Phoenix Fund Makes First Student Grant

The first university Phoenix fund grant—$200 in cash—has been awarded by the committee on student aid to Mr. and Mrs. Marshall E. Smith of Riverdale village, Dean C. Woody Thompson of the office of student affairs announced yesterday.

Explaining that the money will be available to the Smiths immediately, Dean Thompson said that the committee decided to make the grant to help the Smiths replace some of their personal belongings destroyed by a fire in their Riverdale trailer Oct. 11.

Dean Thompson added that the Smiths qualify for the grant, established in 1942 as a prospective aid to veterans trying to complete their university education, because they are both former students who returned after the war for further university study.

Smith joined the army air corps in January, 1942, re-entered the university last February and is now a graduate student in commerce. He estimated the fire damage to the interior of the trailer he and Mrs. Smith occupy at approximately $1,100.

The University of Iowa Phoenix fund, the first of approximately 100 established at colleges and universities throughout the country, was started here in January, 1942, by a group of students interested in helping prospective veterans complete their university training.

Leaders of the drive to raise money for the fund, according to University Treasurer F. L. Hamberg, were Francis Weaver, L3 of Mason City, and Mrs. Weaver, the former Mary Louise Nelson.

The students started their drive to try to interest other students and faculty members in helping finance a GI education program, with no thought that the government would step in and provide for such a program, Ambrose explained.

During 1942, they canvassed university housing units and houses in town where students were living for voluntary contributions to the fund. When the GI bill of rights was passed in 1943, Ambrose said, it was decided that the money should be used as a supplement to the government aid in the case of veterans who especially need the money.

Weaver, who is now back on campus as chairman of both the Riverdale council and University Married Students organization after serving in the army finance department, explained that the fund was named "Phoenix" as a result of an all-campus contest in 1942. Slogan for the drive, which was held shortly after Pearl Harbor, was "From the ashes it shall directly after rise."

Hamborg said that the fund now totals more than $4,200, some of which was raised after the originators of the project left the campus. Ninety-five percent or more of the money was contributed by students, Smith estimated.

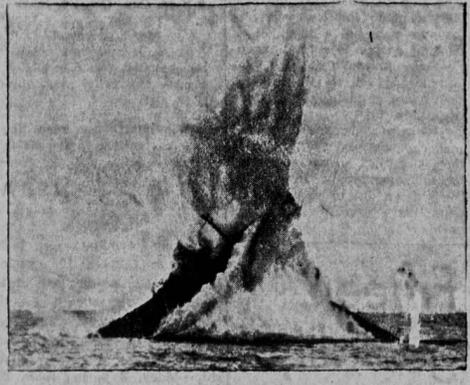

The trust agreement for the fund, drawn up in January, 1942, provided that the university committee on student aid act on all applications for grants, Smith added.

Chinese Assembly Meets Without Communists

NANKING, Friday (AP)—The Chinese national assembly convened today despite a warning from the Communists—who refuse to attend—that this meant an irrevocable split in an already strife-torn China.

The Communists had refused to name delegates unless government armies disgorge the territory won in civil warfare since January. Earlier Chou En-Lai, veteran Chinese Communist leader, withdrew from negotiations seeking a peaceful solution of the civil strife, saying his mission had failed.

Albania Protests British Violation Of South Waters, Asks U.N. Intervention

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y. (AP)—Albania protested last night to the United Nations that "a large number of English war ships and mine sweepers," firing volleys of machine gun fire, had violated the waters off the southern coast of Albania.

In the second protest in two days against Great Britain, the Albanian government called upon the United Nations to "order the English warships and minesweepers to retreat immediately from our ports and territorial waters in the interest of keeping the peace which the Albanian people has given all its forces to win."

Col. Gen. Enver Hoxha, Albanian premier, protested Wednesday that the British were attempting to present Albania with an accomplished fact in the sweeping of the waters of the southern area.

Revolt Against Veto
Small countries of the United Nations rose in revolt against the veto yesterday with cries of big power "dictatorship" and a warning from Argentina that the little nations could exercise a veto of their own by walking out of the assembly.

Claim Foreign Raid On Greek Town

ATHENS (AP)—Premier Constantinos Tsaldaris charged last night that a "savage" attack originating from foreign soil had been made on the Greek village of Skra and declared the fighting there was a continuation of similar attacks being carried out along the entire length of Greece's northern frontier.

The attack on Skra—located on the traditional invasion route northwest of Salonika—was made within two and a half miles of the Yugoslav border, the premier said. He added that the attackers fled into Yugoslavia.

GOP Senators Plan to Try To Balk Bilbo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican steering committee was said by one of its members to have agreed yesterday to try to prevent Senator Bilbo (D-Miss.) from taking his seat in the new congress.

An influential Republican senator, who asked not to be quoted by name, told reporters that the steering group decided to have a senator—as yet unselected—object to Bilbo's taking the oath of office, on Jan. 3, the day the new senate meets.

Reports then would be asked from the present senate campaign investigating committee as well as the special war investigating committee, both of which have been looking into complaints involving the senator from Mississippi.

The steering committee member who discussed the plan with reporters said it was expected the charge to Bilbo's taking his seat then could be referred to a majority vote to the new rules committee of the senate.

A refusal by Bilbo to "step aside" as other new members of the senate are sworn in probably would be put to a test vote which a majority would decide, the senator said.

Meanwhile Chairman Ellender (D., La.) planned to call the special senate campaign investigating committee together here tomorrow to go over reports obtained by four investigators and attorneys.

They were sent to Mississippi by the senate committee to probe complaints against the Mississippi Democrat who won reelection to another six-year term.

Republican members of this committee, Senators Bridges (R., N.H.) and Hickenlooper (R., Iowa), are expected to demand a public hearing on the Bilbo case.

Among the complaints were several that Negroes were kept from voting by intimidation. Others touched on other phases of the Mississippi campaign.

Blast in Market In South Carolina Kills 5, Injures 8

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—A gas-operated banana ripening chamber in the Columbia curb market blew up yesterday, killing five men, injuring eight other persons, and wrecking a 100-foot shed section of the market in a terrific explosion.

Nolan W. Wessells, operator of a wholesale produce business in the shed, was among those fatally injured. He was believed to have been in the curing room when the blast occurred.

The other victims were: George Watkins and Robert Lee Black, produce buyers from Roanoke Rapids, N. C.; Arville Gantt of Pelion, and J. C. Abernathy of Imman.

Philip Varn, 12, was seriously hurt, suffering a broken arm and internal injuries. Walter Edney also had an arm broken.

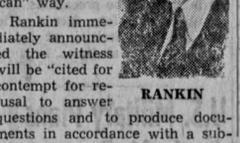

Fire Chief A. M. Marsh said the explosion probably resulted from some one's smoking near the room where gas was being used to ripen bananas.

Rankin, as Committee of One, Accuses Scientist of Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP)—An angry clash between Dr. Harlow Shapley, noted Harvard astronomer, and Rep. Rankin (D. Miss.), sitting as a one-man committee on un-American activities, ended yesterday with Shapley charging "Gestapo" tactics and Rankin announcing contempt action against the scientist.

Shapley rebuffed an attempt by Rankin to question him about his election activities accused Rankin of snatching papers from his hand in a "star chamber" session and of generally acting in an "un-American" way.

Rankin immediately announced contempt for refusal to answer questions and to produce documents in accordance with a subpoena. "I have never seen a witness treat a committee with more contempt," he told reporters.

Committee Counsel Ernie Adamson said that under his interpretation of the committee's authority no further action by it is required for the contempt proceeding.

"Mr. Rankin was authorized to sit as the committee," he told reporters. "Mr. Rankin has directed me to prepare the presentment and that will be done speedily."

The presentment will be sent to Speaker Rayburn. If he approves it, he will send it to the U.S. District Attorney, who then may seek grand jury action if he sees fit.

The committee had subpoenaed Dr. Shapley, who has been director of the Harvard observatory for 25 years, to appear with records of the CIO Political Action committee, the National Citizens Political Action committee, the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions, and the joint Anti-Fascist Refugee committee.

Ball Leads Discussion of New Labor Legislation

By J. W. DAVIS
WASHINGTON, (AP)—New talk of laws to curb labor unions arose in widely separated quarters yesterday, while the veterans administration ruled against unemployment pay for three veterans made idle by the General Motors strike last winter.

The ruling, which the VA said might affect thousands of veterans, was made on the ground that the men were idle because of a labor dispute. They had contended they were out of work primarily because of a shortage of materials.

Senator Ball (R-Minn.), elected four years ago with labor support but who has become a frequent critic of labor union tactics, led the talk of new labor legislation. Senator Hawkes (R-NJ) and Representatives Bennett (R-Mo) and McConnell (R-Pa) joined in the demands for changes in the 60-day cooling-off period before any strike or lockout, (3) greater freedom for employers to express opinions on employment contracts (4) the right for employers to ask for a collective bargaining election (5) making unions subject to suit for violation of contracts and (6) outlawing secondary boycotts.

Senator Hawkes, a former president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, called for a new law to replace the national relations board laws Wagner act, under which the down procedures for collective bargaining and ban alleged "unfair" practices by employers.

The Georgia farm bureau was told by Rep. Wood (D-Ga) that labor unions have built "destructive monopolies" and Rep. Pace (D-Ga) told the Macon gathering that farmers must expect sharp competition from labor unions.

The three veterans directly affected by the veterans administration ruling had contended that under the G. I. bill of rights they were entitled to $20 a week unemployment compensation for the 14 weeks they were idle.

One Pacific Shipping Strike Ends; 2 Continue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Settlement of the dispute involving CIO longshoremen, one of three unions engaged in the 45-day old Pacific coast maritime strike, was announced yesterday by federal mediator Nathan B. Feinsinger.

Negotiations approached a climax with the CIO marine engineers and there were indications some terms would be reached soon in this phase of the dispute. The third union involved, the AFL masters, mates and pilots, continued its negotiations with the Pacific American Shipowners association.

Meanwhile the government, reportedly seeking a 60-day truce to avert a threatened soft coal strike Nov. 20, worked against time to beat John L. Lewis' deadline for terminating his contract in behalf of 400,000 United Mine workers. Lewis may serve notice Friday that he intends to take the step in five days.

Lewis conferred briefly and secretly with Secretary of Interior Krug during the day. The conference took place amid reports the government, which has been operating the mines since seizing them during a strike last May, sought a 60 day truce in an effort to bring the union to terms with the owners.

Other labor developments:
In Chicago, some 1,000 Foreman high school students staged a three hour strike against new rules of behavior in corridors but returned to classes when police arranged a peace conference. The students named a grievance committee to talk over the issue with school authorities.

Violence was renewed in the Hollywood movie labor jurisdictional dispute when a driverless bus, set aflame, rolled blazing through a service station and into busy Beverly Boulevard. Police said the bus, which was virtually destroyed, apparently was one which had been used to carry non-strikers through picket lines at the studios.

At Chicago, the Allis-Chalmers manufacturing company threatened to withdraw from negotiations in a wage dispute if disorders or picketing were resumed at the main plant in West Allis, Wis. A federal conciliator has been holding negotiations in Chicago with representatives of the company and the CIO United Auto workers union.

Also Want 'Constructive' Labor Laws

WASHINGTON (AP)—The house Republican steering committee yesterday agreed upon a 20 percent individual income tax cut, an eight-year limit to the president's tenure, and "constructive" labor legislation.

That preliminary legislative program was agreed to by a score of party leaders, including members of the policy-shaping steering committee and other congressmen who sat in at the first meeting since Republicans won control of congress in last week's elections.

The group, presided over by Representative Martin of Massachusetts, who will become speaker of the house when the new congress convenes on Jan. 3, also called for:

"Substantial savings . . . on a practical basis."

Elimination of governmental controls and termination of presidential war powers as rapidly as "practicable."

Investigation of the housing program and removal of "restraints now holding up proper progress."

"The quickest possible comprehensive recommendation" for relief from shortages in sugar, soap, fats, oils and foods.

Close adherence to the congressional reorganization act "with appreciation of the fact that experience or later developments might demand clarification and improvement."

In a formal statement the committee said it was "a unit in the view that there can be a 20 percent reduction across the board in personal income taxes."

"This will operate to diminish by 20 percent the amount of withholding taxes which now cuts into the pay envelope before the recipient receives it," the committee commented.

"A report by the Republican members of the appropriations committee makes it clear that this saving to the taxpayers can be achieved, while at the same time the current budget can be balanced and payments begun on the national debt."

On labor legislation the committee had this to say: "The committee was in full agreement that labor legislation which will be constructive, but emphatically not punitive, is an early necessity in the 80th congress. The first consideration must be the welfare of the whole nation, which all necessarily embrace the welfare of both labor and management."

The steering committee promised that Republicans will introduce early next year legislation to limit to two four-year terms the tenure of any individual in the presidency.

"We Republicans meant exactly what we promised the people during the campaign and many months before," Martin said. "Now that we are the ones most apt to be affected by such a limitation, we intend to go ahead with it because we believe it is a proposition for the welfare of the nation that transcends any party or personal consideration."

The senate Republican steering committee held an inconclusive three-hour session with Chairman Taft (R., Ohio) reporting "progress" but no actual decisions.

On other items of party interest, however, he announced: "1. That the Republicans consider last session's congressional reorganization law 'a mandate' and will carry out the reduction of senate committees from 33 to 15, with more compact membership. Martin told reporters some members of the house steering committee reserve the right to oppose a merger of the military and naval committees, as provided by the plan.

2. That no decision has been reached on the senate majority leadership for which Taft frequently has been mentioned. Taft said this decision is up to the 51 Republicans who will hold seats in the next senate, and cannot be decided now by a few."

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

Why Should President Resign?

By SAMUEL GRAFTON (New York Post Syndicate)

I have always distrusted the formal approach to government, the dusty legalism and the slightly warped slide rule. It seems to me that these instruments have been brought into play in the current argument that Mr. Truman should turn his office over to a Republican, by first playing a game of musical chairs in his cabinet, and then resigning.

Mr. Truman is not going to do it, so the question is moot; but there is one question that is not moot, and that is the question of the state of mind of some of those who are offering this proposal.

asked Mr. Roosevelt to resign seven years ago, for ever since 1939 congress has been controlled by a bipartisan conservative bloc which has been apoplectically opposed to the White House. The fact that Fulbright, Ickes, etc., make the suggestion only now, when the Republicans have won, indicates that they are excessively impressed by the names of things, rather than by the reality of things in themselves.

And what of 1940 and 1944, in both of which years the voters elected Mr. Roosevelt, and also put in congresses which hated him? Both did, and the reason probably is that our big cities are under-represented in congress, while our rural sections are, on a population basis, over-represented.

If we face a constitutional problem, then, it is one which we have faced for seven or eight years. How shall we solve it? I don't even know if we ought to solve it.

During the war years many of us were glad we had a popularly elected president of all the people to fight it out, on close issues, with a congress put in on the basis of an ancient and probably outworn districting. Granted that a number of city districts went newly Republican this time, the fact still remains (and can be proved from the record) that the people have been electing their presidents of recent years in a quite different spirit from that in which they elect their congresses; and the deep popular attachment to the president, rather than the congress, as the true and favorite representative of the mass of the people, is one of the most startling political phenomena of recent years.

Maybe all this has changed, but the Republicans ought to have to prove it, in an election.

The effort to recast the presidency in the congressional mold runs counter then, to a deep political trend, of a number of years' standing. All this is ignored by the formal mechanics of politics, who forget, also, that there is a large liberal sentiment in America, and that to sweep it out of sight, by giving the Republicans the presidency, merely means that it would be forced to find other modes of expression, in strikes, radicalization of sentiment, third party maneuvers, etc. It would not remain quietly under the rug; and our national life would become less efficient as our government seemingly became more so. Our democratic life is efficient precisely because our political life is not; i.e., because we always manage somehow to institutionalize our quarrels and prevent any one group from having a free hand to make lopsided policy.

Finally, there is the argument that we should leave the Republicans free to make any mistakes they want to for two years, so that we can judge them, later. That, of course, is a fine, expensive way to make a point. The formal approach to politics gives itself away, in all its cold, remote beauty, in this willingness to let the blow of mismanagement fall unchecked on, say, the poor, in a depression, just so we can win a debate some years from now. Come down out of those towers, gents: it's a sweating, suffering world.

To Our Readers

The editorial which appeared in Tuesday's Daily Iowan under the heading "Our Mistake, Dr. Eddie" was written on the advice of the president of The Daily Iowan corporation board and the publisher of the paper.

It was intended to right what they considered at the time to be a wrong. Judging from later developments it failed to do so.

As the situation now stands, The Daily Iowan considers that it has said enough about the subject under discussion.

The NAREB, Profit and the People

Cheer up all you tired homeseekers—veterans and others. The end of the housing shortage is in sight. At least the National Association of Real Estate Boards says it will be if congress follows their wishes and abolishes rent control. The NAREB thinks that many people are occupying more space than they would if they had to pay more rent. The simple expedient of a boost in rent will force more of those people to double up, which will make room for all, they say.

Last summer when OPA was being dismantled NAREB and the landlords cried that they were being discriminated against, but public opinion was so overwhelmingly in favor of leaving rent control untouched that they made little headway with their request for a 10 to 15 percent increase in ceilings.

Such a slight boost will no longer satisfy them. According to Herbert U. Nelson, executive vice president of NAREB, they are "going to wipe out rent control and the whole business this time."

In preparation for this they are distributing a pamphlet called "Roofs or Ceilings" prepared by two economists listed as professors of economics at the University of Chicago and Brown University.

The pamphlet points out that many families who before the war could not afford to rent homes of their own were living doubled up. With a rise in income they sought better housing and were able to afford it because of rent ceilings. If rents are raised high enough some of these families will be forced to use less space than they are now using and the efficiency of housing units will be increased.

Whereas doubling up is now done only from a sense of duty, the authors say, a rise in rent will create a much stronger incentive to economize space.

In case you're unduly alarmed at the prospect of rent increases, they offer some reassuring words to calm your fears. In the first place, they write, the biggest rise would affect new tenants and those without leases. Even the fortunate people with leases might not have to pay any more.

Then too, the average rent increase, "after a year or so," may not be more than 30 percent, which would mean a rise of only five percent in the cost of living. They make no predictions, however, as to how far rents might rise before they settle down to that estimated 30 percent.

As the last and best bit of reassurance they claim that high rents would not be inflationary. The added income landlords would have would be offset by a decrease in purchasing power for tenants so there would be no greater aggregate purchasing power. Besides the landlords deserve higher incomes. Everyone knows what they've had to put up with and they benefited less than any other large group during the war.

We wouldn't want to see anyone slighted in the grab for inflation spoils, would we?

Three Americans, Swiss Author Awarded Nobel Peace, Physics, Literary Prizes

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Committees here and in Oslo awarded the 1946 Nobel peace prize and the prize for achievements in the science of physics to three Americans yesterday and thrust a virtually unknown German-born writer into the limelight with the award of the $34,000 literary prize.

The Nobel peace prize committee in Oslo announced that the peace award of $34,000 would be divided this year by Emily Greene Balch of Boston, 79, internationally known economist, and Dr. John R. Mott, 81-year-old evangelist.

The Swedish Academy of Science named Dr. Percy Williams Bridgman of Harvard University as the winner of the physics award for his invention of apparatus producing extremely high pressures and for studies "within the sphere of high pressure physics."

The Swedish Academy chose Hermann Hesse, 69-year-old former theological student and bookseller's assistant, for the literary award.

The Nobel prize for chemistry was divided yesterday among three Americans. One half of the prize went to Dr. James B. Sumner of Cornell University while the second half was shared by Drs. J. H. Northrop and W. M. Stanley, both of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, Princeton, N.J.

The novels, poems and essays of Hesse, a Swiss citizen, are not widely known in popular literary circles, and the Stockholm newspaper Aftonbladet yesterday criticized the award as "inscrutable" and declared the writer too obscure to receive "such a high literary distinction."

Persons who are extensive readers were well acquainted with him, however, and last night in a broad cast Dr. Anders Oesterling, secretary of the Swedish Academy, praised him as "one of those who first eluded German suppression of a free opinion."

Another literary source here said Hesse ranked with Thomas Mann as "the greatest contemporary German author."

Hesse's first novel, "Peter Camenzind," was published in 1904. Only two books, "Der Steppenwolf" and "Death and the Lover," have been translated into English. Most were translated from German into Scandinavian and Slavic languages and a few were printed in Japanese.

Dr. John R. Mott, whose offices are in New York City and home is in Orlando, Fla., has devoted his life to the spreading of Christian doctrine throughout the world.

As president of the world alliance of Young Men's Christian Associations he went to Germany in February of this year to help the German Y.M.C.A. organizations battle against the rising tide of juvenile delinquency.

A native of Livingston Manor, N.Y., he was a student at Upper Iowa college, Fayette, Iowa. He is a prolific writer of books dealing with evangelism and a contributor to many magazines.

The Swedish Academy in a night session selected Sumner because of his "discoveries that enzymes may be crystallized."

Northrop and Stanley were named for their "achievements in preparing enzymes and virus proteins in pure form."

26 Killed in Plane Crash AMSTERDAM (AP)—A Dutch passenger airliner arriving from London crashed last night at Schiphol airport near Amsterdam carrying all 26 persons aboard to their death.

James D. White's Interpreting The News...

(AP)—The dominant Labor party in Britain has two small "revolts" on its hands.

Once concerns conscription which, of course, could affect Britain's foreign policy. But the more important one comes from a group of about 50 Laborite members of parliament who indirectly censure the Attlee government for playing too close to American policy lines.

They demand a "socialist" foreign policy to prevent "an otherwise inevitable conflict between American capitalism and Soviet communism."

Thus far, this movement is reported to have neither the strength nor the inclination to force a vote of confidence, which could topple the Attlee administration. But neither is there any disposition reported for the Attlee government to ignore altogether such criticism. This is partly because of the fear of war, partly because, in spite of American loans Britain's economy is becoming increasingly socialistic and sees American competition as its greatest rival for vital foreign trade.

In the meantime the French election has caused concern among western democratic diplomats. The strengthened leftist trend it shows in France has not yet proved decisive but, just the same, diplomats at the United Nations meetings in New York are wondering what would happen if French communists take over French foreign policy. Would the common Anglo-American-French front so often opposing Russia endure?

At first it was funny because some of them were older than

Rev. Dierks' Family of Fifteen Provide Lesson in Congeniality

By JOYCE COMPTON

I was. Now Baptist students from all over the state refer to me as Daddy D."

Recalling what he considered the funniest experience in connection with the large family, the Rev. Mr. Dierks said, "One snowy Sunday afternoon when the children were hiking, a tramp came to the back door and asked for something to eat. He came into the kitchen and, since he had no teeth, still was eating when the children returned.

"About 12 or 15 of them came into the kitchen and said, 'Momma D, we're starved. Can we have something to eat?'"

"After they left, the tramp turned to my wife and said, 'Ma'am, if I'd a known you had all those kids I wouldn't of bothered you!'"

Things don't always run smoothly in the Dierks household, and occasionally Daddy D. has to exercise discipline. He has to shoo away lingering boy friends and break up late bull sessions. One of his more difficult duties is seeing that everybody gets up on time.

Every night at 10:30 the entire family, plus any youth fellowship members who may be visiting, gather in front of the living room fireplace while the Rev. Mr. Dierks conducts devotions.

Members of the Dierks "family" are on good terms away from the house as well as at home. At football games two or three delegates acting as spotters are sent ahead to save good seats for what Daddy D. calls "our own pep section."

Birthdays are always celebrated, and Momma Dierks plans her big cakes ahead of time.

Several marriages have resulted from friendships made at the house. "On the route home from a recent trip to Mason City, Mrs. Dierks and I received dinner invitations from six couples who either had lived at the house or had been members of Roger Williams fellowship," the Rev. Mr. Dierks said.

The basement is the chief recreation center for the Dierkses. There is a ping pong table, a darkroom for photography fans, and a composing room where students publish "Sparks," the fellowship paper.

Occasionally suppers are prepared in the basement kitchenette, or winners are roasted in the fireplace.

Congeniality is the only prerequisite for students living at Roger Williams house. The ten newest additions to the Dierks family are members of seven church denominations. They come from Iowa, Illinois, Texas, Utah, Missouri and Hawaii.

Russian Satellites Trade With Argentine

By LAURENCE F. STUNZ

BUENOS AIRES — Argentina, at the moment, is perfectly willing to re-establish relations with Russia's new satellites in the Balkans, and even to talk trade with them—but it's nothing more than protocol and business.

Peron's early flirting with Russia and her bloc has turned cold. For one thing, the expected large-scale trade with Russia didn't materialize. For another, Argentina is not too happy about the way things are developing in eastern Europe. Like the United States, an exporting country, Argentina also would dislike to see any large section of Europe marked "Russian Trade Only."

The Religious Factor There are also other factors at work—more sentimental ones, perhaps, but the Latins are a sentimental people. Catholic Argentina was disturbed by the Yugoslav trial of Archbishop Stepinac and impressed by the excommunication of those involved. And Peron is known to have said that Argentina would side with the United States in the "next war."

Argentina now has established relations with Russia for the first time, and re-established relations with Rumania and Yugoslavia (before the Stepinac trial). Relations with Czechoslovakia and Poland were maintained through-ceeds that of the hectic war days of 1942 and '43. "Migrations of B-29s," it is said, "settle down over their new roosts in sky-filling formations."

It is also reported that the U. S. Aircraft Carrier Midway engaged in maneuvers in Baffin bay off the west coast of Greenland last March. Under the most adverse weather conditions, the Midway is said to have determined that it could get off 90 percent of its "reduced force" of planes.

Chile Plans Polar Trek SANTIAGO, CHILE, (AP)—Manuel Trucco, undersecretary of the navy, said last night Chile was organizing an expedition to explore Antarctic regions where the United States is planning an expedition and where Chile claims sovereignty.

Think Before Speaking, Reader Says to Reader TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

In this column this past week, a gentleman by the name of Roger M. Hughes very politely suggested that a certain member of The Daily Iowan entrain for a trip to Russia. In my personal opinion, a person suggesting as much, is either quite ignorant or at least endeavors to be so. Honest criticism never built anyone, but a blanket statement such as his does not convey such a thought.

For 14 years, the Republican party has unceasingly criticized the administration, and yet I don't remember one single instance where they were told to leave the country. I truthfully cannot conceive of a person attending a first class university making such a statement.

To Mr. Hughes, I can only repeat the time worn adage, "Think before you speak."

Public Must Examine Labor Demands on Industry—Daykin

Claims Some Wage Increases Need Not Change Prices, Profit

The contention that labor is making "excessive demands" upon industry must be examined by the public in relation to what bearing the cost of labor has upon the total price of the product, Professor Walter L. Daykin of the college of commerce said yesterday.

Speaking before the annual meeting of the Iowa Dietetic association, Professor Daykin stated that certain industries can absorb wage increases for labor without having to raise the price of their products or suffer any serious cut in their profits.

Corporations Publicity
Some publicity coming from large corporations has failed to present this true relationship in that it tries to give the people the impression that labor is being unreasonable, Professor Daykin charged.

When there is a large divergence between the wage scale and the standard of living, one must expect workers to demand increases in wages, he maintained.

All the demands of labor are closely associated with the struggle for economic security.

The behavior of labor in its relations with management can be interpreted in the light of that struggle, in the necessity for keeping its job and that security, Professor Daykin explained. Labor fought women in industry because they undermined their status, and the opposition to new machines was another evidence of this fight for security, he pointed out. Labor's marketable commodity is skill, and machines take that skill away from them.

Responsibility for Tension
The responsibility for the present tensions between labor and management does not lie entirely with one side or the other, stated Prof. Daykin. Labor must keep its demands on an intelligent basis, and management must realize that the worker is just as important as the capital equipment.

"The emphasis must be placed on the human element," he said. Professor Daykin has served as arbitrator in labor-management disputes all over the country and recently was sole arbitrator in the settlement of a labor dispute in Puerto Rico.

Germans Need Great Cause To Prevent Confusion—Jenks

The German people must have a great cause and a great leader to take the place of those lost, if confusion in Germany is to be prevented, Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Loren T. Jenks said at Information First yesterday.

Colonel Jenks, who returned from Europe this April after serving as senior chaplain to the seventh army in Germany, spoke on the subject "Democracy's Bid for Germany."

"Competition by certain powers makes it imperative that there be a German government sympathetic to our country," Colonel Jenks declared. "We must sell our type of government to the Germans, who are living in a vacuum as far as government is concerned."

Our military government in Germany offers an opportunity to achieve this aim but is no end in itself, according to Colonel Jenks. He expressed pride in this government, but remarked that it has weaknesses. The Germans consider our government a young government not yet truly tried by a great crisis, Colonel Jenks said.

Declaring that Germany has won the biological war of Europe, Colonel Jenks added that her margin of potential manpower makes her superior in that respect to other European countries. He pointed out that Germany's population is almost the same as before the war.

The upset economy and denazification difficulties in Germany are two big problems we face in that country today, Colonel Jenks said.

More than two and a half million persons who have moved into the American and British zones in Germany double the problem of making democracy understandable there, Colonel Jenks observed, emphasizing that most of these persons have never come into actual contact with a democratic government.

To indicate the measure of political freedom existing in Germany today, Colonel Jenks pointed out that the new opportunity for the Germans to choose between different parties is curtailed because of the large numbers of persons being denazified. He said that the German people have freedom of speech although they cannot criticize the occupational government.

Commenting on the problem of re-educating the Germans, Colonel Jenks pointed out that German students were under such strict regimentation in the army that their hopes, ambitions and goals in life are gone.

"The German people do not admit any guilt for the war," he declared. "Although their pastors have vicariously accepted guilt, those in the church pews have not."

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Refusal of 11-year-old Jimmy Garvin to have his hair cut since he was two-years-old, has paid off.

He suffered a minor brain concussion while playing football. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Garvin said the family physician declared his long hair cushioned the blow and prevented more serious injury.

Town Men List Winners in Bridge

Charles Ingram, A2 of Cedar Rapids, and Monty Pitner, A2 of Shenandoah, won the town men's section of the all-university contract bridge tournament at Iowa Union lounge last night. They defeated Richard B. Brustein, G of Newark, N. J., and Hal H. Gooen, also of Newark, by a score of 1,930 to 1,150.

Students living in university operated housing units are now playing similar elimination matches. All winners must hand their entry blanks in at the Union desk by 5 p. m. Wednesday, according to Gwen Oppenheimer, A3 of Marshalltown, chairman of the Union board bridge and games committee.

Winners of each unit will meet in the second round of elimination of the tournament Monday, Nov. 25, in Union lounge.

All tournament play will be supervised by members of the bridge and games sub-committee.

Pass 4 Bad Checks; Pair Foiled on Fifth

Iowa City police yesterday sought two men who cashed four bad checks for $25 each at different local stores Wednesday.

Victims of the pair were Grimm's, Kadera's, the Gift Shop and Bremer's.

A fifth check was not cashed at Montgomery Ward's when the cashier learned through a phone call to the bank that there was no account for "B. F. Johnson," the name signed to all of the checks.

When the cashier called the bank, the man left saying he had to move his car. He never returned.

He was described to police as about 26 or 27 years old, medium height and weight, brown wavy hair, and wearing blue denim trousers and a leather jacket.

The second man was blond, wearing a green corduroy jacket which was torn in the back, police said.

Boy Scouts to Hold 3-Day Winter Camp

Special outdoor subjects such as astronomy and tracking will be studied, according to George Gragg, district scout executive.

There also will be special games. All first class scouts of Johnson district are eligible to attend the camp. Second class scouts who have had a week at summer camp may also attend. A bulletin containing complete information will be sent to each scout soon, Gragg said.

The camp is sponsored by The Order of the Arrow, honorary boy scout camping fraternity.

Judge Harold Evans to Study S.W. Plank's Tax Petition

Judge Harold D. Evans took under advisement yesterday a petition in which Stanley W. Plank of Kalona asked the court to:

- (1) Either issue an injunction restraining State Treasurer John M. Grimes from distributing over $6,000,000 in state gas tax funds if the money is released to him,
- (2) Or appoint a temporary receiver for the money if it is released from the present trust fund status.

The money, which has been collected from the fourth cent of Iowa's gasoline tax since July 4, 1945, is now on deposit in the First National bank and the Iowa State Bank and Trust company in Iowa City.

It was ordered held when L. V. Carlton of Iowa City contested the constitutionality of the fourth cent of the tax in Johnson county district court and appealed the ruling to Iowa supreme court, where the law was declared constitutional.

Object to Method
The hearing yesterday and one Oct. 17 followed the application for release of the money by Grimes. In the first hearing, attorneys for Carlton and Plank objected to the method of distributing the money to counties on an area basis and to cities on a population basis.

Judge Evans also took under advisement information presented at that hearing.

Plank entered the case when he filed a petition before the Oct. 17 hearing substantiating Carlton's objections to the distribution of the money.

Novy Outlines Farm Bureau 1947 Goals

Emil Novy, North Liberty, Johnson county organization chairman for the Farm Bureau membership campaign, last night outlined objectives of the 1947 drive to township captains and bureau board directors at a dinner meeting in Hotel Jefferson.

Novy emphasized 50 percent of the county rural people will be represented in the bureau if the campaign quota is attained.

The county organization committee has selected township captains, Novy said. Each captain and township director will choose school district leaders who are responsible for nominating district workers.

Emmet C. Gardner, county extension director, said a Dec. 2 meeting for captains and leaders tentatively is scheduled.

Porkers Want Texas In Cotton Bowl Tilt

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)— Since they must whip oft-beaten but tough Southern Methodist here tomorrow to clinch at least a tie for their first Southwest conference football championship since 1936, the Arkansas Razorbacks are shunning talk of bowl bids.

Yet, it's no secret that the Porkers—picked before the season began to battle Baylor to keep out of the cellar—would like to square off with the Texas Longhorns in the Cotton Bowl should the two teams tie for the crown—as is quite possible.

Queries about bowl possibilities, Arkansas Coach John Barnhill, who came here following a successful tenure as boss of the Tennessee Vols to "build for the future" and produced a powerhouse his first season, replied curtly: "We haven't won the championship yet. We still have to beat SMU."

Big Nine Officially Approves Rose Bowl Game

Ted Williams Voted Most Valuable Player In American League

NEW YORK (AP)—Although a disappointment in the world series, Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, yesterday was named the most valuable American League player of 1946.

The famed southpaw swatter, generally as one of baseball's outstanding hitters despite his puny .200 batting average against the St. Louis Cardinals in the recent fall classic, polled a total of 224 points in the balloting by a 24-man committee of the baseball writer's association of America.

Hal Newhouser, southpaw ace of the Detroit Tigers who won the most valuable award in both 1944 and 1945, finished second with 197 points. Williams' teammate, second baseman Bobby Doerr and shortstop Johnny Pesky placed third and fourth, respectively, with 58 and 141 points.

First baseman Mickey Vernon, of the Washington Senators, who beat out Williams for the league batting championship with a .353 average to Ted's .343, finished in fifth place with 134 votes. Cleveland's star twirler, Bob Feller who fanned 348 for a new season strikeout record, was the only other player to get more than 100 points. He placed sixth with 105.

Rounding out the first ten were Boston's right-handed ace pitcher, Dave "Boo" Ferris, 94 points; Hank Greenberg, Detroit slugger, 91; Dom Dimaggio, Boston outfielder, 56; and Cleveland manager shortstop, Lou Boudreau, 37.

Williams, who will receive the annual Kenesaw M. Landis plaque, received nine of the 24 first place votes. Doerr received five, Newhouser three, Greenberg and Pesky two each. The remaining three first-place votes went to Vernon, Feller and Ferris.

Williams finished second in batting, homers and runs-batted-in, but his general all-around good work sparked the Red Sox to a fast getaway in the spring and helped the Sox to their first pennant since 1918. He starred especially in the annual all-star game won easily by the American leaguers. His slump in the World Series was attributed by some to an injury he received when hit on the elbow in an exhibition game.

Plans Formed For New Arena

NEW YORK (AP)—A brand new Madison Square Garden, to be the biggest indoor sports arena in the world, complete with convention hall, escalators and diving pool— for swimming shows, not fights, record it appears that the Evans fan club has plenty of evidence to support claims that Chic is the best high school guard in the state.

Ray-Walcott Battle For Shot at Title

NEW YORK (AP)—The likely next victim to be served up to Joe Louis will be trotted out and put on display for the folks in Madison Square garden tonight—and just to show you how Joe worries about such things, he's in Honolulu enjoying the scenery, at the moment.

This is a ten-round tussle between Jersey Joe Walcott, the Camden "Cutie" with the slick boxing style, and Elmer Ray,

Hawks Leave This Morning For Battle With Gophers

Dr. Eddie Anderson's Hawk-eyes will turn their attention to the North this morning at 7:40 when they board a Crandic for the first lap of their journey to Minneapolis and a meeting with the Golden Gophers tomorrow afternoon.

Thirty-four men have been named to make the last trip of the 1946 gridiron season.

Currently Iowa is tied for fourth place with Indiana in the Western conference standings and a win over Minnesota would bound them up the conference ladder into a possible Rose Bowl appointment.

Yesterday Anderson gave the squad its final workout of the season, but was none to confident about a victory over Bernie Bierman's club. Anderson is expecting one of Iowa's toughest games of the season because past records can be tossed aside when the two teams meet in the battle for Floyd of Rosedale.

Iowa will go into the game with a somewhat revised lineup. Emilen Tunnell and Bob Sullivan, the top Iowa left halfbacks, will be benched in favor of John Tedore, Dave Day will start at guard in place of Earl Banks.

board of estimate, the Triboro bridge authority, the state legislature and sale of the proposed $20,000,000 bond issue to pay for the job.

The capacity of the proposed garden would be 25,000 for fights, compared to 18,500 in the present arena; 24,000 for basketball, compared to 17,400, and 22,400 for hockey, compared to 15,500. The hockey rink would be the regulation-sized 200-foot length, instead of the present, shortened 186 feet.

Arrangements To Be Settled Next Tuesday

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Professor Frank E. Richart of Illinois, secretary of the Western Conference faculty committee on athletics, yesterday announced official confirmation of the Big Nine's decision to participate in the Rose Bowl.

Richart had held up the official announcement until he had received the votes of all nine member schools. His statement yesterday merely confirmed a well-known fact. News of the schools' individual votes had broken one by one in the last three weeks.

Richart announced no count on the poll but unofficially its understood that the vote favored the Rose Bowl, 7 to 2, Illinois and Minnesota being the dissenters.

The Pacific Coast conference through its president, Dean Stanley B. Freeborn, prepared a statement on the Big Nine Rose Bowl vote for simultaneous release with that of the Western conference.

Freeborn said the Pacific Coast conference would meet in Berkeley, Calif., Nov. 19 to consider the proposal which would unite the two leagues in the post-season agreement.

Richart said yesterday that the Big Nine would send representatives to the coast meeting.

Under the agreement approved by the Big Nine, it would sign a five-year contract to furnish a team annually to play a coast squad in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena.

For the first three years the contract calls for a Big Nine member, but after that the Big Nine conference may select an outside representative if it desires.

The Big Nine was approached by the coast on a similar pact several years ago but turned it down at the time.

At Chicago, Kenneth L. Wilson, commissioner for the Western conference, said he was delighted with the Western conference-Pacific Coast conference tie-up for the playing of the annual Rose Bowl game.

"The way is open," Wilson said, "to a furtherance of the fine relations between the two conferences which has been built up for many years on like athletic standards, both in quality of play and administration."

"The proposal which will be presented to the Pacific Coast group in Berkeley next Tuesday does not specify when the arrangement should take effect. Such details will need to be worked out by the joint committee. There has been comment on the fact that the Western conference vote on the Rose Bowl proposal was not unanimous. Such lack of unanimity in conference voting is not unusual.

"But once a conference position has been established by any vote all member institutions automatically subscribe to the measure." The five-man committee of the Western conference will fly to San Francisco from Chicago late Friday night.

'Jacobowsky' Curtain to Rise Tonight at 8:30

The University production of "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" will open at the University theatre tonight for an eight-performance run.

The play, a comedy in three acts and six scenes, is the result of the collaborative efforts of S. M. Behrman, author of "Rain from Heaven" and "No Time for Comedy," and the late Belgian Novelist Franz Werfel, author of "The Song of Bernadette" and "The Forty Days of Musa Dagh."

The comedy, concerned with the plight of a little Jewish refugee and an aristocratic Polish officer, has an undercurrent of bitter, human tragedy. It developed from Behrman's dramatization of a narrative by Werfel based upon an incident which he witnessed when he was a refugee from the Nazis during the recent war.

Werfel told the story of practical and humorous Jewish business man who is forced to travel with a reactionary Polish colonel in their mutual flight from the Nazi army as it sweeps through France. The colonel insists that this girl friend, Marianne, accompany them.

The three of them travel a harrowing course with the Nazis breathing hot on their combined heels. Before they reach safety Jacobowsky has been called upon to exercise his ingenuity to the fullest and the colonel has begun to see the error in his feudalistic ways.

Under the banner of the Theatre Guild, "Jacobowsky and the Colonel" enjoyed a highly successful Broadway run during the 1943-44 season. It won the critic's award as the finest foreign play of that year.

In the university production, the two important lead roles of Jacobowsky and the arrogant colonel will be played by George Ross, G of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Charles Gaupp, G of San Diego, Calif., respectively.

The role of Marianne will be performed by Marjorie Carspecker, A2 of Burlington. Herbert Olson, A4 of Winfield, has been assigned the role of Szabuniewicz, the colonel's orderly.

Tonight's performance will open at 8:30, and students who have not yet obtained their tickets may do so by presenting their identification cards at the University theatre box-office, room 10, Schaeffer hall.

"EENIE, MEENIE, MINIE, MO . . . who would make the ideal beau?" Pat Holland, A2 of Inwood, seems to be pondering over this question as she sits amidst a bevy of bachelors' pictures from the various men's dormitories and fraternities. The perplexed frown on her face might be explained by the fact that she has to select one of the men her choice for "the most eligible bachelor" to reign over the Spinister's Spree Saturday, Nov. 23, at Iowa Union.

Must Ideal Male Be— Tall, Dark 'n Handsome?

—SUI Coeds Wonder

By DEE SCHECHTMAN
Society Staff Writer

Should he be tall, should he have wavy hair, should he have dimples, or should he smoke a pipe? University women will ponder over these questions this week as they begin selecting the "most eligible bachelor" on campus to reign at the Spinister's Spree, Nov. 23.

When university spinisters prepare to file their ballots Nov. 19, all of them will insist that he be "eligible". Some will be requesting the "Sinatra type" with bowties, pipes, and casual clothes, while another may want the business man, with white shirts and conservative tweed suits . . . some may prefer both.

Ruth Hollander, A4 of Cedar Rapids, says he should be a blond, a pipe-smoker, wear a bow tie, always wear white shirts, and be rather tall and slender.

Athletic capabilities will be foremost in the minds of some women when they list their choice for the campus bachelor. LaVonne Stock, A2 of Storm Lake, believes he should be an "outdoor man, displaying a healthy and wholesome appearance."

Other women are reversing the ordinary qualifications, and are searching for a very domestic bachelor. Julia Burch, A1 of Missouri Valley, thinks he should be an excellent host and above all a good cook. In addition she thinks he should have a large collection also thinks the usual qualifications, tall, dark and handsome, should be emphasized.

Without question, campus women will be confronted with many questions and lots of confusion when they cast their ballots for the "most eligible bachelor." Their choice will be presented at the traditional "girl-take-boy" dance to be held Saturday, Nov. 23, in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

St. Patrick's P.T.A. To Hold Tea Friday

Mrs. L. C. Greer and Mrs. L. C. Fitzpatrick, the two presidents of the P.T.A., will pour.

Highlanders to Play in Minneapolis First Postwar Football Trip for Troupe

The University of Iowa Scottish Highlanders will make their first postwar football trip tomorrow when they will perform at the Minnesota-game in Minneapolis. The trip also marks the first time since women replaced men as Highlander members in 1942, that the group has appeared before football spectators outside of the Iowa stadium.

Virginia Anderson, A1 of Mallard, new drum majorette, will lead the Highlanders for both pre-game and halftime performances. She led the group in the pre-game performances in the last two home football games, substituting for Helen Hube Eberle, A4 of Clinton, who is resigning as drum majorette.

For the pre-game performance, Miss Anderson will lead the Highlanders in from the east end of the field, playing an old Scottish song, "Will Yea No Come Back Again." At the center of the field, each rank will wheel to the right and form a single line and then march to the northside lines playing "Minnesota Rouser" as a salute to their host. Then they will turn and march to the south playing the "Iowa Corn Song."

At the half the Scottish troupe will enter the field from the west playing "Lord Lovat," a slow march played during the changing of guard at Edinburgh castle in Scotland. Swinging into "The 42nd Gordon Highlanders," they will give a series of marching maneuvers. At a signal from Miss Anderson they will lay down their instruments and run to assigned places on the field. While most of the group dance the "Highland Fling", eight women will perform the sword dance and Barbara Ginter, A2 of Marshalltown, will do the fling on a bass drum held at shoulder level by eight of her sister members.

The University of Minnesota band, directed by Gerald Prescott, will provide the music for the fling. At conclusion of the dance the Highlanders will march off to the east playing "Auld Lang Syne." The last annual Highlander football trip was made to Illinois in 1942 when the group last appeared as a men's organization. The troupe is sponsored by the university military department and is under the direction of William L. (Bill) Adamson, chief clerk and storekeeper of the department.

The Highlanders were organized in 1937 under the direction of Colonel George F. N. Daily, head of the department of military science and tactics here from 1935 to 1939, with a membership of four university men. Adamson took over in 1937 and since then has increased the troupe's membership to 60.

In the last nine years the bagpipers have performed before almost 2,000,000 people in 18 states. Among their top performances are the New York World's fair in 1939, a Robert Burns celebration in Sioux City and an American Legion benefit for underprivileged children in Denver last July.

Costumes for the group are authentic copies of the Scottish Regiment "Black Watch." The 24 pipers wear dark blue doublets, Royal Stewart plaids and kilts, white spats and tartan hose. The drummers are dressed in crimson doublets, Hunting Stewart plaids and hose with white spats.

The all-important drum majorette presents a contrast to the rest, wearing a white doublet, dress Stewart kilt and plaid hose.

Mr. McGillacudy, a trained Angora rabbit of particular intelligence, will be among the displays at the Iowa City Rabbit club's first rabbit show, which opens tomorrow at the armory.

In general, he is a well-behaved rabbit except when he sees a child in red. "Mac" has an allergy to this combination and will nuzzle the youngster if he can get close.

Mac's accomplishments are considered remarkable by rabbit breeders, one of whom has said opium as anesthesia.

POPEYE

POPEYE, CAN I INTEREST YOU IN A YCLOP?? IF YOU DON'T KNOW WHAT THAT MEANS, IT IS P-O-L-I-C-Y SPELLED BACKWARD!!

THE NEWS GETS AROUND, DON'T IT??

LOOK!! A REAL UNCUT DIAMOND, POPEYE!! DON'T SAY!!

This is our building front located at 24 South Van Buren with plenty of parking space and easy accessibility.

These are the Laundromats — there are 30 of them! Each holds 9 lbs. of clothes and you can reserve as many of them as necessary all at one time. Your laundry never takes you more than 30 minutes.

Ken Sweet, assistant manager, is shown with the extractors and when your clean clothes come from these, they are just the right dampness to iron. (Later, we will have automatic dryers for further drying).

At Last! We Are Proud To Announce
The Opening Today Of Laundromat

A super market style of self-service laundry

Yes, after weeks of getting ready, the gleaming new Westinghouse Laundromats are ready for you.

No more waiting for your laundry to come back. No more dreary toil for you. You simply bring in our soiled clothes, put them in an automatic washer and turn the controls. Then go shopping or sit down in our lounge and read for 30 minutes. Your clothes are done! Once through the extractor and they are ready to take home and iron! Simple, isn't it? ... and that's the secret of Laundromat.

It's for the old and the young. A 10 year old boy can do it ... and they all have fun. It's amazingly economical, 9 lbs. only 35c including the cost of the pure, non-sneezing soap.

COME IN TOMORROW AND LEARN ABOUT LAUNDROMAT ... our trained personnel will be glad to show you how it works.

This is the lounge where you can read or visit with your neighbor while your clothes are being washed. In the background is the children's own room and how they will enjoy it. Pictures, playthings and their very own small size furniture.

Introducing Bill Wheeler, our manager and a graduate of the Laundromat school of instruction. Bill is taking a phone reservation for Laundromats and will be very glad to show YOU how this self-service laundry makes your days easier!
