray Sheppard.

The bodies of all three were severely mangled. The body of one man was thrown more than 100 feet, the body of the woman was found in the wreckage of the automobile about 300 feet from the point of impact, while the other body was carried by the locomotive until it came to a stop.

Witnesses said the car was traveling northward on United States highway 30 and state route 23.

REINBECK (AP)—Fire of undetermined origin here Friday night destroyed a frame building owned by the Pioneer Hibred Corn company used for storing tools and sacks, with an estimated loss of $10,000, $5,000 on the building and $5,000 on tools and other material stored there. Two carloads of cans stored in an adjacent building by the Reinbeck Canning company were ruined, with a loss of $4,000. All of the loss was insured.

DES MOINES (AP)—Plans for a statewide meeting of Iowa Democratic women to be held in Des Moines Aug. 29-30 were announced last night following a committee meeting yesterday to arrange the conference.

MAQUOKETA (AP)—Jackie Holtz Campbell, 9, drowned in the Maquoketa river yesterday. He had gone wading with a friend, Carl John.

TWO 'IRON LUNGS' FLOWN TO IOWA POOL

TWO "IRON LUNGS" for use in the treatment of infantile paralysis are shown being loaded at La Guardia field, N. Y., to be flown to Des Moines, Ia., to go into a "pool" for treatment of mid-west polio cases.

Fistfight Starts Race Riot In Alabama

ATHENS, Ala. (AP)—A fistfight between two white war veterans and a Negro touched off race rioting in which between 50 and 100 Negroes were estimated to have been injured, some of them knocked down and trampled, here yesterday.

County Court Judge D. L. Rosenau said old and crippled Negroes were among many he saw knocked down and trampled by white mobs, estimated to have reached a total of 2,000 men at one time.

"I expect at least 50 to 100 Negroes were injured," Rosenau reported. The Negroes were chased off the streets by the mobs.

He added that about 10 white men have been arrested.

The judge said a semblance of order was restored about nightfall after law enforcement officers from all over northern Alabama poured into this agricultural center, of some 5,000 population. A local state guard company was mobilized to help keep peace.

All stores and moving picture places closed at 6 p. m.

The two white participants in the fight were arrested but the Negro escaped.

Mayor R. H. Richardson Jr., said he later freed the two white men after members of the mob promised to disperse.

Judge Rosenau said gangs of white men sought to enter several mercantile places in which Negroes were customers but they were barred by the proprietors who said they would shoot if the gangs came in.

The stores were later closed.

The judge said approximately 50 highway patrolmen were on duty in addition to police officers from other cities in north Alabama.

"I think the worst is over," Rosenau said, "and if we can get through the night without any more trouble, I think it will be finished."

Britain to Intercept Search Ships Taking Jews to Holy Land

LONDON (AP)—Britain, anxiously awaiting President Truman's verdict on the plan for a federated Palestine, served notice unofficially yesterday that her warships would intercept, search and arrest any vessels of another nation carrying illegal Jewish immigrants to the Holy Land.

An official cabinet statement on policy for Palestine was expected shortly in which the British would outline plans for a strict crackdown throughout Europe against illegal immigrants now trekking by tens of thousands across the war-torn continent toward Palestine.

In Cyprus the British rapidly were erecting accommodations in the Caraula detention camp near Famagusta, apparently for Jews taken from vessels diverted from Palestine, amid reports that the first immigrants would arrive tomorrow.

At 10 Downing street, officials worked on a statement of policy which, authoritative sources said, envisioned land operations throughout Europe to end illegal immigration of Jews to the Holy Land; the sea blockade; the establishment of the Cyprus detention camp, and an appeal to sparsely populated countries to absorb as many of Europe's fugitive Jews as possible.

Whitehall sources said the British army in Palestine was prepared for "major developments."

In tense Jerusalem, an authoritative source said serious trouble was brewing for the Holy Land no matter what steps the British took. "If immigration were stopped, he said, "the Jews will cause trouble," and if immigration were continued, "there will be trouble from the Arabs."

In Moscow, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said the British were attempting to manipulate the Palestine problem to give themselves full political, economic and strategic control over countries of the near east.

Despite British representations to the allied control commission in Romania and to the Soviet government in Moscow, Jews crowded aboard an immigrant ship in the Constanza, Romanian Black sea port, a foreign office spokesman said.

Italian Assails 'Hard' Peace

By JOSEPH DYNAN

PARIS (AP)—Italy's Premier struck out at the proposed Italian peace treaty yesterday as "punitive" and beyond his country's capacity to fulfill, and urged the peace conference to postpone for a year settlement of the Trieste and other frontier problems.

The decision to internationalize Trieste, Premier Alcide de Gasperi said, was "a bite into our very flesh."

Pleading Italy's cause before an afternoon session which received his arguments in cold silence, de Gasperi protested the deep slash in Italy's armaments, the bills for reparations, and the changes in the Italian frontier, particularly the Big Four decision on Trieste and Venezia Giulia.

German Settlement First

He buttressed his request for a delay by reference to Italian claims for damage against Germany, asking: "Is this not another proof that no final settlement in Europe can be attained before peace is made with Germany?"

De Gasperi, urging delay on Trieste, said:

"What good will come of clinging to a solution which only bids for new trouble? Why shut your ears to the cry for help of the Italians in Istria . . . who at this moment are preparing to abandon hearth and home rather than submit to the new (Yugoslav) regime?"

France announced yesterday she had rejected the American proposal for a partial economic merger of German occupation zones, and offered a compromise plan for coordinating economic activities in the four areas.

France's compromise would create Allied bureaus dependent upon the Allied control council operating in Berlin. These bureaus would coordinate transportation, communication, banks, industry, agriculture, foreign trade, and prices in all four zones.

The United States and Britain now are completing plans for an economic fusion of their two zones, following the American offer to merge with any or all zones.

Adjourns to Monday

The conference adjourned until Monday with a decision to defer discussions on the Italian plea until then. It also took no action after a morning's debate on admission of Albania as a member. Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov again walked from the room while the Greek delegate was speaking, and the Yugoslav delegate charged that it was the policy of Greece, bitter opponent of Albania, "to foment and start war in the Balkans."

Molotov, after listening to a part of Greek Premier Constantinos Tsaldaris' argument that Albania had "delivered support" to the Italians and was not qualified to sit in the conference, walked out of the chamber when Tsaldaris mentioned him by name and waved his manuscript in his direction.

Ends in Disorder

The morning session at which Molotov walked from the room ended in a scene of disorder as Soviet Delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky sought to hold the floor against the will of the chairman.

H. V. Evatt, the Australian delegate, protested that Vishinsky was granted the floor out of order and charged the Soviet delegate with wanting to "gag" the conference.

YUGOSLAVIA would gain territory stripped from Italy to the "French Line." Shaded area will be constituted as free territory of Trieste.

Vishinsky rose to reply and Chairman Bidault tried to speak at the same time, finally shouting "I've got the floor!" and ringing his bell.

"Mr. Vishinsky," the chairman said, "I am compelled to ask respect for the privileges of the chair—the chair which will soon be occupied by the Soviet delegate."

The misunderstanding apparently was caused by language difficulties, resulting in Vishinsky getting the floor. It developed that he wanted to withdraw a motion for closing the debate on Albania and in his anxiety to get his point across to Evatt kept on speaking.

Peace for China Impossible, Say Top American Envoys

NANKING (AP)—A general all along with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, head of the government, and with Gen. Chou En-Lai, Communist plenipotentiary. (Speculation about an appeal for a coalition government therefore could only mean the possibility of going over the heads of the present Chinese leaders, although dispatches from Nanking avoided openly expressing this conclusion.)

The Marshall-Stuart statement gave no hint what the next move might be.

General Chou, the top Communist negotiator, said, "The situation actually is more serious than expressed in the statement."

Wang Ping-Man, Communist official spokesman, exclaimed, "What Chiang Kai-Shek wants is peace with conditions. The government is increasing conditions which hamper peace negotiations."

There was no immediate government comment, but a little earlier Chiang Chun-Chang, secretary of the government defense council, urged an increase in government strength "to compel the Communists to change their attitude."

Hunger Threatens Dominican Inhabitants After Six Days of Tremors, Tidal Waves

CIUDAD TRUJILLO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Terror gripped the population of the northern provinces of the Dominican Republic last night following two new shocks yesterday in the six-day series of earthquakes and tidal waves which left 73 persons dead and 20,000 homeless.

Hunger threatened the weary inhabitants when attempts by the government to rush food to the stricken areas were hampered seriously by washouts of roads and bridges in the paths of swollen streams.

Apprehension was at its greatest near Bahia Escocesa (Scotch Bay) where the food shortage was particularly acute and clothing and medical supplies were reported by authorities to be running out.

Throughout the week, earth tremors of varying intensity jarred the northern part of the island frequently. False rumors of imminent new quakes and tidal waves intensified the panic. The rumors grew to such an extent that the government threatened punishment for those guilty of spreading them. More than 80 persons already have been prosecuted for relaying such reports.

The new tremors yesterday were felt at 4 a. m. and 6:50 a. m., but they did not add appreciably to the damage inflicted throughout the week.

In one of the hardest hit communities, the northern city of Bajio, a revised death toll showed that 39 persons had been killed by the tidal wave and that 139 had been injured. Previously the toll for the town had been reported at 50 dead.

(In San Juan, Puerto Rico, travelers from the Dominican Republic said virtually all the houses in Matanzas, which had a population of 1,000, were washed away in the tidal wave.)

Of Cabbages and Kings

By LAWRENCE DENNIS

UNRRA'S ENERGETIC director general, Fiorello H. LaGuardia, is being mentioned in prominent New York Democratic circles as a possible candidate for United States senator in the forthcoming congressional elections.

Key man in the Empire state's current political picture is Senator James Mead, who has recently been making quite a name for himself in the same job that first brought Harry Truman into the national spotlight; chairman of the powerful senate war investigating committee. It is generally thought that Mead will vacate his congressional post and run against Republican Thomas E. Dewey for the New York governorship this fall.

Mead has made no public statement concerning his future plans, however, and his friends have informed newspapermen that his final decision will not be made known until the Democratic state convention, scheduled to be held in Albany, Sept. 3 and 4. If Mead seeks renomination to his present office he will naturally receive endorsement from the convention. But if, as is likely, he decides to enter the gubernatorial race, it will throw the Democratic contest for the senatorial nomination wide open.

And that's where LaGuardia comes in. Originally, reports from Democratic headquarters in New York indicated that the Albany-Tammany political big-wigs favored former governor Herbert H. Lehman for senator. Lehman, who is also past director general of UNRRA, has a commendable progressive record as both governor and international relief administrator. The youthful Liberal party, which carries some weight with New York's mass of independent voters, nominated Lehman for senator and Mead for governor only a few weeks ago.

But, apparently because of LaGuardia's latest successes as a newspaper columnist, radio commentator and food expeditor, his name keeps bobbing up in the "political dope" columns more frequently of late. It is doubtful if New York city's ex-mayor would openly oppose Lehman in the state democratic convention, since the two men are of essentially the same political philosophy.

Observers are beginning to feel, however, that, while Lehman is certainly not lacking in ability, he nevertheless does not possess the force needed to spark the 1946 Democratic campaign in New York. LaGuardia, on the other hand, is a much more colorful campaigner and has built up a strong personal following around the state since he first went to congress as a representative back in the late twenties.

Lehman may withdraw as a candidate before the opening of the state convention. His friends, though, are giving him staunch support in the pre-September buildups and they're not likely to give up until they can be convinced that LaGuardia's candidacy could best help the Democratic cause. An old feud between LaGuardia and the Tammany machine, which he fought on several different occasions while mayor of New York, is also apt to play an important role in the behind-the-scenes discussions at Albany.

Mead's managers, according to Leo Egan, political reporter for The New York Times, concede that Lehman "would have to take himself out of the picture before they could put LaGuardia over in a Democratic convention." Since the vote-getting ability of the senatorial candidate will undoubtedly affect the outcome of the Mead-Dewey contest for governor, Mead's advisors are most anxious that the strongest possible ticket be endorsed by the Albany convention. And there's evidently good reason to believe that they think LaGuardia might supply the punch needed to fill the ballot boxes with Democratic votes come election day, November 5.

Meanwhile, Governor Dewey, with a strong GOP upstate machine and an excellent administrative record behind him, must be having the time of his life watching his opposition shuffle and reshuffle their cards. For, regardless of whether it's a Mead-Lehman or Mead-LaGuardia Democratic ticket this fall, the former Republican presidential candidate now stands a better than even chance of reelection.

If he wins the governorship again in 1946, Dewey will control the New York delegation to the national Republican convention in 1948. It's much too soon to scratch him off the list of White House possibilities.

And if either LaGuardia or Lehman is elected to the senate in November, President Truman may not have to look very hard for a running mate when the next Democratic national convention rolls around. A progressive New Yorker, with a sizeable popularity among liberal groups throughout the country, might be just what the Missouri Doctor ordered for his 1948 vice-presidential menu.

A House Divided

Our postwar truce, which at best is no better than a half-peace, is playing a strange, alarming trick on Americans. We are being divided, ever more sharply, into hostile camps of right and left.

More and more Americans are interpreting almost everything political or social in terms of black or red. To insist that many things are of mixed hue—perhaps light blue or gray—is to invite denunciation from both extremes. In our divided society, those who believe there must exist rational middle ground for safety are usually shouted down.

Although such splits have been and are common in European and Asiatic countries, this is something rather new for America. But the axe that separates right from left here in this nation has a much sharper edge, because American radicals and conservatives have never known the sobering effects of the suffering, the monetary or prestige losses imposed by two great wars waged in one lifetime on one's own soil. America has never learned more than just a fraction of the cost of hate-fanned political warfare.

We had a taste of European-style political warfare in Athens, Tennessee, recently. The cause of the veterans there who took the law in their own hands certainly seemed justified, but violence, nevertheless, was their means. Could this be a glimpse of what we can expect in the future?

We look at Europeans and declare that they have not achieved political maturity. Are we sure that we have? Or if we have, are we going to be able to maintain it at our present pace?

Those are questions that every one of us will have to answer soon; for, in these last few years, the United States has had the rare opportunity to meet revolutionary social pressures with restraint, with measured judgment and the spirit of compromise. Yet, never was the spirit of compromise in the world today more difficult to find than in these increasingly divided United States.

Twenty years of Fascism and Nazism have given us the bloodiest most costly bill in human history. But the extremists of left and right resume the fantastic folly precisely where the dictators left off just as if atomic bombs and germ spray weapons did not now promise annihilation to hundreds of millions where only millions died yesterday.

Who will deny that another war will mean national devastation for all of us and personal destruction for one third or half of us? That being the case, it is utterly stupid to permit bitter and fierce emotions to force more and more of us to the extreme right or extreme left.

As one example, we have heard of people who refuse to listen to Commerce Secretary Henry Wallace or to read what he has written because in their minds he represents the left. There aren't many people who accept Mr. Wallace's ideas on their individual merits—instead they say, "If he's for it, I'm agin' it" or "If he's for it, I'm for it."

What we're doing is putting people in pigeonholes and shutting our minds to anything they may hereafter do, for no matter what humanitarian cause—even for survival.

There are far too many angry, emotional voices in our divided society. It is time for the voices of moderation to speak up and open the minds of the great numbers of people who have closed them so tightly. This great American conflict must be compromised. That way lies our last, lone hope for peace.

Looking Ahead—

Waiting List for UN Membership

NEW YORK—The United Nations are likely to establish a probationary period for applicants for membership before accepting those whose admission is now strongly opposed by one or more members.

Of the eight nations which have applied, the cases of these four are considered controversial by the membership committee:

ALBANIA—Bitterly opposed by Greece, supported by Russia and Poland. Western powers inclined not to accept it now.

MONGOLIAN PEOPLE'S REPUBLIC—Opposed by China for at least a year, during which the character of the regime could be fully examined. Supported by Russia and Poland.

SIAM—May be opposed by French as result of frontier dispute with Indo-China. Supported tentatively by U. S., United Kingdom, China and India. Russia has remote yet watchful interest in anti-French Annamite rebellion, led by Moscow-trained Ho Chi Minh. It has bearing on French-Siam dispute.

TRANS-JORDAN—May meet opposition from some quarter because of alliance with Pan-Arabic opposition to Jewish migration into Palestine. Subject to recent obscure sniping in Soviet press.

No opposition is foreseen to acceptance of Afghanistan, Ireland, Portugal or Iceland. Nor of Sweden, if her application is filed in time for consideration by the membership committee before it reports to the security council Aug. 20.

FAIR WARNING

MEXICO CITY—The government has given warning that it will expel foreigners who endanger the nation's safety. A statement referring specifically to Axis nationals released from relocation camps, said the government had "exact and complete" information on their activities.

STILL IN THE SADDLE

WASHINGTON—Northern Democrats hailed the defeat of Rep. Slaughter (D., Mo.) because it would remove him from the rules committee, where he and other party conservatives frequently bottled up administration legislation.

By the World Staff of The Associated Press

But they will have some maneuvering to do if they are going to capitalize on the situation.

The house ways and means committee, which recommends men to fill committee vacancies, is controlled by conservative Democrats. They probably will try to replace Slaughter with someone like him. The showdown may come on the house floor, where committeemen are elected. Before that, however, it could be threshed out in a Democratic caucus.

P. S. Slaughter is chairman of the committee investigating surplus property disposal.

CAPITAL BITS

WASHINGTON—The postoffice department will issue the new five-cent air mail stamp about Oct. 1. The central design probably will be a four-engine plane.

Secretary of the Treasury Snyder is planning to name a tax expert as assistant secretary. The job usually has gone to a specialist on international finance.

MYSTERY LETTER

WASHINGTON—An anonymous letter first led the senate war investigating committee into its probe of the Garsson munitions combine. And it's missing from the committee files.

George Meader, committee counsel, says he has evidence that some of the persons interested in the case knew that the committee had received such a letter.

CLOUDLAND

WASHINGTON—Look for army airforces to put on more spectacular demonstrations such as the trip of two crewless B-17 drones from Hawaii to California.

Next will be a 10,000-mile flight by a B-29 over the magnetic North Pole from Honolulu to Cairo.

CHICAGO—Within four years rockets will range up to 6,000 miles and be capable of delivering with considerable accuracy "a telling tonnage of explosives," says Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Le May, head of the army airforces development staff. It is also possible, he says, that by 1950 we shall have jet propelled aircraft which can carry atomic bombs.

FOREIGN BRIEFS

JOHANNESBURG—Manilal Gandhi, son of Mohandas K. Gandhi, is in South Africa preparing to take part in a passive resistance struggle against anti-Asiatic laws.

WASHINGTON—Business groups are happy about President Truman's choice of men for the price de-control board, who look to them like conservatives: two are bankers, the other an industrialist. . . . Their first test will come Aug. 20, when ceilings on dairy products, grains, livestock, cottonseed and soybeans will be restored automatically unless the board exempts them. . . . Many navy officials are predicting that late this fall the department will authorize civvies off duty.

HERE AND THERE

CHICAGO—The American meat institute says enough meat now is being produced to provide the average consumer with four pounds a week—if he can afford it. This is an all-time high, says the institute, agriculture department experts, however, predict that meat will become short again in a month or less.

POLITICAL CALENDAR

SOUTH CAROLINA—Governatorial and house Democratic primary.

VERMONT AND WISCONSIN—Primaries for senator, house and governor, featuring attempt of Progressive Senator LaFollette to win Republican nomination in the Badger state.

WEDNESDAY

DELAWARE—Republican convention to pick senatorial and house candidates.

SATURDAY

DELAWARE—Democratic primary to name delegates to state convention.

Interpreting The News...

THE DUTCH HAVE MADE an astute political move to win back their rich Indonesian empire.

The Netherlands information service reports that Dutch negotiator Hubertus Van Mook has begun talking to the natives about a "United States of Indonesia."

Last month at a meeting held at Malino, Celebes, he got delegates from most of the island areas outside Java and Sumatra to say "okay" in principle.

They couldn't agree on just how this UST would be worked out, but they did give Van Mook exactly what he wanted—agreement that if Indonesia is going to be independent it has to become so gradually and under Dutch sponsorship.

This is something of an end run around the hard core of Indonesian revolt, which still grips the 40 million people of Java and the seven million of Sumatra, where native leaders demand full independence, now.

The outer islands on which Van Mook is working contain only 20 million or so of Indonesia's total population of 70 million.

But they represent a beginning of what Van Mook—who was born in the Indies—knows Holland must have if the Indies are to be quieted. This is Indonesian cooperation. He got what he did partly because outer islanders know that the only organized native leadership now is in Java, and they fear that Javanese leaders might run an independent Indonesia to suit Javanese.

The goal toward which Van Mook is edging is the same one announced in 1942 by Queen Wilhelmina after the empire fell to the Japanese—dominate status if Indonesians cooperate, and eventual independence later on if Indonesians still want it.

Van Mook hopes that Java and Sumatra will come in later. That hope is better founded today than at any time since Japan surrendered.

Patiently, carefully, the Dutch are working back. A total of $300,000,000 in American credits for rehabilitation in Indonesia and elsewhere lends economic muscle to their return.

BY STEVE PARK

(Beginning today, The Daily Iowan will publish each week this Sunday commentary on world affairs by Alexander G. Park, who is more commonly known as "Steve." Steve is a graduate student in journalism, having served at one time as managing editor of The Iowan. His articles on "World Government Now" which were printed in series in this newspaper last month proved to most of us that Steve Park is quite an unusual young man. His interest and knowledge of world affairs is almost uncanny and we believe he has a message which deserves your attention.—The Editor.)

ONCE, IN THE LONG, long ago (before you and I were even young, my dears) all the denizens of the jungle, realizing that no advances could be made in their civilization while anarchy prevailed, gathered in convention to formulate among themselves a body of law for the establishment of order in the forest.

From near and far the beasts assembled and an air of festivity and relief pervaded the jungle atmosphere.

Indeed, in the beginning there were many declamations on justice, fraternity and equality and all the beasts large and small agreed solemnly that the first order of the convention would be to insure these rights to all the animal clans.

The lion, the tiger and the elephant, who were the strongest and most feared of the assembled beasts, agreed they should be the proper guardians of the peace, and the smaller animals early deferred to them.

The three men conferred and tentatively decided their separate spheres of influence. Then, as justice demanded, all the beasts were called in, that their claims and preferences might be heard.

Now, some of the smaller animals, hearing so much talk of equality, began to think that discourses on equality really meant equality and some even dared to demand certain rights and privileges.

The jackal, who is a great talker anyway and quite clever to boot, saw the lion, who lived in a remote part of the jungle, was receptive to the pleas of the small and immediately jumped up and began to denounce the elephant, claiming that a majority (which the small animals comprised) should decide the conditions of peace.

Soon, other small animals began to clamor for their rights and the more clever of them tried to create dissension among the lion, the tiger and the elephant. At this, the elephant waxed angry and the "big three" of the jungle quarrelled among themselves.

When the elephant could stand it no longer, he trumpeted loudly and angrily; and the lion roared, and the tiger snarled and bared his teeth in rage.

The little animals, perceiving this, ran away quickly into the jungle and the "big three" said vicious things to each other and each stalked away to his own part of the jungle.

And everything was as it had been before. The law of the jungle remained the law of might; the weak fell prey to the strong, and the clever destroyed the stupid.

IN PARIS THIS WEEKEND the hope that a final peace for the axis satellite states might be written before fall seemed dim indeed. The haggling over voting procedure seems to have destroyed any semblance of unity between the Russian and Anglo-American blocs.

Although the Soviet Union still has the right of veto to any proposal which is offered, its enemies have gained a potent propaganda weapon which can be used to show that Russia intends to block any efforts toward peace when such efforts conflict with its alleged program to communize Europe.

The lunatic fringe, which is seeking to precipitate a war with Russia, has gained another wedge by which it can further disrupt the already strained relations between the Kremlin and Washington.

Needless to say, no peace can be written which even approaches reality without the concurrence of both Moscow and Washington and every estrangement between the two only delays the urgently needed settlement in Europe.

Harangues about right, justice and equality have little place in the dealing between the nations of our present world. In the jungle of international affairs, there is no right but the right of strength. Power alone is the criterion of justice, and equality is a feeble myth.

There are only two great worlds left, the United States and the Soviet Union. No world problem can be solved unless these two agree and continued estrangement between them leads inevitably toward war.

The late President Roosevelt recognized clearly the implications of this fact and recognized as well the desperate Soviet striving for security in the postwar world.

To afford this security, it was agreed tacitly at Teheran that Finland, Poland, Czechoslovakia and the Balkan states, with the exception of Greece, should fall in the Soviet sphere of influence while the rest of Europe remained under the purview of London and Washington.

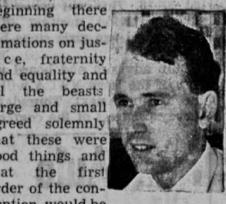

While the Soviets scrupulously upheld this agreement, the western powers were soon engaged in an anti-Russian campaign in the Balkans. Moscow, of course, countered with attacks on the dealings of the western states.

Thus, after five years of struggle, the nations, united in war and bloodshed are dis-united in peace. The old worn out idea of the Cordell Sanitaire is with us again and the Communist bogey is raised anew as the foremost threat to our democracy.

We must discard the symbols of hate and fear which are raised so often before our eyes and clear away the fog of words and charges and allegations and see the situation in its true perspective.

Peace in the Balkans must be a Russian peace and the states along the Russian borders must fall into the Soviet sphere. Russian fear and the Russian search for security demands it. Moscow is determined that the events which followed World War I shall not be repeated.

Just as Moscow recognizes American hegemony in the Latin America, she has a right to expect American deference to her security in Europe. She will take no less, for she truly believes that her own security and future peace demand as much.

Can LaFollette Buck GOP Organization For Senate Nomination?

WASHINGTON (AP)—Can Senator "Bob" LaFollette throw off his Progressive toga and buck the Wisconsin Republican organization for another senatorial nomination—this time as a GOP candidate.

All sides say it will be a close race. LaFollette supporters say they believe he can win if people vote in goodly numbers. A light vote, they add, would benefit the organization's candidate, Circuit Judge Joseph R. McCarthy, a former marine corps captain.

The Wisconsin primaries will be held Tuesday. Vermont and South Carolina will elect candidates the same day. Delaware holds a Republican convention Wednesday, and Delaware Democrats wind up political activity for the week with a primary Saturday.

The Vermont senatorial primary presents an interesting fight. A well known business man, Ralph E. Flanders, is opposing Jerry K. Waterman, 41-year-old attorney, for the Republican nomination. The seat is being vacated by Senator Warren K. Austin who will become American representative on the United Nations security council.

A South Carolina race among 11 Democrats is attracting attention in the south because it involves a liquor issue.

The primary will be watched too because it is the first since the state abolished its primary laws. This left the election entirely a party matter so Negroes could be challenged if they tried to vote.

Here are the highlights of the primary contests this coming week:

VERMONT

Contests for senate, house and governor are topped by the Flanders-Waterman GOP scrap for the right to run for Senator Austin's seat. Flanders has been high in state party councils for years. Waterman, his St. Johnsbury opponent, has been active for some time in young Republican circles in New England.

Flanders has the backing of the state CIO organization. Flanders, like Austin, favors a strong role for America in international affairs.

Governor Mortimer R. Proctor, Republican, is being challenged for a second term nomination by former Senator Ernest W. Gibson. The state's lone congressman, Rep. Charles A. Plumley, Republican, is opposed by Andrew E. Nuquist, University of Vermont professor.

There are no fights on the Democratic side.

WISCONSIN

LaFollette, a senator since 1925 tossed away his progressive label several months ago when it was apparent his party was on the way out in Wisconsin. But when he offered himself as a Republican, the state party convention gave him only one vote. It endorsed McCarthy with 2,328 votes.

The convention refused to support 83-year-old Gov. Walter S. Goodrich self-styled "young old codger," in his bid for another term. It endorsed Delbert J. Kenney, 50, an investment banker for the gubernatorial nomination.

A third GOP candidate for governor is Maj. Gen. Ralph M. Inmell, former state adjutant general, Daniel W. Hoan, former Socialist mayor of Milwaukee, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Perry J. Stearns, Milwaukee lawyer defeated by Milwaukee Senator Wiley in the last primary, is a third man in the race with LaFollette and McCarthy. Former Rep. Howard J. McMurray, defeated by Wiley in the last general election, is the lone senatorial

SOUTH CAROLINA

Gov. Ransome J. Williams succeeded to the governorship in 1944, when Olin D. Johnston resigned to go to the senate. He is one of 11 candidates for nomination as governor in the Democratic primary. He advocates a state liquor stores system to replace the present private stores.

Del O'Neal, a former automobile race driver and Hollywood stunt man who at one time operated a Columbia night club, is one of Williams' challengers. He wants legalized bars and pantmule betting to raise more money for school teachers and state employes.

Three of the state's six congressmen have opposition—Reps. Hare, Bryson, and McMillan.

DELAWARE

The Republican state convention Wednesday will choose candidates for the senate and house in accordance with a primary election for convention delegates held Aug. 3.

The Democrats will hold their primary to pick convention delegates Saturday. Their convention will be held Aug. 20.

Abigail F. Morrison, Stephen Driftmier Wed in Shenandoah

In a double ring ceremony performed yesterday afternoon at Shenandoah, Miss Abigail Florence Morrison, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lawrence Morrison of Onawa, became the bride of Mr. Stephen Wayne Driftmier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Henry Driftmier of Shenandoah.

The service was read in the bridegroom's home by the Rev. Henry Robbins of St. John's Episcopal church in Shenandoah. Fifty-five guests attended the wedding.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Henry Black Morrison of Nevada, Iowa. Miss Margaret Shuttleworth, a June graduate of the university, was the maid of honor. Best man was Mr. Donald Driftmier of Shenandoah.

Mrs. Driftmier, a June graduate of the university, was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma social sorority and Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity.

A senior in the college of commerce, Mr. Driftmier is affiliated with Delta Sigma Pi. He is past president of the Quadrangle council.

The couple will be at home at 416 Second avenue after a five-week honeymoon in Wisconsin.

Iowa to Participate In Liberian Centennial

William C. Ferguson, Iowa City publisher of the Eyes magazine, has received an invitation for Iowa's participation in the Liberian centennial to be held next year. The celebration will be held in Monrovia, capital of the West African Negro republic.

Iowan participation will be in the agricultural exhibit. Ferguson plans to report to Governor Blue on the Iowa roll in the event and will recommend three persons to represent Iowa in Liberia.

The Liberian republic is an outgrowth of American colonization in Africa. She declared her independence July 26, 1847.

$425,000—Mountain For Sale

By RALPH DIGHTON PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Mount Wilson, home of the Carnegie Institution's observatory and 100-inch telescope, is for sale. The price tag reads $425,000.

Owner Albert C. Childs says the 6,000-foot peak would be cheap at twice the price.

Mount Wilson observatory, which draws thousands of tourists every year, won't be included in the deal. But the new owner will get leases signed by 14 radio stations and newspapers interested in television, and the mountain's real estate and recreational development.

In a couple of years the Wilson telescope will be dwarfed when a 200-inch sky probe goes into operation on Palomar mountain, some 60 miles south. That doesn't worry Childs; with prospective investment in television plants running into several millions, he foresees the day when there will be a whole city on the mountain top, inhabited by thousands of television workers and tourist-caterers.

The peak's potentialities as a television center of the west are considerable. Thirty various interests have approached Childs for experimental sites; 14 have bought or leased land, and he still has 720 acres left.

Engineers have told him, he says, that transmitters on the mountain have a line-of-sight radius of 100 miles or more. They figure they can reach as far north as Santa Barbara (96 miles) and as far south as San Diego (126 miles).

Glider Pilots Challenge Thunderstorms

Bad Weather Tests Promote Safe Flying

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Every day, three glider pilots go aloft in fragile sailplanes from Pinecastle army air field and deliberately set out to challenge the worst thunderstorms they can find.

The three are working on a project conducted by the U. S. weather bureau and the army air forces. To learn all the hazards of Florida's semi-tropical storms and how to reduce them.

They are Paul Tuntland of Los Angeles, William Dolger of New York, former chief instructor of the army's mobile glider school, and Don Pollard of Roanoke, Va., former navy flier.

Each afternoon one of the three, or all of them, cuts his frail glider loose from a tow plane near the base of one of the big thunderheads which prevail in this area during the summer months. Then, entering the cloud, the sailplane begins a rapid ascent borne aloft by the strong thermals.

Tuntland recently claimed a new world's altitude record for two-place gliders when he sailed his small craft 18,700 feet above the point of release, or 22,700 feet above sea level.

The veteran glider pilots encounter all sorts of weather phenomena—rain, snow, sleet, and lightning.

The sailplane skippers scoff at the obvious dangers. They claim that it is less hazardous to be aloft in a glider than in a motor-powered plane.

Dodgers Gain Over Idle Cardinals

Bums Homer To Shutout Phillies, 6-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—With Rube Melton twirling a three-hit shutout, the Brooklyn Dodgers extended their victory string over Philadelphia to an even dozen without a defeat yesterday as they whipped the Phillies 6-0.

The victory, Brooklyn's 18th in a row over the Phils in Shibe park, increased the National league leaders' margin over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to two and a half games. The Dodgers haven't lost in Philadelphia since Sept. 10, 1944.

Home runs by Cookie Lavagetto and Howie Schultz sparked the 13-hit assault on Raffensberger. ## Williams Loses Bat Duel To Yanks, 7-5

NEW YORK (AP)—Ted Williams finally broke a season-long slump at the Yankee stadium yesterday with a pair of home runs and a single but the Boston Red Sox slugger was forced to yield the hero's role to Aaron Robinson who also blasted two home runs, the second coming with two on in the 12th inning to give the New York Yankees a 7-5 victory over the American league leaders.

Williams had sent the Red Sox into the lead in the first of the 12th with his second homer of the game and his 31st of the season. The Yanks rallied after two were out in their half when Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller singled and rode in ahead of Robinson's 13th round tripper of the year.

The winning clout, made off Clem Dreisewerd, sent the southpaw down to his first defeat against four victories.

Battle of Home Runs

Pirates Edge Cubs On Johnson's Error

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The cellar-dwelling Pittsburgh Pirates won their first game for their new owners yesterday, edging the third-place Chicago Cubs, 3-2.

The Pirates, who had only six hits to the Cubs 11, earned two of their tallies in the first and sixth innings but got a gift tally in the fifth when Don Johnson, Cub second baseman, let a ball go through him.

Nick Strincevich went the distance for the winners, carefully scattering the 11 hits. He got most of his hitting help from third sacker Bob Elliott who had a triple, double and a single.

Chicago shortstop Len Merullo was spiked sliding into second in the ninth inning but wasn't hurt badly.

A's Split Double Bill With Nats

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics split a doubleheader with Washington yesterday, losing the first game 4-1 and winning the second 8-3.

The late afternoon victory checked a 7-game losing streak for the Phillies.

Philadelphia hammered Sid Hudson and Bill Kennedy for 15 hits in the second game. They grasped a 6-0 lead off Hudson and scoring two more runs off Kennedy in the ninth inning after Washington had sliced the A's advantage to 6-3 with two runs in the seventh and added another in the eighth.

Fritsch Rejoins Packers Pro Football Team

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—Ted Fritsch, who hopped to the Cleveland Browns of the All-American conference, rejoined the Green Bay Packers yesterday and Coach E. L. (Curly) Lambeau said there "absolutely had been no deal" with the rival league on a player exchange.

"We had a priority on Fritsch because he played with us last year," Lambeau said, "and we also had a priority clause in our contract preceding that which he signed with the Cleveland Browns."

Lambeau declared that Fritsch signed with the Packers late yesterday and would report for practice Monday. He added that the big fullback had received part of his 1946 Packer pay before he signed with the Browns.

George Strickler, national league publicist, declared "there was no question of a contract fight between Green Bay and Cleveland."

"Fritsch just didn't want to play with the Browns," Strickler said. "He wanted to come back to his home state." Fritsch is from Stevens Point.

Strickler also said that no "deals" had been made with the Browns.

"They didn't want Fritsch because he didn't want to play football for them. He wanted to be back with the Packers and the Browns just let him go," Strickler said.

He added that a deal with the All-American conference was "impossible" because the national league does not recognize that conference.

Fritsch, who previously had reported to the Cleveland Browns of the All-American conference, would not discuss leaving the Browns' camp at Bowling Green, Ohio, other than to say "I just made a mistake, that's all."

Then, waving his Green Bay contract, he added "but this makes everything all right."

Fritsch motored over to the Packers training camp from the Stevens Point, Wis., home. He will begin workouts with the Packers Monday.

Earlier, Cleveland announced it would return Fritsch to the Packers if the Packers would send a "name" player to the Los Angeles Rams of the National league and if the Rams would withdraw their suit for a court order to restrain ex-Ram tackle Chet Adams from playing with Cleveland.

At Philadelphia, National football league commissioner Bert Bell said a player exchange between the two leagues was "absolutely out of the question."

He declared he hadn't "heard a word" about Cleveland's announced "deal" and said it was something the Browns had "cooked up."

Bell was asked about a possible "contract war" between the two leagues and he replied that "we're not making any deals with the All-American boys at all."

At Cleveland, a Browns spokesman said he was "not surprised" that Fritsch had returned to the Packers. He made it clear the fullback had been sent back to Green Bay by the Browns.

The spokesman, who declined use of his name, said there was no further comment pending developments on the deal designed to keep Adams with the Browns and added that "the Browns are not in the habit of making up tales."

Three Days of Auto Races

Championship Drivers Assure Top Thrills On Hawkeye Downs Dirt Track

CEDAR RAPIDS—Championship auto racing, with wide-open competition and with the fastest field ever to compete on the Hawkeye Downs half-mile oval, returns to the All-Iowa Fair after a wartime "blackout" Sunday for a three-day speed-fest that brings together most of the nation's fastest dirt track cars and drivers.

More than 20 drivers have entered their big speedsters in the three days of competition that will feature the All-Iowa exposition Aug. 11, 12 and 16.

In addition to the all-star field entered, Barney Oldfield, the "Grand Old Man of Racing" who set dozens of speed records when racing was in its infancy, will officiate at each day's seven-event program as referee and pacesetter. Oldfield not only will act on questions of racing rules that may arise, but also will drive the pace car that will lead the fast fields around the track in the daily feature events to get them off to flying, speedway-style starts.

Heading the field of entrants will be Iowa's own Emory Collins of LeMars, classed as the top dirt track driver of the nation today. Collins, who holds seven International Motor Contest Association records and dozens of track records throughout the Midwest, will head an all-out assault on speed marks at Hawkeye Downs promised by virtually every entrant.

However, Collins will find he has plenty of competition in the star-studded field already entered. Ben Musick, former Texas champion and one of only two drivers who has defeated Collins in postwar competition, will have his Offenhauser on the track. Deb Snyder, who defeated Musick to win the Eddie Nicholson Memorial Sweepstakes at Milwaukee last month, also will have another Offenhauser in the competition.

Mulloy, McNeill In Tennis Finals

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—Gardner Mulloy of Miami, Fla., and Don McNeill of Orange, N. J., advanced to the finals of the Eastern Grass Court tennis championships at Orange Lawn tennis club yesterday.

Mulloy, seeded fourth in the draw, reached the finals by defeating Felicissimo H. Ampon of Chick Smith of Frankfort, Ky., with the famous Bowles Offenhauser, is another entrant.

Iowa will be well represented, too, in the star-studded field. In addition to Collins, Al Speth of Davenport, Les Raymond of Washington, and Garmand (Speedy) Butts and Clarence (Sonny) Ebsen of Cedar Rapids will have speedsters in the running—and the points toward a national championship—that go with the three days of racing here.

In all, there will be seven events daily. After the time trials, scheduled for 1 p. m., daily, there will be three heat races, a match race among the fastest qualifiers, an Australian Pursuit race and the lone feature event.

Collins and Musick will bring two of the biggest Offenhauser race cars ever constructed to the races here. Both are over 300 cubic-inch piston displacement.

Snyder, seriously injured in a race at Milwaukee in June, and Smith both will have big Offenhausers entered. There will be Miller Specials, Riley's, Hals, Cragars, Frontenacs and other well-known types of speedsters in the big field.

In addition to those drivers mentioned, such other pilots well-known to midwestern race fans entered include: Tex Petersen of Pasadena, Calif.; Lou Miller of Akron, Ohio, who will be here with his 18-year-old son Billy, as his mechanic—the only father-son combination in dirt track racing; Bud Simonson of St. Paul, Minn.; Bill Hoff of Minneapolis; Lutz Ratke of Cedarburg, Wis.; Charles Schumate of Detroit; Joe Baker of Indianapolis; Mearle Heath of Silvis, Ill.; Paul Craver of Chicago; Earl Green of Peoria, Ill.; Bob Simpson of Pontiac, Mich., and others.

Feller Whiffs Four As Browns Lose

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Fireball Bob Feller, working three innings in relief as the Cleveland Indians beat the St. Louis Browns 5-3 last night, whiffed four Browns to run his season's strikeout total to 255, but was outdone by Brown reliever Ellis Kinder who fanned four Indians in two frames.

Mel Harder got credit for the victory which seemed safe after a three-run first inning assault on Nels Potter, but Rapid Robert was waved in with the Browns trailing 1-5 when Walt Judnich walked and Chet Laabs doubled to open the seventh. They scored on a long fly, a wild pitch and an infield out, but the only batter to reach first off Feller was Judnich on an error.

Singles by Jack Conway, Hank Edwards and Lou Boudreau, a double by Felix Mackiewicz and a walk to Heinz Becker made up the opening inning spree.

West Tops East, 10-4

Ty Cobb's Juniors Drop Wagner's Boys In All-American Tilt

CHICAGO (AP)—The West walloped the East, 10-4 yesterday in the All-American boys' baseball game before 28,211 at Wrigley Field, and major league scouts obtained a good look at wild and woolly baseball as played by inspired lads from city and crossroads.

Spurning baseball togs and jauntily wearing a gay palm beach suit on the field, immortal Ty Cobb watched his Western squad take its first victory in the three-year-old series by effectively mixing 10 hits with 14 walks off five East pitchers used by Honus (Hans) Wagner.

The game had its heroes, among them outfielder Walt Pockeyk from Richmond, Calif., who belted four hits in five trips, but in general a bevy of major scouts saw "Ivory" that made all the mistakes likely from 16 and 17-year-oldsters in a big league park.

The East triumphed 6-0 and 5-4 last year at New York's Polo Grounds in the teen-aged classic sponsored by Esquire magazine.

Cobb and Wagner, the latter waddling proudly in a bright baseball uniform, grinned and bore it as their pitching charges issued a total of 23 bases on balls which helped the contest struggle three hours and nine minutes.

Pasquels Flood Stars With Tempting Offers

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Mexican league "has flooded every team in both leagues with offers to star players," Augie Galan, Brooklyn Dodgers infielder and one of the National league-leading teams representatives in player-owner conferences, said yesterday.

"Offers are coming in every day," Galan said, "and unless some of the owners realize what's coming up next year they may wake up without ball clubs."

The St. Louis Star-Times, reporting a telephone conference with Jorge Pasquel, Mexican league president at his Mexico City home, Friday quoted him as saying: "The baseball war is on again as a result of Mickey Owen's desertion from my league after signing a five-year contract. We will redouble all efforts to encourage the biggest stars in major league baseball to come here and accept our large salaries."

Galan's statement was corroborated by Roy Hughes, Philadelphia Phillies infielder and also a player representative in the conferences with the owners. He claimed that Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox batting ace, has been offered a signed blank check for his services in 1947.

Ormsbee Falls To Coggeshall

DES MOINES (AP)—Harris Coggeshall scored his second straight upset in the Missouri valley tennis championships yesterday dropping second-seeded Jack Ormsbee of Kansas City, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, to go into today's men's final against Lt. Dick Hainline.

The Des Moines lawyer outstayed the Kansas State singles champion and gained some help from Ormsbee's nine double faults.

Fighting hard for every point, Coggeshall and Ormsbee went to deuce in twelve games.

Top-seeded Hainline toppled George Counts of Oklahoma City, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1, in his typical blasting fashion.

Doris Jensen who meets Doris Pople in today's women's singles final, captured the Junior Girls' crown on a 6-3, 6-4 decision over Edla Carlson.

The Junior Boys' title went to Kansas City's Frank Sebree with a repeat victory over Don Lewis of Fort Madison, 6-1, 6-3. Sebree beat Lewis in the Iowa championships last week.

Sebree teamed with David Hughes of Kansas City for the Junior Boys' doubles crown, beating Gordon Chapman and Bud Pople of Des Moines, 6-1, 7-5.

Quick's Temper Up As Stranahan Wins

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A 12-foot putt that dropped on the 39th hole gave Frank Stranahan a one up victory over Smiley Quick of Inglewood, Calif., ending a feud that flared up twice during the morning round but remained quiet during the afternoon round of the Western Amateur golf tournament yesterday.

Stranahan thus won the right to meet Marvin "Bud" Ward of Spokane, Wash., for the title. Ward defeated George Victor of Chicago, 5 and 4, in the other 36-hole semi-final match.

The ill-feeling between Stranahan and Quick became apparent with the tee-off on the morning round when the two drove without shaking hands. Neither contestant spoke to the other until on the sixth green after Stranahan had walked off to the fifth green and over to the sixth green before Quick had dropped his putt.

Quick walked up to the Toledo Amateur and said:

"I'm going to put the spurs on you from now on."

"You're going to have to," Stranahan replied.

"With your swing, I don't have to worry too much," Quick replied.

The other exchange came on the sixth green after Quick calmly sank perhaps the longest putt of the tournament, leaving Stranahan to drop a five-footer.

"Here's one place your million won't do any good," Quick told Stranahan, one of the wealthiest young men in golf.

When Stranahan missed his putt, Quick said:

"That's the worst choke putt I've ever seen."

All during the 39 holes the two were sniping at each other with actions.

Over 700 Attend Local Farm Bureau, 4-H Club Celebration

Softball Tournament Highlights All-Day Centennial Festivities

More than 700 persons took part in an all-day centennial celebration sponsored by the Johnson county farm bureau in conjunction with the county-wide 4-H club sports festival in City park yesterday.

Highlight of the day was a softball tournament won by the Blue Ribbon Winners 4H team.

The Blue Ribbon Winners took both the morning game with the Cosgrove Hustlers and the afternoon game with the Victory 4-H club team with scores of 10-7.

Nineteen players were chosen by a sports committee, from which an all-county team will be selected to represent Johnson county 4-H clubs at the statewide 4-H sports festival to be held during September at Iowa State college in Ames.

Harold Larew, North Liberty, won the tree identification contest by naming 15 out of 17 trees. The contest was directed by R. B. Campbell, extension forester for Iowa State college.

Campbell later spoke on developing farm timber and demonstrated new uses and products for lumber used in construction.

After a picnic lunch served in the lower shelter house at City park, 15 families were honored by the Johnson county farm bureau for "outstanding contributions to agricultural development".

Emmett Gardner, county extension director, awarded certificates for century-old farm ownership to these 15 families, whose farms have been in the family for more than 100 years. According to Gardner, there are 25 families in Johnson county eligible for the award.

Alegria Gardner, Iowa City, won the ball driving event in the afternoon girls contest.

Kenneth Smalley, Iowa City, won the baseball throwing contest for boys over 17, with Harold Larew taking first for boys between 14 and 17. Robert Riggie, North Liberty, won the event for boys under 14.

The football passing and kicking contest was won by Smalley for boys over 17 and Don Wood, Tiffin, for boys under 17.

In the girls' baseball throwing contest, Alegria Gardner won the contest for girls over 16, with Marjorie Gardner, Iowa City, taking the event for girls under 16.

Army Answers AVC On Quota Protest

Negro enlistments in the army will be held to the ratio of the Negro population of the United States, according to an army letter received Thursday by the local chapter of the American Veterans Committee in answer to a written protest.

The AVC had protested the cut-back in Negro enlistments as being based on racial prejudices. They charged this was not in keeping with American traditions of fair play and equal opportunity.

Major General E. F. Witsell, the adjutant general of the army, told the vets this policy was arrived at by a board of officers which has been considering the question since the advent of the Selective Service Act. The recommendations of the board were approved by the secretary of war and adopted as war department policy.

To maintain this ratio, Negro enlistments are limited to persons having any one of 48 military occupational specialties and at least six months service in the armed forces.

Adair Asks Possession Of Jensen Residence

Harry Adair filed a petition in district court yesterday to secure immediate possession of the premises at 525 S. Linn street, now occupied by Martin and Effie Jensen.

Adair charges that the tenants refused to pay rent due July 12 and that they refused to obey a three-day notice to quit the premises.

According to the petition, Adair acquired possession of the property March 22, 1946. His attorney is Harold W. Vestermark.

A class of candidates will be initiated and picnic plans will be discussed.

A report on the Iowa State Federation of Labor and Iowa Council No. 5 convention held at Davenport, Aug. 3 to 9, will be given by President Raymond Wagner.

Wagner was appointed to the legislative committee of the federation and council during the convention.

Hannah Files Counter-Claim

A counter-claim of $2461.19 has been filed by William A. Hannah against Marcella J. Kearns in Johnson county district court.

Mrs. Kearns filed suit July 30 against Hannah, accusing him of negligence in an accident June 27.

Hannah charges damage to his car in the same accident was caused by the negligence and carelessness of Mrs. Kearns and claimed damages of $2,000 for permanent injury, pain and suffering, loss of time performing work, repairs to his automobile and loss of use of the automobile.

In her claim, Mrs. Kearns asked damages of $1,128.69 for personal injuries which she says hinder her in pursuing her normal vocation and requested a jury trial.

According to Mrs. Kearns, the car driven by Hannah struck her car while he was attempting to make a turn at the corner of College and Dubuque streets, injuring her and damaging the left side of the car. Mrs. Kearns was driving a car owned by Charles B. Parmelee at the time of the accident.

Attorneys for Mrs. Kearns are Albrecht, Knox and Taylor. Hannah is represented by Atty. William F. Morrison.

Board of Adjustment Approves 3 Petitions

The board of adjustment approved three petitions for construction not conforming to zoning ordinances at their meeting yesterday.

Meda Smith, 424 Clark street, was granted permission to remodel her present residence into apartments.

Harold L. Hurd was granted permission to enlarge a grocery store located at 1027 Rochester avenue.

Ralph Goody was granted permission to erect an auto parts service shop at 807 Maiden Lane. The next meeting of the board is scheduled for 8 a. m. Tuesday in City Hall.

OLD AND YOUNG alike joined the festivities at the county-wide farm bureau picnic held in City park yesterday. The children are Joyce and Raymond Kaefering of Oxford. Seated at the table is Henry R. Taylor, 68, who claims to be the champion checker player of Rutland county, Vt. Mr. Taylor is visiting Mrs. H. J. Dane, route 4.

Official Predicts— Iowa Junior Colleges —Crowded to Capacity

DES MOINES (AP)—Iowa's 21 junior colleges, an increase of six over last year, probably will be crowded to capacity, too, this fall, according to J. P. Street, director of public instruction and a 60 percent favorable majority vote of the citizens of the school district to establish a junior college.

"Iowa State college and the University of Iowa are anxious to have their overflow go to our junior colleges to take their preliminary training while such crowded conditions exist," Street said.

"The biggest bulge in college enrollment is caused by freshmen, and the second biggest bulge is caused by sophomores," he continued. "Those are the students junior colleges can handle. The schools are prepared to give the pre-professional courses freshmen and sophomores have to have anyway."

Street said the chances are all of the junior colleges will be crowded to their limits of space and staff to handle the prospective enrollments.

Fort Dodge, with a normal enrollment of 50, will have well over 300 students — many more than that junior college ever handled before. The Burlington school expects an enlarged enrollment of as many as 400 students. Webster City, with a normal student body of 25 to 30, expects 100.

Clinton will open a junior college for the first time this fall. Those at Clarinda, Red Oak, Sheldon, Washington and Webster City, which closed due to the war-

Velma Mace Files Suit for Divorce

Three petitions for divorce were filed yesterday in district court.

Mrs. Velma Mace, 308 Lafayette street, asks a divorce from Raymond Mace and custody of their three children, Deanna, 7, Barbara, 6, and Nancy, 3. In addition she asks child support and alimony. The couple was married in Muscatine, June 10, 1938, and separated August 6, 1946.

Mrs. Alice Maruth in her petition asking a divorce from John O. Maruth, also asks permission to resume her former name. She requests title to furniture and personal effects in her residence at Morse, Iowa. They were married in Iowa City Nov. 5, 1941, and separated June 2, 1944.

Petition for divorce was filed by Theodore L. Gershun against his wife, Delores Gershun. The couple was married in Greenville, S.C., on June 16, 1945 and separated immediately.

Gershun asks an injunction to restrain the defendant from interfering with his education, and petitions the court to make just provision for the support of one child.

"Perry will have a junior college later," Street said. "It's only a matter of time. There probably won't be another election soon, however, because it is too late now to get ready for opening a junior college by fall."

FRIED CHICKEN was the best part of the picnic lunch for Harry Gregory, 5, and his sister Anna Lou, 2. They live with their parents at Scanlon's dairy farm, route 2.

R.L. Gage to Attend Conference in Evanston

Garbage Strike

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Street Commissioner George Stoner last night estimated by Monday nearly a 1,000,000 pounds of refuse would lie uncollected in Tulsa alleys and backyards as a result of a strike of garbage collectors and street employees.

Not Guilty Plea Entered On Desertion Charge

Ralph Streets entered a plea of not guilty to charges of child desertion in district court yesterday.

Judge James P. Gaffney set his bail bond at $1,000.

In the attorney's information filed by County Attorney Jack C. White, Streets was charged with "willfully neglecting with-out good cause to maintain and provide for his minor child".

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday by R. Nielsen Miller, clerk of district court, to the following:

Leonard E. Shramek, Swisher, and Iris Alma Ford, Cedar Rapids; John J. Gall and Catherine Gall, previously divorced from each other, Streator, Ill.

Extra 10 Days Given for Gas Tax Rehearing

L. V. Carlton, Iowa City real estate man, yesterday was granted an extra 10 days in which to file an application for a rehearing on his challenge of the constitutionality of Iowa's fourth cent gasoline tax.

Chief Justice T. G. Garfield of the Iowa supreme court extended the time limit for the rehearing application to Sept. 7. The usual 30-period for filing for a rehearing would have expired Aug. 29.

Carlton had asked that the date be extended until Oct. 29 because of what he termed the length and complexity of the supreme court's unanimous decision July 29, which upheld the tax.

The law, passed by the last legislature, brings in about $5,000,000 annually in gasoline taxes which will go to counties and towns for road and street improvements. The other three cents of the tax was not challenged.

Iowa City will receive about $23,000 as its share of the yearly revenue. Johnson county expects about $30,000 yearly.

Justice Garfield set Sept. 17 as the final date for a state resistance to the rehearing to be filed and ordered the matter to be submitted to the court that same week.

County Veterans Invited To Attend AVC Party In Community Building

Johnson county veterans have been invited to attend a party given by the local chapter of the American Veterans Committee Thursday evening at 8:30 in the Community building. The party is the last event on the AVC program for the summer.

Dancing in the lounge will follow a short business meeting. Refreshments will be served at a snack bar in the basement. Door prizes will be awarded.

The next meeting of the executive committee will be held August 24, at Iowa Union. A committee will be appointed to conduct AVC affairs until the start of the fall semester.

The local AVC chapter has been notified the terminal leave pay plan proposed by the AVC was included in the final draft of the bill. The AVC sponsored plan will allow leave pay bonds to be cashed and the money applied on GI life insurance.
