Britain to Ask Full Power Over Palestine

Arabians, Russians Line Up to Oppose British Request to UN

LONDON (AP)— Britain will ask the United Nations for sole trusteeship over Palestine, a well-qualified government source said yesterday, and there were immediate indications the move would touch off a widespread diplomatic battle for control of the strategic Holy Land.

Arab sources in London said the Arab countries surrounding Palestine would press instead for complete independence of the tiny country—and it was suggested that Egypt would ask for trusteeship if the independence move failed.

U.S. to Favor Move
Diplomatic quarters said Russia, which long has urged that the British get out of Palestine and let Jews and Arabs settle their own problems, could be expected to oppose British trusteeship. The United States, building an oil pipeline across Palestine could be expected to favor it they added.

While the Jewish Agency for Palestine made no official comment, a spokesman said Holy Land Jews would not oppose United Nations discussion of the trusteeship and would accept any regime that gave them "a fair share" of control over immigration and certain other matters.

The official who disclosed Britain's plan said it was necessary because the British League of Nations mandate for Palestine expired with the league. Without direct reference to Winston Churchill's recent suggestion that the mandate be surrendered, the official said:

Churchill had urged in effect up the mandate and has not even considered doing so."

Churchill had urged in effect that Britain wash her hands of troubled Palestine unless the United States helped her solve the conflicting claims.

Problem for Britain
President Truman recently informed the British that the U. S. believes the Palestine problem is one for Britain, as the mandatory power, to solve in consultation with Jews and Arabs.

British conferences with Arab league representatives on Palestine's future will begin early in September, a foreign office spokesman said yesterday.

The colonial office added that discussions were still going on to determine whether the Jewish Agency for Palestine would take part in similar talks.

Yugoslav 'Outrage' Draws U.S. Protest; Tito Asks Respect for Air Sovereignty

State Department Publicizes Third Stiffly-Worded Note

By ALEX H. SINGLETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—An outraged state department shot a third stiff note to Yugoslavia yesterday this time over attack of an American transport plane forced to a crash landing.

Word came from the navy, at the same time, that Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, acting commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, and Vice Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, deputy chief of naval operations, are en route to Europe. Details of their mission were not disclosed but reports from London said they would visit "troubled areas."

The official American view that the Yugoslav attack on an American plane is an "outrageous performance" was expressed by Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson, who is in charge at the state department during Secretary Byrnes' absence in Paris.

His voice edged with anger, the usually mild-mannered acting secretary adopted the unusual practice of permitting his indictment to be quoted directly, and went on to say that the incident was not one to be expected from a friendly nation.

He made public at his news conference a "most emphatically" worded official protest against the action and the attitude of the responsible Yugoslav officials, plus

TRUMAN GETS STORY
WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN IN THE ATLANTIC—(AP)— Secretary of State Byrnes gave President Truman a full account of all developments in the Yugoslav situation last night with a transatlantic telephone call from Paris to the Yacht Williamsburg.

The note dealt primarily with an attack on an American army transport plane Aug. 9 which was fired upon by Yugoslav fighters and forced to crash land in a cornfield after being forced off its course by bad weather. One passenger, apparently not an American, was wounded.

But it included also a reference to reports from Trieste that "a second United States plane en route to Italy from Austria is missing after having last reported itself under machine gun attack."

Piled atop the disclosure of the note—the third to Yugoslavia made public within the last 24 hours—came these additional reflections of grave displeasure at developments in Soviet spheres:

1. Delivery to Poland of a note saying that persecution of the Polish Labor party, arrest, censorship restriction, administrative interference "and other repressive acts" have prevented "normal democratic political activity in Poland." This country extended recognition to the Polish provisional government with the stipulation, reached by the Big Three at Yalta, that it guarantee "free and unfettered elections."

2. Acheson's announcement that he had handed Soviet Charge D'Affaires Fedor Orekov a note setting forth this country's position in regard to Russia's demand for a share in the military control of the strategic Dardanelles. Although Acheson declined to discuss the contents of the note, diplomatic authorities reported that it constitutes this country's unqualified opposition to the Russian plan.

The European visit of Admirals Mitscher and Sherman, both commanders of aircraft carriers during the Pacific fighting, coincides with the scheduled departure from Lisbon today of the powerful new flat-top Franklin D. Roosevelt. The Roosevelt with two escorting destroyers is bound for the Mediterranean on what is officially described as a training cruise with other warships on European station.

U.S. Troops Display Might at Venezia Giulia

GORIZIA (AP)—More than 10,000 troops of the crack United States 88th division in full war gear paraded in the Allied occupation zone of Venezia Giulia yesterday, so close to the dividing Morgan line that Yugoslav forces could witness the impressive display of American might.

All troops who could be spared from guarding the Morgan line took part in the spectacle, staged at a time when Yugoslavia's relations with Britain and the United States were plummeting to a new low.

The timing of the display appeared to be at least partly coincidence, since the occasion was the award of battle honors. Some of the long series of incidents heightening the strain occurred after the military review had been scheduled.

The 88th division is the only United States division in Europe still at fighting strength.

The military display was viewed here as highly significant. Eyeing British Spitfires roaring overhead, Lt. Gen. John C. H. Lee, acting supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, commented on the close integration of British-American forces in the 13th Allied corps occupying zone "A" of Venezia Giulia.

"A convincing demonstration of Allied military power," General Lee remarked after the last of the troops wheeled past the reviewing stand.

Des Moines Sees Legionnaires Parade

SIOUX CITY SUE

DES MOINES (AP)—Thousands of perspiring veterans of two world wars, accompanied by hundreds of flags and banners tossing in the breeze and more than half a dozen drum corps and bands, passed down two miles of Locust street yesterday in the one official parade of the 28th annual Iowa American Legion convention.

Additional thousands of persons, including a number of Legionnaires, lined the street to watch as Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, Vice Admiral Robert B. Carney, Gov. Robert D. Blue and others led the way in automobiles.

Gov. BLUE — GEN. WAINWRIGHT — ADM. CARNEY
Drawing more attention with greetings and some wolf calls was "Sioux City Sue" in the person of 19-year-old Gayle Jean Hofstad. Attired in a white, two-piece bathing suit and carrying a bouquet of mixed flowers, her mission was to encourage the Legionnaires to hold their 1947 convention in her hometown.

Contradicts U.S. Diplomat's Version Of Plane Incident

LONDON, Wednesday (AP)—Premier Marshal Tito, demanding that Yugoslavia's air sovereignty be respected, today contradicted an American diplomat's account of the downing of a United States transport plane in Yugoslavia on Aug. 9.

In a statement broadcast to Yugoslav workers over the Belgrade radio and issued here by the Yugoslav news agency, Tito denied that the American plane, forced down near Ljubljana by gunfire of two Yugoslav fighter craft, had been lost in the clouds.

Tito declared that Yugoslavia desires peace, "but not at any price."

The broadcast said that Tito was an eyewitness to the forcing down of the American plane on Aug. 9, explaining that he was vacationing in Slovenia in the region "where the American plane landed."

The broadcast statement, issued in London by the Yugoslav news agency, made clear that Tito's remarks applied only to the plane forced down on Aug. 9 and not to a second plane reportedly shot down by Yugoslav fighter planes on Monday.

Tito "very sternly stressed Yugoslav rights and declared that on numerous occasions Yugoslavia has protested against such violations of her sovereignty," the statement declared.

The Yugoslav premier, who made his statement in an address to workers of the Jesenje foundries, said the Americans had issued a story that the transport plane lost its way in the clouds "which were very rare in Yugoslavia this year."

"The weather was far from being cloudy," Tito asserted, "and, in fact, was perfectly clear."

On Aug. 18 United States Ambassador Richard C. Patterson said in Belgrade that the American C-47 plane was lost in a storm and was attacked just as it emerged from a hole in the clouds.

Hope to Reestablish These Meat Ceilings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Housewives can expect to find price ceilings on most meat restored on Friday to near their June 30 levels as a result of the decontrol board's decision last night.

Price Administrator Paul Porter had announced beforehand that he hoped to restore the June 30 ceilings on beef, pork and probably veal. No decision was made on lamb ceilings.

These were some of the high retail meat ceilings in Chicago on June 30, by OPA figures:

- Round steak, 44 cents a pound.
- Porterhouse steak, 54 cents.
- Hamburger, 28 cents.
- Center-cut pork chops, 37 cents.
- Grade A bacon, 42 cents.
- Sliced smoked ham, 47 cents.
- Loin lamb chops, 62 cents.
- Sirloin veal steak, 37 cents.

UNRRA Chief Ousts Morgan From DP Job

BERLIN (AP)—UNRRA Director-General Fiorello H. LaGuardia announced last night the release of British Lt. Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan as chief of UNRRA's displaced persons operations in Germany, and appointment of Meyer Cohen, director of UNRRA repatriation in Washington, as acting chief succeeding him.

LaGuardia at a news conference also advocated that the United States allow immigration of 100,000 to 120,000 refugees and announced plans to speed the return of many displaced persons to their homelands.

He praised Morgan—storm center of a controversy last January over Morgan's remarks on a Jewish "exodus"—for his work and declared he was "one of the war's great soldiers and contributed greatly to victory."

LaGuardia Tuesday had assailed a high but unnamed Allied official for saying that Russian spies were operating within UNRRA's organization in western Europe. Asked then if he referred to Morgan, LaGuardia said "You know who I mean."

Yesterday he answered with a curt "no" a direct question whether Morgan had ever supplied any evidence to substantiate the unnamed official's statement.

LaGuardia disclosed he had released Morgan before leaving Geneva some days ago. He said Cohen would be acting chief in Germany until he returned to the United States and conferred with the other nations' UNRRA representatives on appointing a permanent successor to Morgan.

LaGuardia climaxed his news conference with a bitter exchange with Hal Foust, Chicago Tribune correspondent. LaGuardia refused to answer any of Foust's questions, launching an angry tirade against the Tribune and ending by yelling, "shut up."

The argument started over Foust's question as to how much money other nations had paid into UNRRA. LaGuardia replied he would not tell him "because your filthy, lousy paper would not print it anyway."

Chinese Reds Say They Have No Desire To Replace Government

NANKING (AP)—Wang Ping-Nan, Communist spokesman, told the Associated Press last night that the Chinese Communists "have no desire to overthrow the government."

Commenting on a broadcast Monday by the Communist Yenan radio urging the Communist liberated areas to "mobilize," Wang said:

"This (the broadcast) was not a declaration of war. It was in no way a mobilization of troops but merely moral mobilization."

Grains, Dairy Products Free Of Ceilings

Decontrol Board Head Warns Dairy Industry To Keep Prices Down

WASHINGTON (AP)—Meat price ceilings and subsidies were ordered restored by the new decontrol board last night, bringing immediate outcry from the industry that "all the evils of the balek market" may return.

Most grains and all dairy products were freed from renewed price control, the latter at least temporary. Board Chairman Roy L. Thompson promised the public in a nationwide broadcast that if milk and other dairy prices "move upward from here on out, this board can and will put the industry back under control."

The board slapped price controls back on cottonseed products and soy beans as well as all meat and livestock. The actual ceilings, to be determined by the OPA and the agriculture department, will go into effect at 12:01 a. m. (eastern standard time) Friday.

To 'Knock Down' Price Increases
Price Administrator Paul Porter said the meat ceilings will be "at or close to June 30 levels." This would knock down recent price increases which Thompson called "more than" unreasonable.

Acknowledging that "it would be impossible to please everybody," Thompson explained that under the terms of the new price control act, no ceilings may be placed on dairy products now because their prices in the free market have not risen "unreasonably."

"Taken across the country, a quart of milk went up about three cents in the so-called 'free market' since June 30," he declared. "Of that three cents nearly two cents was necessary to take up the slack when subsidies were discontinued with the end of controls."

As for meat, the board held that price ceilings could be enforced. Thompson announced that slaughtering regulations "will be tightened a great deal" and that a "much larger" OPA enforcement staff is in prospect.

A statement by the American Meat Institute in Chicago expressed hope that the government "now will find some way to prevent black markets and meat scarcity from developing in the future." It added that unless the controls are "effectively enforced" there will be less meat for consumers and revived black markets.

Frediet New Black Market
Congressmen from livestock states went even further in predicting new black market activity and meat shortages.

Subsidies on meat and livestock which were in effect June 29 were ordered renewed for the present.

A statement by Leo Goodman, secretary of the CIO cost of living committee, assailed the refusal to restore controls on dairy products and grains. It declared that "the action of the price decontrol body will bring greater inflation to the American people."

"Its decision to decontrol items essential to the diet of American workers represents a dismal failure on the board's part to recognize the seriousness of increasing inflation of food costs," the statement added.

In this first exercise of its sweeping powers, the three-man board voted unanimously.

In ruling against reestablishment of ceilings on most grains, the board said it had not found that recontrol would be in the public interest.

'Adequate' Grain Supply
Supply of grains, the board reported, "will be adequate when crops are harvested to meet anticipated demand."

The board further declared that grain price trends are downward and "are expected to level off at ceiling levels."

Explaining its decision to restore meat ceilings, the board said that price increases since June 30 had ranged in the case of livestock from 20 to 50 percent, and in the case of wholesale meat prices, from 35 to 80 percent.

Republicans May Be Sorry

(John S. Knight in the Chicago Daily News) Senator Robert LaFollette's defeat in the Wisconsin primary brings to an end the powerful dynasty that has shaped the Badger State's affairs since 1905.

For more than 40 years, a LaFollette has been heard on the floor of the United States senate; for three terms young Phil LaFollette served his state as governor. There are a dozen differing opinions concerning the "why" of Bob LaFollette's repudiation at the polls, but every fair-minded American must view his defeat as a great loss to the country.

Bob LaFollette's father failed to win the presidency because he was too far in advance of the times. Yet the Republican party which repudiated him nationally has lived to see virtually every one of the elder LaFollette's "revolutionary" proposals either adopted as a part of the party's platform or enacted into law.

His sons, young Bob and Phil, came into a heritage of progressive and liberal thought, but neither of them has ever shown the capacity for rugged statesmanship possessed by the Great Crusader. Old Bob stuck by his convictions in fair weather and foul, and refused to compromise a single one of his ideals.

Young Bob never did have his father's brilliance and fire, but he inherited a passionate devotion to progressive government and the safeguarding of civil liberties. In matters of detail, he was his father's superior and the recently enacted LaFollette-Monroney bill designed to rid Congress of its cumbersome procedure and overlapping committees, stands as a tribute to his diligence and persuasiveness.

Long before Franklin D. Roosevelt came into power, young Bob was advocating a program of public works as the means of tiding over unemployment and bringing into being badly needed improvements of a permanent character. He had little tolerance for Harry Hopkins' leaf-taking remedies.

During the '30s, Bob LaFollette conducted a singlehanded investigation against illegal anti-labor activities and exposed the then current practice of employing labor "goons" to smash budding labor unions. Ironically enough, it was labor that cut his throat last Tuesday.

Had labor supported LaFollette in Milwaukee, Kenosha and Racine, his renomination would have been assured. Yet no man in the Senate has done more for labor throughout the years than young Bob. LaFollette has learned the bitter lesson that a man in public life cannot be for labor 95 percent of the time and win its support.

STUDENT FEDERALISTS, Inc. a fast-growing organization dedicated to "campaigning for federal world government in our time," will sponsor a national conference on foreign policy and the United Nations at the University of Chicago, September 1-7.

"Students examine the peace" will be the theme of the conference, called by the Student Federalists for the following purposes: to form and clarify opinions on the subject of world government and foreign policy, after listening to the best speakers available; to decide upon an intelligent and practical organization policy; and to lay plans for a student movement for world government.

Five days of the meeting will be devoted to an institute in which the following well known proponents of world federation will participate: Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota; Mortimer Adler, author of the excellent book "How to Think about War and Peace"; Thomas K. Finletter, former assistant to the secretary of state and author of a recent Atlantic Monthly article, "Timetable for World Government"; Merle Miller, former SUI student and wartime editor of Yank; Elmo Roper, public opinion analyst for Fortune magazine; Charles Bolte, chairman of the American Veterans Committee, and Frederick L. Schuman, author of "Soviet Politics at Home and Abroad," regarded as one of the most reliable books available on contemporary Russian foreign policy.

Other leading participants in the eight-day conference will include: Harris Wofford, founder of Student Federalist, Inc.; Dr. G. A. Borgesa, professor of Italian at the University of Chicago; Chancellor Robert Hutchins of the University of Chicago; Cord Meyer Jr., city of Chicago; Monthly writer; atomic scientists, Harrison Brown and Leo Szilard, and Dr. Reginald D. Long, University of Chicago lecturer who will lead the morning session forums on "Federal Principles and an International Order."

In announcing the conference, the Student Federalists declare: "We want to show the American public that students are thinking about these problems of world federation and foreign policy; that they are interested enough to come to Chicago for a week; and that they want to plan a program of action."

Announcement of the forthcoming Chicago conference comes only a few weeks after representatives of four local organizations had met to draw up a charter for the Atomic Energy Control Committee (AECC), an Iowa City unit which has the following aims: "to urge the creation of an effective and workable international control of atomic energy; and to establish a program for disseminating information and knowledge that will promote the international control of atomic energy."

One of the first educational programs under the AECC's sponsorship will be a lecture-demonstration on atomic energy, to be given by several members of the University of Iowa's science faculty on Oct. 1. The lecture-demonstration will be followed sometime in mid-October by the appearance in Iowa City of a nationally-known authority on atomic energy control and world federation.

The formation of the Iowa City Atomic Energy Control Commission and the calling of the Student Federalists Institute on World Government indicates that more and more Americans are awakening to the realization that national sovereignty—the false belief that a nation is its own boss in the field of international affairs—is but a state of mind. From the ranks of both scientists and politicians, the demand for immediate transformation of the United Nations organization into a world federation is becoming more powerful each day.

Men like Harold Stassen, Albert Einstein, Robert Hutchins, Wayne Morse, J. William Fulbright, Henry Wallace, David Lilienthal and J. R. Oppenheimer are not starchy-eyed idealists. They are hard-headed realists who know that the road to peace lies in changing our false concept of sovereignty to meet the exigencies of the Atomic Age.

Stolen Car Recovered An automobile stolen early yesterday from Glenn Kallous, 125 N. Dubuque street, has been found, according to local police. The car was reported last night in the Beacon garage in Des Moines. Police say it probably had been abandoned and towed to the garage.

According to Kallous, the car was stolen about 12:50 a. m. yesterday from the Knights of Columbus parking lot east of the post-office building.

Mediocre Electorate—Mediocre Congress

Recent nationwide surveys by Mr. Elmo Roper, director of the Fortune magazine polls, have revealed several very interesting facts concerning the current attitude of the American citizenry toward congress.

According to the Roper polls, people as a whole showed little inclination to welcome the 79th congress home with the cheers of the populace ringing in their ears. Only two percent of the public was willing to call the congress has done since war ended "excellent," and only 14.6 percent called it even "good."

But, contrary to what you might think, only a quarter of the people are willing to attribute most of the blame to the quality of men serving in congress. Of the senators, 42.7 percent of the people thought they were "high type" men and 35.6 percent thought they were "mediocre"; 30.7 percent of the people thought that the representatives were "high type" and 44.8 percent called them "mediocre." The remaining percentage of the people questioned answered, "don't know."

A most amazing result of Mr. Roper's poll on this matter was that 56.2 percent of the public was unable to name what they were willing to call a "good senator," and 69.6 percent were unable or unwilling to name what they regarded as "not much of a senator." As a commentary on the political astuteness of the electorate, 2.6 percent got confused between the two houses and named a representative as their favorite senator and another 2.4 percent named as their favorite senator some individual who could not be identified with either branch of congress.

The Roper survey showed the following ten senators as receiving the most "good" votes: Arthur H. Vandenberg, 12.8 percent; Robert A. Taft, 6.7 percent; Alben W. Barkley, 4.4 percent; Harry F. Byrd, 3.5 percent; Tom Connally, 2.7 percent; Joseph H. Ball, 2.3 percent; Robert M. La Follette Jr., 2.3 percent; James Mead, 2.3 percent; and Walter F. George, 2.1 percent.

Here are the top ten "not so good" senators: Theodore G. Bilbo, 12.9 percent; Claude Pepper, 4.5 percent; Burton K. Wheeler, 2.3 percent; Taft, 2.0 percent; Joseph F. Guffey, 1.6 percent; Alexander Wiley, 1.1 percent; Wagner, 1.0 percent; Connally, .7 percent; Vandenberg, .7 percent, and Ball, .6 percent.

You will notice that five senators made both lists. This could be taken as somewhat of an indication that the most active senators are apt to be either extremely popular or unpopular. The state of Mississippi did even worse in this nationwide appraisal than would be indicated by Senator Bilbo's top heavy vote as the public's favorite "bad senator" because an additional 1.8 percent of the people named John E. Rankin as their candidate for the worst senator, apparently unaware of the fact that he is a representative from Mississippi.

The fact that the house had more mediocrities in it than the senate was emphasized when the people were called upon to name "good representatives" and "not so good" representatives. A good representative could not be named by 76.6 percent of the people and 86.7 percent could think of no outstandingly bad one.

Two and two tenths percent named as their favorite representative some senator; 2.3 percent named someone who could not be identified with either branch of congress, and .5 percent named Senator Bilbo as the No. 1 bad representative.

Here are the top ten "good" representatives: Louis Ludlow, 7.4 percent; Clare Boothe Luce, 1.2 percent; Clare E. Hoffman, 1.1 percent; Wright Patman, .7 percent; Sam Rayburn, .6 percent; Frances P. Bolton, .5 percent; Merlin Hull, .5 percent; William H. Stevenson, .5 percent; E. E. Cox, .4 percent; and Joseph W. Martin (that's Joseph, kiddies), .4 percent.

John E. Rankin, the other half of the Mississippi Minstrel Show, led the top ten "not so good" representatives with 2.1 percent followed by Mrs. Luce, .6 percent; Hoffman, .6 percent; Charles R. Savage, .4 percent; Vito Marcantonio, .4 percent; James M. Curley, .3 percent; Robert K. Henry, .3 percent; Herman Koppelman, .3 percent; Paul W. Shafer, .3 percent; and James Wolfenden, .2 percent.

Only two representatives made both lists. The results of this survey seem to point up two things: 1. That Rankin and Bilbo top almost everybody's list of "Citizens We Could Do Without." 2. There are far too many people in the U.S. who apparently do not know the names of the members of congress.

Mr. Roper's conclusion was this: "The small number able to name a good or bad representative leaves one wondering whether the major indictment is on congress itself because of the alleged mediocrity of its members or on the electorate itself because of the extremely large 'don't know' vote."

James D. White's Interpreting The News...

THE CALCUTTA RIOTS brought death to possibly 3,000 Moslems and Hindus, yet dispatches published in this country contain no damage to foreign- or British-personnel or property. The British administration in India has been known to censor news before, and there is circumstantial evidence it still is on the job—such as ordering American correspondents out of government headquarters, and issuing a vague communique saying the "situation had improved" just as the rioting had spread to its maximum extent, to the Hooghly river.

In view of the anti-British and anti-foreign sentiment marking earlier Indian riots (as last February, when even American G.I.s got banged up) the fact that there was none this time—if there was none—should have been newsworthy. Yet no correspondent seems to have advanced that claim.

If all this suggests that the full story of the riots hasn't yet been reported, it also suggests the possibly terrifying tension which may have prevented it. Jawaharlal Nehru, the Hindu leader, declared last Thursday that India should "develop closer relations with Russia," and that he hoped Russia would take part in an "inter-Asian bloc" which he is promoting.

There is no news in the idea of an inter-Asian or pan-Asiatic bloc. However, it is news that Jawaharlal Nehru has climbed on this nationalist bandwagon, and it is also news that he makes a bid for Soviet Russian support for the idea of an inter-Asian bloc.

He does so at a peculiar time—just after the Moslems have refused to cooperate in an interim government (which the British hoped would guide India to peaceful independence still linked with their empire) and after there was talk that they might let Nehru go ahead and set up the interim government without the Moslems.

What all this adds up to is not clear, because full meaning of the riots may not yet be known. However, it seems clear that Britain—with plenty of trouble with Russia on her hands in Iran, the Levant, and the Dardanelles—may have another powder keg on her hands in India, perhaps sooner than either London or Moscow expected.

Here and there one hears complacent jubilation. "Civilian production" Administrator John D. Small, for example, is saying that if only industrial harmony continues, we will see "a period of prosperity such as we have never known." That has an ominous late-Coolidge, early-Hoover ring. Rising prices in themselves are a threat to industrial peace.

Genuine hope lies in a stabilized economy. That means an orderly transition from the current extraordinary demand for the products of American industry to a

Sharp Increase in— Women Alcoholics —Says Johns Hopkins Expert

All over the United States more and more women are becoming alcoholics, Dr. Robert V. Seliger reports in an article in the September issue of the Women's Home Companion. He writes that the number of women patients admitted to mental hospitals for this disease has sharply increased in the last ten years and that of these patients 60 to 70 percent are doomed to end their lives in psychiatric hospitals or literally drink themselves to death.

A member of the psychiatric staff of Johns Hopkins hospital and university for 16 years, Dr. Seliger writes that in the early days of his practice, not more than one alcoholic out of ten who came to him for treatment was a woman. Now the women are four in every ten. Answering the question of his title, "Are Women Drinking Too Much?" in the affirmative with examples and case histories, Dr. Seliger adds "what makes the spread of alcoholism even more ominous, is the fact that it is marking its deepest inroads on our most intelligent and sensitive women."

"I am not a prohibitionist," he writes. Alcohol alone does not cause alcoholism, except in very rare cases. No good purpose can be served by removing it from the public by law. Besides our problem drinkers, there are 38,000,000 men and women in this country who drink regularly or occasionally without letting it interfere with their work or their home life. If many of the moderate drinkers could not obtain alcohol at all I believe, as has been said, "they would release their emotions in more aggressive ways, or would turn to other sedatives more harmful to themselves and more disturbing to society."

For the fight to check the rising wave of abnormal drinking, Dr. Seliger recommends not restrictive legislation nor moral appeals, both of which have proven unsatisfactory, but education and more intelligent understanding of the reasons for pathological drinking. He suggests that alcoholism be regarded as a public health problem, like tuberculosis and syphilis.

Two basic reasons for the dangerous rise in alcoholism among women are given by Dr. Seliger. One is the chaotic and emotionally disturbing era in which we live—with two great wars, a disastrous economic depression and new discoveries of science to undermine her sense of security. The other is the modern set of values, wherein the importance of glamour and wealth has displaced the old idea that it is success enough to be a good wife and mother.

"Today's woman is living in the age of Superman, but she still has the brain and nervous system of her grandmother. As a result, she often cracks under the strain. The tremendous rise in all mental and emotional disorders nowadays is evidence, as well as her increasing alcoholism."

If alcoholics have sustained no injury to the brain tissue, are of average intelligence, and sincerely want to be helped, Dr. Seliger believes that permanent cures may often be achieved through careful mental therapy. He urges the need of wider understanding of alcoholism and more clinics for treating it. He deplores the fact that in many parts of the nation the abnormal drinker is punished for her affliction. "This is unkind and ridiculous, as if we punished her for having pneumonia, smallpox or diabetes," he says. "If she is to be helped, she must have intelligent medical care."

Going along with present medical trends for prevention of disease is almost more important than cure, Dr. Seliger points out that "our best hope of controlling alcoholism is to prevent new cases... The best place to start is in the home. 'The mothers of America could greatly reduce tomorrow's crop of problem drinkers right now by providing their children with a more secure environment and sounder spiritual armor with which to ward off the blows of later life. 'In our homes, schools and churches, the youth of the nation should be given a sounder view of life. The knowledge must be impressed upon them that they live in a universe which is larger than they are, and that family ties, love, duty and faith are more worthwhile than selfish personal satisfactions or what the fashion of the moment calls success.'"

Scattered Minorities Solution to Racism

TO THE EDITOR: The Negro is a human being as well as the white man and is just as much a part of the world we live in as is the white man. He is entitled every human right to which the white man has privilege. This we all know and feel strongly.

It is as well and good and very idealistic for the northerner to "Cry Havoc—The Negro is Still Enslaved." But to cry for justice and offer no solution is defeating one's own purpose. To act irrationally in the cause of racial equality would in its effect succeed only in crushing the whiteman. Would the northerner's cries be so spontaneous, his aims so seemingly altruistic, if the negro population equaled or outnumbered the whites in the north? If he in place of the southerner, was in danger of losing his prestige and what's more important, in some cases completely losing his control of the government, his first instinct would be that of self-preservation. "Cry Havoc—The Northern White is Enslaved."

No, our solution is not to "Cry Havoc." It is to proportionally scatter the minority so that it will remain the minority, in effect, be free, and truly equal. LILLY HAMWI

Republican Incumbent Loses in New York Congressional Primaries; Another Trails

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS In Delaware, Senator James M. Tunnell of Georgetown and Rep. Philip A. Traynor of Wilmington were renominated by acclamation at the state Democratic convention.

Utah's run-off primary drew only a light turnout of voting, with only one statewide contest as a drawing card. In all, New York voters chose candidates for 45 house seats, more than a tenth of the house membership of 435, but there were only 21 contests. Twelve incumbents, eight of them Republicans, were engaged in these.

The state will select nominees for governor and senator in conventions Sept. 3 and 4. Unlike other members of the deer tribe, both sexes of the Barren Ground caribou have horns, although the horns of the female are shorter than the male's.

Dr. Paul Tells Polio Institute Respirator is Now Obsolete

Explains SUI Hospital Methods of Treating Poliomyelitis Cases

Stating that he "hates to see an individual thrown into a respirator because an apparatus that is available," Dr. William D. Paul of the University hospital told public nurses attending the three-day polio institute yesterday that 0% represents the rate of recovery in Iowa of those who have been placed in respirators.

"We don't put poliomyelitis patients in the iron lungs unless all breathing has ceased and they are almost sure to die," he said, "because we can't give patients good nursing care so essential to the treatment of polio when they are all covered up by a machine."

Explaining that neither the polio epidemic of 1930 nor the treatment thereof can be compared with that of 1945 or 1946, Dr. Paul said that earlier doctors can't be condemned for their techniques in treatment because so much about the disease was then and still is unknown.

"We have learned," he stated, "that there is only one answer in poliomyelitis—the nurse."

Listing the modern treatment of a severe case of bulbar polio, Dr. Paul said that complete nursing care should come first, before development of the disease.

Other new treatments he gave as oxygen, I. V. fluids, amino acids I. V., I. V. vitamins, curare and transfusion. An individual won't die from an overdose of curare but because he can't breathe. Artificial respiration or oxygen can be used to offset an overdose.

Now at the University hospital, Dr. Paul added, patients are given .9 of a unit per kilogram per body weight every eight hours for a few days and 1.5 units every eight hours thereafter.

Dr. Paul said that Sister Kenny recognized the importance of early nursing care in polio treatment and that she added the system of psychotherapy, of influencing the patient to think where the injured tendon is and to make an effort to use it.

Demonstrating the treatment and care of polio patients, Mrs. Carmelita Calderwood Hearst, formerly orthopedic nursing supervisor at the Children's hospital, told an institute audience that the "good bit of dissension existing in the polio field makes it awfully hard on nurses." Commenting on her nursing work in St. Cloud, Minn., Mrs. Hearst said that the biggest problem in that area was the lack of physiotherapists north of Minneapolis.

She described the lack of equipment in St. Cloud as compared with Iowa City and Des Moines as "profound." With Minneapolis a well-known center for polio treatment, victims are rushed to there and often arrive either dead or almost dead, Mrs. Hearst said. She suggested that a decentralization of knowledge of polio treatment might prove advantageous. In areas outside of Minneapolis, she said, patients are deformed after seven or eight days of being wrapped in heavy rubber sheets.

A good public health follow-up treatment system is needed, Mrs. Hearst stated, to care for the patients who are excluded from isolation in about a week because of crowded hospitals.

Higbee Says Plans Underway For SUI Centennial Program

Plans are now being drawn up for the complete program of the university's centennial anniversary observance in 1947, it was announced yesterday by Prof. F. G. Higbee, chairman of the general planning committee.

Professor Higbee said the plans would be ready for announcement in the fall, some months in advance of the first event. The program opens Feb. 25, 1947, exactly 100 years after the university's founding. The first event will be a centennial dinner.

Roundtable Discussions Special lectures and round table discussions will bring the nation's foremost thinkers to the campus for presentation of material in cultural and educational fields. Materials given at these sessions will be published in book form.

Professor Higbee said lectures of the traditional Baconian series will be given special emphasis. These lectures are given by members of the university staff.

Centennial commencement will be featured by the award of certificates of merit to alumni who have achieved distinction. Student achievements during the 1946-47 academic year also will be recognized, and graduates and former students who lost their lives in war service will be honored.

Engle to Write Script Prof. Paul Engle of the English department has been commissioned to write the radio script for a centennial broadcast. Music for the broadcast will be in charge of Prof. Philip Greeley Clapp, head of the music department.

Scheduled for completion in 1947, a group of 33 monographs on various phases of history of the university along with eight essays about distinguished professors of earlier times is being compiled. Work on the project started in 1939. A short history of the university will also be published followed by a full length treatment of one or two volumes.

Additional events, including a centennial homecoming, will be planned for the fall of 1947.

In 1915, the Life-Saving service was combined with the Revenue Marine Service to form what is now the U. S. Coast Guard.

More Housing Units Arrive

Eight more carloads of emergency veterans housing units have arrived in Iowa City, bringing the total that have been shipped here to date to 14 carloads, or material for 63 houses, the Rock Island railroad company freight agent reported yesterday.

R. J. Sharp, construction manager for the Metcalf - Hamilton Construction company, in charge of erecting the 340 reconverted barracks, said yesterday that he expects to start construction on the barracks themselves sometime next week.

He said that he is "very pleased" with the progress of the foundation work now being done on Finkbine golf course, first of the sites for the barracks.

Fielding Yost, Veteran Michigan Coach, Dies

Gained Fame As Strategist

Point a Minute Grid Teams Won 55 Tilts In Five Year Period

ANN ARBOR, MICH. (AP)—Fielding Harris (Hurry Up) Yost, who built a national reputation as a football strategist during 39 years with the University of Michigan, died yesterday of a gall bladder attack.

He celebrated his 75th birthday April 30.

Although he had been in failing health for several years, Yost's death came suddenly. He had walked around his Ann Arbor home yesterday morning and was apparently gaining strength following a recent illness.

His career as a football coach began in an era of mustached players garbed in turtleneck sweaters and ended in a day of giant stadia and cheering multitudes.

He retired in 1940 to the post of athletic director emeritus after compiling a national reputation as a coach at Michigan since 1901.

A native of Fairview, W. Va., he attended Ohio Normal, now Ohio Northern college, and later coached at Ohio Wesleyan, the University of Nebraska, the University of Kansas, and Leland Stanford University, before coming to Ann Arbor.

Yost had been in failing health for some time and his condition appeared serious some weeks ago. However, he rallied slightly and was removed from a Battle Creek, Mich., hospital to his home.

Yost gained everlasting fame in collegiate football circles as mentor of Michigan's famed "point a minute" team from 1901 to 1905. The squad played 57 games under his tutelage during those years, winning 55, tying one and losing one.

Death came to him at his Ann Arbor home at 2:30 p.m. (CST). He had been up and around Wednesday and his sudden attack came as a shock to relatives and friends. Mrs. Yost was at home when he died.

A son, Fielding H. Yost Jr. of Midland, Mich., survives.

Yost compiled an enviable record at Michigan, having eight undefeated football teams during his regime.

Red Sox, Browns Split Doubleheader

BOSTON (AP)—Ellis Kinder, navy discharge, yesterday won his first major league victory at the expense of the world series-bound Red Sox as the St. Louis Browns split a doubleheader with the Bostonians, taking the nightcap by the close margin of 5-4 after dropping the opener 5-1.

The opener was pretty much one way with the Sox jumping off to a two run lead in the second and adding the other three in the fourth while the Browns homered for the Pirates with two aboard in the fourth.

Nick Strincevich held the Dodgers to four widely scattered hits and never was in any kind of danger after his teammates shielded Vic Lombardi from the mound with a four-run attack in the opening inning. Lombardi walked Ralph Kiner with the bases filled for one run and Jim Russell promptly singled home two more.

Don Johnson hurt As Cubs Win Two

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs took a double-header from the Philadelphia Phils yesterday, 5 to 2 and 10 to 2, but lost second baseman Don Johnson with a fractured left hand.

Johnson was hit between the left thumb and first finger by one of Charlie Schanz' pitches as the Cubs coasted to a 10-2 triumph in the nightcap.

Reports from the Cubs' clubhouse indicated that Johnson would be out of action from four to six weeks, or the balance of the season.

Cards Streak Past Braves

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, gaining momentum for their crucial series with Brooklyn next week, slashed the Dodgers' edge to a mere half-game last night by defeating the Boston Braves, 4 to 1, while the league leaders were losing at Pittsburgh.

The old standbys, Harry Walker, Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter supplied the punch for the Cardinals' fourth straight victory with successive blows against aging Johnny Niggeling for two runs in the fourth frame while Lefty Howie Pollet held the Braves to three hits to record his fifteenth triumph of the year.

Ray Sanders, former Cardinal, robbed his old teammate of a shut-out by parking his sixth homer of the season on the pavilion roof in the third frame.

Guild-Free Bucs Trip Bums, 10-0

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who only a few hours before rejected the American Baseball guild, defeated the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers 10 to 0 last night before a crowd of $1,106. Elbie Fletcher homered for the Pirates with two aboard in the fourth.

Nick Strincevich held the Dodgers to four widely scattered hits and never was in any kind of danger after his teammates shielded Vic Lombardi from the mound with a four-run attack in the opening inning. Pirates Reject Baseball Guild

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Members of the Pittsburgh Pirates team yesterday rejected the American Baseball Guild in baseball's first collective bargaining election by a 15 to 3 vote.

Nineteen of 31 eligible Pirate players voted in the election conducted by the Pennsylvania Labor Relations board and one of the votes was challenged.

Ten players did not appear at the polling place and two eligible to vote were not available because they were out of the city.

The challenge vote was that of rookie LeRoy Jarvis. The challenge was made by the labor board until it was determined whether Jarvis had been on the club payroll long enough since July 16, the day the list was submitted.

Players in the city who did not vote included Edson Bahr, Billy Cox, Ken Gables, Al Gionfriddo, Frank Gustine, Lee Handley, Al Lopez, Bill Salkeld and Burgess Whitehead.

Murphy has ten days to challenge the election—a challenge he undoubtedly will accept.

Murphy, chewing a cigar, took his defeat calmly, saying: "The result came as no surprise to me since I've said within the last couple of days—off the record—the guild couldn't possibly win."

Although Murphy was outwardly calm, a hastily scribbled statement which he handed to the press took an angrier view of things. It said:

"This loss constitutes a setback for the guild. It was brought about by the pretended fairness of the owner-dominated player-management committee. These illegal committees, set up as a smoke-screen by the owners, are both a sham and a farce and lack both the permanence and the strength to represent the players adequately."

Interrupted to be asked if he intended challenging the votes, Murphy replied: "I've already filed unfair-labor-charges."

Before the first Pirate players appeared in the Pennsylvania Labor Relations board offices to vote, Murphy had prepared a charge of unfair labor practices against the Pirates' ownership.

The election was ordered Aug. 5, three days before the Pirate franchise was sold by heirs of the late Barney Dreyfuss to a combine headed by Frank E. McKinney of Indianapolis, Bing Crosby, John W. Galbreath, Columbus, Ohio, theater and sportsman, and Thomas P. Johnson, young Pittsburgh attorney.

Martin, Ploen Report to Hawks

Curran, Niedziela Arrive Tomorrow

The practice grind, twice daily, has set in for 71 University of Iowa football players, with more candidates expected within the next two days.

Dick Martin, a letterman guard in 1943, headed a list of five men who reported to coach Eddie Anderson's squad yesterday. Others were Ed Jack Miers, one time regular for Sampson navy, William Regian of Raton, N. Mex., six foot three inch 215-pounder, and Tony Guzowski, former marine and a basketball letterman last year; and halfback Rex Ploen, 157-pounder from Shelby who ran the 100 yard dash in .09.8 on the Iowa track team of 1946 but who has not played football.

Scat back "Duke" Curran and two giant tackles, Bruno Niedziela and Jerry Kubal, are expected to report in sometime tomorrow. All three were sophomore members of the 1942 Hawkeye eleven with Curran and Niedziela major letter winners.

Niedziela, at 230-pounds, and Kubal, at 240, were outstanding high school linemen in Chicago and were among the most promising young Hawkeyes before they joined the marine corps after the 1942 season.

Meanwhile, in an effort to solve his quarterback problem, coach Anderson has shifted Jimmy Smith, a regular left halfback with the Iowa Seahawks in 1943, to the all-important pivot spot.

Smith, one of the leading passers on the squad, and lanky Lou King will give Iowa a pair of experienced men for the signal calling role.

Dr. Eddie Anderson and his aides lost no time Tuesday in setting up a series of backfield combinations and having the men run through plays, while the linemen engaged in some light contact work on offense.

One line which received attention included Bob Phillips and Guzowski, ends; Bill Kay and Jim Cozad, tackles; Bob Liddy and Ray Carlson, guards; and Jim Lawrence, center.

Cozad, who played in 1943 at 178 pounds, now has grown to 210 while in service; while Liddy, the most valuable Hawkeye of 1943 at 180 pounds, now hits about 190. Kay was a regular last fall, Carlson and Lawrence played for the Iowa Seahawks, and Guzowski is the rangy basketball player who looked good in spring grid work. One backfield combination of prominence had Louis King, quarterback; Bob Sullivan and Dell Bartells or Bob Reynolds, halfbacks, and Dick Hoerner, fullback, King, Reynolds and Sullivan are former Seahawks.

JIM LAWRENCE, six foot one, 200 pounder from Leavenworth, Kansas, is bidding for the first string center job on Dr. Eddie Anderson's 1946 Hawkeye eleven. Lawrence played for the Iowa Seahawks and the Corpus Christi eleven while in the navy air corps.

Bob Smith, ex-Tulsan and Seahawk halfback, will take it easy for a while until he regains some 15 pounds lost after a tonsil operation. Smith has been unable to eat well after having his tonsils out August 12 but now expects to pick up fast.

With the quarterback situation the toughest on the squad, Dr. Anderson said he might make more experimental shifts when he discovers what players are good passers. He has a number of right halfbacks and fullbacks and might uncover a capable quarterback from among these players.

Heaviest man on the squad is 258-pound Jim Shoaf, Grindstone, Pa., a tackle who played on the ETO title 42nd Division team. Lightest is Rex Ploen, just 101 pounds lighter at 157. Shortest are Melvin Kadesky, Dubuque; Otis Finney, Chicago, Ill.; and Bob Grenda, each 5-7, while Bill Kay, Walnut, at 6-5 is the tallest.

Hawk Cagers Meet Montana State Five

Montana State college's basketball team has been scheduled to fill the date on the University of Iowa's 1946-47 schedule left vacant by the withdrawal of the Southern California game here Dec. 23, Director E. G. Schroeder said Tuesday afternoon.

The Bobcats from Bozeman, Mont. will stop off at the field house during their eastern trip Dec. 23, marking their first appearance at Iowa City and their first game with a Hawkeye quintet.

One of the powers of the Rocky Mountain conference, Montana State last season won 13 of 20 games. The westerners are reputed to have outstanding prospects for an even better team next season.

The U. S. C. game had been listed as tentative on the Iowa schedule and due to various difficulties it later was found impossible to schedule it definitely.

The Iowa cage schedule now includes South Dakota State, Kansas State, Detroit, St. Mary's of California, Montana State and Texas Christian for the December non-conference games. All of these games will be played on the local court, starting Dec. 2, against South Dakota.

The Big Nine season will swing into action here Jan. 4, against Wisconsin, followed by Ohio State on the eleventh and Minnesota two days later.

The Hawks then travel to Indiana, Purdue, Northwestern, Wisconsin and Illinois before returning home to entertain Michigan Feb. 15. They play at Minnesota on the seventeenth and end their schedule on the home court against Indiana and Purdue, Feb. 22 and March 1.

Feller Handed Third Straight Defeat, 5-4

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bob Feller lost his third straight game last night as the Washington Senators hung a 5-4 licking on the Cleveland Indians. Shoddy fielding, including a costly error by Feller himself, contributed to the Cleveland ace's downfall.

The Indians loaded the bases with only one out, but George Case ended the threat by hitting into a double play.

Mickey Haefner was the winning pitcher with a seven hitter, as compared with six Feller gave up in losing.

With the scoring at one-all, Washington went ahead to stay in the second, scoring a run on a walk, an error by Feller and Joe Grace's single.

Macks Blank Tigers Behind Bob Savage

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Bob Savage held the Detroit Tigers to three hits last night to pitch the Philadelphia Athletics to a 2 to 0 shutout before 13,893. Elmer Valo scored both Athletic runs after he had walked in the first and seventh innings.

Hal Newhouser, trying for his 22nd victory, was charged with his sixth loss. Newhouser fanned 10 to raise his total to 200 for the season but walked four.

The Athletics scored their first run in the first inning when Valo walked, went to third on Barney McClosky's single and scored on another safety by Pete Suder.

Detroit had a chance to tie after two out in the sixth when Eddie Lake made his first hit off Savage and George Kell followed with another. Hoot Evers was walked to fill the bases, but Hank Greenberg hit the first pitch to Hank Majeski and Evers was forced at second.

Mack's men added their second run in the seventh after one out when Valo walked, went to third on Oscar Grimes' single and scored on Barney McClosky's fly to center.

Reject Italy's Plea For Treaty Revision

Delegation Issues
Memoranda Urging Softer Peace Terms

PARIS (AP) — Italy appealed yesterday for a re-wording of the Italian treaty preamble to give her credit for a better war record, but the Italian political and territorial commission of the peace conference failed to endorse her memorandum.

The door was left open for possible preamble modifications, however, since the delegations of any member nation of the conference may present any of the ideas embodied in the Italian proposals as its own, to be voted upon formally.

In addition to the document discussed by the commission during the day, members of the Italian delegation released last night memoranda on the treaty clauses themselves. These new notes sought a softer peace for Italy and discussed at length Italy's frontiers-to-be with Yugoslavia and the proposed free territory of Trieste.

One note urged the establishment of an Italian-Yugoslav frontier east of the "french line" from Gorizia northward, to give Italy the upper Isonzo hydro-electric works and the future Trieste-Austria rail line "so as not to let one and the same state (Yugoslavia) control the means of communication" from both Trieste and Fiume.

This note also urged construction of a new rail line to assure Yugoslavia's communications in the zone of Gorizia, leaving the already existing lines to Italy; inclusion of western Istria south of Cittanova and the islands of Pola, Brion and Bussino in the free territory of Trieste, and assignment to Trieste of the right to operate the Arsa coal mines and Istrian bauxite mines for 99 years.

Other memoranda asked that: In the cession of the Dodecanese islands to Greece, the inhabitants choosing to keep their Italian nationality be allowed to remain.

The treaty clause asking Italy to renounce her sovereignty over all her African colonies be eliminated in favor of keeping provisionally the status quo under the present British military administration pending a final decision.

The memorandum on the treaty preamble was the first submitted by a defeated nation to a conference commission.

The Italians' memorandum pleaded that Italy not be considered in the preamble as having been at war with all of the 21 nations represented here; that recognition be given the past Italian partisans played in the downfall of Fascism, and that consideration be given Italy's "share in the war against Germany, which lasted 18 months."

Frank Pierce in Spotlight At Municipalities Convention

Says Defeat Illegal; Refuses to Surrender League Books, Funds

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—Frank Pierce of Marshalltown, deposed as organization secretary last year, was the center of attraction yesterday as the League of Iowa Municipalities opened its 48th convention here.

Pierce, secretary since the organization was originated 47 years ago, will run for re-election. He maintains that he was defeated in the absence of a quorum, and in a convention which was illegal in that it was held in August and not in October as the constitution specifies. He has retained the league records.

Nearly all the organization funds are tied up in a Marshalltown bank pending Pierce's appeal to the Iowa Supreme court against a decision by District Judge B.F. Thomas, Marshalltown, that the election which defeated him was legal.

Max A. Conrad, Burlington attorney who is recognized by the league as Pierce's successor, reported that Pierce had turned over to him "not a lead pencil, a postage stamp, any of the records of the league, nor a single piece of equipment."

Pierce, when asked if he would withdraw his supreme court appeal if defeated Wednesday, stated that he didn't know anything about it. "It's up to my lawyers."

The league, largest of its kind in America, has 810 member cities and towns in Iowa. It is a clearing house for legal and administrative advice, and carries on a campaign for state legislation beneficial to municipal governments.

In an address during the morning session of the League of Iowa Municipalities conference which began yesterday in Cedar Rapids, J. Edgar Frame, superintendent of recreation in Iowa City, declared, "Youth in our communities is our greatest natural resource, and must be preserved."

He pointed out that recreation, although not a cure-all, would do much to cure juvenile delinquency. "Our youth is deserving of a recreation program, and it is up to the community to provide it for them," he said. "Recreation is a means of building character, and character leads to better citizenship."

Mayor Wilber J. Teeters attended the conference as Iowa City's delegate. I. J. Barron and Dean Jones, councilmen originally appointed by the mayor to accompany him, were unable to attend.

Two Local Watermelon Patches Raided Sunday

Vandals entered watermelon patches on two local farms north of Iowa City Sunday afternoon and broke open many unripe melons, Sheriff Preston Koser reported yesterday.

The farms raided are tenanted by August Reiland and B. K. Mercer and located about three miles north of Iowa City on highway 218.

Reiland estimated damage to his patch at $200. Melons in both fields were bashed in and plugged in an evident attempt by the raiders to find ripe ones.

Sheriff Koser is continuing the investigation to apprehend those responsible for the damage.

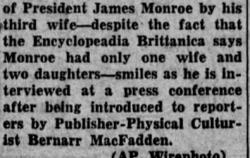

Five Persons Fined

Five persons were fined in police court yesterday for overtime parking.

They were Allen Barry, 1129 E. Washington street; Leo Kohl, 922 N. Dodge street; W. H. Black, 114 N. Linn street; Frank Lee, 730 E. Church street, and Lago Grupe, 224 S. Dubuque street.

Clara Detweller, Parnell, paid a $2 fine for double parking.

Four Parties to Be On November Ballot

DES MOINES (AP) — Iowa's general election ballot this fall will be the narrowest in two decades or more.

Secretary of State Wayne Ropes says it will have only four columns, under the heading of "Republican," "Democratic," "Prohibition" and "Independent."

An "Independent" column is required even though there are no independent candidates for congressional, state or legislative offices this year.

In 1944 the ballot had six columns. Besides the major parties and independents, the list included "Prohibition," "Socialist" and "Socialist Labor."

M.G. Wade, Wife— To Teach English in Chile

Martin G. Wade, 35, who has been studying advanced Spanish in the Romance languages department while working on his M. A. degree in physics at the university of Iowa this summer. "Teaching those students English, not only enables them to understand Americans better, but enables them to make a better living," said Mr. Wade, pointing out that English is the commercial language of Chile.

Ipaqui English college is a Methodist school with an enrollment of about 600, of whom about 300 board at the school. The Wades are being sent there by the board of missions and church extension of the Methodist church.

Wade will be head of the English department, and expects his work to be quite varied, since he will supervise some of the students who live at the school.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Wade speak Spanish fluently, having taught for nearly five years at the Colegio America in Del Callao, Peru. Del Callao is the port city of Lima. The college is another of the Methodist colleges in South America.

While there, they took Spanish lessons from a tutor. Mr. Wade

The Red Cross has exceeded its 1946 Johnson county campaign quota by about $130, according to Red Cross officials.

Contributions of $250 from the University of Iowa Campus Chest, and $250 from the Oxford ladies' achievement fund boosted the total over the $30,350 quota.

Fund collections are divided, with 72 percent remaining in Johnson county, and 28 percent going to the National Red Cross at St. Louis.

Housing Office Reports Two Rooms Listed

Two families listed rooms in their rooms as available to students this fall, as the mayor's two-week emergency housing drive closed its second day.

Again today, approximately 40 persons contacted the office in the lobby of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company building to try to find some sort of housing.

Housing listed with the office will be submitted to the university housing service. The emergency committee will do no assigning of persons to rooms or apartments.

Marion L. Huit, assistant to the director of the office of student affairs, said last night he believes responses to the plea for townspeople to help accommodate the university's anticipated all-time high enrollment will start rolling in by the end of the week.

The second in a series of six radio programs supporting the drive will be broadcast over WSUI at 12:45 p.m. today. Bob Ray, G of Davenport, will interview the Rev. Ralph M. Krueger of the First English Lutheran church and the Rev. Edward W. Neuzil of St. Wenceslaus Catholic church. A short dramatic sketch will precede the interviews.

The other four radio programs have been scheduled for Saturday at 9:30 a.m., Monday at 10 a.m., Wednesday, Aug. 28, at 12:45 p.m. and Saturday, Aug. 31 at 9:30 a.m.

Your old car is IN THE HOME STRETCH

This new Engine Clean-up Program may be the one thing that will give it stamina for the final spurt

You're probably seeing some new cars, these days. And they're mighty welcome to the eye. For their arrival means your old one can be replaced in the reasonably near future. But this last stretch may be the hardest one of all. Chances are the engine is dirty. Sticky deposits, long accumulating in that old engine, may suddenly clog the oiling system—with disastrous results.

To meet the situation, your Standard Oil Dealer offers a new, economical, five-point Engine Clean-up Program. It includes the use of two remarkable new Standard Oil Products—Stano-Purge and Stano-Vim—which do an effective cleaning job without requiring expensive dismantling of the engine.

New, Economical, 5 Point Engine Clean-up Program

- 1 STANO-PURGE—Purges crankcase and engine. Cleans oil screen. Removes deposits tending to clog oil lines and channels.
- 2 STANO-VIM—Introduced through carburetor air intake. It cleans out deposits in valve area. Restores pep, power, smooth engine operation. Treatment includes cleaning the air cleaner.
- 3 OIL CHANGE—Oil Filter Replacement. Fresh oil always helps keep an engine clean. A clean filter keeps the oil clean.
- 4 RADIATOR FLUSHING—Old engines need efficient cooling.
- 5 FAN BELT CHECK-UP—A worn belt is an unwise risk—if your car is old, chances are you need a new belt.
