GOOD MORNING, IOWA CITY!

The temperature won't get above 60 or 65 degrees today, the weatherman says, but tomorrow will be generally fair and warmer.

Iowa Stuns Purdue, 16-0

OVER BY A NOSE—Iowa's prize package, Halfback Emlen Tunnell, tumbles over the goal line by inches to score the Hawkeyes' second and last touchdown in the third quarter yesterday. Tunnell plowed through three Purdue men, Halfback Eb Ehlers, End Gordon Tanner and one other, to make the tally.

Tunnell Paces Hawk Attack With 2 Scores

36,000 Watch as Iowa Forward Wall Checks Boilermakers Offensive

Iowa's high-powered Hawk eyes uncorked a stunning passing attack yesterday afternoon as a humble favored Purdue, 16-0, is the 1946 conference football season swung into action before a Dad's day crowd of 36,000 at Iowa stadium.

Once again it was the amazing Emlen Tunnell who paced the Hawk attack, dashing for both the Iowa touchdowns on spectacular runs and completing our deadly second half passes.

Both of Tunnell's touchdown romps came in the second half, after the Hawks had grabbed a 3-0 edge before the intermission on Bob Sullivan's five-yard field goal.

First, the elusive left half climaxed a 60-yard Iowa march when he dashed five yards around the Purdue left end, shaking off a would-be tackler on the two, to run the Hawks' margin to 9-0.

Then, early in the final period, he took the ball on the Boilermakers' four, swept back and around the same side of the Purdue line, pivoted away from five men, and went across for the second time. Sullivan added the final point.

Potent Quartet
The Hawkeye running attack, featuring a potent quartet of ball toters in Tunnell, Sullivan, Dick Hoerner and Bob Smith, out-gained the Boilermakers better than three to one on the ground—but it was the supposedly weak Iowa over-head game, completely stealing the tossing honors from Purdue's famed Bob DeMoss, that made the victory difference.

Five times during the all-important second half the Hawk attack bogged down in crucial spots—and five times their deadly passing attack clicked to completely demoralize the visitors.

His Four Times
Tunnell connected four times with six tosses—all of his completions coming after the intermission—to establish himself as one of the most potent passers in the league, while Sullivan hit twice and Smith was on target with a solo try to give Iowa a record of

NOT SO FAST THERE, SON—Three Iowa Hawkeyes are shown closing in on leaping John McKay (22), Purdue halfback, in yesterday's Dad's day fray. seven completions and 70-yards gained in nine attempts. Meanwhile, the Boilermakers tossed 13 passes—12 by DeMoss—that were good for only six completions and 35-yards gained. And two of the Purdue passes were completed for losses.

Probably the most unexpected factor of the game, however, was the crushing play of the Hawk forward wall. Paced by guards Russ Benda and Dave Day and tackles Bill Kay and Jim Cozad, the Iowa line bottled up Purdue's running game—holding the Riveters to 80-yards by rushing—and opened gaping holes for the Hawks' stunning quick opening attack.

The Boilermaker attack clicked only once during the entire game—when they found a weakness in the right side of the Iowa line mid-way in the second quarter. But when Cozad replaced Bruno Niedziela at right tackle, the Purdue running game bogged down completely.

The football experts, who were stunned by the unexpected ease of Iowa's victory, by Tunnell's deadly passing and by the way the unheralded Benda outplayed Purdue's all-American guard Dick Barwegen, received yet another big shock in the comparative play of the rival fullbacks—Purdue's Ed Cody, an all-conference choice last fall, and Iowa's Dick Hoerner.

The vaunted Cody was stopped cold by Benda and Day in the center of the Iowa line, gaining only six yards in the three attempts he made to bull his way through, while Hoerner picked up held the ball, Purdue received the opening kick-off but failed to gain in three attempts and punted out of bounds on the Hawks' 32.

Sullivan moved to the 41 in two attempts before a 37-yard dash by Smith, who was the Iowa game captain, was called back by an off-side penalty. Hoerner, however, picked up a first down with a six-yard plunge to the Iowa 44. Sullivan moved to the Purdue 46, and a third down pass, King to Bob Phillips, was good for 23-yards and a first down on the visitors' 18. King lost three, but Sullivan twisted his way to the 13, passed to Phillips for four yards and dived off right tackle for another first down, on the seven.

Missed Signal
A missed signal cost the Hawks three yards and two attempts by Sullivan left Iowa still five yards short on fourth down. Sullivan then dropped back and booted a perfect placement for a three point lead.

Purdue threatened twice in the second quarter, both times driving down field for first downs on the Iowa 28 before stopping.

Early in the period the Boilermakers moved 43-yards with three straight first downs before King intercepted a DeMoss pass in the end zone. Then, five plays later, they drove 39-yards from their own 36 before Smith grabbed a fumble by halfback John McKay.

Again at the start of the second half Purdue received the kick-off, again failed to gain, and punted to Smith, who fumbled on the Iowa 26. Tunnell grabbed the ball, however, and scooted back to the Hawks' 40-yard line.

More of Tunnell
A holding penalty moved the Hawks back to the 38 on third down where Tunnell faked a pass and ran around right end to the Purdue 47. Tunnell again, on five straight plays, picked up two more first downs to the visitors' 19 and then tossed a third down pass to Phillips on the six.

King picked up a yard on a quarterback sneak and the amazing Emlen, again faking a pass, circled right end for the touchdown. Sullivan's kick was wide.

Purdue received the kick-off, picked up a first down on a 15-yard penalty, but were forced to punt to the Iowa 38. The pass, with Tunnell, Hoerner and Smith sharing the honors, moved to the Purdue four, where Emlen again pulled his end run specialty for a touchdown.

Three passes featured this Iowa drive. One, Tunnell to Phillips, was good for nine yards; Smith tossed to Sherman Howard for three, and Tunnell connected on one to Hoerner for 11. With about ten minutes left in the game, Purdue made their final

Both Factions Discuss—

What Causes Unrest in India?

(The question, "why are Indians killing each other when independence is so near and it would seem desirable to show the world that they are capable of unity?" was asked of two of India's leading newspaper editors, one a Hindu and the other a Moslem. Here are their answers.)

British Peace Offer Favors Hindu Rule

By WALT MASON
NEW DELHI (AP)—Altat Husain, editor of the pro-Moslem league Dawn, says that "the independence which the British say they are going to give India as a gift is not regarded by Moslems as independence for them."
Husain, whose paper, founded by League President Mohammed Ali Jinnah, is regarded as the voice of the Moslem league, told the Associated Press in an exclusive statement:
"Moslems are asked to surrender unconditionally, and now it is proposed to place them under a wholly Hindu government. When people in other countries have been faced with similar situations there has been killing and blood shed."
The British offer of independence would have been regarded as independence for Moslems as well as Hindus, Husain said,

"had it meant freedom to order their economic, social and cultural lives in their own way and according to their historical traditions."
"That freedom can only be insured if Moslems are allowed to rule those areas where they preponderate."
What is proposed is quite different.
"The whole of India is to be governed by the imposition of the will of the majority, which is Hindu, on the minority, which is Moslem."
"This is not democracy, and the coming of such independence will not bring freedom of the Moslems."
"How can you 'feel one' with those who regard you as so impure that if your shadow falls on their food they have to throw it away? Despite the window dressing in the upper layers of society, this is still true of millions of Hindus apropos of millions of Moslems in India."
"But there certainly can be a mutual understanding to live and let live and to strive jointly to make India truly great and free."
"On the Moslem side an attempt at such an understanding was made when the Moslem league compromised on Pakistan (independent Moslem state) and accepted the British plan of May 16."

Hindus Blame Moslems For Scare Propaganda

Devadas Gandhi, editor of the Hindustan Times, says he believes one reason why such things as the bloody August rioting in Calcutta can happen in India "is the paucity of international condemnation of unbridled campaigning which persons like the main figures of the Moslem league are permitted to indulge in."
Gandhi, son of Mahatma Gandhi and one of India's leading editors, added in an exclusive statement to the Associated Press:
"I know that the vast masses of Moslems are totally opposed to the evil designs of the Moslem league. But it is always possible of fury by misrepresentations and alarmist propaganda."
"I am sure that we shall give a good account of ourselves. The government that is about to be launched under the leadership of (Pandit Jawaharlal) Nehru is about the very best that anyone can plan for India at the moment."
"There will be no vengeance against the Moslems as such, but any challenge from mischief-makers will, I am sure, be firmly met."
Gandhi called the Calcutta rioting "an orgy of butchery for which there may be few examples in history."
"It has been, as far as I know, a totally one-sided affair," he continued. "Masses of Moslems under the security afforded to them by the Moslem league government in Bengal (province) moved in their thousands in the city of Calcutta murdering and pillaging Hindus and Hindu houses and establishments without let or hindrance . . . I am morally convinced that this orgy had the connivance and even material support of the chief minister, Suhrawardy, and Moslem officials serving under him."

"This most unfortunate lapse, which I regard as a national humiliation, is due entirely to the unchecked agitation which Mr. (Mohammed Ali) Jinnah and his followers have been allowed to carry on."
"Those who preceded the labor government in Britain and some of their agents in India were directly responsible for encouraging the activities of the Moslem league in order to provide a counter-balance against the congress, which was and is the body challenging British imperialism in India."

Striking Power Workers Veto 5 Percent Hike

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Striking power union workers last night rejected a peace proposal from the struck Duquesne Light Co., dashing hopes for immediate settlement of a walkout which has paralyzed business and industry and created a transportation crisis in the city.
President George L. Mueller of the union announced the vote was 1170 to 553. He told newsmen: "The strike is still on."
Mueller declared the vote, taken at a membership meeting was on a motion from the floor to reject an offer from the management involving a five percent pay hike, in contrast with the 20 percent sought by the employees.
Meanwhile, the big steel town's power supply was waning rapidly, its transit system was shut down tight and many thousands of workers were in idleness from the strike which started five days ago.
Mueller claimed the five percent wage increase offered by the company would be whittled down by two percent because each member would have to contribute that much to a new pension plan proposed by the management.

French Adopt New Charter For Republic

PARIS, Sunday (AP)—The French legislature adopted a new constitution for the fourth republic early today by the overwhelming vote of 440 to 106.
The balloting, which ended at 4 a.m. (9 p.m. Saturday, central standard time), came only a few hours before Gen. Charles DeGaulle was to make his tensely awaited statement concerning his opinion of the new basic law of the nation.
DeGaulle, his friends have said, will speak directly to the French people and urge them to reject the charter in the referendum on the constitution to be held Oct. 13.
This unpredictable factor placed the ultimate fate of the assembly's new constitution in doubt, for it was not clear how much strength DeGaulle could muster in his opposition if he flatly denounces it and urges that it be turned down.
The constitution received the votes of France's three largest parties—the Communists, the Socialists and President Georges Bidault's Popular Republican Movement (MRP), which together represent about 90 percent of the French electorate.

UN Delays Decision On Free Navigation For Danube River

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP)—The United Nations economic and social council postponed a decision yesterday on the controversial issue of Danubian freedom of navigation after Russia had implied that she had no immediate intention of opening the Danube to free navigation between the Soviet and American occupation zones.
In closing a two-day debate, Chairman Andrija Stampar of Yugoslavia announced that a decision would be postponed until next week. This action was interpreted as a move designed to give some delegates an opportunity to obtain new instructions from their governments.
A few minutes earlier Peru submitted a proposal to toss out of the council the bitter fight between the United States and Russia which saw the Soviet accuse the United States of direct interference in the internal affairs of countries involved in traffic on the Danube.
Previously the Soviets served notice on the United States that military measures in the Danubian area were of primary importance and asserted that changes of measures taken by Soviet military authorities in the Russian occupation zone are not possible.

Soviets Repeat Dardanelles Proposals

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union reiterated yesterday its demands that Turkey and Russia organize a joint defense of the strategic Dardanelles to the exclusion of other powers.
In the latest exchange of notes with Turkey on the vital Black Sea gateway to the Mediterranean, the Soviet Union proposed that discussions between the two nations precede any formal conference involving nations signatory to the present nine-power Montreux convention governing the straits.
The Russians declared that a Turkish note on Aug. 22 failing to accept the Soviet plan implied that such an arrangement was incompatible with Turkey's sovereign rights and threatened Turkish security.
"The Turkish reply said that to change the present form of defense of the straits would "deny the existence and aims of the United Nations charter."
"The Turkish government makes an obvious contradiction with its own statement on the desire for reestablishment of friendly relations with the Soviet Union based on confidence," said the Soviet foreign ministry.

The NAM Is Happy

The 79th congress turned in the best voting record of any congress in the last 15 years!

That, dear reader, is not the opinion of The Daily Iowan. That is the opinion of the National Association of Manufacturers as expressed in a recent weekly newsletter, the NAM News.

The newsletter implied that the NAM was tickled pink (Oh, what we said) with the work of the notorious 79th. Under a headline which read "NAM Heeded Often as 79th Congress. Wrote Record of Help to Enterprise, Scant Attention to Leftists," the publication boasted:

Eleven NAM-supported bills which passed.
Three NAM-supported bills which were defeated.
Three NAM-opposed bills which became law.
Ten NAM-opposed bills which were defeated.

"The congress showed a definite desire to protect the system of private enterprise," the association's newsletter stated. "It voted relief from the excess war profits tax, discontinued the renegotiation of profits law . . . and resisted numerous proposals to put the federal government in direct competition with private business. It provided in the OPA extension law a program designed to liquidate that agency within a year."

The article expressed the opinion that "The reconversion picture would be far less encouraging today if the congress had not resisted the ill-advised $25 per week federal unemployment compensation program, an immediate increase in the minimum wage rate, the socialistic full employment program and the . . . philosophy of boosting wages without compensating price increases."

The fact that congress did not want a fall session "is an encouraging business factor," the NAM News says further, "to the extent that the work left undone at the capitol consists of thousands of bills which would impose additional costs or regulations, or both on industrial enterprise."

"A majority of the congress has had no liking for this legislation and since V-J day, it has displayed more backbone than any congress in a decade and a half in resisting . . . bureaucrats, labor and the do-gooders who now constitute a major nuisance in economic and social life."

So, as you can see, the NAM is happy. Of course, there may be others of us who are a bit dissatisfied with the record of the 79th congress, but after all, we have no right to expect a better record since our "lobbying" activities were confined to an occasional letter. The NAM, on the other hand, deserved to have congress do its bidding—it had its boys working so hard down in Washington all last year.

Perhaps someday an American congress will approve an American program, a program for all groups and classes, a program truly in the "public interest." Meanwhile, we say to the NAM, "Well done, boys; on to the 80th."

Cabbages and Kings

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS

Tom is due back today. Strike up the band, roll out the velvet carpet and open up that Congressional Record. The great day is here at last!

Tom who? Well, fade back into the corner and bow your head in blushing shame, young man. Do you mean to stand there with an unmarked ballot in your hand and tell us you don't know who Tom is? Tsk, tsk. In order that there be no misunderstanding about the gentleman's identity, though, let's put it another way:

Representative Thomas E. Martin of Iowa City is to arrive from Washington today to participate in the 1946 congressional campaign. Being a member of the house military affairs committee, he is one of the key men in Iowa's ten-man Republican delegation to our nation's capital.

Dennis

You may remember that, along about last June, we took a peek at Congressman Martin's 1943-45 voting record. Using Lowell Mellett's "Handbook of Politics and Voter's Guide" as a reference, we discovered that three pieces of legislation out of 23 where, in our opinion, Martin rated a "good." Chalked up on his scorecard, however, were sixteen "bads" and three "zeros" (absent or not voting).

And since 1945? From time to time during the next five weeks, we'll continue our bill-by-bill examination of Martin's more recent voting accomplishments and see what kind of a total he winds up with. For now, however, just to get the hang of it, pick up a copy of the Sept. 23 "New Republic" magazine and turn to the special supplement, "Facts for November: Men and Issues in the 1946 Congressional Elections."

The record of the house of representatives on 15 pieces of legislation can be found on pages 368-370. A plus symbol indicates, in the opinion of the magazine's liberal editorial board, "a progressive vote." A minus symbol indicates an "anti-progressive vote." Absences are tabulated with a zero.

You shouldn't encounter much difficulty in locating Iowa's eight representatives on the chart. Just look for a cluster of minus symbols and there you are. Out of a total of 120 votes, our delegates lined up as follows: 99 minus, 14 plus and seven zeros! The Messrs. Martin, Talle, Gwynne, LeCompte, Cunningham, Dolliver, Jensen and Hoeven (districts one to eight, respectively) were certainly there with bells on.

Come now, gentlemen! Even allowing for the fact that the scoring system used by the "New Republic" is slanted a bit to the left, was it really that bad? Were all of those administration-sponsored measures, such as the reciprocal trade agreements, the British loan and the price control extension act, actually so worthless that they deserved no support from you whatsoever? Or was it just a case of the "outs" voting down the line against anything put forward by the "ins?" Hmmm?

Back to Representative Martin for a brief moment. All week long, Mrs. D. The Nipper and myself have been trying to work out a proper program of welcome for our perennial congressman. Patrick Michael, who, as you know, is a Young Republican, held out for a banquet. It was his idea that we invite Martin over for a steak dinner in honor of his confused vote on price control and let him bring the steak himself. But Mrs. D. vetoed that on the grounds that the congressman had done enough traveling during his recent Pacific tour and it wouldn't be quite fair to send him tramping all over the state in search of a T-bone.

We racked our brains for a satisfactory idea but still no dice. Just as we were about to give it up as a lost cause, in walked my corrupt, two-headed cousin Ralph, who is currently doing some campaign work for Bob Hannegan, the Democratic chief, and B. Carroll Reece, GOP national chairman. We gave Ralph the problem and he solved it no time at all. He'd see to it that Representative Martin was properly welcomed.

Thus, at last report, Ralph was heading for the depot. When our congressman steps from the train, Ralph, using his own inimitable liberal editorial board, "a progressive vote." A minus symbol indicates an "anti-progressive vote." Absences are tabulated with a zero.

"Well, dress me up like a pachyderm and call me Harrison Spangler, if it isn't Representative Martin. Welcome home, Tom! We hope you'll have a nice, long stay."

Dads Have the Dates This Weekend

STARTING THE DAD'S DAY WEEKEND right were Dona Jean Lawshe, A2 of Shenandoah, and her father, who danced together Friday night to George Olsen's music at the Dad's day dance.

FATHER CAME IN HANDY yesterday morning to help Dona Jean with a moving job from a private home to her new room at Currier hall. They are shown checking in at the Currier desk.

PING PONG IN IOWA UNION was one activity Dona had planned for her father's first visit to SUL. This is also Dona's first semester at the university, having transferred from Lindenwood college.

PERFECT CLIMAX for the weekend was the Purdue-Iowa game, where Dona and Mr. Lawshe watched the Hawkeyes trounce Purdue. Dona had a seat for her dad on the 50-yard line.

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

As I am living in the south recreation room of Currier hall, I have been subjected to the bitter haranguing, complaining and threats of a small handful of girls every night for the last two weeks. Now I'm reading it in The Daily Iowan, too (the writer refers to a letter to the editor in yesterday's Iowan).

Most of the girls down there are a pretty good bunch. They realize how difficult the housing situation is. They know that they will have to stay in the rec room for a few weeks until their cottages are finished. Most of them accept the situation, do a little good natured griping and get a lot of laughs from the incidents that occur down there.

It's the half dozen or so who seem to think that for some reason they should be given consideration above all others that get up on their soapboxes every evening, show their fangs, shake their fists and work themselves into a frenzy. Most of us have learned to ignore them. We feel sorry for them because they're making themselves so miserable. What worries me most is the harm they do in arousing some girls who otherwise would probably adjust themselves to the situation and make the best of things.

I know a lot of fellows who look back on barracks and remember them as some of the best living conditions they had for two years or more. I'd feel pretty ashamed to think that I couldn't endure a barracks without the restrictions of the armed forces governing everything I do.

It doesn't take very long to find out which girls are good eggs and which will never hatch into nice chicks. I thank my lucky stars that none of the rats in Currier's "rat hole" are going to be in the same cottage I'm in.

The World Watch

By Steve Park

Since Winston Churchill, in the prewar years, characterized the Soviet Union as a "riddle wrapped in an enigma," it has been the common refuge of both un-informed and antagonistic men in public affairs of non-Soviet nations to regard all the policies and activities of the Communist hierarchy as calumnious plots against humanity.

These accusations, which depend upon the public penchant for believing what it does not understand to be associated with the diabolical activities of somber fiends has created, unfortunately, in the American people a fear and hatred of Soviet "machinations" that makes a reasonable approach to the problem hazardous.

Indeed, when Russia's needs and desires have been explained at all by anti-Soviet agencies in the United States, who seem to have a large and sympathetic audience, Russian objectives have been clothed in sinister garments and Russian activities have been associated with evil designs.

First and foremost, Russian policy has been controlled historically by geographical factors. Walled into the central Eurasian plain by hostile races and barred from the world's commerce, Russia, almost from the era when it first achieved national unity, has sought free access to the warm seas. In the west, the rulers struggled for an outlet on the Baltic; in the south, on the Black Sea, the Mediterranean and the Indian Ocean, and in the east, the warm Pacific.

Thus, Peter I gained the title "Imperator" because he captured a "window to the sea" at Leningrad and Catherine, after him, because she secured ports on the Black Sea. In the east, the same drive activated Nicholas II to force from the Chinese a lease to the Liaotung peninsula in south Manchuria, and later to attempt to partition that area as well as Korea to protect his gains.

However, the change of conditions, brought about by man's technological advances, has nullified the advantages these historic personages achieved. The brackish Baltic has become a dangerous backwater, where commerce can be stifled quickly and naval units can be entrapped. Even a small naval power can bottle up the Baltic easily by throwing a cord across the Skagerrak.

The Black Sea is useless without control of the Dardanelles, the Bosphorus and the Sea of Marmora. The all-weather Pacific ports of Dairen and Port Arthur, lost to the Japanese in the war of 1905, have been regained, but American control of the Japanese homeland and the southern half of Korea have negated a goodly portion of their usefulness.

A further limitation is the lack of a good transportation system in Soviet Asia. Only one line, the Trans-Siberian railway, leads out of Central Asia, the center of Soviet Siberian development. Although this railroad has been double-tracked, it is manifestly unable to meet the huge demands that must be made of it if the new series of "five year" plans are to be successful.

Russia does have one all-weather port, Murmansk on the Kola peninsula. However, one all-weather port in a nation which takes up one-sixth of the earth's surface is manifestly insufficient to that nation's needs.

Of course, Russia does have one of the longest sea-coasts in the world on the Arctic frontier. For six months of every year, however, it is useless. Furthermore the mouths of the Siberian rivers, Ob, Yenisei and Lena afford poor shelter for vessels and goods must be trans-shipped by light-erage to sea-going vessels.

Inside, the nation, transportation is today, and has always been the greatest problem. All the great rivers flow either into the Arctic or into closed seas. Rail transportation to the north is made impossible by great swamps and permanently frozen subsoil. A solid roadbed cannot be made because the summer thaws turn the earth into a sea of mire.

Another factor in Soviet policy and thinking, which is also directly attributable to Russia's geographical position, is the deep-seated fear complex which prevades the Soviet atmosphere. This results from the fact that the great Russian plain is without serious obstacles to movement and that on the west (and in ancient times in the east as well) there are no mountain or sea walls to prevent the incursions of hostile races.

Thus, Russia, from its earliest years, has been the scene of invasion after invasion, as ambitious neighbors have attempted to wrest control of the huge agricultural plain from the nation. Indeed, every generation or second generation has been forced to defend the home-land against invaders. As (See WORLD WATCH, page 6) business, the electrical business, the cotton textile business, and other light industry fields, including chemicals." He says this trend has forced hundreds of private Chinese to close down businesses and factories in these lines in Chungking, Kweiyang, Chengtu, and Sian since the Japanese surrender. (Some of these might have closed down anyway because the nation's economic center has shifted back to the coast.)

He asserted this trend goes far beyond the government's policy laid down in 1944. This was to engage in monopolistic activity only where such national necessities as arsenals, hydroelectric power, mines, railways and very heavy industry was concerned, and to share with private business—as a stockholder only—those other enterprises requiring government capital assistance.

Stevens says that the government, "by exceeding this policy, 'has caused many Chinese industrialists and business men to side with the Chinese communist party.'"

This harks back to fears expressed earlier by critics of the Chinese government that it might develop something akin to the big Zaibatsu monopolies of imperial Japan.

Explanations may be forthcoming from both Nanking and Washington as a result of the Stevens article, which merely amplifies openly the muttering audible in recent months from the mostly-paralyzed political and not-so-paralyzed political and military battlegrounds of postwar China.

Cugat Concert Ticket Sales Total Approximately $1,700

Advance ticket sales for the Nov. 4 Xavier Cugat concert totaled approximately $1,700 last night, according to Ray B. Mossman of the university business office.

This figure does not include receipts from dormitories, sororities or fraternities, part of which will be turned in to the business office tomorrow, Mossman said.

The advance sales for the concert, which is sponsored by the Student Council, will end Wednesday evening, according to Herb Olson, A3 of Winfield, council president.

Guarantee Due Thursday

Under the special contract arranged with Cugat's agent, the Music Corporation of America, the council must send to the agent a guarantee of $3,500 by Thursday.

The special contract was necessary because the university does not have available the funds to underwrite such a concert, Olson said.

Tickets are being sold from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. each day until the advanced sales end at 8 p.m. and at Spencer's Harmony hall. Council members are also selling tickets during meal hours at Iowa union and directing solicitation of all the dormitories, sororities and fraternities.

Denies Cancellation Report

Mossman said yesterday that an earlier report that Cugat had cancelled his entire tour was denied by Cugat's Chicago agents. Because a strike has slowed work at the studio in Hollywood where Cugat is making a movie, his tour has been cancelled up to Oct. 20, but the Nov. 4 date still stands, the agent reported.

After the advance sales end Wednesday, general admission concert tickets will cost $1.50 plus tax instead of the current price of $1 plus federal tax, Olson said. In charge of the ticket sale drive are Dick Yoakam, G of Pittsburg, Pa.; Dick Ives, A4 of Diagonal, and Howard Hensleigh, L3 of Iowa City.

Cugat's concert, which will feature a troupe of 41 performers, will start at 8:30 p.m., Nov. 4, in the fieldhouse and will last for more than two hours.

Robert Lucas Home To Be Dedicated During Homecoming

One of the features of Homecoming weekend, Nov. 1 through 3, will be the dedication of the late Gov. Robert Lucas's home, located at the end of Carroll street, as a state historical park, Prof. Louis Zopf, chairman of the Homecoming committee, announced yesterday.

The event will take place at 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 1. Governor Lucas was appointed by President Martin Van Buren in 1838 as the first governor of the Iowa territory. During the past few years the state conservation commission has been sponsoring the rebuilding of his home as a historical park.

Because of crowded housing conditions on the Iowa campus, the football game parking space around the fieldhouse has been reduced approximately 50 percent, Professor Zopf announced. He advised Iowa City residents to walk to the Illinois-Iowa game to avoid any unnecessary confusion.

Committee members, beside Professor Zopf, are Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the women's physical education department; Prof. George Bresnahan of the men's physical education department; Prof. T. G. Caywood of the mechanical engineering department.

Prof. Bruce E. Mahan, director of the alumni service; Prof. F. M. Pownall, director of student publications, Inc.; Prof. C. B. Righter, director of the university bands; T. M. Rehder, manager of the university dining service; Prof. F. G. Higbee, head of engineering drawing; Willis Mercer, Iowa City business man; Prof. A. R. Miller of the geology department and Prof. William Coder, director of the university veterans' service.

Irish Smash Illini

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Notre Dame's Fighting Irish opened their season yesterday by completely smothering famed Buddy Young as they trounced Illinois, 26-6, before a record 75,119 spectators in Memorial stadium.

Young contributed an 11-yard dash as his best effort and was just another player as the Irish methodically ground out two touchdowns each in the second and fourth periods.

The Illini penetrated Notre Dame territory only once in three quarters and were lucky to count a touchdown in the last two minutes on a 63-yard desperation pass from Julie Rykovich to end Bill Heiss.

The Irish eleven took control in the second quarter when Emil (Red) Sitko's 83-yard run to the Illinois two broke the back of the obviously outplayed Illini.

Two plays later, fullback Jim Mello dived over his left guard for a touchdown and the issue was settled even though Fred Earley missed the point try.

A 67-yard march, also in the second period, put across the second Irish touchdown by fullback Jim Mello, a navy veteran. Earley pierced the cross bars to give the Irish a 13-0 lead.

Tackle Ziggy Czarowski recovered an Illini fumble on the Notre Dame 28 to start the last period festivities. Johnny Lujack, an offensive and defensive threat throughout the whole game, tossed a 29-yard pass to Russ Ashbaugh on the Illini eight.

Three plays later, Terry Brennan romped across from the three yard line for a touchdown and Earley place kicked the point to put Notre Dame ahead, 20-0.

Sooners Scare Army But Bow Out, 21-7, To Second Half Rally

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army's dreams of a third straight all-victorious football season were twisted into a horrible nightmare for nearly two periods here yesterday before the Cadets pulled themselves together and turned back a surprisingly powerful Oklahoma eleven, 21-7.

A capacity crowd of 25,500, including President Truman, watched the Cadets come from behind to chalk up their second win this year.

Those in the stands sat goggle-eyed as the big Oklahoma line hurled the Cadets back on their heels through 29 of the first 30 minutes and accounted for the game's first touchdown in the second period.

Norman McNabb, a substitute guard, recovered a blocked kick for a touchdown. Dave Wallace kicked the extra point and Oklahoma held a 7-0 lead.

Later in the second period, Army finally went into the air and Tucker flipped a short pass to Hank Foldberg, big Army end, across the goal line. Jack Mackmull converted, tying the score with less than a minute of the first half remaining.

Army got its first break in the third quarter when Barney Poole crashed through to block Charles Saratt's fourth down punt, giving the Cadets the ball on Oklahoma's 15 yard line.

A five yard slash by Rowan and an eight yard pass from Tucker to Davis carried to the two yard line, from where Hugh Fuson, the erstwhile center attempting to fill Blanchard's shoes, went over for a score. Again Mackmull converted.

On the first play of the final quarter, Tucker, who was Army's best performer this day, stepped in and plucked the ball out of the air when an attempted lateral from Wallace to Royal misfired and ran 85 yards to the last touchdown. Mackmull kicked his third extra point.

Hawks Point to Michigan Tilt As Second Successful Chapter

By DON SULHOFF
Daily Iowan Assistant Sports Editor

A novel entitled "The Comeback Trail" which was started back in 1939 and which was interrupted three seasons ago was resumed in the Iowa stadium yesterday.

Author of the piece is one Dr. Edward N. Anderson and the subject was the fortunes of the Iowa football team.

Anderson wrote the first edition when he used Nile Kinnick and the Iron Men to gain national fame and continued with such players as Chuck Uknes and Dick Hoerner until '42.

Anderson had Hoerner back in there to start the second edition Saturday after war had halted the chapters after the 1942 season.

It was a sweet victory for an underdog Hawkeye eleven. It was revenge for a 40-0 beating a war-depleted Hawk squad took last season at Lafayette when Purdue was at full strength due to war trainees.

But in this new edition only the first chapter has been written—and the second is coming up. In the Hawkeye nest it's a cry "On to Michigan" and a successful second installment.

Bob Smith, Iowa game captain, nursed a badly swollen left arm after the game but his infectious grin told the story of Iowa's win. When asked how he liked Big Nine football Smith said it was real football and a lot of fun.

Bob came into possession of the game ball after Dick Laster, Iowa reserve center, wrestled it from the referee and promptly turned it over to him.

The story was banded around the locker room after the game that on one of the Hawkeye marches Emlen Tunnell took the ball from Smith and yelled at the top of his voice—"Here I come," and he did for 12 yards.

And Sherman Howard told of Earl Banks yelling across the line of scrimmage, "where is this guy Berwegen, I want to blast him." Some little guy yelled back "here I am," but Banks shrugged this off and said, "that's not him, he's too small."

Duke Curran saw action in the fourth quarter and was the only father—he has two sons—in the game for Iowa.

Tunnell, the Hawk running star, explained how he shook off four tacklers to score Iowa's final touchdown. "After I got loose from that guy on the 13-yard line and went down to the two, I remembered Doc. Eddie's words, Don't ever get tackled on the one yard line, so when those three guys loomed up I just busted into 'em and came out over the goal."

Doc. Eddie was quietly standing in the corner of the locker room accepting congratulations but his wide grin told the story of his pleasure of the victory. Over near tackle Bill Kay's locker his dad was waiting for him to get dressed. He couldn't say much but that he was plenty proud of his son on this most successful Dad's day.

The excitement of the game left backfield coach Frank Carideo weak and he could only say, "they are a hard working bunch and deserved to win."

Joe Sheeketski, the line coach, said his line played a great ball game but added, "Those backs! They just bounced off the line backers and kept on going."

A representative of the Iowa Association of Broke Gamblers was running around the stadium after the game greeting his pals, who offered 13 points and Iowa, with a great big "Hello comrade."

Only one serious injury was reported after the game and that to Dick Woodard. Woodard banged up his shoulder on a stiff tackle but will be ready to go against Michigan.

Navy Tops Villanova In Battle of Fumbles

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—Villanova and Navy did their best to fumble away a football game yesterday, and the Middies capitalized on a miscue in the first quarter for a 7 to 0 victory before a crowd of 18,502.

Big Bill Hawkins, substitute fullback from Richmond, Va., who played for V.M.I. last year, churned over the Wildcat goal from the one-yard line late in the opening period after a costly fumble by Villanova's William Zehler on his 23.

Navy fumbled six times, the visitors seven, but neither team could take advantage of the blunders except for that one fatal bobble by Zehler, a reserve back. Tackle Newbold Smith place-kicked the point, and that was the scoring for the day.

Detroit Bangs Indians
DETROIT (AP)—Fireballer Bob Feller watched from the bench yesterday as the Detroit Tigers scored an easy 7 to 3 victory over his Cleveland Indian mates.

National Loop Race Enters Final Day--Still Tied

Brecheen Jinx Stops Bruins

Munger Faces Cubs Today as Cardinals Bid for Championship

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Harry (The Cat) Brecheen took the St. Louis Cardinals by their neck feathers and lifted them back into an exact first place tie with the Brooklyn Dodgers last night by hurling a four-hit, 4-1, victory over the Chicago Cubs in the next-to-last game of the season.

Handcuffing the Cubs with his left handed curve and his darting screw ball, the veteran "money pitcher" from Broken Bow, Okla., won the big one that the Redbirds had to have. A loss would have practically eliminated them from the race.

Brecheen's masterpiece brought the National league race down to the finish line in its most exciting climax in years. Never has an exact first place tie existed at the end of the regular season but that will happen tomorrow if the Cards and Dodgers both win or both lose their single respective games with the Cubs and Braves.

Way back in 1908 there was a "playoff" game after the season that actually was a replay of an earlier disputed game in which Fred Merkle of the New York Giants failed to touch second base against the Chicago Cubs. This would be the first time the league rules calling for a three-game play-off would have to be used.

Rain today would send the whole situation into a horrible mess. Scattered thundershowers have been predicted for the St. Louis area.

Dodgers Pound Boston Braves

BROOKLYN (AP)—Playing like champions behind rookie Joe Hatton, the Brooklyn Dodgers trounced the Boston Braves 7-4 yesterday to seize temporarily undisputed possession of the National league lead for the first time since August 21.

Ohio State, Missouri Tie

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State university opened its football season here yesterday against the Missouri Tigers and settled for a 13-13 tie.

The highly-favored Bucks had to come from behind in the final quarter.

A desperate Ohio passing attack in the final 10 minutes drove 49 yards in eight plays for a touchdown. Fullback Joe Whisler romping 16 yards for the second tally.

John Stungis booted a perfect placement to stake the Bucks to a tie.

A crowd of 65,004, many in shirt sleeves because of the 85-degree heat, saw Missouri jump into the lead. The Tigers marched 92 yards in five plays to score.

Left Halfback Bob Hopkins sparked the drive, grabbing a lateral pass and racing 66 yards to Ohio's four.

Loyd Brinkman, Tiger right half, carried it over and Jim Kekeris, 280-pound tackle, converted.

The Bucks countered with a touchdown midway in the second period. Left Halfback Tommy James climaxed the 56-yard thrust. Stungis missed converting.

In the second half Missouri drove 62 yards in 13 plays to send Hopkins over for the second six-pointed, but Kekeris' place kick missed.

Wisconsin Smothers Outclassed California

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Wisconsin unleashed a potent attack in the final period yesterday, pushing across three touchdowns, to trounce the University of California bears 28 to 7 before a short-sleeved crowd estimated at close to 50,000.

The Badgers, strong favorites at the kickoff, scored in the opening quarter, outplayed the Bears in the second period but had the count tied by California in the third.

Jack Jensen, sub California left half, took a punt and raced 56 yards for a touchdown and the successful conversion gave the Bears a 7-7 knot midway of the third.

The Badgers exploded in the final 15 minutes. Starting on their own 28 just before the third quarter ended, they put together a 72-yard advance for a touchdown and a 14-7 lead just after the switching of sides for the last push.

Two more touchdowns in quick succession turned the contest into a rout.

Starting fullback Ben Bendrick scored the opening touchdown, a six-yard smash through left tackle.

The Badgers came back after the Bears third period score with a devastating attack that made California's effort puny by comparison. Fullback Bendrick broke the deadlock with a four-yard right end dash after the visitors had moved 68 yards down the field, aided by a 15-yard penalty.

Cyclones Blow Out, Lose to Wildcat Powerhouse, 41-9

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern's Wildcats opened their 1946 football season with a smashing debut yesterday, burying the Cyclones of Iowa State under a 41 to 9 score before a shirt sleeved crowd of 41,000.

The Cyclones registered a field goal in the first period to take a 3 to 0 lead, and scored their only touchdown in the fourth. They managed to get inside Northwestern's 20 yard line only three times. They were badly outmanned, making only eight first downs to 16 for Northwestern and gaining 128 yards on the ground to 253 for the Cats.

Don Burson, Wildcat quarterback, heaved two touchdown passes in the second period, the first for 11 yards to Frank Aschenbrenner, formerly of Great Lakes, and the second for 20 yards to Jimmy Holland, freshman end from Rock Island, Ill. In between, Bill Hunt, 'Cat halfback, crossed from the five yard line.

In the third, Wiltgen made a blazing 43 yard gallop down the side-lines after taking a pass from Quarterback Carle. Another spectacular run of 26 yards was accomplished by Art Murakowski, for Northwestern's final marker.

Vic Schwall, Northwestern's halfback, converted four out of five after touchdown placements.

The Cyclones, held on the defensive, scored in the first when Harle Rollinger, Lemars, Iowa, booted a field goal from the 20, after the Cyclones had regained the ball on a fumble.

Another Northwestern fumble enabled Iowa State to make its only touchdown in the fourth. Don Laun, Cyclone fullback, took a five yard pass from Ronnie Norman and went over the goal line standing up.

Pirates Win, 10-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—Playing their first game for acting manager, Virgil (Spud) Davis, the Pittsburgh Pirates pounded out a 10-3 decision over the Cincinnati Reds here yesterday.

Wolves Down Indiana, 21-0

Western Loop Champs Blasted by Michigan's Strong Reserve Power

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Smothering Indiana's defending Western conference football champs with a flood of talented reserve power and last quarter dynamite, Michigan whipped the Hoosiers, 21 to 0, yesterday before a record opening day crowd of 74,600 fans.

Michigan scored just nine plays after it took the ball in the opening five minutes of play, Gene Derricotte passing 11 yards to Paul White to climax a 46-yard march.

The Hoosiers struck back with their air might, spearheaded by three different pitchers, and drove 65 yards of five straight passes late in the second period but after reaching the Wolverine 10 were halted by Bob Cowan's march.

Leonard Ford, six foot four-inch Michigan end, recovered Rex Grossman's fumble on the Indiana 18 on the last play of their third stanza, and after one running play the Wolverines scored again on a 17-yard pass from Pete Elliott that Ford caught on his finger tips in the end zone.

Less than a minute later Ralph Chubb caught one of Grossman's punts on the Michigan 47 and handed the ball on a reverse to Derricotte, who raced 53 yards down the sideline behind perfect blocking for the last touchdown.

Jim Brieske, extra point specialist who booted 15 of 16 points after touchdown for Michigan in 1942, converted all three yesterday.

Indiana, its effective passing attack gaining a total of 72 yards, outdistanced the Wolverines in first downs, 13 to 7, but Michigan had an edge of 195 yards to Indiana's 51 rushing.

WORLD WATCH—

result Russia has been in a constant state of siege, its energies traditionally turned to self-preservation and its atmosphere continually military.

The Communists themselves, in two wars, have found themselves engaged in a death struggle. First, the Allies of World War I entered Soviet soil with the ostensible purpose of rescuing a Czech army and while there gave active aid to anti-Soviet forces. More recently, the German armies ravaged the land to the edge of the Volga.

Between these wars, the Allies, the so-called democratic nations erected an iron wall, "the Cordon Sanitaire," around the new Soviet state to isolate it from the world.

Is it any wonder that the Soviet diplomats fear and suspect the intentions of the democratic peoples? We would do the same if we had experienced Russia's travail.

There is a final factor in Russian policy in this post-war era which must not be overlooked. During the late war, Russia suffered more heavily in loss of men, industry and territory than any of the United Nations. The people, already weary from twenty-five years of privation and toil, were called upon to make the greatest collective effort in modern history to stave off the Germans.

Now they are tired; they need rest. Russia can not afford an aggressive war under these conditions. Russia wants peace; she must have peace.

But a sandle has her eye—it's a Tweedies shoe in smooth brown kid, studded with nailheads, for $11.50. And she still isn't sure whether the new shoes should be high heeled or low. On the floor is a black ballet slipper by Sorority, for $7.95, and—for fun—California Cobblers "Gold Rush"—the most comfortable sport shoe ever, in soft yellow leather. Any wonder Barbara can't make up her mind?

Diamonds, diamonds, diamonds! Didn't know Iowans were so romantic, and it isn't even spring. Con Righter, Gamma Phi, is engaged to Art Fippenger. Eloise Thomas, Currier Cottage (soon, that is) has a diamond from John Winters. And when DG Jo Montgomery came back from June week at Annapolis, she was wearing Bill Doran's Sigma Nu pin. Now she has a diamond miniature of his ring. Kappa Suzanne Long is a ring-bearer, too, as of September 8. Sigma Nu Bob Sandahl is the lucky man responsible. Congratulations, peoples!

We have all those new records you want to buy but couldn't pack to bring to school. Everything from Jive to Classics can be found at SPENCER'S HARMONY HALL. We have sound proof booths especially for you to come in and listen to your favorite records. You new students will marvel at our complete file of albums and popular records. More sparkle stuff... this time, all from the Tri Delt hoise. Lois Ann Dunn and Howie Jebenille whom everyone saw two-some-ing around last year decided this was the real thing so now Lois has a diamond. Ro Dody is also sporting a ring from Robins Jackson, Delta Sigma Phi from Ames. And Betty Ford is wearing ATO Chuck Lamb's diamond.

Seniors... It's just about that time, when you must think about having your senior picture taken. Why not let KRITZ STUDIO take care of that assignment for you? Our life-like photographs, finished in black and white, brown and white, or natural color, will make cherished gifts. And many of you are probably already career-conscious. KRITZ can help you with this problem too—photos for job application blanks can be had on 24 hour notice at KRITZ STUDIO.

City Cafe Owners Promise To Stay Open for Business

New OPA Order Increasing Ceilings Prompts Decision

Local restaurant owners yesterday assured Iowa City residents and University of Iowa students that there will be no closing of local restaurants.

This statement followed an OPA action yesterday allowing an increase in the price of meals which include meat and removing ceilings on a long list of canned and frozen fruits and vegetables.

Local restaurant operators said they were pleased with the OPA's decision and indicated that in general price increases will not be many nor large.

Commenting on the situation yesterday, Herbert J. Reichardt, head of the local restaurant owners' association, said: "Our protest is answered by this action of OPA. The closing of Iowa City restaurants will certainly not occur now."

Reichardt predicted that there would be no sharp increases in restaurant prices. He said the trouble in the past had been that the price of side items such as butter and canned vegetables had continued to rise since 1943 while meat prices had been held at the 1943 level.

"As I see it," he concluded, "the present OPA action will allow us to increase prices on side items to a sound business level."

Another restaurant owner agreed that the increases will be only on the side dishes served. He said he was pleased with the prospect of OPA increases and that he felt it would not have been possible to close restaurants here.

Two of the owners maintained that their present level of prices are such that they can make a living, but that they could not operate on the basis of June 30 prices.

Hawkeye Village To Re-Open Contest

The election committee at Hawkeye village yesterday voted to re-open nominations for the hotly contested male council post from the mid-east section of the village.

Two previous elections have failed to give any male candidate the necessary 51 percent majority of eligible voters, although over 95 percent of the residents of the mid-east section voted in the last election according to Merlan DeBolt, M3 of Marshalltown, council chairman. The run-off is tentatively scheduled for the early part of this week.

In their second election on Thursday, the villagers filled two council positions which had failed to poll the required majority in Tuesday's election. Mrs. Lorraine Dennis, Mason City, and Frank Diggins, Jr., L2 of Marshalltown, were named to the posts.

Next council meeting will be Thursday evening, De Bolt said.
