Meat Price Ceilings to Stay -- Truman

Strike Injunction Lifted

Byrnes Hails Foreign Policy Statement

Six Die in Train Crash

Blames Lack On Summer's Big Slaughter

MEMBERS OF Pittsburgh's striking power union carry their president, George L. Mueller, on their shoulders down the street from the City-County building yesterday celebrating the announcement that the injunction against the power strike had been lifted. Mueller had been jailed for contempt in calling the strike.

By RELMAN MORIN
PARIS (AP)—Secretary of State Byrnes declared last night that President Truman's recent American foreign policy statement gives "assurance to the world" of the stability in the policy to be followed by the United States.

The president's statement backed Byrnes' policies and ousted Henry Wallace as secretary of commerce. It claimed a chain of events which began Sept. 12 when Wallace made a speech in New York's Madison Square garden attacking the present American policy.

Reassuring Statement
Byrnes, in his first formal pronouncement since the original Wallace speech, told a news conference:

"The statement of the president that the American foreign policy is wholeheartedly supported by him and that he contemplates no change in that policy is most reassuring.

"The fact is that that policy is a bi-partisan policy, and because it is supported by Democrats and Republicans, it is assurance to the world that regardless of which party is in power, the United States is going to stand by the policy he (the president) has followed and is following today.

"The president indicated that when there is any change in that policy it would only be changed after discussion and conference among the president, the secretary of state and congressional leaders."

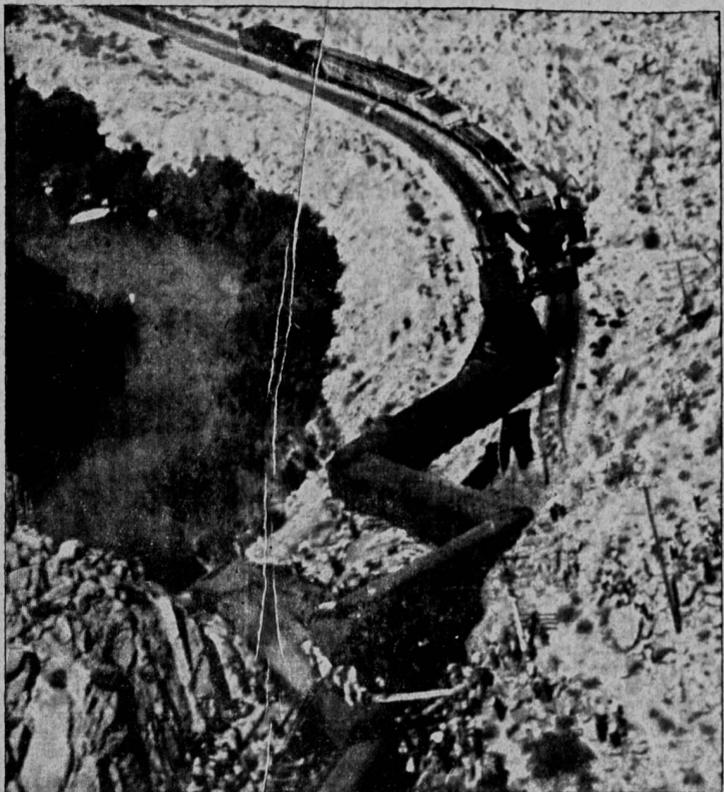

Satisfied With Conference
The burden of Byrnes' remarks, before question-time started, was an expression of satisfaction over the way the peace conference has gone, the way it is going, and the likelihood that it will meet its two deadlines of Oct. 5, for committee reports, and Oct. 15, for a final finish.

With shrewd and conscious wit, he compared the operations of the conference with the United States senate, and said he had seen the senate take more time over a single bill than the 21 nations have taken over many diverse and complicated issues.

To Go to New York
He confirmed that the Big Four foreign ministers are hoping to finish all their work "by the 17th or 18th of October," and are then planning to go to New York.

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov wants to be there for the opening of the United Nations general assembly, he said.

They will start immediately on the colossal task of carving out a treaty for Germany, he declared. The work will either be done in New York or, as some have suggested, in Europe.

CARS OF THE Union Pacific's Transcon passenger train are shown scattered over the tracks after their derailment two and a half miles east of Victorville, Calif., while the train was running an hour late. In the background on an adjoining track is part of a freight train.

VICTORVILLE, Calif. (AP)—Six persons—five passengers and a porter—died yesterday as the Union Pacific's crack Transcon piled up in a mass of twisted steel in a narrow cut two miles east of here.

Between 50 and 75 were injured. The army, at a nearby air base, within two hours prepared hospital planes and flew two score of the injured to Los Angeles for hospitalization.

All the dead were in two day coaches immediately behind a baggage car. The three women victims were in a dressing room. The porter apparently was standing just outside the dressing room.

It took more than three hours to extricate the bodies from the wreckage of the lightweight steel cars.

The two cars were piled up in a narrow cut approaching the Mojave river and telescoped into its sides. Another day coach and two dining cars left the rails but did not overturn. None of the passengers in the following pullman cars were injured.

Truman's Statement on Meat

WASHINGTON (AP)—The text of President Truman's statement on the meat situation follows:

I have been somewhat disturbed by the comments on the meat shortage. I happen to know of my own knowledge something about the meat situation, since I am from a meat-producing state and further, during the early years of the war, looked into it in detail. I am now, and for some time have been, inquiring into the present meat shortage.

In July and August, when there was no price control on meat, meat was abundant. Now there is price control and meat is short. It is natural, therefore, for the people to blame the shortage on price control. This line of reasoning is wholly wrong.

The fact is that the present shortage is due in large part to the extraordinary large slaughter in July and August. Without price control, prices of the relatively short supply of livestock went to unprecedented heights. A lot of livestock was rushed to market because of these prices and because it was known that the controls were likely to be restored.

Many of these cattle would normally have been fed to heavier weights and come to market during September and October instead of August.

Whether price control had been restored or not the glut of meat in summer was bound to mean a shortage in the fall, especially on the desirable cuts and grades. Besides, with the restoration of price controls after a period of uncertainty and confusion, it was only natural that livestock growers would hesitate to send their animals.

Producers would naturally hope that something might happen to give them higher prices again. To the extent that livestock is going into feed lots and being fed to higher grades and better weights, the result will be a greater quantity and better quality of meat in the near future than would be the case if there had been a further continuance of the premature marketing of livestock. Also, the normal run of grass-fed cattle which occurs in the early fall should begin to appear with a consequent improvement of meat supply.

The fall run of hogs which normally begins in October may be somewhat later this year because of the prospects for a record corn crop and the resulting opportunity for profit from feeding to heavier weights.

Ordinarily the heaviest hog slaughter occurs in the period from October through February during which over half the total yearly slaughter customarily takes place.

In spite of the outlook for temporary relief in the next few months, it is hard to predict what may happen in the spring. It is very possible that there may be periods in various parts of the country when meat is scarce. Certainly, however, the dire predictions of a meat famine are without basis.

I want to repeat that the difficulties with our meat supply can not be laid to the door of price control. If, as I had urged upon the congress, the price control legislation had been reenacted in the early spring, many of these difficulties would have been avoided.

It is clear, however, that the present level of livestock ceilings as determined by the secretary of agriculture is a fair and equitable one, and one which should be sufficient to bring forth the maximum production of meat. An increase in prices or the abandonment of price control on meat now would, in the long run, add to rather than solve our difficulties.

Senate Committee to Investigate AMG

WASHINGTON (AP)—The senate war investigating committee selected Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.) as its chairman yesterday and agreed on an early inquiry into conduct of American military government in occupied territory.

A subcommittee to be named later will go to Europe as part of the investigation. Committee agents already are making a preliminary inquiry.

Committee members disclosed that secret testimony was received recently from an army officer who declared that conditions in American-occupied Germany "are worse than the German occupation of France."

It was indicated that allegations received about the military government deal principally with fraternization by high army officers with Germans.

By WILLIAM R. SPEAR
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman, taking a stand in disagreement with some of his own party leaders, declared emphatically yesterday price ceilings on meat should not be raised or scrapped.

With the meat shortage producing grave new complications, the president issued a statement saying:

1. The shortage is not due to price control but to an "extraordinarily large slaughter" in July and August when price controls were temporarily off.

2. There will be a "greater quantity and better quality of meat in the near future."

3. Present livestock ceilings are "fair and equitable."

In addition to this statement, issued at his news conference, the president told reporters he saw no need for a special session of congress to remedy the situation. He also expressed firm hope that any growers withholding cattle and hogs will now release them for market.

Even as the president was taking his stand, Mayor Kelly of Chicago told reporters he favored a 60-day suspension of meat price controls. House Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts urged such a suspension Wednesday.

In addition, the party's executive committee adopted a resolution yesterday directing Chairman Robert E. Hannegan to "discuss with the decontrol board and any other proper authorities ways and means of increasing the meat supply available to the American people."

A reporter read the Democratic resolution to Mr. Truman, interpreting it to mean that his purpose was to press for removal of meat controls. Mr. Truman insisted that it would not help the situation.

Then he was asked whether he disagreed with Hannegan on the question. He replied that the facts were in his statement and that Hannegan differs with them, then of course they do not agree. Hannegan as postmaster-general is a member of the cabinet.

The president's statement reported prospects "for temporary relief in the next few months" although "there may be periods in various parts of the country when meat is scarce." In additional comment Mr. Truman expressed stronger assurances that supplies will improve and urged that people be patient.

New Demands
The presidential statement followed a fresh batch of demands from congressmen and other urging federal action.

Rep. Sabath (D., Ill.) charged "collusion" among the packers to hold off on purchases in a campaign for price decontrol and telegraphed Attorney General Clark demanding an investigation.

Senator Green (D., R.), here for the Democratic policy meeting, similarly told reporters that the shortage "looks like a strike of meat producers."

"Terrific Meat Famine"
A statement from the CIO cost of living committee, reporting "a terrific meat famine" in prospect, said that "this can be attributed solely to the drive of the meat packers in creating this artificial shortage in order to eliminate the controls on the prices of meat."

BULLETIN
PITTSBURGH, Friday (AP)—About 2800 streetcar motormen, who had walked out in a "protective" strike, were ordered back to the job this morning by their union leaders.

hour conference between officials of the Duquesne Light company and an independent union of employees ended with no agreement. A union spokesman said, however, the conference would be resumed, probably today.

Meantime, a virtual "holiday" prevailed in business and industry. Many thousands of workers continued in idleness through the third day.

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—This industrial city's crippling power strike was still on last night, its effects sharpened by a shutdown of the street railway system, despite dissolution of an anti-strike injunction which had been a major obstacle in the path of settlement.

The trolleys which carry a million riders daily normally, were halted by order of the AFL-CIO Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway workers. Business Agent John T. Morgan said it was a "protective measure" for 3,500 Pittsburgh railway employees. Morgan said threats had

Initial efforts to find a mutual understanding in the power dispute failed late yesterday afternoon when a two and one half

George Mueller, president of the power workers, was absolved with nine other strike committee members of contempt of court charges at the same time the anti-strike injunction was dissolved at the city's request. Mueller had been sentenced Tuesday to a year in jail on the contempt charge, brought for his criticism of the injunction as "a scrap of paper."

Witnesses Enter Complaint Against Lacona City Officials

DES MOINES (AP)—A petition asking that Warren county officers and the city of Lacona be enjoined from interfering with their freedom of worship was filed yesterday in federal district court by Jehovah's Witnesses.

Six members of the religious group charged in the petition that Warren County Sheriff Lewis Johnson, Mayor Lo Goode, Marshal Paul McFarland and the city of Lacona formed a "conspiracy" to interfere with Jehovah's Witnesses' constitutional rights.

An order commanding Johnson, Goode, McFarland and city officials to appear in federal court Oct. 11 was signed by Federal Judge Charles A. Dewey.

The petition alleged that Mayor Goode and the Lacona city council granted permission to the Jehovah's Witnesses to hold weekly Sunday meetings in the city park during the month of September, and that permission was "arbitrarily and capriciously revoked by Goode."

Revocation of the permit, the petition said, resulted in the "objection of a few unwelcome persons of the rabble element" at the time of the first meeting, Sept. 1.

When the group attempted to hold its second meeting, Sept. 8, the petition asserted, the members were "surrounded and overcome by a mob of violent persons."

The petition said "Defendants Johnson and McFarland wholly failed to provide any protection for the plaintiffs against the mob violence."

Later Meeting Stopped
A later meeting of the Witnesses was "frustrated and stopped," the petition said, when Sheriff Johnson organized a group of "over 200 deputies and blockaded the roads to Lacona."

"Many persons acting as deputies," the petition charged, "had previously participated in the Sept. 8 mob attack on the Jehovah's Witnesses."

Filing the petition were Charles E. Sellers, L. B. Olmstead, Herman Alders, Richard Dickman and Willard Moore, all of Des Moines, and Lester Newman, Knoxville.

Mayor Denies Charge
At Lacona, Mayor Lo Goode last night denied that the city council had ever given the Witnesses permission to use the city park. He said he told them not to meet in Lacona merely "to stop trouble."

Rule to Speed Treaties
PARIS (AP)—The 21-nation European peace conference voted without discussion at a special general session last night to impose a "gag rule" on itself in order to speed to completion by Oct. 15 its task of writing the peace treaties.

"I told them to get a place to hold their meetings and I would give them all of the protection they needed but that I couldn't guarantee protection when they had been denied the use of the city park by the council in Lacona," he said.

Iowa Farmers Union Praises Wallace Letter

DES MOINES (AP)—A resolution supporting the "foreign policy position so courageously taken by Henry A. Wallace in his letter to President Truman July 23, 1946, regarding a return to fundamental principles of peace," was adopted unanimously yesterday by the Iowa Farmers union.

The resolution supporting Wallace was prefaced by a criticism of the foreign policy of the American government.

MOVIE PICKETS TRY TO HALT AUTO

PICKETS AT WARNER BROTHERS studio in Burbank, Calif., are shown vainly trying to halt an automobile from passing through their picket lines as a new jurisdictional strike began yesterday at seven of Hollywood's major studios. Work at most of the studios was reported seriously handicapped.

Fifty Named To Pep Club

New Organization To Be Given Name At Tonight's Rally

Fifty members were named to the new university pep club at a special student council meeting last night.

The new organization will sponsor a guide service for campus visitors and will plan half-time stunts for the basketball games. Members of the club will sit together at athletic events and give special yells.

Announce Name Tonight

The name of the new pep club will be announced at tonight's rally.

Freshman in the club include Paul Van Order, Clifford Loveless, Jack Meggison, John Doetzel, Donald Doothitt, Roy Hegen, William Block, Robert Whiteside, Jack Dawkins, Roger Crewes, Mary Jo O'Donnell, Patricia Meloy and Donna Wilken.

Junior Members

Junior members are Owen Wren, John Kennedy, Robert Phillips, Theodore Gershuin, Allen Matthews, Jane Leeming, Joyce Womelsdorf, Joan Womelsdorf, Allis Stevenson, Phyllis Oltman, Eleanor Kolar, Merle Fleming, Seena Caccarelli and Phyllis Studna.

Senior members in the pep club are Celia Ecker, Holly Baker, Florence Marie Goodin, Jeanne Hardy, Clayton Bronson and Sam Kaplan.

Graduate student Jack Schroeder and Bernard Heitner, unclassified, are also members, as well as Student Council members and the cheer leaders.

Council to Sponsor Pep Rally Tonight

Bob Smith, A2 of Ranger, Tex., captain of the Iowa-Purdue game, and other members of the football squad will be guests of honor at the first pep rally of the year to be held in MacBride auditorium at 7 o'clock tonight.

Herb Olson, A3 of Winfield, council president, will be master of ceremonies at the rally, which is sponsored by the Student Council and the Dad's Day committee.

Featured speakers of the evening will be Craven Shuttleworth, Cedar Rapids lawyer and an alumnus of the university, and line coach Joe Sheeketski.

Special musical entertainment will include numbers by a trio composed of Marilyn and Ginny Foster, both A3 of Atalissa, and Marjorie Miller, A3 of Hillsboro. The university band will play three numbers.

"Student council urges everyone to be present at the pep meeting to generate the enthusiasm needed to start the season right," council president Olson stated. "The first important game of the year can make or break the season. If everyone at the game will make himself heard, we will be off to a winning start."

Eviction Suit Heard

A suit in which Elizabeth Davis is seeking possession of a house at 414 S. Madison street now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Sasina was heard yesterday in district court.

Judge James P. Gaffney took the case under advisement. He said he would make his ruling not later than Monday.

City; Jeanne Wing, A2 of Rock-well City; Dorothy Irene Kent, A2 of Lytton; Jeanne Peterson, A2 of Primghar; Jean Breckenridge, A2 of Boston, Mass.; Grace Ras-mussen, A1 of Packwood; Roberta Rae Wee, A1 of Des Moines.

Betty Lee Mutschler, A2 of Fairfield; Nedra McNabney, A3 of Cedar Rapids; Sallie Phillipson, A2 of Manchester; Marilyn John-son, A1 of Davenport; Virginia Nan Anderson, A1 of Mallard; Mary Rae Reimers, A1 of Iowa City; LaVonne Mersch, A1 of Masonville; Margaret Anne Good-now, A1 of Iowa City; Patti Ross, A1 of Doon.

Priscilla Janne Tyler, A1 of Ft. Madison; Pat Van Liew, A2 of Des Moines; Bonnie Lou Wan- maker, A1 of Rochester; Nancy Jane Pauls, A1 of Washington; Joan Nissen, A1 of Walnut; Mary Frances Anderson, A1 of Avoca; Delores Oelke, A2 of Audubon; Beth Wilson, A2 of Iowa City and Katharine Klotzbach, A2 of In- dependence.

Regular practices for all mem- bers are at 4:30 p.m. in the field- house Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

High Requiem Mass To Be Said Monday For Rev. J. Ross

A requiem high mass will be said for the late Rev. J. Elliot Ross, former professor of the Uni- versity of Iowa school of religion, at the Catholic student center chapel on Monday, Sept. 30, at 7 a. m.

The Rev. Leonard J. Brugman will officiate at the mass.

Father Ross was the first Cath- olic professor of the University of Iowa school of religion. He taught here in 1929 and 1930, at the time the school of religion was being established.

Father Ross was a lecturer and author of several books. He served as chaplain at the Uni- versity of Illinois, the University of Texas, the Catholic University of America, and Columbia uni- versity.

The former University of Iowa professor died Sept. 18 in New York City after a long illness. Burial was from the Church of St. Paul the Apostle in New York.

Robert Ray to Aid Dewey in Campaign

Robert Ray, graduate student in speech from Davenport, is now in Albany, New York, where he is serving as a speech analyst for Republican Governor Thomas E. Dewey in his current campaign for re-election.

Ray will continue in his new post until after the New York elections, Nov. 5. He met Govern- or Dewey during a recent trip east to collect supplementary data for his doctor's dissertation.

Senator James M. Mead is Dewey's Democratic opponent.

Construction

Of Barracks Drags on

Construction of barracks for un- married students has made some progress in recent weeks, but many veterans will have to go on living in their barrack-like home in the fieldhouse until sufficient supplies arrive to finish the job of construction that was begun this summer.

Students assigned to the first 20 cottages at the Quadrangle have been moving in the past week, but they will remain with- out heat and plumbing fixtures for an indefinite time, according to the Quadrangle director.

The future occupants of the other 26 cottages at the Quad will have to stay at the fieldhouse un- til building materials arrive so that construction work can be completed.

Meanwhile, the students assigned to the six cottages at Hillcrest will continue to live in the recreation rooms of that build- ing because of the same lack of materials, while the 45 or 50 stu- dents assigned to cottages at Law Commons have crowded into four of the heatless buildings while work proceeds on the other two.

The recreation rooms at Currier hall might be emptied of girl students in about two weeks, ac- cording to Miss Lorissa Sheldon, director there, but for now the 15 Currier cottages stand awaiting completion.

Prof. Sybil Woodruff Attends Chicago Meeting

Sybil Woodruff, head of the home economics department, left for Chicago yesterday afternoon attend a regional meeting called by the American Home Economics association.

State universities and colleges in Iowa, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin will be represented at the two day meeting held in Aller- ton hotel.

Professor Woodruff will take part in a group discussion on the recruiting of college women for graduate work in home economics research.

Fraternities Authorized To Continue Rushing Under 'Open' Program

Interfraternity council, after a special meeting last night, an- nounced that rushing will be con- tinued under the "open" plan de- spite the end of formal rush week.

Members reported that the re- turn of a great number of actives from military service limited the number of pledges who could be housed.

Although housing accommoda- tions are extremely scarce, coun- cil members said, fraternities are still interested in pledging men.

Preliminary plans for renewing the interfraternity pledge coun- cil were discussed, as well as plans to purchase a travelling scholar- ship to be awarded to the house with the highest grade point aver- age.

Election of new officers will be held at next week's meeting.

Buddy Poppies

Sale of Buddy poppies will be sponsored on Iowa City streets to- morrow morning by the auxiliary of Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2581.

Mrs. Frank Michel is chairman of the sale. Proceeds will go to the V. F. W. home for disabled veter- ans.

Headquarters will be in the City hall.

Pre-School, Nursery To Open Tuesday

Woodlawn Private Pre-School and Nursery for children two to five years old will open Tuesday at 1041 Woodlawn, Mr. and Mrs. David C. Davis, of the school an- nounced yesterday.

Twenty children are registered at present, with five on the wait- ing list. According to Mr. Davis, facilities will be increased, as materials become available, to ac- commodate 40 to 50 children.

The school originally was planned to aid mothers who must be away from home during the day. Children will receive pre- school training, with some kinder- garden work. Playground activi- ties and social instruction will attempt to develop good habits and attitudes, Mr. Davis said.

Children will be accepted for full or half-days six days a week, with the exception of holidays. Hours will be from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m.

Mr. Davis was graduated from the University of Iowa in 1941, and was discharged from the army airforces last fall. Last year he taught in a Portland, Ore., junior high school.

Mrs. Davis was graduated from St. Ambrose-Marycrest in Davenport, and has taught in Iowa and Oregon.

The school will be operated at the former home of Prof. Rollin M. Perkins of the university col- lege of law.

civilian production administration, which has board control powers over scarce materials, would be continued intact beyond next Dec. 31.

Michigan-Indiana in Spotlight

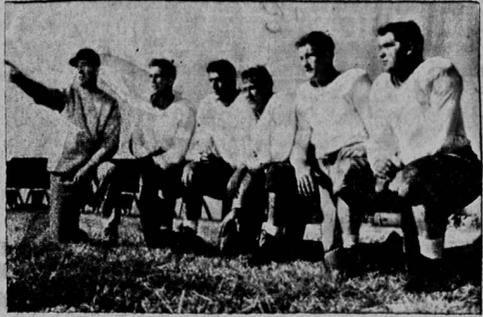

CHICAGO (AP)—Indiana university will learn tomorrow whether its resounding upset by little Cincinnati university was an accident or a prelude to an unsuccessful western conference title defense when the Hoosiers collide with formidable Michigan at Ann Arbor.

The Indiana-Wolverine game opens the conference campaign, along with Purdue's invasion of Iowa. The five other league members see non-conference competition.

Illinois will be in the national spotlight when it plays host to favored Notre Dame before an expected record crowd of 73,000 at memorial stadium in Champaign.

Wisconsin travels to Berkeley for its first inter-sectional game since 1938, facing the University of California. Northwestern, Ohio State and Minnesota open their seasons by playing host to Iowa State, Missouri and Nebraska respectively.

The defending champion Hoosiers, spilled 15-6 to the Cincinnati eleven of Coach Ray Nolting, former Chicago Bears' star back, may lure 70,000 to Michigan stadium as the Wolverines seek revenge for a 13-7 trouncing last season.

Michigan, highly rated in pre-season reckoning, has been bolstered considerably in the backfield by returning ex-service-men, but Coach Fritz Crisler is skeptical of his team's over-all strength and will depend on speed to offset an apparent lack of power.

The Wolverine line may average 183 pounds, the same as the backfield, while the Hoosier forward wall averages 201 and the backfield 186.

Illinois is banking mainly on Buddy Young, back after a brilliant 1945 season at Fleet City, Calif., to upset the heavily-manned Irish. It will be the final meeting of the two teams in a modern series in which the Irish won seven straight after the 1937 opener ended in a scoreless tie.

Ohio State, making its debut under Paul Bixler, who swapped jobs with Carroll Widdoes, will start an all-service-man team against Missouri. The Buckeye lineup will include Hal Dean, Bob Jabbusch, Chuck Csur, Dick Palmer and Tommy James from Ohio State's 1942 mythical national championship team.

Iowa, opening with a 39-0 triumph over North Dakota State, encounters a Purdue team irked by being held to a 13-7 win by Miami of Ohio. Largest Iowa home crowd since 1942, 40,000 fans, will watch Eddie Anderson's return to conference coaching competition after three years in service.

Minnesota will hold a 15-pound advantage per man over Nebraska as Bernie Bierman seeks to return the Gophers to former gridiron heights after a disastrous 1945 campaign. Northwestern figures to have a successful debut against Iowa State as Coach Lynn Waldorf opens his 12th Wildcat season with seven war veterans in the starting lineup.

Wilson for Knight

Illness caused W. D. Knight, scheduled to umpire the Iowa-Purdue game Saturday, to cancel the engagement. In his place will be John Wilson, Ohio State star of the early twenties.

A football battle royal with all the trimmings is in the offing tonight at Shrader field when the Little Hawks of City high play host to the Davenport Blue Devils at 8 p. m.

The Mississippi Valley tilt marks the return of coach Wally Schwank to the scene of many victories for Schwank coached teams. This time Wally is wearing the other shoe, however, and appears as the mentor of an invading squad.

Last year as coach of the Little Hawks, Schwank masterminded the local gridgers to a 12 to 7 win over the Imps on their own field, the first time an Iowa City team had turned the trick for over twenty years.

The Hawklets do not intend to make the occasion a joyous one for Schwank. Coach Herb Cormack, back at the reins after three years of navy service, has been drilling the Little Hawks long and hard for Davenport. Cormack has spent a major portion of the time in fashioning a defense that will stop Joe Paulsen, the Devils' triple threat back.

Playing his fourth season for the Imps, the 200 pound Paulsen is by no means a newcomer to Iowa City fans. It was he who sparked Davenport to a 32-6 massacre over the Hawklets in 1944. Paulsen plays at the right half position and is a dangerous left-handed passer in addition to being a brilliant runner.

That Paulsen is not a one man team can be seen in the results of the Tilden Tech (Chicago) encounter won by the Devils, 34-8, last Friday. Quarterback Fred Ruck, who starred for a St. Louis prep school last year and joined the Davenport cage team in the substitute meet last spring, tallied twice against Tech. One of the scores was on a pass from Paulsen and the other on an end run. Left half Roger Warnack scored on a plunge and threw to Paulsen against the Chicago team to establish himself as a passing threat.

The Blue Devils started fast against Tilden, scoring 21 points in the first nine minutes of play and hope to do the same to the Hawklets.

Last year the Iowa City gridgers stopped Paulsen and the rest of the Imps staffed with him. Cormack has shifted defensive positions of the guards, game captain Chick Evans and Dale Scannell, to take best advantage of their styles of play. He has drilled his backs on a pass defense to halt the Davenport aerial thrusts.

In the backfield, Cormack has switched positions of Chug Wilson and Tom Miller. Wilson, who starred at fullback in the Moline and Clinton tilts, has been running at the right half position in drills and Miller has shifted to full.

Other probable starters in the Iowa City lineup include Bill Reichardt and Gerri Cannon at the ends, Leo Zeithamel and Don Seydel at tackles, Virgil Troyer at center, Jim Sangster at quarterback and Don Fryauf at left half.

Davenport will enter tonight's contest with a slight weight disadvantage. The ends, Jack Cherry and Jim Hayek, weigh in at 143 and 173 pounds but both hold several track titles. Mel Guenther, guard, tips the scales at 167, Ruck weighs 170 and left half Lavance Moore only 142.

The rest of the Davenport lineup includes Don Paulsen and Wayne Rock at tackles, Hugh Aldredge at left guard and Bill Bump at center. Bill Hirl may replace Rock if he has recovered sufficiently from injuries.

Paul Parker to Head Eligibility Committee

At the intramural organization meeting held last night for the professional fraternities, Paul Parker, Phi Delta Phi manager, was chosen chairman of the protest and eligibility committee. Other members named to the group are Earl Shastrom, Gamma Eta Gamma, Don Dohnalek, Phi Beta Pi, E. W. Whitlock, Psi Omega and John Spencer, Phi Rho Sigma.

Since it is difficult to schedule afternoon activities for the law, medical and dental fraternities, plans were made to play their touch football games on Saturday afternoons when the varsity team plays away. Volley ball games will be played late in the afternoons.

Each fraternity will enter two men in the doubles and one team in the singles and it was voted that a man will be eligible to play in both the doubles and singles, provided that in so doing, his team will be able to keep up to the schedule.

It was also decided that if a team is not able to play at the time set for the activity, they may arrange a play off later in the week. If the game is not played off at the end of the week, each team will receive a forfeit.

Only eight of the 14 fraternities were present last night. Those representatives decided to split into several groups. If there are only 13 fraternities in the league, they will divide into two groups, one with six and another with seven. If every professional fraternity on campus is represented however, they will divide into three groups.

The next organization meetings are scheduled to be held Monday Sept. 30 at 4 p. m. The Quadrangle and Hillcrest leagues will meet at that time. At 7:30 Monday night, there will be a meeting to organize a tentative league for organized groups of married students, including Hawkeye village and Riverdale.

Yanks Win Exhibition

EAST DOUGLA, Mass. (AP) — Steve Souchock's three run homer in the sixth inning paced the New York Yankees to an 8-7 victory over the champion Boston Red Sox in an exhibition game before 12,000 fans yesterday.

University High Eleven Drills For Bloomfield Invasion Today

In a practice session yesterday, the U-High gridgers concentrated on blocking, tackling and polishing plays in preparation for their tilt against Bloomfield scheduled this afternoon at three o'clock at the university practice field.

The Bluehawks, who scored three touchdowns and a safety to defeat the Marion Indians 20-0 in a conference game last Friday, came through with no injuries and will go into the contest at full strength. The U-High team is rather light, with a team average of approximately 168 pounds.

Coach Don Barnhart had three regulars and two lettermen which he used in forming the backbone of this year's team. Nick Anderson, right end, Gus Helm, quarterback, and Craig Harper, left back, were regulars from last year.

Helm does the punting and shares the passing with Harper and the Bluehawk righthalf, Bob Ojemann, who was a letterman last year. John Carson, guard, was the other returning letterman.

Darrel Hansen, tipping the scales at 155, holds down the right guard spot, while the right side of the line is rounded out by Chuck Lenthe at tackle and Dave Barber at end. The pivot spot finds Eugene Jennings chucking the ball back. The left side of the line includes Carson, Lombard Sayre at tackle and Nick Anderson at end. Doug Dierks at full rounds out the eleven which will probably start for the Bluehawks Friday.

U-High employs a short-punt, balanced line formation alternated with a single-wing and unbalanced line.

Thirteen Candidates For Cross Country

Practice for the fall Hawkeyes cross country team has started with 13 men reporting to Coach George Bresnahan. There are no lettermen back this year.

Included on this season's squad are Henry Allen, Linn Grove; Louis Bakeris, Davenport; Robert Bentz, Chariton; William Burney, Iowa City; John Duschel, Mapleton; Richard McLanahan, Des Moines; Joseph Murray, Cedar Rapids; Elliott McDonald, Des Moines; Joseph Murray, Cedar Rapids; Elliott McDonald, Cedar Rapids; James Pritchard, Storm Lake; John Oxley, Marion; Melvin Rosen, Brooklyn, N. Y.; Howard Skowbo, Emmetsburg; Richard Tupper, Dubuque.

At the present time the Hawkeye trackmen are working on both the track and the cross country layout. The length of the workouts is being increased.

A fall track program is under way this year for those who are not out for cross country.

The Hawks will open their season on Oct. 5, if the date can be filled.

The schedule is as follows:
Oct. 5 Open
Oct. 12 Minnesota at Iowa City
Oct. 26 Open
Nov. 2 Chicago at Iowa City
Nov. 9 Wisconsin and Michigan State at Madison

Brooklyn Trails Cardinals by Half Game

Jump on Phils For 8-2 Win

Victory Proves Costly As Reiser Breaks Leg With First Inning Slide

BROOKLYN, (AP)—Brooklyn's hopes of overtaking the St. Louis Cardinals took on new life yesterday when the Dodgers, rebounding from Wednesday's horrendous setback by Philadelphia, turned on the Phillies with a 13-hit attack which produced an 8-2 victory.

The victory closed the gap between them and the front-running St. Louis Cardinals to half a game. The Dodgers now have two games to go and the Cards, idle yesterday have three. Both clubs finish at home, the Dodgers clashing with Boston's Braves twice and the Red Birds meeting the Chicago Cubs three times.

The victory proved costly for the Dodgers, however, since outfielder Pete Reiser suffered a broken fibula in his left leg sliding back to first base in the first inning.

Before a capacity crowd of 31,708, the Dodgers got off to a one run lead in the first and scored four more, knocking out Schanz in the fourth. The Brooks continued their assault on Oscar Judd when Joe Medwick hit his second home run of the season into the left field seats with Augie Galan aboard.

Kirby Higbe, one of the eight pitchers used by the Dodgers Wednesday, pitched shutout ball until the eighth when the Phils scored both their runs. It was the right-hander's 17th victory against eight defeats.

Zaharias Advances In Women's Amateur

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Mrs. Babe Didrickson Zaharias of Denver, Colo., defeated veteran Maureen Orcutt, Haworth, N. J., 5 and 4, yesterday to win an upper bracket semi-final berth in the National Women's Amateur golf tournament.

Miss Helen Sigel, a pepper-pot little blonde who was runner-up in the last national tournament in 1941, scored a smashing 6 and 5 victory over veteran campaigner Margaret Gunther of Memphis, Tenn.

The "Belton Babe" had entirely too much driving power for Miss Orcutt, and was steady on the greens. Leading 4-up at the turn, Mrs. Zaharias closed the match by sinking a 12-foot putt on the fourteenth hole for a birdie-2.

Miss Sigel lost the first hole to Miss Gunther, who was in with a birdie-4, but pulled up even at the fourth when she blasted from a trap to within ten feet of the pin and then holed out.

The Philadelphia lass stretched her streak to six holes to lead 5-up at the turn and, after dropping the tenth, came back with a long putt to win the eleventh. Miss Sigel won the 12th when Miss Gunther picked up after two putts and closed the match by halving the 13th.

Pretty Mrs. Betty Mims White, of Dallas, turned on the steam in the home stretch to win her lower bracket match from the veteran, Mrs. E. S. Blanton, of Tulsa 3 and 1. Mrs. White closed out the match with a dramatic finish, scoring a par-4 on the 308-yard 17th, after her drive from the tee had landed in the rough.

Mrs. White will meet Clara Sherman, of Pasadena, Calif., 3 and 1 winner over Beverly Hanson, Fargo, N. D., in the semi-finals. Mrs. Sherman, hard pressed by Miss Hanson through 16 holes, had her victory suddenly handed to her when her youthful rival's game went to pieces on the 17th and she was conceded the match while she was still off the green.

Bruins Hold Third Place

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cubs used a four run eighth inning to gain a 5-3 victory over Pittsburgh here yesterday in closing out the home season in Wrigley field.

Held to five hits and a single run in the first seven innings by Jack Hallett, the Cubs turned on the Pirate right hander for three of their five hits in posting four runs to gain their 44th victory in 77 games at home.

Lou Stringer singled after two were out in the eighth to start Hallett's trouble. Eddie Waitkus drew Jack's first walk and Phil Cavarretta followed with a single, scoring Stringer. Marve Rickert also connected, scoring Waitkus.

Lefty Al Gerheuser replaced Hallett and pitched a base-clearing double to Bill Nicholson. Eddy Hanyzewski, second of three Cub pitchers, received credit for the victory.

Purdue Picks Barwegen

Purdue has named Dick Barwegen, left guard, as game-captain for the Iowa game. Barwegen was "most valuable" in 1943 when Purdue tied Michigan for the conference title and later was captain of the All-Star team for the game sponsored by the Chicago Tribune.

Greenberg's Homers Give Tigers Win

DETROIT (AP)—Hammering Hank Greenberg, pushing his slugging spree toward a rousing finish, swatted his 43rd and 44th home runs of the season here yesterday as the Detroit Tigers whipped the St. Louis Browns 6 to 3.

Greenberg, hiking his runs batted-in total to 125 to strengthen his league lead in that department as well as in the home run derby, scored the first three Detroit runs before the Tigers went ahead to sew up the victory with four tallies in the eighth inning.

With 15 homers for the month of September, Hank needs one in each of Detroit's last three games to break Rudy York's single month record of 18 established in August, 1937.

Braves Win Opener; Giants Take Nightcap

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants yanked the Boston Braves out of a third place tie with the Chicago Cubs by gaining a split in their double header. The Giants won the second game 5-4 after the Braves had won the opener 8-0.

A pinch hit homer by Sid Gordon in the last of the ninth climaxed an uphill battle to win for the Giants. Trailing 4-2, the Giants tied the score in the eighth when Willard Marshall hit his 13th home run and Buddy Blatter followed Bobby Thompson's double with a triple.

Mort Cooper pitched the shut-out for the Braves, limiting the Giants to three hits for his 12th victory. Cooper also hit a home run, his first of the season.

Zale, Graziano Battle Tonight

By SID FEDER

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Zale puts his world middleweight title on the line for the first time in his five years as champion tonight against the challenge of Rocky Graziano and his "rock-a-bye punch," and the bout is so hot it may draw the biggest gate ever lured by the two little men.

They go to the post at 8 p. m. (CST) in Yankee stadium. Promoter Mike Jacobs' box office men tell you it is a cinch to outdraw the recent Joe Louis-Tami Mauriello heavyweight brawl in the same Bronx ballyard and zip right past the $400,000 mark.

This corner picks Zale to hang on the championship, largely because he's a full-sized middleweight, while Rocky has been doing most of his wrecking jobs on welters, and because Tony comes close to being just about as explosive a body puncher as has come down the pike in years.

It has been noted that Graziano has improved somewhat in boxing skill in his last few starts, and no longer follows the simple system of merely pulling the string on his high hard one and then stepping back to let the other man fall down. He found out that style doesn't always pay off.

However, the Gary, Ind., boy has been in there with a few of those "Long Tom" artillery pieces in his time, notably Al Hostak, the former middleweight king who could raise large lumps on another fellow when he warmed up to his work. And inasmuch as Zale survived three meetings with Hostak with no loss of limb, there is no reason to suspect that the rock-a-bye punch will be something brand new to him.

In the better 49th street betting shoppes it was 7½ - 8½—take 7½ to 5 if you like Zale and lay 8½ to five if you want the Rock. And the word was it would get lower by the time the fireworks go off today.

Hawks Plan Line-Up Shifts

Head coach Dr. Eddie Anderson has served notice that Purdue's Boilermakers will meet a revamped University of Iowa football team tomorrow in the opening Big Nine conference contest for both teams.

Three men who did not start the North Dakota State game last week are assured of line berths on the basis of present plans. They are Dick Woodard, center; Bruno Niedziela, right tackle, and either Sherman Howard or Tony Guzowski at right end.

Another shift sends Bob Phillips, former Seahawk star, from right end, where he started the North Dakota game, to the other wing position.

Should Iowa kick-off to Purdue, Guzowski will probably be at right end, with Howard handling most of the offensive assignments, and Russ Benda and Dave Day will get the nod at the guard spots.

But should Iowa receive, starters will probably be Bob Liddy and Ray Carlson at the guards. Regardless of the last-minute determination of the guard positions, at least four new men will be in the Hawkeyes forward wall.

In the backfield, Bob Sullivan probably will start at left half-back in place of Emilen Tunnell. Tunnell starred in the North Dakota game while Sullivan was sidelined by a minor leg injury.

Sullivan, however, is the more experienced of the two with starting time for the Seahawks, Holy Cross and Great Lakes behind him.

"Big" Bob Smith, right halfback from Ranger, Texas, and another former Seahawk star, will be the game captain. He holds the Hawks' scoring lead at the present time with 12 points on two touchdowns in the North Dakota game.

On the practice field the Hawkeyes seem to have sensed a chance to take their first Big Nine win of the season and their third in four years, displaying an aggressive brand of blocking and defensive play. Drills have been equally divided between offense and defense, with major emphasis placed on stopping the passes of Purdue quarterback Bob DeMoss.

In yesterday's practice session, the Hawk regulars, paced by the smashing defensive play of Bill Kay, completely bottled-up a reserve eleven running Boilermaker plays.

Athletic business manager Paul Brechler said he saw no reason to alter his prediction of a 40,000 crowd, if the weather is good. This would be the largest crowd ever to see an Iowa-Purdue game, he added. He said that plenty of tickets will be available at game time, however.

U.S. Army Approves—Baseball for Germans

—Despite Russian Protest

BERLIN (AP)—The United States army and military government has announced plans for expansion of army-sponsored recreational and sports programs for German youth despite a Russian protest that the army's baseball classes are militaristic.

The Russians made an official protest at a meeting of Berlin's allied kommandatur, claiming that the practice of U. S. soldiers teaching German boys to play baseball was in violation of a control county law forbidding certain sports and sports training clubs as conducive to militarism.

Even as the protest was being made, the American military government's Berlin district headquarters was preparing an indoor winter recreational program to follow the current outdoor program of baseball, football and kindred field sports which have been attracting some 30,000 youngsters weekly.

The winter program, said Maj. C. C. Tonetti of Terre Haute, Ind., army director of youth activities in Berlin, also will include special games and handicrafts for girls. Volunteers from U. S. WACS will be sought as instructors for these activities.

"We have no intention of dropping the program," said Col. Frank L. Howley of Philadelphia, senior American military government officer here. "I believe we can convince the Russians that our baseball is simon pure—non-military and non-political.

"We ourselves are thoroughly sold on the tremendous effectiveness of the program. It's very good for the kids—helps keep them busy and out of trouble and delinquency. We also find that it is good for our soldiers to associate with the youngsters to try to teach them fair play.

"I don't think that the Russians quite understand what we are doing. They don't like the idea of soldiers playing with youngsters and they probably think that the German youth ought rather to be busy listening to serious lectures. But I think we'll be able to convince them that there is no harm in the game."

Iowa State Backs Hold Signal Drill

AMES (AP)—The Iowa State Cyclones ran through light signal drill yesterday with Mike Michalske putting emphasis on timing and good ball handling. Backs who fumbled the ball ran two laps around the field for their errors.

A squad of 32 players will leave Ames by train tonight for Evans-ton and Saturday's game with Northwestern.

Mike said Ed Farni had shown the most progress at the quarterback post during the week and would get the starting assignment there against the Wildcats.

Huskies' Match Speed Against Gopher Weight

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska polished its offense in a final workout yesterday before the four-deep football squad left for Minneapolis where the Huskies will meet Minnesota in the season's opener tomorrow.

Coach Bernie Masterson is hoping to offset Minnesota's weight advantage with speed, but declined predictions. "We have a new team and anybody's guess is as good as mine," said the Huskies' new mentor.

Quonset Work To Be Done In 2 Weeks

Encouraging housing news for married veterans on campus was reported yesterday by J. J. Mayer, construction head at the Quonset hut project near City park bridge.

He said that all construction work on the 25 huts, except plumbing, is expected to be completed within the next two weeks.

Mayer explained that a load of pipe was expected within the next few days and that work on the sewage lines would be begun soon, although there is no prospect as yet concerning the arrival of plumbing fixtures.

Also on the west side of the campus, work is progressing on construction of the 680 housing units for married veterans.

R. D. Sharp, construction manager for the project, said yesterday that, outside of plumbing and lumber supply difficulties, the biggest bottleneck he is encountering at the present time is a lack of labor.

Students interested in part-time work on the project may contact Roy Skriver at his A. F. L. office at 111 1/2 E. Washington street to arrange a work schedule.

The only stipulation is that students must work either 12 hours or three half days during the week to qualify for the time-and-a-half pay scale on Saturdays. However, Skriver said, Saturday work is not required.

Plans now under consideration call for changing the site of 63 houses now planned for three areas between Templin road and Iowa river to a location just south of University hospital, but the university and FPMA officials have not yet finished an investigation of this proposal, Sharp said.

Freshman Class Largest in History Of University

The largest beginning freshman class in University of Iowa history, totaling 1,888, with 1,468 in liberal arts, has begun classes in six units of the university this fall, President Virgil M. Hancher announced yesterday.

Final figures for first semester enrollment, to be released about the middle of October, will probably exceed 10,000 when compilation of late registrations is complete, President Hancher said. He previously announced the preliminary count of the university enrollment as 9,913, but that figure included registrations as of Wednesday.

Some the larger classes are freshmen in liberal arts, 2,420 (including 1,468 beginning freshmen); sophomores in liberal arts, 1,573; juniors in liberal arts, 1,179; seniors in liberal arts, 785; juniors in commerce, 301, and freshmen in engineering, 240.

The graduate college which does not operate under the class system, has an enrollment of 1,304. Only 363 of the graduate students are women.

Presbyterian Church To Hold Welcome Party For Students Tomorrow

A student welcome party featuring an informal mixer, games and a stage show, will be held in the Presbyterian church tomorrow at 8 p. m., according to P. Hewison Pollock, pastor.

Lloyd Herwig is general chairman. Special committee chairmen are: Phyllis Russell, decorations; Ann Clark, stage show; Lois Ann Schaller, reception; Mary Louise Palmer, invitations; William Johnson, clean up, and Evelyn Allender, refreshments.

Game leaders will be Helen Zimmerman, Harold Ladwig and James Ervin. Elizabeth Brinker will lead group singing.

Col. W. K. Wilson Jr. of the district engineering office in St. Paul, Minn., is visiting the U. S. Engineering office of the university hydraulics laboratory today. Arthur Anderson, chief industrial engineer, and R. M. Hanna, production manager, both of John Morrell and company, Ottumwa, are observing industrial work carried on in the college of engineering.

Judge Freeman Died Sunday in Washington

Judge Ernest F. Freeman, 1905 graduate of the college of law and a justice of the Washington state supreme court, died in Washington Sunday, Sept. 15, according to word received here.

Recognized as an outstanding jurist, Judge Freeman had had a long and distinguished record in the Washington state bar.

Order of DeMolay Initiates 13 Candidates At Regular Meeting

Thirteen candidates were initiated into the Iowa City chapter, Order of DeMolay, at a regular meeting held at Masonic temple Wednesday night it has been announced by W. E. Beck, "Dad" of the Iowa City chapter.

The candidates, who received both the initiatory and the DeMolay degrees, were Dave Crumley, Lloyd Roegler, Norman Smith, Richard Smith, Stanley Smith, William Snider.

Gene Oathout, Dick Williams, Rox Shain, Dale Irwin, Don Span, Tom Hume and Dick Moran.

Visitors who attended the meeting were Elliot McDonald, master counsellor and Charles Podt, junior counsellor, both of the Davenport DeMolay chapter, and Lee Dice with six members of the Marion, Iowa, DeMolay chapter.

Fifty-two DeMolays and guests attended a luncheon served by the mother's club following the meeting.

Beaver Heads Vet Guidance Office

Elbert E. Beaver, formerly a veterans guidance worker in Cedar Rapids, has arrived here to head the Veterans administration guidance center at the university.

Beaver succeeds Dr. W. D. Houlette, who leaves Monday to join the social science faculty at Drake university, Des Moines. Dr. Houlette established the local center last year.

Since his discharge from service, Beaver has been with the Veterans administration in both Des Moines and Cedar Rapids. In the navy he was a chief classification specialist and completed study in the navy psychiatric seminar.

Before serving in the navy, Beaver was a Y.M.C.A. secretary in Cedar Rapids. He is a graduate of Cornell college, Mt. Vernon.

Mayor Teeters Says New Fire Equipment Due in Ten Months

When the new city fire truck arrives, it will be housed in the present fire station, Mayor Willber J. Teeters said yesterday.

The American-LaFrance Foamite Corp. of Elmira, N. Y., has promised delivery of the new fire equipment in 300 days, he added.

One of the older trucks will be moved to the Alert Hose house, 204 North Linn street, to make room on Market Square to house the city street maintainer and other equipment, now in the old Alert Hose house.

All such equipment will be kept in the new city hall when it is built.

Christmas Decorations For Iowa City Streets Planned by Committee

A second meeting of the Iowa City Chamber of Commerce Christmas street decoration committee will be held at 10 a. m. today in the Chamber of Commerce office.

The group will continue discussion of how to decorate streets in the downtown area of Iowa City during the coming Christmas season.

J. J. McNamara is chairman of the committee. Other members are W. O. Byington, Ray Culp, Sam Ware and Sam Saltzman.

An effort is being made to obtain materials to enable Iowa City streets to be decorated in a manner different from past years.

F.D. Weaver Elected To Lead Village Council

Residents of Riverdale yesterday elected Francis D. Weaver, 13 of Mason City, to the chairmanship of the village council and chose eight council members from a group of 18 nominees. It was the second election held at the trailer town.

Council members chosen were first division—Mrs. Alice Mahoney of Boone, and Robert E. Riggs, A4 of Ames; second division—Mrs. Angela Smith, A1 of Iowa City, and Al Slickers, G of Grundy Center; third division—Mrs. Alverda Kline of Aurelia, and C. H. Eden, A4 of Iowa City; fourth division—Mrs. Gert Beecher, New Hampton, and W. J. McIntire, A2 of Rolfe.

The council will hold its first meeting at 7 p. m. next Wednesday and will elect one of its members to serve with Weaver on the University Married Students organization.

Technicolor Movie

A technicolor short, "Men of Tomorrow", featuring activities of boy scouting, will be shown at the Varsity theater tomorrow through Tuesday, George Gragg, local scout executive said yesterday.

The local scout office will have a scout present at each showing to distribute printed material to interested members of the audience.

Four Iowa Citizens Leave for Army

Four Iowa Citizens left yesterday for examinations prior to their enlistment in the regular army.

They were: Donald L. Edwards, 924 Walnut street; Wendell F. Pollock, 609 S. Summit street; Leo L. Lockett, 928 Riverside drive, and Ira I. Hall, 804 S. Clinton street. Lockett and Hall enlisted for three years in the infantry.

Sgt. R. H. Lund, recruiting sergeant, emphasized yesterday that Oct. 5 is the last day on which enlistees can be fully guaranteed benefits of the G. I. Bill of Rights for full time in service.

He said that applicants must leave Iowa City before noon, Oct. 3, in order to reach Ft. Snelling, Minn., processing station for this area, in time to complete enlistment before the Oct. 5 deadline.

Recruiting office hours are from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. in room 204 of the postoffice.

Hatfield Files Divorce Suit in District Court

Petition for divorce from Sarah Mars Hatfield was filed yesterday at the Johnson county courthouse by C. Russell Hatfield.

The couple was married in Muscatine, Feb. 21, 1946 and lived together until Sept. 15. They have no children.

The plaintiff charges cruel and inhuman treatment, and asks that cost be assessed against the defendant.

William R. Hart is attorney for the plaintiff.

Congregational Church To Hold Reception For Students Tomorrow

A reception for student members of Christian, Congregational, and Evangelical Reformed churches will be held at 8 p. m. tomorrow in the parlors of the Congregational church, it was announced yesterday by the Rev. F. A. Laxamana, student director.

On Sunday in the Congregational church parlors a fellowship supper and vesper services will be held. The supper will be served at 5:30 p. m.

A panel discussion on "Best Foot Forward" will be held at 7 p. m. Speakers will be Gene Krouse of Spencer, Bud Lambert of Iowa City and the Rev. James A. Waery, minister of the Congregational church.

A social hour will close the Sunday program.

City Fines 29 Persons For Traffic Violations

A total of 29 persons were fined yesterday for local traffic violations.

Of these, 25 paid $1 each for overtime parking. Charles Vermaace was fined $1 for parking in a prohibited zone and Mrs. G. R. Griffith paid a $2 fine for double parking.

Miriam Taylor and Esther Taylor paid fines of $1 each for not having headlights on their bicycles.

Bicycles belonging to David Zahrt, Bill Mangam and Charles Walker were impounded for three days for not having lights.

Plan Memorial For County

Plans for a $10,000 war memorial dedicated to all Johnson county service men and women were made by the Johnson County War Memorial committee Wednesday night.

Ernest E. Jacobs, member of the committee, said a pink granite monument to be erected on the northeast corner of the Johnson county courthouse lawn is being considered.

A representative of the Waterloo Memorial company met with the group Wednesday and invited committee members to visit a similar memorial to be erected in Minnesota Oct. 19.

Jacobs said the memorial would be erected as soon as possible.

The monument will replace the list of service men and women which formerly stood at the corner of Washington and Clinton streets. That monument was removed last spring at the request of the owner of the land.

The war memorial committee is a part of the American War Dads, an organization of fathers of service men and women.

Banks to Close at Noon

No business will be conducted by the Iowa City banks after 12 noon tomorrow on account of the football game, it was announced yesterday.

Cabbages and Kings

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS

According to recent Associated Press dispatches from Washington, Ohio's political "touchdown twins," Senator Robert Taft and ex-governor John Bricker, have compared notes on their 1948 presidential aspirations and shortly after the forthcoming congressional elections.

DENNIS

contenders for top place on the ticket. That is, of course, until Russell Davenport, Oren Root Jr., Ralph Cake and Harold Stassen got the Willie boom going. The pre-convention dopsters had it figured that Dewey would lead on the first two ballots, with Taft coming up fast on number three. But they underestimated Willie's strength and Taft's White House hopes went tumbling.

Then, in 1944, when he was running for reelection to the senate, Taft had difficulty overcoming his pre-war isolationist voting record and barely squeaked through, as Ohio, with strong CIO-PAC campaigning in the Cleveland area, went for Roosevelt and Truman. But since that time, and especially since President Truman came into office, Taft's star has been rising steadily.

Following the death of senate minority leader, Charles McNary of Oregon, who was Willie's 1940 running mate, Republican leadership in the upper house was divided between three men: Taft, who became the GOP senate spokesman on domestic policy; Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, top minority member of the foreign relations committee, and Senator Wallace White of Maine, as inter-party liaison chief.

Since the Republicans have, by and large, gone along with the major points in the Truman-Burns foreign policy program, the main debates in the 79th congress hinged principally on domestic issues.

And, as many political commentators pointed out during the OPA renewal battle last June, Taft unquestionably commands the respect and support of the conservative wing of the senate, which includes not only many Republicans but most of the southern Democrats as well.

His most bitter enemy is Oregon's outspoken liberal, Senator Wayne Morse, who heads the "pro-Stassen" branch of the Republicans in congress. But despite stout opposition from Morse, Senators Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, George Aiken of Vermont, Charles Tobey of New Hampshire and several others, Taft is still the senate's most influential minority member.

Taft or Bricker? Either of those formidable Ohio gentlemen, whatever agreement they may announce, can be counted on to give Thomas Dewey, Earl Warren, Arthur Vandenberg, Douglas MacArthur and, particularly, Harold Stassen, lots of trouble come Republican convention time, 1948.

Deadline Tomorrow, Iowa City

October 8, just ten days from today, is the date of the special election at which Iowa City voters will decide whether the water franchise of the Iowa Water Service company will be renewed for 20 years.

The matter of renewal of this franchise is of vital concern to everyone in Iowa City who pays a water bill.

If it is worth a special election at this busy time of the year, it is worth considerable study and interest from those who are eligible to vote.

But remember, you can't vote unless you are registered.

If the problem is important enough to bring up at this time, two years before the franchise expires, it is worthy of investigation.

If the issue is felt of sufficient importance that a group has formed in opposition to the water franchise as it is proposed, it is worth finding out what each side has to say about it.

But you can't vote on the measure unless you are a registered voter.

If, as the opposition says, Iowa City has the highest water rates in Iowa, then the franchise is worth careful weighing against the sort of franchise the opposition committee suggests.

If, as company representatives say, the franchise should be renewed because of expansion plans, better service and the need for knowing what the future holds for them, perhaps it should be renewed immediately.

Perhaps it should not, however, if it is a bad franchise. If it is approved at the polls on Oct. 8, there will be no chance for a change until 1968.

But you must be registered in order to vote.

The issue is NOT one of municipal ownership. Even if the franchise is defeated, Iowa City will continue to receive water service from the Iowa Water Service company. The city council will continue to hold power to regulate the rates.

The opposition committee says it would be a healthy situation for the company to operate without a franchise until a more suitable franchise can be negotiated.

The company has indicated that not having a franchise will injure its credit standing necessary for the expansion they have planned.

Neither the company nor the citizens' committee opposing the proposed franchise ordinance has been very vociferous about their claims as yet. The burden of finding out which side is right falls on the shoulders of each voter in Iowa City.

Democracy meets its test in such situations. The issue should not, and must not, be decided by a minority of the voters of Iowa City.

But remember, you can't vote unless you are registered. Registration ends at noon tomorrow in the city clerk's office at the City hall.

A Warning Worthy of Consideration

"The question of military control will confront us not only in war but in peace."

That is the ominous warning sounded by Donald Nelson, former head of the war production board, in his recently published book, ARSENAL OF DEMOCRACY.

Fearing that the war department henceforth will be one of the most important and influential branches of our government, Nelson asserts that "the lesson taught by these recent years of war is clear. Our whole economic and social system will be in peril if it is controlled by military men."

Nelson charges that the army tried throughout the war to "gain control of our national economy," virtually succeeded in 1944 and thereby hampered reconversion. In the summer of 1944, the "long and bitter controversy with the military over the control of America's civilian economy . . . to a large extent . . . was lost. The army took control over the economy, and many of the reconversion difficulties which arose later, after Germany and Japan had finally been knocked out, can be traced directly to that fact."

"The army was, quite openly, out to protect war production by the simple means of creating pools of unemployment," wrote the former production chief. Nelson, incidentally, felt that workers laid off by war cutbacks should be permitted to do civilian work if no other war jobs were available.

The book brings an interesting and important controversy to light. Nelson states that the heads of the army and navy, plus War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, now secretary of state, tried to oust him in 1943 and make Bernard Baruch WPB chairman.

The scheme collapsed, Nelson adds, when he fired Ferdinand Eberstadt, WPB vice chairman, who was slated by the group to become Baruch's deputy. Eberstadt, a New York investment banker, according to Nelson, constantly supported the army viewpoint.

As to the truth of Donald Nelson's published charges, we are not able to testify. Nelson was in a position to know of what he speaks, but it should also be said that he has a large chip on his shoulder, a chip created by constant tussles with military heads concerning preparation for reconversion.

Nelson felt that we should prepare for reconversion while still fighting the war. The military, naturally, held the view that paying the way for peacetime would hinder the war effort.

His strong words, however, point up a danger in this country which—although not widely recognized—is potentially one of the most serious threats to democracy on the contemporary scene.

A military society as many young Americans discovered during the war—is fundamentally fascist. We say fundamentally because in the U. S. it is certainly not wholly fascist. Most military heads feel that the army system of discipline and non-democracy is essential for a smoothly operating military machine. Whether this is right or wrong, we cannot say, but it is obvious that the army system will not be changed to any great extent.

That it is why it is absolutely necessary to force a "hands off" policy on the military during peacetime. To do otherwise would be an out and out denial of democratic principles.

During this past great war, the military was in its most powerful position in the history of this country. Control of atomic research for security reasons—control which it has yet to completely relinquish—gave the military a vantage point from which it could threaten our entire social system.

So that's why we say that if Donald Nelson's book does nothing more than focus public attention on this danger, then it is a success.

A Modern Fable— Benevolent Franchise

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

A pious villager owned a few cows—rather old for the meat market—milk not too rich. The owner had little use for milk and no one wanted the cows. But he had a big idea.

I'm a respectable citizen, go to church, have good friends on the town council. Some neighbors buy my milk. Why not start a dairy?

So, he got busy and wrote up a model contract. The town council gave him the green light. Looked at as a commercial document, it had some impressive features. Note the following:

1 This contract binds you for 20 years. Sign it, and you've got to get milk from me at the price I fix.

2 If you should ever think the price high, you've got to pay it. No way to lower it. If you want to try it, you can ask me and I'll think it over. But you'll have to go to court and prove that my appraisal of my cows, all my equipment and the cost of my service are out of line. Just try that and you will learn something.

3 If you ever have the gall to try to buy me out, go slow. In the whole 20 years of this contract, you are limited to the one month of October, 15 years from now, to make such a proposal. If that doesn't stop you, look at this: You'll be tied up; you'll have to pay the price I fix. For the contract fixes that I shall name two of my best friends and you've got to get at least one of them to say my price is too high. If you get nasty about it, I'll raise Hell in the newspapers and you will pay for my propaganda in your milk bills.

Now, my good friends, sign on the here-below dotted line. Once signed, you are in my hands for the next 20 years: If you refuse, you ask, what will I do? Why, I will lose my cows. No one will buy them or their milk except you. My cows will then be 15 years older than now. So you will ruin me. I'M IN YOUR HANDS. IT'S UP TO YOU TO KEEP ME GOING.

If you turn down this contract, what about your milk supply? Well, the bad thing is that I'll have to keep on providing you till you shall later see fit to make a contract with me. Worse yet: you might encourage a rival dairy and put me out of business. You might even start your own dairy.

Now, sign up. I know you are not less feeble-minded than I think. You won't turn communist and begin to think for yourselves. That would be horrible. It would spoil our nice community atmosphere.

ANDREW H. WOODS

Legion Old Guard Entrenched

The American Legion, convening its 28th annual convention next Monday, this time at San Francisco, is slated to name as its next national commander Colonel Paul H. Griffith of Pennsylvania, the candidate of the "older veterans, mainly middle-aged businessmen," who long have controlled the organization. Colonel Griffith is said to be, in union labor's opinion, an arch foe of union labor.

In a signed article in today's issue of Collier's, Amy Porter, associate editor of the national weekly, reveals that Colonel Griffith has been promised the job by the Legion's "kingmakers." His election, she adds, will mean that the legion, in contradiction to the wishes of many of its youthful World War II members, will follow its traditional policies—policies termed "reactionary" by many of its foes.

Miss Porter also names the "kingmakers" of the legion, the group of legionnaires who, though generally unknown to all but a handful of the legion's 3,500,000 members, are said to dictate the election of national officers and to decide "what the legion shall stand for." William H. Boyle of Boston, characterized as "king of the kingmakers," is said to be the only man in the ruling group "known to everybody" in the legion.

"The legion's policies are 'conservative' to the legion's friends, 'reactionary' to its foes," Miss Porter says. "We have seen them put in action by the World War I legionnaires. Now, unless the youngsters of World War II rebel, these same policies will prevail in the new legion. The elders have already sensed some rebellion."

John Thomas Taylor, who as the legion's chief Washington lobbyist has pushed 700 bills through congress, "extracting 27 billion dollars from the treasury," is said to pooh-pooh any fear that rebellious World War II veterans will dictate any changes in legion policy.

"Young people always have rebellious ideas," he is quoted as saying in speaking of World War II veterans, who now make up two-thirds of the legion's membership. "They'll get over it. What they need is some good, sound patriotic legion training."

Colonel Griffith, legion-paid chairman of its national rehabilitation committee, was a candidate for the national commander's job in 1943, according to Miss Porter, but withdrew at the request of the "kingmakers" and was promised the post this year. Miss Porter concedes that "a deal" may be made whereby another "elder" of the same general characteristics as Colonel Griffith may be made national commander.

"Organized labor has no love for him (Colonel Griffith) because of his part in the recent fight over super-seniority," Miss Porter declares. As a selective service act, an official the colonel reportedly reported by ruling that veterans should get back their jobs even if workers with greater seniority had to be discharged. The supreme court later rejected this ruling.

Miss Porter reports that Colonel Griffith, in explaining his troubles with union labor, attributes it to "a bunch of Reds in the CIO who are against anything American."

"I want them to hate me," Miss Porter reports Griffith told her, "because I expect to battle them as long as I live." A former department commander of the legion in Pennsylvania, Colonel Griffith is said to have worked in coal mines in his youth.

The ten national "kingmakers" of the legion in addition to "kingmaker" Doyle of Boston, as named by Miss Porter, are:

Ben Dorris of Portland, Ore.; William Stern of Fargo, N. D., an airline executive; Martin V. Coffey of Middletown, Ohio; J. Monroe Johnson of South Carolina, head of the office of defense transportation; Harry Colmery of Topeka, Kansas, past national commander; John Ewing of Shreveport, La., a publisher and radio man.

Watson B. Miller, head of the federal security agency; Phil Collins of Chicago, president of the Illinois tax commission; Franklin D'Olier past commander, and chairman of the board, Prudential Life Insurance Co., and Frank N. Belgrano Jr. of San Francisco, a bank executive, past national commander, and a leader of the legion's battle against "obversive elements, especially Communists."

Miss Porter reports that the "kingmakers" are determined "to whip . . . into line" a sizeable proportion of the legionnaires' votes, plus those of their families, to uphold the legion's traditional policies. The legion, she adds, may grow to 5,000,000 members within a year and, with a war chest of $250,000,000, may become the "most powerful political-pressure group this country has ever seen."

"Some World War II veterans joined the legion with the idea of taking things into their own hands," Miss Porter asserts. "But trying to dislodge the men who control the legion is a tough job. They are firmly entrenched."

Referring to legion-sponsored legislation as an example of the manner in which the old guard controls the organization, Miss Porter reports that a legion convention usually passes a hundred or more legislative resolutions. Later, the national executive committee is said to arbitrarily decide which resolutions it wishes to push, pigeonholing the others.

"There are signs that the 'grab' policy of the legion and of most other veteran organizations is getting out of hand," the Collier's article says. "The last congress went all out for veterans. Through 106 new veteran laws (all legion sponsored) it voted 14 billion dollars in veteran benefits. This sum is one-third of all appropriations made by this congress for all purposes."

James D. White's Interpreting the News....

The small but thickly populated island of Madoera lies just off the north Java coast, within sight of the Dutch naval base at Soerabaja.

Word came yesterday that 2,500,000 people on this island have been cut off for the past year, acute victims of the postwar chaos which has tripped 70,000,000 Indonesians to varying degrees.

Reportedly the Madoerans are ruled by a nationalist Indonesian army, formed with Japanese aid and reputedly supporting the unrecognized Indonesian republic.

The report, which comes through Dutch censorship, says this army has been ruling with an iron hand. This probably is true, for conditions in all Indonesia have been such since the war ended that little rule has been possible except by force.

Indonesians say Madoera has been blockaded by the Dutch navy, and the Dutch say this is because relief goods sent in were taken by the Indonesian army and never reached the people.

In any case, hungry Madoerans who have been swimming the shark-infested 3-mile channel have found things little better on Java.

For a while Japanese troops were used by the Allies to help quell these disturbances, but the best news out of the Indies since the war ended is that nearly all the estimated 340,000 Japanese troops now are repatriated—except those still in the jungle.

The British are leaving too, and the Dutch say they'll recognize the Indonesian government, but as part of the Dutch commonwealth of nations until all concerned agree that independence is practicable.

October Designated As Guest Month By University Club

October has been set aside as Guest month by the university club, Mrs. William Spear, monthly chairman, announced yesterday.

The first event of the month will be a guest tea, to be held in the club rooms of the Iowa union Thursday from 3 to 5 p.m.

A partner bridge Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 2 p.m. is the next event scheduled.

School Heads to Meet In 31st Annual Confab Here December 3, 4

Several hundred superintendents, principals and school board directors of midwestern elementary and secondary schools will attend the 31st annual Conference on Administration and Supervision here Dec. 3 and 4, Dean E. T. Peterson of the college of education announced yesterday.

Due to the crowded schedule of activities involving school men in early October, the event was scheduled for the later date.

The program, Dean Patterson said, will be of practical benefit to school administrators and will feature an outstanding group of visiting speakers.

TO WED OCT. 19

MR. AND MRS. A. A. SCHENKEN of Marion are announcing the approaching marriage of their daughter, Eileen, to Wayne Carpenter, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Carpenter of Marion. The wedding will take place Oct. 19 in the First Methodist church in Marion. The bride-elect was graduated from the University of Iowa in June, where she was affiliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority. Mr. Carpenter attended Iowa State college at Ames, where he was a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. He was released from the army air corps last November.

Twenty-Eight Moose Women to Attend State Convention

Twenty-eight officers and members of the Iowa City lodge of Women of the Moose are attending the state convention of that organization in Sioux City this weekend, where they were invited to present an initiation demonstration.

The Iowa City Drum and Bugle corps will perform at the convention tomorrow. Members of the corps left last night for Sioux City. Mrs. Milo Novy, graduate junior regent of the Iowa City lodge, is conference leader; Mrs. Catharine Roberts, conference secretary, and Mrs. Edward Oldis, senior regent, is the delegate from the local chapter.

Others in the group which left Wednesday for Sioux City include Mrs. Albert Miller, junior regent, Mrs. George Coan, Mrs. Gerald Kershner, Mrs. Ed Eash, Mrs. Merle Hendrix, Mrs. Lawrence Adrian, Theresa Kline, Laura Ward, Lucille Studeman, Mrs. Francis Wakefield, Opal Fountain, Mrs. Harold Blecha, Mrs. Richard Vandenburg, Madge Talbot, Mary Lou Zuinlan, La Vae Huffman, Mrs. Frank Humerston, Mrs. C. Legion Auxiliary to Hold Sewing Session Today

The American Legion auxiliary will hold its first sewing session of the fall today from 10:30 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Legion rooms of the Community building.

The work is done under the direction of Mrs. Martin Pederson, for the benefit of veterans hospitalized in Knoxville and Des Moines.

This year the group will begin by sewing carpet rags. It is also emphasized that the veterans need rayon garments and old felt hats for use in the physio-therapy classes at the hospital. Anyone wishing to donate such items is asked to bring them to the club-rooms today.

A rummage sale will be held Saturday in the Legion rooms beginning at 9 a.m. Those who wish to contribute articles should bring them to the sewing group today.

Wesley Foundation Holds Open House

Wesley Foundation will be host to Methodist students and their friends at an open house tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the Fellowship hall at the Methodist church.

Previously scheduled for today, the open house was postponed a day because of tonight's all-university party.

The open house will feature a program called "Wesley Theatre" and a stage has been specially prepared for the performance.

Outstanding Wesley Foundation guests for the weekend will be Mr. and Mrs. Perry Saito of Evanston, Ill. Mrs. Saito, concert soloist who has appeared before numerous youth organizations will sing for the group, and Mr. Saito will lead them in community singing.

Ruth Quinlan and Bob Martin will head the party committee. Helen Ludwig is in charge of refreshments, ushers will be Helen Wiederrecht, Alice Boyce and Annie Hurley.

Students' fathers who are in town or who are attending the Dad's Day banquet are invited to attend the open house.

Wesley Students to Hold Smorgasbord Tonight

The Methodist Wesley foundation will hold its traditional smorgasbord open house at the Wesley annex tonight for all married and graduate students.

Dr. Damian Calres of the University of Chicago will be the guest pianist. Vocal numbers will be featured by Panamanian students. Refreshments will be served between 8 and 11 p.m.

BIKINI GOAT GETS TRANSFUSION

THE ATTACK TRANSPORT U.S.S. Burlison has arrived at Washington, D.C., Navy yard with its strange cargo of 2,500 travel-weary pigs, rats and goats, all survivors of the Bikini atom bomb tests. One anemic goat gets a blood transfusion from three sailors before being unloaded, after which scientists will study possible effects of radioactivity.

Women Voters to Sponsor Forum on Water Franchise

An open forum on the question of renewing the franchise of the Iowa Water Service company, sponsored by the Iowa City League of Women Voters, will be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the Community building, it was announced yesterday by Miss Maude McBroom, chairman of the group.

It is planned to present speakers for the company and for the citizens' committee which is opposed to the franchise. Prof. Walter Daykin of the college of commerce will act as moderator.

After the two speeches, the meeting will be thrown open for questions from the audience, Miss McBroom said.

Names of the speakers for the two groups have not been released.

Taking Neither Side

Miss McBroom pointed out that the League of Women Voters is not taking a stand on either side of the franchise issue by sponsoring the meeting.

"It is an attempt to educate people to the facts on both sides of the question," she said. "We believe that a good many people who want to know about the problem have no way of becoming informed without such a forum."

"This is by no means a closed meeting. We invite anyone in Iowa City who wants to attend," Miss McBroom added.

The meeting falls just one week before the special election Oct. 8, when renewal of the franchise will be decided at the polls.

Registration Closes Saturday

City Clerk George Dohrer said yesterday that registration for those who are not now registered voters will close at noon Saturday. Those who wish to register may do so today and tomorrow at the city clerk's office in the City hall.

Dohrer said the office would be open at noon today for those who cannot register during working hours.

Requirements for registration are a residence of six months in Iowa, 60 days in Johnson county and 10 days in the voting precinct.

Absentee ballots for the special election will be available in the

New Store To Handle Materials, Supplies For Local Hobbyists

"Hobby Harbor," the first Iowa City shop to cater exclusively to hobbyists, will be opened at 210 N. Linn street at 1 p. m. tomorrow, according to C. H. Jackson, proprietor.

Jackson will handle airplane and ship modeling kits and accessories, molding materials, silver and monel-metal working supplies, carving sets and other handcraft and hobby materials.

He expects to build his window display around the things hobbyists make. Soon after the hobby shop opens he plans to sponsor a model plane building contest.

Two ex-air corps men, now students at the university, will judge the planes on accuracy, appearance and workmanship.

Several model planes will be awarded to the winners, with first prize a flying model.

In 1932, as a change from office employment, Jackson began doing handcraft metal work. After 10 lessons from a woman in Cedar Rapids, he proceeded on his own to make bracelets, belt buckles and similar decorative articles, principally of silver.

Personals

Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Klaffenback, 317 E. Church street, have returned from Idaho Falls, Idaho, where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kugler.

Miss Elizabeth Budreau, 17 1/2 E. Washington street, attended a Public Nursing Conference in Des Moines yesterday.

Marriage License

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Viola Hamilton and Merrell E. Hamilton, both of Cedar Rapids, by R. Neilson Miller, county clerk.

city clerk's office today. The ballots must be returned prior to the day of the election.

GUAM CROWD BOOS NAVY HERO WHO ELUDED JAPS

LED BY A CATHOLIC PRIEST, Father Oscar Calvo, Guam natives greeted Navy Lt. George Tweed of San Diego, Cal., with boos and placards on his return to the island where he hid from the Japanese for 31 months rather than surrender. Tweed returned to present a new automobile to the native who sheltered him. Demonstrators resented a statement in Tweed's book on his Guam experiences that a native priest had betrayed a secret of the confessional in revealing his hiding place.

Mrs. M. Broadfoot Named New Head Of Welfare Group

Slosed since 1941, the Johnson county division of child welfare reopened this week with Mrs. Maude Broadfoot of Dubuque as director.

The division will cooperate with similar departments of the University hospital and the speech pathology clinic to aid neglected and dependent children.

Because it is a division of the county Social Welfare department, the service program will be increased to include rural areas and other towns in the county. Mrs. Broadfoot said.

Assisting Mrs. Broadfoot in the re-establishment of this work in the county is Ardyce Woodside, child welfare consultant from the state office in Des Moines, who will be in the local office for six weeks.

With the addition of Mrs. Broadfoot, the Johnson county social welfare workers number four with one director, Mrs. William Yetter. Case workers are Mrs. Meinard Wessels, Betty Boulton and Mrs. Marian Turnbull.

The child welfare office will be on the second floor of the old juvenile home at 538 S. Gilbert street, where the social welfare department is now located.

Herbert Lotz, graduate at the university, who works as a part-time psychologist for the eight-county state welfare district which includes Johnson county, will assist in the new division.

AVC to Hold Forum On U.S. Foreign Policy

A forum on "American Foreign Policy," scheduled for 8 p. m. Monday in 221A Schaeffer hall, will open a new series of discussions to be presented by the Johnson county chapter of the American Veterans committee, according to Lawrence Dennis, chairman.

Monday's forum, which is open to the public, will be conducted by Jack T. Johnson of the political science department who will act as moderator.

Prof. Kurt Schaefer of the commerce department and Ernest E.

Boy Scouts Offer To Usher at Games

About 175 boy scouts have volunteered to usher at the remaining university home football games, George Gragg, local scout executive, said yesterday.

Approximately 20 scout masters and other leaders will serve as volunteer head ushers. The men and other leaders will serve as volunteer head ushers. The men and boys are working under the direction of Paul Brechler, business manager of the athletic department.

About 60 men, mostly leaders in scouting, will serve as supervisors in the knothole section. Prof. Everett Hall, head of the philosophy department, will be in charge of the section this week.

Gragg estimated attendance in the knothole section as approximately 1,500 at the North Dakota game.

Ramsaur of the history department will participate in the forum. Two other speakers will be announced later, Dennis said.

Housing Items To Be Here Soon for Vets

Critical housing items for veterans of this community will become increasingly available within 30 days, Harry Stone, expediter for the national housing administration of eastern Iowa, declared Wednesday afternoon.

Meeting with Mayor Wilber J. Teeters and his special emergency housing committee of Iowa City, Stone said that 57 basic building materials, including soil pipe and flooring, will soon be easier to obtain.

At present building materials are practically impossible to buy in this area.

"The shortage is so acute, we can take care of only a small percentage of the demand," George Nagle, local lumberman and member of the housing committee, said yesterday.

583 new housing units are needed in Johnson county of which 529 are to be privately financed and 54 financed by public funds.

Chairman of the local emergency housing committee, Roland M. Smith, realtor, said, "There are plenty of men in Iowa City willing to invest capital in homes for veterans. We're just waiting on the materials."

Of 400,000 homes started in the United States this last year only 15.9 percent of them have been completed, he disclosed.

Stone suggested to the committee Wednesday that they install a housing referral agency here for veterans.

William Bartley, committee representative from the American Legion, said yesterday that a referral office will be set up in the city council chamber in the near future.

Representatives on the 22-man emergency housing committee besides Smith, Nagle and Bartley are: Delmar Sample, Russell Rourke, John Witt, Vern Nall, Horace Stuck, F. D. Williams.

Ben Summerwill, W. B. Packman, M. D. McCredy, Warren Bunker, F. V. Johnson, V. I. Capen, I. J. Barron, Sam Shulman, Ralph Erbe, Kite Knowling, John Fielding, Robert Brown, and Ernest Ramer.

Legion Will Sponsor I.C. Golf Tournament

A golf tournament sponsored by Roy L. Chopek post 17 of the American Legion will be held at the Iowa City Country club grounds Oct. 5 and 6, according to Carl Redenbaugh, local commander.

The event will be 27 holes, medal play. Members of any American Legion post are invited to enter by calling Gene Chapman at the Country club and paying the fee.

A stag dinner will be held in the clubrooms at the Iowa City Community building October 7, Redenbaugh said. All Legionnaires and their guests are welcome.

SUI Party Season To Open Tonight

The 1946-47 University Party season will be opened tonight with the informal Dad's Day dance to be held in Iowa Union from 9 to 12 p. m.

Approximately 600 couples, with their "dads" as guests, will dance in the Union lounge to the "Music of Tomorrow" of George Olsen's orchestra.

The dance will be sponsored by the central party committee as a part of the Dad's weekend observances.
