Long Lines At Groceries In 47 Cities

London, Too, Reports Shortages as Serious As During Wartime

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The spectacle of American housewives queuing up in lengthening lines for meat and other scarce living essentials, a rare sight during the war, was recorded yesterday in nation-blanking reports from 47 cities.

A survey by the Associated Press showed more and more shortage-ridden purchasers were operating by a sort of neighborhood "bush telegraph" in many areas.

Concerted but frequently vain rushes on stores having meat were reported as commonplace, but growing lineups were listed also for soap, sugar, shortening and even toilet tissue. Seventeen cities placed this item at or near the top of their scarcities.

Simultaneously, a dispatch from London said the queues before food shops still were long there, as during the war. It reported that there appeared to be no prospect of abolition of the rationing system designed to spread the individual weekly allotment of 27 cents worth of fresh meat equally among the rich and poor.

The 47 city survey here showed that:

In 40 cities meat supplies ranged from "none" to small fractions of the normal supply; in seven others they ran from "no shortage" in Boise, Idaho, to fair supplies or nearly adequate quantities of some types of meat in others.

Soap Shortage

All 47 communities were short of soap, with shortages of soap flakes and laundry soaps acute in many areas and tens of thousands of housewives and even laundries suffering from "washday blues."

A scarcity of sugar, in some cases acute, is afflicting 24 of the reporting cities while in 20 others it is no major problem to cash in sugar rationing coupons.

Here are typical reports from some of the 47 cities surveyed here:

Typical Reports

Portland, Me.: Meat has virtually disappeared from the shops. Shortening is extremely scarce. Fish sales are up 25 percent.

Miami, Fla.: Meat shortage critical, except plenty livers, while cattle growing areas of state are getting steak dinners for $1. Soap is an under-the-counter item.

Los Angeles, Calif.: Meat supply is about 10 percent of normal, with 2,000 retail markets out of 4,500 in southern California outside of San Diego county closed. Shelves are practically bare of soap shortening and cooking oils.

Boise, Idaho: No shortage of beef, lamb, sugar, butter, but certain cuts of pork are scarce.

Washington, D. C.: A shipment of sugar brings housewives from all over the neighborhood to line up. Fresh meats appear not infrequently but are bought up quickly. Mayonnaise and soap scarce.

New York: Sugar is unobtainable, refineries are shutting down and bakeries are faced with the possibility that no more pastries can be made shortly. Meat and soap in extremely short supply.

Chicago: Favored customers get some meat, with what little is left going to early shoppers. Some butchers pre-wrap packages which customers purchase unseen. Toilet paper very scarce.

Abolish Price Ceilings In Railroad Diners

WASHINGTON (AP)—All price lids on meals in railroad diners will be abolished, effective tomorrow, OPA announced yesterday.

The action is a follow-up to OPA's Oct. 4 decision authorizing restaurants to increase prices on meat meals by 15 percent, effective today.

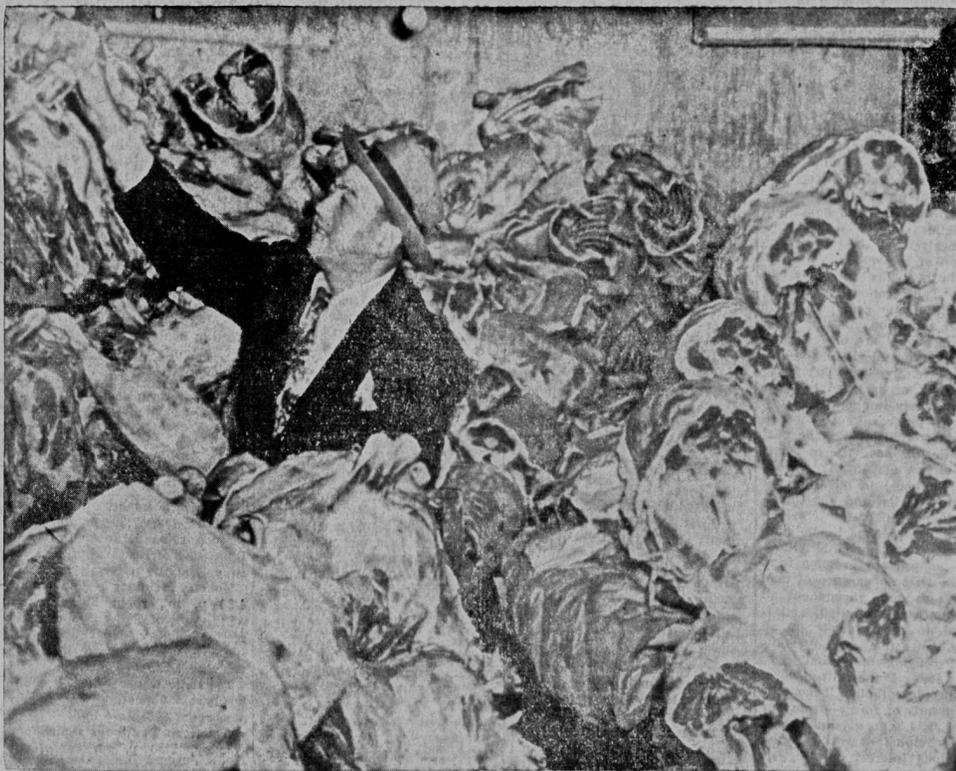

OPA said the railroads proved they are losing money on dining car operations. Furthermore, the agency said that the roads promised to charge less than the OPA would have to fix as the ceilings if dining cars were continued under price control.

Sales of food and drink by train peddlers continue under price control, but these sellers are granted the same concessions which restaurants get.

ROME (AP)—A strong swing to the left was indicated yesterday in partial returns from municipal elections held Sunday in 274 communities in all parts of Italy.

Purdue Students Boycott Barbers In Price Protest

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Several thousand Purdue university students, sworn to the pledge "for a buck a throw, let it grow," were withholding the buck today while lengthening locks crept down their necks and around their ears.

Embattled barbers, who recently raised the price of haircuts from 75 cents to $1, charged that the students had employed strong-arm tactics to enforce a boycott of their shops, but university officials refuted the charge.

President Frederick L. Hovde of Purdue said in a statement: "It's only natural that patrons of barber shops will tend to withhold patronage when prices are increased as much as the recent price change. This is a citizens' strike. Our students have protested vocally and in appropriate manner concerning the price rise and in no case has the university received any evidence of violence or attempted violence or intimidation on the part of students toward barber shop customers."

Professor Wylie ceased his observations before 10 o'clock last night, when thickening clouds almost completely covered the sky. Local airport officials estimated that clouds over Iowa City were at an elevation of 10,000 to 13,000 feet.

Three other university groups, mostly students and graduate assistants, watched the display last night. Professor Wylie said that one of the groups was scheduled to observe the meteors from 4 to 5 o'clock this morning.

In a telephone call from Parkville, Mo., to Professor Wylie last night, Prof. Harry E. Crull of the Park college astronomy department estimated that if last night had not been cloudy, an observer could have seen 1,000 meteors during an hour.

Professor Crull reported that he observed 100 meteors from 7:30 to 8 p. m. last night, 180 from 8 to 8:30 and 100 from 8:30 to 8:45. Then clouds started to move in, and during his next observation, from 9:30 to 9:50 p. m., Professor Crull was able to see 80 meteors through rifts in the clouds.

Leonard Curtis of Iowa City reported to Professor Wylie last night that, during a 65-mile drive from Sioux Falls to Mitchell, S. D., he saw 67 meteors.

Some of the meteors, he said, were as large as star shells used in Fourth of July demonstrations and left trails two to three miles long.

Professor Wylie said reports from Joliet, Ill., last night showed a count of from 700 to 900 meteors per hour, of which some were "sub-fireballs," brighter than any of the planets.

Scientists using radar may have gained a victory over astronomy's ancient jinx—fog and clouds hiding rare spectacles in the heavens.

The national bureau of standards said yesterday its observers believe they are "seeing" meteors from the Giacobini-Zinner comet through a heavy cloud layer 15,000 feet thick.

If this is true and the radar echoes they detect are from the comet's tail particles, it is the first reported case of seeing" such a phenomenon by radar, the device used during the war to detect approaching enemy craft.

Ross Bateman, in charge of the bureau of standards station, and Victor C. Pineo, in charge of the meteor project, installed special equipment through cooperation of the navy and the federal communications commission to attempt the radar contact of G-Z.

The comet and the earth swung to within several million miles of each other last week. Now the earth is only 132,000 miles from the point where the comet's head was a week ago. Bits of the comet still are flying through space at that point and as they strike the earth's atmosphere they blaze.

Overcast Sky—Dims Astronomical Show —For Iowa Citizens

Though cloudy skies over Iowa City made it impossible for local observers to see any but the brightest of the meteors, Prof. C. C. Wylie of the astronomy department said last night that under more favorable conditions the display would have been better than the last one in 1933, when the meteor count reached 350 a minute.

From an observation point near City high school, Professor Wylie saw a total of 24 meteors during the period from 8 to 9:11 p. m. last night. That last night's meteor's were brighter than those that appeared 13 years ago was evidenced by the fact that one Iowa City count, even considering the cloudy skies, totalled 10 meteors in 16 minutes, Professor Wylie said.

Professor Crull reported that he observed 100 meteors from 7:30 to 8 p. m. last night, 180 from 8 to 8:30 and 100 from 8:30 to 8:45. Then clouds started to move in, and during his next observation, from 9:30 to 9:50 p. m., Professor Crull was able to see 80 meteors through rifts in the clouds.

Justice Rutledge Grants Bisignano Stay of Sentence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Rutledge of the supreme court yesterday granted a stay of a jail sentence imposed on Al (Babe) Bisignano, Des Moines tavern owner, on a contempt of court charge.

The stay was ordered effective pending an appeal to be filed with the supreme court by Bisignano's counsel before Dec. 23.

The Iowa supreme court earlier gave Bisignano a stay, provided he filed an appeal in the United States supreme court by Oct. 14.

Municipal Judge Harry B. Grund of Des Moines sentenced Bisignano to six months in jail and fined him $500 in connection with an altercation in the Des Moines Y.M.C.A. last January. The sentence was upheld by the Iowa supreme court.

Justice Rutledge required that Bisignano post bond of $2,000 to make the stay effective.

In Des Moines, Frank Comfort, one of Bisignano's attorneys, said the $2,000 bond had been sent to Washington and that the appeal would be filed as soon as it could be readied.

No Charcoal—Cold Winter

TOKYO (AP)—A critical shortage of charcoal, an item which most Americans associate only with occasional steak-broiling, will make this coming winter the coldest in Japan's modern history, Allied headquarters experts predicted yesterday.

ARMY'S SUB-ZERO TRAINING GROUND

WITHIN A MONTH the Army Air Forces will start rotating B-29 bomber groups and P-51 fighter squadrons to Alaskan bases under a plan to give all permanent units sub-zero training. As indicated on the map the 28th Bomb group, now in Grand Island, Neb., will go to Elmendorf Field, Anchorage. The 56th Fighter group will go from Selfridge, Mich., to Ladd Field, Fairbanks, Alaska. They will later be replaced by other groups. Armored divisions and infantry divisions will be increased. Also the A.A.F. ground forces plan airborne divisions of 17,000 men with the striking power and maneuverability of ground forces.

Italian Mob Riots in Rome

ROME (AP)—Rifle-firing carabinieri reinforced by troops battled an angry mob of between 20,000 and 30,000 for three and a half hours yesterday before the palace, seat of the government, and Premier Alcide de Gasperi accused "political forces" of attempting to exploit Italy's unemployment difficulties.

The Republican press declared Monarchists and followers of Mussolini provoked the bloodshed.

An official communique said one person was dead and 70 demonstrators and 29 policemen were injured, but unofficial reports placed the dead at from three to nine.

As the city settled down, de Gasperi called a news conference where he declared that "political forces are attempting to exploit difficulties which any Italian government would have to cope with today."

"Do demonstrators actually believe that by occupying the Viminale they can solve Italy's problems?" he asked.

Scores of rioters broke into the palace during the hours-long battle and got as far as de Gasperi's office, wrecking furniture and smashing windows as they went. The premier arrived from Palermo just as the last of the demonstrators were cleared from in front of the bullet-marked palace.

Before de Gasperi called newsmen to his office, the opposition press seized upon the rioting in an attempt to discredit the premier's four-party coalition party, shouting in bold banner headlines that workers were massing throughout the city and asking "Who gave the order to shoot?"

The rioting started after thousands of workers marched on the palace to protest against a reported public works department decision to lay them off at a project in Rome next Saturday.

Parley Okays Trieste Proposals

PARIS (AP)—The Paris peace conference, overriding opposition from the Soviet bloc, finally approved yesterday the most hotly disputed section of the proposed Italian peace treaty—French compromise proposals for the government of the free state of Trieste.

The decision on Trieste came after a series of ballots in which Russia and Slavic states were voted down, 15 to 6, in their last desperate attempt to have the peace conference write their ideas into the pact.

Returning after dinner the delegates dashed through all the military articles in the Italian treaty, approving unanimously 30 articles in less than half an hour. Ten of the articles were approved in a block with no comment.

This section of the treaty reduced the Italian navy to two battleships, four cruisers, four destroyers, 16 torpedo boats and 22 corvettes with a personnel of 22,500 men; the army to 185,000 men, and the air force to 200 combat and 150 transport planes and a personnel of 25,000. A carabinieri force of 65,000 men was allotted.

Without discussion the conference approved the granting of $100,000,000 in reparations to Russia to be paid by Italy over a period of seven years.

The conference also voted to let Albania satisfy her claims from Italian assets within Albania's borders and granted reparations of $100,000,000 each to Greece and Yugoslavia and $25,000,000 to Ethiopia.

Before they began article-by-article voting, the delegates heard Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov attack the French compromise as an "undemocratic" scheme to keep Trieste under British and American control. Molotov declared that disagreements between the east and the west were rapidly approaching the absurd.

The split between eastern and western states was apparent on virtually every rollcall vote. In general, Russia stuck to her "Big Four" commitments, voting with the west on questions that the foreign ministers council had agreed upon.

The Soviet delegate, for instance, voted with the west in adopting the so-called French compromise between Yugoslavia and Italy. Other Slav states voted against the compromise, which was approved, 14 to 5, with Belgium and Ethiopia abstaining.

But the foreign ministers council had reached no general agreement on the government of Trieste, and on this section of the treaty—article 16—Russia voted time after time with the Slavic states.

Two Russian insertions in the French proposal were later approved. The first, making the governor responsible for the application of the territory's statute, was approved unanimously. The second, providing that Trieste's legislative assembly be elected by proportional representation in universal and secret suffrage, was passed 16 to 1, with Canada, Greece, India and New Zealand abstaining. Britain cast the lone negative vote, objecting to proportional representation.

Norway and the six Slavic nations attempted in vain to defeat a United States proposal to guarantee certain fundamental liberties to the inhabitants of territories ceded to Yugoslavia and France by Italy.

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel Asks Death by Firing Squad

By THOMAS A. REEDY

NUERNBERG (AP)—With only about 144 hours to live—unless the totally unexpected happens—Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel has appealed the Allied control council as "old soldiers" to have him shot instead of hanged, it was disclosed yesterday.

(The council met in Berlin without making an announcement of any action concerning the appeals of the convicted Nazis. A communique announcing the council's decision was expected today. Informed sources said they expected the appeals would be rejected.)

A Junker to the last, Keitel said in his letter to the council dated Oct. 5 that "I will enjoy to give my life asked by the verdict, as expiation hoping that such sacrivice may serve to the blessing of the German people and to the credit of the German army.

"I have one petition alone, which is to give met death by shooting."

Keitel was the second of the convicted Nazis to ask to be shot instead of hanged or given a lesser penalty. Adm. Erich Raeder has asked to be shot instead of given a life sentence.

Keitel said he had kept his loyalty to the German people even though he might have mixed up such loyalty with loyalty to Hitler.

"All that I have done or omitted had its last root in my mental attitude as a soldier and in the conviction that faith is at all times unchangeable," the former German chief of staff's letter continued.

"If I compare faith to the German people, which is unchangeable, with unconditional faith to Hitler as the supreme commander of the army, so it has been."

The other 10 condemned men of Nuernberg have fallen into a resigned depression, as the execution day—Oct. 16—approaches, Maj. Frederick Teich, security official, said.

Hermann Goering, a paragon of bravado and courage in public, has finally cracked under the impending death sentence and now lies despondently on his cot staring into space, "a beaten and broken man," Teich added.

The wife of Wilhelm Frick paid an unscheduled visit to her condemned husband yesterday and the former protector of Bohemia and Moravia broke down at the end of a one-hour talk. Frick, however, composed himself and walked steadily from the room.

Teich, who makes a daily check on the condition of the high Nazi prisoners, has found a growing hate for Goering.

None of the prisoners "have a good word to say for Goering," Teich told reporters. Most of them, he said, feel that the Reichsmarschal's conduct contributed in a large way to the severity of penalties on others.

Teich said that all feel that Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl "deserves a soldier's death"—shooting instead of hanging.

Fashions and SUI— Coeds Favor Figure Flattering Styles

THE 1946 SILHOUETTE of SUI coeds compares favorably with these curving designs drawn according to the latest New York styles planned for the figure. With fashions turning from the straight "cigarette silhouette" of past years to styles that flatter the figure, SUI women are adopting the ideas of eastern designers with a speed unusual to the cautious Midwest. Lenore Kendig, A3 of Elmhurst, Ill., is shown wearing the combination which has become dear to the hearts of Iowa women—a high-necked blouse or embracing sweater and a soft, full skirt rounded over the hips, with a wide belt bound around the waist to accent the whole figure. Perhaps Iowa women have given swift approval of the new styles because they are not designed solely for the sophisticated. Instead of drastic designs, the lines merely flatter the curve of the figure. What more could SUI women ask for?—For that matter, what more could SUI men ask? Even the more radical interpretations of this simple theory were chosen by Iowa women for the first university dance. Gracing the figures of the fair sex were broad-belted dresses, skirts draped into side flounces and uneven hemlines, clinging black sequined sheaths, and even the "one-shoulder-bare" effect. Whether the men appreciate broad belts, uneven hemlines and sequins is another thing. However, they won't need to worry too much about SUI women going ultra—the coeds love their casual clothing too well for that. They're merely taking advantage of the new and prettier fashions for their figures, so long concealed in baggy sweaters and blue jeans.

New Trip Committee Estimates Rail, Game Tickets to Total $20

A committee made up of eight university officials and three students made plans yesterday afternoon for continuing organization, begun by the Student council, for a student trip to the Minnesota-Iowa football game Nov. 16.

The committee on band and student trips, required through action by the office of President Virgil M. Hancher, was active from 1937 to 1941 in sponsoring student train trips to Wisconsin, Chicago, Northwestern, Minnesota and Illinois.

Tentative arrangements for the Minnesota trip which had already been made by the Student council were presented to the committee by Herb Olson, A4 of Winfield, council president.

The committee estimated that the cost for each student for game and train tickets and train insurance would be approximately $20. This estimate was made after a report by Olson on the approximate prices of those items.

Special Train

Olson announced that accommodations could be obtained from the Rock Island railroad for a special train, provided a minimum of 125 students would make the trip.

It was decided to sell one advance receipt to students to take the trip, which would be good for one train ticket, one game ticket and the insurance.

Col. W. W. Jenna, head of the military department and chairman of the reactivated committee, named Prof. Charles B. Righter, director of university bands, and William L. Adamson, head of the Scottish Highlanders, to investigate the possibility of the band and Highlanders making the trip to Minnesota. They will check on possible accommodations of room and board for their groups and the possibility of sleeper cars for the trip up.

Check Past Arrangements

Fred W. Ambrose, university business manager, was appointed to check arrangements of past years for financing band and Highlander out-of-town trips.

Col. Jenna named Olson in charge of student publicity for the Minnesota trip. Olson will also check on possible train schedules and accommodations.

The committee will meet for further work on the Minnesota trip Monday, at 4 p. m. in the house chamber of Old Capitol.

Engineers to Elect New Officers Today In Special Election

Election of officers of Associated Students of Engineering will begin in the engineering library at 9 a. m. today, with members of the A.S.E. nominating committee and a representative from the Student council officiating.

Four officers will be chosen to serve during the coming school year. Elections are ordinarily held in the spring, but results of the regular election at the end of last semester were protested by members of the American Society of Civil Engineering, one of four groups that comprise A.S.E.

The student council acted on the dispute this summer and decreed that a special election would be held this fall to insure the satisfaction of all the engineering student groups.

The nominating committee in charge of the election is composed of the president and two delegates from each of the four engineering societies, representing the divisions of mechanical, electrical, civil and chemical engineering.

Balloting will continue until 5 p. m. Candidates for the presidential office are Tom Mortimore, E4 of Lamoni, and Bill Hubbard and Bill Bauer, both E4 of Iowa City. Bob MacDonald, E4 of Jefferson and Charles Wright and Bill Sangster, both E4 of Iowa City, were nominated for vice-president.

Secretarial nominees are Bob Bell, E4 of Council Bluffs; John Goetz, E4 of Riverside, and Ken Francison, E4 of Clinton. Candidates for treasurer are Duane Nollseh, E4 of Marion, Dick Henneman, E4 of Ames, and Ed Swanson, E4 of Sioux City.

Waygoose Banquet To Be Held Nov. 10

The traditional Waygoose banquet for journalism students will be held Nov. 10 for the first time since the war, it was decided last night at a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism fraternity for men.

Gene Goodwin, G of Nashua was appointed publisher of the Waygoose Gazette, to be distributed at the banquet. Loren Hickerson, assistant to the publisher of The Daily Iowan, was chosen head of the entertainment committee, and Dick Yoakam, G of Pittsburgh, Pa., head of speakers' committee.

THE CRACKLE OF SPLITTING atoms was heard by an estimated 700 persons in Macbride auditorium last night when "Test Able," first of a series of programs to stimulate adult interest in atomic energy and its control was presented by the Atomic Energy Control committee. Prof. James J. Jacobs of the physics department (left) and John S. Wahl, G of Iowa City, demonstrate the Geiger counter, an instrument that records particles emitted by exploding atoms in radioactive material. Wahl holds a small bottle of radioactive sand from the site of the first atomic bomb explosion at Alamo Gordo, N. Mex., close to the counter, which registers the passing of each particle as a noise through special amplifying equipment.

Book Lines Dampen Dogged Determination

One recent October night the usual scores of SUI students were lined up docilely at the book desk in Reserve library, but a solitary individual shrugged his shaggy shoulders at regimentation and refused to go through the process. Instead he strolled nonchalantly past the knees of concentrating collegians, stifled a bored yawn at education in general, and reclined in typical "doggy" fashion underneath the bulletin board.

Here our nameless canine intruder took up his voluntary task of chaperoning for the evening by growling at the last suggestion of laughter.

Mrs. Isaac Loos Ashes Interred Here

The ashes of the late Mrs. Isaac Loos of Cincinnati, Ohio, were interred at Oakland cemetery in Iowa City yesterday afternoon beside the grave of her husband—Prof. Isaac Loos—one of the most prominent intellectual builders of the University of Iowa.

Mrs. Loos died last Saturday. She was 83.

Mrs. Loos' son and two daughters were in Iowa City for the services: Karl Loos, Washington, D. C., attorney; Mrs. Nathaniel Whitney of Cincinnati, and Mrs. Clifton Cooper of Weston, Conn. A third daughter, Mrs. Victor J. Obenaue of Jacksonville, Fla., was unable to be present.

Mrs. Loos was born in Chambersburg, Pa., in 1863. She was nine months old when her native city was burned by the southern army in the Civil war.

Prof. and Mrs. Loos came to the University of Iowa in 1889. As professor of political economy and sociology during the years of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, he had, prior to his death in 1919, prepared the way for the founding of the university's college of com-

Thompson Denies Charter is Granted To Student Group

Dean C. Woody Thompson of the office of student affairs said yesterday that his office has not granted a charter for the establishment of a local chapter of the American Youth for Democracy.

A group of 15 university students announced Tuesday that they will hold an organization meeting for such a local chapter tonight in conference room 2, Iowa Union, and that establishment of the group had been "officially recognized" by Dean Thompson.

Dean Thompson added that such statements by the group will harm their chances of getting a charter.

According to Joe Capitani, A3 of Des Moines, temporary co-chairman for the 15 students, the local chapter is being organized to combat racial prejudice in the United States and to fight any "reactionary group" detrimental to the welfare of the nation.

Yoder Files Suit For $7,734 Damages

Alva D. Yoder filed suit yesterday in district court against H. B. Christy for $7,734.50 in accident damages.

Yoder claims he suffered a brain concussion, hip fracture, double fracture of the pelvis and back injuries Jan. 4, when the car he was riding in collided with a car driven by Christy. He charges Christy was at fault.

Damages asked by Yoder include hospital and doctor bills, loss of wages and $7,000 for injuries. Yoder also requested a jury trial. He is represented by Will J. Hayek.

merce, which came into being the year after his death.

The life of Professor Loos, written by his son, is one in the projected series of centennial memoirs to be published during the university's centennial next year.

Dean Cites 27 Engineers At Reception

Dean Francis M. Dawson of the college of engineering cited 27 students for superior scholarship at the first postwar faculty student engineering reception last night.

Students who attended the reception also met officers of Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, and the heads of four societies representing the various divisions of engineering.

Honors awarded engineering students for scholarship are based on records made last year with a full schedule of courses, Dean Dawson said. Those he named ranked in the highest five percent of their classes.

Those who received senior class honors, no longer in the university or in graduate work, were Ivan J. Nemecek of Cedar Rapids and Fred J. Gartzke and Philip G. Hubbard, both of Iowa City.

Honor students in their junior years now classified as seniors are Robert W. MacDonald of Jefferson, Margaret S. Petersen of Rock Island, Ill., Thomas N. Mortimore of Lamoni, Robert T. Bell of Council Bluffs and Herman L. Glotzer of Iowa City.

Eight received sophomore honors, including Randall Meyer of Mt. Union, Verne R. Boulton and Robert J. Doty, both of Iowa City, Ivan Beckwith of Albia, Raymond S. Gauler and Robert B. Whitley, both of Muscatine, Dale L. Knudsen of Cedar Falls and Max Callen of Centerville.

Freshmen honor students last year were Clarence J. Dempsky of Mantowoc, Wis., Robert G. Keller and William W. Voelkers, both of Iowa City, Joseph F. Albin of West Branch, Gene E. Gutzko of Earlville, Arthur Dennis of Knoxville, Lawrence C. Hurlley of Riverside, Kenneth W. Kaiser of Clemons, Lowell D. Kraatz of Oak Park, Ill., James A. Tainer of Cleveland, Ohio, and Frank J. Jekerle of Cedar Rapids.

Riverdale Names Nurse To Assist Committee Seeking Medical Service

The Riverdale village council last night appointed Mrs. Imgard Eden of Iowa City to work with members of a Hawkeye committee to investigate the possibility of establishing a medical dispensary service for the villages.

A registered nurse, Mrs. Eden will select one assistant from Riverdale to meet with herself and the Hawkeye delegates.

The council adopted recommendations by the rules committee for a five mile per hour speed limit within the camp, for designated parking areas for automobiles, for fencing around the areas to prevent children from straying near the river and lagoon, and for general sanitation regulations.

Council Chairman Francis Weaver, L3 of Mason City, said that the possibility of a mail box for each trailer was also being investigated.

I.C. School Board Approves Special Education Program

County-Wide Plan Designed to Assist Handicapped Children

A county-wide program of special education for physically handicapped and retarded children was approved by the Iowa City school board last night.

The Iowa City school board, as the largest board in Johnson county, assumed the initiative in sponsoring this county special education program.

The plan was outlined by Dr. W. A. Winterstein of the State Department of Public Instruction. "The State Department of Public Instruction will reimburse each district for the added cost of administering the program over the average pupil cost already borne by the Iowa City school district," Dr. Winterstein told the board last night.

"The state legislature has appropriated $60,000 for this special education program," Dr. Winterstein said. Four Iowa counties, including Ringgold, Washington, Greene and Cerro Gordo, are now operating education programs of this sort.

"Under this special program," Dr. Winterstein continued, "every child in Johnson county from first to ninth grades, will be given hearing, vision and speech analysis tests. The retarded and the physically impaired will be singled out and an individual program of study planned for each."

Dr. Winterstein told the board that one out of every five children in Iowa needs special education.

Superintendent of Schools Iver A. Opstad explained that the Iowa City school board will assume the responsibility of finding a supervisor to administer the county-wide program.

A committee composed of Opstad, Frank J. Snider, county superintendent of schools, and Dr. Winterstein has been appointed to recommend someone for the position.

Appoint Special Teachers

The county supervisor will in turn appoint special teachers as they are needed.

"Each school district in Johnson county will work directly with the county supervisor," Winterstein said.

The school board last night announced the appointment of Mrs. Margaret Grunsky to succeed Margaret Cannon as school nurse for the remainder of the school year. Mrs. Grunsky is the niece of Miss Cannon who is retiring from the nursing profession.

The board also agreed to begin immediate action to obtain an estimate of cost and set time for a public hearing for new field lights at the City high school football field.

Tax Receipts Revealed in Treasurer's Report

County Treasurer Lumir Jansa issued his monthly report for September yesterday.

Receipts were: tax collections, $459,728.91; delinquent taxes $384.97; miscellaneous collections, $138,559.53 which include $124,059.21 in the second installment of the homestead credit payments from the State.

Disbursements were: $52,029.42 and miscellaneous payments were $134,066.37.

He Guards—Keychain Of SUI

By WINIFRED SHIELDS
For 20 years Charles Bright, foreman of the campus police and keeper of the university keys, has been rushing to the aid of the locked-in and locked-out.

Bright, who is known as the man with the keys to the kingdom, has charge of the thousands of keys that unlock each door in every university building, housing unit and University hospital corridor.

"My father, Ellsworth Bright, had the job 40 years before it came to me," Bright said yesterday as he dusted off the top of his key cabinets. "It's something of a family tradition."

Bright keeps the keys in his office on the first floor of the Old Dental building. They are filed under an elaborate code system.

He can recognize a key by code number as fast as most of us recognize the face of an old friend. Quaintly enough, the keys are locked up.

"All kinds of otherwise intelligent people lock themselves in rooms," Bright said yesterday in reviewing some of his more peculiar experiences as keeper of the keys.

"Once a teacher of zoology, an elderly woman, was locked in a third floor room of MacBride hall for a considerable length of time. The knob had come off the door. She screamed out the window for help, but several hundred students on the ground below thought it was all a big joke. She was very glad to see me."

Bright admits he has occasionally been locked out of his own house.

In Good Condition After Motorcycle Mishap

Ivan Detweiler, 17, route 6, was reported in good condition last night after suffering a compound leg fracture Tuesday night when the motorcycle he was driving overturned on Muscatine avenue near Burlington street.

Detweiler is being treated at University hospital. His passenger, Dennis Schlotko, 524 E. Washington street, was not injured.

Wayne Fliss, 18, driver of the car involved, yesterday was fined $10 and costs in police court on a charge of driving without a license.

C of C Directors Seek New Taxicab Licensing Ordinance

The need for stricter licensing of Iowa City cab drivers was emphasized by members of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors at a meeting yesterday in the Hotel Jefferson.

In passing a resolution to draft a letter to the city council requesting a new city taxicab ordinance, the board maintained that there is not sufficient investigation of safety records of local cab drivers under the existing regulations.

The board also authorized a letter to John Beller, state area rent control director requesting him to investigate the service now in effect for Iowa City owners of dwelling places.

The group feels that owners are not getting clarification concerning the proper rent ceilings, especially on apartments or homes recently completed.

Two committees were appointed at the meeting. One composed of Lynn De Reu, chairman, Al Davis, Emory Kelly, Jack Liechty, George Thomas, Dale Welt, and Horace Stuck, will plan the annual Chamber of Commerce meeting to be held in January.

The other committee was formed to revise the chamber's by laws and articles of incorporation.

Those appointed were: L. R. Spencer, chairman, Les Yetter, Harry Albrecht, E. W. Gray, William Grimm, W. T. Hageboeck, and William Stocker.

Hancher Explains Reason for Putting Huts on Golf Course

The necessity of locating barracks for married students on Pinkbine field and the area adjacent to the stadium has been explained by President Virgil M. Hancher.

President Hancher said the university had three choices: first, refuse to provide any additional housing for students and deprive nearly 3,000 veterans of an education; second, locate the temporary housing around Old Capitol and the stone building on the east side of the campus or between the fine arts building and the theater, and third, locate the houses where they now are on Finkbine field.

Any plan to put the temporary barracks on outlying or purchased property, President Hancher explained, was discarded because the university does not have money either to rent or buy such sites. Utilities must be provided by the university at such distant sites at an increased cost, he said.

The federal government brings the houses to the campus and sets them up, but the ground must be furnished by the institution and utilities brought to the site, President Hancher said.

"This is an expense which must be carried in our dormitory fund and we must keep the cost as low as possible. We have no funds from the state or federal government for this use; it is an expense to which the university is put without any chance for amortization," the president concluded.

Leslie Moeller to Talk To Advertising Club

Prof. Leslie G. Moeller of the school of journalism will speak at a meeting of the Des Moines advertising club Tuesday in Des Moines. His topic will be "Planning Advertising for Rural Areas."

President of the Iowa Press association and formerly publisher of the Bremer county Independent and Waverly Democrat, Professor Moeller assumed his new position as an associate professor here this fall.

Ten university women were selected last night for membership in the Seals, women's honorary swimming organization.

Rudy York's Homer in First Frame Sinks Cardinals

Red Sox Take Series Lead; Ferriss Blanks Cards, 4-0

By GAYLE TALBOT

FENWAY PARK, BOSTON (AP)—Again yesterday large Rudy York laid his 210 sinewy pounds against a baseball and sent it soaring beyond the vision, and again the pride of Cartersville, Ga., broke the hearts of the hard-fighting St. Louis Cardinals.

Rudy's second mighty four-bagger of the World Series, delivered in the first inning with Johnny Pesky and Ted Williams on base, provided the winning runs as the Red Sox boomed to a 4 to 0 victory in their own Fenway Park and took what looked like a long 2 to 1 lead in the big play-off.

With big Dave "Boo" Ferriss, Boston right-hander, choking the Cards off with six widely spaced hits and not permitting a batter to reach third until the last inning, it was of little or no importance that the American leaguers showed across another unearned run in the eighth inning off a Cardinal relief flinger.

It was Rudy's clout off right-hander Murry Dickson that did the work. With two out and the count on him three balls and two strikes, the veteran first baseman caught a low pitch on the button and sent it almost on a line drive over the left field wall. If anything, it was hit with greater force than the one with which he broke up the 10-inning opener at St. Louis four days ago.

The ball cleared the barrier just above the word "shadow" in an advertisement, and it cast a pall over the Cards which never lifted, despite the bright sunshine that sparkled through the chilly afternoon.

In one respect, it was too bad that the Sox got to reliever Ted Wilks for their fourth run on a pair of hits and an error by second baseman Red Schoendienst.

Had the game ended 3 to 0, York would have gained the distinction of being the second batter on record to have won two world series battles outright with home runs. Casey Stengel, then with the Giants, did it against the Yankees in the 1923 play-off.

York's achievement was only slightly more glittering than that of his husky young teammate, Ferriss. In registering his 14th straight triumph at Fenway Park for the season against no defeats, the sophomore star from Shaw, Miss., simply overpowered the Red Birds all the way.

The only time he was even threatened with a score was in the ninth, when, with two down, Stan Musial stacked a line triple against the bullpen in right field. Equal to the occasion, Ferriss bore down and struck out the dangerous Enos Slaughter to close out the game and send a crowd of 34,500 home happy. It was only Ferriss' second strike-out of the game, and possibly indicated that he had worked with considerable in reserve.

The game otherwise was notable for the fact that Ted Williams finally laid down a perfect bunt against the "overbalanced" infield defense with which the Cards had plagued him in the first two games, and that second baseman Bobby Doerr of the Sox tied a World Series record by handling eight assists.

Williams, after being passed purposely in the first inning to get to York—of all people—came up in the third with two away and on the first pitch shoved one down the third base line so adeptly that neither pitcher Dickson or shortstop Marion attempted to reach it in time for a play.

But for that one luckless pitch to York, the 155-pound Dickson was entirely effective against the American league sluggers.

From the first inning through the seventh, only one other Boston player reached third off the frail-appearing righthander. That was Pinky Higgins in the second, on a walk, a sacrifice and a passed ball. After that Dickson moved Joe Cronin's boys down, giving up only Williams' bunt, a single by Doerr in the fourth, a double by Dom DiMaggio in the fifth, and a futile single by Johnny Pesky in the seventh.

Few World Series in modern history have produced for three straight games such consistently brilliant pitching as has been served up in the two contests at Sportsman's park and yesterday's spectacle here. But for York's socker, Dickson and Ferriss might have been duelling yet.

Today's fourth game might well see the great pitching streak extended. "Tex" Hughson, the towering righthander who opposed Howie Pollet in the opener at St. Louis, was due to come back at the Cards with his blazing fast ball, and manager Eddie Dyer nominated George Mungler, also a righty, recently out of the service, to try to square the series.

Yesterday's game saw Pesky, Boston's slugging shortstop, finally get going after two miserable days at St. Louis. It was Pesky who started his club's big rally in the first with a single over second base, setting the stage for the deliberate walk to Williams and bringing York to bat for the knockout.

YORK'S HOMER—Rudy York's 210-pound slugger, finally crossed up the "Dyer shift" by bunting safely down the unprotected third base line in yesterday's World Series clash. Members of the Cardinal infield watch Marty Marion, Red Bird shortstop, chase the ball. Arrow points to the ball. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Lineman of the Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Walter "Piggy" Barnes, 230-pound Louisiana State tackle, is this week's football "lineman of the week." Barnes' performance against Mississippi State Saturday night drew high praise in the first Associated Press weekly poll of the 1946 grid campaign to single out the usually "workhorses" of the line.

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—The Nebraska varsity was cut to 35 yesterday and given a full scale drill on defense with emphasis on setting up a tight zone against aerial play.

Against the Huskers—

Shoener Twins to Lead Hawks

The Shoener twins, left end Hal and right end Herb, will be Hawkeye game captains Saturday when Dr. Eddie Anderson sends his Iowa eleven against Nebraska's highly regarded Cornhuskers.

The Shoeners, two of the best defensive ends in the conference, helped to touch off the amazing second half performance of the Iowa line in the Michigan game last week. They will be the first twins ever to serve as Iowa co-captains.

Yesterday, the Hawk regulars, featuring 240-pound left tackle Jim Shoaf, another star of Iowa's second half line at Michigan, and the Shoeners, completely smashed a team of reserves running Nebraska plays.

The "hamburger" attack, built around the passing of Frank (Sam Vacanti) Carideo, erst-while Hawkeye backfield coach, couldn't get going against the fighting-mad regulars—bent on revenge for their pitiful first half showing at Ann Arbor.

The rest of the regular line-up, probable starters this Saturday, included tackle Jim Cozad, guards Russ Benda and Dave Day, center Dick Laster, and backs Lou King, Bob Sullivan, Bob Smith and Dick Hoerner.

Behind this outfit is an alternate line-up that could take over with no loss of power, including ends Bob Phillips and Tony Guzowski, tackles Bill Kay and Bruno Niedziela, guards Ray Carlson and Earl Banks or Bob Liddy, center Jim Lawrence and backs Jim McKinstry, Emlen (The Gremlin) Tunnell, Dell Bartells and Russ Fechter.

It is this reserve strength that promises coach Bernie Masterson's Huskers all kinds of trouble come Saturday afternoon.

Information from Lincoln indicated that the Huskers will be represented by 36 players. The squad will leave home tomorrow afternoon and travel by Pullman arriving in Iowa City early Saturday morning. Headquarters will be set up at the Hotel Jefferson where the players will breakfast at 8 a.m. They will leave for home Saturday at 5:50 p.m.

Helm Leads U-High Offense

Blue Hawk Quarterback Paces Rivermen in Eastern Iowa Loop Title Defense

Don "Gus" Helm, multiple-threat back from U-High, will again be in the quarterback slot when the undefeated Blue Hawks trek to Monticello for an Eastern Iowa conference game Friday afternoon at 3:30.

To date, one-man-gang Helm has racked up 28 points and been a wave of destruction to U-High foes as the Blue Hawks defeated Marion, Bloomfield, and West Liberty. The latter was the first conference tilt for U-High which is seeking to keep the conference crown they won last year.

Helm scored four touchdowns and four extra points three of the latter by drop kicks and one on a plunge. In the Bloomfield game, Helm scored one touchdown on a 38 yard pass interception. His other tallies were on runs of 4,55 and 1 yards.

Punting is another one of Helm's talents with quick kicks his specialty. In the Marion game, Helm's average was 39 yards, and one of his spirals carried 46 yards. That it was not accident was proved from Dubuque, Des Moines (East) and Fort Madison.

The class B group lists University high of Iowa City, Mechanicsville, Nevada and Washington. Another of last year's contenders, Marion, is expected to be on hand for the meet, although no entry has been received from that school.

Central City, Charlotte, Collin, Milford and Stanley make up the class C field.

The first race, class C, is scheduled to start at 11 o'clock, with the class B and A races following at ten minute intervals.

Anderson and Craig Harper that were good for 17 and 10 yards respectively.

But the statistics for the U-High contests speak for themselves. The Blue Hawks have piled up 606 yards from rushing to their opponents 365. Eight pass completions out of 1 attempts have netted U-High 100 yards, while opponents went 95 yards on five completions in 14 attempts.

Other Blue Hawk scorers are Craig Harper, left half, with four touchdowns and an extra point for 25 points and right half Bob Ojemann with 12 points. The right end of the Blue Hawks, Jack Hady, scored six points in the conference tilt when he intercepted a Comet lateral and scampered 30 yards to pay dirt.

The U-High line-up for Friday's battle with Monticello will be Helm, Harper, Ojemann and Ewalt in the backfield, while the line from left to right will read Anderson, Sayre, Carson, Jennings, Hansen, Lenthe and Hady. In their only conference game to date, Monticello was defeated by the Tipton powerhouse, 40-24.

Eastern Iowa Conference Football Standings

University High	1	0	1.000
West Branch	1	0	1.000
Monticello	0	1	0.000
West Liberty	0	1	0.000

Hawks Rank High

As the Iowans prepared for the non-conference game, official figures from the Big Nine Service bureau showed high ranking for the team in various departments for the first two games.

Among these are: first in pass defense, opponents making only 40 yards; first in percentage of own forward passes completed, .643; tied for second in first downs, 15; fourth in net yards rushing, 192.5; and fourth on defense, opponents making 194 yards.

On individual total offense, Em Tunnell is fifth with 136 yards for 68-yard average; Dick Hoerner, seventh with 114 for 57-yard average; and Bob Smith ninth with 107, for 53.5.

Dick Hoerner, Iowa fullback, ranks sixteenth in the nation in rushing gains for three games. He has 183 yards in 36 carries. No other Western conference back ranks ahead of him in the figures compiled by the National Collegiate Athletic bureau.

Stress Ball Handling

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Ball handling was stressed in the Indiana university football camp yesterday as Coach Bo McMillin attempted to remedy the Hoosiers' fumbling which has lost the ball to the opposition 15 times in three games.

Extension Division Offers Correspondence Course For Iowa Librarians

Iowans may now study library methods by correspondence in a new course announced yesterday by Helen Williams, director of extension division correspondence study.

Designed for librarians and assistant librarians in small libraries, the 16-lesson course consists of problems and techniques in the cataloguing and classification, and acquisition of books. It will be especially useful to those who have not had the opportunity of a complete course in library science, Miss Williams explained.

The idea of the course was originated by Prof. Ralph E. Ellsworth, director of university libraries, and the course itself was planned by Norman L. Kirkpatrick, associate libraries director.
