DIMOUTS ORDERED FOR 21 STATES

Swiss Mountaineers Begin Race To Reach Alpine Crash Victims

AREA IN WHICH PLANE CRASHED—A dog sled makes its way through the deep snows near the crest of lofty Jungfrau, 11,500 feet above sea level in Bernese Oberland, Switzerland, the area in which the wreckage of an American C-53 transport was located yesterday after making a crash landing on Tuesday. All 11 persons aboard the plane were reported alive.

INTERLAKEN, Switzerland (AP)—Swiss mountain climbers last night began a gruelling race to reach 11 passengers of a crashed American Army transport plane. At the same time a glider crew and parachutists prepared for desperate ventures to relieve the 11 who had survived three days and nights of bitter cold on the icy slopes of an 8,000 foot Alpine glacier. Experienced Alpinists said the ground party faced a 20-hour climb over rugged and treacherous terrain—the last lap on hands and knees—to the scene of the crash, 13 miles southeast of here. But there was a chance that a glider and parachutists would get there first. Thomas Erewin, pilot of a big British glider, said in Paris he would attempt to land tomorrow on the 30 degree slope of the glacier in the face of prevailing 70-mile an hour winds and despite the fears of many that the feat could not be done. An American or British medical team may accompany Erewin and his six-man volunteer crew. In Frankfurt, 70 volunteer U.S. Army parachutists were standing by for orders to make a hazardous mercy jump on the glacier tomorrow. Darkness prevented them from trying today. The plane crashed on a glacial formation between Strahlegg Peak and the loftier 14,026-foot Finsteraarhorn, which rise precipitously from the snowfields of the Bernese Oberland. The plane was sighted earlier today after perhaps the greatest search in the history of the continent. Food and supplies were dropped at the scene by U.S. Army planes. At the controls of one was Brig. Gen. Ralph Snavelly, whose wife is one of the 11 passengers awaiting the arrival of rescuers. He has assumed charge of the ground rescue operations. There was no word on the condition of the plane's passengers, eight of whom had been described in previous messages as "stretcher cases." Four women, wives of officers and generals, and a 11-year-old girl are among those who were en route from Munich to Marseille via Pisa when the plane crash-landed on Tuesday. Unconfirmed reports from Grenoble said that an American patrol plane engaged in the search had crashed this afternoon in the Sept Laux mountain range. Mountaineers were reported on their way to the area, where a thick cloud of smoke had been seen.

Legion Seeks End Of Housing Offices

National Committee Backs Resolutions On Homes for Vets

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The American Legion national executive committee late yesterday called for abolition of the Federal Public Housing agency and the office of housing expediter. By a unanimous voice vote the executive group adopted these two recommendations of the special seven-member committee which studied the veteran's housing problem.

Richard C. Cadwallader of Baton Rouge, La., chairman of the housing study committee, told the executive committee that the recommendation for abolishing the office of expediter "is not aimed at Wilson Wyatt personally."

The executive group put its stamp of approval on another recommendation of the committee that an emergency housing board be created by the president. The recommendation was that the board be made up of seven veterans of World War II and "coordinate and pursue to a speedy conclusion the lagging and now demoralized veterans' housing program."

The executive committee further approved a resolution calling for congressional authorization to the FHA to guarantee 100 percent of loans on homes for veterans for a period of 40 years if the loans did not exceed $6,500. Congress was asked to authorize FHA to guarantee up to 100 percent of the cost of new "multiple-renting housing projects containing not less than eight rental units" and costing not more than $500,000.

The executive committee adopted a recommendation that the OPA "cease to administer rent controls and that supervision of rent control shall be vested in the federal housing administration."

On the recommendation of the study committee the executive group adopted a resolution asking that "all federal rent control cease when 4,000,000 new housing units shall have been erected since V-J day" and that landlords "shall be allowed an immediate ten percent rental increase on existing rents." Another resolution adopted in connection with the housing committee report was that congress "enact legislation providing for a 20 percent grant in aid to the states, territories, and District of Columbia which provides a matching 80 percent from the states for the purpose of providing rental units to veterans of the second world war and their widows."

LEWIS ON THE THRESHOLD

JOHN L. LEWIS, cigar in hand pauses a moment at the threshold of the United Mine Workers building in Washington yesterday. Lewis maintained his silence yesterday on the present critical coal situation.

Nation Tightens Belt in Face Of Expected Coal Shortages

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—The first scattered layoffs were reported yesterday in industries dependent on coal for continued operations and industry spokesmen predicted the number of unemployed would swell into the millions if the dispute were prolonged. However, ODT Director J. Monroe Johnson announced a planned embargo on rail freight traffic would be postponed "for several days." Existing coal stocks available to railroads, he said, made immediate action unnecessary.

Meanwhile, clamor for a special session of Congress to deal with the coal situation continued on Capitol Hill and Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) proposed suspension of the Wagner act "until the miners go back to work."

Rep. Carlson (R-Kan.), a house leader on tax legislation, said the coal strike "gravely threatens" Republican plans to slash individual income taxes 20 percent. In St. Louis, the Majestic Manufacturing Co. stove factory shut down because of a coal shortage, forcing the lay off of 200 workers. The Louisville and Nashville railroad announced 200 of its employees had been laid off at its yards in Decourcy, Ky.

Operations in some steel plants were ordered curtailed and railroads began lopping off some passenger train schedules to comply with a federal order for a 25 percent reduction in coal-burning passenger train service Monday.

The country's first brownouts hit Washington, Chicago and Springfield, Ill. In the national capital, the capitol dome was blacked out and restrictions were

Iowa Named Among Areas Affected by Drastic Measure

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sweeping dimout, more drastic than wartime, was decreed last night for 21 states and the District of Columbia, effective Monday night.

Ordered by the civilian production administration as a result of the coal strike, the conservation measure applies to all localities in the area which derive their electricity from coal.

It completely bans the use of electricity for lighting store windows or advertising signs and for air conditioning and refrigeration except that necessary for health and safety and for industry. It requires a 25 percent reduction in electricity used for lighting streets, building and other places except homes, and for running passenger elevators and escalators.

Community Christmas lighting displays will be out unless the strike is terminated in time. Officials said the order bans special Yuletide lights for streets, stores and other public places.

The states affected are Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia, and Wisconsin and the District of Columbia.

The restrictions are to take effect at 5 p. m. (central standard time) Monday regardless of how much coal the electric company may have on hand.

Even more drastic restrictions were ordered to be put into effect automatically by the utilities when their coal stocks are down to a 15-day supply. And a third stage of curtailment was ordered when stocks of coal decline to a 10-day supply.

Electricity generated from oil, gas or water power, however, is not affected. Iowa City's power is supplied by natural gas.

The official industry organ "Steel" said a continued coal shortage would drive production down to 50 percent of capacity within two weeks. General Motors reported it had only a 24 hour steel supply.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation announced a drastic cut in its steel production in the Gary-South Chicago district, effective Monday. The present rate of 91.4 percent of capacity will be trimmed to 68.2 percent. The company added it would bank five blast furnaces in the Pittsburgh district plants today.

The federal power commission urged electric utilities to interconnect their lines to draw as much power as possible from hydroelectric and other non-coal sources.

President Virgil M. Hancher explained in detail yesterday why a proposal to add two days to the end of the term to provide a four-day Thanksgiving holiday for university students is not feasible.

In a letter to William Gilliland, A2 of Glenwood, South Quadrangle president who made the proposal earlier this week, President Hancher said: "If by the school term you mean the end of the first semester, let me point out that the calendar as established provides for the closing of the first semester of the academic year 1946-47 on Saturday, Feb. 1, 1947, at 6 p. m. and for the opening of classes in the second semester on Monday, Feb. 3, 1947 at 7:30 a. m.

"Quite obviously there is no interval here in which two day's classes could be made up. Nor is it feasible to postpone the ending of the first semester to the following week, inasmuch as it may be necessary later to advance the end of the second semester from June 4 to June 6, 1947."

Commenting on the other alternative of changing the dates of Christmas vacation, President Hancher said the Christmas holidays begin Saturday, Dec. 21 at noon and classes begin again Monday, Jan. 6, 1947. "To add two days at this end of the vacation would require classes on Dec. 23 and 24. From previous experience we know that this would be completely unsatisfactory to the student body."

To make up the two days lost now would require classes to begin on Friday, Jan. 3, 1947, and any attempt to bring students back in time for classes on Jan. 3 and 4 would be unpopular," President Hancher explained. Discussing the question of veterans on campus going home for the holiday, President Hancher said that many of the veterans live beyond the boundaries of the state and it still would be difficult, if not impossible, for them to go home if classes were dismissed on the evening of Nov. 27. To make a suitable arrangement for all students to reach home in time for Thanksgiving dinner, classes would have to be dismissed even earlier, he said. The proposal was not lightly turned down. All factors were given consideration, and it was the considered judgment of the calendar committee and the board of deans, in which I concurred that the calendar should stand and that Nov. 29 and 30 should not be declared holidays," concluded President Hancher. When he released the letter to The Daily Iowan, Gilliland commented, "It seems rather definite that the administration considers it not feasible. However, we think that the administration should try to arrange the calendar for next year so that the majority of students will be able to go home for this great American religious holiday."

Dean C. Woody Thompson of the office of student affairs yesterday supported President Hancher's stand. "In view of the fact that the administration should try to arrange the calendar for next year so that the majority of students will be able to go home for this great American religious holiday,"

To Establish Co-Op at Riverdale

University officials yesterday authorized establishment of a cooperative store at Riverdale village for all married students and faculty members living in university emergency housing units, Francis Weaver, L3 of Mason City, announced yesterday. Weaver, chairman of the University Married Students organization, said that authorization came in a letter from President Virgil M. Hancher to Merlan De Bolt, M3 of Marshalltown, who was chairman of the committee authorized by UMISO to investigate possibilities for a cooperative store here. Fundamental consideration of the university officials in granting the request, the letter stated, was the special need of married students living in emergency housing remote from the shopping centers for a store to make usual and necessary purchases of supplies. UMISO's request for three such cooperatives came under university jurisdiction only because it proposed establishment of the stores on university property, the letter explained. President Hancher said in the letter that he had submitted the proposals to the appropriate university committee and to the board of deans and that in their report, these groups had:

1. Granted the request for a cooperative at Riverdale, but denied a request for a cooperative at Hawkeye village and deferred a request for a cooperative at the Finkbine housing project with the understanding that the students may renew their request when the village is near completion.

2. Recommended that only shareholders be allowed to purchase in the cooperative and that shares be available to only all married students in the university and those married faculty members living in temporary university housing.

3. Recommended that the cooperative be controlled and operated as nearly as possible by students with little or no university supervision.

4. Ruled that the cooperative will exist only while the university has temporary emergency housing in areas remote from shopping centers.

5. Recommended that a faculty adviser for the cooperative be chosen by UMISO.

in operating the Riverdale cooperative, the villagers will be able to determine how well the cooperative plan fits their needs and what changes in the system they may wish to effect. Commenting that he felt the only justification for using university property for such a cooperative was the real inconvenience and need on the part of the students for a shopping place near where they could buy necessary articles, President Hancher said that Hawkeye village is quite close to the city shopping area and therefore, its request was denied. A meeting of all married students will probably be called sometime next week to explain the cooperative structure to all who are interested. Robert Riggs, A2 of Ames, UMISO coo-project chairman, said last night. Married students will then be allowed to pledge purchase of one share of stock in the cooperative, he explained, and another meeting will be called shortly thereafter to elect a temporary board of directors from among the shareholders. The temporary board will start the store in operation and apply for a charter from the secretary of state of Iowa. A cooperative store has been in operation at Iowa State college in Ames for approximately eight months, and it is expected that experience gained at that store will be used as a guide in establishing the store here, Riggs said. Mrs. Lorraine Dennis, G of Mason City, Hawkeye UMISO representative, said that the store will probably ration scarce items such as soap and lard on a ration card system as has been done at the Iowa State store. She emphasized that the store has been organized as a matter of convenience to married students and that it will not be open to anyone who is not a shareholder. The price of a share of stock has not yet been established, she said, but the share may be sold back to the cooperative whenever a member leaves the university. No information is now available as to when the store will become operative, but Riggs said that plans are now under consideration for exact location of the store in the village.

Court Dismisses Case Charging Mass Sedition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chief Justice Bolitha J. Laws of federal district court yesterday dismissed the sensational 1944 mass sedition case, but the Justice department announced an appeal from the decision. Laws said that to try the case again—it has lain dormant for two years—"would be a travesty on justice."

The defendants included such figures as Elizabeth Dilling, author of "The Red Network," and William Dudley Pelley, leader of the Silver Shirts. They had stood accused in the longest (eight months) case of its kind in American history, of conspiring (1) to interfere with the draft, (2) to undermine the morale of the armed forces and (3) to set up a Nazi regime in America.

Two Tigers Decide To Sit This One Out

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)—Seven lions tore at each other and two were killed in a half-hour fight yesterday while their trainer, in the cage with them, strove unsuccessfully to restore order. The trainer, armed only with a chair, was unharmed. The beasts fought until exhausted.

The fracas occurred in a large training cage at the home of Dick Clemens, the trainer, in suburban Creve Coeur, when he introduced two new animals into an enclosure containing five other lions and two tigers. The tigers remained on shelves during the fight.

Hancher Explains '1-Day Holiday' Stand In Letter to South Quadrangle President

President Virgil M. Hancher explained in detail yesterday why a proposal to add two days to the end of the term to provide a four-day Thanksgiving holiday for university students is not feasible.

French Resist U. S. Views on Settlement Of German Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Top French foreign office officials publicly reaffirmed yesterday their nation's insistence on internationalization of the Ruhr and declared outright opposition to American proposals for solving German economic problems before the political future of Germany is determined. Deputy foreign minister Maurice Couve de Murville, French delegate to the Big Four foreign ministers meeting here, declared that the German problem "which is most urgent is the political settlement."

Pressure for Peace

In recent months the American press has devoted a considerable amount of news space to the activities and aims of various pressure groups within the nation. Some of these pressure groups, as the Columbians and the American Action, Inc., have been thoroughly condemned for spreading bigotry and hatred. Others, such as the CIO Political Action committee and the National Association of Manufacturers, have not been accepted by a large segment of our population.

But there is at least one pressure group which should be wholeheartedly accepted and praised by all good Americans. That is the Atomic Scientists, Inc., of Princeton, N. J.—an organization which stresses no selfish interests, seeks no privileged gains—an organization really working for the safety of all mankind.

This group of scientists is fighting to educate people about the social implications of the atomic bomb, fighting to avoid the destruction of civilization by atomic warfare.

Last Sunday Prof. Albert Einstein and eight other leading scientists, members of the emergency committee of Atomic Scientists, issued an appeal for public contributions to help the group achieve its aims. This appeal, telling the aims and principles of Atomic Scientists, contained certain basic facts worthy of constant repetition. These facts must be realized by all humans if atomic warfare is to be prevented. The appeal stated:

- "These facts are accepted by all scientists:
- "1—Atomic bombs can now be made cheaply and in large number. They will become more destructive.
- "2—There is no military defense against the atomic bomb and none can be expected.
- "3—Other nations can rediscover our secret processes by themselves.
- "4—Preparedness against atomic warfare is futile, and if attempted will ruin the structure of our social order.
- "5—If war breaks out, atomic bombs will be used and they will surely destroy our civilization.
- "6—There is no solution to this problem except international control of atomic energy, and ultimately, the elimination of war.

The program of the committee is to see that these truths become known to the public. The democratic determination of this nation's policy on atomic energy must ultimately rest on understanding by its citizens."

Here is a group of the world's greatest scientists opposing the scourge of atomic warfare. They are directing their energies to the broad and far-reaching effort of public education. Here is a pressure group for all—one that should receive the enthusiastic support of all who hate war.

Red Scare Getting Out of Hand

When the Red scare and nationalism strike at the ranks of veterans organizations, the thing is getting out of hand.

Within the past week, both American Veterans Committee and Veterans of Foreign Wars national spokesmen have stated that they oppose the entrance of communists into their organizations and that they will deny the privileges of membership to communists.

VFW said several chapters have been denied charters because they were found to be sponsored by "un-American groups."

Their idea is right—that they oppose un-Americanism—but their method of attack is wrong, we feel.

Nationalism, leading to isolation, is a dangerous thing to America. Up to now, we have depended on the much-traveled veteran to fight this nationalistic feeling because he has seen and can appreciate the viewpoint of foreign peoples.

Democracy is a fleeting thing. It demands that all peoples must have their right to speak, that they must have equal protection of basic freedoms under the laws of the country.

AVC is especially to be condemned for this shortsighted action, inasmuch as their national constitution opens the organization to veterans of all Allied countries, and does not discriminate against any veterans because of his race, creed or color.

It is possible—if communists can be barred from the organization—that the same bars could be raised against Democrats, Republicans, Methodists, Negroes or Jews.

Here is the clincher: no matter how much we may oppose communists (and The Daily Iowan does oppose them), it stands to reason that such a bar drives them into secrecy—and in secrecy, they become infinitely more dangerous.

Know them for what they are and they are no threat. How can AVC and VFW hope to tell them from "regular" people? They bear no marks.

The action of these two veterans groups is like posting signs around a chicken yard to keep out foxes.

Elevator Maze

Dynamic Psychology Fails in Test

Psychology seems to have no effect on elevators.

Thirteen graduate students of Prof. Robert Sears' "Dynamic Psychology" seminar made this discovery yesterday, when the elevator in which they were descending from a class meeting became lodged near the second floor of East Hall.

They concentrated mightily upon the stubborn brute—as well as pushing its buttons and tugging at its doors—but it took an undynamic wooden ruler to get them out after 20 minutes of confinement.

It was the noon hour and the janitors were out to lunch. Jeering onlookers from the hall offered little help, except for one individual who came up with the drastic suggestion that they push the cable release.

One library assistant showed some real concern for the marooned 13, and managed to push a ruler through the crack in the elevator door. This enabled Lt.

Off the Record

Too little has been said in the past about the well-groomed arrangements of Tex Beneke and the Miller band. Admittedly the band lacks the complete Miller savor that before the war made Glen Miller the nation's top arranger-leader. Perhaps this is for the best. Besides adopting some of the best of Miller's style, Tex has gone a step further and added interesting ideas of his own . . . which add immeasurably to the superb Miller technique.

Kay Kyser and his Kyser crumb have recently pressed, almost to the point of extinction, OLD BUTTERMILK SKY. Kyser's version is as usual bouncy, featuring the trombones and the vocal work of Michael Douglas and the Campus Kids. This is opinion, but I think if you're about to shove any green across the counter for this number, better get the original by Hoagy Carmichael.

Perry Como seemingly is everybody's singing favorite these days. In a recent up-to-the-minute edition of GIRL OF MY DREAMS, for Victor, Como pulls all of his swoon tricks out of the bag to make this old timer worth listening to. Most of the people, at least those who have a weak spot for an old-fashioned love song, will enjoy the Como treatment of this ballad.

If you happen to be one of those people who enjoy the hoarse voice of Vaughn Monroe you'll be interested in the two newly published Gershwin tunes Monroe has recorded. CHANGING MY TUNE and AREN'T YOU KIND OF GLAD WE DID feature the vocalizing of Monroe plus the usual good orchestration by the band.

The initiates are Richard Buchwalter, E4, Raymond Moore, E3, Verne Boulton, E3, and Woodrow Clendenen, E3, all of Iowa City; Irving Brown, E4 of Camden, N. J.; Howard Patterson, E4 of Reynolds, Neb.; Robert E. Whitley, E4 of Muscatine; Earl J. Woolver, E3 of Nichols, and Randall Meier, E3 of Mt. Union.

Book Views

By G. M. White

"Seeing Things," by John Mason Brown. New York: McGraw-Hill, 1946. 335 pages, $3.00 (Book supplied for review by The Bookshop.)

Are you irritated? Do children annoy you? Do you feel you are in a rut and unable to see around the Grant Wood curves of Iowa hills? Did you miss seeing "Harvey," the invisible six-foot rabbit whom Frank Fay made seem more real than himself? Are you bored?

A palliative if not the cure for all these ills can be had in John Mason Brown's "Seeing Things." This famous New York drama critic, somewhat mellowed, has reached the enviable position of writing a column of just what he pleases for the Saturday Review of Literature. "Seeing Things" is a collection of these light essays.

Here in sweet juxtaposition, between the covers of a book, are all the interesting people, the drama, the friendly charm, the excitement and bright lights of an intimate Broadway. No where else, certainly not in New York, will you find them.

Mr. Brown sees things with compassion and delight and writes well enough to share it with you. Children, Donald Duck, Alexander Woolcott, Ernie Pyle, G.B.S. and George Jean Nathan, Norman Corwin, Bobby Clark, Danny Kaye, Frank Fay—all are subjects of more or less gay discourse. And so is Hamlet and a lonesome Negro who explains why he drives a Chevrolet instead of a Ford.

"Seeing Things" is a book to warm the cockles (whatever they are) of the heart. As Mr. Brown would be the first to admit, there is nothing worse than cold cockles. And if your heart has no cockles, read "Seeing Things," and maybe some will sprout.

The book concludes with a "few plaudits" which John Mason Brown delivered to a wartime graduating class of Montana State university. He summarizes his more serious point of view with a quotation from Carlyle:

"Be no longer a chaos, but a world, or even a worldkin. Produce! Produce! Were it but the pitifullest infinitesimal fraction of a product, produce it in God's name. 'Tis the utmost thou has in thee: out with it, then. Up! Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy whole might. Work while it is called Today; for the Night cometh, wherein no man can work."

In a recent up-to-the-minute edition of GIRL OF MY DREAMS, for Victor, Como pulls all of his swoon tricks out of the bag to make this old timer worth listening to. Most of the people, at least those who have a weak spot for an old-fashioned love song, will enjoy the Como treatment of this ballad.

If you happen to be one of those people who enjoy the hoarse voice of Vaughn Monroe you'll be interested in the two newly published Gershwin tunes Monroe has recorded. CHANGING MY TUNE and AREN'T YOU KIND OF GLAD WE DID feature the vocalizing of Monroe plus the usual good orchestration by the band.

The initiates are Richard Buchwalter, E4, Raymond Moore, E3, Verne Boulton, E3, and Woodrow Clendenen, E3, all of Iowa City; Irving Brown, E4 of Cam-

I'D RATHER BE RIGHT

By SAMUEL GRAFTON

New York Post Syndicate

It would not be right to say that controversy is developing among the victorious Republicans, but a kind of sorting-out process has begun. There is even a left-wing, headed by, don't gasp, Senator Taft. In the Republican party of today Senator Taft is (as the Alsop writing team has pointed out) the progressive. His name is in the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill; he is against cutting everybody's taxes wildly within the first five minutes after the opening prayer at the next session; and while he does indeed want to tinker with the labor laws he is not really convinced that a country can abolish the free labor system (hey, that's a good phrase) by passing a statute in congress assembled.

And the fact that the unsimilingly conservative Mr. Taft is about the best we can hope for in the way of an effective Republican left wing is, of course, one of the scariest news items to come along since the first announcement of the existence of the Loch Ness monster.

However, it is true; there is a measurable difference between Senator Taft, and, say, Speaker- to-be Martin, of Massachusetts.

Yet it is along this line that the sorting-out process is taking place, and that the first, faint signs of Republican division manifest themselves. Professor John Hanna of Columbia, for example, has suggested, in a letter to the New York Herald Tribune, that the Republican congressional delegation ought to assemble a squad of experts, in effect a braintrust, to help it in its deliberations. The Herald Tribune itself endorses the suggestion, though even it puts quotation marks around the word

More Criticism on Holiday Rule

(Once received letters to the editor become the property of this newspaper and we reserve the right to edit them or withhold them altogether. Unsigned letters will not be published. Views expressed in letters do not necessarily represent those of The Daily Iowan—The Editor.)

TO THE DAILY IOWAN:

This bone of contention is no personal grievance, for a four-day Thanksgiving vacation would mean no more to me than the existing one-day holiday. But the administration policy strikes me as being most arbitrary and intolerant.

A university cannot practically be governed by democratic rule of its student body. But the appointed officials, though they may have the legal right to act as they see fit, should realize that now, especially, they are dealing with a relatively mature student body, rather than with a bunch of kids, and that they have a moral obligation to make their administration as democratic as practical.

The university officials have said several times now that holiday extension is being rejected "because schedules have been fixed for some time, and programs of work planned in accordance with the stated calendar." But just what this means they refuse to say. Does the university charter forbid changing of a pre-arranged calendar? Must the students have classes on Nov. 29 to meet minimum requirements? Would it be impractical to add another day later on in substitution for Nov. 29? Just what is behind the administration's refusal in this case?

Can't or won't the administration officials realize that adverse public opinion can immeasurably retard both students and faculty in their future work? Can't they realize that, in their position of education leadership, it is their duty to set an example of sound policy and just government?

The administration should not be called upon to answer for all its actions and decision but when a matter provokes as general adverse criticism as in this case, I believe the officials would be wise to state their case. If there is logical reasoning behind this administration refusal, then let us have it. We'll either agree or disagree, but at least we'll understand. As the matter rests now, student ire has been provoked to the point of bitterness over what should be an easily-explained circumstance.

ROGER A. NEWBURGER

Your lead editorial of today tempts me to philosophize. I sense in it, as well as in the Thanksgiving holiday controversy, the implication that legalized absence from school is a pleasure well worth fighting for. At what point in their growth do people acquire this attitude, and why?

For, if the Preschool children are "one group of students on the campus" who have a Friday holiday, they are perhaps also the one expert (like this, "expert") as if there really were no such thing, a strange mannerism on the part of a newspaper which has been aware of anti-intellectual trends in this country, and of their dangers.

You could not quite drive a truck into the space between them, but you might get a sharp knife in. The difference is that Mr. Taft believes in using program and method; in mixing a little conciliation with his conservatism, a bit of honey with the quinine; while Mr. Martin would seem to represent those Republicans who are getting set for a fast, gay ride, who consider that their business is, first to cut taxes, and next, to loft anything else they don't like without fretting too much about the total picture.

The main body of the Republicans may begin to mutter soon about Mr. Taft that he is a good fellow, but that he believes in planning; if this evil word gets around, the senator from Ohio may find himself alone in the classrooms.

University Asked to Cut Use of Fuel

R. J. Phillips of the university physical plant yesterday asked the staff members and students to cooperate in reducing the use of heat, electricity and water on the campus.

He explained that if we do not conserve on fuel at once our supply will be exhausted by Jan. 1, 1947. Under normal conditions our supply of storage coal is sufficient for only 40 days, but because of the coal mine controversy, all shipments of coal to the university have been stopped.

He suggested the following conservation methods:

1. Please close radiator valves when temperatures are above 70 degrees.
2. Report promptly any overheating in rooms with thermostat controls.
3. Please turn off lights when leaving rooms and in unused portions of rooms and corridors.
4. Please encourage the use of libraries, and not classrooms, for study.
5. Report promptly any leakage of hot or cold water.
6. Reduce the use of ventilating equipment to a minimum.

Faculty Gives Students Bad Time in Contest On Current Happenings

Faculty representatives downed students by a score of 65-54 in the "It's News to Me" quiz show over WSUI last night.

Charles Swanson and William Porter, both instructors in the school of journalism, represented the faculty, while Kathryn Larson, A4 of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Dick Yoakam, G of Pittsburgh, Pa., were the student representatives.

Quizmaster Prof. Arthur Barnes of the school of journalism said the program included questions on football, international, national and local news events.

Square Dance Club To Sponsor Frolic

Hick Hawks square dance club of the Women's recreation association will sponsor a "Calico Barn Frolic" Nov. 29 from 8 to 11 p. m. in the women's gymnasium.

The frolic will be open to all university students and towns people, according to Harold Swartz, A3 of Iowa City, and Eleanor Kolar, A3 of Cedar Rapids, co-chairmen of the party.

Square dancing will be the main feature of the evening beginning with the simplest form and working up to the more complex. During intermission there will be a skit, a reading and informal group singing.

Chairmen of the dance committees are Dorothy Jahns, A3 of Burlington, Wis., publicity; Anna Gay, A3 of Iowa City, refreshments; Mary Ellen Cabbage of Omaha, Neb., dance programs, and Opal Bane, A3 of Farnhamville, decorations.

To Hold Private Funeral For John O. Maruth

Private funeral services will be held today for John O. Maruth, 69, who died at University hospital Wednesday after a short illness.

A long-time resident of Iowa City, Maruth operated the Maruth Clothing company on S. Dubuque street. He later worked in the office of the county superintendent of schools.

Gems on Black Set Winter Style Pace

By LORELLA PETREHN

Fashions which predict a jewel-studded winter with an emphasis on black were portrayed at the style show sponsored by the Bethlehem Shrine last night at the Masonic Temple.

Outstanding illustration of the new trend in cocktail dresses was a black crepe original modeled by Mrs. Robert Faber. Designed by Fred Block, it featured a full peplum, gold embroidery and sequins, and long, slim sleeves. Twin bracelets of gold and a black and gold dress hat complimented the costume.

Another sophisticated example of the 1946 "jeweled look" was an atomic blue cocktail dress with silver nailheads accented by a matching hat of ostrich tips, a black lizard bag and long cocktail gloves. This creation was worn by Carrie Gray.

A new version of the popular black-and-white fashion was the short black wool crepe dinner suit with seed-pearl detachable collar and cuffs. This Herbert Sontheim original was modeled by Barbara Mezik.

Among the other gowns that put the emphasis on after dark scintillation was a white-crepe formal with rhinestone top, open midriff and the new split straight skirt worn by Mrs. Faber.

Hammered silver buttons on an ebony rayon crepe dress was another of the newer creations displayed by Grace Frasseur. Her hat was a black draped turban with shell cloche feathers.

If the gowns modeled at this winter fashion preview are any indication, feminine fashions of the future suggest a predominance of black with more and more jeweled effects.

Two Admit Driving While Intoxicated

Two men pleaded guilty, two entered pleas of not guilty and one man asked more time to plead yesterday in an arraignment before District Judge Harold D. Evans.

Roy E. O'Leary and Robert Schreiber pleaded guilty to charges of operating motor vehicles while intoxicated and each was fined $300 and costs. One-half of each fine was suspended for first offense.

Tom Kettles pleaded not guilty to a larceny charge involving $111 taken Oct. 5 from Glen W. Barker. Gilbert Ayles pleaded not guilty to a charge of larceny of 40 pigs Oct. 14 from Joe Huff, Lone Tree farmer. William A. Griffin, listed on the same charge, asked for more time to enter a plea. He was granted until Dec. 2.

Lions Club Delegates Plan Year's Program

Lions club representatives from seven eastern Iowa cities last night discussed projects and programs for their new club year at a zone business meeting in Reich's pine room.

B. T. Severson of Marion, zone chairman, presided. Henry Adams of Monticello, deputy district governor, was also present.

Al Spaan, Iowa City Lions club president, said project plans will be announced next month.

Vandals Mar Busses Of Iowa City Company; Cut Upholstery, Seats

A recent display of juvenile vandalism has been causing much concern to managers of the Iowa City coach company.

J. E. Negus, manager of the bus line, said yesterday that several of his busses had to be garaged recently so that damage to upholstery could be repaired.

One bus on the Rundell-N. Dodge run came in several days ago with an eight-inch square cut out of the upholstery. Another bus had a large T slashed through a seat cushion.

Negus said that damage to bus upholstery is particularly serious these days because material for reupholstering is very difficult to obtain.

City Churches Plan Part in State-Wide Religious Census

Plans for Iowa City's part in a state-wide religious census conducted by the sociology department of Iowa State college and several other agencies were announced yesterday by the Rev. Edward W. Putnam and Emil G. Trott, co-chairmen.

The census, to be made Jan. 19, will be used to determine the religious preference of every man, woman and child in the Iowa City area. Father Putnam added that this is the first time all major churches in Iowa City have cooperated in any such project.

The census will be made on a house-to-house basis by volunteer workers from all churches. The census takers are being recruited by ministers of the different churches this week. Each church is expected to contribute a quota of workers proportionate to its membership.

Single university students will not be canvassed in the census because of the complete information obtainable at the office of the registrar. However, married students will be asked for their church preferences because of the lack of such information about their families.

Special committees for the census are: tabulation, Mrs. Jessie B. Gordon; recruiting and assignment, Mrs. G. W. Martin and Pauline Kelley; instruction, Prof. Norman C. Meier; publicity, W. T. Hageboeck; finance, A. C. Proehl; and Judge James P. Gaffney, Iver A. Opstad, Monsignor Patrick J. O'Reilly, Sam Saltzman, and Prof. H. W. Saunders.

Attends Chicago Meeting

Prof. Elizabeth Halsey, head of the women's physical education department, is in Chicago attending the 12th annual Chicago Recreation conference held by the Chicago Recreation commission.

Commercial recreation, public recreation and recreation through private agencies will be considered at the one-day group discussion meeting, Professor Halsey said.

Small Boys Plus Attic Plus Matches Equals Quick Call to Firemen

Two mattresses and a stack of old magazines were set afire yesterday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Benson, 327 N. Johnson street, when their four-year-old son and a playmate decided it would be fun to play with matches in the attic.

Mrs. Benson said she smelled smoke in the house and rushed to the attic where the two boys were

Illini, Michigan Sweat Out Title, Rose Bowl Hopes

Northwestern, Ohio State Hold Key In Traditional Closing Conference Games

By JERRY LISKA

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The Big Nine's traditional closing football battle today will be highlighted by two contests which will determine the conference championship and a Rose Bowl trip. Key skirmish is the meeting here today between first-place Illinois (5-1) and sixth-place Northwestern (2-2-1) before a capacity crowd of 47,000. An Illinois triumph would clinch the first Illini conference title since 1928 and a New Year's Day visit to Pasadena, regardless of how second-place Michigan (5-2-1) fares against third-spot Ohio State (4-2-2).

Two other closing Big Nine games also are typical "neighborhood" scraps. They are Indiana's invasion of Purdue for their Old Oaken Bucket spat, and Minnesota's visit to Wisconsin, a bit of a Viking's vendetta.

The Illini square off against the Wildcats with a record of four straight decisions over Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa and Ohio State. Their only loss was a 14-7 setback by defending champion Indiana, following an opening 43-7 rout of Purdue. The tangle for "Sweet Sioux," wooden Indian trophy which symbolizes the Illinois-Northwestern rivalry, apparently will be decided by how effectively a bristling Illini line performs against a Wildcat offense, sparked by Vic Schwall and Art Murakowski, which ranks third in the conference.

The Purple attack was weakened considerably yesterday when slippery Frank Aschenbrenner was benched by injury.

Coach Lynn Waldorf has had to rebuild almost the entire Northwestern line because of injuries which sidelined center Alex Sarkisian and tackle Bill Ivy, and made guard Vince Di Fanessa and tackle Steve Sawle doubtful starters.

The Illini offense, ranked only eighth in the league, has never quite reached expectations, but with the scent of roses in the air, Buddy Young may finally kick up his mercurial heels in oldtime form today.

Even if Young, who has scored only three touchdowns in eight games, continues in his "baiting" role, the Illini still will pack plenty of offensive punch in the passing of Perry Moss, the running of Julie Rykovich and Paul Patterson, and the plunging of Russ Steger.

Records May Fall In Columbus Clash

By DON STULL

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Michigan and Ohio State, a pair of million dollar attractions at the football gate, tangle here today in a record-shattering Big Nine gridiron classic.

The contest is expected to draw 78,000 fans, sending the season attendance receipts for each school well above the million dollar mark and establishing several new crowd records as well.

The crowd will boost the total attendance of Michigan, the nation's leader at the box office this year, to 660,504 for a nine game season—a new record for the Western conference.

It'll also establish a new high of 603,966 for Ohio State's Bucks, who set the Big Nine's previous record of 544,567 in nine games a year ago.

It's also the biggest gate of the year in Ohio's big concrete horseshoe stadium.

The game could produce a couple new performance records for the Big Nine, too.

Michigan's great left halfback, Bob Chappius of Toledo, needs only 95 yards through the air and on the ground to eclipse the six-game conference mark of 862 yards established in 1942 by Otto Graham of Northwestern.

The 183-pound Chappius also stands a chance of bettering the league's forward passing percentage achievement. He's completed 23 of 43 this year for a mark of .535. The record is .544 set by Dick Good of Illinois in 1942.

The Michiganers also could win the first trip to the Rose Bowl under the conference's recently-sealed deal with the Pacific Coast loop. The Wolverines have won four, lost one and tied one in the league, and if Northwestern could bump Illinois today, Michigan could grab off the title and that trip to the west with a triumph over Ohio State.

Hettrick Battles It Out

GENE HETTRICK, Iowa City center, goes high in the air to grab this rebound in the first quarter of the Iowa City-Muscatine game last night. He didn't get it without a fight, however from an unidentified Muskie. Others in the picture are Bob Beals (3) Iowa City, and Bloom (7) Muscatine. (AP WIREPHOTO)

Iowa City Falls In Opener . . .

Muskies Win, 41-20

SPECIAL TO THE DAILY IOWAN
MUSCATINE—Muscatine high school slapped a 41-20 defeat on Iowa City in the first game of the basketball season for both schools. Iowa City is the defending state champion.

It was a typically early season game—ragged and rough. The Muskies presented a well balanced scoring attack, however with four men gathering seven or more points. Jim Proffitt was tops with 10, Butch McCleary had nine, Gene Paetz eight and Willis Vallet seven.

Forwards Dick Drake and Sonny Dean were high for Iowa City with four points each.

The Hawks showed flashes of their last season's form in the opening minutes, jumping off to a 5-1 lead. Muscatine worked into a seven all tie at the quarter mark and iced the game with a terrific defensive show that held the invaders scoreless from the middle of the second until near the end of the third.

The Little Hawks had their last fling when the second period started. Sonny Dean swept in and shot them into the lead on a perfect throw, but Proffitt tied it up and, Paetz went in under to send the Muskies out in front 11-9.

Drake put Iowa City back into a tie but then the roof fell in on the champs. Vallet, McCleary, Vallet again, and then Bob Phillips hit to send Muscatine into a 21-11 halftime lead that left the Hawks limp.

After intermission Iowa City couldn't score until with 40 seconds left in the quarter Don Wood potted a free throw and seconds later Jimmy Sangster cashed in to make the count read Iowa City 14, Muscatine 30 at the third quarter pole.

Both coaches ran in substitutes in the fourth period and the Muskies kept up the onslaught scoring 11 points to Iowa City's six to make the final count, 41-20.

Coach Howard Moffitt's sophomore squad tripped the Muskie "B" squad, 31-26 in the preliminary game. Leading 15-14 at halftime, the sophos poured it on in the third quarter and coasted through the final period. "Whitey" Diehl led the scorers with six buckets for 12 points while John Hahn scored nine for the losers.

Musial Wins Player Award

DONORA, Pa. (AP)—Sam Breardon might as well be prepared. Stan Musial, the St. Louis Cardinals' hard-hitting first baseman, is going to ask his boss for a raise and perhaps for a two or three-year contract before the world champions depart for their spring training camp in Florida.

The National League's leading batsman, with a .365 average, revealed yesterday that he was thinking in terms of more cash after receiving word that he had been voted the senior circuit's most valuable player for the second time in his four-year major league career.

Stan declined to say just what he would request in the way of a raise. But he pointed to his season's batting average and said: "Don't you think I deserve a substantial one?"

"As for a two-year or three-year contract, I haven't made up my mind yet."

There was a big celebration Thursday in his trim little cottage overlooking the Monongahela river. Thursday was the Musial's seventh wedding anniversary and Stan's 26th birthday.

In winning the National League's most coveted prize, Musial polled 319 points in the balloting by a 24-man committee of the Baseball Writers' association of America. It was the highest total number of points recorded by the winner since the present rating was adopted eight years ago.

Army Turns Down All Bowl Offers, Navy Last Game

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army's mighty football machine, unbeaten terror of the nation's gridirons for three years, will definitely call it a career with the Navy game next week—with no post-season hoopla or bowl game hullabaloo.

That was made definite yesterday with an announcement from the military academy superintendent, Major General Maxwell D. Taylor, who had been willing to let the careening cadets play in the Rose Bowl until the Pacific Coast conference and the mid-west's Big Nine closed the door with their private deal early this week.

"The superintendent announced yesterday," he explained, "that the Army football season will end and the squad disbanded following the Navy game on November 30 in Philadelphia."

Football Forecast

NEW YORK (AP)—Here's one more round of football predictions. Southern California vs. UCLA—Having swept aside eight opponents with an attack that tops anything in the country for ground-gaining ability, the unbeaten Bruins this one to wrap up the Pacific Coast title and qualify for the Rose Bowl. By a narrow margin, UCLA.

Yale vs. Harvard—There's more than tradition riding on this one for a change. Harvard could clinch the Ivy League crown right here but the Bulldogs have the stuff to prevent it. A big cheer for Eli Yale.

Duke vs. North Carolina—By winning here, the Blue Devils can knock the Tar Heels off the Southern Conference perch. The choice here is Duke.

Texas Christian vs. Rice—Rice is still shooting for a share of the Southwest conference title and a possible Cotton Bowl engagement. One shaky vote for Rice.

Indiana vs. Purdue—Ben Raimondi and Bob DeMoss pitching for the Old Oaken Bucket. The choice is Raimondi and Indiana.

SUI Renews Right To Send Delegates To Greek School

The university is resuming its membership in the American School of Classical Studies at Athens, Greece, Prof. Gerald F. Else, head of the classics department, has announced.

Instituted for more than 50 years, the school represents the most important American activity in the field of Greek archaeology.

The school is a graduate institution which gives graduates of American universities additional training and practical field work in archaeology, Professor Else stated.

President Virgil M. Hancher has nominated Professor Else to be the university's representative on the school's managing committee.
