GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

The weather should be much clearer and a little cooler in Iowa City today. The temperature is expected to reach 70 degrees.

U.S. Will Continue Aid to Yugoslavia

U.S., Australia Defend British Stand in Greece

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and Australia yesterday vigorously assailed the Soviet Ukrainian charges against Greece and Great Britain in the United Nations security council and Australia capped the barrage with a demand that the council drop the case forthwith.

States Delegate, who had not expected to speak until today, rejected virtually all of the charges and attacked the "casual manner" in which the Ukraine had cast doubt on the Greek plebiscite.

It was one of the strongest speeches Johnson has yet made to the council. Johnson, who voted with the majority to hear the case in compliance with the United States doctrine that all complaints should be heard, thus made it clear that the United States turned thumbs down on practically all of the Soviet Ukrainian charges.

Administrators Discuss Higher Meat Ceilings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Talk of still higher ceiling prices for meat, in preference to rationing, circulated among agriculture department officials yesterday in response to widespread complaints of shortages with the return of ceiling prices to meat counters.

Home Again

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Tobias of Kansas City are shown hugging their three-year-old daughter, Madeline, at police headquarters in Terre Haute, Ind., yesterday. The child had been missing for four days.

Maritime Settlement Hits Snag

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS (NY)—Any hopes for peace on the nation's strike-bound waterfronts suffered a setback last night with the announcement that CIO seamen would demand pay raises matching anything won by AFL sailors in their strike against a "pay cut" decision by the wage stabilization board.

Officials Reject Pleas to Halt UNRRA Goods

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government made it plain yesterday that it will not intervene to halt UNRRA shipments to Yugoslavia because of the forced crashes of two American planes in that country last month.

Bulgaria's Claims on Greece Assailed by Britain, S. Africa

PARIS (AP)—Britain and South Africa joined yesterday in an assault on Bulgarian territorial claims against Greece in a sharp debate in which the Soviet Union was accused of offering western Thrace to Bulgaria as a "bonus for aggression."

for dividing Venezia Giulia between the Yugoslavs and Italians. As the 21-nation European peace conference entered its seventh week all commissions except one were in session, striving to meet on Oct. 20 deadline for completing approval of the five treaties before them, thus avoiding conflict with the United Nations general assembly.

"We believe that the Ukrainian representative has failed to substantiate those charges. We are asked to believe that Greece, a very small country, war-torn and still half-starved, is seriously contemplating recourse to force which would involve a conflict with its northern neighbors whose present standing armies are at least five times those which Greece possesses. My government rejects this contention as entirely beyond the realm of credibility."

Nothing Official While no official statement on the point was available, several experts expressed the view that the government would be more likely to raise ceilings on livestock, or remove them altogether, than to resort to rationing.

Tobias Child Found After 4-Day Hunt; Former Maid Arrested as Kidnaper

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—A four-day search for three-year-old Madeline Tobias ended when the brown-eyed little blonde was found in a humble home here yesterday and she was restored to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Tobias, of Kansas City.

Postponement

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie last night recommended to the 51 United Nations that the general assembly be moved to Oct. 23 as suggested by the foreign ministers council after receiving assurances from the big powers that they would not request a third postponement.

the Bulgarian political and territorial commission professed astonishment at the "sheer audacity" of Bulgaria, a former enemy state, seeking territory from a former member of the Allies, declaring it would be no less astounding if Hungary "claimed Trieste as an outlet."

Meanwhile, the United Nations announced that the scientific and technical committee of the atomic energy commission had postponed its meeting set for yesterday to complete action on its report to the commission's committee No. 2 on atomic energy controls. No date was set for the next meeting of the committee. It was understood that all members of the committee had informally approved the report but that some of the delegates were not empowered to give final approval for their governments.

Restaurant Prices Meanwhile, the OPA announced that prices for restaurant meals including meats will stand until Sept. 16 at the levels of the week of Aug. 31. During the period of decontrol the ceilings were whatever the meals cost, plus a profit. By Sept. 16 the agency hopes to work something out with the restaurant trade.

GOP Wins Decisive Victory in Maine; Brewster Reelected

Republicans overwhelmed a Democratic challenge in Maine yesterday in the nation's first general election of 1946. Senator Owen Brewster, Governor Horace Hildreth and Rep. Frank Fellows, all GOP members, won by heavy margins with two other congress members, Rep. Robert Hale and Rep. Margaret C. Smith, also apparently headed for victory.

White Russian Delegate A. G. Bondar retorted that Russian troops had liberated Thrace in 1878 but "British intrigues" were responsible for the award of the territory to Greece, and he accused the Greeks of having "terrorized and oppressed" Bulgarians there.

Two miles from Palestine, a Jewish husband attempts to comfort his sick wife as they are moved from the little 400 ton vessel which carried 1200 refugees from Europe to a British ship for transportation to a detention camp on Cyprus. When intercepted the refugee ship had been without water for three days.

New Riots Kill 2 in Palestine

JERUSALEM (AP)—Two police officers were killed and six other injured last night in a series of explosions which blasted a public building and railway installations in the all Jewish city of Tel Aviv, as a new outbreak of terrorism swept through the holy land.

Serious Food Crisis in N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP)—An acute shortage of food and possibility of the lay-off of thousands of industrial workers loomed yesterday in the metropolitan area as a result of the intensification of the week-old strike of 25,000 truckmen.

Mead to Resign

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Mead (D., N.Y.) said yesterday he will step down as chairman of the senate war investigating committee, predicted the appointment of Senator Kilgore (D., W. Va.) as his successor, and called for a sweeping investigation of war profits.

Marines Sue Former Officer for $100,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four marines, alleging that they were jailed without cause, filed suit for $100,000 damages today against their former commanding officer, and charged him with extorting $1,000 for their release.

Shipments Scheduled Despite Tito Conflict, Government Asserts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States government made it plain yesterday that it will not intervene to halt UNRRA shipments to Yugoslavia because of the forced crashes of two American planes in that country last month.

With Chance to Gain 14 Senate Seats—

GOP Optimistic About Elections

By GRIFFING BANCROFT

Chicago Sun Washington Bureau
REPUBLICANS are smelling victory in the forthcoming battle for control of the senate. Democratic leaders are willing to concede privately that the GOP will gain some seats in the upper chamber in November, but they still feel confident that the net gain of 10 needed for Republican control will not be achieved.

The GOP strategists, on the other hand, in addition to claiming a "sure" Republican house next year, also are claiming openly that they will get the senate.

In the opinion of most observers, here is how the struggle for the senate shapes up:

Thirty-six seats will be placed on the electoral stage in November, of which 17 are regarded as certain to retain the same party lineup after November. That leaves 19 where there is at least a chance of an overturn.

Of these, 14 are states in which Republicans have a chance of ousting Democrats, and only five where Democrats may upset sitting Republicans.

Even Democratic observers are willing to concede that Republicans have a considerably better than even chance of gaining seats in three Democratic states. They are:

Pennsylvania, where the incumbent Senator Guffey is given little chance to retain his seat against Gov. Edward Martin, the popular GOP nominee.

Ohio, where the little known appointed Senator Huffman is facing the much better-known John W. Bricker, former Republican governor and vice-presidential nominee in 1944.

Wisconsin, where the incumbent Progressive Senator La Follette was defeated in his attempt to get the GOP nomination. Joseph R. McCarthy, the successful Republican nominee, is given the edge over the Democrat, former Representative Howard McMurry.

FOUR DEMOCRATIC states are considered more doubtful, but most nonpartisan prognosticators concede the Republicans the edge the way things look now. They are:

New York, where the most spectacular, and probably most important, political battle is shaping up. Here Republican Gov. Dewey is given the edge to defeat Senator Mead in the gubernatorial contest. Former Gov. Herbert H. Lehman, seeking to retain Mead's seat for the Democrats, is facing a tough fight against Assemblyman Irving M. Ives.

Lehman is expected to run better than his ticket mate, Mead, but it is believed that Dewey may be strong enough to pull most other Republicans on the slate in to victory.

Delaware, where Democratic Senator Tunnell is facing a tough fight against Republican-businessman John J. Williams.

Washington, where the young Democratic appointee, Senator Hugh Mitchell, faces a good chance of being upset by the Republican former mayor of Tacoma, Harry Cain.

Idaho, where the incumbent Democratic Senator Gossett was defeated by the more progressive George E. Donart in the primaries. Donart faces a tough campaign against the Republican nominee, former Representative Harry C. Dworshak.

IN ADDITION, there are seven other states in which Republican challengers are given at least an outside chance of unseating Democratic senators.

They are: Massachusetts, where veteran Democratic senator Walsh is fighting former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

Montana, where the Democratic primary defector of Senator Wheeler, Left Erickson, has a tough battle against the Republican, Zales Ecton.

Missouri, where the little known Democratic Senator Briggs is opposed by James P. Kem.

New Mexico, where incumbent Democratic Senator Chavez can be upset by former Secretary of War Patrick A. Hurley.

West Virginia, where Democratic Senator Kilgore faces a fight against the Republican whom he beat six years ago, Thomas B. Sweeney.

Wyoming, where the veteran Democratic Senator O'Mahoney is facing the fight of his life against Judge Henry B. Henderson.

Rhode Island, where the incumbent Democratic Senator Gerry has announced that he will retire and where, although nominees have not yet been named, a close race is anticipated.

AGAINST these possible inroads, Democrats are given a chance of upsetting Republicans in only five states and in most cases those chances are regarded as pretty slim.

Kentucky is the state where most observers believe that a Democrat might take over a Republican seat. There the incumbent Republican Senator Stanfill did not run and Democrat John Young Brown and Republican John Sherman Cooper are in a horse race.

California is another doubtful Republican-held state. The appointee incumbent Senator Knowland is facing Will Rogers Jr., son of the late humorist. It is believed, however, that the immense popularity of Republican Gov. Earl Warren will be able to pull less known Republicans on the ticket along with him to victory.

INDIANA, former Gov. M. Clifford Townsend, running on the Democratic ticket, is given an outside chance to beat young William E. Jenner, who wrested the Republican nomination away from the incumbent Senator Willis.

Connecticut primaries have not been held yet, but if the Democrat put up a strong candidate they may win the seat now held by the retiring Republican Senator Hart.

New Jersey, the Democratic nominee, George E. Brunner, is given a remote chance to unseat Republican Senator Smith.

Interpreting The News...

ONE OF THE BEST brains behind Japan's war efforts confirms the general impression that Japan never hoped to conquer the United States, but expected to make a deal.

Naoki Hoshino, now testifying before the Tokyo war crimes tribunal, should know. He was the chain-smoking professed Christian who organized much of the economic muscle behind Tojo's striking arm—both before and after Pearl Harbor.

Americans know little of this once-important Japanese, who was born in Tokyo 58 years ago and became government administrator after education at a law school.

Hoshino had organizing ability. Tojo picked him in the '30's to run the civil administration in Manchuria.

While Tojo concentrated on building the Kwantung army, the state opium monopoly, and a police system which fingerprinted every man in Manchuria, Hoshino built dozens of factories, erected power dams, centralized the railways, and almost put the great colony on a paying basis.

He printed enough money to pay local expenses, but lacked the foreign capital to buy heavy machinery abroad.

He was a grouchy, untidy man who often worked all night in his office, and he bitterly resented the fact that Americans, whom he had shut out of Manchurian trade, would not lend him money. But he and Tojo made the puppet state of "Manchukuo" the great adjunct it was to Japan's war potential.

When Tojo became premier in 1941, he took Hoshino along as chief cabinet secretary. In 1943 he upped Hoshino to chairman of the cabinet planning board, and immediately the two began imposing on all Japan the pattern of state control they had tested in Manchuria.

Even the big Zaibatsu family combines underwent considerable reorganization before the Tojo cabinet fell in the summer of 1944 after the American Pacific drive reached the Marinas.

Hoshino took a back seat with Tojo, to watch other men pilot the empire to final defeat.

Injunction Would End Pittsburgh Power Strike

PITTSBURGH (P)—Within an hour after a power strike began here early yesterday, union leaders moved to end the walkout under a court order forbidding continuance of the work stoppage.

George L. Mueller, president of the striking workers, said he would recommend to his independent union's strike committee as soon as it can be convened that the strike against the Duquesne Light company be postponed until "sometime after Friday."

Mueller said it might be dawn before the action could be completed.

The strike stopped all street car service.

Lawlessness in Lacona

A small group of Iowa war veterans unwisely chose to take the law into their own hands Sunday and the result was a bloody free-for-all and another set back for democracy, tolerance and common, ordinary decency.

The veterans—about 25 in all—were determined to prevent a meeting of members of Jehovah's Witnesses in Lacona, Iowa. Their reason for wanting to break up the gathering seemed to be, as one of the leaders of the mob stated, that members of the religious sect were "too damn yellow to fight" during the war and now they "expect the rights that we fought for."

Were the rights that these Lacona veterans fought for to be reserved only for those who fought? Surely, not, for it that is to be the case, then only a small percentage of our citizenry—those who were in the armed forces during the war—is eligible for Constitutional guarantees of rights and freedoms.

The former GI's charged that the Jehovah's Witnesses failed to get into uniform, refused to buy war bonds and salute the American flag. The facts are, however, that members of the sect did wear the uniform of conscientious objectors and many of them did buy war bonds. It is their creed to "obey every law of the land that is not in conflict with God's law." American flags are displayed at their meetings, but they believe that compulsory saluting of the flag is idolatry.

This newspaper does not mean to condone all the beliefs held by Jehovah's Witnesses, but we do mean to state quite emphatically that this sect as well as any other has every right to preach its beliefs as long as it is done according to the laws of our land.

Had these veterans stopped to consider for a moment that this country had its beginnings under the inspiration and supervision of people who were fleeing from religious intolerance, then perhaps this editorial wouldn't be necessary. The Pilgrims and the Quakers were seeking the same freedom back two and three centuries ago that was denied to this small band of Jehovah's Witnesses in Lacona last Sunday.

Iowa must not permit this outbreak of religious intolerance to mar its good name. The veterans who perpetrated the violence should be punished under the law as a reminder to the people of Iowa and elsewhere that our democracy does not provide for intolerance of any sort whether it be because of color, race or creed.

This Record, Mr. Reece?

(St. Louis Star-Times)

GOP national chairman Carroll Reece, being optimistically expansive in his spot as guest columnist for vacationing Drew Pearson, declared in ringing tones: "The Republican program for the restoration of an American system of representative government in the United States has been described adequately by public declarations of Republican spokesmen and implemented by Republican votes in congress."

Now it happens that Fortune magazine, the $1-a-copy bosom friend of business, has in the leading editorial of its current issue summarized a little of the recent Republican record. Says Fortune: "If ever there were a time for a balanced budget, or better still an Andrew Mellon surplus, that time is now. Yet in the very aftermath of the pricecontrol row, Representatives Reed, Taber and Knutson came out for a 20 percent cut in taxes without giving a bill of particulars for reducing federal expenditures. Moreover, search of the record reveals no great Republican disposition to vote against river and harbor authorizations and other drains on the federal treasury . . .

"The debate over OPA brought out some other inconsistencies . . . Senator Taft . . . pitched his fight for an amended OPA on the dubious grounds of ensuring to all corporations the profits they made in the banner year of 1941—a guarantee surely inimicable to a profit-and-loss economy . . . Much has been made of the administration's subsidy program. But in the house a majority of Republicans have voted to continue subsidizing copper and zinc. Republicans have raised no protest against the 'Buy American' provisions of the army's stockpiling program; and in the senate they joined in the nefarious silver steal. . . .

"When it came to extending credit to the one democracy on which the U. S. most depends, house Republicans voted 122 to 61 against the British loan, and Senator Taft delivered himself of the remarkable pronouncement that he saw no harm to American interests in bilateral trading . . . So the record goes." Was it, Mr. Reece, that record that you had in mind?

Two Guys Named Schramm

Journalism Director Paraphrases Post's Eulogy

(Since Dr. Wilbur Schramm, director of the school of journalism, returned from his vacation yesterday, we thought it might be an apropos time to reprint the following item from the Eagle Grove Eagle.—The Editor.)

Dr. Wilbur Schramm is enjoying his vacation, fishing in Spearfish canyon, somewhere in the Black Hills. Many of our readers have enjoyed his writings in the Saturday Evening Post. His last story appeared some weeks ago and was accompanied by a page write-up about Schramm, his past, present and future, under the caption, "Keeping Posted."

A fantastic bit of paraphrasing flows out of the Schramm typewriter which is also on vacation. We hope to beat the Saturday Evening Post to the draw by printing it this week:

Once upon a time, a little fellow named Schramm was fishing in Spearfish Canyon, trying to catch either Moby Dick or the trout that swallowed

As Trials Wear on—

The trio on trial consists of Hermann Goering, erstwhile marshal of the Reich who wears an anguished bloodhound expression at left; the retrospective Rudolph Hess, seated in the right foreground, and the champagne salesman turned statesman, Joachim von Ribbentrop, at right rear. Everitt, Middlecoff Fire 69's, Take Lead in Amateur Golf Meet him, he "thought Everitt was a hell of a player and deserved a chance." Everitt proved to be every bit of that yesterday. His only poor shot was on the 17th, where he overshoot the green and had to play out of the rough. On the 18th he laid into a 25-foot putt in search of an eagle three, but it trembled and hung on the lip of the cup.

By GAYLE TALBOT SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Howard Everitt, a 30-year-old Philadelphian who could not even qualify in his own section, came charging in with a 68 late yesterday—a competitive course record—to tie the day-long leader, Capt. Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, at the halfway point in the 36-hole qualifying test for the National Amateur golf championship.

DEFENDING CHAMPION Bud Ward was off the pace as the National Amateur golf tourney got underway yesterday at the Baltusrol course in New Jersey. Ward fired a 75 which was six strokes over the score posted by Howard Everitt and Capt. Cary Middlecoff. (AP Wirephoto)

Smiley Quick, the Public Links champion from Inglewood, Calif., scored a fine 36-34-70 to tie with Tom Stephenson, an unknown from Kansas City, at that figure.

The 149 youngsters and oldsters from all over the country who went around the dripping "lower course" today turned in an average set of scores that was surprising. There were 71 of them who turned in cards of 76, or lower. Which means that, with only 64 berths open in the match play, a pair of 76's might very well see a young man on his way home. The best guess, considering everything, was that a 36-hole total of 151 might be necessary to qualify for the hand-to-hand combat.

But Everitt? The first thing learned about him was that he holds the Pennsylvania State championship, and the second was that he is playing in the championship strictly by courtesy of Woody Platt, a Philadelphia veteran who withdrew in Everitt's favor because, to quote

Eddie Reported Better

A rumor that circulated throughout Iowa City yesterday that head coach Dr. Eddie Anderson would be released from the university hospital this morning was denied by Dr. Willis Fowler, Anderson's physician, last night. Dr. Fowler reported Dr. Eddie's condition was "better" but said he could not set a date for his release. Anderson has been in the hospital since Aug. 23 when he underwent surgery.

On the practice field more defensive work was planned for the 71-man squad as Assistant Coaches Frank Carideo and Joe Sheeketski mapped the program after consultation with the head coach. Addition of two linemen was announced. Robert (Bud) Flood of Cedar Falls, who played in five of eight 1944 games to win a major letter, is a guard candidate.

Notre Dame Set For Grid Wars, Has 42 Vets

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Loaded with 42 lettermen, Notre Dame is expected to make an exceptionally strong bid for the mythical National Football championship this season.

With the center, quarterback and fullback positions furnishing high-caliber blocking, ball handling and passing, and power, the Irish have the talent to develop fully the T formation.

Coach Frank Leahy, returning after two years in the navy, and his assistants, including Knute Rockne's blocking back, Marty Brill, are drilling a squad of 80 for the season's opener at Illinois, Sept. 23. Leahy frankly admits that this is the toughest certain-raiser ever encountered by Notre Dame in its 58 years on the gridiron. Although he rates Army as the outstanding team in the nation, he thinks Illinois to be almost as strong.

If the Irish can get by Illinois, boomed as a chief western Conference contender, they will have earned recognition as a leading candidate for national honors—a reputation they will have to uphold against Pittsburgh, Purdue, Iowa, Navy, Army, Northwestern, Tulane and in the closing game of their rugged schedule, at home, against Southern California, Nov. 30.

Halfback Bob Kelly, a fine climax runner who started in 1943 and 1944, will be more than two weeks late reporting because of his summer school studies at DePaul in Chicago.

Halfback Bob Livingstone, a 1942 climax runner, heads the oldest group of monogram winners along with a pair of powerful fullbacks, Gerry Cowhig and Corwin Clatt. Among last season's stars returning are quarterbacks Joe Gasparella and George Ratterman, halfback Terry Brennan, center Bill Walsh and guards John Mastangelo and Fred Roval.

Minnesota Indoors For Light Scrimmage

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—With the University of Minnesota football field turned into a virtual quagmire by four inches of rain in three days, head football coach Bernie Bierman moved his charges into the fieldhouse for light scrimmages.

Fair-haired lad of the day was Walt Kauskien, Glenwood, Minn., halfback, who was picked from the fourth and fifth squads where he had been working out and placed with the varsity by Bierman.

Previous heavyweight honors went by the boards yesterday as Gaylord Perkins, Minneapolis, a tackle, weighed in at 282 pounds.

Hoerner Likes Lenses Dick Hoerner reports that his new contact lenses feel fine. In 1942, Hoerner played without his glasses and therefore was handicapped, since he is very dependent upon them.

Indiana

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Harry (Chik) Jagade, a hard driving fullback on Indiana University's football squad, was on the sidelines yesterday with a slight shoulder separation received in scrimmage Saturday. Coach A. N. (Bo) McMillin said he would be out a week.

The Hoosiers spent the morning in conditioning and then worked on defense and fundamentals yesterday afternoon.

Purdue

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Coach Cecil Isbell eased up on contact work yesterday as two more members of Purdue's football team showed up with injuries received in Sunday's scrimmage.

Bill Barnard, freshman numeral winner "at halfback, received a knee injury, and Art Haverstock, a veteran guard, suffered an injured ankle.

Pasquel Rejects Offer To Buy Major Teams

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Jorge Pasquel, president of the Mexican Baseball league, said last night he had rejected offers to buy three U. S. major league clubs for $6,000,000 "because I have no interest in developing foreign ball clubs."

Pasquel, who has lured numerous major league players to Mexico this season, told Ernesto Azua, representing Luis Orlando Rodriguez, Cuban sports commissioner, that he would "Raid every major league club next year"—except the St. Louis Cardinals.

Iowa State Scrimmages

AMES (AP)—Iowa State gridgers were eased back into practice yesterday with only light scrimmages following a heavy workout Saturday.

Coach Mike Michalske sent the squad through a brief scrimmage which stressed forward pass protection.

It also was announced yesterday that Bruce Hale, 27-year-old former star of the University of Santa Clara and Wright Field of Dayton, O. hio, will become playing coach of the Chicago American Gears. He will succeed Ray Meyer of De Paul university, who also served as advisory coach of the pro club.

Trailing this foursome were George Kell of Detroit, with 323; Luke Appling, Chicago, 322; Elmer Valo of Philadelphia, a newcomer in the batting race, with 319; Barney McCoskey, Philadelphia, 315; Vern Stephens, St. Louis, 306, and Hank Edwards, Cleveland, 305.

Musial Heads National

NEW YORK (AP)—Stan Musial, hard-hitting first baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, retained the National league's individual batting leadership during the last week although his average dropped from .369 to .365.

Browns Purchase Raymond Shore

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Browns announced last night the purchase of Raymond Shore, a right-handed pitcher, from Springfield, Ill., of the Three-I league for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Shore will report to the Browns today. Also due to join the Browns today is Jerry Witte, star first baseman of the Toledo American Association club. The Association's season ended Sunday and Witte, along with outfielder Paul Lehner, catcher Les Mess, catcher-outfielder Babe Martin and pitchers Fred Sanford and Chet Johnson, was ordered to report.

With No Holds Barred—Cards, Bums Race For Pennant

Red Birds Hold Two Game Lead, Play 13 Tilts on Road Trip

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, almost as successful on tour as at home, took off on their final, make-or-break eastern trip yesterday amid circumstances strongly reminiscent of the hectic climaxes to the National league's 1941 and 1942 pennant races.

Two games out in front of Brooklyn and buoyed by the surprising effectiveness of recently returned righthander George Munger, the Cardinals were at the peak of their season's league-leading performance at the plate and winning more than their share of the one-run decisions.

The Red Birds headed into the 13-game journey—including three against Brooklyn—with a record of 21 victories in their last 26 games, during which they have hit at nearly a .290 clip or 20 points above their season's average.

Adding another note of confidence to the Red Birds on the jaunt which opens with single games at Philadelphia today and tomorrow were figures showing their success on the road was only

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals, almost as successful on tour as at home, took off on their final, make-or-break eastern trip yesterday amid circumstances strongly reminiscent of the hectic climaxes to the National league's 1941 and 1942 pennant races.

They have compiled a .639 winning percentage at home with 46 victories and 26 losses and a .625 mark on the road with a 40-24 record.

While they are unlikely to repeat the 1940 feat of the Cincinnati Reds in copping 41 of their 100 victories by one run, 30 of the Red Birds' 86 triumphs have been by the thinnest of margins and 11 of them have been in the last 14 starts.

In 1941, the year Brooklyn won over the injury-riddled Cardinals, the lead changed hands 13 times and from start to finish the two top contenders were closer than

Winners in Eight Of Last 10, Brooks Meet Reds at Home

BROOKLYN (AP)—The final eastern appearance of the National league's western teams starts today with the spotlight on Ebbets Field where Lippy Leo Durocher's Brooklyn Dodgers will attempt to recapture the league lead from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Trailing the Red Birds by two games, the Dodgers will play host to the Cincinnati Reds in a two game set before tangling with the Cards in a three game series which starts Thursday.

Boasting a .750 average at Flushing Meadows, the Dodgers are confident that they will overhaul the Red Birds and cop the flag. Recent outstanding performances of their hurling crew form one of the principal reasons for the Brooks optimism.

Winners of eight of their last ten games, the Dodgers have had four of their tossers go the route in their last four wins, a feat that has been performed by Dodger mound crew only once before this season.

Rookie lefthander Joe Hatten, the former Iowan, and fireball Kirby Higbe, the league's leading hurler according to won and lost records, are the mainstays of the mound staff.

Hatten, highly regarded in spring training, has begun to live up to expectations while Higbe is exhibiting the form that marked him as one of the circuit's outstanding moundmen before the war.

For the First Time in 28 Years—

Bostonians Go Haywire Seeking Series Ducals

BOSTON (AP)—For centuries, New Englanders have developed a reputation of being staid folks—to some outsiders, perhaps, a little on the stolid side.

It's a myth. Boston's first imminent World Series in 28 years with those stupendous, tremendous (there we go, too) Red Sox it sending the region haywire.

Folks are thinking things and doing things they never did before to get a pair of World Series tickets.

Everyone is after them from the young stenographer, who ordinarily is more concerned about nylons, to the Yankee banker, who normally would prefer striking a good bargain.

The Red Sox management has announced a first come first serve policy—with midnight today the starting time for the ticket derby.

Extra mail crews have been put on. Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly of Boston arranged for half-hourly collections throughout last night at the 18-substations.

Extra mail-order windows were set up. Western Union offices throughout New England arranged to stay open through the night.

Banks were crowded during the day with men, women and children seeking certified checks.

All series tickets—and only two to a customer—are being handled by mail. No applications postmarked or telegraphed earlier than 12:01 a. m. Sept. 10 will be accepted.

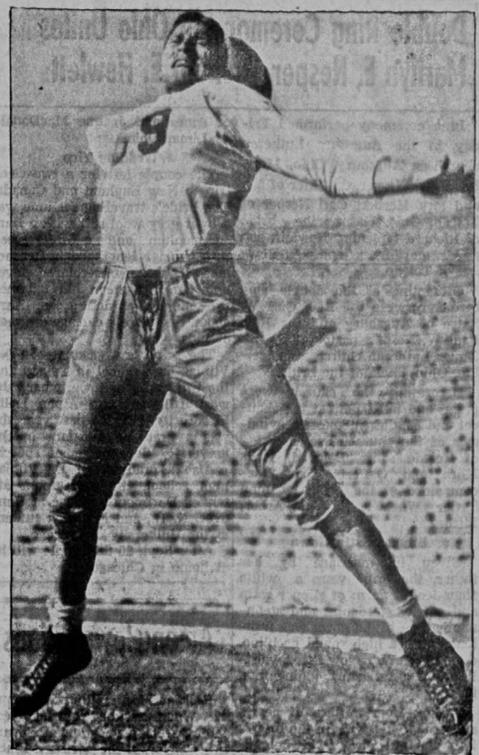

Some fans are sending scores of applications in names of relatives and friends.

"This place is a madhouse today," sighed Katherine Driscoll, bank clerk at a register check window. "I had one man come to the window and ask for 22 separate checks. Income tax had nothing on this rush."

Worcester post office reported that every fourth person applying for a money-order was an applicant for World Series tickets.

Sports writers—besieged by friends and others for tickets are wearing dark glasses.

Kansas Pitcher

There may be a lot of hay in Kansas but Ray Evans doesn't expect to pitch any this fall. Instead he will be attempting touchdowns for Kansas University. Before the war Ray was a star with the midwest school and during the war played with the Second Air Force Super Bombers. Ray is the key that Coach George Sauer plans to unlock the Big Six championship with.

3-1 League Resumes

EVANSVILLE (AP)—Evansville and Davenport—tied in the preliminary Three-1 league playoffs, each with one win—resume the 3-out-of-5 series here tonight.

The winner of the series will play Terre Haute, which qualified for the finals by taking three games from Danville.

MARITIME—
ment said that on the east coast soldiers are loading army-owned and operated transports. On the west coast stevedores are continuing to load refrigerator ships and troopships operated by commercial interests for the army.
But Lt. Col. Russell F. Oakes of the army transportation corps said in Washington he knew of no plans for servicemen to man transports. He said use of soldiers was not a strike-breaking move because soldiers are used only on army owned ships.
Inability of NMU and SIU to get together for a meeting to shape strike policy over the weekend brought reports of a possible break in the united front which brought about the greatest maritime strike in America's history.
NMU President Joe Curran scouted this talk as nothing but "wishful thinking."
"There is no rift," he said, and then opened up with the first official confirmation that sympathizing CIO seamen were interested in their own welfare as well as raises for the striking AFL sailors.
"The manner in which increases were given to the AEL after our negotiations was an unfair proposition," Curran said.
"Certainly now, if they (the WSB) give them these increases we're going to demand the same thing. If they want to stabilize the industry they should do it once and for all."
There was no immediate reaction from shipping operators, who had acceded to the AFL request for wage raises and added their support for a reversal of the WSB decision.
The interruption of America's huge export business meanwhile began to pinch some domestic industries, particularly flour and steel.
In Washington, top government officials in the labor and maritime fields conferred with Reconversion Director John R. Steelman at the White House in an effort to find a solution to the strike crisis.
The wage stabilization board met and decided to go ahead with its proposed hearings tomorrow even though union spokesmen would not be present. The board said it would at least hear the Atlantic and Pacific coast employers who negotiated the $27.50 and $22.50 monthly pay increases for the AFL unions after the board had approved a $17.50 boost for CIO sailors.
Hawk announced that he had been instructed not to appear at the WSB meeting in Washington and said that striking seamen "are prepared for a long battle if the wage stabilization board is stubborn."

MEAT—
some demands for resumption of rationing have come from labor and consumer groups. They contend that would be the only fair way to distribute short supplies of steaks, roasts and chops.
The agriculture department spokesman took the position that the reports and predictions of shortages have been "overly pessimistic."
He said a decline in farm marketing of livestock had been expected after the reestablishment of ceilings. He described such a decline as a reflection of the fact that producers had sold heavily during the period of decontrol, depleting feeding pens. It may be several weeks, he added, before farmers can get more animals up to marketing weight.
Officials of the agriculture department generally concede that the new ceilings for hogs are not high enough to encourage heavy feeding of corn at present prices for the grain. But they believe that when the new corn crop—now expected to be the largest on record—becomes available this fall, the situation may change. In any case, a tight pork situation has been predicted to last well into 1947.
These officials expect the beef supply to be increased considerably by marketing of western range cattle beginning in late September, but these generally do not produce as high quality meat as grain-fed animals.
OPA reported that new posters showing the meat ceilings should be available at every meat counter this morning. The new prices average 12 percent higher than those effective June 30 when OPA lapsed.
The average increase of 3 3/4 cents a pound is expected to add some $800,000,000 a year to consumer's butcher bills compared with previous ceilings. Most of this increase will fall on the so-called luxury meats, such as choice and good steaks, roasts, loins and other specialty cuts.
Price lids returned one day earlier to canned meats, lard and shortening. OPA reported that canned meat prices were rolled to the June 30 levels, lard was 5 1/2 cents a pound higher, while most food oils and fats were up about one cent a pound for standard container.
Many cities throughout the return of price lids on fresh meats came as an empty gesture because the cases and counters of many butcher shops were bare of popular cuts.
"There is going to be a shortage in any event because of the glut during these months of decontrol," OPA Chief Paul Porter told reporters recently. "I anticipate that the OPA will be blamed for what would be a natural development of distribution."

Council Sets Oct. 8 for Vote on Water Franchise

Adds Clauses To Proposal

Option for Purchase, Other Amendments Adopted Last Night

By KEITH SPAULDING
DAILY IOWAN CITY EDITOR
The City council voted unanimously last night to set Oct. 8 as the date for a special city-wide vote to decide the matter of renewing the Iowa Water Service company franchise.

In a unanimous vote taken earlier in the evening, the council adopted the franchise proposal with three major amendments offered by Alderman Carl S. Kringle:

- (1) The proposed time of the franchise to be cut from 25 to 20 years.
- (2) A clause to be added to give the city water for firefighting free of cost. This clause also directed that the company shall provide untreated water for flushing the city streets in the business district free of cost.
- (3) An option for the city to buy the company, left out of the proposal submitted by the company, was added. The option clause follows closely the option provided for in the original franchise.

Right To Buy

It provides that in October, 1961, the city shall have the right to buy the company and its property. The price will be decided by the city council and company representatives.

If the price cannot be agreed upon, an appraisal shall be made by a committee of five members. Two of the committee members shall be chosen by the company, two by the city council and the fifth by the original four.

Agreement of any four of the appraisal board members will fix the price to be paid for the water plant.

The appraisal plan follows one used in 1933, when company and city representatives could not agree and action to buy the company was dropped.

The amendment directs that the voters of Iowa City shall decide at a special election whether to buy the company. The city council is to notify the company of its intention to put the matter to a vote one year before the election. The price shall be decided six months before the election.

In their decision to hold the special election concerning renewal of the franchise Oct. 8, the council authorized City Clerk George Dohrer to begin preparing ballots and polling places. Expenses for the election, estimated at around $900, will be paid by the company.

The election will be held after four publications of the ordinance as approved by the council.

Alderman Charles T. Smith suggested to the council that the election be held at the same time as state and county elections in November. He said he thought a larger vote would be obtained at that time.

Kringle Disagrees

Alderman Kringle disagreed, recalling general elections he had seen where special issues were neglected "because people are only interested in the candidates at a general election."

Alderman Vernon I. Capen said he believed "people who are really interested will turn out at a special election." He was supported by City Attorney Kenneth Dunlop who pointed out that the company is paying the expenses and should have some right to decide when the election will be held.

Smith withdrew his suggestion when he found it met with no favor and joined the majority in voting to hold the election at the proposed time.

The present water franchise has been held by the Iowa Water Service company since 1923. It is scheduled to expire in 1948. According to the company's attorneys, the matter of renewal is being brought up at this time because the company has plans for expansion and improvement, to include extension of water mains, a new river crossing and service to an increased number of customers.

The new franchise is a re-statement of the old one, with the exception of the three amendments offered last night.

If the voters approve the franchise at the Oct. 8 special election, the ordinance will go into effect in its present form. If the franchise is voted down, the Iowa Water Service company would probably continue to serve its customers without franchise until the city took measures to:

- (1) obtain municipal ownership of the plant,
- (2) contract with another company to assume the service, or
- (3) grant a franchise to the Iowa Water Service company.

A quit-claim deed to the west half of South Market square was received from the Rock Island Lines railroad. The railroad reserved the right to use a part of this property for a joint driveway.

In return, the east half of the square was deeded to the railroad by the city.

A petition asking permission for the chief of police to buy 50 "no parking" signs and two "four-lane highway" signs was granted. Alderman James M. Callahan voted "no" on the measure.

Fresh Meat 'Non-Existent' Here On Eve of Return to Ceilings

Fresh meat was practically non-existent in Iowa City yesterday as the butcher shops' OPA-less days drew to an end.

OPA price ceilings on meat go into effect today. The new ceilings are generally lowered on prices charged since June 30, when price control went off, but there is very little meat to be had.

A survey of local meat markets and groceries revealed only one store with a fairly large supply of butchered stock.

One local meat dealer said, "It's clear as the nose on your face. Last week we had our counters loaded, there was no price control. Tomorrow the OPA goes on, and we have no meat."

Another dealer stated that his packers had warned him to buy no meat at all for 60 days.

Deliveries by "big packers" were almost non-existent, and little hope was expressed for a major let-up in the shortage.

"The meat situation? There it is, take a look," and a wave of the hand at empty shelves expressed the average dealer's attitude.

An announcement by the Iowa OPA office last week revealed the difference in figures on the average prices charged for the most popular ten cuts in Iowa. These gave a price increase of from 3 cents to 10 cents a pound over the June 30 ceilings.

Decreases in Price
However, decreases of from 2 cents to 23 cents on the average prices charged Sept. 5 was revealed. This will run from a 23 cent decrease on pork chops (center cut) to 2 cents on veal cutlets and sausage.

Grade A round steak with bone will decrease an average of 14 cents a pound, when and if you can get it, butchers said. Ground beef and grade A porterhouse will each drop 12 cents a pound from the Sept. 5 prices.

The OPA ceiling increases are mainly on prime and choice cuts, with round steak up 10 cents over June 30 prices. Ground beef, pork chops, ham, liver, veal cutlets and sausage will return to the old ceiling prices.

The new prices were originally
