Hoerner, Sullivan Cut Loose for Long Runs To Spark Iowa's Win

By CHAD BROOKS
Daily Iowan Sports Editor
BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Look out above! Iowa's underrated Hawkeye football special roared into Big Nine prominence yesterday when they unleashed a brilliant running game to score twice in the first quarter, plenty good enough for a 13-0 win over the favored Hoosiers from Indiana.

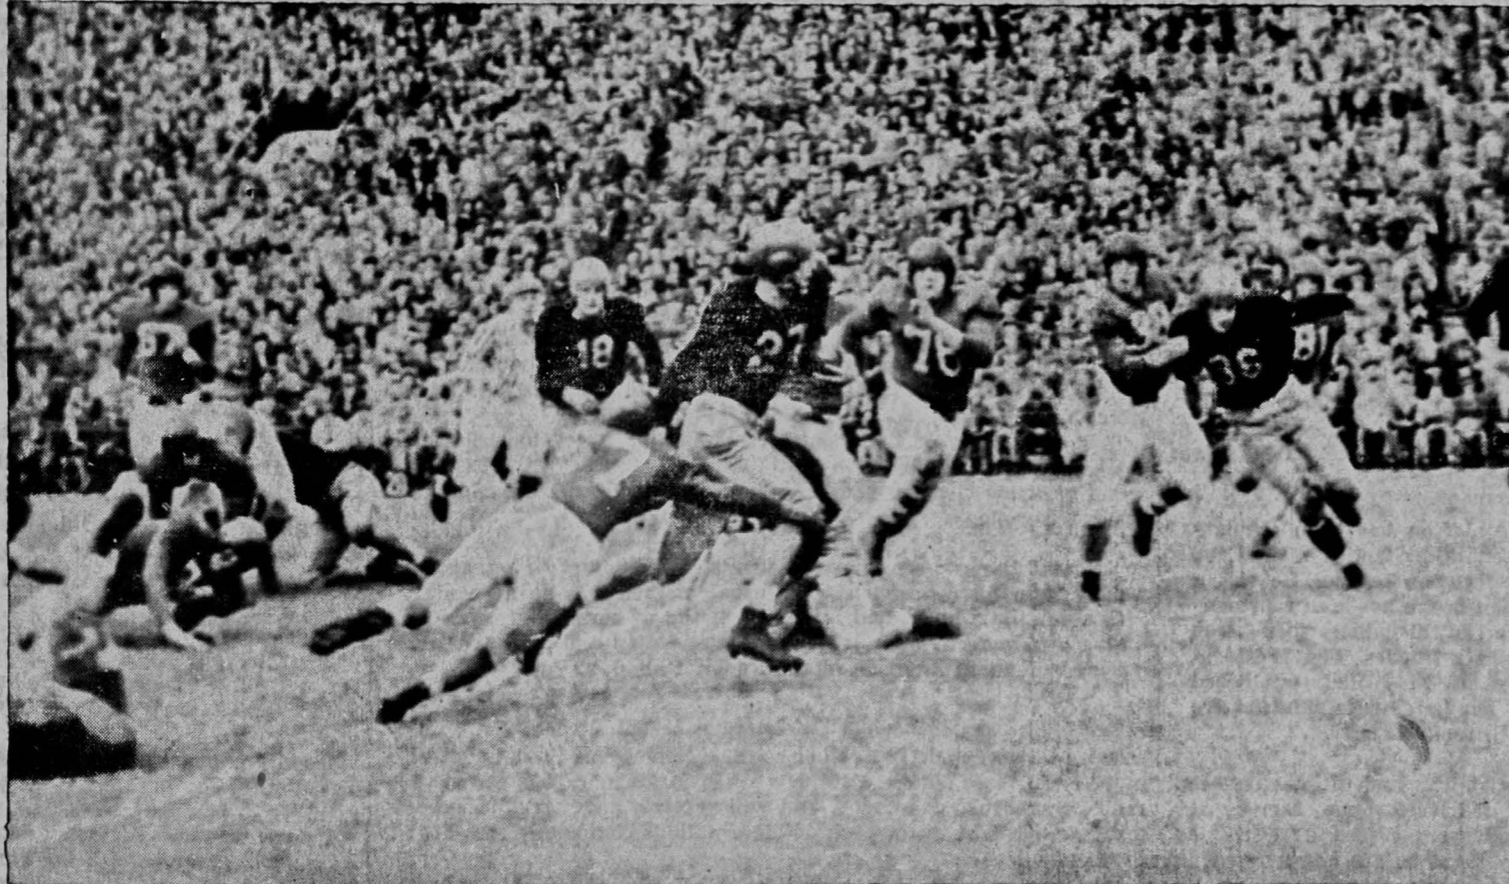

With their ace passer and climax runner, Emlen Tunnell, on the bench all the way, the Hawk attack slowed almost to a standstill after the opening period but a hard charging line and a pass defense that was perfect when it had to be completely smothered everything that even looked like an Indiana threat.

Bob Sullivan, the former Seahawk star, stepped into Tunnell's all important left half spot with quite a bit more than satisfactory results teaming with big Dick Hoerner to run the Hoosiers dizzy in the opening period.

Sullivan picked up a total of 74 yards in two first period attempts while Hoerner making another strong bid for all-American honors crashed his way for 70 yards on three opening quarter runs.

But more than Sullivan and Hoerner the victory honors must go to the terrific Iowa line—seven men who opened gaping holes in the Hoosier defense during the first half and who nearly ruined

Iowa's Dick Hoerner Drives 65 Yards . . .

DICK HOERNER (27), Iowa's hard-driving fullback, starts on his sensational 65-yard run which set up the Hawkeyes' first touchdown yesterday. Jim Lawrence (36), Iowa center, helps clear the way the Indiana running attack limiting the Hoosiers to a grand total of 64 yards by rushing. The Shoener twins, Bill Kay, Bruno Niedziela, Earl Banks, Roger Kane and Jim Lawrence made up this potent wall—and the Hoosiers tried in vain to find any kind of a weakness.

The famed Indiana passing attack, featuring the bullet tosses of Ben Raimondi, clicked 13 times in 23 attempts against the Hawks, but was less than useles when the Iowa goal was threatened.

Hoerner, the speedy giant who served as a pivot for the Hawks during the game, gave the signal for the brilliant Iowa first period attack when he crashed past the Hoosier left end on the third Iowa play of the game, and followed near perfect blocking for 55 yards to the Hoosier 8-yard line and then two plays later, he smashed over for the Iowa victory margin.

But That's Not All

But the Hawks weren't through. Five minutes later Sullivan got his chance with a third down on the Iowa 31 and capitalized with a 69 yard dash through the entire Hoosier team.

But then Sullivan was taken out with a minor injury. Quarterback Lou King—with his best passer, Tunnell, out of action—refused to take to the airplanes and the Hawk attack slowed to a walk.

Iowa turned loose their long range scoring punch the first time they got hold of the ball when Hoerner broke around right end behind perfect blocking for his 65-yard dash. Sullivan drove to the three on a power-laden cross buck and large Richard crashed over for the touchdown. Sullivan tried for the point, but it went wide.

Then, after Hal Shoener had recovered a fumble by Hoosier Bob Cowan and Indiana intercepted a Sullivan pass, Sullivan grabbed one of Raimondi's tosses on the Iowa ten and ran it out to the 24. Smith picked up five on a quick opening, Hoerner plunged for two and Sullivan headed around right end, cut back, danced his way through a host of would-be tacklers and went all the way as Hal Shoener cut down the Hoosier safety man with a crunching block. This time Sullivan's kick was perfect and the Hawks led 13-0 as the first period ended.

Still in Hoosierland

Again in the second quarter ended when Smith was smothered at the line of scrimmage.

The second half was almost entirely a battle of two great lines, as the Hoosier forwards seemed to find new strength and scoring threats were decidedly limited.

Vets Seize NY Senate Chamber

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Seventy-five World War II veterans who staged a sitdown seizure of the New York state senate chamber at 2 p.m. yesterday remained adamantly in the room late last night and vowed anew not to leave until Gov. Thomas E. Dewey promised to call a special session of the legislature to deal with the housing shortage.

Meanwhile, administration officials conferred in the executive offices of the capitol, one floor below the senate chamber. Attempts to persuade the veterans to leave proved futile.

A committee of six met with Charles D. Breitel, the governor's counsel. William Rubens, New York City, a member of the delegation, reported to the assembled veterans that Breitel explained it was impossible for Dewey to see them or give them any promise of a special legislative session.

The veterans received this report with renewed expressions of determination to remain in the senate until they had obtained the desired action.

A spokesman said a majority of the veterans were members of the Greater New York CIO council. He said the veterans were members of several servicemen's organizations, including the American Legion and the American Veterans' Committee.

After organizing into a "veterans' senate" the group adopted a program that asked for an immediate cash appropriation of $400,000,000 from the state surplus and special legislative action to permit a referendum vote in the Nov. 5 election on a proposal to float a $400,000,000 bond issue for loans to cities for low cost housing construction.

ONE OF ABOUT 75 World War II veterans who took over the New York state senate chamber yesterday has his say as the group resolved to remain in the upper house until Governor Dewey meets their demands to call a special session of the legislature to deal with the housing shortage. The governor was at the executive mansion four blocks away nursing a sore throat. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Higher Wages Needed, Says CIO's Murray

CLEVELAND (AP)—Asserting "it is obvious to all that higher wages to meet higher costs are absolutely essential," CIO President Philip Murray said late yesterday "the course of action by the CIO on the wage question will be passed upon by the national body at its convention Nov. 18."

In a press conference which ended a session of more than three hours with the executive board of the United Auto Workers, called to form a new wage policy for the UAW, Murray said:

"Whatever determination is made by the auto workers board necessarily will be their own and will not reflect any national CIO policy whatsoever."

Asked whether there would be any coordination of wage demands by various CIO unions, he replied: "That is a reasonable assumption."

The UAW board originally was scheduled to conclude a two-day wage policy meeting yesterday, with Murray sitting in on the final session this afternoon, but before leaving for Pittsburgh last night Murray said "the board thought it was a sufficiently serious problem to extend its discussion through tomorrow."

Walter Reuther, UAW president, said the delay in completing the wage program was "caused entirely by the mechanical problem of covering the ground," and in answer to a question said it was "positively correct" there had been no discord in the discussions.

Berliners to Vote Today

BERLIN (AP)—Berlin voters will choose today between the eastern and western concepts of democracy in an election of a municipal government which one high American military government official said will have "great influence" on the ultimate political destiny of Europe.

Sen. Vandenberg Backs Byrnes In Firm Policy Toward Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) took a strong stand beside Secretary of State Byrnes last night for a "patient but firm" policy toward Russia amid indications President Truman might speak up along the same lines next week.

As Vandenberg—a top U.S. adviser at the Paris peace conference—followed up Byrnes' Friday night report on that meeting with a radio appeal for support of "America's bipartisan foreign policy," there were these developments at the White House:

1. It was announced that President Truman's address opening the United Nations general assembly in New York Wednesday will be a 25-minute speech and that he will fly there to deliver it.

2. It was disclosed that Mr. Truman had approved Byrnes' Friday speech in advance; had listened to it on the radio, and had telephoned the secretary of state immediately afterwards to express warm commendation.

3. The president, Byrnes, Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson and Senator Austin (R-Vt.), American delegate-designate to United Nations, conferred for more than two hours on "United Nations matters."

4. Asked the flat question whether war with Russia some day is inevitable, Vandenberg replied that "it must not be allowed to become inevitable." He decried "American groups which over-zealously seek to make their own peace ideas impressive by using war as the frightening alternative."

"I wish we could quit talking about 'war,'" he said.

Like the secretary, Vandenberg reported that some progress was made at Paris, and that the policy toward Russia is one of firmness, not toughness.

"Is it a fair description," George

Cushing of Radio Station WJR Detroit who interviewed Vandenberg asked, "to call this new bipartisan American foreign policy a 'get tough with Russia' policy?" Those were the words used by Henry A. Wallace in the critical New York speech which led to his ouster from the cabinet.

"It is not accurate," Vandenberg replied. "Friendly firmness" is the correct phrase.

Another endorsement of Byrnes' speech and policy came from Senator Connally (D-Tex.) aboard the British Liner Queen Elizabeth plowing the Atlantic toward New York.

Price Lids To Remain On Shoes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Estimating the present shoe shortage at 550,000,000 pairs, officials emphasized yesterday that price ceilings will be held on leather and footwear as long as possible despite the decontrol of livestock.

"If we pulled off controls now, leather and shoe prices would skyrocket," an OPA authority told a reporter.

He explained that the controls on hides can be retained even though the cattle from which they come are decontrolled under President Truman's order.

OPA frequently has retained controls over byproducts of commodities when the original product was freed. Ceilings were retained on flour and bread after wheat and other bread grains were decontrolled. Ceilings also remain on linseed oil although flaxseed, from which it is crushed, is free. The same is true of plastic and other non-edible byproducts of soybeans.

The tests on the byproducts are relationship of supply to demand and importance of price to the cost of living of business.

"Proudest made from leather—particularly shoes—are too important to the family budget to be released from price control at this time," explained Paul Porter, OPA chief, following the White House decision to abandon ceilings on livestock and meats.

Supplies of hides are expected to increase with the expanded flow of livestock to markets since price controls ended. But OPA said it will take a long time to equal demand because considerable time is required to tan and manufacture the hides into shoes and other leather goods.

Content Unannounced

The White House said nothing about the contents of Mr. Truman's United Nations speech. It announced only that the president will fly to New York Wednesday, deliver the address about 3:30 p.m. (CST), and return to Washington by train after attending an assembly reception.

High government officials observed, however, that a speech of 25 minutes' duration certainly would contain more than words of welcome.

Vandenberg said this country's "bipartisan" policy is one of peace, not war, and predicted it will succeed "unless it is scuttled here at home."

Blue, Miles Argue Merits of GOP Administration

By DWIGHT McCORMACK
DES MOINES (AP)—Although many issues have been raised by Gov. Robert D. Blue and Frank Miles in their contest for governor in the Nov. 5 general election, they have argued only one—the accomplishments of the governor's Republican administration.
 Blue, seeking a second term, has pointed with pride to his record and pledged a continuation of "honest, dependable, aggressive" government. Miles has asserted "the Republicans are before the voters with a do-nothing record, a promise-nothing platform and a say-nothing campaign."
 The governor this week injected the CIO Political Action committee into the campaign as a fresh issue, after the PAC had recommended Miles and Democratic nominees for congress to the voters. There was no comment from the Democrats.
 In the main, Blue, who started his campaign only last week, has leveled his guns at the Truman administration. Miles has said little about this.

 In turn, Miles, who has been campaigning steadily for months, has confined himself to state matters. Blue, for the most part, has not answered him. Miles has emphasized that a reading of the two parties' platforms "shows" Democratic eagerness to do for Iowa and reactionary Republican reluctance to move forward.
 He has been especially critical of the housing situation.
 "Despite anything which may be done now, inadequate housing will cause many veterans and some wives and babies to suffer from cold and other discomforts this winter," Miles asserted.
 He also advocated up to 25 percent state aid for schools, payment of a soldier bonus, punishment of parents of juvenile delinquents, abolition of the sales tax on food, clothing and medicine, greater aid to state institutions, all-weather roads to every farm in Iowa, and lowering the voting age from 21 to 18, among other things.

 "We propose to do something worthwhile on all of these things," Miles said.
 Referring to the PAC recommendations, Blue declared: "On behalf of the Republican party of the state of Iowa, I repudiate any support of the PAC or any Communist-influenced organization for any Republican in the state of Iowa."
 He said further:

"In a large degree the chaos in America today results from adoption by the (national) administration of policies sponsored and supported by the PAC."
 Blue asserted the PAC had come into Iowa and for weeks has been spending great sums of money for radio time and use of other media in order to defeat Republican candidates for office.
 Miles contended the Republican platform was adopted "sight-unseen" at the close of that party's state convention and that the GOP, which also favored a soldier bonus, "copied almost verbatim from our plan on the subject."

U.S. Must Be Willing To Share, Says Clayton

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States must be willing to share its resources with other nations to promote world reconstruction and peace, Undersecretary of State William L. Clayton said last night.
 "We must share our food, our clothing, our coal, our construction and transportation equipment—in fact, almost everything in the dictionary," Clayton declared in an interview for an NBC broadcast.

"The world must still look to us for help to get back on its feet. Prosperity, like peace, is indivisible."

Kentucky Wins
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky broke up a battle of powerful defenses before 21,000 fans here yesterday to defeat Vanderbilt's hitherto unscored upon Commodores, 10-7. The margin of victory came on Phil Cutchin's wobbly but good field goal from the Vandy 15 in the third period.

Iowa Housing Shortage Calls For Continued Rent Controls

OPA Official Calls Situation in Four Iowa Cities Worse Now Than During Wartime

DES MOINES (AP)—The housing situation is worse now than at any time since the war days in such cities as Des Moines, Sioux City, Cedar Rapids and Dubuque, John Beller, Iowa director of OPA rent control officer, said yesterday.
 "And it won't get any better until a great many more housing units are built," he went on. "So it looks like rent control will stay for quite a while."
 Whether there will be any extension of rent control in Iowa, which now covers 25 counties, depends on whether landlords in the other 74 counties "hold the line," Beller said.
 "If they do," he added, "there is no danger of extension. If they don't they take a chance of rent control."

Any extension would be on a voluntary basis. That is, if cities in any given county asked rent control, the Washington OPA office would have a survey made, and if that office decided control were needed it would be instituted.

Control was established in five counties in the last month. They were Story, Marshall, Floyd, Muscatine and Webster. Several others were added shortly before that, but the majority of counties under control have had it for several years.

Beller said every principal, good sized city has rent control, and that it appeared most counties not now under control do not need it. Referring to Des Moines, Sioux City, Cedar Rapids and Dubuque, he said the situation has worsened since the war because:

"So many people are getting married now, and want to establish homes. (State vital statistics records indicate marriages this year will set a new record.) Also the returning veteran isn't happy with a situation which usually requires him to live with parents or other relatives."

"In Des Moines, we could use another 500 housing units, and quickly, for just veterans alone."

"The married veteran who is living with his parents or other relatives is made additionally unhappy when his baby arrives. And that has happened over and over among veterans. When the baby cries, then everybody is unhappy and the situation is even worse than ever.

"So it appears that the situation will not be solved until a great many more housing units are constructed, and that, it looks like now, will be a long time."

Beller asserted that under the guise of doing veterans a favor, many landlords were exacting exorbitant rents for housing them and their families.

The OPA already has investigated hundreds of new rentals, and has ordered landlords in many cases to reduce rents to more reasonable levels, Beller said.

Some price gouging, Beller stated, results in cases of well-intentioned home-owners who are taking renters for the first time and who just don't know what is a proper rent for a room or an apartment.

Most new renters, however, know what rents should be charged under OPA regulations, Beller said.

New landlords, Beller said, often are charging $8 and $10 weekly for sleeping rooms which should rent for only $3 or $4.

Typical of trials of veterans outside of Des Moines, Beller said, were students at Ames, three of whom were found recently sharing a room for $18 per week each.

A total of 150 complaints were received from Ames on one day recently, Beller said. Among the cases was that of a veteran, his wife and a child living in a basement room for which they were charged $45 monthly.

Around the State

DES MOINES (AP)—Methodist church sources reported today that debts of the sect total about $212,000 in Iowa now, on a total value of $19,485,000. Nearly all of the 1,000 Methodist churches in this state are debt free.
 In 1940 the churches had debts exceeding $700,000.

LOW MOOR (AP)—Larue Poole, 55, Clinton railroad shop worker, was found dead yesterday with knife wounds in the right side of his neck and on the left elbow, Coroner Don Hill said.
 The coroner said an inquest would be held Wednesday.

CEDAR RAPIDS (AP)—The unidentified body buried last Aug. 10 in the family plot of J. T. Burns will be exhumed under an order signed yesterday by District Court Judge G. K. Thompson.

The body was buried in the Burns plot after it had been found in a Chicago rooming house Aug. 8 and identified as that of Mrs. Tom Evans of Chicago, Burns' daughter.
 The identification was proved to be false when Mrs. Evans returned to Cedar Rapids last Sunday from Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Ia. (AP)—Lyle Robertson, 49, Rock Island railroad telegrapher here, died last night of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile Thursday night.
 Robertson was dragged 50 feet after being struck by a car as he stood by his parked car on a narrow street here.

CRESTON (AP)—Top honors in the class A-AA baton twirling event of the Iowa Music association contest here yesterday were won by Margaret Morgan of Thomas Jefferson high school, Council Bluffs.

The high school's band also won a first in class AA of the marching band event.

Doyle Parks, Glenwood, and Carol Dryden, Sidney, earned number one ratings in class B-C-D of the baton event, and twirlers from Glenwood, Manning, Mt. Ayr and Villisca won number two ratings.

WARNING—BOOBY TRAP AHEAD!

HAWKEYE TACKLERS can hardly wait to get their hands on Dick Dewar (40), Indiana back, as he crosses the 20-yard line after a short gain in the first quarter of yesterday's game.

Whatta' First Quarter!

Hawks Happy With Win

BLOOMINGTON—For the first time this season Iowa's Hawkeyes showed excitement in the dressing room. The gallant eleven from the Cornbelt trooped into the dressing room after upsetting Indiana and immediately the happy shouts of congratulations went the rounds.

Most observers believed that Dr. Eddie would have used Tunnell—who suffered a leg injury against Nebraska last week—if he had needed him.

The Shoener twins' father traveled from Irvington, N.J., to see the game and sat on the bench with the team. Another bench warmer for the day was Dick Hoerner's dad.

Illinois--27, Wisconsin--Almost

Badgers Lead Until Rykovich Sparks Rally

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Julie Rykovich, set the University of Illinois afire with his passing and running for a pair of fourth quarter touchdowns yesterday in a rally which overpowered Wisconsin 27-21 before a homecoming crowd of 62,597.

In capturing their first homecoming victory since 1942, the Illini swept 54 and 57 yards for their two final scores, the last touchdown being made two minutes before the final gun.

Rykovich scampered 19 yards to the Wisconsin one-yard stripe to set up the Illini's first touchdown in the last quarter. Perry Moss squirmed over on third down from the one yard line.

Don Maechtle, who had placed two extra points, missed this time and Wisconsin remained ahead 21-20. With the clock running out, Rykovich took the rare role as passer, connecting for 21 yards to End Ike Owens. Then Moss flipped 14 yards to sub Joe Buscemi.

Tigers Humble Iowa Cyclones To Win, 33-13

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Missouri powered its way to a 30-13 victory over Iowa State yesterday, but not before the outclassed Cyclones had almost convinced a crowd of some 15,000 that the dopesters who rated them the underdogs were wrong.

The heavier Tigers exploded an attack that brought them three touchdowns and a 20-0 lead in the first period of the home opener at Memorial stadium.

Then just when it appeared the Cyclones didn't have a chance, they came storming back with a touchdown in each of the next two periods.

A 25-yard pass from Bob Teel to Kenneth Bounds set up Missouri's fourth touchdown. Lee Bowman, taking the ball on a hand off from Austin scrambled 13 yards for the score.

Represent 16 Countries

Congress delegates representing 16 countries in North and South America elected Professor McCloy president of the institute which will implement the program outlined by the congress through planning, organization and development of physical education and recreation in American countries.

PROF. CHARLES H. MCCLOY

Other activities of the institute will include the publication of a Pan-American physical education journal in the Spanish and Portuguese languages and planning for the next biennial meeting of the congress, scheduled for 1948.

Besides the president and a permanent secretary—now a resident of Peru—the institute is organized around a six-man board of directors, two each from North, South and Central America.

There is also a representative assembly composed of two delegates from each country, one of whom is appointed by the board of directors.

Major planning will be the responsibility of the board of directors, with members of the assembly acting in an advisory capacity. Dissemination of plans to the various countries will also be handled through the members of the assembly.

Professor McCloy and Dr. Norma D. Young, instructor in physical education, received special invitations to the Mexico City meeting from the organizing committee of the congress.

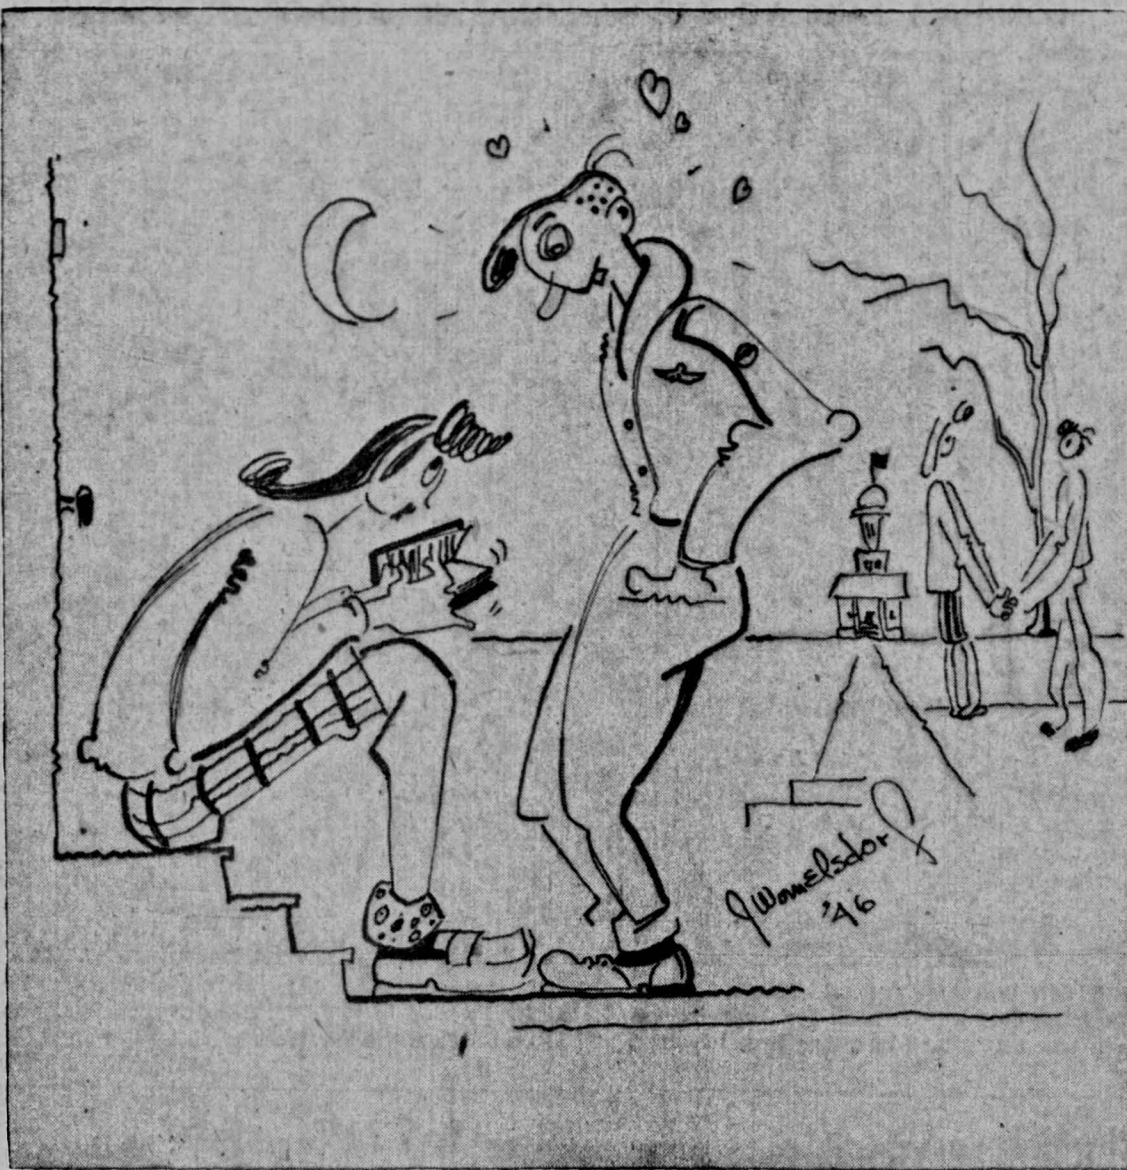

Delivers Two Addresses

Both Professor McCloy and Dr. Young worked with a commission on biology, medicine and science as applied to physical education, reviewing reports and suggestions, and making appropriate recommendations to the congress.

By special request, Professor McCloy delivered two addresses before general sessions of the congress, one a discussion of trends of physical education in the United States, and the other an illustrated lecture on current developments in the field of tests and measurements.

Dr. Young, who has had experience in teaching physical education subjects in Spanish to Latin American students, interpreted the latter address for the benefit of Spanish speaking delegates.

Professor McCloy served as president of the American Association for Health, physical education and Recreation in 1937-38.

Two Students Attend

Two Latin American students at the university also attended the congress as representatives of their native countries. Marta Briceno, graduate student in physical education, and Josephina Chavia, an undergraduate, represented the Teachers' Associations of Chile and Columbia.

Both students are "informants" in the Romance languages department, serving as drill-masters for students of Spanish and Portuguese.

Plans for the observance of Navy Day in Iowa City Oct. 27 are being made by the local council of the Navy league of the United States, according to Myron Walker, league secretary.

Navy Day is celebrated each year on the birthday of Theodore Roosevelt. It is observed as a special tribute to members of the naval service.

Local schools have been asked to devote an assembly period to Navy Day talks, and Iowa City churches have been contacted with the suggestion that they include a memorial sermon honoring navy dead in their Sunday services.

Miss Berry will speak at home economics classes during the day.

Curfew in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP)—The British slapped a house curfew on the Jewish quarter of Jerusalem yesterday, and one Jewish underground group served notice that the reported British refusal to increase the immigration quota for Palestine would engender only greater opposition from resistance forces.

Former Guerrilla Lieutenant—

Tells of Filipino Resistance Movement

—After Japanese Occupation

On the Iowa campus this fall a man who was actively involved in Philippine guerrilla movement, and who wrote about the movement a "dangerous" novel, which was smuggled in a submarine through the Japanese blockade to the United States. His name is Adelberto Tiempo.

Tiempo will speak on "Life in the Philippines under Japanese Occupation" at 7 o'clock this evening at the Congregational church.

A research assistant in the writers' workshop, the 33-year old Filipino came here this fall to study under Prof. Paul Engle of the English department.

Eight Years on Negros

Though he is a native of the now-famous island of Leyte, Tiempo has spent the last eight years on Negros, the fifth largest island of the Philippines, where he worked in the resistance movement.

It was on Negros, the center of MacArthur's counter-intelligence, that Maj. Jesus Villamor, the first American intelligence officer to be sent to the Philippines after Corregidor, found out for certain that radio communications to American forces from Philippine guerrillas were authentic.

A lieutenant in the Philippine guerrillas, Tiempo's job was to travel among guerrilla bands entrenched in the hills of Negros, collecting data for a history of the movement. The result of his research—"Resistance in the Philippines," is still in manuscript form.

His novel "Watch in the Night," which came to America in a submarine, is based on a true story about the Japanese invasion of the Philippines, Tiempo said. When the Japanese laid siege to the Philippines, they sent four envoys, all prominent Filipinos, to the native defenders to try to persuade them that further resistance was useless.

Death of Osmena's Son

Heading the envoy group was Jose Osmena, son of the former president of the Philippines. Though the younger Osmena had been highly respected in his country, Tiempo explained the guerillas regarded his activities as a Japanese envoy as traitorous.

For that reason he was killed by a member of the resistance movement, an American educated clergyman, Justo Lusoc. Tiempo refuses to describe Osmena's killing as "murder" or even "assassination." Today Lusoc is regarded as a hero by the Philippine people, Tiempo said.

"Watch in the Night" still is in manuscript form, and Tiempo said that he might submit it as a creative thesis for an M.A. degree from the university.

Before the Japanese invasion, Tiempo taught English for four years at Silliman university, an American college in the city of Dumaguete on Negros.

Thirty Short Stories

Though the Leyte dialect is his native tongue, Tiempo began publishing short stories in English when he was a freshman at Silliman, in 1934. Some 30 short stories have followed since then, most of them appearing in The Philippine Magazine, that nation's leading literary magazine, and in the Philippine Free Press, which Tiempo described as corresponding to the Saturday Evening Post. Tiempo first learned of the Iowa writers' workshop through American Prefaces, literary magazine published by the workshop several years before the war.

Received Assistantship

A Manila writer, N.V.M. Gonzales, recommended Iowa workshop to Tiempo. The Presbyterian foreign missions board also recommended the workshop, and it was through the board that Tiempo received his research assistantship here.

Tiempo is now working for his M.A. degree in English, and if his wife can come to the United States next year, he hopes to study for a Ph. D. at Iowa. Mrs. Tiempo is now teaching English at Silliman university.

Tiempo said he looks toward a combined career of teaching and writing. He expects to return to Silliman after study here, and in the writing field he plans to spend most of his time writing short stories.

Tiempo thinks Iowa City "the cleanest and most beautiful city I have ever seen." He also likes Americans, especially Iowans. Nobody here seems to treat him as a foreigner or an oddity, he said. "They mind their own business," is the way Tiempo put it.

INTERVIEWING FRANKIE MASTERS

BANDLEADER FRANKIE MASTERS, here for the Harvest Ball, answers the questions of Daily Iowan reporter, Dona Jean Lawshe, A2 of Shenandoah, after Tea Time melodies broadcast at WSUI Saturday. Looking on are Bill Munsell, A2 of Boone, and Joann Young, A3 of Des Moines.

A Loyal Alumnus— Frankie is Chagrined

By DONNA JEAN LAWSHE

The usual smiling face of Frankie Masters, loyal alumnus of the University of Indiana, wore a defeated expression as the radio commentators broadcast the final score of the Iowa-Indiana football game yesterday afternoon.

Frankie was unable to be on the Indiana sidelines, as he was playing for the Harvest Ball held in Iowa Union last night. In seeking revenge, Frankie threatened to tune up the orchestra to the strains of "My Indiana" but decided that "the pumpkin decorations in the union lounge might provide too handy a source of ammunition for loyal Iowa supporters."

While on the Indiana campus, Frankie Masters became a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity and with his guitar was a popular entertainer at fraternity parties. Now that Frankie has had his own orchestra for almost 15 years, he still prefers playing for college couple recently celebrated an anniversary of 8 months. Unlike most newlyweds the Masters have no housing problem, as most of their time is spent in traveling in the band's 39 passenger trailers bus. Three other orchestra wives are also accompanying the group on their midwest tour.

Frankie Masters looks on his musical aggregation with a sort of paternal pride. Besides his fourteen musicians and vocalist Phyllis Miles, the "family circle" also includes the girl quartet, Marty, Kay, Pat and Jo; male vocalist Phil Grey, and arranger, Stewart Charles.

Yesterday afternoon he appeared on WSUT's Tea Time melodies for an interview by Pat Grothaus, A4 of Iowa City and Wallie Pearson, A4 of Anamosa.

When the orchestra left Iowa City after a successful Harvest Ball last night, they drove to an engagement in Appleton, Wisconsin, but will be back in Iowa City territory, when they play at the Cedar Rapids Danceland Thursday night.

Wife is Star Vocalist

With Frankie is his wife and star vocalist, Phyllis Miles. The Local Distribution Begins Tomorrow For I.C. Directory

Subscribers to the Iowa City directory will begin to receive their new 1946 editions tomorrow, it was announced by R.L. Polk and Co., Omaha, Neb., publishers of the directory.

The new edition is a volume of 540 pages listing the names of 15,500 Iowa City and Johnson county residents.

The classified section shows that there are 290 distinct varieties of enterprise in Iowa City which are catalogued from "abstracts of title" to "well drillers."

Special features of the new guidebook include a listing of the names of Iowa City men and women who were in the service when the directory was compiled; designation of tenant homes, marital status and heads of households.

As before, the minimum listing age is 18. Although the number of books printed was in no way affected by paper shortages, the volumes will be thinner because of the use of a lighter grade of paper.

In addition to local distribution, the Iowa City directory will go to libraries maintained by the directory publishers association at chambers of commerce in other cities. Such a directory library is maintained at the Iowa City chamber of commerce.

The new directory starts out with the name of Martin L. Aaron and winds up with Mrs. Annette D. Zykofsky. Surname oddities that appear in the book include Roll, Swim, Jump and Kick; and Whitebook, Greaser, Panther, Stork, Jelly, Cabaret and Turnipseed.

Approximately one thousand Protestants are expected to hear the Iowa City chaplain, now assigned to the University of Iowa for research and graduate study, talk on "Methods and Techniques of Religious Ministry in the Armed Services."

Mrs. Jenks is making the trip with her husband. They will fly to Washington. Service chaplains of every faith will attend the convention, the first since before the war.

A Date With Big Ben Might Help This Co-ed

Julia Burch, 41 of Missouri Valley, is firmly convinced that a course in "How to Tell Time" should be included in the university's Liberal Arts curriculum.

Having undergone many hours of instructions from her friends, Julia has never been able to understand the mystery of reading a timepiece. She wears a beautiful watch on her left arm, but says it is merely an adornment, since she doesn't know how to use it.

During the day Julia sits near a radio, hoping there will be a station break . . . and the announcer will give the time of day. In spite of this handicap, Julia says she always gets to her classes on time.

Iowa State Nutritionist To Address County 4-H Club Girls Friday

Statutes dealing with commerce and banking, divorce, marriage, public health, state court administration and criminal statistics will be among those considered by the conference.

At Atlantic City Dean Ladd will represent the Iowa college of law at general meetings of the bar association, and will work on the specific problems of state bar examinations and postwar legal education programs.

AmVets Announce Reorganization Plan For Local Post 32

Reorganization of post 32, Americans Veterans of World War II, open only to university veterans, was announced yesterday by Louis Neville, temporary post commander.

Post 32 was organized last spring, but a university charter could not be obtained from the office of student affairs.

Dean C. Woody Thompson of the office of student affairs said the chapter was not authorized because there was already an active veterans' group on the campus and that it is against university policy to receive two groups with overlapping interest.

In June, tentative plans were made for the post to merge with Johnson county post 22, but the merger did not occur.

University Amvets have been using the clubrooms of post 22. They are not allowed to use them before 4 p.m. because of possible interference with class schedules, according to Robert Brown, commander of post 22.

The reorganization is taking place because the university men prefer to have their own clubrooms and regulations, Neville said.

Iowa Doctors Meet With Clinical Group

Iowa doctors were guests of the pathology department at a semi-annual meeting of the Iowa Society of Clinical Pathologists at University medical laboratories yesterday.

Headed by Dr. Frederick Lamb of Davenport, the society convened yesterday morning for the fall meeting of the group, held every year in Iowa City.

A round-table discussion featured the afternoon session and slides and papers on unusual cases in pathology, the study of diseases and their effects on the body, were presented yesterday morning.

Taking part in the program were Dr. E. D. Warner, Dr. J. F. Sulzbach and Dr. K. M. Brinkhauser, all of the pathology department, and Dr. Kenneth Cross, pathologist with the veterans' hospital in Des Moines.

Raymond Smalley Sees 6,600,000-Bushel Corn Yield in Johnson County

Raymond A. Smalley, Johnson county AAA chairman, said yesterday that Johnson county farms will yield more than 6,600,000 bushels of corn this fall, if no rain or freezing weather occurs.

If the estimate is attained, Smalley said it would surpass the bumper yield of 1940 when 6,040,008 bushels were produced.

Presence of crop disease, including corn borer and other insect pests, has been slight this season, he declared.

Clubs to Judge SUI Homecoming Displays

Members of the Iowa City Elks, Lions and Kiwanis clubs will judge university homecoming decorations this year as university dormitories, sorority and fraternity houses continue the tradition of competing for decoration prizes for their respective groups, according to Prof. Louis Zopf, Homecoming committee chairman.

"We realize that materials are hard to get, but we're depending on the groups to display some of the most original designs we've ever seen," Professor Zopf said.

Decorations should be on display by 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 1, because judging will take place Friday evening.

Trophies will be awarded the winners by their respective groups.

Independent town women have chosen Clinton place as their representative.

Faculty Dance Club To Hold First Meeting In Women's Gymnasium

The newly organized faculty square dance club will hold its first meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in the women's gymnasium.

More than 1,100 letters have been sent to faculty members and staff, their wives or husbands, inviting them to attend, Miss Dudley Ashton, instructor in the women's physical education department, said Rufus Eimen of Oxford will fiddle for the dance.

Knowledge of the square dance is not required to become a member of the club, which meets the second and fourth Tuesday of every month, Miss Ashton said.

The group is sponsored by the women's physical education department, Miss Ashton will call the dances.

C.S. Grove to Address Local Chemist Society On Employment Outlook

Prof. C. S. Grove, head of the chemical engineering department, will address the local chapter of the Student Affiliates of the American Society Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in room 314, chemistry building.

John Bonnell, A4 of Cedar Rapids, president of the local chapter, said yesterday that Professor Grove will speak on "The Chemist and Postgraduate Employment."

Professor Grove worked during the war in the rayon division of the E. I. DuPont de Nemours company at Buffalo, N. Y.

All chemistry and chemical engineering majors are invited to attend the meeting, Bonnell said.

SWINGING OUT on some gay music, this six-piece band added a musical note to the Women's Recreational association carnival at the women's gymnasium Friday night. Nearly 400 persons attended the carnival, which included everything from fortune tellers to chorus girls. The barker on the far left is Helen Poulsen, instructor in the women's physical education department.

Riverdale Student-Wife Is 'Smith' of All Trades

Domestic Duties, Radio Work, Beauty Parlor, and Studies Keep Her Busy

By WAYNE SCHAKEL

There are many contenders for the "Busiest Student-Wife on the Campus" title, but Angela England Smith, A2 of Mt. Vernon, should rank near the top.

Long ago and far away (Miami, Fla., in 1942, to be exact) she worked a leisurely eight-hour day and could look forward to evening dates with a sailor from Pensacola.

Today, eight hours is only a fair start on her daily routine, and she still looks forward to seeing the ex-sailor evenings and at odd moments, even though she married him four years ago.

ANGELA ENGLAND SMITH

Husband Studies Law

It wouldn't be so complicated if the only obstruction to a peaceful married life at Riverdale was husband George Agnew Smith's schedule as a freshman in the college of law, but Mrs. Smith, like many other veterans' wives, is in pursuit of a college education too, and she isn't content to get it the normal way. She has a 19-hour weekly class schedule.

That doesn't leave her too much time to take care of three-and-a-half-year-old Mickey, so she stays with a lady in town all day.

Mrs. Smith might have some time even then, but these home-cooked meals that husband Smith longed for in the navy have to be prepared, so the Smiths dash home at noon each day, clear away the breakfast dishes, eat a hurried lunch and dash off to the campus again with a happy vision of a more leisurely dinner about 8 o'clock.

Radio work, too, occupies a good part of Mrs. Smith's time. She got a start broadcasting children's stories from station KGB, San Diego, when the navy sent her husband there, and she has resumed that work at WSUI.

On Three Shows

Each Tuesday morning she broadcasts the "Market Basket Program" from 9:30-9:45, and from 5-5:15 Tuesday afternoon she uses original stories for the "Tuesday Story Lady" show. She is also in the cast of "Clearing on the Mountaintop", a story dramatization from 5-5:30 each Friday afternoon.

That might have been enough for Mrs. Smith, but the citizens of Riverdale elected her to the village council, and Councilwoman Smith has to postpone dinner until 8:30 or 9 o'clock each Wednesday night when council meets.

A busy woman, yes, but that isn't all.

The Smiths decided the first of September that their business activities were a little neglected, so they bought Verne's Barber Shop and Beauty Parlor at 329 E. Market street, redecorated it and renamed it Angela's Beauty Parlor.

Mrs. Smith is not a beautician, but chances are that she'd try to operate the beauty parlor, too, if she were. Hazel Ressler is the operator now and Mrs. Smith says that a second operator will be added within a month to expand the rate and style special service for university women.

This leaves only son Mickey to discuss. "Mickey is a very modern child," Mrs. Smith commented, explaining that he takes a considerate and philosophical view of mother's activities. The lady he stays with in town every day is "very nice" and he's learned to like Iowa as much as any other state. He's quite a cosmopolitan, Mrs. Smith explained, since he left his birthplace in Rhode Island to live temporarily in Virginia, Maryland, California and his mother's home in St. Louis, before he decided to accompany his parents to Iowa City.

Dr. Dunnington to Speak On WSUI Program

Dr. Lewis L. Dunnington, pastor of the First Methodist church, will be the featured speaker this week on the Morning Chapel program broadcast over WSUI each morning at 8 o'clock, Dr. M. Willard Lampe, director of the school of religion, said yesterday.

Dr. Dunnington's topics will include "What is God Doing," "Choose Your Attitudes," "Mood or Stars?" "Mirrors or Windows?" "Stream of Influence" and "Dismiss Your Fears."

Chaplain H.G. Schulz To Speak Here Today

Chaplain Harold G. Schulz of Davenport will speak on mission work at home and abroad at St. Paul's Lutheran University church at 10:30 a.m. today.

Chaplain Schulz has just returned from Europe where he served with the 83rd infantry division of the United States First Army and the continental base section headquarters. He is now on terminal leave.

WSUI Program Bulletin To Be Issued Thursday

A complete time schedule of regular broadcast programs as well as the 1946-47 university football and basketball schedules are included in the WSUI program bulletin for 1946-47, issued Thursday by the extension division.

The 14-page pamphlet is distributed to listeners all over the state, Prof. Bruce Mahan, extension division director, said yesterday.

Descriptions of programs and pictures of WSUI activities and broadcasters are also included in the bulletin.

Speaking of Vitamins!

Maybe your grandparents DIDN'T take vitamins. Maybe they didn't need them. Maybe they did. Who knows?

If YOU are one of every three people in the country who are suffering from deficiencies caused by inadequate diets it behooves you to quit arguing and turn to vitamins. If you take the right ones you'll wonder why you delayed so long in getting started.

The vitamin products sold at this store are accurately assayed by the world's leading pharmaceutical houses and, if you are price minded, they offer you by far the best value from the standpoint of dollars and cents.

Interesting booklets on vitamins for the asking.

THERE'S A REASON FOR THIS SALE ... and here it is ...

Because of having three buying offices, located in New York, Chicago, and Los Angeles, our orders, through a misunderstanding were suddenly tripled. We haven't the space (nor the hangers) nor the time to sell them over a long period ... so a quick turnover is necessary ... it's trite but true ...

No Need to Fear Troop-Borne Diseases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general of the army, says America need no longer fear an outbreak of diseases brought back by returning troops.

Virtually 10,000,000 veterans are back, many from disease-ridden foreign battlefields, without causing a serious outbreak of disease among the civilian population.

The millions of American troops were exposed to virtually every disease in the books.

There were malaria, the No. 1 threat...

Typhus, camp follower of war since time immemorial...

The venereal diseases...

Strange tropical diseases such as filariasis.

A dozen other killer ills.

Physicians knew that if infected troops were returned home without medical precautions there might be widespread epidemics. They particularly feared insect-borne diseases.

For many months, demobilization virtually has been completed but no outbreak of insect-borne disease has been traced to returning troops.

"In World War II America lost fewer men to disease than to enemy action," Gen. Kirk said. "This was the first time in history any army fighting for a protracted period overseas ever accomplished this."

The army attempted to cure all cases of infectious diseases before they reached home shores. Elaborate precautions were taken with those who had to be brought home to be cured.
