Five Scores In 2nd Half Ruin Bisons

Iowa Eleven Looses Potent Scoring Punch Before 27,500 Fans

By CHAD BROOKS
Daily Iowan Sports Editor

Iowa's potent 1946 gridiron machine, obviously playing under wraps and substituting freely, broke loose with a barrage of five second half touchdowns yesterday afternoon to smother North Dakota State's Bisons, 39-0, as the football season opened before a crowd of 27,500 in the Iowa stadium.

Leading only 6-0 at the intermission against the outmanned but stubborn Bisons, The Hawks roared back for 14 points in the third period and added three more touchdowns within 3 1/2 minutes of the fourth quarter as the visitors fell apart at the seams.

The whole battle was fought in the first half, before the tiring Bisons bowed out of the game, and was almost entirely an individual battle between Iowa's unheralded left halfback star, Emlen Tunnell, and the Bisons' line-backing captain Cliff Rothrock.

Tunnell was easily the offensive star of the game, breaking loose for three long runs and connecting on a long pass to end Harold Shoener which set up first Iowa score.

Tunnell turned in the best run of the game early in the second half, breaking around his own right end and threading his way through the Bison defense for 43 yards to set up the Hawk's second touchdown.

Meanwhile, the rugged Rothrock was the whole defensive show, rocking the Hawkeye backs time and again with crushing tackles.

The Iowa scoring was pretty well split up, with right half Bob Smith grabbing the honors with two touchdowns.

Fullback Dick Hoerner picked up the Hawks' first half touchdown with a 13-yard dash around left end, bulging his way over two would-be tacklers on the way. Bob Smith missed the extra point.

Then, in the third period, Bob Smith cut back through the left side of the Bison line for 6 yards and his first score, and came back a few minutes later with a 13-yard dash around left end behind machine-like blocking for his second touchdown. Johnny Tedore added both extra points.

Reserve fullback Russ Fechter ran the score to 26-0 with a one yard plunge mid-way in the final period and Ron Headington added the extra point.

Two plays later Johnny Tedore, who went in at left when Tunnell picked up a minor leg bruise, slammed through left tackle for touchdown number five.

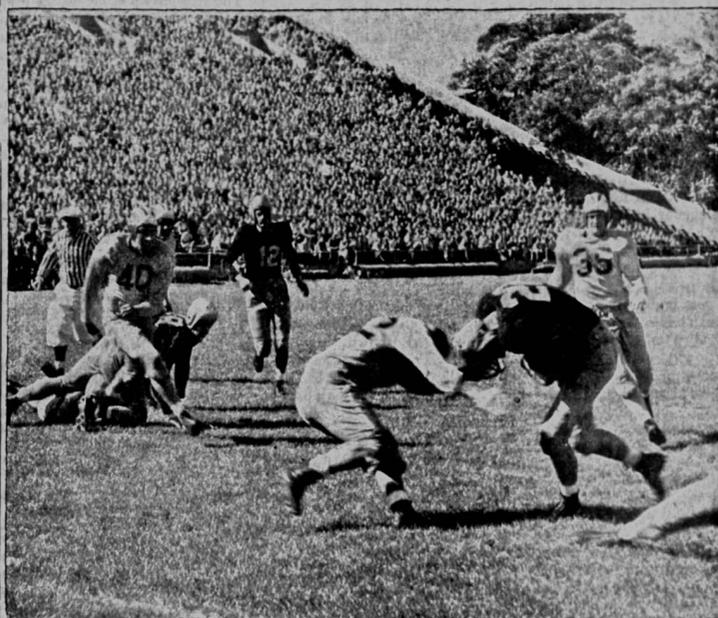

Finally, with a minute and a half left in the ball game, a pair of 1945 Iowa high school stars, quarterback Jim McKinstry and end Jack Dittmer teamed up for a 23-yard touchdown pass to climax the scoring.

Twice in the first half North Dakota threatened. At the end of the first period, the Bisons had moved to a fourth down with four yards to go on the Iowa 18, but lost the ball on downs as the second quarter got under way. Then, just before intermission, the visitors moved to the Hawks' 25 with two straight first downs but the drive died when quarterback Dennis Drews fumbled on an attempted pass and lost nine yards.

From then on the rugged Iowa line, showing three deep strength in every position, smothered the Bisons' ground game completely. An outstanding 45-yard punt by Hoerner that went out of bounds on the five yard line put the Bisons on the defensive shortly after the opening kick-off.

Then, after the first Iowa threat had died on the Bisons' 27, Bob Smith returned Drews' punt 33 yards to visitors' 42. Hoerner picked up two yards through the

Coast Guard Helicopter Rescues Eight Survivors of Plane Wreck

By HOWARD COWAN

GANDER AIRPORT, Newfoundland (AP)—A U.S. coast guard helicopter and flying boats, shuttling back and forth over lakes and forests of northeastern Newfoundland, brought eight survivors of the Sabena airliner crash to a hospital at the Gander air base last night before darkness fell.

Ten other survivors remain to be brought out when rescue operations are resumed at daybreak.

Capt. W. C. McConnell, commander of the Gander base army detachment, said these were the five hospitalized last night.

Jean Roocki, airline hostess and only survivor in a plane crew of seven, both legs broken, condition critical; Rudi Revil, composer and musician of New York, both hands badly burned and internal injuries; Walter Devos of Ghent, Belgium, fractured leg; Helen Ruth Henderson of New York, girl scout executive, and Mrs. Renee Jacquet of Courtail, Belgium, burns about the face.

The rescue fliers also evacuated John King, 19-year-old son of the Chinese ambassador to Belgium; Mrs. Leona Tonchet of Brussels. Their injuries were not immediately learned.

The last patient evacuated before darkness set in was Deschuyffeleer, who was flown directly to the Gander airport in the helicopter piloted by Lt. August Kleisch of the coast guard.

Two Teams Alerted

Two coast guard rescue teams, each composed of a helicopter and a PBY Catalina flying boat, began the daring rescue operation at 12:42 p. m., when Lt. Kleisch took off from Gander for a tiny plateau near the scene of the tragedy. Soon the first survivor, Miss Roocki, was whisked away in Kleisch's helicopter and taken to a Catalina which was waiting in a lake five miles away to bring her here.

Miss Roocki covered her face with a blanket as she was lifted from the plane upon arrival and placed in an ambulance for removal to the Sir Frederick Banting Memorial hospital. Revil winced with pain as he eased out of the craft, both hands and arms wrapped in bandages. He was wearing no trousers—just long underwear.

"Thanks for America," said Devos as he was taken out. He smiled and told attendants to "take it easy." Miss Henderson appeared to be in good spirits. The extent of her injuries was not disclosed.

Others Stay in Wilderness
Back in the emergency camp, deep in the wilderness, where the remaining survivors must spend their fourth night, morale was said to be high, what with the weather warming up and skies clearing. Conditions were said to be good for completing the rescue work today. The second rescue team is scheduled to take part in today's operations.

The big Catalina plane bearing

Miss Roocki arrived here at 3:40 p. m., less than nine hours after the crated helicopters reached this air base aboard Air Transport Command Skymasters from New York. One of the helicopters was damaged while being assembled, and makeshift repairs had to be made.

Two rescue parties—a 15-man army team and a 30-man company of Newfoundland woodsmen—had hacked a trail through the dense spruce forest and over the marshy Muskeag a quarter of a mile from the scene of the crash to the plateau. Lumber had been placed at the marshy edge of the lake so that the helicopters could be set down.

The survivors, 14 of whom were severely injured, had been carted laboriously through the forest trail on litters. Behind them near the charred wreckage of the skyliner lay the 26 bodies of their fellow passengers and crewmen who died when the big plane smashed into the forested hill.

Splints, crutches, tents and medical supplies had been dropped at the temporary rescue camp set up by the army team, which arrived late Thursday. Plans to parachute a small power plant and fluorlights were abandoned earlier as dangerous.

The operation was a difficult one. The helicopter pilots were prepared—should the terrain of the tiny plateau forbid landing—to lift the survivors into the craft by means of a Stokes stretcher, a wire-basket arrangement in which the injured could be fastened and raised into the plane by ropes.

The helicopters had been assembled in record time—6 1/2 hours—by technicians working at top speed.

FOUR MEN of an army rescue team are shown leaving in a rubber boat from a coast guard PBY plane (tail at left) bound for the scene of the crash of a Belgian transatlantic airliner in Newfoundland. This and other boats proceeded across the lakes—an unnamed body of water in the Newfoundland wilderness—and down a small stream to a point near the wreck to give aid to the 18 survivors. LaFollette Mentioned As Possible Successor To Henry A. Wallace

WASHINGTON (AP)—The name of Sen. Robert M. LaFollette (Prog., Wis.) entered speculation yesterday about a possible successor to Henry A. Wallace as secretary of commerce.

As is usual when a major government post is open, Capitol Hill was rife with rumor and the Wisconsin senator was the man most mentioned.

Aside from Wisconsin's senator, those getting attention in the speculation continued to be William L. Clayton, under-secretary of state; Eric A. Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America, and Paul Porter, the price administrator.

Block British Plan for Romanian Oil

PARIS (AP)—The European debate was "fantastic." The British conference hit a new snag yesterday as the Slav bloc, spearheaded by Russia, contested vigorously a proposal to give special protection in Romania to British and other foreign oil companies.

After an unprecedented seven hours of debate over a parliamentary tangle, the Balkan economic commission decided to refer to conference authorities the question of whether a 7-7 tie vote on oil clauses proposed for the Romanian treaty was a "legitimate ballot."

Senator Vandenberg (R., Mich.), the U.S. delegate, said the situation presented by the prolonged debate was "fantastic." The British conference hit a new snag yesterday as the Slav bloc, spearheaded by Russia, contested vigorously a proposal to give special protection in Romania to British and other foreign oil companies.

The American position on the oil clauses for the Romanian treaty was that special provisions for petroleum properties were not needed because such interests already were covered by general clauses on property right of Allied nationals.

Threatened Closing Of Iowa Restaurants Appears Averted

DES MOINES (AP)—A threatened Iowa restaurant closing because of OPA's rollback on prices of meat menu meals appeared last night to have been averted.

Jay Hammer of Spencer, president of the Iowa Restaurant association, said he was "confident" that all Iowa restaurants would be open tomorrow.

Meanwhile at Oskaloosa, the last place in Iowa where restaurants remained closed in protest against the price order, all operators were scheduled to be open on a normal basis tomorrow.

Operators at Waterloo and nearby towns announced that a scheduled closing tomorrow had been cancelled.

Hammer's announcement that he believed a threat of new closings had been averted followed an association plea to all restaurant owners in Iowa to refrain from shutting down.

Operators in a number of Iowa towns previously had said they intended to close tomorrow unless price relief was granted by then.

Hammer and L. J. Radtke, executive secretary, said directors of the Iowa Restaurant association at a meeting in Des Moines yesterday had asked Iowa restaurant men to "cooperate with local OPA boards until official word has been given in Washington, D. C., regarding future regulations of the rollback order of Sept. 16.

The directors recommended that assurance had been given the restaurant industry in Iowa that local OPA boards would "be fair in the adjustment in prices during the interim."

The directors recommended that "all restaurant operators refrain from closing their restaurants."

In Oskaloosa, Newell Conway, chairman of restaurant operators there, said all restaurants in Oskaloosa would be open and back to normal tomorrow. A few were re-opening yesterday and some would be open today, he said. Oskaloosa restaurants had been closed since last Tuesday.

Jehovah's Witnesses Decide Not to Meet In Lacona Park Today

DES MOINES (AP)—Charles Sellers, a spokesman for Jehovah's witnesses, said yesterday the group would not attempt to meet in Lacona's city park today, because "the sheriff has already told us he will block our attempts."

On Sept. 8 the witnesses and about 25 Lacona men, many war veterans, engaged in a fight that resulted in minor injuries to at least 30 persons.

'Non-Paying Guest' Refuses to Quit Prison —After Serving 33 Years

ROCKWELL CITY (AP)—Mrs. Winifred Barnett sat in the Iowa women's reformatory yesterday, insisting she hasn't served her full sentence at the institution and wouldn't leave until she has.

The 72-year-old Negro woman was convicted of murdering her divorced husband at Davenport in 1913 and sentenced to 35 years in prison. As she figures it, she still has a couple of years to serve.

"The judge said I must serve 35 years straight," she smiled. She added the late Gov. John Hammill also told her she must serve the full sentence.

Got Another Term
She didn't mention and may have forgotten she also drew an additional five-year term for escaping from the women's section of the Anamosa state reformatory where women were imprisoned before the institution was opened here in 1918.

But the board of control, which runs Iowa institutions, says her time was up 10 years ago, Dec. 29, 1936, to be exact. This counts time off for good behavior.

Just 'Non-Paying Guest'
"I think she's just been a non-paying guest since that time," commented Board Member H. H. Hauge in Des Moines.

"When her time was up, she didn't want to leave," he explained. There was some question for a time whether she had to accept the time off her sentence for good behavior, but the law provides that a person's sentence shall be reduced by a specified amount for such behavior. So I contend she's just a guest."

Although Mrs. Barnett told state officials she had "no people at home" and to "let me stay in prison until I die," she declared yesterday she just wants to serve out her legal term.

"I could not stay here beyond my time," she said. "I would walk out these doors the minute it was up."

Ward of County
But the attorney general's office ruled she not only must leave the prison, but that she is a ward of Scott county and prison officials are quietly going about preparations for her transfer to the Scott county home for the aged sometime next week.

"I don't blame her for not wanting to go," Hauge said. "It's a lot nicer at Rockwell City than any county home I ever saw. I wouldn't be surprised if it took a couple of good men to take her out of the reformatory."

Mrs. Barnett, because of her remonstrances against leaving, hasn't yet been told she definitely must go. Reformatory officials are preparing to furnish her clothing and other essentials which go with release of an inmate, but they had to tell her that new dresses were being made for all inmates before she would let them take her measurements.

Has Son
Prison records show the woman has a son living in New York City, but she doesn't want to go to him. She said she had received a Mother's day card from him. She refused to go with him to New York in 1942 when he offered to come for her.

Mrs. Barnett laid a trap May 1, 1913, for her ex-husband, George, and fired two bullets into him while hidden and arranged a suicide scene. She placed the gun in his left hand and escaped. That was her big mistake.

George was right-handed.

He Chews Nails In Embarrassment Over Arrest

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP)—Walter D. Szymkow, 148-pound strongman, was so "embarrassed" over police questioning in connection with a car theft that he felt like biting nails and smashing bricks—so he did.

At police headquarters yesterday he suddenly bent down and tore a nail out of the floor with his fingers, clamped the nail between his teeth and then bent it at right angles.

"Excuse me," said Szymkow, "I am embarrassed. I never have been arrested before."

Then the 32-year-old Polish aviator once billed as the "Strong Man of Poland," at the San Francisco World's Fair, halved a brick neatly with the side of his hand and smashed it with his fists. He even demonstrated how to snap a chain fastened across his chest.

Nevertheless, District Judge Albert C. Moore held him on a grand larceny charge in connection with the theft of a car at New Hyde Park, N. Y., where Szymkow lives.

Flyers Held Captive

NANKING (AP)—Unofficial but credible reports from far western China last night indicated that some American B-29 crewmen were living in slavery under wild tribesmen near the north Burma border after being forced down two years ago.

These reports said at least three Americans had been seen recently with the "Lolo" tribes of western Szechwan province and that they were forced to tend herds, gather wood and do other menial tasks under abject conditions of servitude.

Hunger Is Above Politics

UNRRA's recent decision to continue relief shipments to Yugoslavia despite the death of five American fliers at the hands of Yugoslav fighter planes brought a flood of protests from many quarters.

Little official heed, of course, was paid the protests since the relief agency had agreed to send food, clothing, farm machinery and other rehabilitation help to Yugoslavia until the end of this year.

This presents a sad prospect, for with UNRRA's disappearance goes our last link with the nations in the so-called Russian sphere.

According to The Christian Science Monitor, UNRRA has accomplished miracles in Yugoslavia. At first Tito, uneasy victor of civil war, eyed UNRRA suspiciously as an Anglo-American agency.

Yugoslavia was hesitant to sign an UNRRA pact, but came through when Mihail Sergeichik, a Russian, was named mission head.

Once the Yugoslav mission got to work, Tito and UNRRA became close friends. The handful of British and Americans on the mission travelled all through the war-ravaged areas where they are credited with saving between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 lives.

UNRRA obviously advanced the American cause in Yugoslavia. The question now is what will take up where UNRRA left off?

The state department, primarily responsible for the Geneva decision to abandon the agency, feels that time has come for a "normal" trade to be resumed.

The difficulty in giving the job to the new agencies is that they have not yet reached their stride where they can handle the world's great rehabilitation and reconstruction needs.

Relief after the last war, administrators now admit frankly, was used primarily to fend off "Bolshevik" revolutions.

Americans have a strange idea that they shouldn't help those who disagree with them politically. This is wrong. Hunger is above politics.

That's why this newspaper is slightly appalled at the protests against further shipments to Yugoslavia. Man's mind can only be temporarily influenced by his stomach.

More Jobs Than Workers in Russia

MOSCOW (AP)—The story of Russia's efforts to meet manpower demands is written daily in newspaper "help wanted" advertisements and signs above factory entrances throughout the nation.

It is no easy job to line up the 7,000,000 new workers required by the five-year-plan for industry, transport and construction jobs, not to mention other millions needed to bring the collective farms' working force back to the normal level.

In Moscow, newspaper advertisements read like this: "Help Wanted: Laborers, foremen, blacksmiths, carpenters, bookkeepers typists. Apply red pipe works."

Here's another from the newspaper evening Moscow: "Wanted—pipefitters, plasterers, carpenters, bricklayers, glaziers. Apply Moscow city first of May district construction trust executive committee."

The severity of the labor shortage in transportation and industry was disclosed last month in the labor paper Trud, which reported that the Soviet trade unions had blocked the transport ministry's effort to work railroad employees overtime and on their free days.

Workers are free to choose any job for which they are qualified without any pressure from the state or the trade unions. The only exception is that students finishing schools where they were trained for a certain specialty are expected to work in that industry.

1946 EFFECT OF MOON ON TIDES

LOOKING AHEAD—

Economists See Fall in Prices

By THE WORLD STAFF OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Some government economists in Washington and one group of economic experts in New York think that prices are going to start falling fairly soon.

The New York analysts claim that in three to six months—maybe a little more or less—powerful deflationary forces will undermine the highest price level the nation has seen since the post-World War I period.

The Washington economists, citing some declines in the prices of farm products and old houses, say they think the price peak may already have passed.

Dollar volume of retail sales has remained at high level, and even crawled a little with price rises, but volume of goods has been level during the summer and has even eased off a bit.

The Washington group of economists says this means consumers have grown more resistant—or have been unable to meet the prices. They think this trend will become more visible soon and that anticipation of it may have been among the reasons for the stock market slump.

The New Yorkers agree with this. Despite different economic situations earlier, they draw a parallel between 1921, 1929, and 1946.

In both 1921 and 1929 a severe drop in stock prices signalled a decline in the general price level.

Federal bank regulation authorities, meanwhile, are advising lending institutions to be careful about lending on inflated inventory values.

They urge lenders to make sure they get a sound margin above collateral on loans.

MURRAY WILL STAY WASHINGTON—The best size-up of Phil Murray's future in the CIO is that while he may want to quit as CIO president he won't do it.

The main reason is that he hasn't groomed anyone so far as a successor.

Fresh reports that Murray may not stand for re-election denied by Murray, probably have as a basis his threats to some CIO leaders that he may quit. These threats seem to be designed only to settle CIO squabbles.

LONG-RANGE PARLAY WASHINGTON—There is talk—only in the rumor stage—that if Senator Mead loses as Democratic candidate for New York governor he may wind up as postmaster general.

That probably would mean that Robert E. Hannegan would resign both as postmaster general and as chairman of the Democratic national committee.

If Hannegan should quit both jobs, Paul Fitzpatrick, New York state chairman, might be in line for the national party post.

The World Watch

By STEVE PARK

It is seldom indeed that an astute politician will associate himself with a third party in the United States.

He is well acquainted with the fact that third parties are noted primarily for their short life and the number of political corpses which mark their passing.

Yet there was never a time in our history when the need for a third party was more urgent than it is today.

There are, of course, a few who are fully cognizant of the dangers which surround the American people in this atomic era.

But they are helpless in the face of the great political machines and the hard-headed "practical" groups which control our destinies.

We keep the atomic "secret" to keep the peace—but there is no secret. We arm to keep the peace—but we prepare the forces of the world for another and more terrible struggle and the burden on the people increases constantly.

It is time now for another party—an American party—to emerge into American public life.

This party must stand for an American foreign policy for Americans; it must stand for world unity; it must dispel the lie about the "secret"; it must destroy the atomic bomb stockpiles.

This must be a party which will adapt to conditions as they really exist—not as we would like to believe them to be.

There is a man who could lead such a party. He has pledged himself to the American people to continue the fight for peace.

Henry Agard Wallace is that man. For criticizing a foreign policy which is based on folly and which is subscribed to by vested interest, he was forced out of government this week. He has put America first.

It does not matter that a third party may well go down into oblivion quickly; it does not matter that a few men may have to sacrifice their political life.

Such a party needs statesman and patriots who are willing to give up hope of political success in the interests of the United States and the world.

Cabbages and Kings

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS

The forced resignation of Henry Wallace from the Truman cabinet may have damaged beyond repair, between now and 1948, the cause of liberalism within the ranks of the Democratic party.

For removal of the Iowa-born Secretary of Commerce from the administration takes from high public office one of the truly great progressive political leaders of our time.

And, while the Democratic national committee can still fervently pray that the loss of Wallace to the Truman official family will not react too adversely in the forthcoming congressional elections, there can be no doubt but that the president's chances of reelection two years hence have suffered irreparable harm.

The first, and quite important, indication of possible anti-Truman sentiment among liberal voting elements may show up in the results of the 1946 elections in New York. In 1944, two left-of-center groups—the American Labor party and the Liberal party—held the political balance of power in the Empire State.

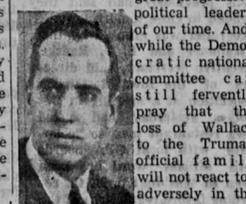

Although Franklin Roosevelt received a minority of votes in the Democratic-GOP battle, support of his fourth-term candidacy by the two left-wing parties gave him New York's 47 electoral votes with a comfortable margin.

Ever since President Truman moved into the White House, political observers have been pointing out that, in order to keep the ever-vital New York vote in the administration column, he must somehow retain the backing of the Liberals and the ALP.

There was one man in the cabinet who attracted that support and who, through astute campaigning, might have brought about a GOP defeat in New York this fall. That man was Wallace.

Hawkeye, Riverdale Residents Approve UMISO Constitution

Residents of Hawkeye and Riverdale trailer villages yesterday approved the constitution of the University Married Students organization, drawn up earlier this year by leaders in the two villages for university veterans.

Purpose of the organization is "to promote student participation in student activities, develop more student responsibility toward self-government, encourage closer cooperation between university officials and students and secure opportunities for the veterans to obtain better educations." Trailer village residents are now the only members of the organization, but there is provision in the constitution whereby other married veterans groups may be included.

Most of the UMISO activities will be directed by a council, made up of two members each of the village councils. Hawkeye village residents will elect a new council Tuesday, and nominations for the posts must be turned in at the village by tomorrow noon.

Residents of Riverdale will also elect a new council sometime next week. The constitution for the Riverdale community was also approved by its residents yesterday.

Coder, marshal for the program, they will be escorted to a position on the brick terrace west of Old Capitol. University staff members and the student body will assemble on the lawn west of the north and south walk on the west approach to Old Capitol between 7 and 7:15 a.m.

After the playing of "Old Gold" President Hancher will lead officials back to Old Capitol, the bell will be rung and the audience will adjourn.

Classes will be held immediately after the ceremonies.

Started in 1922, the ceremony was at first much more elaborate. The colleges met separately and in groups marched to the site of the ceremony. The ceremonies were held originally at Iowa field, but they later were simplified and transferred to the east front of the Old Capitol.

After the remodeling of Old Capitol in 1928, the location was changed to the west front.

Without apparent motive, Hicswa fatally slashed two Japanese men in a park last Nov. 24 as he was awaiting transportation home. He was sentenced to death, but after pleas by his family in Wallington, N. J., and others, President Truman last May commuted his sentence to 30 years in prison.

Among the outstanding acts which will be a part of the show are tower dives and a fire dive from the roof of the fieldhouse. Several attempts at national swimming records, both the medley and individual attempts, will be made by team members performing at the show, according to Bill Boswell, A3 of Iowa City, production manager.

Ten speciality divers will be featured at the show, and a varicolored fountain will decorate the center of the pool.

Advance ticket sales for the show will start about Oct. 1, Boswell said. Orders may be placed with any members of the swimming club. Iowa Citizens and university students are urged to attend the Thursday and Friday performances, Boswell explained, so that there will be room for Homecomers at the Saturday shows.

New York Waterfront Strike-Free Last Night For 1st Time in Weeks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
New York's waterfront was free of pickets for the first time in more than two weeks last night and the pool of approximately 450 strike-bound ships in the harbor was returning to normal as CIO and independent seamen started back to work after winning parity in wage scales with AFL seamen.

The last pickets were withdrawn after the Marine Firemen, Oilers, Watertenders and Wipers association, an independent union based on the west coast, voted to end its strike in New York.

The action came as the maritime commission in Washington placed maritime wage rates on a parity for the first time.

Falls Did Not Fall, Park Officials Say

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP)—Niagara Frontier Parks officials announced yesterday an examination of the American falls showed there was "no perceptible change" in the cataract.

The announcement conflicted with opinions of other parks officials that the contour of the falls had been changed Friday by a huge rock slide when an unexplained earth disturbance was felt over a 10-mile radius.

Many residents of this honeymoon mecca first thought the earth shock was caused by a rock slide at the falls.

Francis A. Seyfried, superintendent of the parks commission, said yesterday that "as far as we are concerned there was no break in the American falls."

9 Killed in Windstorm

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—At least nine persons were killed and 24 injured as more than 40 bomb-weakened buildings and houses collapsed yesterday in the worst wind storm to hit this war-rubbed city since 1942.

Highlander Tryouts Slated for Tuesday

Tryouts for the university all-girl Scottish Highlanders will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the fieldhouse. William Adamson, director, announced yesterday.

Old members of the group are to report for their first practice this year at 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Adamson said.

Tuesday's tryouts will be the second to be held this year. It was arranged to give university women who were not on campus when the first tryout was held, Sept. 16, a chance to demonstrate their ability.

Of the troupe of 55, there are altogether about 30 vacancies this fall, according to Adamson. The only eligibility requirement is that the woman applying be over 5 feet, four inches tall.

Some substitutes to supplement the regular groups will be chosen also. Freshmen and sophomores are preferred as new members, Adamson said, but some upperclassmen with unusual ability or experience are taken in.

Night Life Blossoms Forth as Paper Doll Reopens Iowa City's Nightclub for Teeners Gets off to Flying Start for Another Year

TEEN-AGERS CROWD around the tables in the snack bar of the Paper Doll at the Community building Friday night to enjoy a coke and a rehash of City High's football victory over Clinton. The season's opening of the "night club" brought a crowd of approximately 275 youngsters together for a post-game jam session. While the snack bar echoed to excited chatter, the lounge was filled with other members dancing to music from the club's own juke box.

Night life for Iowa City's younger set blossomed forth again this weekend with the reopening of the Paper Doll nightclub.

Exclusively for teen-agers, the Paper Doll, sponsored by the City Recreation center, provides a meeting place each Friday and Saturday evening where young people may talk, dance and have a snack with their friends.

This year's opening session after the City high-Clinton football game Friday night, was a riot of brightly colored sweaters, straw hats and broad football-victory grins. The juke box, conveniently placed in the main lounge, was never quiet. Saddle shoes and loafers shuffled, stomped and giddied over the floor.

In the snack bar which adjoins the lounge, soft drinks passed over the counter as fast as Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Smith could take the caps off the bottles.

At the tables, groups of high school youngsters reviewed every play in the evening's game and speculated optimistically on the rest of the season.

The Paper Doll is located in the basement of the Community building and has a large main lounge with a juke box, piano, dance floor and comfortable chairs around the room.

The snack bar is filled with tables where members may sit and chat while they eat and drink. A game room, used on Friday to handle the overflow of new members, also is available.

First organized in 1943 under the leadership of J. Edgar Frame, city recreation director, The Paper Doll has been in constant operation, closing only for 4 seasonal repairs.

A large map of Iowa City hanging in the director's office is laden with pins. Each pin denotes a membership in the Paper Doll. The entire city and surrounding communities are well represented.

Membership is free of charge to all students enrolled in junior or senior high school. Junior members may stay until 9:30 p.m. while seniors enjoy the club until 11 p.m.

A council elected by the group governs the Paper Doll. There is at least one council representative from each junior and senior high school in the city.

Elections for the coming year will be held in October.

"No Juvenile Delinquency" Frame says people should not consider the Paper Doll as a measure to combat juvenile delinquency.

"There is no such thing as juvenile delinquency, there are just juveniles," said Frame.

"Children are juveniles until they mature and become adults," he stated. "Until that time, responsibility of their getting into trouble lies with the adults in their lives."

"A youngster contacts life in the home, the school, the church and the community. The Paper Doll is merely the contribution of this community toward giving him the proper response to his contact," he explained.

He likened the growing-up process to the building of a brick wall. A level must be applied, or after a certain point in haphazard construction your wall tumbles.

"The Paper Doll is eliminating the problem of delinquency for the future," Frame declared. "When these young people pass into adulthood they will be ready for full responsibility."

The 'Dubuque Express' On His Way

DICK HOERNER of Dubuque showed flashes of his 1942 form in helping Iowa smash to a 39-0 opening game win over North Dakota State yesterday. In 1942 Dick raced 90 yards against Michigan for the longest Iowa touchdown-run of the season and in this picture it looked like he was going around the Bison right end from the 25 yard line to pay dirt. However, he was trapped on the 15, but two plays later grabbed the ball and went 13 yards into the end zone for Iowa's first touchdown of the 1946 grid season.

New Football Era Dawns at Iowa

Hawkeye Gridiron Machine Ready to Leave Loop Cellar

By DON SULHOFF Daily Iowan Assistant Sports Editor

When the shadows lengthened over the Iowa stadium yesterday afternoon it was apparent to the 27,500 persons in the stands that a new era in football at the Hawkeye school was at hand.

No longer was Iowa to be bounced around like a rubber ball in a golf game, because Dr. Eddie fielded a team that looked equal to Nile Kinnick's famed "Iron Men" who shot the Hawkeyes to national fame in 1939.

But unlike the 1939 team, Dr. Eddie's first post war eleven had a wealth of reserve backfield power and a big line up front.

It wasn't a case of benching a player and having nothing with which to replace him like it has been in other years. They came off the bench to score touchdowns until the climax when fourth string freshmen combined for a 22 yard pass and the final Iowa score.

It was a hint of better things to come—but, with the breather over, Iowa and Dr. Eddie had the thought of eight consecutive Saturdays of top notch competition to face. Six of the games are with conference foes, one against traditional Nebraska and the other, always tough Notre Dame.

When Jerry Mulreedy, Bison fullback, took a lusty swing at Emlen Tunnell after one of the latter's long runs, one was in the press box remarked, "Mike Jacobs is looking for a guy like that to draw a million dollar gate with Joe Louis."

The ever present dog that always attends football and baseball games didn't miss yesterday afternoon. He stormed onto the field in the third quarter but avoided the action side of the field on his way up into the stands.

In the locker room after the game the North Dakota team showed effects of the physical beating the bigger and rougher Iowa line dished out. Most of the team was nursing bumps and bruises but no serious injuries were reported.

Cliff Rothrock, Bison center, stole the Iowa crowds applause from the Hawks. Time after time the tough line-backer would make the tackle and the public address announcer would give the credit to another man. Here is where the crowd would intercede and in unison yell "It was Rothrock."

Iowa's locker room wasn't a bedlam of noise or celebration but instead a quiet scene of congratulation. No one was seriously injured and all hands will be on hand for Purdue next Saturday.

The opening day crowd—official estimate 27,500—is one of the largest in history.

The absence of the Iowa band was noticeable but the situation will be remedied next week when both the Highlanders and the band will be on hand for the Dad's day festivities.

Iowa's point total—39—was the largest the Hawks have been able to muster since 1940 when they tipped South Dakota 46-0. Iowa's largest number of points was in 1914 when they overpowered Iowa Teachers 95-0. On another day—in 1902—Michigan ran up an amazing 107 points against the Hawkeyes.

Iowa State Cyclones Fall to Colorado, 13-7

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—Rangy Don Evans, an unheralded 19-year old substitute tailback put fire into a sluggish Colorado university football team yesterday in the fading moments of a bruising battle with Iowa State and engineered the Touchdown that gave the Buffaloes a 13-7 victory.

Replacing Maurice "Tex" Reilly, Colorado's triple-threat man who hadn't been able to generate any kind of a scoring drive, Evans led the Buffaloes 71 yards in four plays to the last period score that broke a 7-7 deadlock.

Chicago Takes Two ST. LOUIS (AP)—It was just as well that Herold (Muddy) Ruel, new manager of the St. Louis Browns, went househunting yesterday afternoon. Otherwise he would have seen the Chicago White Sox kick around his charges-to-be in 1947 for a double setback, 11 to 10 and 9 to 1.

Illinois Power Plant Sinks Pitt Panthers

By DUKE MORAN

PITTSBURGH (AP)—There was an upset in the making at Pitt stadium yesterday, until gears of the University of Illinois football power plant meshed in a burst of power which crumpled a gallant, inexperienced lot of Pitt Panthers into 33-7 defeat.

It was the season opener for both teams and Pitt's first start under its new coach, Wesley Fessler.

About 35,000 fans roared as the young Panthers clawed their way to a 7-7 first half deadlock after Claude (Buddy) Young, the Illini Ebony Express, spun off a 46-yard touchdown run before the echoes of the starting gun died.

Pitt matched that touchdown before the period ended as Louis Ceconi, a freshman from Donora, Pa., high school piled through center from the one yard line.

The Panthers actually outplayed the bigger, faster, wiser Illini for the remainder of the first half.

That bristling first half effort spent the Panthers, however, and fired the Illini.

The third period was young when substitute back Art Dufelmier slashed through the Pitt left side 38 yards for a touchdown. Illinois recovered a fumble on the Pitt 20 a few minutes later and after five plays Young sped around left end for another score.

A passing attack, climaxed by a 27 yard scoring heave, Tom Stewart to Paul Patterson, added another touchdown in the fourth period and Chick Maggioli raced 75 yards over the goal on a punt return.

Young was well throttled by the hard-working Pitts except for his opening touchdown dash and his short spurt for a score.

The first down chart showed little advantage for Illinois with 10 to Pitt's nine. Pitt gained 205 yards from offensive plays, mostly in the first half, while Illinois rolled up 226 yards. Pitt threw 19 passes and completed six for 73 yards while Illinois completed two out of nine, for 33 yards.

line and Tunnell dropped a pass to Hal Shoener on the 27.

Two plunges by Bob Smith, good for twelve yards, and a pair of five yard penalties against the Hawks moved the ball to the 25.

Hoerner pounded his way around right end for a first down on the Bison 15.

Big Dick then plunged for two and followed up with a 13-yard dash for the first score.

Action slowed considerably until the final minute of the first half, when Tunnell took a Bison punt on his own six and ran through the entire visitor eleven before Rothrock caught him from behind on the Iowa 42 when a three man blocking escort plugged things up in front of the speedster.

With 15-seconds left in the half Tunnell went back to pass but elected to run instead and circled left end for 16-yards, shaking off two tacklers on the way. However, Tunnell's pass to end Sherman Howard fell incomplete as the half ended.

Tunnell's 43-yard dash early in the second half set the Bisons back on their heels and, although the Hawks failed to score when Hoerner fumbled on the one yard line, a poor Bison punt gave Iowa the ball on the visitors' 28.

Tedore and Bob Smith picked up 22-yards in three plays and

Red Birds, Dodgers Both Win

Dickson Tips Chicago, 2-1

CHICAGO (AP)—Slender Murry Dickson protected the St. Louis Cardinals' one-game National league lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday with a five-hit performance against the Chicago Cubs, 2-1, scoring the winning run after he opened a ninth inning rally with a single.

After waging violent warfare with the Cubs' Johnny Schmitz for eight innings, the lean native of Tracy, Mo., struck the blow that finally meant the ball game after two were out in the ninth. Lining a single past the veteran Billy Jurgas at shortstop, Dickson pounded home with the big run when Red Schoendienst doubled off the ivy-covered wall in left center.

St. Louis opened up with one run in the second on Whitey Kurovski's single, an error by Bob Sturgeon and Marty Marion's double. Sturgeon's error was costly for he threw the ball into the card dugout when Jurowski started to steal second, changed his mind and headed back for first after Ery Dusak had struck out. Clyde McCullough's peg to Sturgeon was perfect but the Cub second baseman heaved the ball wildly and Kurovski went all the way to third, scoring easily on Marion's smash to the left field corner.

In the fourth inning with two out Eddie Waitkus had worked Dickson for his first pass and stole second when the Card right-hander, working carefully, curved a third strike past Big Nick. The ball scooted out of catcher Del Rice's hand, bouncing back toward the stands and Nicholson, lit out for first.

The Card catcher then heaved wildly to first, too late to get Nicholson and Waitkus, who had gone to third when the ball rolled away from Rice, continued under full steam to the plate with the winning run.

Seals Win Pennant

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—The San Francisco Seals won their first Pacific Coast baseball pennant since 1935 yesterday as the Sacramento Solons handed the runner-up Oakland Aorns a 6-1 beating.

Tigers Tap Indians

CLEVELAND (AP)—It took the Tigers 11 innings yesterday to defeat the Cleveland Indians 5 to 3, Dizzy Trout going all the way to garner his 15th win.

Smith went over for the second touchdown.

Iowa's first two scores in the final period came after the Hawks had pounced on Bison fumbles. First, Herb Shoener grabbed one on the visitors' one yard line and Fechter plunged across on the next play.

Then, reserve tackle Bob Zender pounced on another on the next play from scrimmage to set-up Tedore's four yard dash.

The McKinstry-Dittmer pass for the final Iowa touchdown was one of the outstanding plays of the game. McKinstry, a Nile Kinnick scholarship winner, dropped a perfect pass into the end zone where Dittmer outjumped the defensive halfback to make the best catch of the game.

The Hawks had a big edge in every department according to the statistics sheet. They piled up 13 first downs to the Bisons' 7; captured rushing honors, 283 to 40; punting average, 45 yards to 28; recovered four Bison fumbles and lost the ball only once, AND WERE PENALIZED 94 YARDS AGAINST THE VISITORS' 55.

Brooks Slash Boston, 6-2

BOSTON (AP)—With Pee Wee Reese hitting a pair of three-baggers the Brooklyn Dodgers continued a game behind the top-place St. Louis Cardinals by toppling a 6-2 win over their Boston Braves "cousins" yesterday in the opener of a three-game series.

Spahn, with effective control over his sneaky fast ball, sailed along smoothly until Dixie Walker banged him for a second Brooklyn hit with one out in the fourth frame.

After Carl Furillo slashed another bounder into right field, Reese drove in both runners with a triple to that same direction and romped over the plate when Bruce Edwards dropped a hit into left field.

After Herold Schultz doubled in the Dodge catcher, Manager Billy Southworth yanked Spahn for another southpaw, Dick Mulligan, obtained on waivers this week from the Phillies.

That brought up portside Joe Hatten and he squeezed in Schultz to give the Dodgers an apparently safe 5-0 lead.

Dick Culler opened the sixth with a safe drive into left, and, with two out, scored from second on Phil Masi's single. Culler drove in the final Boston run in the seventh by matching Garden Gilenwater's two-bagger against the left field wall.

Herold 'Muddy' Ruel To Manage Browns

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Herold D. (Muddy) Ruel, a native St. Louisan, yesterday signed a two-year contract to manage the St. Louis Browns, the club which with he made his professional debut as catcher back in 1915.

In taking over the management of the Browns, effective next spring, Ruel will retire as assistant to A. B. (Happy) Chandler, baseball commissioner. His signing was made possible by the announcement earlier in the week that Chandler had given permission to President Richard Muckerman of the Browns to dicker with Ruel. The three held a conference at the commissioner's home in Versailles, Ky., Wednesday at which most of the details were arranged.

Ruel, who is 50 years old, has had a notable career in the American league as catcher and coach. He gained his greatest fame with the Washington Senators where he was Walter Johnson's last battery mate. He was the Senators' first string catcher from 1923 to 1930. Later he served with the Chicago White Sox as coach of pitchers and assistant to Manager Jimmy Dykes.

Indiana Eleven Upset

BLOOMINGTON, IND. (AP)—The University of Cincinnati Bearcats brought a carload of razzle dazzle into Memorial stadium yesterday and it paid off with a 15 to 6 victory over Indiana University's 1945 Big Ten football champions.

Fifteen thousand, the largest opening game crowd in Indiana history, saw Coach Ray Nolting's boys score two touchdowns by air and then add a place kick for good measure. Bo McMillin's Hoosiers were able to cross the line only once when Pete Pihos of Indianapolis plunged seven yards to climax an eighty-yard march down the field.

Near the end of the first period a clipping penalty nullified a 48-yard punt return by Bob Cowan and a play later Indiana fumbled on its own 30. Don McMillan passed to Fred Redeker of Cincinnati for a 10-yard advance, and then heaved to James Dougherty for the first touchdown. Elbert Nickel's kick was blocked.

The Hoosiers blazed back with an 80-yard march marked by an initial pass from Ben Raimondi to Mel Groomes for 10 and another a few plays later for 36 to put Indiana on the field.

Badgers Show Class

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A hard driving Wisconsin football team scored in every quarter yesterday to set back its traditional intrastate foe, Marquette, 34 to 0, before a sellout crowd of 45,000.

Marquette put in a strong bid in the last period with passes, but interceptions three times halted the Hiltoppers, once on the visitors' three yard line.

Powerful Wisconsin scored its first touchdown late in the first period when Don Kindt broke off tackle and eluded several tacklers to mark up the score. Lisle Blackburn, Jr., freshman halfback, converted with a place kick.

Pushed deep into their own territory in the second period, by a quick kick the Badgers sent Earl Maves slashing through the line to score after an 83 yard jaunt. The extra point was missed.

Wally Dreyer sparked a 20 yard march with dashes of 79 and 17 yards in the third quarter and then went over from the six. Blackburn again added the point with a place kick. Ben Bendrick scored from the five a few minutes later.

Purdue Ekes Miami, 13-7

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's footballers were pushed all the way yesterday to defeat a savage tackling Miami University team from Oxford, O., 13 to 7.

Boilermaker righthalfback Bob (Stormy) Pfohl was carried off the field with a broken bone in his foot, but Coach Cecil Isbell turned up a line plunger of ability in halfback Harry Szulborski, new comer from Detroit.

A crowd of 23,000, in Ross-Ade stadium saw the light but rangy Miami line push the heavy Boiler-makers in the first quarter. Fullback Bill Johnston plunged for the Redskins' touchdown from the one-foot line after quarterback Melvin Olix had set it up by blocking a punt on the Purdue 21.

Bob DeMoss, Purdue's freshman aerial wizard last year, put Purdue back into the game in the last two minutes of the second quarter, passing 18 yards to left-end Bob Heck for the tally. DeMoss was the major difference between the teams. Altogether he completed seven of 15 forward passes for 89 yards. Heck caught two of them and right end Norman Maloney hauled down five.

Szulborski set up Purdue's much-needed touchdown in the last period, battering his way 38 yards to the Miami four-yard line. Fullback George Mihal picked up three yards and sub halfback Ed Ehlers, air forces all-star who was playing his first college game, plunged for the touchdown.

I.C. Citizens Band to Defeat Renewal of Water Franchise

To Attempt Block at Polls

City Residents Pay Highest Rates in Iowa Says James Meade

Opposition to the proposed renewal of the water franchise for the Iowa Water Service company came to light yesterday as formation of a citizens' committee to defeat the franchise at the Oct. 8 election was announced by James A. Meade, chairman.

In a statement issued yesterday, Meade declared that "the people of Iowa City pay the highest water rates in the state of Iowa."

"Unless the proposed franchise is defeated at the polls, Iowa Citizens will continue to pay $1.28 for 300 cubic feet of water, as compared with 51 cents for the same amount of water in Ottumwa, for example," he said.

Meade pointed out that the committee is taking no stand on the problem of municipal ownership of the water plant.

"Our only purpose is to defeat the franchise proposal so that it may be properly presented to the people of Iowa City for hearing and we can negotiate a better contract," he said.

One member of the citizens' committee termed the franchise "the most binding contract I've ever seen" and "not worth the paper it's written on."

"No one of us as individuals would ever enter such a contract. It's no better than a blanket grant of power to the company," he said.

"If we don't defeat this proposal and get a good franchise now, we're sunk," he declared.

Objections
Other objections voiced by the committee at their meeting were:

(1) That the proposal is being "rushed through" without proper examination, in light of the fact that the present franchise is not scheduled to expire until 1948.

(2) That the franchise contains no basis for regulation of water rates by the city council.

(3) That the franchise should contain a statement of the valuation of the water company's property.

"There is no reason to set the special election Oct. 8, except that the company would benefit by a small vote," one member declared. "This thing is coming up too quickly for the public to have a chance to become informed of the problem."

Another said, "We don't have to have a franchise at all. Defeat of the franchise would not mean that our water service would be cut off."

"In fact, it would be a healthy situation for the company to operate for awhile without a franchise," he declared.

Concerning water rate regulation, the committee pointed out that the franchise does not require a detailed account of the company's financial operation necessary to decide a fair rate.

"Under the present set-up," they declared, "the city council is helpless when it comes to getting the information necessary to establish proper rates."

The franchise does require an annual financial statement, but details are not included in this report, they pointed out.

According to Meade, those who met in the City hall recently to organize the opposition movement were: James A. Meade, chairman; Mrs. Owen T. Edwards, secretary; Dr. Andrew Woods, treasurer; Clair Hamilton, Prof. Herman

Damage to Farms By Erection of Line To Be Appraised

A six-man jury of Johnson county persons appointed by Sheriff Preston Koser will begin Oct. 2 to judge the amount of damage which may be caused by the erection of an electric powerline across 11 farms in this vicinity.

A total of 32 landowners have objected to the installation of the line across their farms by the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company.

The state commerce commission has granted the company power to condemn the land needed for the line across 21 of the farms. The jury will decide what the company should pay each farmer for the rights across his land.

The powerline will pass through the southern half of the county and will cross 94 farms. The company has paid approximately $25 an acre to those who voluntarily agreed to the construction, depending on circumstances in each case.

The following persons will serve on the jury to make the damage appraisals: M. W. Davis, West Lucas township; J. M. Zenishek, Solon; Joseph Coufal, Swisher; Dewey Swanson, Oxford; Larry Rohret, Oxford, and Steve Hamilton, Lone Tree.

The powerline will extend from Davenport to Seaboro, a distance of 161 miles.

Trachsel, B. E. Manville, Pauline Kelley, Mrs. E. L. DeGowin, Fred V. Johnson, Mrs. F. A. Stromsten and Mrs. O. E. Sikora.

Dan C. Dutcher, attorney for the Iowa Water Service company, and Dwight Edwards, manager of the company, were not available for comment last night.

Senior Chamber Uses Strategy Board to Win Ye Olde Gobboon Cup

"Ye Olde Gobboon," the coveted president's cup which will go to the winner of the annual sog soft ball game between the junior and senior chambers of commerce, stood proudly in the display window of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric company yesterday.

The annual contest for the polished spittoon will be held at the armory field on Sept. 30, about 4 p.m.

Robert Gage, secretary of the chamber of commerce announced these new developments:

A total of 44 applicants for positions on the senior chamber of commerce, with Kenneth Dunlop, Carl Redenbaugh and Harold Donnelly assisting him on the board of strategy.

"We're out to win this game," Gage declared, as he admitted sheepishly that the Jaycees had taken the cup for the two previous annual tilts.

Junior chamber of commerce spokesmen seemed undisturbed at news of the senior chambers' strategy board and declared they had nothing to worry about.

The Albanians are the oldest race in southeastern Europe.

Applications For Pep Club Out Tomorrow

Application blanks for membership in the Student council-sponsored Varsity Pep club will be distributed tomorrow to all dormitories, sororities and fraternities, Bette Jo Phelan, A4 of Mason City, member of the committee organizing the club, said last night.

For students wishing to join the club who live in private homes in Iowa City, blanks will be available at the Iowa Union desk.

Membership Limited
The council at its last meeting made plans to organize the pep club to further student interest in athletic events. Membership will be limited to about 60, and both men and women members will wear uniform black and white costumes.

All application blanks must be turned in at the Union desk before 7 p. m. Wednesday, Miss Phelan said. Members of the pep club committee—Herb Olson, A3 of Winfield; Don Hall, E4 of Tama; Prof. Arthur Wendler of the men's physical education department; Rudy Bauer, C3 of Harlan, leader of the university cheerleaders, and Miss Phelan—will select club members Thursday.

Professor Wendler will serve as faculty advisor for the organization. Council members will be included in the membership, and cheerleaders will work closely with the club, Miss Phelan said.

Paul Coulter Named Defendant in 2 Suits

Paul Coulter was named in district court yesterday as defendant in two damage suits asking judgments against him on charges of negligence while driving.

The plaintiffs in the two cases, Howard Sleeth and Earl Dooley, both minors, charge that Coulter was driving on the wrong side of the road without lights on the night of Oct. 2, 1945, when his car collided with one driven by Glenn Tuttle.

The two boys were passengers in the rear seat of Tuttle's car, according to the petition.

Dooley claims $2,025 damages for pain and suffering caused by fractured ribs and a permanent injury to his left leg. Of this amount, $25 is to cover medical expenses.

Sleeth's petition states he was seriously injured, including a fracture in his left wrist, for which he asks $35 judgment to cover medical expenses and $1,000 damages for pain and suffering.
