Suggest Truman Resign as President

FIRST FAMILY RETURNS AFTER VOTING

PRESIDENT TRUMAN arrived at Washington's union station yesterday with Mrs. Truman (left) and daughter, Margaret, after a trip to their home in Missouri where they voted in Wednesday's election.

Fulbright Urges Appointment Of GOP Secretary of State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A revived GOP snatched control of congress from the Democrats Wednesday and suggestions arose immediately that President Truman resign to solidify the nation's leadership within a single party.

Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, a Democratic holdover, suggested that the chief executive appoint a Republican secretary of state and let him accede to the presidency.

The Chicago Sun urged editorially that Mr. Truman step down. It said this would be a "patriotic and courageous step."

Republican National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan and Rep. Clarence J. Brown of Ohio, Republican campaign director, both said in statements that the GOP now bears a great responsibility.

GOP Leader Sees Big Cut In '47 Taxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 20-percent — $3,000,000,000 — slash in 1947 individual income taxes was forecast today by Representative Knutson (Minn.).

Moreover, Knutson said, the Republican majority will press through a separate bill cutting back the excise tax list, which includes liquor, jewelry, furs, cosmetics and a long list of other items.

Re-elected, the bald, stubby Minnesotaan is expected to succeed Robert L. Doughton, 83-year-old North Carolina Democrat, as chairman of the tax-framing house committee.

But the Republican revenue-slicing drive may plunge head-on into a presidential veto.

The democratic administration is committed to a high tax program, contending that stiff rates are essential to balance the budget and begin payments on the $262,000,000 national debt.

A two-thirds vote in both the house and senate would be necessary to override, if President Truman exercises his veto power.

Knutson, in a statement telephoned from his Minnesota home, said: "There will be two tax bills in 1947. The day the 80th congress convenes I will introduce a bill providing for a 20 percent cut in the individual income taxes effective for the calendar year 1947. It should be passed immediately."

"The second 1947 tax bill, on which public hearings will start early in February, will be directed to the elimination of some and downward adjustment of other excise taxes and to urgent administrative amendments to the present revenue code. Several of the changes in excise taxes should become effective July 1, 1947."

Knutson made no reference to corporation income taxes.

"History Repeats" Knutson said: "History repeats itself. After the first world war a Republican-controlled congress balanced the budget, reduced the national debt 36.5 percent in 10 years and at the same time made four reductions in taxes."

"Our immediate goal will be to cut expenditures, balance the budget, establish a surplus each year to apply on the national debt and grant as much relief to a tax burdened nation as sound fiscal policies under governmental economies will permit."

"A sane level of taxation has a direct relationship to increased government revenue. This and many other traditionally American approaches to full employment, a high level of business activity and lower prices will again prevail."

Yugoslavia, Italy Attack Trieste Plan

By JOHN A. PARRIS, JR. NEW YORK (AP)—Both Yugoslavia and Italy yesterday attacked a proposed Big Four settlement of the deadlocked East-West dispute over strategic Trieste.

Representatives of the two involved countries told a session of the council of foreign ministers that proposed controls for the new international territory would be dictatorial and undemocratic.

This brought an immediate rebuff from Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov who declared that both Yugoslavia and Italian statements, "particularly the Italian, which amounted almost to threats have made a bad impression on the Soviet delegation."

Whether this means a departure of Soviet backing from the Belgrade government on the critical issue blocking a peace treaty with Italy could not be answered immediately.

Yugoslavia, however, offered two minor concessions with respect to boundary and the proposed powers of a United Nations governor. But diplomatic authorities said these did not appear to advance a solution.

Yugoslav Foreign Minister Stanje Simic made it clear yesterday that Anglo-American views on the future of the Adriatic port were still unacceptable to his government.

Italian Ambassador Alberto Tarchiani declared that the proposal to put the Trieste territory under the United Nations security council was unacceptable "because of its human injustice, its practical inefficiency, its denial of democratic principles and its failure to carry out the hopes held forth to all nations by the Atlantic Charter."

The vote actually was three for an Egyptian resolution and three against, with three abstaining. The remaining five members of the committee were not accounted for.

The Egyptian resolution stated that persecutions have continued in central Europe. Under it the general assembly would "invite" governments to abide by the U. N. charter.

No countries were named and no minorities were specified. Dmitri Manuilsky, foreign minister of the Soviet Ukraine and Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet Russian delegate, challenged the resolution immediately with demands for more precise details.

When British Delegate Philip Noel-Baker asked the Egyptian representative Mahoud Bey Fawzi, if he meant the movement westward of Jewish refugees, Fawzi instead asked Manuilsky two questions: "Can the delegate to the Ukraine assure us that persecution and discrimination does not exist in central Europe? If it does, does he believe the question should be brought before the United Nations?"

Manuilsky flushed and obviously angry, said there were no persecutions in Austria and Germany since the Nazis were smashed there. He said there had been "massacres" of Jews in Poland, which he attributed to a "group of Poles in opposition to the constituted government."

He said Jews in the Ukraine his own country, receive the same treatment as other people since the war ended.

Idaho GOP Head Gets Broken Jaw in Scuffle

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—X-ray examination showed yesterday that Ray McKaig, 66, had a broken jaw and the Idaho Republican leader said he received his injury in an election night hotel lobby scuffle with Sen. Glenn H. Taylor (D., Idaho).

Taylor told newsmen after the altercation that McKaig called him an obscene name in the presence of Mrs. Taylor.

McKaig, legislative chairman for the Idaho State Grange, told reporters that he "never said a word" before the blow was struck.

Kuomintang Troops Advance on Dairen

PEIPING (AP) — A wholly unconfirmed report in the independent newspaper Hsin Min Pao said yesterday Chinese government troops had pushed to the "outer ring" of Russian-occupied Dairen.

This dispatch declared that more than 50,000 Chinese Communist troops were gathered in the big south Manchurian port awaiting to flee across the Yellow sea to a haven in Shantung peninsula, also under government assault.

(Dairen became a free port under the Chinese-Russian treaty, and negotiations have been reported in progress whereby the Chiang Kai-Shek government will take over control of the huge port.

"Excepting for an area facing the coast," Hsin Min Pao said, "All other areas around Dairen are in the hands of government troops."

Braden Declines Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spruille Braden, U. S. Assistant secretary of state, was elected president of the governing board of the Pan-American union yesterday but declined the post and it then was voted to Ambassador Antonio Rocha of Colombia.

Egyptian Charge of Minority Persecution Sparks Quarrel in UN Steering Group

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. (AP)—The argument waxed so furious that the interpreters sometimes were drowned out and made only futile attempts to translate the barbs. Paul-Henri Spaak, assembly president finally banged the gavel at 7:20 p. m. CST to end a six-hour and 20-minute session with the announcement that the matter would be reported to the assembly as a tie vote.

The Egyptian resolution and three against, with three abstaining. The remaining five members of the committee were not accounted for.

The Egyptian resolution stated that persecutions have continued in central Europe. Under it the general assembly would "invite" governments to abide by the U. N. charter.

Pilot Strike Awaits Union Action

The end of the TWA strike awaited union action, the soft coal dispute talks were resumed, and a national maritime strike threat was raised again yesterday as the Philadelphia trip continued.

A back-to-work call for some 15,000 employees of Trans World Airlines, idle 16 days in a strike of 1,400 AFL pilots, awaited union acceptance of a government agreement already accepted by the company.

Indications were that the call could not be forthcoming immediately. David L. Behncke, president of the striking AFL Air Line Pilots association, was expected to summon the union's master executive council to Chicago for a decision.

Will Not Recall Workers The company said it would not recall the 15,000 furloughed employees and resume service over its 29,000-mile system until the union's formal acceptance was announced by Federal Mediator Frank P. Douglass.

TWA's pilots walked out Oct. 21 in support of union demands that the present pay formula, written in 1934, be adjusted upward for certain flying. Present pay in top brackets was estimated around $12,000 a year. The union asked up to $15,000.

Coal Talks Reopen Negotiations between John L. Lewis in his struggle with the government reopened, after an election day recess. At issue was whether the government's contract with the AFL United Mine Workers could be opened by Lewis.

Joseph Curran, president of the CIO National Maritime union, said the national council of the union has recommended a national maritime strike, if necessary, to compel west coast ship operators to settle their dispute with CIO unions.

Shipping Tieup Shipping on the west coast has been tied up by strikes of the longshoremen, the engineers and the AFL masters, mates and pilots since Sept. 30. Chief obstacle between the employers and the ship officers' union has been a demand for preferential hiring clause in their contracts.

Negotiations to end the Philadelphia walkout of service employees, members of the hotel, restaurant building and maintenance workers (CIO) was at a standstill. Directors of the hotels rejected a return to work offer conditioned on a blanket wage increase of 7 1/2 cents an hour and submission of other demands to arbitration.

SUI Extension Projects Exhibited in Des Moines At Education Meeting

An exhibit of university extension divisions projects is on display at the State Education association meeting yesterday, today and Friday in Des Moines, Lee W. Cochran, extension division executive assistant, said Tuesday.

With three large pictures of university buildings shown on a silver-colored screen in the background the exhibit includes tests, extension division bulletins, educational monographs and visual aids.

Among the educational examinations on display are three new tests—the Iowa algebra aptitude test, the Iowa high school aptitude test and an art judgement test devised by Prof. Norman Meier of the psychology department.

University staff members attending the meeting are Prof. H. A. Greene of the college of education; John R. Hedges, visual instruction director; Robert Larson, research assistant in education; Willard Unsicker, University high school science studies director, and Cochran.

Cochran will lead a panel discussion on local problems in use of visual aid, and Unsicker will demonstrate the use of visual aids in high school science teaching.

Graduate Psychologist Looks Forward To Teaching in Union of South Africa

Dr. Leo J. Reyna, who received his doctor's degree in psychology at the university this summer, will sail for Johannesburg, South Africa, next week, where he will be the first American psychologist to teach in the Union of South Africa.

Dr. Reyna, his wife and their three-year-old son, Stephen, will sail from New Orleans about Nov. 12 so that he may assume a three-year teaching appointment at the University of the Witwatersrand in Johannesburg.

"This position will provide an opportunity to introduce the advanced methods and experimental techniques of American psychology to South Africa," Dr. Reyna said yesterday.

Commenting on the unusual opportunity for work there, he remarked that psychology in most foreign countries has not reached the experimental and laboratory stages which exist in the United States.

Lecture in English. Dr. Reyna will lecture in English at Witwatersrand, although his students' native tongue is Afrikaans, a derivative of Dutch, which is, according to Dr. Reyna, the newest language in the world.

The University of the Witwatersrand ("the Witwatersrand" means "the gold ridge") has an enrollment of about 2,500 and is the largest university in South Africa. Situated in the Transvaal province, it is 1,000 miles by rail from Capetown, the port where the Reynas will disembark.

Johannesburg, the largest city south of Cairo, with a population of 75,000, has some of the most modern architecture in the world, according to Dr. Reyna. Since gold-mining began there about 60 years ago the city has grown very rapidly.

Family Excited. Both Mrs. Reyna and young Stephen are very excited at the prospect of going to South Africa. "Although our son has never seen a gangplank," Mrs. Reyna laughed, "he is tremendously excited about walking up one."

Through contact with a former Canadian student, Alan B. Clemens, who received his master's degree at the University of Iowa and is now teaching speech pathology at the Witwatersrand, Stephen is already enrolled in a nursery school in Johannesburg.

The problem of hunting for an apartment in Johannesburg does not have Mrs. Reyna too worried. "We won't need to look for a home because the government has already provided us with living quarters there," she said.

this year's intercollegiate topic, is "Labor should be given a direct share in the management of industry."

Democrats Win Paradoxical County Victory

By BOB McHUGH

Old-time Johnson county Democrats used to say "break Iowa City and win the county." And the story of the paradoxical county victory in a general election—a Democratic county victory in a Republican state.

Unofficial tallies show Democratic strength in the townships of Monroe, Big Cedar and Jefferson—four to one against the GOP. Split-ticket voting in northern townships was responsible for the election of Sheriff Albert J. Murphy who scored the Republican victory in a county election.

Monroe Township
For example, in Monroe township, Democratic county clerk Jack C. White held better five-to-one margin over

One Iowa City woman needed transportation to polls election night called political headquarters and that TWO men be sent to home. The willing pool readily granted her request. One of the men stayed and watched the baby while other drove her to the polls.

Republican opponent, Police John Knox. In that same election James L. Ryan, the Democratic candidate for sheriff, lost only a three-to-one margin over Murphy. Veteran Johnson county Democrats say extremely unusual for north county people to split their tickets this fashion.

Ryan beat his Republican opponent in the townships by only votes, while his Democrat run mate, County Attorney Jack W. Murphy, piled up a margin of 1,144 votes. Murphy's margin of 730 votes in the city was more than enough to overcome Ryan's scanty township lead.

Some political observers maintain that north county people satisfied with the status quo county law enforcement and that former Deputy Sheriff Murphy will maintain past policies although he has made no commitments on that count.

In a telephone interview, tonight, Murphy expressed gratitude to the voters who supported him but refused to comment on office policies "until a later date."

Rep. Martin
Republican Thomas E. Martin, incumbent, running for reelection to his fifth term as congressman from the eighth district against Clair Williams of Democrat, took an easy victory in the district.

But true to precedent, with one notable exception of Martin when he won in Johnson county by a bare majority of 71 votes he failed to win either in Iowa City or in the townships.

The unofficial count shows Martin got 2,744 votes to Williams in Iowa City, Martin 1,770, Williams 2,566 the townships.

The totals in Johnson county were: Martin 4,514, Williams, 5,047.

All candidates agreed that the campaign was "hotly contested but clean and fair." Jacob A. Swisher, defeated Republican candidate for state representative, said "I have only the best wishes for my opponent in the very important work which he will be called upon to do."

Democrat Frank J. Krall, elected to office over Swisher, expressed a desire to hear from his constituents while the state legislature is in session in order "to carry out their wishes." "I am here to represent the people," he added.

Democratic Committee Chairman William J. Jackson said "Our county organization is pleased with the election of so many Democratic candidates for county and state office."

Fred Johnson, chairman of the Johnson county Republican central committee, declared "Although our county did not follow the majority given to the Republican party in the state and in the national landslide, I feel that we have made a gain toward the principles for which our party stands."

Lion's Club Appoints New Planning Committee

A committee to plan future projects and finances was appointed by President Al Span at the Lion's club meeting yesterday noon in Reich's Pine room. Serving on the committee will be Chairman Delmer Sample, 344 Beldon street; Robert Lorenz, 418 River street; Prof. Harold Saunders of the sociology department and Irving Weber, 421 Melrose court.

After the business meeting a technical film entitled, "Our Iowa," was shown.

A LITTLE NON-SCENTS

Playful as a kitten, according to his owner, the cat spends his time romping in a 15th old pet from a friend's undesirable traits. "At home of room if I took him up."

They were Dorothy Darling, Shirley Throckmorton, Wilbur Hunt, Lloyd Millegan, F. J. Meyer and the Johns Manville insurance company.

Administrator Named

Clarence McClure yesterday was named administrator under $7,000 of the estate of Clara A. Hayek, who died Oct. 21, 1946. F. Hayek is the attorney.

Vets Council Offers to Take Legal Action on Tuition Rule

Iowa City Veterans Organization council yesterday sent a letter to Gen. Omar Bradley of the Veterans administration offering to take legal action to test the legality of the Iowa attorney-general's ruling which permits state-supported schools to charge out-of-state tuition for a veteran-student regardless of his residence.

The organization, which has gone on record as objecting to any policy which attempts to obtain federal funds indiscriminately will take legal action if the veterans administration deems it advisable, the letter said.

Federal funds to finance veteran schooling are guaranteed a college or university in amounts up to $500 a year for each veteran. Schools may obtain these funds either through tuition fees or by billing the Veterans administration the actual cost of instructing veteran students. The limit in either case is $500 a year.

Charge Actual Cost
The University of Iowa has obtained these funds by billing the administration for the actual cost of instruction, according to E. T. Jolliffe, university controller. Under this system it does not charge student-veterans any costs which are above those made to non-veterans.

The veterans council lodged its objections to the ruling of the attorney-general on the grounds that higher tuition fees for veterans will require a revision of the Veterans administration budget. This revision, the council reasons, will cause funds to be diverted to the schooling program from other essential Veterans administration functions such as disability payments or on-the-job training. Originally, the council protested the ruling also because, they believed, expenditures by the Veterans administration in behalf of students in certain colleges, such as medicine, would exceed the veteran's $500 entitlement.

Objection Withdrawn
This objection was withdrawn by the council when university authorities pointed out that veterans here would not be required to expend more than their entitlement unless costs were actually in excess of that amount. In such cases, veterans would not be paying more than non-veterans.

Acknowledging that the University of Iowa had satisfactorily met this objection, the council's letter to Gen. Bradley said:

"We do also appreciate the position of midwestern state-supported schools which find themselves at a disadvantage as compared to privately endowed institutions with arbitrarily higher tuition rates."

"Before attempting litigation," the letter concluded, "we desire advice as to whether this ruling should be contested in the courts or whether we should call upon congress for an early revision of public law 346 to equalize the benefits."

Congregational Group To Hear Dr. Williams At Week-End Convention

Nearly 100 college students will attend the annual convention of the Congregational Christian State Student conference in Iowa City this weekend, according to the Rev. F. A. Laxamana, director of Congregational youth fellowship activities.

Delegates from Grinnell college, Iowa State college at Ames, Iowa State Teachers college at Cedar Falls, and Coe college at Cedar Rapids will arrive here tomorrow for the three-day conference.

Featured speaker will be Dr. Daniel Williams from Chicago Theological seminary, who will speak at 2 p.m. Saturday on "The Meaning of Christianity," and at 7:15 p.m. Saturday on "The Content and Method of Student Evangelism."

The conference will open with a social mixer at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the church parlors, and will close Sunday. The state conference was held last year in Ames.

Lujack Injury Hits Irish Hopes for Saturday Win

'GENERAL' TUCKER OF THE ARMY 'AIR CORPS'

ARNOLD TUCKER, 175-pound Army back whose passes got the credit for Army's three touchdown victory over Duke, warms up on the West Point practice field, Tucker and Notre Dame's Johnny Lujack are the "probable starting pitchers" for Saturday's gridiron classic. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Army Boss Fears Potency Of South Bend Victory Hopes

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—As Army's football team went through another strenuous practice session yesterday for Saturday's struggle with Notre Dame, Coach Earl Blaik replayed the 1943 Army-Notre Dame tussle as a sort of strategic counter-attack to the Irish discussions of the humiliation they suffered in the past two years.

Blaik, as usual, insisted that Notre Dame has not only plenty of personnel but a tremendous incentive to win the game. Army hasn't either, in his analysis of the situation, but the red-tatched Army coach is doing his best to discount the last two tussles and bring up what happened the last time a really good Notre Dame team faced Army.

The Irish won, 26-0, then and Blaik insists that this year's Notre Dame team is far superior to the 1943 outfit. Notre Dame, in fact, hasn't been extended all season and has concentrated ever since last spring on one thing—beating Army.

By contrast, the thin Cadet squad has been forced to go all out at least twice this season, against Oklahoma and Michigan, and the coaches have had to go all out for virtually every game. Even when Army figured to win handily there were immediate problems that kept the coaching staff from looking far ahead to the Nov. 9 contest.

Actual preparations for Notre Dame didn't begin until last week, Blaik said yesterday and then it was more from the coaching standpoint than real work by the players.

This week they're working harder, but contact work is limited to short periods each day and it has been noticeable that the three "big" backs, Doc Blanchard, Glenn Davis and Arnold Tucker, have been held out of the scrimmages.

The first territorial prison in Arizona was erected at Yuma in 1876.

Johnny Hurt In Collision

By SID FEDER

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A shocked horror spread over Notre Dame's do-or-die football squad late yesterday when Johnny Lujack, the sparkplug quarterback and the man most necessary to the Irish hopes for revenge against the army Saturday, suffered a sprained right ankle.

It was uncertain just what effect this heart-breaker might have on the possible chances of the boy from the Pennsylvania coal-fields being able to do a full-sized job in Saturday's national championship clash.

Not even the Notre Dame school physician, Dr. Joseph Caton, was willing to guess.

But all hands—from head coach Frank Leahy down—realized that without 21-year old Johnny—the kid who could have gone to army but whose Notre Dame instead, the kid who came back from the wars after a hitch aboard a sub-chaser in the Atlantic—the hopes of getting even for the 107 points the Cadets have rolled up on the Irish in the past two years were just about shattered.

He's so vital that only a few hours before the mishap yesterday he and halfback Gerry Cowhig, were elected co-captains for the Army game.

You saw the realization hit the Irish yesterday as the sturdy 21-0, 180-pound Lujack lay there on the clear-cut turf for a moment after colliding with right end Frank Kosikowski, a 205-pounder from Milwaukee.

Dr. Joseph Caton only a few hours before had announced that the ruptured blood vessel Frank Simmons suffered last Saturday was still so severe the "best-half-back-in-the-navy-game" probably would have to be left behind and miss the collision with the cadets.

The doctor diagnosed Lujack's injury as a sprain and immediately ordered Johnny to the infirmary for the night for treatment with hot and cold compresses. There was a swelling about an inch and a half long just over the bone on the outside of the right ankle.

"I am not a prognosticator," was all the doctor would say when asked how much recovery was likely between now and Saturday's chips-are-down clash.

Earlier, Leahy had told about the special Irish defenses he had designed to slow down Army's "you-know-who," and then contemplated sadly the news that Simmons was hurt and would be left behind when the Irish squad leaves at 4 p. m. (CST) today.

Whitney Martin Calls Irish Revenge Motive Just 'Lemon Juice'

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Army and Notre Dame have met 32 times on the gridiron. Three games ended in ties, Army won seven times and Notre Dame 22 times.

And they say Notre Dame is thirsting for revenge.

If the Irish can work up such a thirst through seven defeats it might be imagined the Cadets could stand a sip or two after losing 22 times.

It is the revenge motive is to be taken seriously it puts the South Benders in the bullying position of a fighter who has been knocking the whey out of an inferior opponent round after round and suddenly gets bashed on the nose. He is enraged that the guy he has been pounding all over the ring has the temerity to clip him, and snarls: "Why, you so and so, I'll show you who's boss."

In other words, he could dish it out but couldn't take it, a situation we don't think applies to Notre Dame. The Irish were hurt the past two years when they took those terrific drubbings from Army, but they didn't yelp.

Those two defeats, incidentally, are responsible for the revenge talk. Some Notre Dame followers feel the school was humiliated by an Army team which poured it on as an exquisite balm for the pain of those endless years of defeats.

We don't believe that is true. Army did not intentionally run up a score. The vastly superior team just started rolling, that's all, and you can't stop the boys when that happens.

Anyway, we think the revenge motive is so much lemon juice, and that beyond an honest desire to win the big game and retain a spotless record neither team has an ulterior motive.

Certainly the Notre Dame players aren't going to rush out on the field repeating to themselves: "They walloped us, we've got to get even; they walloped us, we've got to get even."

When football players get out there on that field they haven't the time to think of anything but the business at hand, and in this particular case they know they must give their best on every play. They don't need any sob story or memory lesson to make them do that.

Coming right down to it, the Cadets, in addition to their slightly lop-sided record in games with the Irish over the long scribes, have as much incentive to win this one as Notre Dame has.

Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis and the other seven Army starters who are playing their last year with the Cadets would be slightly less than human if they didn't desire to round out their careers with a third consecutive undefeated season.

Student Seats 10-Thousand Student Seats

"We will serve student ball fans first. Reserved seats be very limited. Do not apply reserved until an amount is made that such application be accepted."

Director E. G. (Dad) Seid made these statements yesterday as he announced details of the University of Iowa plan for distribution of cage tickets for Hawks 13 home games.

The university athletic has set aside over 10,000 Iowa students under the city contract with the whereby the tuition charges season tickets to all contests.

Some 700 other seats are reserved for staff members who chased coupon books.

Capacity of the university house, sight of all home ball games, is 14,000.

The few remaining will be sold as reserved seats for nine other games and as admission seats for the preliminary non-conference.

However, Schroeder noted that any applications served seats received before announcement of the program will be returned. Tickets yet arrived from the athletic officials will not be ordered until the tickets are racks.

Wives of university will receive the same attention as the general public sale of tickets. The wives will be admitted to the student section.

These are the regulations for application for advance reserved seat conference. There will be no sales of ticket window. (b) Sale purchaser is limited to served seats per game conference game. (c) Applying for tickets for than one conference game should indicate their preference, from one six. No person will be to purchase tickets for than two conference games.

Three of the nine reserved games will occur during the winter vacation when the body will be much depleted therefore more tickets will be available to the public.

Four preliminary non-conference games between Dec. 2 and Dec. 13, Minnesota; Feb. 15, Michigan; Feb. 22, Indiana; and March 1, Purdue.

No materials could be ordered for additional seats in the

Tickets Week Backs Injured List

Injuries, the jinx that has Iowa's backfield off stride since the Michigan game, may now Hawkeye regulars on the field Saturday when the Old Saturday tangles with Wisconsin Badgers at Madison.

Head coach Dr. Eddie Anderson yesterday that Dick Hoerner, sitting fullback and key man in Iowa running attack, probably won't see any action and that Tunnell, ace left half, is a doubtful starter.

Hoerner has seen limited action in a pre-season action after the Michigan game. He played less than a minute against Nebraska, went most of the way at Indiana, re-injured against Notre Dame and saw brief action last Saturday at Illinois.

Tunnell, on the other hand, suffered a minor leg injury in theaska game that kept him out of action only against Indiana. The injury has failed to respond to treatment and, although Gremlin is ready to go 60 miles this week if necessary, Eddie may keep him on the sidelines to give the leg a brief rest.

Tom Headington, the freshman blocking specialist, has done a prisingly good job of filling in for Hoerner and will receive the starting assignment Saturday, the Dell Bartells, 200 pound center, moving over from right half to spell him.

Bob Sullivan, star of the Indiana victory, will probably take over Tunnell's spot at left half, with Johnny Tedore in reserve. Meanwhile, two linemen have left the Hawkeye injured list.

Regular right end Herb Shoener, who tore a knee ligament early in the Notre Dame game will make a Wisconsin trip and will probably see some action, while Russenda, regular left guard until the Notre Dame battle, will be ready to spell game captain Ray Carlisle.

Wier Returns as Hawk Spine

By BOB COLLINS Staff Reporter

He isn't six foot five inches tall and he doesn't weigh 200 pounds, but Murray Wier, red-headed speed merchant of the Iowa basketball team, combines enough positive qualities to run a half dozen larger men clear off the floor.

Murray broke into Hawkeye cage lineups back in 1944 when his chief value was thought to be as a spot player to give the big boys a few minutes rest. His high-scoring punch and colorful playing made him a favorite with Iowa fans from the start and a tough man to keep out of the lineup.

Wier's ability to score often against Big Nine caliber competition shouldn't have come as any surprise to those acquainted with his sensational high school record. Murray started his prep career with Grand View where he constituted a one-man team. Later he transferred to Muscatine where he came into his own and burnt up the circuit to become a popular All-State selection at forward in 1944.

A holdover letterman, Wier isn't sure just where he will fit into the Iowa machine this year and Coach Harrison isn't saying just yet, but it appears that his coordinated speed and keen basketball eye will be appreciated before the season is over.

Most players have a favorite that they specialize in, be it set pot shots from far out, one-handed pushes, or hooks and layins set up by fast breaks. But Wier has shown in current workouts that he has retained his unusual ability to score not only with short pushes but with a variety of acrobatic shots from under the basket.

Iowa teams under Coach Harrison have utilized a fast-breaking offense which is tailor-made for Wier. He's quick as light and is rated as probably the fastest man on the Hawkeye squad over a short distance. This blistering speed, plus his accurate shooting, makes Murray a difficult man to guard to say the least.

The Muscatine red-head has shown before that he has a fine, competitive heart in his five foot, nine inch, 155-pound frame. To date he has worked best when the chips were down and his clutch playing has sparked rallies and saved games for two years.

Wier, who rated Honorable Mention in the All-Big Ten selections after the 1944-45 season, thinks the Iowa team which that year took the conference title was a great outfit, and he hopes that this year's aggregation will be as good.

When bigger and better spark-plugs are to be had, Iowa hopes to have them. But until one comes along the Hawks will stick to Murray, as a plenty handy fellow to have around.

made, Director Schroeder said. These are the reserved seats: Dec. 19, St. Mary's of California; Dec. 23, Montana State; Dec. 31, Texas Christian; Jan. 4, Wisconsin; Jan. 11, Ohio State; Jan. 13, Minnesota; Feb. 15, Michigan; Feb. 22, Indiana; and March 1, Purdue.

A tea for all university women who ranked in the upper 25 percent in freshman examinations was planned at a business meeting after the pledging, according to Miss Dierks.

Flight of Jewish Refugee, Polish Officer Depicted in 'Jacobowsky and the Colonel'

By JACK O'BRIEN

The first production of the University community play series is scheduled to open Friday, Nov. 15, for an eight-performance run at the University theater.

The play selected by the dramatic arts department for its initial production of the season is a comedy, "Jacobowsky and the Colonel," adapted by S. N. Behrman from an original script by the late Belgian novelist, Franz Werfel.

"Jacobowsky and the Colonel" recounts the adventures of a practical and humorous little Jewish refugee and a reactionary Polish officer and aristocrat who are forced to travel together in their mutual flight from the Nazis. During the course of their hectic, three-act journey, the two antagonistic personalities try to reconcile their viewpoints and eventually come to respect and rely upon each other.

Psychological Comedy

The play, although it has its moments of melodrama, is essentially a psychological comedy based upon the duel between two conflicting personalities. Since the flight of Jacobowsky and the colonel represents but a dramatic segment of the mass of religious and political refugees that flooded across the face of Europe in the wake of the advancing Nazi armies, the surface comedy of the play veneers an undercurrent of human tragedy.

Werfel's script, which is a literary expansion of an incident he witnessed when he was himself a refugee from the Nazis, had an interesting and turbulent pre-production history. Originally, Clifford Odets had a hand in the shaping of the dramatic script.

Odets decided, probably because there were neither labor unions, prize fighters nor clashes in the night involved in the anecdote, that it was not quite his dish and dropped it. It was then snatched up by Jack H. Skirball, a Hollywood producer, who took it to the Theater guild and they in turn passed it on to Behrman.

Behrman contrived the working script which finally resulted in Theater guild production late in the season of 1943. Oscar Karlweis and Louis Calherne shared co-starring honors as Jacobowsky and the colonel.

Play Was a Hit

Appearing at the climax of a discouragingly uneventful season, most of the critics conceded the play a healthy benefit of the doubt and it developed into a resounding hit. In mixed reviews enough adjectives—"warm," "engratiating," "agreeable," "pleasant"—appeared to satisfy the needs of press agents, and the show achieved an enthusiastic audience and highly successful Broadway run.

The entire action of "Jacobowsky" evolves around its two main roles. Of these characters, both as created by Werfel in his script and as performed by Karlweis and Calherne, only the highest critical praise was registered. In a play of personalities it is the performances that finally tell the tale. In their two stars, Behrman and Werfel had the essential ingredient to whip their play into a popular success. Considering this, it will be the performance and direction that will prove most vital to the university production.

The Theatre guild seldom takes a chance. In the event that Karlweis and Calherne did not prove potent enough box-office, the guild secured the services of one Anabella of Hollywood to appear as Mariane, the colonel's enamored.

An established star in Europe, Anabella had appeared in one picture in Hollywood, an unfortunate "autobiographical" something or other concerned with the extramarital activities of the Empress Eugenie with side-lights in the digging of the Suez canal. Following this, she wisely withdrew into whatever obscurity the American public will allow the wife of Tyrone Power.

Anabella Tried It

With her husband off to the wars, Mrs. Power heeded the call of the footlights and said yes to the guild's offer. Possessing the distinct advantages afforded by a whistle-blowing figure and an authentic French accent, Anabella tackled the role of Marianne. No mean chore, since in addition to being effectively seductive, Marianne is supposed to symbolize the "dauntless spirit of France."

Since she was reasonably successful on at least one of the two scores, the critics were moderately kind to the actress—with the exception of John Chapman of the New York Daily News, who wasn't content to merely mention that her performance made him "physically ill" but devoted his entire review to a vehement attack upon the bewildered Anabella. This attack brought a defensive stand on the part of the other, kinder, reviewers and a columnar battle evolved which raged for all of two days, adding its might to the publicity which always spells big box-office.

Starts Divorce Action

Lillian Lenoch has started divorce action against James Lenoch in district court on charges of cruelty. The couple was married Aug. 24, 1946, in Iowa City. Swisher and Swisher will represent Mrs. Lenoch.

During 1945, the United States imported industrial diamonds worth $12,756,973.

AYD Plans Rally On Haircut Problem

The American Youth for Democracy executive committee last night made tentative plans to sponsor a mass meeting in the near future in Iowa City to discuss and take action on the local barber shop situation, according to Bernard Yadoff, A1 of New York City.

Yadoff said that AYD will request all social and civic-minded clubs on the campus to send representatives to a planning meeting Nov. 18 and that AYD will seek to schedule a speaker for the mass meeting.

It is hoped to find some solution to the long-disputed practice of alleged refusal of service to Negroes in local barber shops, he said.

Next general meeting of the group will be Thursday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p. m. at the Unitarian church, when permanent officers for the current semester will be elected.

Classical Languages Department Renamed

The university division known as the classical languages department, has been renamed the department of classics.

Prof. Gerald F. Else, head of the department, said yesterday that the change was made because the new title more clearly represents the work of the department. Professor Else said the classics departments not only includes courses in the classical languages of Latin and Greek but also offers courses in the literature and thought of antiquity through the medium of translation classes.

The state board of education has approved the revision in the department's title.

First of Forum Series To Be Held Tonight

The first in a series of monthly open forums, to be sponsored by the Young Republicans league, will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in 221A Schaeffer hall, Dean Lierle, Jr., A1 of Iowa City, chairman of the league, said yesterday.

Lierle explained that the forum will have as its topic each month the same subject as is discussed by similar Republican open forums throughout the United States. After the forum, a vote will be taken and the ballots sent to national headquarters. The final tabulation is given to Republican congressmen.

The topic this month is "Can the Cost of Government Be Reduced?"

Mel Baker, G of Davenport, will be moderator for the evening. The forum is open to all students.
