U.S. Backs Soviet A-Bomb Limit Plan

Two Powers Disagree On Veto Principle In Disarming Program

LAKE SUCCESS, N.L. (AP)—The United States joined Soviet Russia yesterday in calling upon the United Nations to give the atomic bomb No. 1 priority in world-wide arms limitation, but the two powers remained far apart in the principle of the veto applied to a disarmament program.

The British disagreed with Russia and the United States on such a high rating for atomic weapons, insisting that they be considered along with all other modern means of warfare. The British also flatly stated again their rejection of Russia's broad plan for disarmament as long as it is tied up with the veto.

To Take Up Veto

The political committee of the U.N. assembly, conforming to the speed-up program adopted by the United Nations to try to complete the assembly by Dec. 11, will hold its first Sunday meeting at 2 p. m. today. The U. N. press department announced late yesterday it would take up the veto instead of continuing discussion of disarmament.

The United States delegation submitted to the political committee just as it adjourned yesterday a proposal by which the general assembly would recommend that the security council, "give prompt consideration to working out the practical measures, according to their priority, which are essential" for the general regulation and reduction of armaments under international agreements.

Then the U. S. resolution said: "The general assembly recognizes that essential to the general regulation and reduction of armaments is the early establishment of international control of atomic energy and other modern technological discoveries to ensure their use only for peaceful purposes."

The resolution also stated that practical safeguards such as inspection and control are necessary in any disarmament scheme. This was in line with the original American insistence that the veto must not apply to atomic energy control. A spokesman said the U. S. objection to the veto now applied to the whole broad matter of general disarmament.

Russia told the committee Friday that its proposal would place the system of international inspection and control which Russia advocates under the framework of the security council, in which Russia, China, Britain, France and the United States hold the right of veto.

Thus the effect would be that any of these five powers could veto any proposed inspection of its territory or any control measures the council might seek to apply. "Fraud, Delusion, Snare"

Sir Hartley Shawcross, acting chief British delegate and British attorney general, answered that feature in Saturday's meeting. "We will be no parties to a scheme which gives any power veto over the way in which regulation, control of inspection should be carried out," he said. "A scheme subject to such hazards would be a fraud, a delusion and a snare. Do not let us foist this humbug on the world."

Diplomats Present—

Study in Contrasts

—At Peace Sessions

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

NEW YORK (AP)—Vyacheslav Molotov has hunched shoulders which probably come from long hours, and years of leaning over conference tables. He has a fierce, jutting chin suitable for a prize fighter and a small mustache that looks anything but pugilistic. His hair is thin and his manner usually is brusque.

The gentleman from Moscow does not look the part, but undoubtedly he is the glamor boy of the big international pow-wows. He always draws the big crowds.

Flair for Drama

Molotov has something which James F. Byrnes, the American secretary of state, lacks almost entirely and Ernest Bevin, the British foreign minister, has only in limited degree. It is a flair for high drama in oratory, an ability to preach politics as other men preach religion, and an unending capacity for springing the unexpected.

Byrnes brings to diplomacy a kind of senatorial calm. He frequently addresses Molotov across the conference table as "my good friend, Mr. Molotov." His voice is likely to be level and softened with South Carolina accents. But it is no longer the voice of a compromiser as he described himself in his first months after he became secretary of state in the summer of 1945. Those who admire his present firm line toward Molotov say no man, certainly at his age, has ever learned so much about foreign affairs in so short a time.

Bevin, a great bear of a man who looks at least as belligerent as Molotov and sometimes has met the Russian's calculated moves with a terrible, flaring anger, gets along well with Byrnes. A hearty man, he loves a good joke or story. Those seldom enter into Big Four talks but occasionally Bevin will josh Molotov when the latter is blocking a final agreement, repeating the initiative," he said, "always lies with the small boy who walks down the street with a pocketful of stones. It seldom lies with the householders who watch him fearfully through their plate glass windows."

All these international gatherings split along the lines of real power conflicts. One of the real elements in the present east-west dispute is that Russia is trying to change much of the world structure built by imperial Britain over centuries and now jointly maintained by Britain and America. It is the western nations that have the plate glass windows.

Study Favors Guaranteed Annual Wages

Report Urges Federal, State Action to Promote Stabilized Economy

By NORMAN WALKER

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government study held yesterday that a guaranteed annual wage for workers can help stabilize the economy and point the way to enduring prosperity.

The findings were contained in an interim report made public by Murray W. Latimer, former chairman of the national railroad retirement board and director of the study, which was made at White House direction.

Many industrialists have opposed the wage guarantee idea on the ground they would lose a great deal of money if required to continue paying wages for as long as a year to workers they had to lay off.

Latimer's report held that even in most seasonal industries, wage guarantees can be granted without increasing costs to employers by more than six percent if coordinated with the existing system of state unemployment compensation.

The report urged that the federal and state governments take steps—by broadening present unemployment compensation benefits and extending special tax exemptions—to encourage more widespread acceptance of the guaranteed wage plan.

"The study has recognized that the guaranteed wage system is not a panacea for the insecurity of our economic system, that it cannot in and of itself eliminate the fluctuations in the economic system," the report said.

"On the other hand, it is quite clear that widespread wage guarantees can make a substantial contribution to the stabilization of the economy through the stabilization of wage earner income and hence of consumer expenditures."

The report noted that at least 196 guaranteed wage plans were in operation in early 1946 and said the majority of them pledge payment of full pay for a year. Besides affording "security for the worker," it added, the plans achieve economies for employers because of "improved labor relations" resulting in "a higher rate of productivity."

Jerusalem Police Repulse Attackers After Two Raids

JERUSALEM (AP)—A second attack was made last night on the police station in Jerusalem's Mahaneh Yehudah quarter in one of the most intense outbursts of violence in the Holy Land during recent years.

The second attack, which began about 9 p. m., started when machinegun fire was directed at the station from several nearby rooftops and police fired back. A second series of explosions which occurred shortly afterward was possibly caused by the detonation of road mines.

The police appeared to be pursuing the attackers toward the rocky ravines north and west of Jerusalem, where red and white tracer bullets could be seen in the darkness.

The all clear signal was sounded at about 11 p. m., after nearly five hours of alarm.

First reports said troops had been shot in the western part of the city, where several road mines were found. Unconfirmed reports said one Jew, a Jewess and a British policeman had been slightly wounded.

The first attack on the police station, in which small arms and grenades were used, lasted for 30 minutes. At the same time heavy explosions shook the center of the city, continuing for about a half hour after the small arms fire had ceased.

New York Santas 20 Educated St. Nicks Ready for Kids

By ALLAN FISHER

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty bearded and red-coated Santa Clauses, graduates of a refresher course in "How to Win Friends and Influence the Christmas Spirit," have taken up posts on Manhattan street corners, armed with psychology's best defenses against the pointed questions of small fry—and parents too.

These educated Saint Nicks passed a three-day course prepared for them by their employer, The Volunteers of America, a charitable organization which annually solicits funds for Christmas baskets and gifts to the city's needy.

Col. William R. Apetz, the volunteers' metropolitan division chief and "headmaster" of the school, presented bells in lieu of diplomas to the graduates at the Mission Tabernacle yesterday.

Although there were 25 graduates, only 20 reported for duty today—their first day on the job. Apetz said the rest got "cold feet."

The volunteers recruit most of the Santas from among elderly, unemployed mission callers. Their average age is well past 60 and they get four dollars a day for luring silver into their coin boxes and exchanging pleasantries with the awed kids.

The dean of the Santas and the one woman in the group is Mrs. Mary Byers, 79, who will take her usual stance outside a midtown department store.

She balked this year at wearing male Santa garb, Apetz said, so she will be dressed as a Mrs. Santa Claus.

Blaze Sweeps Oil Refinery; Eight Injured

HOUSTON (AP)—An explosion and fire at the Eastern States oil refinery on the Houston ship channel engulfed eight raw gasoline storage tanks yesterday and injured a reported eight persons.

More than 100 firemen were attempting to keep the raging blaze from spreading to other sections of the plant. Two hours after it started it was still within one storage area surrounded by a concrete fire wall. The plant is at the edge of the city.

Seven Houston firemen and one refinery employe were said in early reports to have been burned.

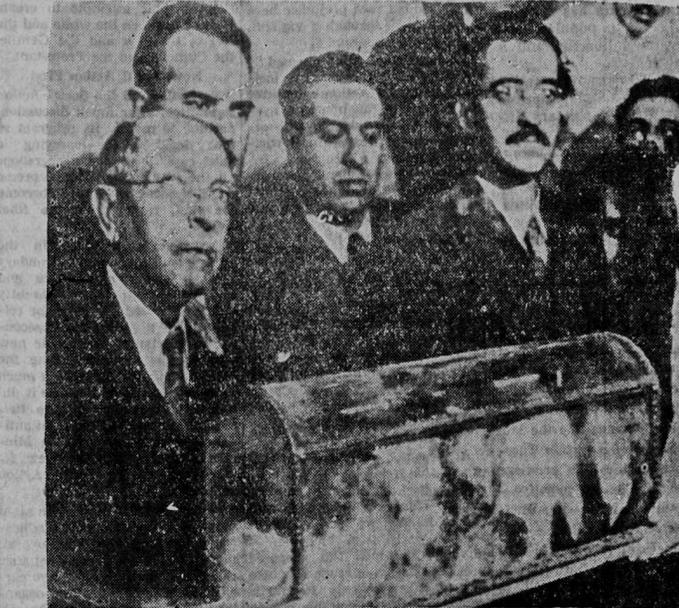

According to refinery employes, the fire started in a 2,000-barrel storage tank about 2 p. m. while firemen were battling this blaze the tank blew up with an explosion that was heard for miles.

The top of the tank was blown into the air and onto another of the nine tanks grouped in the area. Blazing gasoline was thrown over the others, and eight burst or exploded intermittently. The last, with a terrific explosion and shower of fire, blew up at 4 p. m.

No cause was determined immediately for the beginning of the fire.

Plant officials estimated that if the fire is confined to the present area loss will amount to about $30,000. Five of the tanks are 2,000 gallon capacity and four are 1,000 gallons.

A CRYSTAL AND GOLD casket which authorities said contains remains of Herman Cortes, conqueror of Mexico, lost 123 years, is exhibited by discoverers. Casket, wrapped in lead foil and in heavy wooden box, was found Nov. 25 behind blank wall of an abandoned chapel in old Jesus hospital, Mexico City. It was hidden during anti-Spanish riots of 1823. Shrouded remains, tied with black bands, can be seen within. (AP WIREPHOTO)

To Fine Miners For Each Day Of Coal Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government acted yesterday to chalk up retroactive fines against the individual miners for each day of the soft coal strike while prospects for an out-of-court settlement waned.

The fines, $1 to $2 for each day of idleness, will not be collected, however, until the miners go back to work and they can be deducted from paychecks. And the proceeds will go to the union's own medical fund, administered solely by it.

Undeterred by this move, counsel for John L. Lewis and the United Mine workers mapped fresh strategy for their legal battle against the government which resumes tomorrow. They plan an appeal to the United States circuit court of appeals if the federal district court ruling goes against them, it was learned, and they hope that any contempt of court sentence may be stayed until it is decided.

The private operators of the Southern Coal Producers association, called to meet here tomorrow, may remove Edward R. Burke as president, said one industry official, for his announcement Thursday that "we are willing to talk" with Lewis on "wages, hours and everything else." Ten directors have repudiated Burke's statement.

Congress Supports Action of Truman Vs. John L. Lewis

As the nationwide walkout of the 400,000 bituminous miners passed its tenth day, the number of steel, factory and other workers laid off in the creeping industrial paralysis climbed close to 100,000. Another 167,000 were on furlough from fuel-starved factories for the Thanksgiving weekend.

Against this wintry prospect were a few feeble rays of cheer. The government announced its drastic, 21-state dimout would not prevent the illumination of indoor Christmas trees.

The fines against the individual miners were authorized in union agreements with private operators and carried forward in the government contract which Lewis claims is terminated and the government contends is still in force. They were designed to give the union a weapon for preventing "wildcat" strikes which it did not authorize.

A spokesman for Capt. N. H. Collisson, coal mines administrator, announced that "numerous" applications have been granted, but declined to give the exact number. If all 3,300 strikebound coal companies should fine their men for the ten-day idleness to date, the sum already would total between $4,000,000 and $8,000,000.

These developments occurred on the outskirts of the court-controversy: 1. The Virginia state corporation commission, it was reported, may go ahead with its scheduled hearing tomorrow against Lewis regardless of whether he or his counsel shows up. The hearing is to determine whether Lewis should be barred from selling UMW "memberships" in Virginia because the union has not registered with the commission.

2. The interior department reported that conferences already have started between federal agencies and companies which propose to pump natural gas to the east through the big and little inch pipelines during the coal emergency.

Senator LaFollette (Prog., Wis.) who has supported organized labor's viewpoint in the past, said he does not see how any compromise can be made now between the government and Lewis. LaFollette said he is puzzled by Lewis' course.

Senator Lucas (D., Ill.) told a reporter it is his opinion "that under no circumstances can the President yield in this matter."

Senator Wiley (R., Wis.), said he believes congress will provide any legislation needed to deal with the situation if the stoppage is prolonged.

"Everybody has the right to self preservation, not only against an external enemy but from insurrection within," Wiley remarked. "What is insurrection is a matter of opinion. Whenever something occurs that jeopardizes the life and safety of the nation, it can be known by just common sense."

Iowan Brothers' Cattle Awarded Top Honors In Livestock Exhibition

CHICAGO (AP)—They're back in the swing again, those Iowa exhibitors.

A four year lapse in the International Livestock exposition didn't mean a thing yesterday as the famous Schmidt brothers, Fred and George, of Delmar, again walked off with the grand championship in the carload lots fat cattle show.

The Schmidts showed Aberdeen Angus middleweights in the 1,050 to 1,150 pound class.

Carl Hoffman, of Ida Grove, another yearly threat, took the reserve grand championship with his Hereford lightweights in the under 1,050 pound category.

The championship load of short-horns was exhibited by Hugh Morris, of Ainsworth. His winners were in the medium weight class.

The Schmidts and Hoffman were both winners at the Pre-Pearl-Harbor show in 1941.

Washington Experts See Recession in '47

WASHINGTON (AP)—The burning question is "recession or boom in 1947?"

Talks with highly placed government fiscal and economic experts bring out these facts:

1. Many, probably most, expect a recession in 1947, followed by a prolonged boom. Some believe the boom will end in a crash.
2. A few see "no compelling reason for an economic slump in the foreseeable future. But these do not predict it will not occur. Men in the latter group feel that it's quite possible the country is "talking itself into a depression." One of them explains it thus:

"They say 'we had a depression after the last war, therefore we'll have one after this war. This war lasted twice as long, so the depression will come twice as late and be twice as bad.'"

But, this man added, business conditions then and now differ in many respects. The national economy now includes many governmental agencies and institutions which it did not have before the 1929 crash. This man and others who think like him look to these agencies to buttress the economy against collapse.

By CLARKE BEACH

Newest and most strategically placed of such units is the president's council of economic advisers, whose job is to gather economic facts and recommend measures to promote the nation's economic well-being.

What the council says in its first report—a confidential memorandum to the president due Dec. 16—may supply the key to the administration's economic policies for the coming year. The president, under the "full employment" act of 1946, will make an economic report to congress at the beginning of the next session, presumably based on the council's findings.

Whatever action the council may recommend, many experts in other agencies of the government doubt that any steps could be taken in time to avert a recession in 1947 if one is on the way.

Here are five ways these pessimistically inclined experts say they think a recession might get started next year:

1. If prices get too far ahead of wages, buying might slacken, production slow down, workers be thrown out of jobs.
2. When warehouses and shelves are well stocked, the resulting drop in dealer demand for goods might throw production off balance. (It is estimated that from two to three million persons are employed producing goods for inventory buyers.)

3. Some producers, unable to procure certain parts and materials to complete their product, are piling up unfinished and unsaleable merchandise. The lack of a turnover is threatening some businesses, particularly small manufacturers.
4. Wages and other costs are rising faster than some business men say they can increase their prices. This might squeeze some out of business.
5. Although employment is practically at a maximum, many factories are running at slow speed because of shortages of materials. Large numbers of employees are hired on a stand-by basis against the time the employer can obtain materials or facilities. This time may not come soon enough for some employers.

The optimists—of whom President Truman and Secretary of the Treasury Snyder have been among the most outspoken—list many favorable factors now prevailing, such as the following:

1. Highest level of peacetime employment in history—37,400,000.
2. Industrial production at a peacetime high. The federal reserve board's adjusted index of production for September stands at 177 percent of the 1935-39 average.
3. Steel ingot production in November above 91 percent of capacity—a new postwar high.
4. Electrical power output in the first week of November at the highest level on record.
5. Exports and imports at all-time highs.

Meanwhile new safety devices (new since 1929) are being alerted to take action in case a crash threatens. They include:

- International bank and fund, designed to stabilize currencies and facilitate sound loans to nations needing rehabilitation.
- Securities exchange commission, to prevent blind, irresponsible speculation in the stock market.
- Federal deposit insurance corporation, to prevent banks from making unwise loans and to avoid panics by insuring deposits.
- Banking act of 1933, to prevent deposit banking institutions from underwriting securities.
- Reconstruction finance corporation, primarily to aid hard-pressed insurance companies, railroads and banks by extending loans which they could not get from private lenders.
- Farm credit administration, to bail out farmers who are in temporary financial difficulties.
- Social security unemployment insurance, to ease the effects of unemployment.

CIO Caught Between Two Fires

The recent CIO convention passed a resolution condemning communist interferences with its unions. This resolution was weaker than Phillip Murray and other leaders would have liked because the communists at the convention, realizing that they could not prevent it, succeeded in watering it down considerably. But even so, the resolution is a basis for removing the communist stigma from the CIO.

Comprising less than two percent of all CIO members, communists closely control unions representing 20 percent of the total membership. The problem of actually cutting down this influence without starting a witch hunting purge is up to Phil Murray and his lieutenants. In the present situation, it's a tough job.

Rank and file union members are anxious for another raise. If it is not granted when contracts are reopened, there will be pressure for strikes. On the other hand, rapidly increasing factory inventories indicate that management may be prepared to resist union pressure and force a labor-management showdown. The prolonged strife which would result from this fight would severely tax the strength of the unions. In such a case they could not afford internal dissension but would have to accept the support and cooperation of the communists.

Rising anti-labor hysteria and the possibility of restrictive legislation are factors which will force the union to close ranks in order to fight for its life. This in turn will bring new attacks requiring even greater unity within the organization and ending any possibility of eliminating the communistic elements.

So goes the vicious circle. Vengeful government restrictions plus a few back-breaking showdown strikes could well bring about a CIO-communist shotgun marriage which would eventually damn and damage not only the CIO but all of labor.

What Does Democracy Mean?

The word democracy is fast becoming a member of that less and less exclusive society of words which mean all things to all men. We all use it so freely and yet, we wonder if it ever means the same thing to us twice in a row.

The philosopher George Santayana has come up with a definition based on the Arabian Nights. Democracy he says, is "where beggars become kings and know exactly how to act as kings, and kings can become beggars and know exactly what to do."

Now that's an appealing little definition, but it doesn't hold much water. The ability of men to move up and down the social scale is certainly important, but it has little to do with democracy.

The communists have some ideas about democracy also. Their definition might be rule in the name of the people, often with the active support of a majority of the people—but without civil liberties, without any legal opposition, without any opportunity for criticism of the regime.

The communist definition would seem to have some relation to Rousseau's ideas of an overriding "national will"—a dictatorship which communists claim would guarantee democracy.

As with most things, democracy can also be traced back to an Aristotelian concept. Aristotle's notion of democracy was one of direct rule by the whole people. This town meeting concept has come back into its own in recent years, much to the dismay of unreconstructed Republicans, who resent the prominence of such Democrats as Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson in developing modern representative democracy.

Democracy, according to these unreconstructedists, is a bit of party propaganda. The United States, they insist, is not a democracy, but a republic, and democracy is un-American mobile.

We come almost inevitably to Webster's definition. Webster defines democracy as "government by the people; a form of government in which the supreme power is retained by the people and exercised either directly (absolute or pure democracy) or indirectly (representative democracy) through a system of representative and delegated authority periodically renewed, as in a constitutional representative government or republic."

As we have implied, it is our view that none of the aforementioned definitions is completely correct. The development of modern, large-scale governments in the past 150 years has given a new meaning to democracy—a meaning based on popular election of representatives, universal literacy, civil liberties and a system of two or more competing political parties.

Democracy has come to mean equality as well as representative government—and today the emphasis seems to be shifting more to the factor of equality of rights without heredity or arbitrary differences in rank or privilege.

Democracy, like so many words, is coming to mean so many, many things. But in the minds of most men, democracy is associated with something fine and good.

Perhaps we all ought to stop a moment and explore our minds, find out what each one of us means when we say, "democracy." It is a much too significant word to have mean so many things to so many men.

Who can blame them? As one who perceives 12-year-oldster summed it up, "All you have is strikes and trouble"—things like the late unpleasantness of a certain Tuesday. Not even the high privilege of running a Diesel locomotive—as the incumbent has—is sufficient compensation.

The American way of life may totter as a result, but it will simply have to resign itself to getting along without this rose-tinted copybook maxim. Someone had better start whipping up a new cliché immediately if the nation's youth is not to be lost to indolence.

A Good Cliche Bites the Dust

(St. Louis Star Times)

You can stow that old gag about "anyone in the United States can grow up to be President" in the attic now. Not only is it untrue—what chance have little Republican boys had for the past 16 years—but it won't even fulfill the purpose for which it was designed, to spur reluctant youngsters on to the mountain peaks of ambition.

Twenty Detroit newsmen went through the White House, just reopened to the public after being under a security guard since Pearl Harbor, and though they differed on decor, they were in agreement on one thing: None of them wanted to be President.

THE WORLD WATCH

Soviets Rapidly Wooing Greece

By STEVE PARK
 Daily Iowan Columnist

Four years ago the average American knew Casablanca as a strange tropical city in a strange land where Hollywood tough guy Humphrey Bogart had carried on a thrilling cinema-spy chase and had wowed the glamorous Ingrid Bergman. A place called Kasserine Pass might have been in Tibet—and if it weren't, it made no difference.

But Kasserine Pass was soon to be a household word in Iowa—a strange forbidding word that would dress whole cities in mourning as the casualty lists of the 34th division streamed in and Iowa boys were reported dead, missing and wounded by the hundreds.

Casablanca itself, no longer the prop for a petty movie intrigue, was to become the scene of an important meeting between the leaders of two great states at war. Winston Churchill, then first minister of the British Empire, and Franklin D. Roosevelt, president of the United States, were to meet and to decide the grand strategy of the western enemies of Germany.

Casablanca is part of history now, but the decisions made there, during those historic days, may well have changed the course of future European history, for it was then that the pattern for the western effort against Germany was made.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, thinking in terms of American lives, insisted that the main effort be made in France after diversionary attacks in the Mediterranean.

However, all that Churchill could salvage of his master plan was a British re-invasion of Greece, the strategic keystone to the eastern Mediterranean. As it turned out, the British forces, because of the part they played in the suppression of ELAS during the civil war that followed Greece's liberation from the Germans, almost negated the advantage gained by actual occupation. That it did not is attested by the fact that Greece has emerged as the only nation outside the sphere of Soviet domination in eastern Europe.

PARK

But the situation may not remain long of that complexion. In the first place, the present Greek government has a definite fascist character, who was so unmisgiving that even the United States and Great Britain protested, forcing the premier, Tsaldaris, to reshuffle his cabinet.

This reappearance of fascism in a Greek disguise has also turned important sections of the population against their government and has brought them under the communist banner. It has increased the periodicity of local violence and has caused innumerable local revolts. It has turned whatever liberal elements remain against the form of democracy which is offered by the western world—because they have seen it only in its ugliest aspects.

Were Greece an isolated area without importance in the struggle between east and west, this condition would not present a potential dynamic, but communist-inspired attempts to force the country out of the Western camp and into alliance with the Slavic bloc bid fair to set the stage for another explosion in Europe.

All of Macedonia is now an armed camp, and Greek Communists, armed and aided by Yugoslavians and Bulgarians, have succeeded in challenging government rule along all of the approaches to Salonika, strategic outlet to the Aegean. This latest outbreak, which began around the border village of Skyra, comes on the heels of Yugoslav and Bulgarian demands (backed by the Soviet Union) for an outlet to the sea through Greece, and anguished cries from Albania that Greece is engaged in aggressive warfare on that border.

If these charges seem unrelated, we must remember that Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania intend to form a Balkan federation as soon as the peace is concluded, and that these nations and the Soviet Union want Greece to become a part of that federation. The whole series of events lies in well with Russia's

SAC Taking Militant Tack in Haircut Issue

By LAWRENCE E. DENNIS

More than eight months have passed since that day early last spring when an earnest, if over-anxious, State University of Iowa student focused attention on the problem of racial discrimination in the barbershops of Iowa City.

He was arrested and fined for distributing handbills on local streets without first filing his intent to do so with the proper authorities. But the content of those handbills, which warned World War II veterans against a growing American fascism based on bigotry and intolerance, aroused in members of the student body and the community a strong desire to combat race prejudice here and elsewhere through a vigilant, well-planned program.

Social Action Group Formed

Shortly after the handbill incident, the Social Action committee was formed to function as a nucleus for all individuals and organizations interested in participating in such a program. Included in the original membership of the Social Action committee were representatives from the Iowa City Ministerial association, as well as one of the local veterans groups which had already set up an anti-discriminatory practices committee.

The program of the SAC, as first drawn up, contemplated a long-range educational campaign, to be climaxed, if necessary, by legal action against Iowa City barbers who in denying haircuts to a racial minority, are in fact violating an Iowa statute.

Wallace Approved Idea

At least two prominent national progressive figures who visited the community during the summer months—former Vice President Henry A. Wallace and religious leader Dr. Howard Thurman—publicly approved the proposed program. Both men, each of whom has fought vigorously for racial democracy throughout his career, placed great stress on the need for a well-defined, educational drive against bigotry and intolerance. They pointed out that such action would be particularly appropriate in the midwest, where the more militant anti-discrimination actions—such as picket lines and mass demonstrations—are quite often misunderstood and misinterpreted.

Mr. Wallace and Dr. Thurman cautioned that although legal action should certainly not be excluded from any program designed to combat racial and religious prejudice, it should at all times be regarded as a final and climactic step, since failure to obtain a satisfactory decision in the courts would automatically aid the forces of bigotry and reaction in their attempts to create friction between the white and the Negro, the Jew and the Gentile, the Catholic and the Protestant.

New, Legal Action First

Early this fall the Social Action committee, after much discussion, decided to modify its program so that legal action—carrying a "test case" from the barbershops all the way to the state supreme court, if necessary—was to become the first, rather than the final step.

An educational drive in the city's elementary and secondary schools, civic organizations and university forums was apparently either discarded altogether or relegated to a position of secondary importance. The whole new program, as outlined during the past few months, assumed a much more militant tone. Because it did not favor legal action as a first and primary step in the local anti-discrimination program, the Ministerial association withdrew its support from the Social Action committee.

And now, after more than eight months, a long-range civic educational program on the overall problem of bigotry and prejudice remains to be formulated and carried out. Meanwhile, a new organization in the community, American Youth for Democracy, continues to lay plans for a mass demonstration and rally against discrimination in Iowa City barber shops.

British, Russians In Battle of Movies To Win Germans

By IRENE ANGERSTEIN
 AP Newsfeatures

BERLIN—While the first German film produced under Russian auspices underscores the sharp realities of life in today's ruined Germany, the first German film produced under British control aims to make the German forget these self-same realities.

The Russians have come forth with a stark proletarian drama, the British have retaliated with a bright drawing room comedy, and never the twain shall meet—unless the movie houses begin running double features.

Both films typify the attitude of the Allies. The Soviets believe that the new German film should show life as it really is, carry a message. The British, as do the American film officers, believe that the Germans go to the theatre to forget the troubles outside their doors.

"Murderers Among Us," first feature produced by the Soviet-controlled DEFA studios, takes place in present-day Berlin and makes no attempt to minimize hardships. Its heroine is a girl of the people who wears flat-heeled shoes, no stockings, little make-up, and seriously works to help reconstruct the new Germany.

"Only Tell the Truth," first film produced by the British-controlled company, is a bright comedy about a gay young blade who wants to teach his fiancée it is not nice to lie. Its heroine is a charming rattle-headed miss who wears high-heeled shoes, sheer stockings and has a high time playing tennis and kissing the leading man.

The hero of "Murderers Among Us," on the other hand, is a surly logging character with a heart of gold. Attempting to readjust to postwar Germany, he broods through real after he's bombed out ruins as he plans to kill the villain, a Fascist-minded former SS captain now turned bourgeois factory-owner. Most of the time shabby here is unshaven and wears shabby clothes.

Tall, blond, and handsome, the hero of the British-controlled film rides around in a shining car, wears white shirts, has pressed trousers, flashy ties, and spends his days making love.

Love in the Soviet film is on a high moral and intellectual plane. It is true the two main leads share an apartment together, but everyone knows this is because of the housing shortage. No one in the British film openly shares an apartment, but for all practical purposes everyone may as well.

Even the real life background of the leading actors in the two films is as contrasting as recent utterances of Churchill and Stalin. The German who plays the anti-Fascist hero in "Murderers Among Us" has caused red faces in Soviet film control offices by turning out to be a former SS man in actual life, and is currently up for trial. Gustav Fröhlich, who plays the lead in the British film, is noted throughout Germany as the man who boxed Goebbels' ears for trying to steal his girl, a Czech actress who is now up for trial for alleged collaboration with the enemy.

Advertising Students Awarded Cash Prizes In Ad-Writing Contest

Education pays off in cash to members of Prof. Philip W. Burton's advertising classes. Five- and ten-dollar prizes were awarded five students in a recent Rogers Peet, men's clothing company, ad-writing contest.

Myron L. Lorenzen, C4 of Waterloo, won first prize of $10 for his ad, judged by Rogers Peet as the best submitted from the University of Iowa. Recipients of $5 prizes are Stuart Siegel, A4 of Davenport; Elwood A. Opsted, C4 of Iowa City; Milton W. Beal, C4 of Clinton and William S. Decker, G of Davenport.

The contest was open to all university students, but all the winners are enrolled in advertising classes.

Earl Hines to Play At Interfrat Dance

Earl "Father" Hines and his orchestra have been scheduled to play for the Inter-Fraternity dance instead of Sonny Dunham's band, who was previously booked for that engagement.

Dunham said his orchestra would be unable to appear in Iowa City Dec. 14 because of the need for reorganization of his band and other circumstances beyond his control.

Pictures of the candidates for interfraternity queen have been placed in Bremer's window and fraternity members will begin balloting this week. Each member is allowed one vote.

The queen candidate receiving the most votes will reign with four attendants at the Interfraternity dance Saturday evening, Dec. 14, in the main lounge of Iowa Union.

Clock Helps Army Stop Middie Uprising, 21-18

Navy's Sensational Rally Mauls Cadets in Near Upset

By SID FEDER
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Army's careening Cadets wound up their three-year run unbeaten today, but only by the squeaky margin of three extra points, as the Navy picked itself off the floor from its worst season in history to battle the mightiest gridiron machine of a generation to a standstill.

The score was 21 to 18; and the only reason the impossible didn't happen was because the "Monster and his Play-mate"—Doc Blanchard and Glenn Davis—set off all their sizzling fireworks in the first half, and the middle kicking toes couldn't hit the bulls-eye.

From the start of the second half it was Navy's ball game, as the up-to-now meek Middies gave the Cadets the fight of their lives before they were able to come home with that bare three point edge.

It was a slashing, smashing battle these fiercely fighting future Admirals put up—a fight that saw them dug in on Army's five yard line and still rolling when the clock ran out of time to put an end to what appeared the makings of one of the most amazing upsets this game of moleskin mayhem has ever seen.

President Truman sat in his 50-yard line box on the Navy side of the field through the first half which ended 21-6, and saw the Black Knights of the Hudson pull the customers out of their seats as Davis dashed 13 yards for the first score, Blanchard bulled his way 52 yards for a second and then Davis hit Blanchard with a 27-yard pass in the end zone for a third.

Jack Ray, the Texan with the thread-a-needle toe, booted the point after each one of these tallies, and that did the trick.

That was enough to put on ice this third unbeaten season of the Blackknights, in which they piled up 27 victories in 28 trips to the post, with only their scoreless standoff with Notre Dame three weeks ago marring the run.

The Middies drove 32 yards between Army's first and second touchdowns for one of their own, that put them behind only 7-6, with the second quarter started. Then they clawed and dug and inched their way 78 yards more in the third period, and finally, capitalizing on a queer quarterback stunt by the usually errorless Arnold Tucker late in the third period, they clicked for 35 yards in a hurry for their last marker early in the fourth.

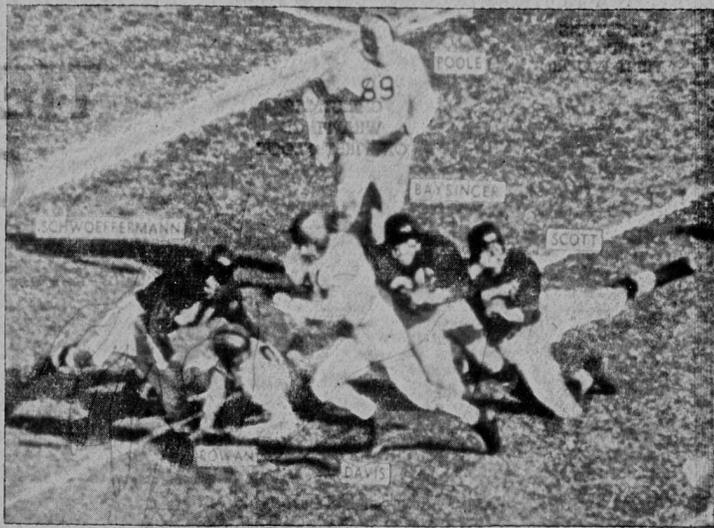

Their fierce front-line blocking, with Center Dick Scott and Jim Carrington leading the attack, took charge of Army's rarely-bent front wall time after time.

And in Reaves (Base) Baysinger, tall, slim Syracuse, N. Y., quarterback and Bill Hawkins of Richmond, Va., fresh off the hospital list, they had the scoring punch. Base scored the first marker on a one-yard sneak through the line, and Hawkins hit the jackpot for the second one, from two yards out.

And for the finale one, they unfurled Bill Earl, a tiny 160-pound pitcher from Arlington, Va. Bill tossed a short one which Leon Bramlett, the Navy captain from Clarksdale, Miss., caught in the end zone.

Then in the fading moments came the biggest thrill of all. An Army kick carried only to the Navy 33. Pete Williams, a Miami, Fla., 170-pounder whose specialty is running the ends, picked up nine yards in two tries. Baysinger, whose well-mixed signal-calling kept the Cadets baffled most of the day, passed 18 yards to Phil Ryan. Lynn Chewning went to work then, and his last lope was for 41 yards to the Army 3.

Davis Scoots For Army Score

Army Mentor Praises Navy

By WHITNEY MARTIN
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Blanchard and Davis era has ended, but there was nothing in the attitude of the Army players in their dressing room to indicate the game they had just won from Navy was any different from any other game of the past three glorious, undefeated seasons.

The boys showered and dressed quietly, casually, as Coach Earl (Red) Blaik stood by extolling the Navy team, and not sparing the adjectives in describing some of his own athletes.

Particularly Blanchard and Davis. "Davis is the greatest half-back I've ever seen," Blaik said, "and that goes back to Chick Harley of Ohio State in 1917," and, he added, "Blanchard is the greatest fullback. Both were stars, but they always were team players and Blanchard was an inspiration this year as he played despite injuries."

"About Navy, I'll say the Navy team today was the most inspired Navy team I ever saw, and I don't think we were quite up for the game. People don't realize a team with a great spiritual lift can get up and just knock the tar out of a team that won't get off its heels."

Without trying to alibi, Blaik said he thought the injury to Arnold Tucker on the first play of the game threw off both the offense and defense and, in effect, "ruined us."

"Tucker," he said, "is the best passer I ever saw. As to strategy, he grinned, "well, he's a little rash some time."

All-University Mat Tourney Wednesday; Grapplers Invited

The annual all-university wrestling tournament will get under way Wednesday for a three day run, Mat Mentor Mike Howard announced yesterday.

Howard has issued a call to all interested students to contact him for entry blanks before Dec. 5, the day the show begins, so that pairings may be drawn.

Purpose of the meet is to determine the strongest contenders for the varsity squad, part of which is now working out daily in preparation for the 1947 season.

More than just a tournament, the meet is an opportunity for Howard to observe his grapplers under fire. In past years the tournament has uncovered outstanding talent while providing plenty of thrilling matches.

To the winners in the eight weight divisions; 121, 128, 138, 145, 155, 165, 175-pound and heavyweight class go sterling silver medals with bronze medals to the runner-ups.

No charge is made for the show and starting time is 4 p. m., on each of the three days.

There are still plenty of general admission tickets available for Monday night's game between the Hawkeyes and South Dakota State, according to Paul Brechler of the athletic department. Tickets are now on sale at the

Georgia Wins Behind Trippi

ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Charlie Trippi defeated Georgia Tech yesterday 35-7, with some occasional help from his Georgia teammates and an hour later the Bulldogs voted unanimous acceptance of an invitation to meet North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl game at New Orleans Jan. 1.

Trippi thrilled the capacity crowd of 55,000 with three touchdowns, one on a 66-yard dash after Tech's lone score, and with a touchdown heave to Johnny Rauch. The victory gave the Bulldogs their first perfect season since 1896 when the famed Pop Warner steered them through four games.

Between them, Trippi and Rauch completed 15 of 21 passes, two of Rauch's being for touchdowns, while Tech completed nine of 19. Georgia made 263 yards rushing and 168 passing, while Tech netted 169 on the ground and 115 on passes.

Tech, in trying for its ninth straight win against an opening loss, threatened seriously only once, except for its 74-yard scoring drive. The Jackets reached the Georgia six just a minute or so before the game ended, after starting at their own 30.

fieldhouse and will be sold at the door Monday night.

The same procedure will apply to the next three non-conference games, Kansas State, Detroit and South Dakota University.

Irish Power To 26-6 Win Over Trojans

By JERRY LISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A tiny Texan, 160-pound Coy McGee, fired Notre Dame to a relentless 26 to 6 closing triumph over stubborn Southern California to give absent Irish Coach Frank Leahy his first undefeated season since 1941 before a capacity crowd of 56,000 at Notre Dame stadium yesterday.

As slashing and explosive as the "Coachless" Irish were in piling up their eighth victory against a scoreless tie with Army for the season, they couldn't stop the inspired Trojans from scoring the first touchdown against Notre Dame's first stringers and making it a 13 to 6 ball game until the final period.

McGee, whose first name Leahy couldn't recall for sports writers in early practices, streaked 77 yards for the first Irish score in the second quarter, seconds after he galloped 50 yards on another break-away. The Longview, Tex., fireball launched a 13-point Irish attack in the final period with an eight-yard payoff jaunt around end.

With Leahy at home bed-ridden with a cold and "nervous exhaustion," the Irish ploughed to 26 first downs against Southern California's nine and an amazing 517 yards by rushing against 108. Yet, it took McGee's phantom-like flitting to spark them to their brace of six-pointers in the second and fourth period.

The second Notre Dame touchdown was fashioned of a 22-yard pass from reserve Quarterback George Ratterman to substitute End Leon Hart, while the final score in the last quarter came on second string Halfback Gerry Cowhig's 13-yard spring.

Southern California, held behind the 50 the first half, exploded for a 45-yard touchdown drive late in the third period when Johnny Naumu squirmed over from the one-foot stripe.

It took a Notre Dame pass interference on a goal-line toss from George Murphy intended for Naumu to set up the touchdown. Naumu missed what then seemed an important placement try for point. That shovelled Dame's lead to 13-6, but the Irish then loosed their full offensive fury.

Starting on their 12 after Southern California's touchdown-following kickoff, the Irish thunderbolted to the Trojan 8 in just seven plays and then stocky McGee darted clear around end for his second touchdown. On that parade, Quarterback Johnny Lujack ambled 21 and a pass from Ratterman to Floyd Simmons covered 49 yards to Southern California's 12.

Even after the Irish sewed things up with their fourth touchdown on Cowhig's run, the hard-battling Trojans weren't finished. Bob Musick intercepted a pass by Ratterman with less than a minute left, deep in Notre Dame territory and battled back to Notre Dame's two before two Irish tacklers dragged him down. A penalty for too much time probably cost the Trojans a second touchdown, something no other team had accomplished, because the gun sounded seconds later.

Intramural Football Champions Decided

The University intramural football season ended yesterday when Delta Sigma Delta defeated Alpha Kappa Kappa, 32-18, for the Professional Fraternity league title.

A resume of the leagues that operated this fall and the resulting champions shows that Hillcrest H defeated Hillcrest "F", while the Quad championship was won by "Upper C" who beat "Lower C" in a 21-13 game.

The Married Students' league was won by East Riverdale who beat North Hawkeye, 27-7. The Law Commons, Kellogg and South Quad title was won by Commons

UCLA Slashes Huskers, 18-0

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rose Bowl bound UCLA ended a perfect grid campaign yesterday—the first in its 29-year history with an 18 to 0 triumph over the Cornhuskers of Nebraska in Memorial coliseum.

Scoring two touchdowns in the second quarter and one more in the final period, the Uclans finished the 1946 schedule with 10 straight wins, no ties, and a total of 313 points to 72 for their opponents.

Thus the slate was clear for UCLA's clash in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day with the University of Illinois, whose scouts saw little new in the free-wheeling Bruin machine yesterday.

A crowd of 52,558 fans saw Coach Bert LaBucherie use his best speed burners. The Bruins rolled up yardage by the mouthful against a stubborn Cornhusker squad.

"B" over Commons "C", 32-18. Phi Kappa Psi won the Social Fraternity league by downing Sigma Nu, 39-25.

By Bob Collins

Monday evening the University of Iowa basketball team makes its debut against South Dakota State. The Hawkeye uniforms will be new (white tops with black numerals trimmed in gold, and gold pants with black trimmings) but the players will be for the most part veterans whose names are familiar to Iowa fans and opposing teams alike.

- (1) A fighting, fast-breaking and high-scoring team—because that's the only kind Coach Harrison ever puts out.
- (2) A few defeats scattered along the 19-game schedule, with the thought in mind that this year no team will have a marked superiority over other aggregations in the Big Nine.
- (3) A conference race that will be closer than radio commercials with the last couple games deciding the championship.

On the other side of the fence, this is what I think the team and coach have a right to expect from their fans. A group 100 percent behind the Iowa team, win, lose or draw. All that anybody can ask is a team that puts out their best efforts each and every game.

Moving from Iowa basketball to national boxing, I've noticed where Marcel Cerdan has arrived from France to meet George Abrams in the Garden, Dec. 6. Tradition has been for European champions to come to this country with impressive records only to be slapped silly by our second or third raters. However, I think that Cerdan has a good chance to change the trend. He is European middleweight champion which wouldn't mean much except for his record in ETO Inter-Allied bouts which was sensational. I saw him fight in Casablanca in the summer of 1943 and again in France in 1945 and 1946 and believe his style will be popular here. Cerdan is an aggressive puncher and takes a good clout.

The reported indignation of west Coast sport writers to the signing of the Big Nine, Pacific Coast contract has been pretty well thrashed over. After the initial brown-off, several of the coast writers are taking the realistic view that in the long run the pact will be the best thing for all concerned. Indeed it is just what those gentlemen have been crying for ever since Bowl games in other parts of the nation threatened the Pasadena monopoly. Granting that this year Army despite its close call, 21-18, win over Navy yesterday is one of the greatest teams in history, it still holds that year in and year out the Western conference champion is as good as they come.

Iowa Cagers Set For Opener Monday

Hawks Prepare for First Test

Hawkeyes Hit South Dakota State Quintet

With a month and a half of grueling practice behind them, the University of Iowa basketball team will swing into action tomorrow night at 8 o'clock when the South Dakota State Jackrabbits invade the Iowa fieldhouse in the first game of the 1946-47 cage season.

Coach "Pops" Harrison has readied a 26-man squad for this the curtain raiser of a stiff, 19-game schedule. The probable Hawkeye starting lineup is an all letterman five combining the heights of Jack Spencer, and Herb Wilkinson, guards, and Noble Jorgensen, center, with the blistering speed of Dick Ives and Murray Wier, forwards. However, Coach Harrison has indicated some uncertainty over the choice for forwards and a last minute change may find Dave Danner or Clayton Wilkinson in the front court. The visitors from Brookings, S. Dak., are expected to provide the Hawkeyes with plenty of competition. The Jackrabbits are paced by former scoring champion, John Swenson, center, and 1943 all-conference guard, Rolf Hanson.

The South Dakota team is taken on face value to be stronger than the team which lost, 71-33, to the Hawkeyes last year. Two of the men who started that game for the Jackrabbits, Harvey DeBoer and Harold Willis, have been unable to make the current starting lineup.

Nevertheless, Coach Harrison hopes he will have a chance to insert a few of his new candidates who have shown promise in practice sessions. Included in reserves may see action are Stan Straatsma, Charlie Mason, Bob Freeman and Bob Lundstedt, forwards; Leonard Metcalfe and Walt Kochnoff, centers; Tony Guzowski, Bob Whelan, Jim Graham, Floyd Magnusson, Jim Grafton, and Glen Kremer, guards.

The Hawkeyes in embarking upon this 46th season of Iowa basketball competition hope to add to their impressive record of recent years. In the last three seasons, Coach Harrison's teams have racked up a total of 52 wins and 19 losses in all games, and 28 victories to eight defeats in conference play.

Pre-game expectations are that the Hawks will present another poised and methodical team, featuring a cool floor game and a fast-breaking offense.

Probable Lineups
Iowa: Ives, F; Wier, F; Jorgensen, C; Spencer, G; H. Wilkinson, G.
S. Dakota State: Gilbert, F; Mohlenhoff, F; Swenson, C; Lyons, G; R. Hanson, G.
Time and Place: Monday, 8 p. m., Iowa fieldhouse.

Hawklets Drop Newton

Drake, Beals Lead Scorers in 40-20 Win Over Cardinals

Showing off their fancy passing game, the Iowa City high cagers really turned on the steam last night at the City high gym to run roughshod over the Newton Cardinals, 40-20.

The victory gives the defending state champs two wins, both by 40-20 scores, and one loss in the young cage season.

The new scoring stars were turned loose on the visiting Cardinals as the Hawklets ran up a commanding lead in the first three quarters and stalled away the final period without allowing Newton a single point.

Dick Drake and Bob Beals stole the scoring show with the big center copping six buckets and a free throw for 13 points and the aggressive forward potting three field goals and five gift tosses for 11 markers.

Left-handed Lee Thommasson and captain Sam Leyden garnered three-fourths of the Cardinal points, Thommasson scoring nine.

Sonny Dean started the rampage by dropping a pair of free throws in the opening minute, followed closely by buckets by Drake and Jim Sangster and a gift toss by the latter before the visitors entered the scoring column on Jack Ferguson's charity shot.

The Little Hawks rolled up a 13-5 lead at the quarter and increased it to 28-12 at halftime.

Drake and Beals carried the brunt of the onslaught with 17 of the Hawklet halftime points to their credit. Drake sank five of his six twopointers in this first half scramble.

In the third period the Hawklet attack slowed to a reasonable gallop as the victors picked up nine points and allowed the Cardinals eight. The Little Hawks ran the count up to 37-15 before Thommasson and Dougall pushed through five quick points near the end of the quarter.

The final canto started slowly with neither team able to swish the net until Gerri Cannon tallied on a tip-in. At this point, with four minutes remaining in the tilt, the Hawklets began to stall. These tactics were broken only three times, twice when the Cardinals fouled the stalling Little Hawks and once when they were able to steal the ball.

In the preliminary game, Coach Howard Moffitt's City high sophomores kept their season's record unblemished by knocking off the Riverside varsity, 45-30. Hemingway led the sophomore attack with 12 points followed closely by Fenton with eight but scoring honors went to Duane Latte of the visitors with 17 tallies.

I.A. Richards, Author, Critic To Deliver 2 Lectures Here

I. A. Richards, co-author of "The Meaning of Meaning," a study of the influence of language upon thought, will be on the campus this week.

He will present two public lectures and will confer with faculty members about teaching problems in literature and philosophy, Dean Earl J. McGrath of the college of liberal arts announced yesterday.

Richards is also distinguished in the field of literary criticism and in several areas concerned with uses of the English language and its relation to general education.

Wednesday, Friday Talks
Richards will speak Wednesday evening on "Some Problems in Semantics," and on Friday evening his topic will be "Humanities in General Education."

Both lectures will be at 8 o'clock in the senate chamber of Old Capitol.

Now a philosophy professor at Harvard university, Richards is one of the authors of the famous Harvard report on liberal education.

Prof. Baldwin Maxwell, head of the English department, said that Richards was probably the most influential member of that committee.

He has also made great contributions to the development of Basic English, a simplification of English, calculated to make it an international language.

"Practical Criticism"
In the field of literary criticism, Richards is especially noted for his "practical criticism" of poetry in relation to its meaning at the simplest, most elementary level.

Prof. Paul Engle of the English department said. Richards has conducted experiments of submitting samples of poetry to large and heterogeneous groups of people, and collecting data on their reactions.

Educated at Cambridge university in England, Richards was for several years a fellow at Magdalen college, Cambridge. He came to the United States in 1939 to be lecturer in literary criticism at Harvard.

Adolescents' Problems To Be Nowlis' Topic In Child Study Lecture

Prof. Vincent Nowlis of the Iowa Child Welfare Research station will discuss "Sex Problems in Early Adolescence" before members of the Child Study club Thursday at 8 p. m. in the River room of Iowa Union.

Before he came here June 1 to work in the field of social development of children, Professor Nowlis spent two years at the University of Indiana participating in research projects on human sex behavior. This research was sponsored by the Rockefeller foundation medical division and the National Research council committee on sex.

Professor Nowlis received his B.A. from Bowdoin college and his Ph.D. from Yale university.

Delta Delta Delta to Hold Founders' Day Banquet

Delta Delta Delta sorority will hold a Founders' Day banquet Monday at 6 p. m. in the River room of Iowa Union.

Building of Electric Sub-Station to Start

Construction of a new $20,000 electric sub-station will begin tomorrow one mile north of Hills, according to R. H. Lind, district manager of the Iowa-Illinois Gas and Electric Company.

The sub-station will tie in with an east-west transmission line from Davenport to Kansas City, Mo. The Iowa City electric system and two others will be connected at the sub-station.

By February the station will be capable of delivering 69,000 volts current to the Eastern Iowa Power and Light co-operative servicing Lone Tree and the Iowa Southern Utilities Co. at Washington.

Iowa City will be directly connected to the main four-state power network by a line running north to the generating station at Coralville.

This will insure the city of an outside source of electric power should there be a local equipment failure or a power shortage.

The completed unit, including metering and control house and the sub-station structure, will occupy a 3.2 acre tract of land. Frank Burger, 629 Brown street, contractor for the metering and control house, estimated that it would be completed by Jan. 1. Contract for the sub-station is now being let.

The Rock Island railroad will lay a spur to the site from a nearby right of way.

French Theme Planned For Fraternity Party

Christmas Seal Sale Tops $1000 in Week

Christmas seal sales for Johnson county reached $1,471.10 yesterday as the first week of the drive ended, according to James H. Schmidt, chairman of the drive.

About 17,000 letters were sent to county residents Monday. The early returns represent approximately 20 percent of this year's goal of $7,664, he said.

Once each year the Johnson county tuberculosis association conducts a sale of seals for money to support a year around program.

(1) Tuberculosis prevention education for rural schools through the county health nurse.

(2) X-ray clinics in schools and individual x-rays for persons who cannot afford the cost and have been recommended by doctors for such treatment, and

(3) Milk for undernourished children whose parents are unable to buy an adequate supply.

The drive will continue until Christmas.

R. Alan Williams Adds Cluster to Bronze Star

Gertrude Judy, chairman of the camp and hospital division, said 100 more gifts will be sent to veterans at three institutions in Iowa. Twenty-five will go to Broadlawn hospital, Des Moines; 40 to the Des Moines Veterans hospital, and 35 to Oakdale sanitarium.

The gifts will be wrapped by Dec. 5 at a University Club kensington tea in the clubrooms at Iowa Union.

The committee consists of Mrs. Chester Miller, chairman, Mrs. Louis Zopf, Mrs. C. S. Meardon and Mrs. Willis M. Fowler.

Contributions for Christmas boxes may be taken to the Red Cross rooms, 15 1/2 S. Dubuque street, or to the Judy Shop.

New Policy To Govern Vet's Pay

A new policy will govern all future applications for change in rate of subsistence pay because of marriage for veterans attending school under the G. I. bill.

Dr. William D. Coder, director of the university veterans service office, has announced that veterans who marry in the future will not receive the $90 monthly allowance for married students until a certified copy of the public record of marriage is filed with the service office. The date of filing that certified copy is the effective date of change from the $65 monthly allowance for a single man, he said.

He urged student veterans who plan to be married while in school to have a certified copy of the public record of the marriage available as soon as possible. The change does not affect anyone enrolled at the university who has already made application for change in subsistence rate.

Under the old plan, Dr. Coder explained, a veteran could receive the subsistence allowance for a married man from the date of an informal request, or the start of the school term, whichever was later. The certification was not immediately necessary.

Under the new policy, however, change in rate of subsistence will be effective only when this certified copy of the public record has been received in the service office. Dr. Coder also announced that future enrollments for veterans under Public Law 346 will be effective as of the first day of a school term.

Reverse Play: 'Babies' Take Care of 'Sitters'

"Do you have two girls who would like to stay with two babies tonight?"

This was the question asked when one of the girls living in a university dormitory answered the phone.

The girl told the man to wait a moment and she would inquire around the dormitory, thinking maybe she could find someone who would like to earn some easy "coke" money. And then the masculine voice on the other end shouted:

"Hey, these babies are about 21 years old and are of the male sex."

"My name is Jeanne," said the girl. "What's yours?"

Allin Dakin to Talk At AAUW Lunch

"Tales of a World Traveler" will be discussed by Allin W. Dakin, dean of administration at the university, when he addresses members of the local chapter of the American Association of University Women Saturday afternoon.

Dean Dakin will speak to the group after a Saturday noon luncheon in the University club-rooms at Iowa Union.

Having recently returned from a vacation spent in El Salvador and Guatemala, Dean Dakin will speak chiefly on his observation of the people, the scenery and the customs in the countries he visited. He is the author of two books entitled "Foreign Securities in the American Money Market," and "Adventures Around Africa."

Members of the local chapter are asked to bring donations for the national drive to secure educational supplies for the devastated countries of Europe and Asia. Mrs. Otto Bowling is in charge of local contributions.

Dining room hostesses for the association's luncheon include: Mrs. Carl Gillies, chairman; Mrs. H. D. Kerr; Mrs. Owen Edwards; Mrs. Percy Bliss; Mrs. J. R. Porter; Mrs. A. K. Miller; Mrs. May Pardee Youtz, and Elgin Kreul.

Reservations for the luncheon must be made by Thursday night with Mrs. J. B. Thompson, 5583, or Mrs. Scott Swisher, 3535.

Foundation to Show Film on Starvation

A government documentary film on starvation in Europe, "Seeds of Destiny" will be shown at 7 p. m. tonight in the Methodist church.

"Open to the public, the movie is being sponsored by the Wesley foundation forum.

"Motiv" magazine, commenting on the film, said "It was designed to awaken the fattened conscience to awaken the fattened might to help that widespread suffering."

An offering will be taken which will go to relief work of the World Student Service fund.

The movie, which is in sound, is being brought to Iowa City from the Fifth army central film library at Fort Omaha.

After the film is shown, mimeographed lists of agencies through which individuals and groups may send food and clothing to Europe and Asia will be given to the audience.

Because of the nature of the film, persons below college age will not be admitted.

The opal seems to have appealed to Shakespeare as a fit emblem of inconstancy for he refers to it in "Twelfth Night."

Post-Thanksgiving Suggestions for Using Surplus Fowl

By DEE SCHECHTMAN
Society Staff Writer

"We've eaten turkey till it comes out our ears!"

If this is your family's post-Thanksgiving cry, try canning that surplus fowl that is being neglected in your ice box.

Turkey is easy to can, and it is wonderful to serve weeks from now in tempting casserole dishes, or to use in "after school" snacks, sandwiches and soups.

To can leftover turkey, slice off the best remaining sections and pack it in cans with a nice balance of dark and light meat. When you do this take great care to get the best sections of the leftover bird. Thin the leftover gravy, or make some new, heat it and cover the meat in each can with this mixture. Leave one-half inch space for expansion and add a half teaspoon of salt for each pint can.

For safety precautions against poisoning make sure you have the cans sealed properly, don't plan to keep the canned fowl too long, and be certain the meat is properly cooked.

You probably have plenty of cranberries left over too, so put them up on the store room shelf with the turkey. Canned cranberries make a tasty sauce used with your winter meat dishes. The cold packing process is the best procedure to follow in canning cranberries; simply cook them and seal them in jars.

With this canned turkey and canned cranberry sauce on your pantry shelves it will be almost like having Thanksgiving in January.

Bedlam Prevails As Girls Primp for Dance

BARBARA HENDERSON'S cool calm and collected greeting gives no hint to her date, Bob Peterson, of the frantic pre-dance preparations that swept through Currier's upper floors a short half hour before.

Before the Currier dance last night, the dorm lobby was full of young lovelies, sweeping graciously in, groomed and gowned to the Nth degree.

Each appreciative male's eyes lit up as he saw demurely approaching him—ah, soft lights, sweet music!

But his dream girl thirty minutes before—wow!

Above stairs, behind sound-proof doors, was the kind of bedlam that only a pre-dance women's dorm can produce. Doors slamming, voices screeching, showers running full blast.

"Dream Girl" dashed out of the shower—"My hair! The curl all came out in the shower! Kids, you've got to help me. Nobody loaned me a shower cap."

Girls with cold-creamed faces and hair up in bobby pins rushed down halls, hunting frantically for free irons to press their formals, bemoaning various emergencies.

"Where's my silver sandals I loaned last week?"

"Can I borrow your old fur coat? You're wearing Ginny's aren't you?"

"Has ANYbody got some hose? I've just found the most ghastly run in mine!"

"Wear 'em anyway. With a formal on they'll never show—will they?"

Minor tragedies in wearing apparel—"I've lost the belt to my formal!"—and last minute preparations—"I knew we shouldn't have played that last rubber of bridge"—were solved in conferences of roomies from the hall.

But at last there came the moment when she applied perfume behind her ears and announced surprisingly to friends who came in to watch preparations, "I'm ready!"

Of course, she had long ago received the phone message that "you have a caller in south lobby," but her date didn't seem to mind.

Anyway, he said he didn't.

Coal Strike Threatens Holiday Mails

There may be fewer holiday packages around this year's family Christmas tree if the national coal strike continues to block transportation facilities this month.

Postmaster Walter J. Barrow declared yesterday "there is a definite possibility that all holiday mail will not arrive in time for Christmas."

Urging everyone to forward letters and parcels now, Barrow said the only alternative may be a "disappointed public at Christmas time." He believes postoffice officials are confronted with their most serious problem in years, due to lack of transportation.

Another postoffice official asserted that if railroad transportation is further curtailed, trucks will probably be used instead.

Postal officials did not comment on the amount of mail which might be delayed by transportation difficulties.

Railroads are still running express, mail and passenger trains through Iowa City. First class mail and perishable matter is generally transported by diesel-operated trains, while fourth class mail and express moves by steam locomotive.

Rock Island railroad officials here said that one of their steam-operated trains carrying fourth class mail-express between Des Moines and Omaha has been withdrawn due to the drastic cut in fuel. Star routes serviced by the road are now carried by truck over the same area.

"Not too much Christmas mail transportation difficulty" was anticipated by Rock Island officials.

Dick Schrader, manager of the United Air Lines terminal here, observed that an allotment of holiday mail could be given air transport with space to spare.

"I had 200 to 300 pounds of shortage space available today on several flights," Schrader said.

He estimated air transport weight limit including passengers, gas, oil and cargo at about 2,000 pounds. Schrader emphasized the speed with which air transport can dispatch Christmas mail throughout the nation.

Postoffice officials have estimated a 40 percent rise in air-mail volume since the new 5 cent rate went into effect Oct. 1.

Blue Monday Rush for Licenses Starts Again

Tomorrow will really be "blue" Monday for County Treasurer Lumar I. Jansa.

First of all, sale of automobile license plates for 1947 will begin and traditionally there is a first-day rush for low numbers. With 8,170 registered automobiles in Johnson county, rush periods are certainties.

According to Jansa, 1941 was the peak year when 9,828 cars were licensed.

This year Iowa drivers will receive two license plates instead of the "rear one only" issued during war years.

Second headache for the treasurer will be the delinquent tax sale at 10 a. m. "It's the smallest sale we've had since I've been here," Jansa reported.

William Patton Taken to Jail

William W. Patton, charged with first degree murder of Ernest R. Brown, was moved yesterday from University hospital to the county jail by Sheriff Preston Koser.

Patton was taken to the hospital early last Sunday morning for treatment of a chest wound received in a knife battle with Brown.

Sheriff Koser dismissed Roger Kane, Bob Geigel and Jack Scanlan, Iowa football players, deputized Wednesday to guard Patton in the hospital.

After hearing witnesses in the case yesterday, the Johnson county grand jury recessed until Thursday. County Attorney Jack C. White said the jury had heard testimony of 18 persons since the beginning of the session Wednesday.

Centennial Group To Arrange Sale Of Iowa Half Dollar

The Iowa centennial commission will meet in Des Moines today to decide the method of issue, price and disposal of profits from the sale of the state centennial half dollars.

Dr. William J. Petersen of the State Historical society left for Des Moines last night to attend the meeting of the commission's stamp and coin sub-committee.

The sub-committee made arrangements for the striking of 100,000 half dollars which have been turned over to the centennial commission by the Philadelphia mint at the $50,000 face value of the coins.

Profits from the sale of the half dollars will probably be channeled to the erection of a cen-

Appointment of Mary Elizabeth Sparks as cataloguer in the State Historical society library was announced yesterday by Ethyl E. Martin, superintendent of the society.

Miss Sparks came here Thursday from Northwestern university library, where she was junior cataloguer.

Megrew to Lecture At Union Art Exhibit

The exhibit, "Thirty-five Paintings in Retrospect," on display in Iowa Union lounge will open officially at 2 p. m. today with a lecture by Prof. Alden F. Megrew of the art department.

Professor Megrew will discuss the progress of students' art at the university in relation to the development of students' art throughout the country.

The show, sponsored by Union board, has been selected to represent the best work done by students in the art department over the past ten years.

According to Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the art department, the paintings in the show reveal that the work of students at the university over the last decade follows definite trends which have taken place in American art over the same period of time.

The earlier paintings, according to Professor Longman's analysis, are "more representational and romantic in character," whereas more recent works tend to emphasize "more formal and expressionistic values" with occasional excursions into the abstract or near-abstract.

Professor Longman notes a lack in expression of "orthodox surrealism," involving illustration of dream images, in the work of Iowa students, although this has been fairly common in the national scene.

"It is natural," Professor Longman comments, "that student work should reflect these trends when the department in which they work allows them to keep up with the latest developments in art."

"This does not mean that students no longer appreciate older forms of expression," he says, "but that they find recent developments more exciting and make an effort to understand them."

Patton was taken to the hospital early last Sunday morning for treatment of a chest wound received in a knife battle with Brown.

Sheriff Koser dismissed Roger Kane, Bob Geigel and Jack Scanlan, Iowa football players, deputized Wednesday to guard Patton in the hospital.

After hearing witnesses in the case yesterday, the Johnson county grand jury recessed until Thursday. County Attorney Jack C. White said the jury had heard testimony of 18 persons since the beginning of the session Wednesday.

Centennial Group To Arrange Sale Of Iowa Half Dollar

The Iowa centennial commission will meet in Des Moines today to decide the method of issue, price and disposal of profits from the sale of the state centennial half dollars.

Dr. William J. Petersen of the State Historical society left for Des Moines last night to attend the meeting of the commission's stamp and coin sub-committee.

The sub-committee made arrangements for the striking of 100,000 half dollars which have been turned over to the centennial commission by the Philadelphia mint at the $50,000 face value of the coins.

Profits from the sale of the half dollars will probably be channeled to the erection of a cen-

Megrew to Lecture At Union Art Exhibit

The exhibit, "Thirty-five Paintings in Retrospect," on display in Iowa Union lounge will open officially at 2 p. m. today with a lecture by Prof. Alden F. Megrew of the art department.

Professor Megrew will discuss the progress of students' art at the university in relation to the development of students' art throughout the country.

The show, sponsored by Union board, has been selected to represent the best work done by students in the art department over the past ten years.

According to Prof. Lester D. Longman, head of the art department, the paintings in the show reveal that the work of students at the university over the last decade follows definite trends which have taken place in American art over the same period of time.

The earlier paintings, according to Professor Longman's analysis, are "more representational and romantic in character," whereas more recent works tend to emphasize "more formal and expressionistic values" with occasional excursions into the abstract or near-abstract.

Professor Longman notes a lack in expression of "orthodox surrealism," involving illustration of dream images, in the work of Iowa students, although this has been fairly common in the national scene.

"It is natural," Professor Longman comments, "that student work should reflect these trends when the department in which they work allows them to keep up with the latest developments in art."

"This does not mean that students no longer appreciate older forms of expression," he says, "but that they find recent developments more exciting and make an effort to understand them."

Blue Monday Rush for Licenses Starts Again

Tomorrow will really be "blue" Monday for County Treasurer Lumar I. Jansa.

First of all, sale of automobile license plates for 1947 will begin and traditionally there is a first-day rush for low numbers. With 8,170 registered automobiles in Johnson county, rush periods are certainties.

According to Jansa, 1941 was the peak year when 9,828 cars were licensed.

This year Iowa drivers will receive two license plates instead of the "rear one only" issued during war years.

Second headache for the treasurer will be the delinquent tax sale at 10 a. m. "It's the smallest sale we've had since I've been here," Jansa reported.

William Patton Taken to Jail

William W. Patton, charged with first degree murder of Ernest R. Brown, was moved yesterday from University hospital to the county jail by Sheriff Preston Koser.

Patton was taken to the hospital early last Sunday morning for treatment of a chest wound received in a knife battle with Brown.

Sheriff Koser dismissed Roger Kane, Bob Geigel and Jack Scanlan, Iowa football players, deputized Wednesday to guard Patton in the hospital.
